Also the Food and Crafts show will be held at the same time, and arrangements are given on page 5 in Mrs. Nancy Lester's column.

About coffee . . .

You have been hearing that there is a world shortage of coffee, on T-V, and Brazil is charging $3.00 a pound for the commodity in international trade.

We've been wondering about the local prices.

A local supermarket is advertising one pound of Kimbell's all ground coffee at $1.97—nearly two dollars a pound. We suppose that others have similar prices.

What about a cup of coffee at a local restaurant?

Jerrold Sanders at El Dorado Restaurant is charging 25 cents for a cup of coffee plus a 1-cent tax—making 26 cents. Jerrold said he has been informed by his suppliers that the cost of coffee will go up again.

Bobbie Killebrew, at the Java Junction, is advertising a cup of coffee for 20 cents; but you have to serve yourself.

Anna's Drive-In is also charging two-bits.

The next issue of The Success will be Thursday, January 20.

What is so special about that?

That's the day when Jimmy Carter will take the Oath of Office for President of the United States!

When we got to the shop at 8:30 Monday morning, the water lines were frozen and did not thaw out until about 11:00. Then we were in business again.

It was reported on T-V Sunday night that a place in Wisconsin had reported 60 below zero. Minnesota had 30 below.

This writer hailed from Minnesota 55 years ago and I still have some loyalty to the state, and hoped the Vikings would win the Super Bowl Sunday.

My hopes were up in the first quarter when the Vikings blocked a Raider punt and they had the ball on the 3-yard line. Instead of making a TD, they fumbled and the ball went to the Raiders. The first quarter ended 0-0. They lost their chance to get in the lead.

After that the Raiders took over and the game ended 32-14 in favor of the Oakland Raiders.

Shortage Of Gas Closes Area Schools

ELDORADO NOT AFFECTED

Residents of Eldorado awoke early Monday to temperature readings bobbing close to zero. Some said their thermometers registered about 4 degrees and others 10 to 15. It was cold, clear, and with a very light wind.

Where there were ponds of water, it was turned to ice. Some people reported frozen water lines.

By 10:00 a.m., the sun was shining giving promise that the hard freeze would not last long.

Lone Star Gas System Affected

Lone Star Gas Co. curtailed gas service Sunday to many sections of West Texas. Among schools not opening Monday were those in Bronte, Eden, Robert Lee, Llano, Ballinger, Winters, Blackwell, Abilene, Sweetwater, Colorado City, Sonora, and Snyder.

Eldorado Not Affected

In Schleicher County some sleet fell Sunday but it was dry and roads remained open. School buses made their regular runs and school was open and classes were conducted as usual.

But Eldorado is concerned about its gas supply. City of Eldorado has a gas source and owns its distribution system. They get their gas from a field about 20 miles east of town.

City Council had a meeting Tuesday night of last week, and several interested citizens were on hand to point out some present low-pressure problems, and future possibility of getting gas from another source.

Edwards will present the case to the Tarrant County grand jury when it meets in February, and will request that the man be no-billed.

Law enforcement officers throughout the Lubbock area contributed to the gun purchase, Maj. Charles W. Bell, commander of the Lubbock DPS region, said.

Enserch Exploration Opens New Sonora Gas Liquids Plant

Dallas, Tex.—A new $8 million cryogenic gas liquids extraction plant located near sonora in Sutton county, Texas, was recently put into operation. Enserch Exploration, Inc., operates and owns a 50% interest in the plant. Amoco Production Company owns the remaining 50% interest.

The plant is designed to process 90 million cubic feet per day of gas from wells in this rapidly developing area, and to recover a mixed product stream composed of ethane and heavier hydrocarbons of up to 300,000 gallons per day. Hal Koerts is plant superintendent.

The plant processes natural gas to recover a mixed liquid product stream which contains ethane, propane, butane and natural gasoline. After further processing, these products are used as fuel and as petrochemical and refinery feedstocks. The recovery of liquids results from the low temperatures achieved in the turbo expander, which reduces incoming gas to minus 170 degrees Fahrenheit.

In addition to the new Sonora plant, Enserch Exploration owns and operates 12 liquids extraction plants in Texas, Oklahoma and Mississippi, with partial interest in six others. Three of these are cryogenic turbo-expander plants similar to Sonora located at Gordon, Springtown and Trinidad, Texas.

