

State Orders Heavy Cut In Oil Allowable

AUSTIN (AP)—A two-month oil order cutting permissive Texas production in both June and July was issued by the Texas Railroad Commission today.

The daily allowable as of June 1 will be 64,820 barrels below the May 24 rate of 3,107,580 barrels. On July 1, it will be 132,030 barrels below the current figure.

The reduction will result from limiting production both statewide and in the big East Texas field to 15 days in each of the two months, one less day of flow than for the 31-day month of May.

This will make four consecutive months in which Texas crude production has been curtailed. The cutbacks have been based on testimony that the industry generally considers national stocks of crude excessive.

Despite the new cuts, the 15 producing days for June will be one more than recommended by a majority of the purchasers who testified at today's statewide proration hearing.

The 15 days of flow for July will be in accord with the desires of nine major purchasers. Oge company, Sun Oil, wanted 17 days for that month. Two wanted 15 and one preferred 14.

Normally the commission sets allowables only for the following month, but two month orders occasionally have been issued during the summer period.

For fields not included in the statewide producing schedule, producing patterns for June and July will be as follows: Pantex, 15, one less than for May; Sapduky (Oil Creek), 13; Adams Devonian, 12.

Ex-Demo Aid Cleared Of Tax Charges

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Walter Maycock, former general counsel of the Democratic National Committee, has been cleared by a federal grand jury in connection with a complaint alleging evasion of income taxes.

U.S. Atty. Laughlin E. Waters said the complaint, issued last April 4, would be dismissed. Maycock, a Washington and Los Angeles attorney, signed a waiver of immunity and appeared voluntarily before the grand jury to deny that he evaded $25,716 in taxes due on income of himself and his wife for 1948.

Maycock told newsmen the government was "persecuting" him and said the case stemmed from a payment of $65,000 before the 1952 presidential campaign by New York financier William S. Lasdon. He said $30,000 of this sum went to the Democratic national campaign fund and he and two other men divided the remainder as fees for some income tax work they did for Lasdon. He said he listed the $17,000 he received in this deal in his tax return.

Baptist Foreign Missions Growing

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Substantial growth among foreign missionaries and the Woman's Missionary Union was reported today by nearly 15,000 messengers (delegates) attending the Southern Baptist Convention.

Baker James Cauthen, executive secretary of the missions board, said in a prepared report that at the end of 1954 there were 949 foreign missionaries serving in 35 countries and territories.

In addition, the Baptists had 1,036 ordained native workers and 2,366 unordained workers, he added.

IKE VETOES POSTAL PAY HIKE, CALLS FOR NEW MEASURE

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today vetoed a bill to boost the pay of 500,000 postal workers by an average 8.6 per cent. The President told the Senate in a veto message he regretted his action and earnestly hoped and recommended that "the Congress will quickly consider and enact postal pay legislation that will be in the public interest and fair to all the half million employees who man the postal service."

He said the vetoed measure would impose "a heavier burden upon the taxpayer than is necessary."

Eisenhower listed three reasons for his veto: "First, the bill creates new discriminations or inequalities which would affect many thousands of postal employees."

"Second, the bill creates grave administrative problems such as the establishment of thousands of individual pay rates. It forces awkward and unfair administrative practices in a government department whose operations affect every person, every enterprise, every community in the country."

"Third, the bill imposes a heavier burden upon the taxpayer than is necessary to establish salary rates throughout the department which will compare favorably with rates for similar work elsewhere in government and in private industry."

The President has indicated an average 7.6 per cent raise is about as far as he is willing to go.

Lamesa Meat Company Plant Is Destroyed By Fire Early Today

LAMESA—Flames, beaten back once by firemen, surged back to destroy the Lamesa Meat Company plant on South Dallas Street here early today.

Loss was estimated unofficially at $125,000.

Within 45 minutes after the fire had been discovered at 12:15 a.m., firemen almost had the flames under control. Suddenly, a brisk northeast wind fanned the embers, and the blaze roared out of hand.

Quick work by Sheriff Henry Mayfield, Deputy Sheriff Hancock, Fire Chief Lester Standefor and others prevented loss of heavy trucking equipment. Several transporters had been parked at an adjacent Phillips 66 station. Mobile equipment of the meat company, which distributes widely over this area, was pulled up at the docks. Officers, firemen and others were able to pull them out of danger. Gene McAllister and L. T. Prather, owners, estimated that 80 beef carcasses were consumed by the flames.

The loss was multiplied by the fact that heavy and complex refrigeration machinery was destroyed. In fact, the flames were discovered in the rear of the building where the machine battery is located. Neither Chief Standefor nor anyone else in authority could definitely fix the cause of the fire, however.

Insurance only partially covered the loss.

Nine volunteer Taboka firemen brought equipment here to help Lamesa regular and volunteer firemen battle the blaze. The fire was one of the most costly here in several years.

Lamesa Meats, which also did sharp freezing and custom slaughtering, was one of the largest processors and distributors of meat in this area.

Court Affirms Gomez Verdict

Joe Gomez of Big Spring lost his bid for a reversal of the 118th District Court verdict convicting him of possessing marijuana and assessing a 20-year penitentiary sentence.

The Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin affirmed the judgment Wednesday.

Gomez has been in the Howard County jail since appealing the case following the conviction Nov. 11.

The November trial was the second for Gomez on the same indictment. He was convicted earlier in 1951, but was granted a new trial by Judge Charlie Sullivan.

A 10-year sentence was assessed in the first trial, but this was voided by the second trial which resulted in the 20-year term.

Solons Unraveling Armed Forces Buying Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP)—Investigating senators sought to unravel today conflicting testimony about cash payoffs and costly favors in connection with large-scale buying for the armed forces.

Witnesses told yesterday of alleged gifts of a coat to a woman government contract officer, a home freezer and fine lingerie to persons not yet named, and $50 bills to a $80-a-week government inspector who denied they were bribes.

Marvin Rubin, a professional seeker of government contracts for garment makers, was called back as a witness to tell the Senate investigations subcommittee more about his activities.

"I have never paid a payoff," he testified yesterday.

Rubin had orders from Subcommittee Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) to ponder overnight his sworn denial that he was an "influence peddler," and his testimony that the $50 bills were loans to Navy inspector Julius Goldman.

Goldman said he took the money as advance payment on a job he said Rubin had offered him. He testified he accepted it $50 almost every Friday for three or four months in 1952 while inspecting raincoats manufactured for the Navy by the Ansonia (Conn.) Garment Co., for which Rubin was a business finder.

Rubin himself told of having given a coat to the woman contract officer, Robert F. Kennedy, the subcommittee counsel, said the woman, Mrs. Mella Hort, a contract administrator for military procurement at a time when Rubin was representing both the Ansonia company and Bonita Originals, Inc., of New York City in negotiations with the government.

Rubin insisted it was an innocent gift.

"I bought a coat for Mrs. Hort as a Christmas gift," he testified. "I did it with her husband's knowledge."

At that time he did not know that his plea had been turned down.

Texas Budget Balancers Still Way Up In Air

AUSTIN (AP)—The question of how Texas will balance her mammoth 1 1/2 billion dollar budget during the next two years was still being asked today—and there was still no answer.

The Senate State Affairs Committee yesterday rejected suggestions from a subcommittee which wanted to raise the necessary new money with new taxes on hotels, chemicals, department stores and airlines.

One by one, the committee struck the proposals out of a subcommittee report turned in by Sen. R. A. Wehnert of Seguin.

Then the committee postponed further consideration of the matter until Friday at 2 p.m.—an action that anti-administration forces criticized as "a play for time" to line up votes.

The action left the House-passed omnibus tax bill in a form that will fall far short of raising the estimated $5 billion dollars in new revenue needed during the coming biennium.

And it promised still more payless, hot days for the lawmakers who have been on their own time for more than a week.

Sen. Searcy Bracewell of Houston quarterbacked the committee proceedings—offering a majority of the amendments deleting the tax proposals, then offering the motion to put off further work until Friday.

Bracewell and Sen. Otis Lock of Lufkin, Senate sponsor of the bill, urged the postponement to give the committee time to write a "just, fair and equitable bill."

Lock said he was "anxious to take the time needed to reach a sound decision," adding, "I hope the time will never come when a tax bill passes the Senate or a Senate committee without full consideration—just because it's late in the session."

Rep. D. B. Hardeman, of Denison, leader of anti-administration forces in the House called the delay "a play for time."

"They (the administration leaders) are not sure they have the votes in the Senate for a two-cent gasoline tax," Hardeman said, "and this will give them time to line the votes up."

Another House member, Rep. Jerry Sadler of Hickory Grove, agreed with Hardeman and again voiced claims that 90 House members stand ready to vote against a two-cent rise.

"We may just as well get ready to hold the line—it's going to be up to the House to defend the people against a two-cent sales tax on gasoline," Sadler said.

The 45-minute meeting, held just off the Senate floor, where Sen. Kilmer Corbin of Lubbock was conducting a record-length filibuster, drew an overflow crowd of lobbyists, off-duty members of both houses and newsmen.

Wehnert turned in the subcommittee report without comment, then watched as Bracewell and Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas attacked its provisions.

Bracewell called for removal of the proposed gross receipts taxes on chemical industries and hotels and the intangible assets tax on airlines. He called the chemical tax "not a proper basis to approach the question of taxation for this industry," and said the hotel and airlines taxes were "unrealistic."

Parkhouse criticized the plan for a gross receipts levy on department stores doing more than a million dollars worth of business per year as "not only too high, but unrealistic." He said such a tax should be placed on the "crossroads merchant" as well as the large store, commenting, "It's just such his state as Neiman-Marcus, Foley's, Sakowitz or anybody else."

The committee rejected Bracewell's proposal to repeal the state's stock transfer tax and turned down Sen. Gus Strauss' motion to strike out proposed increases in the fees for win and beer licenses.

SHOWER HITS SMALL AREA

An ominous cloud dashed a quarter of an inch of moisture over this immediate vicinity Thursday morning and quickly departed.

The U.S. Experiment Station measured it at .38, the Herald at .28, the Texas Electric Service switching station east of town at .25. A. A. McKinney at Center Point and Earl Hull at R-Bar had a quarter. Elsewhere only sprinkles were reported.

Sprinkles fell at Lamesa around 10 a.m. and at 11:30 a.m. light rain had been falling in Snyder for 20 minutes. Morgan Creek station near Colorado City had light showers.

Sharp Increase In Polio Is Reported

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sharp increase in new cases of polio was reported today by the U.S. Public Health Service. For the week ended May 14, new cases totaled 208—up 30 per cent over the previous week.

The number compares with 151 in the second week of May last year, and an average of 116 for the last five years.

However, for the first time since the antipolio vaccination program ran into difficulty the number of polio cases among inoculated persons remained unchanged at 77 confirmed cases.

In another development, the health service announced that 23 cases of polio have now been reported among individuals, not inoculated themselves, who came in close contact with children given vaccine made by Cutter Laboratories of California. In these instances, the inoculated children themselves have not contracted the disease.

There have been five deaths among vaccinated persons. The 77 confirmed cases since use of the vaccine started about April 14 compare with a provisional total of 682 cases of all kinds of polio, including confirmed and unconfirmed cases, reported by state health authorities since April 10. The total covers all age groups.

The upward jump for the week of May 14, with 208 new cases reported, for the first time pushed the total for this "disease year"—which started about April 1—ahead of the number in the comparable span of last year. However, the calendar year total for this year is still behind the 1954 figure.

There had been 722 cases this "disease year" reported through last Saturday, compared with 718 a year ago for the similar period. For the calendar year the 1955 total is 1,786, compared with 2,271 in the similar period a year ago. States which reported large increases for the week ending May 14 were: California, 45 compared with 27 the preceding week; Texas, 19 and 13; Michigan 10 and 11; New York 11 and 5; Mississippi 8 and 1; Oregon 7 and 1; Georgia 9 and 4; and Pennsylvania 10 and 5. California's cases included 44 among civilians and one in military personnel. Of the civilian cases, 12 had received Salk vaccine. (Earlier Story On Page 2)

Water Rises To Flood Stage At Eastland

Four junior high school boys were killed by lightning today at Kingsville.

The students at the Gillette Junior High on the northeast side of town were Davis Rojas, 13; Estanislado Barrera, 14; Israel Prado, 14; and Jesus Martinez, 14.

A cloud was coming up from the south, but it was not raining at the time the single bolt struck.

Marvin Klitzman, a teacher, was herding the boys in from play after he saw the cloud coming up. The bolt hit the teacher and the group of 42 boys about 300 yards north of the main building. All of them were knocked down.

One other boy was hospitalized. He was Jose Espinoza, also 14.

The deadly bolt of lightning also knocked down a group of girls who were standing near the school building. None were hurt.

Meanwhile, a major flood was sweeping the north part of Eastland, in West Central Texas, Thursday while flood threats around two other cities subsided almost as quickly as the rains that caused them poured from bursting clouds.

James Dabney of Eastland Radio Station KERC said the "worst of the flood" was just starting.

Dabney said a flood crest pushing down the north branch of the Leon River from Cisco was just beginning to arrive.

The Weather Bureau today warned of possible tornadoes in Grayson County and upper Fannin County. The alert is from noon until 6 p.m.

Possibility of tornadoes was expected along a 100-mile wide band from Ardmore, in southern Oklahoma, to 30 miles east-northeast of McAlester, Okla.

Water stood 5 to 6 feet deep over the Negro section, north of the Texas & Pacific Railroad tracks, in Eastland.

Sixty families were evacuated from the area during the night and slept in the town's city hall.

Police minimized the danger around Brady and Ballinger and told conditions were improving after residents were evacuated from low areas. Highways and railroads were washed out.

The Leon River runs through Lake Eastland, above Eastland, and then goes back through a spillway into its regular channel. Water was 18 inches over the floor of the Eastland Lake bridge.

