Pancho Bradley Is Justice Of The Peace

In a special called meeting of the County Commissioners Court held Tuesday morning, Frank "Pancho" Bradley was named Justice of the Peace to serve the upcoming two years and one month of the unexpired term of the late B. L. Blakeway.

When Blakeway became ill early last week, the Commissioners elected Bradley as temporary J. P. to collect fines and do other routine work connected with the office. Bradley will attend a training course in the future in connection with his new duties and permanent appointment.

Bradley was sworn in by County Clerk Jim Thornton immediately following his appointment.

Pancho Bradley is a lifelong resident of this area and he has the best wishes of his many friends as he assumes the responsibilities of J. P.

Farm Census Results Given For This County

Schleicher County, Texas, had $5,843,000 in farm product sales in 1974, Census Bureau reports.

The market value of all agricultural products sold by the 272 farms in Schleicher county in 1974 amounted to $5,843,000, according to a preliminary report of the 1974 Census of Agriculture released today by the U. S. Department of Commerce's Bureau of the Census. Production expenses on these farms totaled $5,166,000 in 1974.

The figures are for farms qualifying under the definition first used for the 1959 Census of Agriculture: A farm includes all agricultural operations conducted at any time during the census year under the control of an individual management, provided that sales of agricultural products amounted to, or normally would amount to, at least $250 for places of less than 10 acres for places of 10 acres or more.

Figures for farms with sales of $2,500 or more are shown for 1974 and 1969. These farms accounted for $5,783,000 of all agricultural products sold in 1974 and $4,326,000 in 1969.

There were 208 of these farms in 1974 compared with 215 in 1969. The average size decreased from 3,548 to 3,417 acres during the five years. The value per acre increased from $73 to $125 raising the average value per farm from $258,082 to $425,558.

The market value of livestock and their products on farms of $2,500 or more of sales was $4,602,000 in 1974; poultry and their products, $1,000; and crop sales, including nursery products, hay and forest products, $1,181,000.

Farms reporting less than $1,000 in sales numbered 11 in 1974. The value of agricultural products sold on these farms totaled $1,000.

STARKS BACK FROM TRIP

Rev. and Mrs. Gene Stark and son Steven left last Wednesday to spend the Thanksgiving holiday with Gene's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Stark who live in Seminole, Okla. The Starks also visited in Celina, Texas with Mrs. Linda Hazelwood. It was the first time for young Steven to visit with his great-grandmother. The Starks returned home Monday of this week.

Mrs. Robert Wilkerson and children visited Sunday with Mrs. W. D. Howell of Lenora. Thanksgiving was enjoyed by family members and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jones and Joey and Chuck spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Blackshear and family of San Antonio.

Spending Thanksgiving in Menard with the Jerry Doyle family were Mrs. Bessie Doyle and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Doyle of this place, and Jimmy Dan and Mike Doyle of San Angelo.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jones of Alpine and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Lackey and son Kelsey of Victoria spent Thanksgiving with the Gene McCallas and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lester of Colorado City and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lester Jr. and son Justin of Seymour and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ruddick of San Antonio spent Thanksgiving Day with the Bob Lesters.

Post Script

I was disappointed Sunday morning when I woke up and there was no snow on the ground.

Local thermometers showed temperatures of 14 to 18 and there was a brisk wind that had chill factor about zero.

Pecans are dropping from the trees and residents are picking them up. Elizabeth Ballew picked a bucket full of pecans from the court house lawn Saturday. They are public property you know and "Ibby" was entitled to them as well as anybody else.

I remember B. L. Blakeway . . . It was in the fall of 1945 and the War was over and the South-west Texas Electric Co-Op was starting to run power lines to the rural areas. People were in the market for all kinds of electric appliances.

Blakeway was an electrician and he also set himself up then to sell refrigerators and other appliances to rural customers.

Pearl Harbor Anniversary Set
This coming Tuesday, December 7th, will mark the 35th anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, which precipitated the United States into World War II.