Enserch Exploration, Inc., is the exploration, production and gas processing affiliate of ENSERCH Corporation.

Mohair Council To Meet Jan. 27 In San Angelo

The Mohair Council of America will conduct its annual membership and directors meeting at 10:00 a.m. Thursday, Jan. 27, at the La Quinta Motor Inn in San Angelo.

Highlighting the one-day meeting will be the election of directors, officers, discussion of the world mohair market situation, and a report on the first year's collections by the new Texas Mohair Producers Board.

Jim Heath of Austin, textile industry development program coordinator for the Texas Industrial Commission, will be featured speaker. Heath has been active in seeking new textile industry for Texas for a number of years, particularly since Texas produces most of the nation's fiber but manufactures few finished products of these fibers.

A special feature of the membership meeting will be the premiere showing of a slide presentation on the mohair industry produced by the Soil Conservation Service in cooperation with the Mohair Council. The presentation was prepared as an educational film for use by civil groups, schools, colleges and others.

The final business session will be highlighted by the election of officers. Directors will elect a new president to succeed James T. Hunt of Sonora, who is completing his third term as the council's chief executive. Hunt is only the second person to serve as an officer in all positions, having first been elected as secretary-treasurer in 1970. Serving this past year with Hunt are Sid Harkins of Sanderion, vice president, and Bob Childress of Ozona, secretary-treasurer.

In addition to regular business, directors and members will hear reports on plans for the International Mohair Association meeting to be held next June in San Antonio, which will draw leading mohair importers, manufacturers and processors from all over the world.

Also expected to draw much interest will be a year-end report on activities of the Texas Mohair Producers Board, formed in March, 1976, by referendum when mohair producers in 54 Texas counties voted in favor of setting up a 2.5 cents per pound checkoff for mohair sold each year. The board administers the checkoff program.

"It is our sincere hope that every producer who can will attend this important meeting and help the new officers map out a strong promotion program for the future," Hunt said. "We must work extra hard to keep our industry strong," he observed.

Garden Check List For January

1. Be prepared to protect tender plants against a sudden severe cold snap. Provide adequate moisture if severe freeze is expected. Cover tender plants with cardboard boxes, newspaper or plastic sheets. If plastic sheet is used remove before bright sun hits it.
2. Continue to select and plant ornamental trees and shrubs to fill landscape needs as determined in your June survey of the home landscape. Plan before you plant.
3. Apply light application of fertilizer to established pansy beds using one pound of 10-10-10 per 100 square feet of bed area and repeat every four to six weeks.
4. Keep lawn free of fallen leaves to prevent smothering the grass.
5. Select and order gladiolus corms for February and March and March planting.
6. Treat Hydrangeas with ammonium sulfate to obtain blue flowers. Apply lime or superphosphate to keep them pink.
7. Clean up all fallen Camellia blossoms to reduce danger of Camellia Petal Blight.
8. Prepare soil and beds for planting spring and summer annuals and perennials.
9. Select and plant roses. For best results, use only Number 1 grade bushes. Beware of bargains.
10. Prune established roses. Cut hybrid teas back to 12 or 14 inches above the ground and remove all weak and spindly growth.
11. Plan your vegetable and flower garden now before the rush of spring planting.
12. Plant a tree for Arbor Day.
13. Sow seeds indoors for spring gardens. Petunias, begonias and all the other slow growers should be sown in early January. Faster growing types such as tomatoes, marigolds and zinnias should be planted later in the month.
14. Transplant native or established trees or shrubs now while they are totally dormant.
15. Be sure to prune back bare-root plants at least 1/3 to 1/2 of their top growth to insure a successful planting.
16. Prune deciduous trees now while you can see damaged or rubbing limbs, misshaped parts, etc. Don't top!
17. Prune summer flowering shrubs now, also evergreens. Wait to prune spring flowering shrubs until after they blossom.
18. Prune fruit trees. Apples should be thinned of all weak, non-productive growth. Peaches and plums should be pruned to an open center to allow sun to reach ripening fruit.
19. If there are any bagworm pouches or bags hanging on the junipers and other shrubs, try to remove them and destroy by burning. The insect eggs overwinter in the bag and starts the cycle again by emerging in spring and laying eggs on the plant foliage.
20. Don't neglect to water evergreen plants in the landscape. Those plants located beneath the roof overhang are often overlooked during periods of inadequate rainfall.
21. Consider the use of a dormant oil spray on landscape plants for controlling scale. Be sure to follow instructions on container for recommended strength and also temperature restrictions.

