A Word From Your Mayor

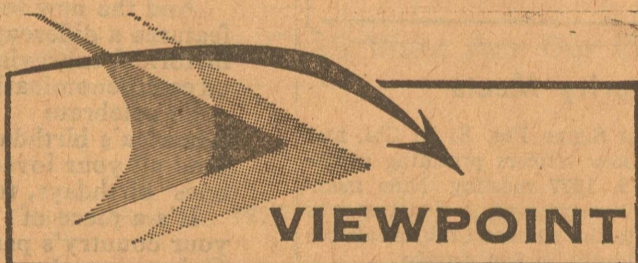

Mosquitoes are a problem we must all combat. Spraying of barriw ditches, alleys, etc., will not be sufficient to control this annual pest. You, the citizen can do much to help.

1. Keep your lawn and weeds cut.
2. Look around your place and empty any bucket, can, barrel, old tires, tubs, etc. of water where mosquitoes might breed.
3. Drain any area where water stands and becomes stagnant. If unable to drain such an area, spread a thin coating of oil on the standing water. The oil will kill mosquito larvae.

4. Spray your shrubs, flowers and gardens with a spray that will kill both flies and mosquitoes and is acceptable to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

5. Repeat these practices after each rainfall. Your help plus an effort by your city government and fire department will help keep our fly and mosquito problem to a minimum.

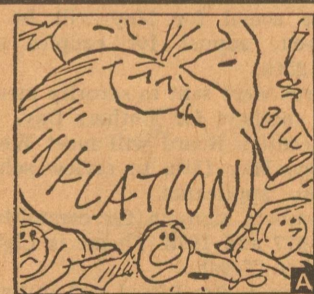

Your City Council voted at last week's meeting to purchase insecticide for the purpose of spraying the town for mosquitoes. Your fire department will be in charge of spraying our streets and alleys. May I again urge you to look around your house and business and follow the above mentioned steps. Together we can minimize the mosquito problem in Eldorado. —J. Patrick Ragsdale.

The sad possibility exists that so-called "common situs picketing" bills may be passed thereby adding to the nation's unemployment and inflation woes.

What such bills could do is permit a single union on a construction site to shut down the entire project over a single grievance, however slight. If, for example, the electricians have a dispute with the electrical subcontractor over the length of their coffee break, they legally could induce a work stoppage by the plumbers, plasterers, glaziers and all other on-site unions not involved in the dispute. This would be a secondary boycott which has been illegal since the 1940s. It would, in effect, allow a small, well-organized group to control the majority.

Supporters of such bills argue this would merely put building trade unions on the same footing as industrial unions, since one union can shut down a plant even if employees belong to several unions. But the critical difference is that the manufacturer is a single employer with complete control over his labor relations policies. A construction site, however, involves many independent subcontractors and many different crafts. An electrical contractor, according to experts at a trade association, Associated Builders & Contractors, has no power whatsoever to resolve a dispute between the plumbers and the plumbing subcontractor. Yet with "common situs picketing," he cannot prevent his employees from striking if the plumbers called a strike.

The building trade unions already have the same leverage as other unions in that they have the right to strike against their employer and to shut down the operation of that employer at a construction site. "Common situs picketing" bills, if passed, could affect everyone by increasing rents, taxes, mortgage costs, police costs, construction costs, and unemployment.

Reddy Tips To Help You...

Your ENERGY Dollar$

Use your Room Air-Conditioner Wisely...

- Cover or close all floor and wall registers so that cool air does not escape into the ductwork of your heating system.
- Let nature help you save energy by shading your home with trees and shrubs to help cut down on summer cooling costs. Draw draperies against afternoon sun.
- Your air-conditioner will operate inefficiently if filters are not cleaned regularly. Dirt and lint, collected on the filters, restrict air flow to the coils.
- Make sure that windows and doors fit tightly. The cooling equipment works on the principle of constantly reconditioning the inside air.

Homemaking At A Glance

by Nancy Lester

The Young Homemakers H. D. Club met Wednesday, May 11, in the home of Patsy Kellogg for a program on weight control.

The Reynolds H. D. Club will meet on Tuesday at 2:00 p.m. at the Country Store.

This week I have some information for you on Fire Safety.

