WASHINGTON

Arms—
Our State Department is casting a slightly nervous eye at Senator Gerald P. Nye's forthcoming inquiry into the ways and means of munitions manufacturers.

Advance information has reached state officials that the North Dakota Progressive and his Senatorial colleagues are planning to tread more lightly on the toes of powerful foreign gun-makers in addition to those who cast their cannons domestically.

The nervousness may be well justified. A peek into advance evidence indicates the world is going to get a thrilling show when the investigation formally opens two months hence.

Nye will undertake to prove that the munitions magnates are formed into an international ring bent only on fomenting bigger and better wars so they can profit by selling the instruments of destruction.

He hopes to show that all recent disarmament conferences were scuttled with material aid from munitions money and propaganda.

The committee chairman expects further to develop evidence of collusion in army and navy war material awards and show up American manufacturers for making large sales to foreign powers that have defaulted in their public and private debts to us.

Estimates have been made for the special senate committee that it cost $25,000 a head to kill each man who died on the World War battlefields.

Investigators undoubtedly will re-air the old war story that the French and German armies in turn carefully refrained from firing on the smelters and mines in the Briey Basin—that field allegedly being of mutual interest to the French Schneider-Creusot Company and the German Krupp.

Getting more up to date committee sleuths are searching for confirmation of the report that French and German manufacturers conspired to make Herr Hitler boss of Germany. As the story goes they rated him the best potential funder of world anarchy then on the horizon.

Names will be named and witnesses will be called who are familiar to all of us. Bethlehem Steel, the Du Ponts and their Remington Arms, Colts, and the Baldwin Locomotive Works and their Midvale company all will come in for searching examination.

You will hear of such foreign concerns as the French Comite des Forges, the English Vickers-Armstrongs and the Czechoslovakian Skoda.

Mention will be made of the munitions family which calls itself Wendel in France and von Wendel in Germany.

The resolution authorizing the investigation calls for determination of four broad facts. They are: 1. The nature of industrial and commercial organizations engaged in arms manufacture and traffic. 2. Methods used in promoting sales. 3. The amount of American exports and imports. 4. Adequacy or inadequacy of existing legislation and treaties to stop warbuilding traffic.

A committee was appointed, consisting of C. S. Blomshield, C. T. Watson and Homer McNew to contact parties in charge of a building in Big Spring, with a view of changing same to be used for cold storage in connection with establishment of a canning plant in Big Spring. It developed that the government requirements for suitable cold storage facilities was necessary before the canning plant could be established here, in order to care for the beef after being slaughtered. This committee went into session immediately after the meeting.

A telegram was read from C. C. Culp, Austin, stating that Big Spring was to get a Civilian Conservation corps unit, giving the necessary requirements for its establishment.

7 Men Allege Organization Drifts Afield

Voluntary Unit Was Set Up To Aid In Curbing 'Hot Oil'

AUSTIN, (AP)—Seven members of the Texas Petroleum Council resigned Tuesday alleging the council, a voluntary organization set up to aid curbing hot oil production, "had drifted far afield."

Resignations were submitted to R. Lloyd Whaslock, president of the council, were J. R. Parton, J. S. Abercrombie, Mills Bennett, Jack Frost, G. W. Strake, Myron G. Haddock and Bailey W. Hardy.

Copy of letters of resignation, released here by Hardy, pointed out the constitution and by laws of the council "expressly prohibit the council from taking sides upon controversial issues and declare it to be a non-political, non-lobbying institution," and "further prohibit the council or its representatives from indulging in criticism of public officials or use of influence in legislative matters and formulation of pronouncement rules and regulations."

"Notwithstanding, the council's attorney, Fred Week of Wichita Falls, appeared in Washington before a congressional committee and actively supported passage of the Ickes' federal oil control bill," the letter continued.

"It is true Mr. Weeks appeared not for the council . . . but he qualified as an expert on enforcement conditions in East Texas by reason of his position with council and supported the bill and testified that in his opinion Texas could never enforce oil control regulations."

Hindenburg Again Steadies Reich

German Political Storm Centers Attention On 'Der Alte'

The struggle between conservatives and radicals for control of the Nazi regime in Germany showed Paul von Hindenburg, octogenarian president of the reich, as a real influence. He endorsed criticisms of the national socialist extremists voiced by Franz von Papen (left) and Adolf Hitler, chancellor, said there was merit in the strictures although he decried the public manner in which they were offered.