Pruning Ice Damaged Trees

Pruning not only trims back unwanted growth but can generate new growth to a tree damaged by ice.

A valuable shade tree can be saved and begin new growth with little or no damage visible if it is carefully pruned. A tree that has been damaged by ice should be pruned at the base of the limb that was damaged. No stubs should remain exposed.

Sometimes the damage may be severe enough to require that a tree be trimmed back to the main trunk or main branch. In this case the wound should be painted with a dressing that can be obtained at any good nursery or garden center.

Orange shellac serves as a good temporary tree dressing if one is not readily available. A proper wound dressing should be applied to the damaged tree within six weeks.

Sucker growth can become a problem to the severely damaged tree if it is not continually pruned and cared for. This process may take a few years but it will prolong the tree's life.

Often the bark of a tree may be torn from the side of the main trunk or branch when a limb breaks. This bare section should be smoothed out with a knife or chisel and then coated with the tree wound dressing.

The Purple Heart medal was originated by George Washington in 1782. Only three or four were awarded during the American Revolution.

Report Of Deer Trophy Awards

After three seasons being a close contestant, Bob Parker came up early in this season with the overall winner for first place, in the recent contest at Edmondson's.

Billy McCravey capped the second place win, making the first year that all winners were local hunters. Heretofore, out of county hunters have given local nimrods tough competition, but somehow failed to score this year.

Deer were fat and heavy bodied this season, but fewer trophy heads were brought in than any previous year since the contest has been going, and none this year were outstanding.

SAFETY PASSAGES

By Underwriters Laboratories Inc. UL Public Information Office

READ INSTRUCTIONS

Instruction manuals can set you straight:

"Many types of injuries related to consumer products used out-of-doors could be avoided if people would read and follow the products' instruction booklets," contends Ms. Janis Farr, Underwriters Laboratories' Consumer Specialist. The instruction manual that a manufacturer provides with each product offers valuable tips for using the appliance, guidelines for operation and maintenance, and precautions that should be exercised in order to avoid accidents. "There are many consumers who simply throw out the instruction booklet with the appliance packaging, because they assume they already know how to use the product properly," Ms. Farr points out. By following the manual closely, the owner can learn the capabilities of the product, and can often avoid costly and painful mistakes.

An electric lawn mower, for example, is seemingly easy to operate. One has simply to plug it in, turn it on, and cut the grass. However, one of the most common misuses of the lawn mower is trying to dislodge caked on grass and clippings with the mower plugged in. With the appliance plugged in, there is always the danger of it being accidentally started while the blade area is being cleared. For reasons such as this, UL requires that manufacturers of many types of appliances for outdoor use provide safety instructions as a permanent part of their instruction manuals. These safety tips supplement the operating instructions, and serve as a consumer guide to basic safety precautions when they use a product. UL also requires that the safety instructions appear before the manufacturer's operating instructions. So look for them on the first few pages of the manuals of many recently manufactured products that bear the UL Label.

There are precautions that should be followed when using any electrical appliance, as well as specific precautions for certain product types. These include reminders to supervise children closely when they are in the area, unplug the unit when not in use, store products in places where they cannot be reached by children, and use only the attachments provided by the manufacturer for the particular product. The user may also be warned against using the product in the rain or in a damp area, and contacting moving parts.

"The instruction manuals you have should be kept in a convenient place, for quick, easy reference," Ms. Farr suggests. "Re-read the manual before you operate an appliance that you use only occasionally."

The next time you purchase an appliance to be used in the great outdoors, REMEMBER—the instruction manual is there, WHY NOT USE IT?