The National Guard unit, commanded by Captain Cecil Carr was called out at 1:30 a.m. when it was feared the Eastland Lake dam might give way.

Lake Leon 6 miles east of Eastland was 42 feet deep at the spillway. Water was 12 feet deep below the spillway. Lake Leon was rising at the rate of one foot every 30 minutes.

The Eastland city water and street superintendent W. H. Coppock estimated damage to streets alone at $100,000. A good storm sewage system and sandbagging prevented damage to most business houses.

Piggly-Wiggly, which has 17 grocery stores over West Texas, had 4 inches of water on its main warehouse at Eastland.

Twenty to 30 heavy duty poles owned by the Rural Electrification Administration were washed over

TEST DUE

Race Clause Hit In Reserves Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Short (R-Mo) said today an anti-segregation amendment has given added strength to opponents of a bill to expand the military reserves.

The test, unexpectedly postponed from yesterday, was anticipated on a motion to send the bill back to committee. That action in effect would kill it for this session.

Short, who led the campaign against the measure, said the anti-segregation amendment "no doubt" strengthened the opposition, particularly among Southern congressmen who previously had favored the measure.

The amendment, by Rep. Powell (D-N.Y.), was approved tentatively by a 126-87 standing vote still subject to reconsideration. It would provide that no one can be assigned to or excluded from a National Guard or reserve unit "on the basis of race, creed, color or national origin."

The bill itself is backed by President Eisenhower and leaders of both parties. It would authorize expansion of the active military reserves to 2,900,000 men by 1960 to supplement active armed forces.

Among other things, it would set up a few six-months training program for teen-age volunteers for the reserves, and would give the Pentagon authority to recall reservists to active duty for failure to maintain required training.

'Equal Rights' Promised For Yugoslav Talks

MOSCOW (AP)—Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev says he and other Soviet leaders will stick to a principle of equal rights and mutual noninterference in their forthcoming talks with Yugoslav President Tito.

Asserting that the Soviet delegation would go to Belgrade "with open souls are pure hearts," Khrushchev told a Kremlin conference yesterday.

"All the necessary conditions exist to ensure full normalization of relations between the U.S.S.R. and Yugoslavia."

"We adhere firmly to the point of view that normal relations between states should be based on the principle of equal rights and mutual noninterference in each others' affairs."

On this foundation, he added, firm, friendly relations and mutually profitable trade and other economic dealings could be established.

The Soviet government announced last weekend that Khrushchev, Premier Nikolai Bulganin and other top Kremlin officials would confer with Tito in Belgrade late this month.

Denying Western contentions that the Soviet Union wants to conquer all Europe, Khrushchev pointed to last Sunday's signing of the Austrian State Treaty, which provides for withdrawal of occupation troops from that country.

Reds Purge Skyscrapers

MOSCOW (AP)—Hundreds of architects' plans to make Moscow a city of skyscrapers and penthouses are being scrapped or revised.

A saving of 50 million rubles (12 1/2 million dollars officially) already is claimed, according to a progress report appearing in the magazine Ogonyok.

Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev, at a national builders' congress in December, declared architects put too much stress on fads and frills on the facades of buildings and paid too little attention to economy and efficiency within.

He virtually put an embargo on the construction of any further skyscrapers, claiming they were wasteful. He also ordered the substitution of concrete wherever possible to save steel and timber.

Concrete, like corn, has become a big Khrushchev campaign.

Ogonyok said a special meeting of architectural building councils was summoned to revise building plans to cut construction costs.

"When architects started to revise some of their drafts for buildings on the embankment of the Moscow River, they were able to reduce costs by 10 per cent," Ogonyok reported.

Temporary Halt Put To Vaccine Release

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new cloud of uncertainty hung over the anti-polio inoculation program today with an announcement that there will not be any further releases of Salk vaccine for several days.

Supplies in the hands of health officers and physicians were growing increasingly scarce.

Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele said last night:

"There will be no further announcement with respect to the release of poliomyelitis vaccine for the next several days. This should not be inferred as reflecting in any way on the vaccine of the companies whose manufacturing and testing processes are under study."

Dr. Scheele provided no elaboration. A public relations spokesman for the Public Health Service, which he heads, said the delay was ordered for "another look-see at this whole, very confusing picture."

Still approved for use in the mass inoculation program is the relatively small portion still unused from the 7,850,000 cubic centimeters produced by two laboratories: Parke, Davis & Co. of Detroit and Eli Lilly & Co., Indianapolis.

Scheele, stressing he believes the vaccine to be safe and effective, recommended May 7 that mass inoculations be halted temporarily pending a reappraisal of the methods of testing procedures of five manufacturers.

This reappraisal was completed and new clearance given for the Parke, Davis product last Friday. Re-clearance was granted the Lilly vaccine Sunday.

Then federal inspectors moved on to Wyeth, Inc., Marietta, Pa. They have now gone to Pitman-Moore Co., Zionville, Ind. Next on the list is Sharp & Dohme, Inc., Philadelphia, which has not yet shipped any vaccine.

A health service spokesman said government scientists have been seeking improved methods for studying and analyzing protocols—the scientific reports from manufacturers on which the government bases its decisions whether to clear batches of vaccine for use.

"They have now developed those and they are going to review them," this official said. "They are going at refined methods."

There was no explanation as to why there has been no clearance on more than 4 1/2 million cubic centimeters whose makers' protocols are known to have been in the hands of the health service since May 4. No new batches have been cleared since then. One cubic centimeter is enough for one shot.

The rechecks were ordered when some children who had been inoculated came down with polio. The number of such confirmed cases now stands at 77 out of more than five million inoculated. Five of these have been fatal.

Officials have repeatedly said there have been no findings that the vaccine was responsible.

The vaccine's developer, Dr. Jonas E. Salk, of the University of Pittsburgh, said there yesterday the postinjection cases are "purely coincidental." He told the Allegheny County Medical Society that "expectations about the vaccine should be adjusted to its limitations."

A report on last year's field trials April 12 said the vaccine is 80 to 90 per cent effective in preventing paralytic polio.

At Sonoma, Calif., a group of researchers announced a new type of antipolio material made of live viruses and administered through milkshakes rather than by injection. They said it brings immunity more quickly than the Salk product, but only against two of the three types of polio. Salk vaccine made of killed viruses, is effective against all three.

The researchers include Dr. Karl F. Meyer, of the University of California's Hooper Foundation; Dr. Hilary Koprowski, who first developed the product; and Dr. Thomas L. Nelson.

U. S. Subsidies Cut By House Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee slashed deeply into administration requests for airline and ship subsidies today in cutting the Commerce Department's new budget 18 per cent. It also trimmed sharply funds for ship construction, federal-aid highways and the Inter-American Highway while upping the amount for federal airport aid. It recommended $1,321,435,000 in new funds for the Commerce, Department and related agencies for the bookkeeping year starting July 1. This is $244,598,000 less than President Eisenhower requested. The reduction is the largest, percentage-wise, to be recommended by the committee this year. All but $17,875,000 of the total was allotted to the Commerce Department, whose request for $1,347,800,000 was shaved to $1,103,629,000. The committee's recommendations are subject to approval by the House and subsequent action by the Senate. In a report drafted by a subcommittee headed by Rep. Preston (D-Ga.), the committee called for "more careful verification" of claims for airline subsidies and "close scrutiny" of employment practices and costs of subsidized ship lines. It said this should result in "substantial reductions" in future subsidy payments. For subsidy payments to air carriers, the committee recommended 40 million dollars. This is $8,900,000 less than was appropriated this year and 23 millions less than

Humphrey Sees Asian Trap In Europe Moves

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) said today the Russians may be setting a trap in Southeast Asia by spectacular moves to ease tensions in Europe.

Humphrey, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview that he fears the administration may have a "tendency to let-down" in Asia because of its concentration on European affairs.

"I think the Russians may be moving to ease tensions in Europe and at the same time restraining the Chinese Communists from violence in the Formosa area in order to infiltrate the governments in Southeast Asia and cut them off from the free world country by country," he said.

He called for a re-examination of American policies in Asia.

He said he does not expect the Communists to make any openly aggressive move in the Far East, but to depend on infiltration tactics.

"I think the Russians are likely to restrain the Chinese Communists from any attack on Formosa or the coastal islands," he said. "The Communists don't want another Korea. . . . The Communists would rather let us to sleep now, I believe."

Humphrey said he agrees that Eisenhower is not likely to fall into any appeasement trap in a top-level meeting with the Premiers of Russia, Britain and France. Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday there is "no appeasement in my heart."

But Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) said in a letter to Eisenhower released last night there were "rumors" that the administration plans at the forthcoming Big Four meeting to "purchase" the release of American airmen imprisoned by Red China "at the price of free world concessions."

McCarthy said the administration should cut off aid to countries which trade with Communist China blockade the China coast or send a task force "under appropriate air cover" to rescue 481 Americans he said were held by the Reds.

If the latter course were adopted he said that as a Marine Reserve lieutenant colonel "I offer to participate in such an operation in whatever capacity my services might prove useful."

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Vatican sources reported today that Pope Plus XII suffered a 15-minute spell of weakness and dizziness after a general audience of more than an hour yesterday for 35,000 Italian farmers.

The sources said the 79-year-old pontiff had recovered and today showed no signs of weakness.

The audience yesterday was the biggest the head of the Roman Catholic Church has held since his grave collapse with a stomach disorder last December. The subsequent weakness was blamed on his unusual exertion.

Bill Provides $3 1/2 Million For Area State Hospitals

AUSTIN (AP)—State hospitals at Abilene, San Angelo and Big Spring would get about $3 1/2 million dollars a year for operations the next two years under the appropriation bill House and Senate conferees have produced. The three-and-a-half pound spending bill was released by the joint committee Tuesday afternoon. It represents a compromise between Senate and House versions and must be approved by both houses. The spending agreed on for the three West Texas institutions represents a gain over the 1955 appropriation under which they are now operating. Big Spring State Hospital is earmarked for its operations $904,913 annually for the next two years. Top salary in the institution would be the $5,400 paid to the superintendent. Second top would be the $7,400 for the clinical director. Medical treatment and care of patients, which would include undesignated salaries and fees, and maintenance and repair would cost $492,921 annually, a total of $363,992 would be allowed for operating expenses including food. Big Spring Hospital had a 1955 appropriation of $779,107. It is, however, soon to have two new ward buildings activated, almost doubling capacity. Abilene State Hospital is allotted $1,273,019 annually for the next two years under the bill. The superintendent would get $8,400 and the clinical director $7,600. Operating expenses would be $606,670 and patient treatment $629,369. Abilene's current appropriation is $1,271,019. McKnight State Tuberculosis Hospital, near San Angelo, would receive an annual allowance of $1,265,893 under the conference report. The superintendent would receive $8,400, the clinical director $7,800, operating expenses $541,413 and patient care $677,700. McKnight's current appropriation is $1,150,979. The salary scale in the hospitals is unchanged from this year.

Exploring Lean Path-Cautiously

In England, seeking re-election to his old seat in Commons, Sir Winston Churchill, who long has advocated a top-level Big Four conference, thinks he sees signs of an improving temper in Russia, maybe a "new look" and possibly peaceably inclined new team at the helm. He congratulated his successor, as prime minister, Sir Anthony Eden, for arranging the upcoming gathering, expressed delight that his "great American friend," President Eisenhower, had expressed a willingness to attend.

In the Kremlin on the same day, Premier Bulganin was chewing out Russia's labor forces for dawdling on the job, spoke of the need for more and more production, including the sort of steel that goes into jet warplanes. Also, Russia must drill more and more oil wells, another vital element in successful warring.

So while the U. S. cuts down and down, Russia plans to produce more and more. In this connection this week's U. S. News & World Report presents an interesting box-score of our relations with Russia

In the field of negotiation. It asks, "Do Talks With Russia Pay Off?" — and answers: "Millions of words—52 agreements—30 violations by Reds."

Some of the itemized talks: Control of atomic weapons — 8 years of talks, about 200 meetings, no results; unifying Germany — 11 years of talks, about 1,200 meetings, no results; world peace — 8 years of talks, about 1,400 meetings, no results.

In the 22 years of our relations with Russia, the magazine goes on, we have talked with the Russian on various matters 3,400 times, exchanging 106.5 million words, leading to 52 agreements. Of these agreements, Russia has fractured 30 and lipped up to two to enter the war against Japan, and allowing the West to have aerial corridors to Berlin.

Prospects for accomplishing anything in new top-level talks with the Kremlin, in the light of past records, could hardly be called bright or encouraging. In the light of the remotest possible contribution to peace, however, even this avenue must be explored, albeit, cautiously.

More Vaccine Tests And Research

As of the first of the week, the U. S. Public Health Service announced it had confirmed 73 post-inoculation polio cases. Possibly not included were two new cases reported that day in Houston, neither of the paralytic type. Previously four post-inoculation cases had turned up in that city, two paralytic, two not.

Meantime, a Houstonian, Mr. Ovetz Culp Hobby, now secretary of the Welfare Department, submitted eleven new proposals relating to handling the Salk vaccine. One of them, asked for $28 million in federal funds to help the states provide polio vaccine for children in low income families — obviously a humanitarian move, but one almost impossible of administering without leading to abuses. However, this program would not become effective until after the completion of the free immunization program which applies to children in the first and second grades.

Another administration request was for $2 million to provide for extra technicians and inspectors in the PHS "to insure maximum precautions in continued testing of the vaccine for safety and potency."

Meantime not much order has emerged from the general confusion surrounding the handling of the vaccine program, and the various developments which led to temporary suspension of the operation.

In the early stages of the current controversy it was suggested that some people might be "allergic" to the Salk vaccine — that is, their system in such a state that the vaccine touched off an onset of the disease which otherwise might have remained dormant. In his press conference last week President Eisenhower expressed somewhat the same possibility, which undoubtedly he got from medical sources. If so, that would open up a new problem in research, leading to pre-inoculation tests to determine who is susceptible to this reaction and who is not in any case. It is clear that a great deal more research needs to be done in several directions.