(By The Associated Press)
Whether Germany shall turn to the right or to the left is agitating the Nazi-governed nation. The speech was suppressed in Germany and there were indications that the radicals intended to snuff out von Papen's political life.

Smouldering Fires Blaze
Whereupon Hindenburg spoke, sending the vice chancellor a message whose tenor was "Well done! I agree with you."

There followed comment from Hitler indicating that he thought there was considerable merit in some of von Papen's strictures. But the fire was smouldering. It blazed into open controversy between the "steel helmets," backbone of the conservative faction, and the brown-shirted "storm troops" of the Hitler drive for power.

Army Back Of President
General Werner von Blomberg, minister of defense and hence in control of the standing army, the "reichswehr," told the nation that the regulars were loyal to President von Hindenburg and Chancellor Hitler, "who came from our ranks and always will remain one of us."

And Hitler himself bade the troubled waters to be stilled. But they continue to seethe and toss.

Chancellor's Disposition Is Unsettled

Special Measures To Quell Second Revolution Are Discontinued

BERLIN (AP)—Chancellor Hitler boarded an airplane for Neudeck, home of President Von Hindenburg tonight, at the conclusion of an important session of the cabinet, leaving disposition of the vice chancellor unsettled.

BERLIN (AP)—Chancellor Hitler Tuesday issued an order discontinuing special measures used to quell the "second revolution," announcing henceforth regular courts of justice would handle offenders against the Nazi regime.

Ending of the extreme suppressive measures together with an assurance of the appointment of Hermann Wilhelm Goering as vice chancellor and the resignation of Franz von Papen as Hitler's chief aide, focused eyes of the nation were on Berlin.

Munich reported the strongly rumored death of Gustav Von Kahr, Bavarian premier who turned against Hitler after plotting with him in 1923 the "beer putch."

The Nazi press department issued an official estimate of the number killed during the "second revolution" as "below sixty."

Munich reported a Catholic priest named Muhler, serving a prison term for criticism of Hitler, shot in his cell.

Two members of the storm troops press department were reliably reported killed.

VIENNA (AP)—Vienna's city hall, a former socialist stronghold, was the scene of a possibly incendiary fire Tuesday.

Although quickly extinguished, the fire caused greatest excitement in government circles.

Salzburg reports said the Marble Hall in Tocconastano, where the provisional director of public safety, and the Salzburg police have headquartered, was dynamited.

Humble Team Defeats Cosden Pipeliners 9 To 4

Game Won In 7th Inning

Teams Clash Again This Afternoon On Humble Diamond

FORSAN (Spl.)—The Humble soft ball team defeated the heretofore unbeatable Cosden Pipeliners 9 to 4 here Monday afternoon.

In spite of the fact that the Cosdenites played a ragged game in the field and were weak at bat, the score was tied every inning until the seventh.

Until the last frame the scoring had been scattered, but in the seventh the Humble sluggers crossed home plate five times to ice the game.

The batteries: Humble—Shaw and Hobbs; Cosden—Qualls and Schultz.

This afternoon the two teams clash again on the Humble diamond.

ing forward with fixed bayonet—even the heroic and defiant soldier standing with helmet rakishly tilted and eyes uplifted.

The model of the Orange memorial shows a seated soldier in trench cap and roll puttees, one arm about a young schoolboy, books under arm, who stands at his side. The soldier is telling the schoolboy a story—and from their attitudes you can see that it is no fantasy about the soldier's personal heroism.

The soldier is plainly telling the boy, not how he, too, may some day attain to military glory, but how he may help bring about a day when there shall be greater glories.

All this will shine forth from the bronze figures. And who shall say that such a war memorial is less a memorial to the American soldier than those "Victories" and "Glories" that cluster France?

Santone Lead Is Plugged

Buffaloes Connect With Base Hits In Every Inning

HOUSTON—Connecting for base hits in every inning, the Buffaloes bowled over the league leading San Antonio Mission here Monday night, 4 to 2, as Bill Beckman turned in a smart brand of mound work.