MEXICAN DATE ROLLS

Tortillas, tacos and other breads utilizing cornmeal are popular in states along the Mexican border. Most of us think of them as typical Mexican breads not realizing that a wide variety of yeast breads are popular in Mexico, too. This recipe for Mexican Date Rolls is made with a sweet yeast dough. The filling consists of a blend of spices, dates, apples and nuts. The rolls are sweet enough to serve in place of cookies or cake with tea, coffee or punch. Or, like most sweet breads, they're at home on the brunch and breakfast table. This is a batter dough which means it doesn't have to be kneaded. After mixing it is refrigerated for two hours making it much easier to handle.

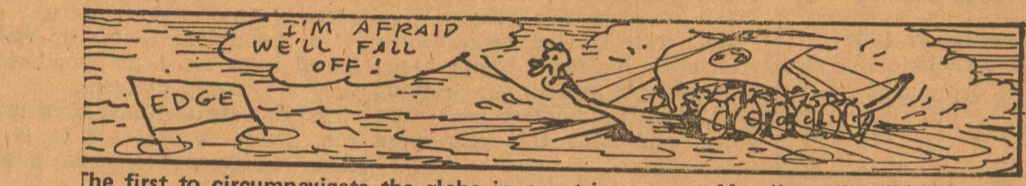

MEXICAN DATE ROLLS

Makes 40 rolls
3/4 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 cup (1 stick) Fleischmann's Margarine
1/2 cup warm water (105°F - 115°F)
2 packages Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast
1 egg (at room temperature)
3-3/4 to 4-1/4 cups unsifted flour

Scald milk; stir in sugar, salt and margarine. Cool to lukewarm. Measure warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle with Fleischmann's Yeast; stir until dissolved. Add lukewarm milk mixture, egg and 2 cups flour; beat until smooth. Stir in enough additional flour to make a stiff batter. Cover tightly with plastic wrap or aluminum foil. Refrigerate dough at least 2 hours. Divide dough in half. Roll each half to a 12 x 15-inch rectangle. Cut each rectangle into twenty 3-inch squares. Place 1 rounded teaspoon Date Filling (below) in center of each square. Overlap two opposite corners; seal tightly. Place on greased baking sheets. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Bake at 375°F 12 to 15 minutes, or until done. Re-move from baking sheets and cool on wire racks.

Date Filling: Place 1 egg, 2 tablespoons milk and 1 1/2 cups pitted dates in blender container. Process until fairly smooth. Combine 1 cup date mixture, 1 1/2 cups finely chopped peeled apple, 1/2 cup chopped pecans, 3 tablespoons light brown sugar, 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon ground cloves, 1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg and 2 teaspoons grated lemon peel in bowl. Mix together thoroughly.

The POWER of PRINT in AMERICAN HISTORY
Magazine Journalism And The American Lifestyle

This article is adapted from a program of historical monographs created by the St. Regis Paper Company in an effort to rededicate our heritage and renew our pride in our country's achievements.

American magazines have reported, interpreted, forecast, cursed, cheered, speculated and assured their readers concerning every aspect of our society, and spoken for and to almost every identifiable group in the nation.

This broad mirroring of our lifestyles began just before the Civil War. Previous magazines were expensive and elitist, but with Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper and Harper's Weekly in the 1850s, newsworthy reporting and detailed wood-cut illustrations that appealed to the masses revolutionized American magazines.

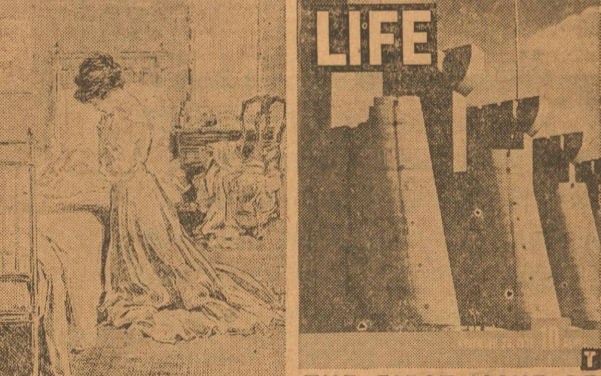

The country was acquiring enormous increases in wealth, population and literacy. Magazines writers seemed imbued with the thrill of the nation's expansion and character. The best of this journalism was characterized by a vivid social conscience, a drive to determine values and a belief in hard facts.