Sweeping Proposals In The Air For Europe

We can now be reasonably certain that before the meeting of the summit, the Kremlin will have prepared for itself a position of great diplomatic and political strength. Judging by what we have already seen, the Kremlin has formed a big program for Europe, which also will have very far-reaching implications for Asia.

The program was launched with the Kremlin's reversal of its position on the Austrian treaty. But that was not an isolated act, not a single gesture. It was quite clearly part of a new program which has been widely conceived and carefully coordinated, and this new program is now being put forward item by item, thesis by thesis. We have not yet seen the whole of it. But within the past week the Soviets have done "and have said enough to indicate the general shape of things to come."

We know enough already to say that the treaty is not due to a notion that the Germans could be beguiled and lured into accepting a similar treaty. The Kremlin knows quite well the difference between the rather simple Austrian problem and the extremely complicated German problem. If I read correctly the recent notes of the Kremlin, the Soviet plan has understood what Churchill first began to feel for when he talked about a new "Locarno." It is what Adenauer after Churchill has been saying for some time. It is that the issues of German unification with acceptable German frontiers are soluble only with a general European security system in which both Western and Eastern Europe participate.

The Kremlin's actions in the past week indicate that they may be getting ready to propose, or at least to negotiate about if we propose, not only a German settlement but also a change in the status of the satellite countries of Eastern Europe. I may be wholly mistaken. But I cannot think of any other explanation for some of the key sentences in the armaments resolution, for the public recognition of Tito's independence and importance, for the recent approaches to Finland, for Mr.

Molotov's enthusiasm for the principles of the Austrian settlement, and for what was put into and was left out of the Warsaw treaty.

On the day that the Western governments invited the Soviet to a meeting at the summit, the Kremlin put out the idea of a withdrawal of the Red Army beyond the satellites and behind the Soviet frontier — in return for American evacuation of its air bases in Europe. The Kremlin followed this up by announcing, just as the Austrian treaty was being concluded, that their leaders were paying a visit to Belgrade. They have gone to great lengths to express their approval of three states, Finland, Austria and Yugoslavia, which have this in common: that they have "national independence and that they are not members of either of the two great military coalitions."

If this notion is attractive to the Germans, why is it not also attractive to the Poles? The Kremlin will not have overlooked this point. Why did they begin this diplomatic work by proposing to negotiate about the withdrawal of the Red Army from the satellites? And why, when they designed the Warsaw treaty, did they set up a system of command which is not integrated like NATO, but leaves the armed forces of each of the member nations why have they done these extraordinary things? They are not prepared to negotiate for a "neutrality belt" which includes at least some if not all of the satellites?

"I do not know, and I am certainly not meaning to predict, that the Soviet Union has decided to propose a European security system with a belt of military neutrals extending from Scandinavia through middle and Eastern Europe to the Balkans. But I think they are at least preparing the ground in case their proposals for a united and neutral Germany are met by queries and proposals from the West about Eastern Europe. In any event, if they are getting ready to talk about giving Prague and Budapest the same status as Vienna and Warsaw the same status, perhaps, as Helsinki, there is no good reason why we should shrink from the negotiation, why we should not seek such a negotiation."

To anyone who takes seriously, as humanly and to honor Americans must, the liberation of Eastern Europe, the idea of neutrality, the extension of a neutral belt to include Eastern Europe, is of capital importance. Eastern Europe cannot be liberated by war; it can only be devastated by nuclear weapons. And Eastern Europe cannot be liberated by a violent counter-revolution without precipitating the war which would devastate Eastern Europe. It is, moreover, no use to suppose that the Kremlin will release Eastern Europe in order that it may join NATO. If, then, the satellite states are to be released from Moscow's military system without entering our military system, they must be able to enter a community of military neutrals.

This suggests that the best reply the West can make to the developing Soviet diplomatic campaign is not to reject the idea of a neutrality belt but to ask that it be widened.

It would be a mistake, I believe, to have fixed preconceptions and prejudices about the idea of military neutrality as the policy of small, exposed, and vulnerable states. Great powers like Britain, France and the United States like the Soviet Union and Red China, cannot be neutrals. But small states can be, often with difficulty, sometimes without success, but sometimes also with their national advantage.

Are Russians Seeking Belt Of Neutrals?

WASHINGTON — This is one of the latest wonderings in the present Washington guessing game about the Russians: Are they anxious for a belt of neutral nations straight down the middle of Europe?

President Eisenhower was asked about it at his news conference yesterday. He didn't add much light. He said: "There seems to be developing the thought that there might be built up a series of neutralized states."

A look at a map of Europe shows four nations—Sweden, Germany, Austria, Yugoslavia—lying in a slanting north-south line west of the Russian-dominated countries.

Two of them—Sweden and Austria—are already neutral. Last week Russia let Austria have her independence with the guarantee she would remain neutral.

That leaves Germany and Yugoslavia.

Yugoslavia was linked with Moscow from the end of the war until 1948 when Marshal Tito broke with Stalin. Since Stalin's death his successors have tried to woo Tito with soft talk.

Since his split with Stalin, Tito has received many millions of dollars of economic and military aid from the United States. And he put Yugoslavia into a military alliance with Greece and Turkey.

Both are members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, which makes them allies of the United States, also in NATO. Yugoslavia is not a NATO member. And Tito insists he is neutral between East and West.

Last Friday the Russians announced Premier Bulganin and Communist party chief Khrushchev would go to Yugoslavia to talk with Tito. Why? They say just to establish normal relations.

But Washington wondered: Would they try to win back Tito so that he was no longer neutral but a Russian ally? And, if they couldn't do that, would they try to get a guarantee of neutrality from him?

The Russians, holding East Germany since the war, have tried by threats, propaganda and maneuvering to keep Western Germany disarmed and out of NATO. Germany isn't rearmed yet but she has just joined NATO with plans to raise 12 divisions.

Gen. Alfred Gruenther, NATO's

supreme commander, has said that without the help of Germany's armed forces, he doubts a Russian attack could be stopped.

But the Russians know the longing of the West Germans for unification with East Germany. On May 11 Bulganin held out bait to the West Germans. He said "unification" was possible if there was "good will."

Were the Russians going to offer reunification with this price tag: that a unified Germany would agree to remain unarmed and neutral and, therefore, not a member of NATO? Maybe.

If the Russians could keep Germany neutralized, it would be, in case of war, the equivalent of a great military victory. The Russians may hope that, with the hope of unification, the Germans will not raise forces for NATO.

Good Course In Human Nature

NEW YORK — Every adult in the world ought to spend at least an hour a day baby watching.

Can't think of a better way to learn human nature. Seeing a child struggle so desperately to become a grownup, you begin to dimly understand why grown-ups so often act like desperate children.

There is no industry, pastime, or hobby—call it what you will—that induces the spirit more than baby watching. But nothing else gives you quite such a frightening insight into the passage of time.

"Why, it seems only yesterday that— This is the phrase you find yourself using most often in baby watching. You leave a baby for a day or two, and when you come back it seems to have sprung up with the speed of a flower racing the turning sun."

So it has been with Tracy Ann, a small stranger who came into our lives as a month-old mite in a bundle nearly two years ago.

Why, it seems only yesterday that I held her to my shoulder to burp her. So soft and frail and helpless she felt then, so utterly dependent, that I was afraid she'd bend and break.

What happens to a baby? Where do they vanish so swiftly? Right while you're watching, right before your eyes, the baby fades and disappears. Suddenly you no longer are watching a baby but a small sturdy human being running on its own legs, pushing your helping hands away impatiently, and trying to seize the whole wide world in its two little hands.

When did it happen? You can't quite remember. All you know is that the baby you loved is gone.

A child you love has taken his place.

There is a big difference between a baby and a child. Take reading, for example. As a baby, Tracy Ann loved nothing better than to digest newspaper editorials. She did this literally, by tearing out the editorial, stuffing it in her mouth, and gumming it until it had been thoroughly absorbed. Finally she would take newspapers away from her altogether. Afraid she might ruin her eyes.

Now, as a child, she is on a Mother Goose jag. We read these things together practically every morning. But I may have to halt this, too. It seems to make her melancholy. Her favorite picture shows Little Boy Blue, fast asleep under the haystack. He is barefooted, and this distresses Tracy no end.

"No shoes," she says sadly, shaking her head. Never mind the sheep in the meadow, the cows in the corn. Isn't that sleepy little boy ever going to get a pair of bright new shoes?

Yugoslavs Deny Neutral Bloc Role

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia — Two of Yugoslavia's major newspapers declared last night that their nation does not intend to become part of a neutral buffer chain of states "behind which some big power could shelter itself in order to conduct its policy without being disturbed."

The editorials in Borba and Politika apparently were sparked by Western speculation the coming visit of Soviet leaders to Belgrade was part of a Russian plan to create a chain of neutral states, including Yugoslavia, across central Europe.

From Flying Saucers Back To Fireflies

Those periodic reports of "fireballs" flashing across the sky and "flying saucers" skipping, spinning and dancing around make me wish I could be a young sprout again.

We chased lightning bugs when I was a kid.

That was something you could put your finger on, though the way they lighted up was as much a mystery to me then as are the fireballs and saucers which seem to have taken their place.

It seems to me that this should be the lightning bug season, but I haven't seen any fireflies blinking around. In fact, I don't recall ever seeing any lightning bugs around Big Spring, although they were pretty thick in the not-too-distant sticks where I grew up. Maybe the insects just don't fly around towns or places where there are lots of other lights to interfere with their lamp-lighted love signals.

As I said, we used to get a lot of fun, as energetic kids, chasing fireflies around the yard and out into the pasture on a spring night.

The bugs seemed to enjoy the chases too, making quite a game out of dodging around and turning their lights off and on just frequently enough to keep us on their tail but still in the dark most of the time as to their exact whereabouts.

When one was caught, he usually was squeezed to death. Then we had the shiny substance from his tail surfaces smeared all over our fingers.

If the lightning bug survived the capture, it was more fun to lift up his wings and watch his light glow steadily. Take him into the light, though, and he looked just like any other bug—no glow at all.

Some scientific writers say the lightning bug gives off his light because of an oxidation process—a slow stage of burning, in the firefly's case. Of course, he never burns up, even if he does burn himself out like a lot of humans.

Opinion is divided as to the purpose of the light. Some say it is a warning signal, to fight off other, insect-eating, insects. Others writers claim the light is used by the male lightning bug to attract himself a mate.

Probably the light serves both as a means of frightening enemies away and as a courting technique.

Whatever its purpose, the lightning bug's light is considerably less elusive than one of those still-unmanned flying saucers.

West Germans Have No Illusions About Reds

BONN—Here is the place where they have the most realistic view of what is happening in Europe today. They have no illusions about the Soviet strategy in neutralizing Austria, and they haven't been persuaded that it will necessarily be followed by the neutralization of Germany.

On the contrary, they feel here that the most dangerous phase of the "cold war" is at hand and that it is more than ever imperative for the Western democracies to work closely with the West German government.

This correspondent had a long talk with a realist—General Adolph Heusinger, who is regarded as the ablest military man in West Germany. He was the chief of planning operations during the last war for the German Army. He is the kind who keeps out of politics and he furnished objectively the military advice requested of him. Today the principal work of rebuilding a German Army falls upon him.

Other military men were interviewed also by this writer, and it is possible to set down a composite impression of their views, which is about as follows:

1. Despite two wars, it is one of the miracles of the present day that there are such intimate and friendly relations between the men who head up the military side of the two countries and between the American soldiers and the German people.

2. The interests of Germany are indissolubly bound to the Western democracies and never will be joined with those of Soviet Russia.

3. Because of the neutralization of Austria and the Soviet attempt to neutralize Yugoslavia, it is more than ever necessary for West Germany to work closely with the West.

4. A narrowing of the defense line of the West by the setting up of neutral belts in Central Europe by Soviet tactics in Austria and Yugoslavia may mean increased effectiveness in and concentration on the defensive use of tactical atomic weapons but cannot alter the value of strategic air forces.

5. While the reduction in ground forces is possible nowadays because of atomic weapons, such cutting down must not go to extremes. This means the controversy in the American Congress is being watched with interest by military men in Europe.

6. The idea of an international control of armaments is scoffed at here. It is recalled that any paper restriction can be circumvented, and the German military speak of how easy it was to overcome the limitations on Germany's armament in the period following the first World War.

7. Reunification of West and East Germany is a political football which will be used in the "cold war" by the Soviets.

While reunification is strongly desired, it is difficult for the officials here to figure out why the Soviets would ever really let it come to pass—if they do, which is doubted. Russia's game is to keep Germany divided because a rearmed and reunited Germany would be the biggest threat the Communists would ever face. Only if Russia is defeated in the "cold war" and believes she can control the German government and legislature by subversion from within is reunification expected to materialize. Hence, there is the most intense curiosity to see how the Soviet Union operates now inside Austria and whether she will keep hands off as the treaty pledges her to do.

8. The Yugoslav situation should be watched with eyes wide open, because there is evidence that Tito's hand is being forced by Communists inside his country who are beholden to Moscow.

9. There is a serious shortage of non-commissioned as well as commissioned officers of the new German army in the fight age groups. Also, building an army from scratch presents a most difficult situation, and conscription will not come until after the training staff has been obtained from the ranks of volunteers.

10. There is unanimous agreement that Germany should have a National Security Council patterned somewhat after the one in the United States, but with industrial leaders, political leaders and military chiefs working closely together. The advantage of a permanent secretariat and staff to insure continuity is also urged.

Altogether, it may be said that the West German military men are preparing for their new responsibilities in an earnest and sincere manner. They feel that at last they are full-fledged partners of the Western democracies.