TULSA 4, CATS 5
FORT WORTH—Fighting an uphill battle all the way, the Tulsa Oilers finally came through with a 2-run rally in the ninth inning to defeat the Fort Worth Cats, 4-3, in the opening game of the series here Monday. Art Shires hit a home run for the Cats in the sixth.

BUCS 1, EXPORTERS 6
GALVESTON—Jack Mealy's single scored Tony Governor from second base in the ninth inning here Monday night to give Galveston a 1-0 victory over the Beaumont Exporters. Mealy's hit, coming after two were out, broke up a thrill packed pitching duel between young Paul Sullivan, Exporter leftie, and slim Jim Blvin, Galveston right-hander.

INDIANS 4, DALLAS 3
DALLAS—It was the same old story Monday night for the Dallas Steers—they lost another ball game. The Oklahoma City Indians beat them, 4 to 2. The Steers have lost 18 of their 19 games. With Manager Fred Brainard, Owner Sol Dreyfuss and Vice-President Bob Tarleton out of town, Charlie Barnab, southpaw pitcher, managed the team. Johnson, right fielder, hit a home run over the right field wall with two runners on in the sixth to give the Indians their victory.

Carter Team Is 3 To 2 Winner

The Carter Chevrolet boys put a damper on the Cosden No. 2 team Monday when they defeated the Oilers 3-2. The improved Knee Action team showed plenty of form when they came from behind a number of times after the highly touted Oilers had taken several one run leads.

The Cosdenites scored to take the lead in the first inning, but the Automen came back to knot the score in the next inning.

After several unsuccessful efforts the Oilers again failed only to have the fighting Knee Action boys again tie the count.

In a surprise attack, the Mechanies pushed the deciding run across the Oiler infield west into a temporary letdown. The Carter team worked hard to keep the Cosdenites away from the plate in the final frame after the Oilers had two aboard with only one out.

Mexicans To Face Pecos Team On 5th

Manager Julian Vees and his Mexican Tigers left for Marfa today where they will play a double-header tomorrow with the Marfa Indians.

On the return trip Thursday the Tigers will battle the Pecos Wildcats.

Twelve players made the trip. About half of this year's Tiger team is composed of former Brown Eagle players.

The Mexicans have lost three out of thirteen games this season, losing to the Cosden Oilers, Sinclair Oilers and the Co-Op Gimmers.

No Change In Batting Lead

'Speedy' Moffett Out In Front—Baber Close

By HANK HART
 The idle "Speedy" Moffett still retained his batting lead during the past week, but several of the Oilers have moved up in a threatening position when they enjoyed a fine field day against Ackerly.

"Lefty" Baber, with three hits against the Dawawontes, moved to within one point of the fleet shortstop with an average of .390.

"Cy" Terrazas and "Dutch" Moxley also came through with three bingles, and raised their averages to .364 and .290 respectively.

Pep Martin, with the duties of the mound to perform, dropped lower with an average of .319, when he did not register a single hit in three trips to the plate.

Martin, however, leads in runs scored with 13 to his credit, having crossed the plate twice during last Sunday's game.

Other Oilers to raise their averages were Rufe Morton and Pat Patton.

Mileaway Baker, striking out in his only appearance of Sunday's battle, brings up the rear in the Oiler scramble for batting honors with a .209 average. Baker has yet to get his expected start against the U. S. 80 pitchers.

Regulations For Loans In Drouth-Stricken Areas Announced

Live Stock, Forage Loans Requirements

The Governor, Farm Credit Administration (hereinafter called Governor), acting pursuant to the act of Congress approved June 19, 1934, will make loans for the purchase of feed for livestock and for the production of forage crops in the several states of the United States on the following conditions:

No such loan will be made, or if one or more installments have been advanced, further installments will not be advanced.

(1) To any applicant for the purpose of feeding livestock or workstock of any class or kind in excess of the number approved by the representatives of the Governor.

(2) To any applicant in an amount in excess of the maximum allowance per capita established by the Governor, or his authorized representatives, in any county or other designated area for any class or kind of livestock or workstock.

(3) To any applicant for the purchase of feed for livestock, acquired subsequent to April 1, 1934.

(4) To any applicant who makes a material international misrepresentation for the purpose of obtaining such loan, or any installment thereon.

(5) To any applicant who fails to observe good faith in the disposition of any installment of the loan proceeds or in the care of his livestock, workstock and crops.

