AFS Taking Applications For Summer Exchange

The American Field Service is now accepting applications for the summer abroad exchange program. Students who are accepted will have an opportunity to live in another country this coming summer. "They will have a chance to experience first hand what it means to live with people in another part of the world," noted Ilse Williams, who helped form the local chapter.

"This will provide sight into different education, political and social settings for them," she said.

Applicants should be a junior or senior at the time of application. Sophomores can be accepted in extreme cases. An orientation for interested students will be held the first week of December by former AFS participants.

Students who are curious, flexible and interested in learning about the world are encouraged to apply.

They should contact Nancy Lester at 853-2990, the Rev. Gene Stark at 853-2671 or Mrs. Ilse Williams at 853-2460.

Revolver

By TERRY NEILL

The Democratic Congressional primary in New York's 18th District, for the right to oppose Republican Congressman Bill Green, was won by a man named Carter Burden. Carter Burden? We thought that's what all Democrats and Americans were laboring under this year.

The publishers of a new kind of newsletter — The Ada Report — are tired of listening to those jaw-flapping Washingtonians and are ready for some effective government.

In a column in the newsletter, a visiting traveler relates a story about his uncle, who was a deacon in the Baptist Church. It seems Uncle Doak wrote to his Congressman (which his nephew thought was a pretty dumb thing to do) inquiring about the man's position on prohibition — a touchy sign of those times.

According to the story, Uncle Doak received the following reply:

Mr. Yokum:
Thank you for your most gracious letter asking me to state my position on whiskey. As you know, this is a most controversial question which I had not planned on addressing this close to election time. However, I've never been one to avoid taking a stand or making know my position, no matter how controversial the issue may be. Therefore, I will state my position.

If, when you say 'whiskey', you mean the Devil's brew, that beverage which ensnares and enslaves young men and women and turns them from the Christian life, that poison which induces wantonness, idleness and evil, which arouses base passions, breaks up happy homes, and leads children into a life of sin and degradation, then certainly, sir, I am against it with all my power.

If, however, when you say 'whiskey' you refer to the wine of good conversation, the brew that puts the spring back into the old gentleman's step on a frosty morning, the beverage the sale of which could bring in millions of dollars of tax revenues which we could use to build schools for our young, hospitals for our sick and little crippled children, shelters for the homeless, provide clothing for the needy and aid for the blind and disabled and the deaf, then, yea, I am for it.

This is my stand on this controversial question and I will not compromise. Respectfully yours and having no thought but to serve you, the American people, I remain your humble servant,

Basketball Coaches Give Predictions For Season

Basketball season is upon us, and both the high school coaches are looking for a good season. Girls coach Bobby Helmers feels confident with his team which consists of four seniors and only one junior on the starting lineup.

"We just lost two seniors last year," Helmers says, "and we have a good chance to win district if we progress in the season."

Expected to start in the opening game with Eola Tuesday night here are Cherie Niblett, Paige Helmers, Mary Kay White, Sammye Jay and junior Lorrie Powell.

On the reserve bench will be Rhonda Kerr, Mary Byrd, Cynthia Schooley, Lori Griffin and Toni Fatheree.

This will be the first year for the girls to play five-player ball and this may pose a problem at first until the girls get used to the change.

Helmers says Wall will probably have the toughest team in the district.

On the other hand, boys coach Tim Terry isn't real sure what to expect from his team, as they only began practicing this week. He does know, however, that he has a very young team. Out of the 25 boys turning out for basketball, 19 are freshmen and sophomores. The varsity team will probably be composed of seniors John Cheatham, David Hill and Kyle McCormick. Completing the team will be juniors Michael Mertz, Randy Morrison, and Don Garlitz.

"We really can't say how well the team will do until we see them play several times. Besides, these boys have not played together as a team before," he added. The boys will be facing Iraan Nov. 28 unless the Iraan boys will be playing in a bi-district football game.

The First Thanksgiving

Two Colonial settlers meet face to face with a "real live Indian" after first landing on what is now the United States of America. Little did they know that the little settlement they began would become one of the largest nations on earth.

If you didn't know better, you'd think this was the real thing. However, the pioneers on the left are portrayed by Stan Meador and Ginger Sterling and the Indian is portrayed by Craig Gutierrez. All were part of a Thanksgiving program at school Tuesday.