Nothing reflects reality and possibility with more immediacy than pictures. Magazines included artwork to catch the public's eye, interest and imagination, and to add extra dimension to the written word. The magazine art of illustrators like Charles Dana Gibson had a vast impact on American style.

Magazine pictures have long been a symbol of American taste. There is no product, service or facet of human action and thought which has not been pictured in one magazine or other. Today's magazine journalism does not aim for the widest readership. It is specialized, selective and appeals to special interest audiences: hobbies, ethnic

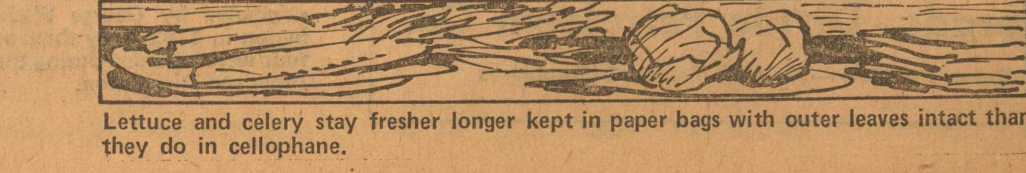

ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINES that gave the news, such as Harper's Weekly, brought in the era of the modern American Magazine.

THE FIRST ISSUE OF LIFE brought photographic journalism to an unprecedented importance. Time, Inc. or language groups, geographic area.

Magazines today seem in a healthier-than-ever condition. There are over 700 consumer-directed periodicals available. They not only continue to exert a profound effect on the American lifestyle, they have become an integral part of it. They are multi-faceted mirrors of today and tomorrow.

The Women's Division Committee for the local stock show will meet on Thursday, January 13, to finalize their plans for the show. Last year we had 54 entries in the show and hopefully we will have more this year. If you have a question please call me or Janet Powell, Womens Division Chairman. If you did not receive a copy of the rules for the Women's Division and would like to have one please call the County Extension office.

On Tuesday and Wednesday of next week I will be attending a Clothing Training meeting in San Angelo. Part of the training will be concerned with the care and repair of sewing machines. After the training I hope to be more able to answer your questions about sewing machines.

Be sure and remember to turn in your entries for the Women's Division on Thursday, January 20, between 1:00 p.m. and 5:00 p.m., at the Show Barn.

I recently received some interesting information on clothing trends and thought you might enjoy having it passed along. According to a recent survey of college students the college man spends 13 cents out of every dollar on clothing. Eighty-four per cent own more than three pair of jeans and 58% expressed a preference for the faded look. The survey also indicated that 82% of college women wear jeans at least half of the time. In 1976 they spent an average of $650 on clothing.

In another survey a panel of 300 business organizations recently indicated their feelings on appropriate business dress as follows:

- 98% permit sport coats in lieu of "formal" suits;
- 79% permit leisure suits;
- 35% require ties while 65% allow turtle necks and open collar shirts;
- 24% allow bluejeans.

These surveys do show a trend to informal styles. One bit of information on the care of clothing: Soot and smoke stains are best removed from synthetic fabrics by a dry cleaner. Be sure the cleaner knows the problem. Home removal attempts may set the stains permanently.

The Country Parson

The Most Important Thing In The World, Matthew 7:21-29.

Jesus said, "Not everyone who says to me, 'Lord, Lord' will enter the kingdom of heaven; but he who does the will of my Father who is in heaven. Many will say to me that day, 'Lord, Lord did we not prophesy in your name, and in your name cast out demons, and in your name perform many miracles?' And then I will declare to them, 'I never knew you; depart from me, you who practice lawlessness.'"

Notice that Jesus says that a person can believe, know, and confess that Christ is Lord and still not enter heaven. Jesus said that "on that day," the day of judgment, there will be many who had prophesied and taught in the name of Jesus Christ—perhaps even spent a lifetime in preaching and teaching in Jesus' name, and still not enter heaven! Prophets, preachers and teachers—but lost! Why? Jesus further says that some will lay great importance on the fact that they cast out demons in the name of Jesus, but that they would not enter heaven either. The Lord then mentioned that some would think that since they had worked many miracles in the name of Christ, the doors of heaven should be opened for them. But Jesus said, "I never knew you, depart from me, you who practice lawlessness."