(6) To any applicant who endures his livestock, workstock, feed, or crops or waives his rights thereto contrary to his agreement with the Governor.

(7) To any applicant who fails, upon request, to provide available or obtainable information in connection with his land, livestock, workstock, food, crops, or financial condition.

(8) To any applicant for the purchase of feed for livestock located outside areas designated by the Governor as drouth stricken. All livestock or workstock to be fed with feed purchased from the proceeds of loans must be located in areas designated by the Governor as drouth stricken.

(9) To any applicant who fails to submit with his first application, non-disturbance agreements in the form provided, duly executed by each of the chattel mortgage lienholders listed in the application (except Federal Land Banks, Production Credit Associations, Regional Agricultural Credit Corporations, the Secretary of Agriculture, or Governor).

(10) To any applicant who has been served with a formal notice of foreclosure on real or personal property listed in the application unless a non-disturbance agreement in the form provided duly executed by the party or parties having served such formal notice of foreclosure is presented with the initial application.

(11) To any applicant who has the necessary feed to maintain his livestock and workstock or has the means or other sources of credit available to obtain such feed.

(12) To any applicant who has the means or other sources of credit enabling him to undertake the production of a forage crop or crops.

(13) To minors or agents without court order to executors and administrators.

(14) To a wife living with her husband unless the husband joins thereto contrary to his agreement with the Governor.

(15) For any other purposes than those stated in the application.

(16) In a monthly installment greater than is actually needed in such case to purchase the feed for a period of one month for the live stock and work stock listed on the application, as determined and approved for maintenance by the representative of the governor.

(17) In the case of the production of forage crops at a rate in excess of $1.00 per acre.

(18) To any applicant for the purpose of purchasing feed for live stock which subsequent to April 1, 1934 has been moved into any area designated by the Governor as drouth stricken. Where live stock is moved out of areas designated by the governor as drouth stricken into areas not so designated further loan installments will be discontinued for the purpose of purchasing feed for such live stock; 1, an installment may be continued for the purpose of purchasing feed for that part of an applicant's live stock remaining in areas designated by the governor as drouth stricken. Where live stock is moved from one area designated by the governor as drouth stricken to another area so designated loan installments may continue to be advanced.

(19) To any applicant who is a part owner only of the live stock to be fed, less all other parties having a beneficial interest in all of such live stock join in the application and note.

(20) To any applicant whose principal business is the commercial feeding and fattening of live stock for market.

(21) To any applicant for the purpose of purchasing feed for live stock which are under contract to be fed.

(22) To any applicant which is a corporation unless the principal business is farming and unless the principal stockholders of such corporation endorse the note given for each installment.

The amount approved for loan by the governor, or his representatives under these regulations, will be paid to the applicant by a disbursing officer upon receipt and approval of the following:

(1) Application on the farm provided, signed by the applicant and verified by the designated representatives of the governor. In the case of loans for the purchase of feed for live stock, each application, unless otherwise stated thereon, will be for a loan to purchase feed for the live stock and work stock listed for a period of one month. The representatives of the governor may approve any application for an amount to purchase feed for any part of such listed live stock.

(2) Promissory note on the form provided executed by the applicant for the amount if the loan approved by the county committee, payable to the governor, maturing November 1, 1935 with interest at the rate of 5 1-2 per centum per annum. Such a promissory note must accompany each application.

(3) Where application lists one or more chattel mortgages, non-disturbance agreements in the form provided must be submitted with or before the first application, duly executed by each listed chattel mortgage lienholder except Regional Agricultural Credit Corporations, Federal Land Banks, Production Credit Association, Secretary of Agriculture and the governor.

Interest to maturity date of the note will not be deducted as the time the loan is made.

PLOW AND PLAN NOW FOR FALL GARDENS

COLLEGE STATION — With gardens cut short in a widespread drouth it is of unusual importance this summer to plow up garden plots and keep them in good till in anticipation of rains which will make fall gardens possible, garden demonstrators throughout the state are being told by J. F. Rosborough, extension horticulturist at Texas A. & M. College. If weeds are kept down and the garden land kept in good condition to catch and hold moisture it should be fairly easy to get good early fall garden stuff, he thinks.