A new generation has come along to whom World War II is just another one to be studied in the history books, but nearly everyone who can remember December 7, 1941, can remember exactly what he was doing then when word came of the attack.

The Twentieth Century is now three-fourths gone but few events in all that time have had more significant or far-reaching effect than that day, now so far in the past.

It brought an end to the New Deal programs President Franklin D. Roosevelt had established a decade earlier to combat the Great Depression. It slammed the door on selling of new cars for $700, and building new homes for $2,500.

It marked the start of gearing up of the country to a wartime economy with a whole new alphabet soup of governmental agencies; the OPA, the OWI, the OPC and WRA, to name a few.

We went into a period of rationing of gasoline, food, shoes, sugar, some clothing items, and tires.

All in all, people had to learn to "make do" with what they had. Those who did not go into service could readily find a job working in a defense plant.

The war lasted the ensuing four years and since then, we have had the smaller Korean and Vietnamese conflicts. And during all that time we have had a steady inflation.

With World War II now more than three decades in the past, what is its most obvious legacy?

Well, during the War, Beardsley Roml, one of FDR's top economic advisors, brought up the proposal that workers have a "pay-as-you-go" income tax plan, whereby a deduction for the tax would be made from his pay check, along with that for Social Security. The plan was instituted and has remained in effect ever since. In fact, the system has imbedded itself into the very fabric of our nation's economy, giving rise to such firms as H&R Block, for medium taxpayers, and accountants who have themselves become fairly wealthy handling the tax affairs of the well to do and the rich.

Limited Cotton Crop . . . About 150 Bales In

A visit to Mikeska Gin Tuesday revealed that approximately 150 bales had been processed at that time. This figure accounted to at least 12 growers with one, two, and three bales each.

They include—
Ello Wilde, Walter Powell, Steve Williams, Whip Faull, David and Earl Lloyd, Jack Wade, Johnny Griffin, Edgar and Duwain Sauer, Johnny Mayo, Clovis Olsak and Robt. Reynolds.

The bookkeeper, Karen Homer, said that the farmers have quit estimating the size of this year's crop. Before he freeze they guessed 2,000 bales, then they lowered to 1,500 and then to a thousand. By now they have quit guessing.

District Commander To Visit Am. Legion Post

The Christmas program will be held this Sunday night at the First United Methodist Church.

Gina Forlano, who is a student at Sul Ross, spent the week end visiting her parents, the Al Forlanos.

Kathy Carlman of Austin spent Thanksgiving visiting her parents, the E. L. Carlmans.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

By JANNETTE WILKERSON

This has been a milestone year for the Historical Society and its members. Our Bicentennial year has netted many "firsts" for posterity. The Historical Society is proud of the part it has played in this endeavor. The June 26th celebration, the Bicentennial Park, and the Museum reflect the interest and pride in our community. It's been a learning experience enjoyed by each of us, and a renewed fellowship among friends and neighbors.

Monday, Dec. 6, at 7:30, the Historical Society will meet (weather permitting) in the Museum to plan the "old fashioned" Christmas decor for our window display. Please try to attend; you will also have an opportunity to renew your membership for the new year. An "Open House" day will also be discussed for the Museum.

REMEMBER WHEN?
And speaking of Old Fashioned Christmases, it wasn't really that long ago when getting ready for Christmas meant finding that same tree you saw the summer before, and decided then it would be your Christmas tree, finishing up the gifts you were making (by hand) for family and friends, and stringing popcorn and cranberries for the tree, putting hams in the smoke house, and hanging mistletoe over the door. Maybe the sounds, smells, and joy of Christmas are just as festive as they were then, but different. Fresh cedar filled the entire house and the sound of wood crackling in the fireplace are a few of the "special" effects all but lost in our "buy it in the store" society.

The Bradley family remembers a special gift of a Model T with a big red ribbon on it, parked in front of their house on Christmas morning.