Wolfson Or Clarke To Run Ward's

Now that Sewell L. Avery is out, who's going to run Montgomery Ward & Co.?

Louis E. Wolfson, 43-year-old loser in the proxy fight, or Philip R. Clarke, 66-year-old chairman of the City National Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago? Clarke is the chairman of the Ward executive committee and backer of John A. Barr, 47-year-old lawyer who is the new Ward chairman and president.

Here's the situation: Wolfson and two of his associates, Alexander Rittmeyer, 3rd, his financial adviser, and Bernice Fitz-Gibbon, former advertising manager of Gimbel's, New York, and now a merchandise consultant, have seats on the nine-man board. Wolfson got slightly more than 1,700,000 shares, or just over 30 per cent of those voted in the proxy contest.

Clarke and Barr are not absolute masters of Ward. Wolfson, his associates and friends own about a million shares. The management's shares were scattered. The directors who elected Barr to replace the aged Avery own comparatively little stock.

If Wolfson carries out his threat to continue to accumulate stock, he will be much stronger in another proxy fight. So Clarke and Barr have three choices:

1. To placate Wolfson: Wolfson said during the proxy contest that if he won, he'd name a top merchandiser to be president and handle the day-to-day operations of Montgomery Ward. He still feels a merchandising specialist is needed. Edmund A. Krieder, who resigned as president, had handled the merchandising under Avery.

If Clarke and Barr take Wolfson's suggestion, if they agree on the man, then Wolfson will be getting what he wants. He won't have full control. He won't have the Ward treasury at his disposal. But he will be determining policy.

2. To fight Wolfson off: Clarke and Barr could play the game of "freeze-out." Regular directors' meetings would be held at which Wolfson would be present. But the executive committee would make the important decisions. This committee was reduced from five to three at the first meeting of the new board last Saturday. Neither Avery nor Wolfson are on the new committee.

This committee could wage open war fare with Wolfson, the largest shareholder. In this warfare, Clarke and Barr would have to be sure that banks, insurance companies, investment trusts would continue to back them. They'd have to organize an anti-Wolfson coalition, so that they could honestly argue that they speak for a majority of the shareholders. Clarke and Barr would try to "tire" Wolfson out—make Wolfson sell his stock — on the theory that Wolfson could make more hay with his money elsewhere.

But could such a coalition succeed? Banks, insurance companies, and other large investors, never are happy owning stock in a company with a divided board of directors. That makes for ill, rather than good, will.

Institutional investors would be apt to sell their shares. The votes which kept the Avery group in power then would be thrown on the open market — for Wolfson or somebody else to pick up. The core of the anti-Wolfson strength would disintegrate — unless Barr and Clarke could get some rich investors to buy stock to offset the Wolfson holdings. That would be tantamount to a fight for control in the open market. It would be expensive — another Northern Pacific battle.

3. To buy Wolfson out: Clarke might try to arrange a merger. A deal involving Ward and Allied Stores has been talked about. That would bring in new merchandising blood. It would dilute Wolfson's voting strength. The strategy would be to get Wolfson to ask to be bought out. Since Ward has plenty of cash, that wouldn't be a hardship on the company's working-capital position. Wolfson would have his profit, and Clarke and Barr control.

But, if Wolfson decided to stay, he'd still be a large shareholder in the merged company, and, therefore, a constant threat.

Wolfson and Barr start off with comity. After the stockholders' meeting on April 22, Wolfson congratulated Barr for his skill and fairness as chairman "under difficult circumstances."

Common sense and good business suggest that all three try to get along — Wolfson, to protect and improve his investment in Ward, Barr, to hold on to his position with a minimum of friction, and Clarke, to keep Ward's financial strength in Chicago.

English Girl's Romance Hits Snag; He's A Married Man

BILLEDON, England (U.P.)—The 48-year-old Irish farmhand who ran away with the pretty sister of England's hereditary royal champion turned out today to be a married man with two children.

"I have wronged the girl terribly," said James Webb, who slipped away 10 weeks ago with Susan Dymoke, 23-year-old daughter of one of Britain's oldest families. The two told friends they planned to wed.

"I have deceived her and her family into thinking I was free to marry her," Webb told newsmen, "but I am not."

Mrs. Mary Webb, 46, an Ashford, England, riding instructor, produced a wedding certificate yesterday showing she had married the farmhand Nov. 16, 1937. She said her husband had left her and their two sons more than a year ago.

Police said they had "no further interest in the matter at this stage."

Webb, who looks younger than his years, said he had "taken Susan away to friends who will look after her. I can tell you she is not going back to her family." He met the girl when he was hired to milk cows on the Dymokes' ancestral estate near Grantham.

Aid Interest Cut

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The Senate Agriculture Committee has approved a bill to cut interest on disaster loans to farmers from 5 to 3 per cent.

Gen. Taylor Says Keep Guard Up

TOKYO (U.P.)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, newly appointed Army chief of staff, today said peace in the present world "can be assured only by adequate military power."

The outgoing Far East commander said he hoped Americans at home realized the need for maintaining continuous military strength "for an indefinite period."

Taylor recorded his remarks for broadcast to U. S. armed forces in the Far East on Armed Forces Day Saturday.

No Bomb Found

NEW YORK (U.P.)—Police searched the 24-story Cotton Exchange Building for two hours yesterday after receiving a telephoned bomb warning. They found nothing. Exchange business was not interrupted.

Debate Over Peron-Church Battle At Wind-Up Stage

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (U.P.)—Debate was expected to wind up in the Argentine Congress' lower House tonight on the government-backed proposal to end Roman Catholicism's favored position as the state church.

The Catholic faithful, meanwhile were summoned to masses tonight in the Buenos Aires Cathedral and 70 of the capital's churches.

Offensively the multiple services were to commemorate the Feast of the Ascension and pray for the success of the 26th International Eucharistic Congress opening July 19 in Rio de Janeiro. But the unusual number of masses made apparent they were scheduled to demonstrate support for the church in its hot controversy with President Juan Peron.

Another Latin-American controversy between church and state loomed in Guatemala. There President Carlos Castillo Armas told newsmen last night he personally opposed demands by Roman Catholic Archbishop Mariano Rossell that the new constitution now being drafted give his church pre-eminence and provide for religious education in the public schools.

The bill to write the church out of the Argentine constitution aroused only one opposing speaker.

Wrong Party

INDIANAPOLIS (U.P.)—A woman buying rose bushes for a friend asked the name of one she liked and was told it was, "President Eisenhower." Momentarily confused, she finally said she couldn't take that one. "My friend is a Democrat," she explained.

Wife's Paternity Charge Is Denied

BOSTON (U.P.)—Clarence Merriam, 41, of Springfield, disputes his wife's claim that he used to get out of jail nights and fathered their daughter Carol Ann, now 2½.

He contended in Municipal Court yesterday that the girl could not be his because he was in jail for drunkenness.

Mrs. Florence Merriam, 32, seeking support of the child, told Judge George W. Roberts: "He used to come home a lot at night" from the Berkshire County Jail at Pittsfield.

Merriam retorted: "I only sneaked out once and that was back in 1950. They caught me and put me in a place where I couldn't get out any more."

Judge Roberts suggested a grand jury probe in connection with Merriam's testimony about "sneaking" out of jail.

Woman Freed After Stay In Jail On Alienation Charge

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Mrs. Alma Ferguson, 52, who was kept in jail 44 days by her husband's former wife for failure to pay a $25,000 alienation of affections judgment, was freed yesterday.

Circuit Judge John E. Pavlik ordered Mrs. Ferguson released from Cook County Jail after her former attorney testified that she did not know that the alienation trial was in progress last year.

The suit was brought by Mrs. Theresa M. Pritchard, 42, who charged that Mrs. Ferguson maliciously stole the affections of her former husband Roy Ferguson, 46, a distributor for a bread company.

The Circuit Court jury returned a default verdict. It contained a malice count, permitting jailing of Mrs. Ferguson up to six months provided Mrs. Pritchard paid her husband's bill. Mrs. Pritchard has paid the country $3.50 a week for Mrs. Ferguson's keep since April 6.

Ah-h-h-h!

Look what Mr. Peterson told those financiers!

Mr. Alfred G. Peterson, a forthright man, addressed the convention of the Savings Associations League of N. Y. State and boldly discussed the matter of advertising — of his own free will.

Mr. Peterson, who is president of the National Savings and Loan League, and president of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Greenwich, Connecticut, spoke as follows:—

“I feel that advertising is a very profitable investment. No business can really grow without it. But we should not buy advertising blindly. We should give careful consideration both to the advertising appeals we use and the advertising media we use.”

And listen to this!

“The medium which tops the list is the medium that reaches the greatest number of people at the lowest cost. It is my opinion the newspaper is that medium...”

But that isn't all...

“I place the newspaper at the top of the list because it reaches the local market. All of us are really conducting local businesses.

“We may be bound together into a national industry, but our spheres of influence are entirely local.

“The newspaper reaches precisely the people we want to reach.”

Ah, Mr. Peterson — you are a man who knows his investment!

Last year the institution headed by Mr. Peterson invested 5% of its gross income on advertising, and more than 60% of that went into newspapers.

And apparently Mr. Peterson reached his prospects — and sold them, too! In only ten years this Association multiplied its total resources eight-fold!

Gosh! If savings and loan people themselves advertise, think how they must feel about lending money to people who work for sound companies who advertise soundly — in newspapers.

All business is local... and so are all newspapers!

Fairview HD Club Selects THDA Name

Mrs. Daisy Sutherland was the THDA nominee of the Fairview Home Demonstration Club when the group met in the home of Mrs. W. E. Buckner Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Sutherland will be one of ten women named from the clubs whose names will be presented at the council meeting slated for June 11. Three will be selected to represent the county at the state meeting in Fort Worth August 2-5.

Announcement was made of the tea and book review that will be held on June 7 at the county court room to which the public is invited.

At this time Mrs. Clyde Angel will review "Mr. Hobbs' Vacation." The review will begin at 2 o'clock.

The meeting was opened with a prayer by Mrs. Buckner who gave the devotion from 1st Tim. 8:11. Program was given by Elizabeth Face, HD agent, who spoke on trends and styles of today, and pointed out that each individual should try to study herself and choose articles and colors that suited her particular build and complexion rather than attempting to wear what is decreed by fashion designers.

The next meeting will be held in the Sutherland home on June 7 when handcraft will be demonstrated.

Lions Auxiliary Has Monthly Luncheon. Lions Auxiliary members gathered for luncheon at the Wagon Wheel Wednesday at 1 o'clock and made plans to continue their meetings throughout the summer.

Mrs. Charles Havens gave the invocation. Mrs. Louis Carothers was given a vote of thanks from the auxiliary for her work with the recent convention and also with the Lions minstrel.

The centerpiece for the head table was of purple asters and gold daisies. Hostesses for the June meeting will be Mrs. G. L. Jones and Mrs. C. C. Jones.

Calling lists were distributed so that members can be notified of the Ladies Night planned by the men for mid-June.

Mrs. Bosham To Head P-TA At Westbrook. WESTBROOK—Mrs. R. E. Bosham, Jr. was installed as president of the Westbrook Parent-Teacher Association recently.

On First Leg Of Trip To Germany Mrs. Frank Foster and her son, Frank Alexander, left this morning in the station wagon for New York City where they will leave the car to be shipped to Germany. They are to continue on to Westover, Mass., from whence they will fly to Hahn, Germany, where they will join Lt. Foster to live for three years.

Lots Of Changes Due Before Traveling Tot Returns Here

Things will really be changed three years from now — things about little Frank Alexander Foster, that is. He's only one year old now, and he left this morning with his mother, Mrs. F. M. Foster, for Westover Field, Mass. They will fly to Hahn, Germany, to join Lt. Frank Foster who is stationed there.

Mrs. Foster, who has been making her home with her parents here, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rogers, 709 E. 16th St., left this morning to drive through to New York. She was accompanied by Mrs. Nell Tipple who is to visit her daughter who lives in Newark, N.J.

Mrs. Tipple will "ride herd" on the baby while Mrs. Foster does the driving.

Most of the household goods will be furnished, but one of the most important things to a young mother's convenience is an automatic washer — and Uncle Sam doesn't furnish that. Hers has been sent along with the baby's bed and high chair. There may be a period of from four to six weeks before all of these little necessities get there but anyway she'll know they are on the way. They left by transfer truck to New York Wednesday morning and will be sent on by boat.

The Fosters, mother and child, are to report to Westover Field, Mass., not later than noon on May 31 for the flight that is scheduled to take not more than 20 hours.

A letter received from Mrs. Ralph Brooks, nee Lynette Bluhm, also of Big Spring, whose husband is also stationed in Hahn, said she was having a wonderful time and enjoying living in Germany. Many Texans are at this base and others are in Frankfurt. Mrs. Foster says they have a regular Texas colony there.

Such partings are always hardest on the ones who are left behind and the grandparents are already looking forward to the time when their daughter and her family return.

Plans were made at Wednesday's meeting for a bazaar, to be held on Nov. 19. Two new members were introduced: Mrs. R. L. Reaves and Mrs. C. W. Neefe.

The final meeting of the Central Ward P-TA was held Wednesday at the school, with Mrs. W. H. Bain presiding in the absence of the president.

Mrs. Ruth Burnham's fifth grade gave the devotion. The mothers who will have children entering school for the first time this fall were honored with songs. Diane Baker read a "thank you" from the student council for the help that has been given the group.

A corsage was presented from the pep squad to Mrs. Burt Sammons in appreciation for her leadership. A review of the year's program was given. L. D. Spradling, coach, distributed letters to boys who had participated in the after-school athletic program. His sixth grade won the attendance prize of the 46 who were present.

Luncheon will be served at noon with reservations for 90 cents. Mrs. James Neal may be called at 4-7991 for reservations, which must be in by Saturday.