In the time it takes to read the next few paragraphs, several homes in this country will catch fire. A residence burns every 45 seconds, adding up to 1,900 fires a day and almost 700,000 a year. Almost 7,000 persons die in these fires and at least a fourth of the victims are children under 14 years of age. Most children are pathetically helpless to save themselves in a fire. Through lack of knowledge and practice, they make deadly mistakes, such as rushing into smoke-filled rooms or down burning stairways when they might escape through a window. Some do not even attempt to escape. They wander in bewilderment or panic. Many hide in closets or under beds, waiting in vain for someone to rescue them. Many are later found dead by firemen.

The tragedy is that youngsters could get out alive if parents would take a few minutes to teach them how. Schools routinely hold fire drills. Yet, fire drills at home are seldom thought of, much less done on a regular basis. A child is about 200 times more likely to be caught in fire at home than at school.

The child who has practiced what to do in case of fire is much less susceptible to panic and has a better chance of surviving, fire authorities agree. This has been proved by thousands of fire-drill trained pupils who have safely escaped from burning schools.

A home fire drill could be done much like a classroom exercise, or you could capitalize on your child's imagination. Drills conducted as Let's Be A Fireman game may stimulate more interest and impress the information more firmly in the child's mind.

Below are some home fire drills designed to teach children and their parents how to survive a fire:

Meet the Fire Chief. In this drill, the entire family, called the Fire Department Staff, gets together to make escape plans. A Fire Chief is elected to draw a rough diagram of the house. He asks the other members to help map out two separate escape routes from every room in the house. There must be a main route and, in case that is blocked, an alternate route. Pay special attention to escapes from bedrooms where fire is most likely to trap you. Do not rely much on stairways or hallways, because they are often flooded with heat and deadly smoke, making passage impossible.

Your best escape route is through a window, perhaps one that opens onto a garage deck or porch roof.

Don the Gas Masks. This drill teaches children about poisonous gases which are the real killers in fires. Pretend the house is filling with smoke and that you must get out as quickly as possible. In all th drills, stress immediate escape. Yell "Smoke!" and have the children, wherever they are—in bedrooms, living room, kitchen—grab a pillow or several thicknesses of fluffy material such as a towel and place it over their mouths and noses. The cloth won't filter out poisonous gases in smoke but it will relieve some of the irritating effects of inhaling smoke. Then have the children move as fast as they can, keeping close to the floor where the air is best. They should know to avoid deep breaths.

Hot Door, Cold Door. As a part of training, firemen learn the dangers of opening a door in a fire. Your child must know this, too. Teach him never to open a bedroom door if he suspects a fire. Instead, he should apply this test:

Put a hand on the door panel and knob. If either is warm, do not open the door, for heat and gases on the other side are ready to burst in. One lungful of super-heated air can fell a person instantly. Leave the door closed and escape another way.

If the door does not feel warm, brace against it, open it a crack and be ready to slam it should smoke or heat rush in. If all is clear, proceed through the door with caution.

Americana: Unusual Bottles

BOTTLES UP—This antique collection of bitters bottles comes in a variety of shapes.

Think you know what usually determines the value of an antique bottle? If you guess color and condition you are absolutely right. Rare colored bottles, such as puce, amethyst and blue, command top dollar prices. Interestingly, one of the finest collections of antique bitters bottles is continually exhibited for the benefit of the public. Now at the Bruce Museum in Greenwich, Connecticut, it has been also on display at other museums around the country. The collection features many early Angostura bottles, one of them dating back to the time when the product was known as Dr. Siegert's bitters, after its original maker. This interesting facet of Americana was brought together by Iroquois Brands, which not only markets Angostura aromatic bitters, but also Champale, a unique sparkling beverage, Yoo-Hoo chocolate drink, Major Grey's chutney, and Giroux and Wupperman grenadine, among others.

The bottles, highly prized by collectors, reflect the impressive art of glass blowing and were made in a variety of shapes including an ear of corn, fish, porker, Revolutionary War soldier, and the Indian princess. Among the most valued of the collection is a Kelly's Old Cabin in a deep green, so dark it appears black.

MISS JOY SAUER BECOMES BRIDE OF MR. FOSTER IN HOME RITE IN STERLING

Mrs. William Lester Foster III

A small wedding at the William Foster II home was the setting to unite Karen Joy Sauer and William Lester Foster III in marriage. The wedding was held May 7th at 4:00 p.m. Joy is the daughter of Mrs. Alma C. Sauer of San Angelo, and the late Victor Sauer of Eldorado. Bill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Foster of Sterling City.