A method of saving much of the tomato fertilizer applied this past spring is offered by Mr. Rosborough. About 500 to 600 pounds of fertilizer were applied per acre on the average, he says, and 30 per cent to 40 per cent of this remains available in the ground. If the land is not planted fall and winter rains will leach out the fertilizer and it will all be lost. He suggests that farmers plow up and destroy the dried tomato vines to clear the land and prevent disease and insect infestation, and when rains come plant in early fall to adapted crops. The surest truck crops are Irish potatoes, beans, and fall roasting ears. If rains come very early, sweet potatoes will make a good crop.

Farm live stock (cattle, horses, mules, sheep, goats, hogs) refers to animals raised in limited numbers on farms or ranches where the cultivated land, including that in tame hay, comprises at least one-fourth of the total land in use. Cattle kept mainly for milk production shall be classed as farm live stock.

The term range live stock (cattle, sheep, goats and horses) refers to animals produced or maintained in relatively large numbers primarily on grass or browse and where such live stock constitutes the principal source of income from the land in use. Operating units having a ratio of more than three acres of grazing or pasture land to one acre of land in cultivation, including land in tame hay, shall be classed as a range unit.

The right is reserved to make further supplemental or amendatory regulations and to withdraw these regulations in whole or in part at any time.

Texas Live Stock Shipments To Fort Worth Market In Decline

AUSTIN — Shipments of livestock from Texas to the Fort Worth market and interstate points suffered a drastic decline in May in comparison with the same month last year, according to Dr. F. A. Ruechel, assistant director and statistician in the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas. Total shipments of all classes of livestock were 5306 cars, against 7534 cars a year ago, a drop of 32 per cent.

All classes of livestock shared in the decline. Shipments of cattle for the two periods were, respectively: 3509 and 4931 cars; calves 490 and 1037 cars; hogs 351 and 825 cars; and sheep 956 and 1051 cars. For the year to date combined shipments of all classes of livestock to the Fort Worth market and interstate points totaled 24,089 cars, compared with 25,760 cars during the corresponding period last year.

Individual markets showed marked changes in the number of Texas livestock received in May this year, compared with the same month a year ago. Less than half as many Texas hogs reached the Fort Worth market, and the number of sheep fell off 17 per cent. Los Angeles received about one-fifth as many cattle and half as many hogs as a year ago. Sharp declines characterized shipments of cattle and calves to the grazing land of Kansas and Oklahoma. To the former state Texas shipped only about half as many cattle and one-fourth as many calves; and to the latter about three-fourths as many cattle and a third as many calves as in May last year.

Texas Contributes To Miss Cornell's Stage Appearance

NEW YORK (UP)—Texas contributed $42,436.90 to the $50,000 in approximate gross receipts from Miss Katherine Cornell's nationwide tour which ended in Brooklyn recently.

The Texas "take" was a state record.

Miss Cornell traveled 16,834 miles, visited 74 cities and 21 states and played 217 performances before more than half a million theatre-goers.

Her repertoire included "Romeo and Juliet," Shaw's "Candida," and Rudolf Besler's "The Barrets of Wimpole Street."

The record attendance and receipts for a single performance were at Des Moines, where 4,251 persons paid $7,796.70 to see "The Barrets of Wimpole Street."

The biggest single week's receipts totaled $29,721.25, taken in six one-night stands at Waco, Fort Worth, Oklahoma City, Tulsa, Emporia and Wichita.

Miss Cornell played nine days in Texas.

Mrs. Sallie Eddins left Tuesday morning for a trip to Los Angeles, Calif.

They are making the trip by automobile.

HORSE AND BUGGY DAYS

Maude Adams Is Idol of Stage
Bleriot Flies Channel
Bottoms Up in Cobweb Palace

Throughout the theatrical seasons of 1905 to 1907, Maude Adams as Peter Pan in Barrie's play of that name became the undisputed idol of the American stage. As Babbie in "Little Minister," and Maggie in "What Every Woman Knows," she added to a reputation which persists today, though she is now engaged in research on stage lighting. Her characterization of Peter Pan, above, needs only the snub of a hidden bell to step out of the page alive.

Giant airships like the Macon have grown from small beginnings. For instance, here's one of the early dirigibles, Charles Baysdorfer's Comet. Baysdorfer is plainly visible, "navigating" the ship, which has soared to a reckless height of 500 feet on a test flight in October, 1907.