Events scheduled for the Country Club as the weekend approach are the domino tournament on Friday evening, and the cocktail hour on Saturday. The domino tournament, which begins at 7:30, is for the men of the club, and reservations should be in by noon Friday. Hors d'oeuvres will be served for members and their out-of-town guests from 5 to 8 p.m. Saturday.

The tea table was decorated with the YWA emblem and colors. Silver appointments were used in the serving which was done by Mrs. R. D. Ulrey.

Husbands Are Guests For Class Picnic. Husbands of members of the Barbara Reagan Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church were guests at a picnic Tuesday evening at the City Park.

Planters Club Hears Talk On Chrysanthemums

"Chrysanthemums" was the subject, studied by members of the Planters Garden Club at their meeting Wednesday in the home of Mrs. J. W. Dickens. The hostess was the speaker for the afternoon.

She suggested that the size of chrysanthemums be governed by disbudbing, or pinching off the buds when the plants are from 8 to 10 inches in height. This, of course, will produce larger blooms.

Chrysanthemums like plenty of food, members were told, and frequent light watering will help them. They should never be watered after dark, however.

Reports were made on the area garden conference recently held in Midland. Attending from this club were Mrs. Dickens, Mrs. Warren Sparks, Mrs. Herbert Glau and Mrs. Frank Wilson.

Plans were made at Wednesday's meeting for a bazaar, to be held on Nov. 19. Two new members were introduced: Mrs. R. L. Reaves and Mrs. C. W. Neefe.

New Yorkers Experience Many Firsts

Something new has been added to the life of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Wilt of Amsterdam, N. Y., who are visiting here with her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Osburne.

Not only is this their first visit to Texas but they, along with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Osburne of Johnstown, N. Y., tasted their first barbecued chicken.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill McElvain, who live on the Wilkerson ranch, entertained Tuesday evening at their ranch home with a chicken barbecue for the New York visitors and 23 other friends.

Another first for the younger Osburnes is the horseback ride they took about the ranch and they are helping each other around more than usual today.

Expecting to come to a real dry West Texas, the New Yorkers arrived here Wednesday and so far have found this climate much the same as that they left. They plan to leave today so perhaps they can remember Big Spring, and West Texas as that lovely place in the West where the climate is cool and pleasant.

WEATHER

State Highway 8, blocking traffic northward to Breckenridge. Southwestern Bell Telephone company representatives said "hundreds" of telephone circuits were out in the Eastland-Clovis-Ranger area. Rainfall at Eastland totaled 19.42 inches. Although it had stopped raining at mid-morning, Clovis, 8 miles west of Eastland, had 4.60 inches of rain and Ranger, 8 miles east of Eastland, had 8.20. Some Ranger business houses were flooded.

A dozen tornadoes skipped over Texas Wednesday, but little damage was reported as the lethal twisters failed to touch ground or struck in thinly populated rural areas.

The waters of flooded creeks and rivers subsided or held at near-flood levels. The rains pounded down Wednesday and Thursday on drought-ravished areas of the state that have been plagued all this year by soil-scooping dust storms.

Deluges measuring from 8 to 15 inches sent a wall of water racing down on the sheep and goat-raising center of Brady. A flood wall built around Brady Creek after a damaging 1938 flood was holding. Waters were slowed by high water over highways.

Another flood threat was subsiding at Ballinger, 65 miles northwest of Brady, where the Colorado River had raged toward flood stage.

Bodies of drowned cattle floated down the stream. Police had evacuated some families from low-lying areas around both Brady and Ballinger.

Eastland's deluge probably was the heaviest in the state, but there were reports of rains up to 15 inches in the watershed of Brady Creek. Many points reported rainfall in excess of the heaviest official total.

Waco, Wichita Falls, Austin, Mineral Wells and Comita reported thunderstorms in Texas early Thursday. It also was raining in the Dallas-Fort Worth area around San Antonio and at Laredo, on the Mexican border.

In the Panhandle, Hale Center had 2 inches of rain Wednesday to go with the 8 that pounded the little city Tuesday. Water almost engulfed automobiles at 3 p.m. points and forced 10 families to evacuate. Some farm homes had water lapping into them.

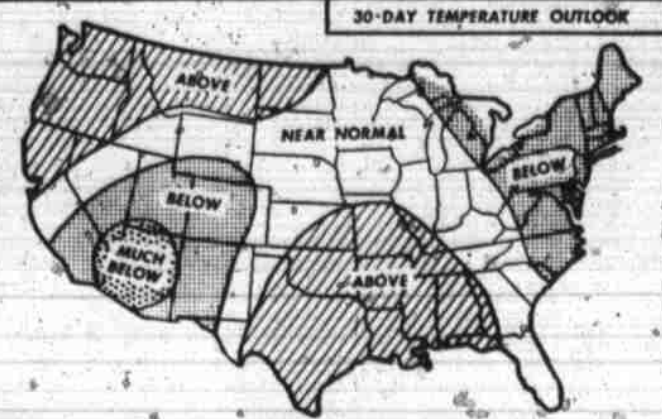

Borger, also in the Panhandle, reported 2.65 inches since Wednesday morning and still raining. The rain stopped there around 10 p.m. and resumed at 8 a.m. The total there was 4.92 inches for May. No hail fell.

Farmers all over the moisture areas were happy, although some damage to wheat was reported. Electra, in North Central Texas, reported a 2-day official total of 2.04 inches. Five miles to the northwest of Seymour, a farmer reported 4.85 in 3 days with 3.25 of it Wednesday.

Creeks were out of their banks and the Brazos River rising. A tornado was sighted between Bomarton and Gore, 15 miles southeast of Seymour but didn't hit the ground.

A motorist saw three tornadoes between Githrie and Benjamin, one of which hit the ground in front of his car but didn't do any damage. Other rain reports from the Seymour area included: Munday 1.77 inches, Benjamin 2.3 inches and Vera, more than 2 inches.

In Denton, 4.70 inches was reported.

The district attorney said he did not oppose bail because he does not consider the death penalty warranted in case of conviction. Where the death penalty is to be asked, no bail is allowed.

Wage Talkers Are Silent On Strike Chances

DETROIT (AP)—Principals in current negotiations in Detroit on the CIO United Auto Workers' demand for a guaranteed annual wage refused today to be drawn into speculation over possibilities of a strike in the auto industry.

Negotiators remained tight-lipped as the union resumed talks on new contracts with both Ford Motor Co. and General Motors Corp.

In Washington yesterday, Frank Rising, general manager of the Automobile Parts Manufacturers Assn., told the National Press Club "I believe the UAW leaders want a strike—a big strike—and a great and crushing victory won by forceful, militant action."

A spokesman for the union in Detroit declared Rising "does not speak for the employers with whom we are negotiating. He is obviously an embarrassment to his union and the guaranteed annual wage are hot words of reply."

UAW President Walter Reuther of its Ford and GM local unions have completed strike votes to back up year-around wage demands. The union said 94 per cent of those voting approved strike measures if needed.

UAW president Walter Reuther and his aides, however, have shied away from setting any strike dates.

The union is expecting counter proposals from both Ford and GM on June 7.

The union has proposed that the auto companies set up a multimillion dollar fund to finance a guaranteed annual wage.

The UAW Chrysler council opened a two-day conference in Detroit. The council is made up of union delegates from all Chrysler plants except the automotive body division.

The council will draft demands to be made on Chrysler Corp. 60 days in advance of the Aug. 31 expiration date of the present Chrysler contract. The union said its demands on Chrysler also will include the guaranteed annual wage.

Second grade pupils with their teacher, Pat Edmonds, were taken on a tour of the Big Spring Fire Station and the County Library Wednesday afternoon. They were given a picnic in the park later.

A Wiener roast at the Country Club was the entertainment for pupils of the fifth grade Wednesday at the Hostesses were Mrs. W. B. Dunn, Mrs. Eddie Everett and Mrs. Price Stroud.

Wage Talkers Are Silent On Strike Chances

Tools Mansfield is starting his second roping school next week at the Big Spring Rodeo Grounds. He is expecting from five to 10 students for the one-month course.

Instruction will start around 8:30 or 9:00 every morning and last till noon, then they will rope again for two or three hours in the afternoon. The purpose of the school is to help young men with their roping to where they can compete with the professionals at rodeos and matched roping contests.

The average age of his students has been from 18 to 20, though a few of them may be slightly younger or older.

The last school was attended by about ten young men, who came from several states to work under the world's champion, One boy came from Ashland, Kentucky; another was from Michigan, and still another from Wyoming.

Mansfield said one of his students had made nice progress. He is W. T. Kirk of Plainview, and Mansfield said he saw Kirk rope and tie a calf in 11 seconds at Levelland to win some jack pot money.

Each boy will furnish his own horse or horses, while Mansfield will supply the roping calves.

The Big Spring Cowboy Reunion will be held August 3-5. This is one of the bigger shows and approved by the National Rodeo Association. It will be ramrodded by Everett Coburn and Gene Autry. The singing cowboy star doesn't attend all the rodeos which he and Coburn sponsor, but he may get to come to this one.

One or two local men are interested in starting broiler projects this summer. No local processing plant is planned; however one is to be built at Lamesa or O'Donnell, and there is already a big one at San Angelo.

The only batches of chickens started so far are the 2,500 at the John Davis farm northeast of Big Spring. Half the month-old chickens are Northwestern and half are White Rocks. The Northwesterns are mixed with pheasant and have been bringing a higher price than the plain old cackling kind.

Dawson, Borden and north Howard County have been blessed with drought-breaking moisture, but the clouds have shied away from the Elbow-Lomax area southwest of Big Spring.

At Elbow, only seven-tenths inch of rain has fallen in the last few weeks, according to Mrs. Jack McKinnon who operates the store there. She said one or two farmers had started planting but stopped because of dry ground.

Four miles farther west on the E. L. McElroy farm, the rain gauge registered nine-tenths of an inch, which is still not enough for planting.

In the Lomax community the dry weather story is the same. The only planting is on the irrigated farmland. Lawrence Atkins has 20 acres of cotton up on the irrigated field. Also Tommy Newman and several other irrigation farmers have been watering and planting cotton.

About midway between Lomax and Stanton, Glenn Petree says his place is very dry, that he has had very little rain since last fall.

In the northeast part of Howard County the tanks are filled and running over the spillways. At the W. L. Wilson Ranch from four to five inches of rain has fallen in the last 10 days. The ranch received half an inch Monday night and another quarter-inch Tuesday.

"We've had plenty of rain," Wilson said, "but that doesn't mean we won't need some more. Right now grass is looking good and all the ranch tanks are full."

The Wilsons had some grass left, because they have been lightly stocked for several years. He said they used to carry 20 head of cattle to the section, then dropped the number to 15. Now they keep only 10 head on each square mile of grass and make money by it.

They believe in supplementing their grass with homegrown feed and usually feed their cattle most of the year. This year they got a 95 per cent calf crop up past the branding and de-horning age, which is almost a record for West Texas.

Another type of livestock which has done all right on the Wilson Ranch are the antelopes. Mr. Wilson says they have about 25 antelopes on the place, although no accurate count has ever been made. They are still wild and hide out in the brushier parts of the ranch, although they have become accustomed to seeing the Wilsons. They are fattened by the ranchers and will stand and stare at it as it passes by.

Mr. Wilson says the mother antelopes are now spawning or lambing, or whatever it is that a mama antelope does when she gives birth to a little one. He says the babies are very shy. He will hide in the grass just like a jack rabbit does. These antelopes came to the Wilson Ranch gratis. Some had been turned loose on nearby ranches, but they soon discovered some good grass on the Wilson place, and migrated to it by leaping over or crawling under the fence.

In the original bunch there were four does and two bucks, and from this parent stock came the 25 which now roam the pastures.

"Antelopes are pretty animals to watch," said Mr. Wilson, "but they may get so plentiful we will lose a lot of grass."

He said that Sid Reeder, Borden County sheriff, estimated there were between 400 and 500 antelope in Northern Howard and Borden Counties. There is no open season on antelope in Texas, but the Legislature is expected to declare a short one within the next year or two.

Heart Attack Kills Educator

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune, 79, who rose from a plantation background to found Bethune-Cookman College here and become one of the best known Negro women of her time, died last night of a heart attack.

Although in semiretirement and in health for years, she remained active until the end. She spent her last day at her desk, went home for the evening and collapsed.

She headed Bethune-Cookman College from its foundation in 1925 to 1942, when she became president emerita.

She gained new national prominence in 1936 when President Franklin D. Roosevelt made her director of the Division of Negro Affairs in the National Youth Administration and his special adviser on minority affairs. In World War II she was a special assistant to the secretary of war. She held the three posts until 1944.

She was one of a family of 17 born in the town of Milledgeville, Ga. She worked at menial tasks to go to college and in 1895 was graduated from Moody Bible Institute in Chicago.

She planned to become a missionary in Africa but in 1897 began teaching in Florida.

With $150 in cash she founded the Daytona Normal and Industrial School for Girls in 1899. The school's building went up on a dump heap. Later she purchased the land and in 1904 merged the girls' school with a boys' school, Cookman Institute, to create Bethune-Cookman College.

Under her leadership, the college became an institution of 800 students with a nationwide reputation and alumni throughout the world.

A son, Albert Bethune, an instructor at Hines Institute at Augusta, Ga., survives.

New Israel-Egypt Negotiations Urged

JERUSALEM (U.S. — The U.N. Mixed Armistices Commission called last night for resumption of Israel-Egyptian border negotiations. Coincident with the appeal, an Israeli reprisal attack heightened tension along the troubled Gaza Strip frontier.

The commission issued its communique after Israel refused to attend a scheduled border meeting yesterday. Israeli representatives said the boycott protested a land mine explosion Tuesday near Kissufim in which three Israeli soldiers were killed and two injured.