Here we find religious leaders, workers, and believers who did many great things in the name of Jesus, but they left out the most important thing. Jesus called all their works "lawlessness" and the workers "doers of iniquity"! Why? Because it is possible to be religious and do many great things in Jesus' name and still not be a doer of God's will!

The most important thing in the world is to do God's will. God's will for mankind today is found in the New Testament in your Bible. Read it. It has the power to save your soul!

If you have a question about the Bible, send it to: The Country Parson, P.O. Box 91, Eldorado, Tex 76936.

SOUTH OF THE SAHARA

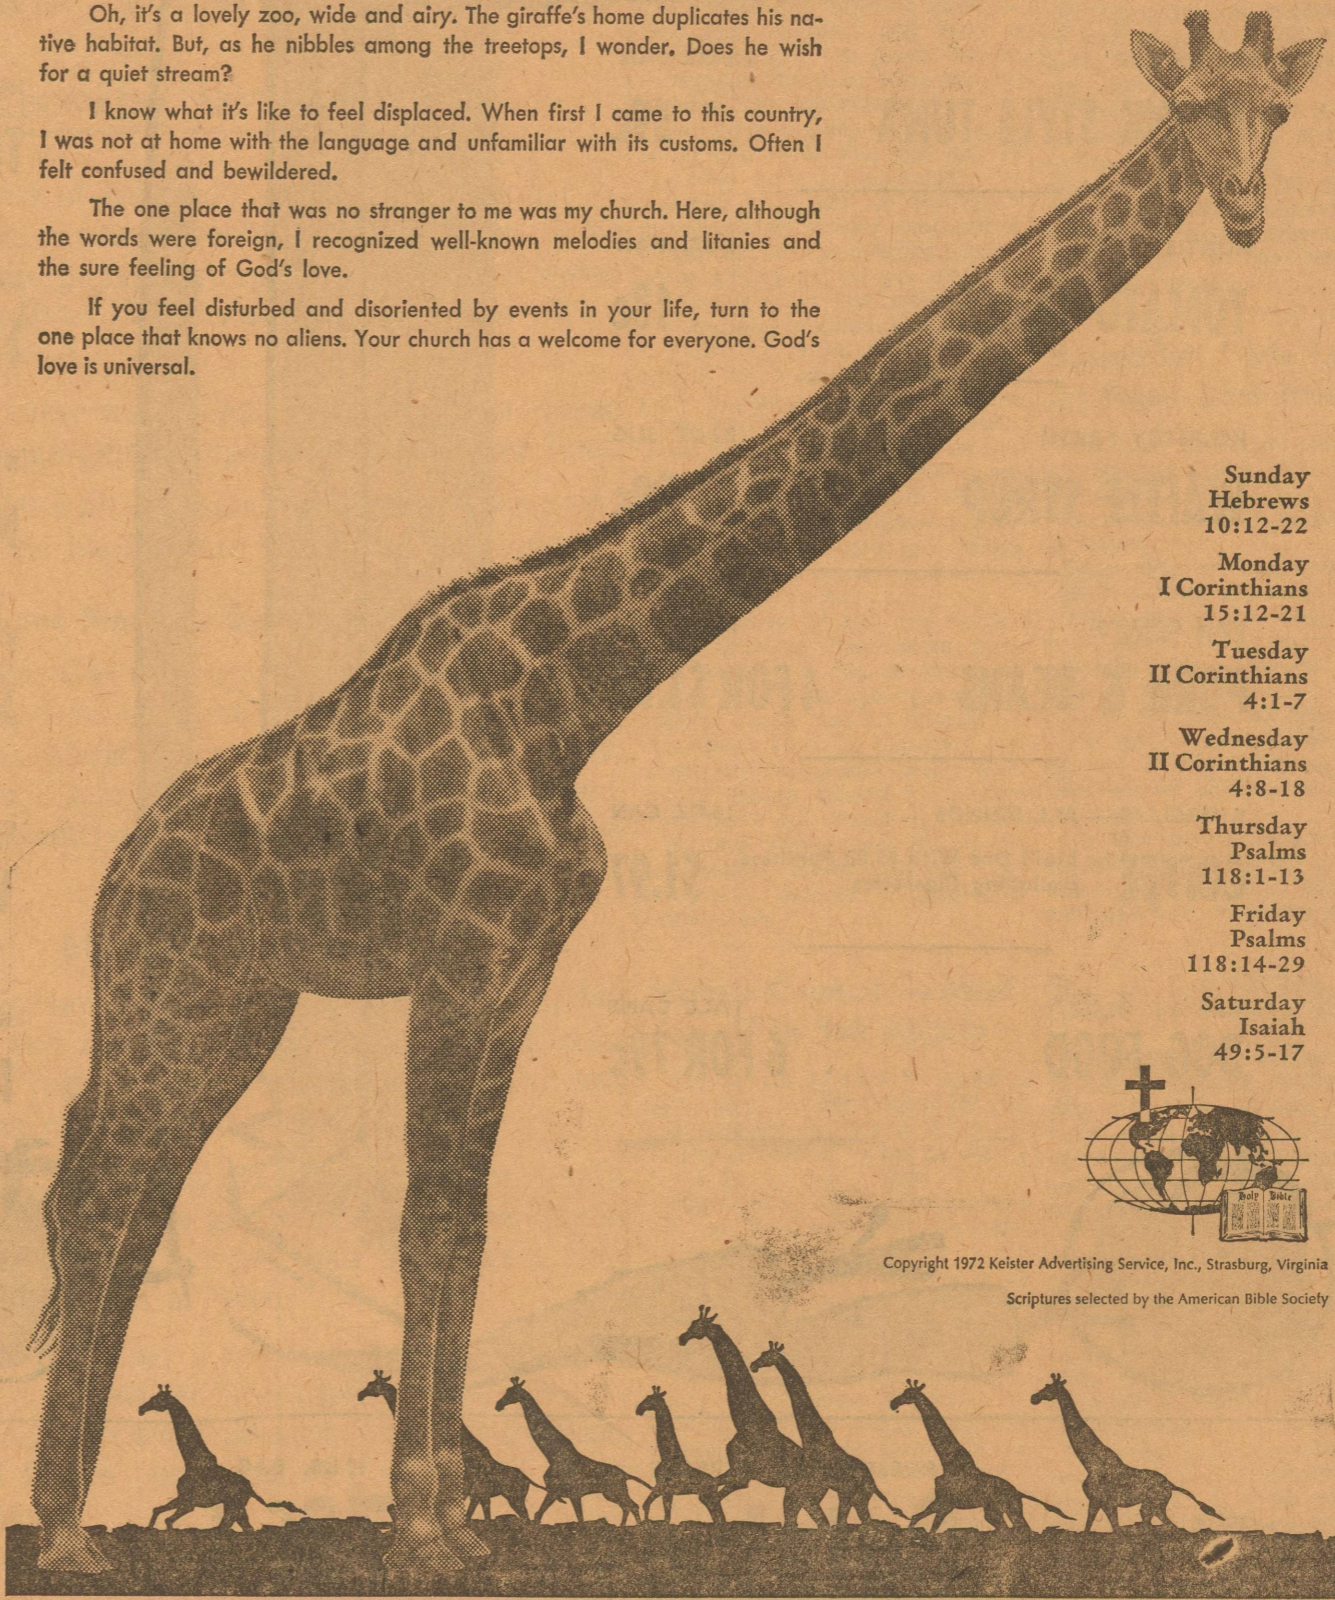

Does he long for the hot breezes and wide spaces south of the Sahara? Can he remember the feeling of free air rushing past, as he ran with his fellows?

Oh, it's a lovely zoo, wide and airy. The giraffe's home duplicates his native habitat. But, as he nibbles among the treetops, I wonder, Does he wish for a quiet stream?

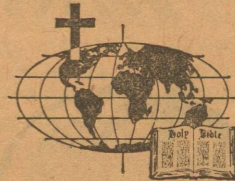

I know what it's like to feel displaced. When first I came to this country, I was not at home with the language and unfamiliar with its customs. Often I felt confused and bewildered.

The one place that was no stranger to me was my church. Here, although the words were foreign, I recognized well-known melodies and litanies and the sure feeling of God's love.

If you feel disturbed and disoriented by events in your life, turn to the one place that knows no aliens. Your church has a welcome for everyone. God's love is universal.