Warner's cobweb palace on Meigs' wharf in San Francisco was a strange place in the '70s. Abe Warner loved spiders, and allowed them for years to spin their webs uninterrupted on the ceiling of his saloon, until it became weirdly festooned with dusty masses of cobweb. Abe's place also featured garish nude paintings, caged monkeys and a parrot that could swear in four languages. It was a favorite resort of ship captains, who enjoyed both the surroundings and hot toddies.

His flying machine is smashed a bit, but Louis Bleriot is very happy just the same. He had just completed the first heavier-than-air flight across the English channel, when this picture was made in 1909, and Madame Bleriot was on hand to greet him. His monoplane was damaged in landing on a Dover hillside, but he won a $1000 prize, nevertheless.

MURDER AT MOCKING HOUSE

BY WALTER C. BROWN

Chapter 50
DESPERATE WOMAN
 Harper was asking himself how it was possible that this modish beauty could be thrice a murderer—Alma Croymen was asking herself how much of her story this Sergeant of Detectives had guessed.

"I have been eavesdropping, Mr. Harper," she announced simply, as one who puts Q. E. D. at the end of a demonstration in geometry.

Harper relaxed, the tension easing from his muscles. Instinctively he braced against the possible impact of flying steel. The woman was sane and collected, at all events. But her right hand was still invisible and there was no sign of wavering in the set lines of her mouth or the look in her eyes.

Alma Croymen noticed this fugitive lapse of attention. "Please don't try anything heroic," she spoke through tight lips. "Sit down—over there."

Harper, with an air of casualness, took the chair she indicated. "This is very dramatic, but quite useless, you know," he objected.

Her eyes burned at him, suddenly alive. "I had to be sure," she shivered a little. "As soon as I saw your face."

The detective leaned forward. "Mrs. Croymen, let us talk this situation over quietly between ourselves. Cross-waving is out of place at this stage. There must have been some terrific driving power that forced you to such lengths. Only you can state what that was, Joseph Donaghy's part in it I can guess, but the other—"

"I did not come here to talk, I felt you getting closer and closer to the solution and I had to see if you really knew. You forced my hand by going after my sister and Pierre. They have nothing to do with this matter and at least I can have the final decency to shoulder my own burdens. And for your own safety let me repeat your warning to Joseph Donaghy—you can hang a person only once. Remember that and act accordingly. Have you a gun in your pocket?"

Harper shook his head. "I carry one only on special occasions. You may search me if you like," he added, half rising from the chair. "Sit still! If you move or make a noise I'll shoot. There was no mistaking the steady ring of that voice."

"Come, now," Harper protested. "Even if I had a gun in my pocket I wouldn't try to beat you to the draw. That isn't necessary. You can't bluff me, Mrs. Croymen. You're the one in the dangerous spot, and you can't shoot your way out of it this time. My advice is to give in gracefully."

"I shall escape," she replied confidently. "Do you suppose I would please everything else and not arrange for that? Everything is ready."

"You can't get away. If you shoot at me you'll not get out of this house, perhaps not out of this room. And suppose you did escape temporarily? Where could you go? To whom could you turn?"

"The full machinery of the law would be turned to tracking you down. You would be a marked woman wherever you went. You couldn't even find a refuge in the lowest slums or the underworld. They'd give you up in a minute. At most, a few days of terror and flight, and you'd be run down like a rabbit hunted by dogs."

"We'll not argue that point," the mask-like face turned to him, with its set lines, the shadows under sleepless eyes. "Tell me, how did you know?"

The detective silently pointed to the lens on the table.

Mrs. Croymen gave it a swift glance. "I don't understand. What were you looking at?"

"That's a professional secret, Mrs. Croymen. Suppose you use the lens for yourself?"

"I would like to, but I can't trust you. Tell me, please. Her voice suddenly broke in quick pleading. "Nothing can matter now!"

The detective thought, "If I can keep on talking long enough some one will try that door. When that happens I'll close in and take my chances with her gun."

He said aloud, "When you came in I had just made an important discovery. We had failed before to find any fingerprints on that table, but I just noticed a number of tiny marks on the top and they furnish a clue nearly as distinctive as a fingerprint itself."

He spoke deliberately. "Some one struck the top of that table four or five times with a clenched fist. That suggests a quarrel or an argument. The marks were made by that ring you are wearing, Mrs. Croymen. The diagonal setting of those two diamonds makes an unmistakable pattern. That gave it away."