Mrs. J. A. Enoch had the true spirit of the season. Wenona Isaacs remembers going up on the hill to cut the Christmas tree, then her Mother dipping the outside branches in water then in flour, to look like snow. This ingenious little Mother also sprinkled flour around the tree and made Santa's footprint to be seen and appreciated by the Enochs children. "I remember one ime Mamma had gone to town, and Ethel was left in charge. So I took the opportunity to see what was hidden in the quilt box. I saw a doll, and got a swat from Ethel."

Mrs. Kate Robinson, who ran the General Store years ago, also had a part in making Christmas something to remember in Eldorado. Mrs. Robinson gave Christmas sacks every year filled with candy and fruit to every family.

"We really looked forward to that sack," is the recollection of many Schleicher county residents.

Each Christmas holds special memories of special times, so whatever your special feeling is for the aromas from a country kitchen, stringing popcorn and cranberries for your tree, or looking for a new hiding place for that special gift, these memories themselves are precious gifts. The real meaning of Christmas is found in our hearts, and kept there.

Hunting Of Deer With A Shotgun?

San Angelo.—The Parks and Wildlife office here has received numerous inquiries this year regarding the legality of hunting deer with a shotgun. Most of the inquiries have come from persons who want to hunt deer on public lands at nearby O. C. Fiher Reservoir. Hunting there has been limited to shotguns only and the Corps of Engineers have posted numerous signs in the area to point out that fact.

Though not normally associated with deer hunting in West Texas, shotguns can be used legally for that purpose. In fact, shotgunning for deer is relatively common in wooded East Texas and certain portions of brushy South Texas but has its limitations in the wide open expanses of West Texas where long shot at deer are generally the rule.

Certainly most West Texas hunters would agree that bagging a deer with a shotgun in this part of the country would be at the least challenging if not downright impossible. But, as we pointed out, it's not illegal and as long as it isn't there will be deer hunters who will try it. If you count yourself among these, here are a few things you might keep in mind when hotgunning for deer in West Texas or anywhere for that matter.

The use of a shotgun, as we alluded to earlier, limits the deer hunter exclusively to shots at close range, under 75 yards. The average shotgun's ability to produce knockdown power past that point is extremely questionable.

Of course, rifled slugs in 10, 12 or 16 gauge in long range or magnum loads is the shotgunner's best bet when hunting deer. They are effective up to 75 yards, have plenty of velocity and stopping power, and contrary to popular myth, their use will not damage the choke in modified and full-choked barrels. Best results, though, are obtained with an improved cylinder.

Buckshot can also be used effectively in bringing down a deer at close range. 0 and 00 are the two most popular sizes of buckshot for deer hunters.

Note: Corps of Engineers' regulations also prohibits the use of rifled slugs, limiting deer hunters to buckshot.)

One other thing for you to remember—be very selective with your shots when hunting deer with a shotgun. Be certain that deer is well within your shotgun's effective range because you have a responsibility to insure that you make a quick, clean kill. There is simply no excuse for sloppy shots and high crippling losses produced by a shotgun in the hands of an "un-sportsman" or slob hunter.

UNDERSTANDING OUR ECONOMY

THE COST OF EXCESSIVE GOVERNMENT

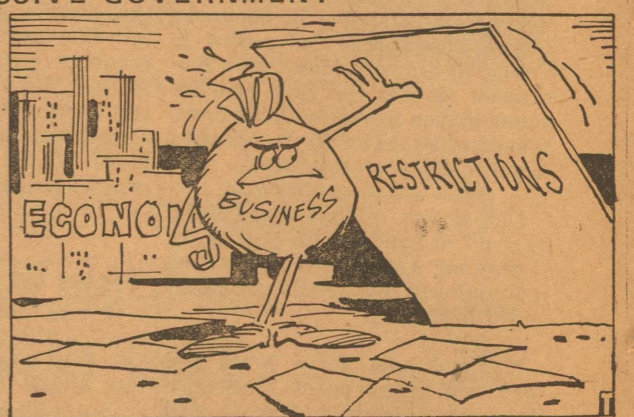

By R. A. Stranahan, Jr. Economics experts say that the government could do a lot more for the American taxpayer and consumer—if it tried to do a little less.