The bride's dress was made of quiana with accenting lace on the empire bodice and sleeves and also on the long flowing train. She wore a three tier veil with scalloped lace accenting the edges.

Mrs. L. D. Doty, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Wayland Foster, brother of the groom, served as best man.

Duwan Sauer, brother of bride, gave her hand in marriage.

The reception followed the ceremony in the groom's parents home.

The groom is engaged in ranching in Sterling County, and after a wedding trip to Las Vegas, the couple will live on the ranch.

Foods An Event At State Arts & Crafts Fair

Kerrville, Tex.—The Texas State Arts and Crafts Fair, May 28-29-30 in Kerrville, is nationally known for quality arts and crafts. But recently, the foods served during the fair have become an outstanding attraction. Set in the atmosphere of an old fashioned country fair, much of the food recalls the aromas and tastes of an earlier Texas.

German sausage on a stick and beef jerky are featured. Then, in the next booth, ice cream freezers turn out old recipe treats. Fair visitors who feast on catfish, hush puppies and fried chicken may have Hill Country peaches with cream for dessert. Mexican foods include tacos, fajitas, chili con queso and chalupas. Traditional fair treats of hamburgers, hot dogs and popcorn are served with plenty of ice cold drinks. Sweets are everywhere, too, with homemade cakes and baked-on-the-grounds donuts.

Adequate shade areas are provided for visitors to sit and eat, either in the covered dining area or on hay bales set under ancient oak trees. The spacious grounds of Schreiner College provide ample room for relaxation and plenty of free parking is available. A free color brochure is available by writing Texas Arts and Crafts Foundation, P. O. Box 1527, Kerrville, Texas 78028.

Weather Briefing Affects This Area

The Federal Aviation Administration Flight Service Station in San Antonio, Texas has assumed Flight Plan and Pilot Weather Briefing responsibilities for Brady, Eldorado, Menard, Ozona and Sonora, Texas, that were formerly provided by Abilene Flight Service Station.

Toll free telephone service for pilots is available by dialing the operator and asking for Enterprise 80178.

Pilots are urged to use this service for preflight weather briefings, clearances and flight plan cancellation.

San Antonio Flight Service Station is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week, and is located on San Antonio International Airport.

Mrs. Page To Head Drive For Mental Health

Mrs. Paul Page of Eldorado will lead Bellringer workers in a house-to-house drive during May, Mental Health Month.

Proceeds will benefit the Mental Health Association in Texas, said Shirley K. Camfield, state president of the voluntary citizens' association.

As a non-governmental agency the association can and does speak for the consumer—the person who needs professional help for an emotional disturbance.

The association is a moving force to get services established where there are none. It also serves as a monitoring agency to see that treatment services are doing what they were set up to do, said Camfield.

The Mental Health Association strongly promotes more community based care as more research into the causes of mental illness.

Seeking to prevent mental health problems through education, the association, in cooperation with the Texas Department of Community Affairs, Early Childhood Development Division, sends out the newsletter series Pierre the Pelican to first-time parents in the state.

The 28-part series, in English and Spanish, is mailed periodically and deals with the emotional and mental development of children while giving helpful hints to parents.

Additionally, the association offers literature to the public on a variety of topics including depression, alcoholism, and positive mental health concepts. For free information write to the Mental Health Association in Texas, 103 Lantern Lane, Austin, Texas 78731.

HAPPILY EVER AFTER

You know how it is when you're a child, you are sure you are going to "live happily ever after" somewhere, sometime.

As you grow older, the story may change a little. The fairy tale princess turns out to be the girl next door; your castle in the air, a white house on Orchard Street. But the goal remains the same, the happy ending on the far side of the rainbow.

But life doesn't always happen like that. Sometimes storybook marriages end in divorce, a promising job becomes a dead end, or a sure-fire investment turns out to be a total loss. Misfortune or your own weaknesses make your days seem futile and empty. What then of childhood expectations? Where do you look for joy and hope and bright tomorrows?

God's love is the only way to find real and lasting happiness. Comfort, strength, and purpose are yours for the asking. Why not attend your church today and find new inspiration for your life?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .

. . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