The woman digested this in silence. She looked at the ring on her finger, then, standing at the table made the motion of phantom anger, rapping with knuckles down. "Such a small thing," she murmured.

"Great results are often measured by small devices," the detective answered.

"Otherwise, you would not have known?" she questioned.

"I wouldn't say that," Harper replied. "It really would have been more baffling to us if Donaghy's death had appeared in its true colors."

"Canouflaging it as suicide really broke up the puzzle. It was there that your logic tripped itself up, for in order to pin the whole thing on the supposed suicide through his 'confession,' you had to give away the secret of that first escape. A fatal error, for it prompted me to look for the same clue in the second instance."

"The same clue?" she repeated.

"Yes—the same clue. No matter how clever the dead, there is always an unsuspected clue left behind. Sometimes we are not alert enough to find it." He waved to-

Kidnaped From Train May Get Stock Job

After being kidnaped from a passenger train at Harriman, Tenn., by six auto loads of men, Fred Heid (above), vice president of the American Federation of Hosiery Workers, was later released with a warning not to return to Harriman where a hosiery mills closed after losing its Blue Eagle in an NRA dispute. ward the table. "Those diamond marks are an instance. But the clue I referred to was a peculiar cut in the snow which was made when the rope was shaken free and hauled back."

"We found that mark in the beginning, but could make nothing of it. It was only when we were put in possession of the rope itself that its meaning became clear. Naturally, this led me to look in the snow again after we found Donaghy, and there was the same kind of mark."

"That labeled it at once as another murder, in spite of the typed confession, the nature of the wound and the recovered articles. That ingenious excuse for the absence of the blackmail money Donaghy had was suspicious to me for we know he had not been away from his room last night."

"Thanks for the advice," she drew herself together, slowly pulling the ring from her finger and deliberately placed it on the table. "This has betrayed me once. It would be dangerous to wear it any longer, wouldn't it? See that it gets back safely to my husband," she said steadily, "and tell him I'm sorry for all the trouble I've caused."

away like this, simply saying nothing in your own defense. There must be reasons, explanations, you can give. You owe it to yourself to present your side of the story. Surely Officer Hamill had done nothing to warrant his death?"

Alma Croymen winced from that name as from a blow. "That is the real burden on my conscience," she whispered. "I lost my head—I went crazy—I saw the whole perfect plan I had designed destroyed by that one blind chance. That was murder, but those other two," she flashed with sudden anger blazing in her shadowed eyes, "that was only justice. I have not a single regret. I had to use what weapons I could against them."

Harper lowered his voice. "Mrs. Croymen, who was H. D. really?"

"Neither you, nor any one, shall ever know that," she answered bitterly. "Let him lie in the Morgue, let him go to a Potter's Field. I'll never tell. It's the best he deserves. No one will ever come forward to claim him, alive or dead!"

"I am not trying, I'm merely trying to understand your story, Mrs. Croymen," Sergeant Harper said with simple dignity.

"Then I'll help you to understand," she flamed. "I have never been happy in my marriage. It is true that I had an affair with that man. As I look back now, I hardly know how it began, except that I met him at a time when I was unhappy and starved for excitement. She stopped, staring blankly at the detective. "I soon found I had fallen into the hands of a beast. I came to hate him. I tried to break away."

these laudable objectives will flop unless the profit incentive is encouraged more definitely. Business must be allowed to increase its income before it is asked to assume greater wage and hour burdens. It's not too late to mend. Tryouts of this sales talk on a minor scale have registered remarkably well. A number of local leaders believe they've found out how to use the New Deal's very popularity to swing it permanently into safe channels and away from the "socialistic" theories of the brain trust.

Outlook

New York has become very bearish on the summer business outlook in the last few weeks. Informed sources advance no less than seven reasons why the recovery machine is likely to go into reverse for the next two months. Seasonal factors and overzealous inventories will bring a lull in manufacturing activity through July and August. This means loss of payroll purchasing power which will be partially but not entirely offset by drought relief.

2. Prices are due for a brief but dizzy lull.

3. Expenditure of PWA funds is still lagging and won't be felt much before fall.

4. The housing program can only succeed if the government forces reduction of costs. Any move in that direction means more labor trouble.