Israel troops last night attacked an Egyptian position near the site of the explosion, an army spokesman announced. He said the force suffered no casualties, adding that the "Egyptians and those in an adjacent position fled when the Israeli unit approached."

The U.N. commission warned Israel that the border situation is likely to "deteriorate still further" unless both parties resume negotiations soon for "an arrangement aimed at maintaining peaceful conditions in the Gaza area."

Corbin Thinks Filibuster Has Achieved Its Purpose

AUSTIN, Tex. (U.S. — Sen. Kilmer Corbin of Lubbock pook-pooed his cracking the national filibuster record yesterday but said he thought he had achieved his purpose.

That purpose, Corbin said at the end of his 28-hour, 15-minute speaking effort, was to make Texans aware of what he considers a poor plan for financing water conservation.

"That cheap business is silly, but that's one way you can call attention to what I consider one of the sorriest things I ever saw happen," Corbin told reporters after ending his filibuster.

The old filibuster record was 28 hours, 6 minutes, set by Senator Wayne Wagoner of Bowie March 31.

Despite extreme weariness, Corbin planned to be on hand for today's session in case the target of his wrath came to a vote.

The measure — drafted by a joint conference committee after House and Senate passed conflicting bills — calls for a 100-million-dollar bond program under which the state would guarantee up to 50 per cent of the cost of local water projects.

The conference report calls for a statewide property tax of 3 cents per $100 valuation to guarantee the bonds, with a six-man appointive board to administer the bond program.

Corbin ridiculed proponents' claims that this is the key measure in plans for a long-range water conservation program.

Sen. William T. Moore of Bryan, who helped with long questions in the final hours of the filibuster, tried to pin a gold medal on the new champion's chest.

As senators laughed, Corbin shoved Moore away and angrily shouted: "This is not a laughing matter. If the Senate wants to take it as such, all right."

Moore said he hadn't meant to ruffle Corbin. He said the medal was fixed up by Senate employees as a "token of esteem."

Printed on the medal were the words "World Champion Filibusterer."

Mrs. Corbin, who left three children at home to fly from Lubbock yesterday, said she was "glad it's over."

She said she was "proud to see him stand up and talk for what he thinks is right."

Portuguese Fire On Invading Indians

BOMBAY, India (U.S. — Portuguese police reportedly fired on 54 Indian citizens who marched into Goa colony yesterday for a civil disobedience campaign against Portugal's rule there. Goa Nationalists said four demonstrators were wounded and seven others beaten by the police.

The report was circulated here as a military court in Nova Goa sentenced five men to prison terms ranging from 1 to 15 years for advocating the union of Portugal's colonies in India with the Indian republic.

Portugal has refused to discuss India's demand that it withdraw from its settlements on the Indian subcontinent.

Thirteen of the Indians participating in yesterday's march were released, but the rest were reported held by Portuguese authorities.

Reports said the marchers either gave Indian border police the slip or ignored them in entering Goa.

Heads Are Rolling In Saudi Arabia

BEIRUT, Lebanon (U.S. — Heads are rolling in Saudi Arabia. The heads belong to pictures in newspaper advertisements.

The Saudi government has banned publication of pictures in the country's one daily and handful of weekly newspapers. Editors manage to conform by lopping off the heads of any human beings shown in ads. Even an American tire ad, showing a man with a body made of tires, was decapitated.

The ban is based on the traditional Moslem prohibition of images of any kind. The prohibition has been relaxed in most Moslem countries, but there has been a resurgence of puritanism in Saudi Arabia recently.

ARMED FORCES DAY

Observance of Armed Forces Day at Webb on Saturday promises to be the biggest thing to hit the base since the similar observance last year.

Extensive publicity has blanketed this West Texas area, and invitations have been sent out to all surrounding communities, inviting them to attend the Base's "open house" and see how a jet pilot training base operates.

Last year more than 15,000 people attended, and indications are that this year the crowd will exceed 20,000. A full break-down on the day's proposed activities will be contained in tomorrow's "Armed Forces Day" edition of the Herald.

NCO CLUB REOPENING

Saturday will mark the grand reopening of the repodeled Non-commissioned Officers' Club at Webb. It was announced Tuesday by M-Sgt. Charles Fletcher, club secretary.

Though much work remains to be done at the club prior to the Armed Forces Day observance, members of the board of governors are quite confident that it will be ready for the Saturday "open house."

When formally reopened, the club will stand as a monument to the personal efforts of many members who gave unselfishly of their time, skill and labor. It will also be a tribute to the support of key Base officers and the help extended by certain members of the local business community.

TWO AIRMEN LAUDED

Quick thinking on the part of two members of the 50th Air Force Band was credited with saving the life of another Webb airman, injured in an automobile accident involving four Base airmen at Water Valley early last Sunday morning.

Airman Second Class Jason Kresh and his wife arrived on the scene shortly after the accident and found one of the victims bleeding heavily from a deep gash in his leg. They applied an emergency tourniquet to stop the flow of blood.

Moments later A-2C Charles R. Gray pulled up in his car. He had a World War II first aid kit with him, and they applied the tourniquet that the kit contained.

According to Dr. W. J. Swann of Sterling City, where the victim was first taken, the airman would surely have bled to death but for the emergency action taken by the two bandmen.

Airmen Kresh and Gray are to be officially commended for their action, and will also be recommended to the National Safety Council and the American Red Cross for the "Save A Life" citation, said James E. Bennett, ground safety engineer at Webb.

SMU CHAPLAIN SPEAKS

The Rev. Dr. George Claude Baker, Southern Methodist University chaplain, was the guest speaker at the graduation of Class 35-N ceremonies in the Academic Auditorium last Monday morning. Dr. Baker is currently at Webb to conduct the nightly Protestant Preaching Mission, being held at the Base Chapel and scheduled for completion tonight.

The graduation class included 29 American aviation cadets and five flying students from the Peruvian Air Force, training here under the provisions of the MDAP agreement.

All of the American graduates will go on to advanced gunnery training, basic instructor school or multi-engine training.

SCHOOL ENROLLMENTS

Women Okayed As Ministers

LOS ANGELES (U.S. — A proposal that women be admitted to the Presbyterian ministry was endorsed today by the national head of the church.

Dr. Ralph Waldo Lloyd, president of Maryville (Tenn.) College and moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., also called for churchwide practice of nonsegregation.

His views were contained in a sermon prepared for delivery at today's opening session of the 167th general assembly.

The sermon was Dr. Lloyd's last official function as moderator. His successor will be elected later today to serve during the weeklong meetings and through the coming year.

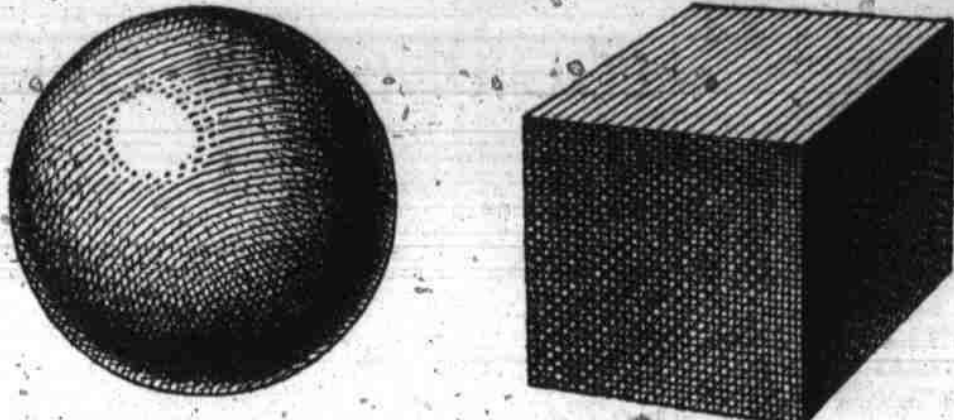

Admission of women as ministers and the nonsegregation issue are expected to come before the general assembly for action later in this session.

Dr. Lloyd said:

"As one thinks of the tremendous part which women play in the spiritual life and in the ministry of our church around the world, he cannot but hope that the church will possess enough of understanding and of the spirit of the pioneer to open all of the possibilities of service to women.

"A quarter of a century ago the eldership was opened to them and more than 3,000 women are serving in that distinctive Presbyterian office.

"The life of the church will be enriched further by opening of the office of minister also to women."

DIFFERENCE

We honestly believe that there has never been such a difference between low-priced cars as there is today. Driving them will quickly show you that it isn't even fair to compare other low-priced cars with the Motoramic Chevrolet. Driving will show you that Chevrolet is actually stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars. So won't you come in and try out a new Chevrolet? We'll rest our case on what the car itself can tell you.

Stanky Walking On Air, His Cards Rip Dodgers

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

When the St. Louis Cardinals are winning, you'll never find a pair of twinkling eyes to match Eddie Stanky's. And the little guy's peepers are flashing blue flames right now.

The Cardinals have won five straight and six of their last seven. But more important, their 33 success last night swept a series from Brooklyn — something the Cards have managed just four other times since Stanky took over as manager in 1952.

Brooklyn is dragging a three-game losing streak as it heads home from a dismal Western trip on which it lost five of nine. But the Dodgers still hold a 7½-game lead in the National League.

Chicago is second with the Cardinals third. The Cubs moved up by taking a double-header from the falling Philadelphia Phils 3-2 and 7-5. Milwaukee stumbled from the runner-up spot by losing to New York's Giants 4-2. Cincinnati beat Pittsburgh 5-1.

That left the standings jammed behind the Brooks. The Cards are nine percentage points behind the Cubs and three points up on the Giants. And the New Yorkers are just two points ahead of the Braves.

In the American, Cleveland leads by 1½ after smearing Boston 19-0. New York swept its series from Chicago's White Sox 11-6, while Detroit beat Baltimore 6-3 in 10 innings and Washington defeated Kansas City 7-2.

Not only have the Cardinals apparently found themselves, but Stanky's finally getting the pitching he's missed for so long. His guys have allowed just three runs in their last five games and he dumped Brooklyn with only one call to the bullpen.

The hall for help brought in Barney Schultz last night and the 6-2 right-hander got the final two outs with the tying run on second to protect Harv Haddix's second victory. With two of their runs unearned, the Cards jammed all their scoring into the first two innings.

From there on, loser Johnny Podres and Clem Labine permitted only one other base runner while holding the Cards to four hits for the game.

At Milwaukee, Hank Thompson's two-run single got the Giants rolling in a three-run sixth. Warren Spahn was the loser while Johnny Antonelli spun a six-hitter.

The Cubs smacked the Phils with the help of poor fielding in the opener and three home runs in the nightcap. Sad Sam Jones, making his first start since no-hitting Pittsburgh, fanned 10 for the victory. With two of their runs unearned, the Cards jammed all their scoring into the first two innings.

Midland Again Defeats Cops

Bob Swanson rationed out six of his in achieving his sixth win of the season without a loss as Midland topped Big Spring for the second straight night here Wednesday, 6-4.

In losing, the Cops absorbed their fifth straight defeat and plunged closer to the Longhorn League cellar.

The punless Cops almost drove Swanson from the hill with a three-run first but he settled to pitch fine ball, after that.

Big Glen Burns drove in four of the Cops' runs with a bases-empty home run, a double and two singles.

Burns' first inning two-bases plated Ben Jones and Billy Capps. He drove off his round tripper in the third and chipped in with a run-producing single in the ninth.

Mike Rainey pitched creditable ball for Big Spring but went down to his fourth defeat. He has won two decisions.

Luis Caballero was the only Cop to get to Swanson for more than one hit. He hit one in the hole between third and short, for a single in the sixth and came through with a one-baser off Capps' chest in the ninth.

The Cops again put the tying run on base in the ninth but pinch hitter Huck Dow skied to left to end the game.

Swanson struck out only two batters but his side-arm tosses had the Big Springers running toward third base.

The game was played under protest. Bob Martin, the local boss, alleged that Swanson was not eligible to play because he was placed on but got nowhere.

Mickey Mantle then hit a grand slam homer to put the Yankees beyond reach.

Baseball rule 7.09F seemed to uphold Marion. It states:

"If any base runner who had just been retired hinders or impedes any following play being made on a runner, such a runner should be declared out for the interference of his teammate."

Hurley, however, had a different version. Reached in the umpires' dressing room after the game, he said:

"Bauer pushed him while Fox was in the act of fielding the ball. He did not have complete control of the ball. That's why I called Bauer out for interference."

"If Fox had full possession, I would have ruled it a double play."

Press box observers were unanimous in the opinion that Fox not only had fielded the ball, but was in the act of tagging Bauer, barreling into him.

"Maybe he calls it aggressive baseball," Fox said angrily, "but I call it dirty playing. If he wants to play football instead of baseball, I'll just some football pads the next time and we'll go at it."

Bauer told it this way: "Sure he had the ball, but he was standing in my way. I'm entitled to the baseline. So I hit him with my chest."

Stevenson Sees Unification Of Demos In 1956

CHICAGO (AP)—The Democrats, says Adlai Stevenson, will be a united party in 1956 and he believes "those who have strayed and returned in good faith should be welcomed back to the Democratic fold."

"The 1952 Democratic presidential nominee told newsmen yesterday that for the last two years he had done 'all I could to assure a united Democratic party in 1956.'"

"I am sure," he said, "that is the wish and intention of all good Democrats and I firmly believe this is what we're going to have." The former Illinois governor, returning from a month-long business trip to Africa, was interviewed by reporters at Midway Airport. Asked about recent statements of party leaders regarding loyalty to the party's nominee by convention delegates in their home states, he said:

"I believe that those who have strayed and returned in good faith should be welcomed back to the Democratic fold. I am against loyalty oaths but am very much in favor of loyalty and good faith in politics, and I believe a delegate who takes part in any Democratic decision-making process bears a serious obligation to abide by the majority decision unless his conscience forbids him to."