R. A. Stranahan, Jr.

Excessive government regulation of business can undermine our business system, destroy the value of the dollar, erode wages and pensions, weaken the capital structure necessary for the future expansion of job-producing organizations and perhaps even affect our individual freedom and independence.

Economic freedom is an integral part of our heritage and cannot be separated from political or personal freedom. Because of this interdependence, weakening the free enterprise system could weaken the whole fabric of American life. Substituting federal planners for the normal pressure of a free market—price, competition and freedom of choice—could be a dangerous thing. Because of big government, middle-class Americans now must work about 2½ hours each day, or about four months a year, just to pay taxes. These working people are American business. When it is criticized, these people, who are involved in making our free market system work are being criticized. Some congressmen speak out about the desirability of breaking up companies or industries. Perhaps they forget that the owners of these industries and businesses—major oil companies, steel companies, General Motors, IBM, ITT and others—are millions of American shareholders. Just about every American is the beneficiary of industry and shares in its growth and prosperity. Retirement programs and insurance funds are invested in American companies. These funds must constantly grow through stock appreciation and dividends in order for them to be financially sound and provide funds when it comes time for people to retire. Profits are for everyone.

This can be seen in the number of people who indirectly own shares in public corporations or investment companies through institutional plans, people whose future funds. They number 115 million, or about 72 percent of the population over 13. By adding direct shareholders, it is estimated that 88 percent have a stake in the stock market performance of American corporations. Indirect owners hold participating life insurance policies which yield dividends based on the insurance company's investments. A similar category consists of depositors in mutual savings banks, which also invest in common stocks. Perhaps the most significant indirect holdings are free enterprise in America.

Historic Neighborhood Comes To Life

It can happen in any city, and it often has. An old section of the city goes into decline. Houses begin to decay. People move out. Absen-deteriorate.

Today there's a better answer to this problem than destroying history through demolition and building anew.

In the neighborhood along Swiss Avenue in Dallas, Texas, this decline has been turned around. The 14-block area, characterized by houses that feature beveled and leaded glass windows, intricate wood moldings, tile roofs going a renovation since it was declared a historic district

Thanks to a vigorous local

FACTS & FIGURES

The highest denomination of paper currency ever authorized in the world is the U.S.
gold certificate for $100,000 bearing the likeness of former President Woodrow Wilson!

The highest quality paper made today contains cotton fiber. Each sheet has a crafted uniform beauty that makes type or printing look better.
Each has a recognizable "snap" and crisp feel that says unmistakable quality!

A language of the highest quality is English, which contains about 490,000 words, the most of any language. But it's doubtful if any individual uses more than 60,000!

One of the most valuable postage stamps today is the one-cent black on magenta issued in British Guiana (now Guyana). Only a single specimen exists, and it's worth about $300,000!

Vegetables have a different texture and taste when served raw instead of cooked—and you get a bonus of vitamins and minerals, as none are lost in cooking.

Roast Turkey For Casual Meals

By Martha Logan

A casual family meal can be special when a frozen turkey roast is cooked with chunked corn-on-the-cob, lima beans and carrots. The frozen giblet gravy concentrate added to the pan juices is a savory accompaniment to the sliced, cooked turkey and vegetables. It's so easy to prepare and attractive to serve.

Turkey Roast Gardiner

Yield: 6 to 8 servings

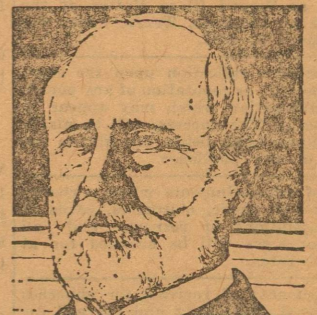

- | | |
|---|---|
| 4 pound Swift's Premium
Frozen Turkey Roast with Giblet Gravy | 4 to 5 carrots, pared and cut into 1 inch pieces |
| 3 to 4 ears of corn, cut into 2 inch pieces | ¼ teaspoon salt |
| 10 ounces fresh or frozen lima beans | ¾ teaspoon chili powder |
| | ¼ teaspoon freshly ground pepper |
| | 2 cups hot chicken bouillon |