5. Trade negotiations under the President's tariff authority will be too slow to help this summer.

6. Direct loans to industry by the RFC and Federal Reserve will be slow (for reasons recently given in this column).

7. There will be plenty of refinancing under the Securities Act but almost all of it for refunding purposes—not for new activity which would put people to work.

Inflation

But the same sources expect plenty of pep in the fall through free-handed government spending and additional use of monetary powers—including further devaluation. The housing program should also be in full stride by September if it ever gets to that point.

Some authorities point out that inflation is already here in a subtle form that few people recognize. The extra funds raised by the Treasury in recent months through sale of securities represent chiefly bank subscriptions. These were paid for not in cash but in newly created credit—a simple book entry. The government then disbursed this credit and thus puts fresh money into circulation without printing it.

There's no serious objection to this form of inflation even by conservatives—except from the angle of a top-heavy federal debt. There's plenty of headaching about an eventual crisis from this cause but it's admitted that intermediate effects should stimulate recovery.

Tammany

Tammany will have to choose a new leader soon. The inside juggling that's been going on to gain control is ruining discipline—and Tammany without discipline is like a ship without a rudder. The leaders are beginning to realize that their factional rows may land their machine in the junk-heap—which won't do any of them any good.

Resentment increases among Tammany old-timers at efforts by the Recovery wing of the party to kidnap the Manhattan organization. Fifty out of 84 jobs in the Manhattan International Revenue Collector's office have been handed to Recoveryites. The regular boys think Mr. Farley has done them dirt and sentiment is growing that they're nothing to lose if they tell him to go peddle his papers elsewhere.

Informed New Yorkers remark that Nazi Ambassador Luther was right in saying he wasn't going back to find out when he'd be fired. He's only going back to find out when he'd be fired. It's noted the term he was serving as Reichsbank head when removed in favor of Schacht expires in October. All Hitler promised him was another job to fill out that term.

Grocerymen Make Fine Start In 2nd Half Race With 8-4 Win

By HANK HART The wild Grocerymen from Gregg street swept onward Monday toward the second half championship of league No. 1 when they blasted out an 8-4 victory over the Herald Type Lion.

The Robinsonites wasted little time in opening their scoring spurge when they tabled a trio of runs in the initial inning. Hank Hart, leadoff man for the Grocerymen, dropped a fly between the Herald short-stop and second baseman and neither player made an attempt at the catch. Rogers followed with a free pass to first, putting men on first and second, and Coats presented a grand opening when he lashed a mighty home run far over the head of the Type Lion center fielder.

The Herald crew retaliated with a two run rally in their part of the inning and came within one of evening the count. M. Burleson led off with a burning single through the Robinson infield to force the inning. Burleson was forced at second by McMahon but Ebbs and Savage were issued passes and Redding scored a Texas League over right short to send two runs across the plate.

Both teams tightened until the fifth when the Grocerymen broke through with a two run rally to take the lead. Underwood binged and Aitchison followed with a circuit smash into right field.

The Robinsonites returned in the sixth to score three runs and ice the game. Coats doubled to start the inning and D. Robinson sent him to third when the Herald infield erred on his hopper. Coburn and Hammond went out in succession but L. Robinson walked to fill the bases. Underwood followed with his second hit in two innings to score all three runners.

The Type Lion rallied to overtake the Robinsonites in the sixth, but the uprising netted only two runs. Ebbs and Savage crossed the plate on Cross' single.

McMahon singled after two were out in Co's final frame but Arnold forced him at second to end the game.

POST—Mont Bridges, about 34, was charged with murder in two complaints Monday night as a result of the slayings of A. J. Donaldson, 48, and Bertha Gordon, 24, near here Sunday night.

Bridges was companion of Donaldson and Miss Gordon during a drinking party Sunday night, investigators said they were informed. The pair apparently was slain in Bridges' roadster and shoved into a borrow ditch on state highway 83 about four and one-half miles east of here.

District Attorney G. H. Nelson of Tahoka said he would oppose bond for the defendant, who lived at Lubbock.

Bridges told a group of men downtown here Sunday night that Donaldson had shot Miss Gordon and then turned the gun on himself. Officers on the way to the shooting scene met several unidentified Post youths who first found the bodies on a pleasure drive.