Stephen A. Mitchell, the party's former national chairman, recently said a floor fight would be made in the 1956 convention, if necessary, to prevent seating of any of all three Southern Democratic leaders who, after serving as delegates to the 1952 convention which nominated Stevenson, supported Dwight Eisenhower for president.

Mitchell, advised of Stevenson's statement yesterday, said he still would produce the convention credentials committee will reject Gov. Allen Shivers of Texas; Gov. Robert F. Kennon of Louisiana; James F. Byrnes, former governor of South Carolina, and other 1952 "apostates."

"They are symbols of disloyalty," Mitchell said. "They are Judas goats who betrayed their own party after being elected to positions of leadership by that party. I'm not going to let them participate if I can help it."

Asked if he plans to become a presidential candidate in 1956, Stevenson told newsmen all he knows about that "is what you fellows have been writing." He also said there are "several" capable men for the nomination. Among those, he named Gov. Averell Harriman of New York and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Launching Date Set For New Atom Sub

WASHINGTON (AP)—Launching ceremonies "about mid-July" were being arranged today for the Seawolf, the nation's second atomic submarine now under construction at Groton, Conn.

The Navy, still giving no definite date for the ceremonies, said yesterday the sponsor for the new vessel will be the wife of Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY), a member of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy. The first atomic sub, the Nautilus, is now on a shakedown cruise in the Atlantic.

Officers Visit Quemoy Isle

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Top Nationalist Chinese and American officers visited the offshore island of Quemoy yesterday, it was announced today.

The group included Maj. Gen. William C. Chase, head of the U. S. Military Assistance Advisory Group; Rear Adm. Frederick N. Kivette, commander of the Formosa Strait patrol; Defense Minister Yu Ta-wei; and Lt. Gen. Yu Pak-chuen, deputy chief of the general staff.

Nationalist press reports said they were highly impressed with the care and maintenance of newly arrived American weapons.

Post Office Snags Mail From Indies

CHICAGO (AP)—Ten thousand envelopes mailed in the British West Indies to Chicago residents have been intercepted by post office inspectors because, they said, they contain tickets for the Jamaica Sweepstakes.

Inspector Jerome Williamson said yesterday addressees have been notified to appear at the post office and open the envelopes in the presence of inspectors. Any tickets for the sweepstakes, he said, will be confiscated because they were mailed into the United States in violation of federal lottery laws. He said envelopes containing legitimate mail will be turned over to the addressee.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

One piece of barcarole music is covered with human figures. The head of each figure is a musical note!

An amusing piece of barcarole music exists. Instead of having ordinary musical notes, this music is adorned with scores of little human figures.

The figures have arms, legs, bodies and heads, and are for the most part, in boats. The smaller boats contain only a few figures, but certain of them have from six to nine. One boat shown upside down, above six little men who are tumbling into the water.

A person might use that sheet to play on the piano. The head of each figure is dark, and is meant as a musical note. I have mentioned a "piece of barcarole music." Sometimes we hear a person speak about "the barcarole," as though only one barcarole existed. Actually the word refers to boat songs which originated in Venice, Italy. The Italian word "barca" means "boat" or "barge," and a barcarole is a boat song, especially one sung by gondoliers of Venice.

In addition, we have barcaroles composed by several musicians who lived outside of Italy. These were designed to imitate the old songs of the Venetian boatmen. Barcaroles which were composed by Chopin, Offenbach and Mendelssohn have won special praise, and they rank among the classics of music.

The human voice plays an important part in music. Boys and girls, men and women usually like to sing. Many (including this writer) would rather sing in a group than alone.

No one can be sure how it happened that people started to sing. Among furry animals they could never have found any good example of harmony. Only among birds could early men have observed the beauty of song.

However they may have learned, it seems likely that Stone Age people in Europe were able to sing. We may judge this from facts learned by white explorers during the past few centuries. These explorers have found savages in the Stone Age state of development, and the savages have been able to sing. Often the singing has been of a wild type, but at least it has suggested music.

Tomorrow: Drum Questions.

UN Arms Unit Begins Recess

LONDON (AP)—The five-power U.N. Disarmament subcommittee began a two-week recess today. The five delegations—the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, France and Canada—now will assess individually progress made and issues still dividing the West and the Russians.

Adjourning after 12 weeks of talks here, the group announced yesterday it would meet again June 1. Western officials said New York would be the site.

U.S. Delegate James J. Wadsworth said in a statement last night that "to a measurable degree the gaps between us seem to have been lessened." But he added: "Much remains to be done. In doing it, one of our major jobs will be to provide a really effective system of safeguards, to make sure that both nuclear and conventional disarmament is being carried out."

ROKs Can't Go

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The non-Communist International Confederation of Free Trade Unions says President Syngman Rhee's government has refused to let South Koreans attend the ICFU world congress opening here Friday. No reason was given.

BILLY THOMAS

Coahoma Names Honor Grads, Exercises Set

COAHOMA, (SC)—Honor graduates of Coahoma High School have been announced by school officials. The highest ranking student in the senior class is Billy Paul Thomas, who will be valedictorian. He has a grade average of 91.03.

The salutatorian will be Dudley Arnett. His grade average is 90.90. Beth Thomas and Arnett were in a tight race for the top honors with Mary Massey, the highest ranking girl in the graduating class. Miss Massey's grade average figured out at 90.38—less than half a point below Arnett and less than one point below Thomas' average.

Commencement exercises will be held at 8:15 p.m. today, with George Boswell of San Angelo, former superintendent of Coahoma schools, to be the speaker.

Twenty-four students will receive their diplomas. Baccalaureate services were held last Sunday.

Movie Producer Hit By New Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A 32-year-old divorcee has a new suit on file against Arthur Freed, an Oscar-winning film producer, asking that he be compelled to support her child.

Twice before Mrs. Mary Norris filed suit against Freed, charging that he assaulted her. Neither came to trial. In the suit filed yesterday she asserted Freed is the father of her daughter Fumita Joe, 4 months.

She asks $2,500 immediate support, $500 a month and $20,000 at attorney's fees. One of her attorneys said that Mrs. Norris first met Freed when he interviewed her for a film bit role.

Freed's pictures include "An American in Paris," an Oscar winner for 1951.

Trade Pact Signed

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Yugoslavia and Albania have signed an agreement providing exchange of goods worth 1 1/2 million dollars from each side.

New Legate

LONDON (AP)—The British have named a new charge d'affaires in Peiping. He's Con D. W. O'Neill, 48, former head of the Foreign Office news department. He replaces Humphrey Trevelyan, appointed ambassador to Egypt.

Westbrook Honor Students

Honor students for 1955 at Westbrook High School are Leon Byrd (left), valedictorian, and Genelle Dorn, salutatorian. Leon, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Byrd, has spent all 12 of his school years at Westbrook. Genelle also has been in the Westbrook schools from the first grade. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Dorn.

TEC Aids Graduates To Full, Part-Time Positions

The Texas Employment Commission office has already placed two Big Spring students in permanent jobs, according to Ted Vinson, assistant manager of the office. And there are many positions open for the students who are looking for work, he added.

Vinson has been developing a program here to assist H.C.J.C. and high school students obtain work after they graduate. He is also assisting them with part-time work during the summers and after school hours.

Both of the placements already made under the program were graduates of H.C.J.C. One will go to work as a general office assistant and the other as a stenographer. The positions are being held for them until after graduation.

Local businesses and the schools have cooperated with the TEC office and made the plan workable, Vinson said. At present, there should be enough positions available for all students who require aid in finding permanent or part-time employment.

Power Of Women?

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. Economic and Social Council has voted 7-3 for a world conference to set up machinery to track down men who skip out on their families and try to hide in other countries. The United States opposed it.

MILK-AT-BEDTIME HABIT

Ease nervous tension...relax!

Why have another sleepless night, another dragged-out day? When you want sleep, drink a glass of milk before you go to bed.

Scientific tests show definitely that a glass of milk before bedtime relaxes you, makes sleep come more quickly, helps you sleep soundly all night through. Milk relaxes the blood vessels, aids circulation, eases the hunger pangs that sometimes cause wakefulness. If you prefer milk slightly warmed, that's even more relaxing.

Don't experiment with drugs. They can be dangerous, unless taken on the advice of your physician. Go to sleep the natural, safe, healthy way—like a baby, like a kitten, like any milk drinker. Drink three glasses of milk every day—one of them at bedtime—for all the calcium you need, for low-cost protein, for sound sleep. You'll feel right tomorrow if you sleep tight tonight.

WILLIAM "KOKIE" JORDAN
... Trained For Cooking, Turned To Printing

Reversed Her Field Foods To Printing

If ever a prospective good cook had a good chance at learning and a good field to practice on it is Miss Jordan who tells us about making sandwiches today.

Miss Jordan, who is "Kokie" to all her family and old friends, is a member of a large family and all the girls learned to cook at home, the mother having died when all of the children but one were still at home.

Some of the family would eat anything; some were quite finicky and others had to have steak prepared one way while another preferred it some other way. But one thing that was always eaten at one meal by them all was banana cake.

After finishing high school here, Miss Jordan took her B. S. degree in 1926 at C. I. A. in Denton. Her major was home economics and she taught school in Calvert for three years before taking the job of "home ec" teacher in the local high school. She taught for six years here before leaving school teaching for the printing business. When her father, T. E. "Pappy" Jordan, died in 1943, she took over the management of his printing business and has remained there.

Although she loves to cook and even likes to wash up the dishes after preparing a large meal, she seldom takes over in the kitchen except for family gatherings. She lives alone in a house next door to her sister, Mrs. Thurman Gentry, with whom she takes her meals. Sometimes when Mr. Gentry is sleeping days, the sisters transfer to her house and she does a little cooking then.

She misses not having a large enough dining room to really be comfortable when all the family gets together, but this family, like all big families, enjoy the being together more than they enjoy being comfortable while doing it. Laying a table for meals and flower arranging are fun for our good cook, who likes to cook but never gets much practice any more. She likes to make cakes, pies, fancy rolls and breads of all descriptions, salads and all kinds of meat cookery.

Her favorite sandwich is an open lunch sandwich a la Baker Hotel at Mineral Wells. To make it, arrange two slices of crisp toast in the center of a small platter. Cover the toast lightly with freshly shredded lettuce then arrange slices of breast of chicken or turkey. Before serving, top generously with a good thousand island salad dressing. Garnish with slices of tomatoes, hard boiled eggs and olives. Miss Jordan heartily recommends this as a delicious "one dish meal."

A simple spread that is tasty and can be used on numerous kinds of breads is made of 1/4 pound of grated American cheese, 1 medium sized bottle of stuffed olives, chopped fine, 1/4 cup of pecans, chopped fine.

Mix well with a good mayonnaise to the proper consistency for spreading. Add a small amount of pepper for taste but no salt is needed. Spread generously on white whole wheat or rye bread.

A cool dainty sandwich can be made from thin slices of cucumber, lettuce and mayonnaise on thinly sliced nut bread. "There is nothing as interesting as making up different types of sandwich spreads," says Miss Jordan. "Inventory your supplies on hand at any time and try different combinations for a wide variety in your daily menus."

Vegetables Can Be Dressed Up With Sauces

These little suggestions might make a difference in whether the family does or doesn't like these good spring vegetables.

Layer sliced strawberries, diced fresh pineapple and spoons of vanilla ice cream in parfait glasses for a delicious dessert.

Ever try this vegetable combination? Add cut green beans to creamstyle corn and season with a little curry powder.

For your first-asparagus-of-the-season lunch or supper: cook the vegetable until just tender crisp and serve with stuffed eggs heated in a well-seasoned cream sauce.

Mold "grated" carrots in a basic aspic; serve with creamstyle cottage cheese for a luncheon salad. Use moderate heat when you are skillet-cooking chicken livers in butter.

Cut plain white cake, baked in a sheet pan, in strips. Frost top and sides of cake strips with this frosting. Cream 1 1/2 cups confectioners' sugar with a couple of tablespoons of butter or margarine; blend in a tablespoon of lemon juice and two tablespoons of orange juice. A little grated orange rind may also be added if desired.

A Little Can Of Deviled Ham Makes A Big Change

AP Newsfeatures

Good things come in small cans. Open a little container of deviled ham and you'll find a heap of flavor. So many ways to use this spread—but top favorite of all with us is to let it be a partner to poached eggs.

We offered this combination to our family one Saturday morning recently. Came Sunday "How about retasting the ham and eggs you tried on us yesterday?" our teen-age nephew asked. We accepted the compliment, were happy to oblige!

You get a bonus with a 2 1/2-ounce can of deviled ham. Remove both flat ends of the can with a rotary-type can opener and you'll have perfect circles with smooth edges to use as rings for poached eggs.

Ever been bothered by the wanton shape of a poached egg? Turned your nose up at raggedy edges? Save your small deviled ham cans and you can poach eggs without trouble.

Here's how we use the rings to poach four eggs. We butter the bottom of our deep 10-inch copper-clad stainless steel skillet. Then we butter well the inside band of four rings and put them in the skillet. We put six cups of water in the skillet, cover it and bring the water to a healthy boil. We remove the cover and turn the heat very low; immediately we break an egg into a demitasse cup, and holding the tiny cup so the top of it touches the rim of a ring, we drop the egg into the ring. We quickly drop the other three eggs into the remaining rings in the same way; sometimes we cover the skillet at this point, sometimes we don't. In five to six minutes, with the heat kept very low so the water won't bubble, the whites are well set and the yolks still runny—a condition we esteem. We remove the rings with kitchen tongs and then speedily take out the eggs from the water one at a time, with a slotted spoon.

In case you think we are making a big production of preparing a simple dish, we hasten to say that numbers of cooks have confessed to us that poaching eggs is their Waterloo. Here are the directions for using the eggs with the ham.