Placing sixth in junior chapter conducting were Brad Thomas, Shane Wells, Whit Paxton, Eddie Harris, Kirk Griffin, Dan Ray, Laurence Brame, Matthew Nixon, John Sparks and Nicky Dahlbery. Lorie Griffin, Brad Thomas, Kirk Griffin and John Sparks placed fourth in the FFA Quiz.

In senior farm skills, Marion Bosquez, Curtis Griffin, Franck Boulmer placed fifth. Their topic was electric motors.

The chapter will host the Concho chapter banquet at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 4 in the Memorial Building. Paul McWhorter, district president, will preside. District awards will be given, and the district queen will be chosen.

'78 Football Season Ends With Sad Note For Eagles

The Eldorado Eagles finished their 1978 football season on a sad note last Friday in Big Lake as they fell to the Reagan County Owls 44-6.

The Owls jumped out to a 6-0 lead with 8:39 left in the first quarter when Kent Burleson, who rushed for more than a thousand yards this season for the Owls, scored on a two yard plunge. The PAT was no good.

The Owls got their second touchdown with quarterback Mickey Owens scoring from the two yard line with 10:36 left in the second quarter and the PAT was good to give the Owls a 13-0 lead.

With only 2:53 left in the half the fleet-footed Burleson broke for a 29 yard TD and the Owls added a two point conversion to pad the lead to 21-0.

Eldorado fumbled the pigskin to the Owls on their second down of the ensuing kickoff, but Keith McCormack intercepted an Owl pass on their first down possession at the Eagle 40 yard line.

The Eagles lost 10 yards on their next two plays and 20 on a third. A pass was intended for end Mike Griffith, where a definite pass interference should have been called on Owl defender Donnie Moore as he knocked Griffin from his feet then waited for the ball at the 46 yard line, where he caught the pigskin and returned it for another six points for the Owls with 1:11 left in the first half. The PAT was good and the Owls went to the dressing room at halftime with a comfortable 28-0 lead.

Owens returned a punt 35 yards with 2:18 left in the third quarter and the PAT was added to up the Reagan County lead to 36-0.

Eldorado got on the scoreboard with 2:03 left in the third quarter when senior Sam Whitten flashed his speed and ability on a crowd pleasing 71 yard run. The hard working Whitten popped through the Owl line and broke two tackles in the secondary and outran the others to the end zone to give the Eagles their only

Nursing Home News

The first part of this column is being written on Sunday afternoon, for fear there may not be time to write it all on Monday morning.

This is a dark, dreary Sunday, which is the last Sunday before Thanksgiving. Next spring should be a good one for farmers and ranchmen with a good crop of weeds to make good grazing and moisture in the ground for the early planting.

Yours truly is scheduled to have toe surgery next Tuesday morning and I enter the hospital here tomorrow, Monday afternoon. I am so thankful that it can be done here in our own hospital instead of having to be in a hospital in San Angelo. This will be the third time in the last year that I have had toe surgery. I will be in there one night and possibly two, but if I had to be in a San Angelo hospital it would be six or seven days.

Our own Winnie Jackson is in the hospital here. We are so sorry she is sick and we hope and pray that she will soon be greatly improved.

The First Presbyterian Church conducted the service here last Sunday. This afternoon the Antioch Baptist Church will conduct the service here. Their pastor is Bro. Billy Daniels. Next Sunday the Primitive Baptist Church will have charge of the service. A good number of members of the Antioch Church came for the service and we heard an excellent gospel sermon.

One day last week, T.J. Bailey of Ozona visited yours truly and I enjoyed it very much. He is always so jolly and interesting to talk with. He lived in Eldorado quite a number of years when he was young. Then a number of years ago he and Miss Jewell Roach, Ambrose Roach's daughter, married. While E.A. and I had a general merchandise store here in Eldorado, he would come in to make a purchase, and as soon as he got inside he would say, as loud as he could, "Miss LaVita, do you have anything, or something, under the counter?" Of course that would embarrass me to death, because there usually were several customers in the store and sometimes some of them didn't know T.J. like we did, and they didn't know what he was talking about, or that he was just teasing me.

Col. Roosa Visits Eldorado

The second annual Air Force Ball was held in San Angelo Saturday night with guest speakers Tom Loeffler and retired Air Force Col. Stuart Roosa.

Former astronaut Col. Roosa and his wife, Joan, spent the week end with retired Col. and Mrs. John Nikolauk in Eldorado.

Saturday night the couples travelled to San Angelo for the ball. Roosa rarely speaks publicly now, however, he made an exception Saturday because of friends in San Angelo and "it's Air Force."