Thaw turkey roast according to package directions. Keep gravy frozen. Place turkey on a rack in a Dutch oven. Roast uncovered in a 325° F. oven for 1-1/2 hours. Remove from oven and add vegetables. Sprinkle seasonings over vegetables.
Add bouillon. Cover. Return to oven and continue to cook
1-1/2 hours. Remove turkey and rack. Let turkey roast stand 15 minutes before carving. Remove vegetables with a slotted spoon to serving dish. Keep warm. Add frozen gravy packet to liquid in Dutch oven. Bring to a boil. Simmer 10 minutes stirring occasionally. Serve with sliced turkey and vegetables.

HEROES OF AMERICAN HISTORY

An Unsung Hero: The Paper Bag

Though it's the simplest of all packaging systems, the paper bag has a long history.
A hint which may unwrap its time of origin comes to us through a published complaint bemoaning the decline in print and paper quality during the Thirty Year War that wracked Europe in the 17th century.
One anonymous critic grumbled, "The paper is blackish, running like blotting paper, dirty, faded, not even fit for grocer's paper bags..."

UNSUNG INVENTOR—
Francis Wolle, of Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, who in 1852 devised a machine that could turn out paper bags in quantity.

It took little time for the venerable paper bag to entrench itself in America's way of life. While it is unclear whether they were available in quantity during Colonial times, grocers' bags were commercially in place by the mid-19th century.
And 1852 marked a turning point in the chronicle of consumer packaging with the invention by Francis Wolle of Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, of a machine that turned out paper bags in quantity.

This article is adapted from a packaging history series created by the St. Regis Paper Company in an effort to rededicate our heritage and renew our pride in our country's achievements.

NO LONGER were items tossed unwrapped into homemakers' baskets. This building housed the first machine which could mass produce paper bags.

NURSING HOME NOTES

"Thar was Big Doings" in the Nursing Home last week on Thanksgiving Day. You have heard the saying "They put the big pot in the little one," well that is what the sweet girls in our kitchen did on Thanksgiving day and we appreciated and enjoyed it so very much. There are six individual tables in our dining room and they placed them together and made one long table, then set it diagonally in the room. The tablecloth had a border of turkeys and the napkins matched the cloth. There were two colorful lighted candles in pretty holders and the table was covered with large bowls and platters of food. The menu was: Turkey and dressing, giblet gravy, three kinds of delicious salads, a huge bowl of a mixture of green beans and corn, sweet potatoes with marshmallows on top, hot rolls, and for dessert, pumpkin pie with whipped cream topping. We call that a FEAST.

We acquired a new resident in the home last week. She is Hettie Palmer of Big Lake, Texas. We are glad to have her and hope that she enjoys living here as much as all of us do.

Five of the residents here were invited out for Thanksgiving dinner. They were as follows: John Hawkins to Derl Griffin's, Beulah Harris to Orland Harris home, Mae Mercer to Tooter Dunham's, Georgia Springstun to Gerald Nicks's home in Sonora, Elva Daniels to Hanson Nixon's home.

While we were eating dinner Thursday, a young man dressed as an Indian came in the dining room. We walked around the table and shook hands with each one of us. We enjoyed him visiting us. His name is Steve Kuykendall.

There were several visitors to the Home last week: Mrs. Clarence Jessup of Sanderson visited her mother, Mrs. Ovid Wade. A. R. Enochs of Austin and Sonny Etherege of Midland visited Miss Chris Enochs who is their aunt. A. L. Harris and his son Scott and daughter Melong, visited Beulah Harris. Marjorie Pope of Andrews visited her mother Mrs. Grate Edmiston. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hawkins of Burleson visited his father, John Hawkins, Thanksgiving afternoon.