INGREDIENTS:
4 slices bread, 1 can (2 1/2 ounces)

Method:
Toast the bread on one side only in the broiler of a range or under the heating element of an electric toaster. Spread the untoasted sides with ham. Place under the broiler again to heat the ham. Meanwhile poach the eggs. Place a poached egg on each slice of ham-apread toast. Sprinkle eggs lightly with salt. Makes 2 to 4 servings.

Notes:
For 4 to 8 servings, use 8 slices of bread, 1 can (4 1/2 ounces) deviled ham, and 8 poached eggs. For brunch or luncheon we find that deviled ham added to a cream sauce and topped with sliced eggs also makes a pleasant dish.

EGGS WITH DEVILED HAM SAUCE

Ingredients:
1/4 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 1/2 tablespoons flour, 1 1/2 cups milk, 1 can (4 1/2 ounces) deviled ham, 8 slices buttered toast, 4 to 8 hard-cooked eggs (sliced).

Method:
Melt butter in saucepan over low heat; add onion and cook a few minutes. Blend in flour. Add milk all at one time; cook and stir until thickened and bubbly. Stir in deviled ham; reheat slowly to blend flavors. Pour ham sauce over buttered toast; top with sliced eggs. Makes 4 servings.

Gourmet Dessert

Make up a batch of thin French pancakes. Add fresh orange sections to an orange sauce. Heat the rolled pancakes in the sauce just before serving. A little brandy or rum flavoring may be added to the sauce if desired.

Chocolate Cake Mix Good Dessert Base

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Assistant Press Food Editor

No need to ask. Chances are chocolate is a favorite flavor in your family. So what do we offer: This two-way chocolate cake to add to your easy dessert ideas.

The base is a new devil's food mix that comes in a 20-ounce package. This mix has just one preparation step. You dump it into a bowl along with egg and water and beat for three minutes. If you want to add milk instead of water, go ahead; but your cake will be a little drier than it is when water is the liquid. Pure vanilla won't hurt the cake if you want to add it—a teaspoon of the flavoring for a package of the mix.

To make a two-way dessert, bake the cake in a large pan and then cut in half crosswise. Turn one half into a luscious banana cream combination to serve at once. Store the other half in a covered container; the next day join it with vanilla pudding, embellish it with almonds, and you have another and different dessert. Here are exact directions.

DOUBLE CHOCOLATE CAKE DESSERT

Ingredients:
One package (20 ounces) instant devil's food mix, 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons water, 2 eggs.

Method:
Line an oblong pan (13 by 9 by 2 inches) on the bottom with brown or waxed paper. Using the water and eggs, prepare cake batter according to package directions. Pour into prepared pan. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 30 to 35 minutes. Turn cake out on cooling rack. When cold, cut in half crosswise and use in following ways.

BANANA CREAM CHOCOLATE CAKE

Split one half of cake in half horizontally. Beat 1 cup whipped cream with 2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar and 1/4 teaspoon vanilla until cream holds its shape. Spread half of the cream on one layer; cover with one sliced banana. Top with second layer, then with remaining cream and another sliced banana. Makes 9 servings.

CHOCOLATE CAKE PUDDING

Split second half of cake in half horizontally. Cut each piece into 18 pieces. Arrange half the pieces in the bottom of a glass baking dish. Prepare a package of vanilla pudding and pie filling mix according to package directions, using 2 1/2 cups milk. When pudding is done, stir in 1/4 cup slivered toasted almonds. Pour half the hot pudding over the cake pieces in the baking

When you are serving buffet-style, it is always best to split and butter rolls ahead of time and then heat them. French or Italian bread is served you can butter the slices, too; but be sure to have the bread keep its original form because it looks most attractive that way. Cut the slices all the way through so guests won't have to struggle to take a piece while they are holding dinner plates or trays.

Annual Midland Rodeo Planned

MIDLAND — The big annual entertainment spectacle of the Permian Basin — the World Championship Midland Rodeo — will be held June 1-5 in Midland Fair Park on East Highway 80.

Midland Rodeo, presented under the lights is recognized as one of the nation's top-ranking outdoor rodeos.

The show is produced by Everett E. Colborn, partner of Gene Autry in the Lightning C Ranch of Dublin, one of the foremost rodeo producers in the United States. Colborn also produces New York's Madison Square Garden Rodeo and other big time events.

A mile-long parade of bands; cowboys; cowgirls; rodeo officials; judges and contestants; decorated floats; drill teams; sheriff's posse units; clowns and miscellaneous divisions, officially will open the 1955 rodeo. The procession is scheduled at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday June 1.

Then at 8 o'clock that night the curtain will rise on Midland's 1955 Rodeo. Many of the best cowhands will compete against some of the nation's meanest and toughest rodeo stock for the purses and prizes totaling more than $12,000.

A number of outstanding specialty acts have been booked this year, along with The Kajun Kid, one of the most courageous cowboy clowns in the bull fighting world.

Tip Thwarts Robbery Plan

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Police said an informer's tip thwarted an elaborate plot to rob the U.S. mail of a large amount of gambling casino money last night.

Police Chief A. H. Kennedy said five persons were taken into custody, including a Las Vegas police officer, and his attractive red-haired wife.

He said an informer told him two weeks ago of a plan to rob a police car delivering a load of cash from the Las Vegas post office to the railroad station.

Postal authorities said the police car had been scheduled to carry a "very substantial amount of money" destined for San Francisco. There were reports it would have amounted to half a million dollars but postal authorities would not verify this.

Several postal inspectors from California and Nevada hid with 22 policemen in the vicinity of the post office. No attempt was made to halt the police car, which because of the tip carried no money. However, police arrested Las Vegas policeman George Anderson, 31, and his wife Joyce, 24, a casino cocktail waitress, in front of the post office.

Faces Rare Operation

Maureen Dowd, 2, shown listening to a story read by her mother, will undergo a rare operation on her heart at the University of Minnesota Hospital. The child, who lives in Utica, N. Y., has two holes in the muscles between the four chambers of the heart. While surgeons operate to sew up these holes, the child's father will provide circulation and purification of the child's blood.

Brother, Sister Marriage Results In Incest Charges

HEREFORD, England — A brother and sister who were parted in childhood but later met and married are facing trial on incest charges. Authorities accuse them of knowing they were related when they were wed.

At a preliminary hearing yesterday, a local court ordered Geoffrey Walter Hughes, 26, and his sister Marjorie to stand trial June 20. Both were released on bond without entering any plea to the charges.

The couple married in 1951. They separated early this year when their relationship was disclosed, and the sister since has remarried.

"We both knew it was wrong for us to get married," Geoffrey said in a statement read in court. The statement said Marjorie was expecting a baby at the time and urged him to marry her.

"It was obvious shortly after our marriage that she did not want me and only wanted to give the baby a name," it continued.

Marjorie denied knowing Geoffrey was her brother at the time of their marriage.

Prosecutor E. C. Jones told the court Marjorie also denied her brother's story of a premarital pregnancy. She asserted, Jones said, that both her children were born later and that Geoffrey was their father. The youngest child is 8 months old.

Hughes' statement said he and his sister were sent to an orphanage after their mother died in 1931. Marjorie was then adopted by a family named Stanham and took their name.

Once-Ruined Warsaw Takes Shape Again

WARSAW, Poland — Warsaw, 10 years ago a mess of rubble, is taking shape as a fine city. Reconstruction is tied to a six-year plan that ends this year. Diplomats, businessmen and other Westerners here say progress has been spectacular.

Everywhere builders are at work. They are producing a city of broad, tree-lined avenues and spacious sidewalks with many new buildings.

Eighty per cent of Warsaw was laid low in World War II. Today there are still many signs of this destruction but they are disappearing.

High over the city towers a 740-foot skyscraper, the Stalin Palace of Culture and Science. It is described officially as the gift of the Soviet Union to the people of Warsaw. Designers, engineers and 5,000 workmen came from Russia to build it.

Reporters who came to Poland for the meeting last week of the Soviet Union and its European allies were shown around the building.

Work started two years ago and the palace is now almost ready for its opening in July. Its exterior is heavily decorated in the Russian wedding-cake style. To some eyes it clashes with the simple elegance of other new buildings.

Inside, the palace is equipped on a lavish scale. At any one time, according to a guide, it will accommodate 23,000 persons in its theaters, movie auditoriums, recital rooms, concert and congress halls, libraries, game rooms, gymnasiums and a marble swimming pool.

A showpiece of the new Warsaw is "Old Warsaw," razed in the 1945 uprising. It has been rebuilt just as it stood in the 18th century, a cluster of narrow streets around a market square.

In this city the Poles look at least adequately and sometimes attractively clothed. Nor, so far as one can judge after only a brief stay in Warsaw, is there any shortage of food. Because of the artificial exchange rate, prices look prohibitive to Westerners. But the shops look well stocked and people are buying.

Housing is greatly deficient. Another deficiency seems to be transport, a situation apparently to be remedied by the building of a subway in the new plan due to start at the end of this year.

Hot Temper Gets Woman Party Line Talker Into Trouble

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. — A hot-tempered housewife has been found guilty of refusing to yield a country telephone party line when a volunteer fireman tried to report a fire.

Mrs. Mary L. Kayes, 43, of Rhinebeck, N.Y., could get a maximum of a year in jail, a $500 fine or both under a new state statute covering use of party line telephones in an emergency.

Mrs. Kayes, mother of four, sobbed when the verdict was announced in Dutchess County Court last night.

"Let me alone, don't bother me," she shouted at newsmen.

Judge John R. Schwartz set May 24 for sentencing and continued Mrs. Kayes in $500 bail.

According to testimony in the two-day trial, Mrs. Kayes said, "Let the damn thing burn and get off the line," when fire dispatcher Donald Townsend asked her to give up the line to report a brush fire last Jan. 21. Townsend and Mrs. Kayes share the line with five other users.

Townsend testified he had to drive nearly a mile to another telephone to make the call.

A fire official told the court the fire got out of control because of the delay and destroyed a nearby barn.

Mrs. Kayes claimed she didn't believe there really was a fire, because "you hear the darndest things on a party line."

Medal Awarded

WASHINGTON — Gen. James H. Doolittle has been awarded the 1954 Gold Medal of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, highest international civil award for personal contributions to aviation progress and development.

Youth Hooliganism Takes On Red Hue

MOSCOW — Juvenile gangs who beat up schoolmates, terrorize teachers and disrupt whole neighborhoods worry other cities besides New York. Moscow, for instance.

What used to be called "flaming youth" isn't confined to the Western Hemisphere either. Leningrad has a crowd crazy about cars and all sorts of work and study.

Both elements are the subjects of worried newspaper articles. Of course the writers say the fault lies with "survival of the capitalist past" and poisonous American influence.

Komsomol Pravda, the Soviet Young Communist League's newspaper, published a letter from a Col. S. L. Khyslov, who said boys of Moscow Public School 355 had ambushed and beaten his son after his daughter informed on the school's "hooligans."

Komsomol Pravda commented that these hooligans "acted with impunity" and complained this was not the first instance of such gangsterism in Soviet public schools. It observed:

"We are forced to say that cases of beatings up of Komsomol (Communist Youth League) and Pioneer (Child Communist League) members have occurred before. But no decisive measures have been taken. . . . In an atmosphere of permanent threats, hooligans do whatever they want with impunity."

Leningrad Pravda complained of the idle youngsters who call themselves by such Western names as Jane and John, and who wangle big cars out of Daddy. The official Communist paper in Russia's second largest city told of one "John" who thought he was "Rockefeller, Jr."

John Karanazov Jr. nagged his father into buying him a Zim—the Soviet copy of the American Buick. It takes years for an ordinary Soviet citizen to work to the top of the list for the cheapest car, so Karanazov Sr. must have been high in Soviet rank.

"Although this so-called John claims he is a student, he neither works nor studies. He imitates those characters of the trashy American movies which sometimes penetrate our screens. . . . (The only U.S. films shown to the general Soviet public since the war have been old ones captured in Berlin. These were carefully chosen—mostly historical, costume productions—nothing about gangsters or decadent high life.)

"John likes the easy dancing life. . . . When he needed money for himself and his drinking companions, he drove through the streets in his Zim, picking up taxi fares. . . . The viruses of this disease, brought to our country on foreign winds, find their individual victims among out educated youth."

'Miracle' Baby Runs Gauntlet

DALLAS — Doctors call a month-old Glenn Ray Smith of Greenville a "miracle baby."

Born with an incomplete esophagus (swallowing tube), Glenn Ray has survived: 1. Loss of two-thirds of his blood. 2. Major chest surgery at a time when he was a poor operative risk. 3. A rigidity of the tissues called sclerema.

"This child was just meant to live," murmured a surgeon at Children's Medical Center here yesterday when Glenn Ray's mommy brought him by for a visit.

Glenn Ray was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Ryoford Smith of Greenville.

Glenn Ray had trouble swallowing and on the second day of his life was taken to a Greenville hospital. He vomited everything he tried to eat.

To maintain fluid requirements of the tiny body, liquids were injected beneath the skin. One injection caused Glenn Ray to bleed internally and he lost most of his blood supply.

The diagnosis: The upper part of the swallowing tube ended in a blind alley, and the lower part was connected abnormally with the windpipe. Surgical correction is not always a great risk. But Glenn Ray's condition was so poor he had little chance.

Since death was certain without it, the surgeon went ahead.

Glenn Ray made the trip to the operating room with a blood transfusion going into one leg, glucose pouring into a vein of his other leg and oxygen from a portable tank being fed into his lungs. He survived the complex operation, in which the surgeon established a normal esophagus.

Then he developed sclerema, in which body tissues develop a wax-like stiffening. The condition is usually a forerunner of death.

Glenn Ray was treated with hydrocortisones—one of the latest derivatives of cortisone—and in a few days the sclerema danger was gone.
