Re-Entry Set For Hill Test In County

A wildcat re-entry is slated in this county. Jay-Bo, Inc., Ft. Worth, will re-enter and clean out to 7,300 feet at the former Stanolind Oil & Gas Co. No. 1 R. J. Hill, Scheicher County, 8,206-foot failure, 2 3/8 miles west of an undesignated Canyon gas strike and four miles southwest of Eldorado. It is the No. 1 Cox.

Abandoned June 25, 1951, it topped the Strawn at 7,165 feet and the Ellenburger at 7,340 feet on elevation of 2,412 feet.

Location is 660 feet from the north and east lines of 135-A-HE & WT.

Scouts Attend Summer Camp

A Scout who goes to Camp Sol Mayer or Camp Fawcett, the summer camps of the Concho Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America, is likely to compress a year's worth of adventure into a week's time.

Frank T. Hilton, Camp Director said that 419 Scouts and 38 leaders from 45 troops used the camping facilities at Camps Sol Mayer and Fawcett. A trained camp staff helped the troops carry out a broad Scout program, including swimming, boating, field sports, hiking and camping skills.

Hilton said that the outdoor program is one of the key methods for achieving the objectives of Scouting. "It meets more of the purposes of Scouting than any other single feature," he declared.

The council also reported that high-adventure trips were taken by 101 Scouts and leaders. These included Philmont Scout Ranch, National Boy Scout Jamboree, National Order of the Arrow Conference and week-long troop campouts.

Disabled Young People May Qualify For S. S.

People disabled since childhood may be eligible for supplemental security income payments (SSI) when they reach 18 regardless of their families' income, according to Franklin Upp, social security district manager in San Angelo, Texas.

The SSI program makes monthly payments to people with little or no income and limited resources who are 65 or over or blind or disabled.

"The payments can be especially important to young people who are severely retarded or have other handicaps that keep them from becoming self-supporting," Upp said. "Eligible disabled people can get payments at any age," he said. "The eligibility of children under 18 can be affected by their parents' income and resources, but disabled people who remain unmarried are considered independent of their families starting at age 18, or at 21 if they are in school."

"Starting then, they may be eligible for SSI payments if they have little or no income of their own," he said.

People can get information about applying for SSI payments by calling or writing any social security office. The San Angelo social security office is at 2214 Sherwood Way. The phone number is 949-4608.

The SSI program is administered by the Social Security Administration, an agency of the U. S. Department of Health, Education,

Ticket Opens Treasure Chest . . .

For Britain's Jubilee Year

Just in time for the Queen's Silver Jubilee Year, the British Tourist Authority has issued its new 1977 'Open to View Ticket'.

Costing $10 and giving free entrance to more than 500 leading tourist attractions in the United Kingdom, it includes scores of castles and palaces with royal connections. One for example is the Tower of London and the Crown Jewels.

Others include Hampton Court Palace, Windsor Castle, Caernarvon Castle, Osborne House, Edinburgh Castle, Audley End and Carisbrooke Castle.

Non-royal attractions include the National Motor Museum, Longleat, Blenheim Palace, Woburn Abbey and a cavalcade of castles, manor houses, Roman and ancient antiquities, famous gardens, and historical places.

Osborne House was Queen Victoria's. At Edinburgh Castle, Mary Queen of Scots gave birth to James I. Audley End was Charles II's and Carisbrooke held Charles I a prisoner.

At Caernarvon Castle, in Wales, was the spot where Prince Charles was declared Prince of Wales in 1969, and where Edward I brought his wife to give birth to the first Prince of Wales 600 years ago. Nearby Conway Castle was also built by that king.

At Windsor Castle there are the state apartments, and at Hampton Court, an entire royal palace haunted by three queens.

With the ticket, which is validated at the first place visited, comes a book giving a list of the 530 or so places which are 'Open to View'.

INVADER'S EYE VIEW—When you approach beetling Conway Castle, in Wales, you can get a notion of what potential attackers had to contend with. Along with dozens of other castles, stately homes, Roman ruins and other tourist attractions, it is included in the "Open to View" ticket, which for $10 opens up more than 500 places in Britain to the traveler.

One of the major advantages is convenience. Holders merely show the ticket and walk in.

There's hardly a taste which can't find a wealth of wonderful places open under the scheme. For example, garden enthusiasts can visit 23 places famous for their gardens, including Sissinghurst, home of Victoria Sackville-West, Hidcote, Stourhead, Harewood House, Bodnant, Sheffield Park and many more.

Castle enthusiasts can go home replete at last. There are 52 in England, 33 in Scotland and 28 in Wales, open with the ticket. They include behemoths like Caerphilly in Wales, Windsor in England and baby castles like Castell Coch in Wales. There are ruined ones like Urquhart and perfect ones like Edinburgh and Stirling.

Archaeologists can visit Stonehenge, the Arbor Low Stone Circle, Skara Brae Prehistoric village in the Orkney Islands, Roman Richborough Castle, or Mortimer's Cross Water Mill.

Some of the greatest stately homes in Britain say "yes" to ticketholders. These include the Duke of Bedford's Woburn Abbey, Marquess of Hertford's Ragley Hall, the Marquess of Bath's Longleat, The Duke of Marlborough's Blenheim Palace (Winston Churchill was born here), Lord Montagu's Beaulieu Abbey and dozens more.