Ruthie Dacy was out of town most of last week and we surely missed her, but she is back with us, now.

During Ruthie's absence Debbie Kellogg and Margo Smith carried on the bingo games on Wednesday and Friday mornings. The winners on Wed. were: Maggie Sluder, two games; Carrie Blakeway, two games; Granny Casbeer, one game; Erna Rexroat, two games; and Beulah Harris, two games. On Friday the winners were Lizzie McAngus, two games; Carrie Blakeway, one game; Beulah Harris, two games; Maggie Sluder, one game; and Hettie Palmer, one game.

Schleicher County residents should be very proud of their Nursing Home and also for our Hospital, nurses, doctor, and assistants.

Some of us in this area lived here quite a few years when there was no doctor OR a hospital. Our dear Carrie Blakeway suffered the loss of her son, B. L. Blakeway, last week and she has our deepest sympathy. Her son was our own "Blake" and he will be greatly missed in our community. Come to see us sometime; we all enjoy visitors. —LaVita Brooks, rep.; and Beulah Harris, rep.

Slimmin' Women Meet The Eldorado Slimmin' Women Club meet every Friday morning at 9:00 in the club room of the Memorial Building. A Queen was Crowned Nov. 21st for losing most weight in the six weeks period, and a total weight lost by all members of the E. S. W. was 16 lbs. for the six period. Two charms were distributed. A queen charm and most inches lost charm were given. The fruit basket was also received by a Slimmin' Women member for having lost most for the week. Eight members were present for the meeting. Plans were discussed for a Christmas party. We welcome visitors and new members to our club. —Rep.

The Country Parson

In the days of Will Rogers, two football teams met in the famous Rose Bowl for a game of great importance. At a very critical point in the game one of the players caught the ball, and in the roar and excitement, he began running as fast as he could—but in the wrong direction! Just before he scored for the opposing team he was tackled by a team-mate!

Some of the sports writers of that day really raked the poor fellow over the coals for being so foolish. However, Will Rogers came to his defense and pointed out an awesome truth when he wrote: "Why heap your criticism upon this unfortunate fellow for running with the ball in the wrong direction? Is it not a fact that a vast majority of us are headed in the wrong direction and running at top speed toward the wrong goal?"

We set goals in business, set goals for health and wealth, set goals for our children's education and future well being, set goals for vacations, recreation, holidays and happiness, and set long-term goals for our retirement—the truly wise man will also set goals that will gain for him and his family Eternal Life!

What are our goals? In which direction are we running? When we have deposited our last dollar in the bank—What Then? When our last crop has been harvested, and our last lamb or calf has been sold—What Then? Do our goals include eternity? Jesus said, "For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?" Matthew 16:26.

Question: Do I have to go to church to worship God? Can't I worship Him just as good at home? Answer: Worship consists of Singing (Eph. 5:19), Praying (1 Tim. 2:1-3, Giving (1 Cor. 16:1-2), Preaching (Acts 20:7), and eating the Lord's Supper each Sunday (Matt. 26:26-29 and Acts 20:7).

A Christian can worship God just as well at home as he can in a church building. But does he do so? Or is it just a feeble excuse to neglect worship altogether? This question is sometimes asked by someone who is trying to justify his neglect. If you have a question about the Bible, send it to: The Country Parson, P.O. Box 91, Eldorado, Tex 76936.

It Wasn't The Worst, But . . .

With 7,107 cases recorded in Texas, October 1976 was the third worst in the Southwest Screwworm Eradication Program's 15-year history. It also marked the third straight year of increasing screwworm incidence for the month since the 1972 pandemic.

In October 1973, 2,254 cases were recorded followed by 2,418 and 4,231 the next two years as the early fall outbreaks continued to build and worsen.

October 1972 was the ultimate, of course, with 14,503 infestations in Texas alone. The only other October surpassing this year's was the first one the program was in operation—1962—when 8,702 screwworm cases were identified.