AMERICA'S HERITAGE

Gold Mine Ingots

Sutter's mill was a familiar name to the s who rushed west to find their fortunes but they never heard of Pueblo Viejo, Carlin, or Similkameen. All are among 50 leading gold mines of North America featured in a new collection of ingots called The Official Gold Mine Ingots. The Franklin Mint has been authorized to strike a limited edition of ingots in 24 karat gold.

Miners in California in 1849 panning for gold.

The 50 ingots in the collection will represent leading gold mines of the United States, Canada, Mexico, Nicaragua and the Dominican Republic—the five major gold producing nations of North America.

The name of each mine will appear on the obverse of the official ingot, and the reverse will bear the name of the owner/operator of the mine and an engraved map indicating where that mine is located.

Each ingot weighs at least 40 grains of 24 karat gold; the complete set contains more than 2,000 grains.

The ingots, priced at $37.50 each, will be issued at the rate of one a month. A collector's chest, made of polished hardwood and leather and fitted with a transparent security cover, will permit display of the ingots when locked for protection.

The initial announcement pointed out that people writing in by May 15 would be able to order The Official Gold Mine Ingots collection, and those writing in later would be placed on the mailing list (no charge) to receive advance news of future Franklin Mint offers.

For information write to Franklin Mint, Franklin Center, Pa. 19031.

Ever since William Austin of Winthrop, Massachusetts suspended a steam boiler between the wheels of a bicycle, back in 1868, motorcycle cycling has been increasing in popularity.

Today, there are some six million gas-driven motorcycles registered in the United States and some 15 million riders. Here are some tips from the Motorcycle Safety Foundation that may help you improve your riding while making it safe and enjoyable.

Consider every road a potential obstacle course. Remember that you are riding on two wheels, not four. Keep your head up and your eyes moving so that you can anticipate hazards ahead of time.

Take the path of least resistance and go around (rather than over) an obstacle if you can. Slow down before you reach an obstacle, either by braking or down-shifting.

Avoid depressing clutch or brake while going over a rough or slippery surface. This should be done before reaching the hazard. Remember, motorcycle safety is no accident.

Employee Bill of Rights

WASHINGTON—The first ten amendments to our Constitution—the Bill of Rights—spelled out fundamental freedoms to be enjoyed by every American as a birthright. That promise has been all but denied to American workers.

Despite the fact they represent the backbone of our industrial and economic prosperity, American working men and women have been systematically ignored in decisions which have bearing on the quality of their working life.

Congress, in its attempts to strengthen the 42 year-old National Labor Relations Act, continually has sought to strike a fair balance between the rights of organized labor and those of management in an effort to ensure industrial harmony. It has been a difficult if not always successful task.

Beginning with the passage of the Wagner Act in 1935, then the Taft-Hartley Act in 1947, and the Landrum-Griffin Act in 1959, Congress has probed for an equitable means to resolve labor disputes, defining, and redefining what constitutes fair labor management practices.

That search continues today, as major reform of the National Labor Relations Act is expected to be considered by the 95th Congress.

Once again, however, proposed reforms disregard the rights of the individual worker. In fact, proposed reforms will assure that workers have even less say about the conditions of their employment. They will be further relegated to the status of pawns, to be manipulated in power struggles by organized labor as well as management.

As Congress reviews major reform of the labor laws—the first in 18 years—the needs of individual workers must be recognized once and for all and their rights established in law.

Toward this end, I have introduced employee bill of rights legislation to ensure that any reforms of the law include safeguards to protect the individual rights of working men and women. When they seek to enter the labor market, it should be under conditions of their own choosing.

Employees, for example, should have the right to decide for themselves if they want to join a labor union, participate in strikes, or cast a secret ballot in industrial elections. They should be able to decide these questions free of intimidation or coercion.

The same freedoms of choice enjoyed by other Americans should be extended to the American worker. They will be under the employee bill of rights the Congress will consider.

This legislation, among other provisions, specifically stipulates that secret ballot elections will be held before bargaining sessions to determine if a majority agrees that a union should represent the interests of employees.

Fines no longer will be levied on union members who exceed work quotas or who exercise free speech. Individual workers will have more say about whether or not strikes shall be called or continued.

The rights of everyone to be heard—organized labor and management—will be guaranteed during union campaigns and electioneering. When arbitration is determined to be the means to settle a dispute, it will be the only forum, enabling a much quicker resolution of the dispute.

Workers whose religious convictions prevent them joining or supporting labor organization activities would be protected under this legislation.

Individual workers in this country deserve more than the second-class citizenship they are now afforded. They deserve a measure of self-determination.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

With all the theological ferment these days there is more unrest in our churches than we have known in many years. Issues divide the congregations and sometimes the whole debate seems endless. It would be easier to stay home in bed on Sunday mornings.

But through it all, the houses of God stand, because regular churchgoers know that men are inconstant, that they are subject to numerous temptations and influences. They also know that God is omnipotent, is omniscient. His care is constant. His creative spirit continually sustains the earth, and His love is always sensitive to the plight of man.

It is not easy to be a Christian; it never was. Houses of God stand because there are those who are willing to be channels of God's care—who assume responsibility for church schools, missions, social justice, and—oh yes—that roof.