The month's totals range down to a low of two cases in 1969 and a still infinitesimal four the following year.

Five counties exceeded 200 cases this October, four of them contiguous neighbors. Medina county led all others in Texas with 333 screwworm deprecations for the 31-day period. Following closely behind were nearby Kinney with 284, Uvalde 277 and Val Verde 258.

Gillespie county—in the Hill Country—recorded 202. Although 173 counties had confirmed screwworm cases during October, these five had 19% of them. Twenty-two counties had 100 cases or more.

Named To All District

Named last week to the 9A All-District football team were Billy Bob Harlin, Alan Storie, and Lynn Whitaker.

Tim and Linda Gunn visited during Thanksgiving holidays with his grandmother, Gladys Gunn. They live in Pasadena, Texas.

Austin, Tex.—Gov. Dolph Briscoe says he will recommend no additional across-the-board statewide salary increases for school teachers in 1977.

Briscoe has proposed $850 million in additional state aid to public education over the next two years. He wants local boards to do what they please with the additional funds. "My proposals would give local districts more authority than they have had in the past to decide how their money is to be spent," Briscoe said.

The Texas State Teachers Association contends Gov. Briscoe is trying to pit teachers against taxpayers by leaving the decision on pay raises to local school boards.

Callie W. Smith, executive secretary of TSTA, said the teachers organization will continue to push in the legislature for the nationwide average salary of about $14,000 per year. This is $2,400 above the Texas average.

Tax Code Hearings

The Property Tax Study Committee of the Texas Legislative Council will hold public hearings in major cities throughout Texas to seek suggestions and support for a new property tax code.

The first hearing is scheduled for Austin on Dec. 13.

The committee is a joint creation of Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Bill Clayton, the chairman and vice-chairman of the Texas Legislative Council.

In initiating appointment of the committee early this year, Hobby and Clayton said, "We strongly feel that the time has come for legislative reform of our antiquated property tax system. Current property tax laws are unfair, unintelligible, and not uniformly applied around the state."

Kathy Orr of Angelo State University spent Thanksgiving with her parents, the Charles Orrs.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wilson had Steve Wilson home from San Marcos. Mr. and Mrs. Rick Wilson and daughter Heather all spent Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Weatherly of Dallas were here Monday to visit Mrs. Helen Blakeway and attend the B. L. Blakeway funeral. Mrs. Weatherly is sister of Mrs. Blakeway.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wallis and family spent Thanksgiving visiting relatives at Llano and Johnson City.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Jones and daughter Stacy of Spring, Texas, and Vicky Jones of Fort Worth visited here recently with home folks.

Spending Thanksgiving here in the Ray Boyer home were Mr. and Mrs. Danny Boyer and baby daughter of Irving, the M. E. Carothers family of Waco, and the Larry Boyer family of San Angelo.

Hang 'Em High

It may come as a surprise, but hundreds of years before cattle rustlers and such varmints were being hanged by mobs in America's Old West, lynch law was known in Scotland.

In the old days one of the most dangerous parts of Scotland for a traveler was the Border country between Scotland and England. The Border clans were a law unto themselves and, if they were not preying on visitors (particularly English visitors), they were preying on each other.

The main Border court of justice was held in the town of Jedburgh, popularly known as "Jeddart." The motto of the court was said to be, "Hang him first, and try him afterwards."

Teacher's Scotch Information Centre is happy to point out that things have improved. "Jeddart justice" no longer exists, and the town is now more famous for "Jeddart snails."

These are peppermint sweetmeats first made in the town by French prisoners-of-war kept in jail at the time of the wars between Britain and France.

FAITH... UNLIMITED

In our nation's infancy, it was George Washington who showed us the power of faith. Faith gave him the courage to fight on while others fell in despair. Faith sustained him through the dark days of Valley Forge. He never doubted that right would ultimately prevail.

In our own troubled times, we too need the same deep, abiding faith.

The Church now—as in Washington's day—is eager to ease our doubts and to sustain our spiritual needs. With God's help, we shall persevere.