Roosa was a command module pilot of the nine-day Apollo 14 space flight to the moon in January 1971. After retiring from the Air Force in 1976 he spent a year in Greece with the U.S. Industries before returning to Texas where he is now affiliated with a commercial real estate development firm in Austin.

In his first public appearance since his election, Congressman-elect Tom Loeffler stated, "What we all cherish is freedom, but we cannot have our freedom if we are not the strongest nation on earth."

For The Record

In a story in last week's Leader, the newspaper reported that the Hospital Auxiliary had purchased a life-pack monitor for Schleicher County Medical Center.

However, the auxiliary did not purchase the monitor; it only donated $750 toward the purchase of the machine.

The Leader apologizes for the mistake and regrets any embarrassment it may have caused.

Another error was also made in last week's Leader, which reported that Mr. and Mrs. James Williams appeared before the commissioners court on behalf of the Square Dance Club. However, Mrs. Williams did not appear before the court.

CULL CATTLE HERDS

Although the cattle market is strong at the present time, it's wise to "clean up" herds by culling cows and giving more attention to a controlled breeding program by culling late calving cows.

There's no need to put expensive winter feed into unproductive cows. Culling the cow herd now will also help you plan on hay and feed supplies for the winter months.

Also, pregnancy testing cows this fall may be a more profitable management tool than ever before.

Since it's tough for a cow to produce a calf large enough to pay her feed bill, we know an open cow is surely losing money. In addition, cows calving during the summer months wean calves 30 to 90 pounds lighter than their herd mated which calve at other times. For this reason it's advisable to cull cows which will calve late next year and buy a replacement which will calve early.

Whoever does the pregnancy diagnosis (usually your veterinarian) will be able to estimate the calving date on each animal and make it easy to identify next year's late calving cows. Your definition of a late calving cow should change every year until your calving season has been reduced to 60 days preferably, and certainly no longer than 90 days.

Teele Funeral Held Nov. 10

Funeral services for James Grover Teele, brother of an Eldorado resident, were held Nov. 10 at Millersview.

Mr. Teele was born May 1, 1898 in Bedise, Ala., and was a resident of Mertzton for about 20 years. He had previously lived at stiles.

He is survived by a brother, Oliver Teele of Eldorado; a niece, Mrs. Rata Jo Stephens of Fort Worth, two great-nieces and one great-nephew.

Kerbow Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Venison Quality Depends On Process Of Handling

Deer hunting provides many hours of outdoor recreation for Texas sportsmen each year. Besides providing recreation, deer harvested also yield a huge resource in terms of table fare — venison.

The potential yield runs in the neighborhood of 11 million pounds of boneless deer meat annually, points out Dr. Milo Shult, area wildlife specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Quality of venison is not determined solely by the culinary talents of the homemaker, Shult emphasizes. "The entire process of handling the carcass from field to table can add or detract from the desirability of the final product. The hunter plays an important role in determining whether a deer steak is tender and tasty or tough and bad-flavored," says Shult.

In January of 1976, a group of specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service conducted a result demonstration emphasizing the effects of handling on deer meat quality. Thirty-six deer were collected on a permit obtained from the Texas

Parks and Wildlife Department. These deer were treated in several ways with each group of six deer receiving the same treatment.

"Since the hunter cannot control all factors which affect deer meat quality — for example, age of the animal harvested and the like — the treatments were designed to look at only those things which the hunter can control," notes Shult.

Variables considered in the result demonstration were these:

1. Sex — whether or not a difference exists between male and female animals with respect to meat quality.

2. Delayed skinning — if an animal is not skinned for 12 to 16 hours after harvest.

3. Delayed field dressing — if an animal is not found right away, can delayed field dressing cause decreased quality in the meat? These animals were not field dressed for four to 11 hours after harvest.

4. Stress — will shot placement which causes immediate death provide higher quality venison than one in which the animal runs off before dying?

5. Aging — does aging a carcass in a locker for one week enhance the flavor?

Of the tests run on the carcasses, one of the most interesting was the taste panel test. A panel, consisting of five to eight people, was trained to evaluate meat quality, then given samples of venison from the various treatment groups.

"Only ham and backstrap muscles were used for testing, and each sample was cooked to uniform internal temperature. At no time did panel members know what sample or samples they were evaluation. The panel rated each sample on the basis of flavor intensity, flavor desirability, juiciness, tenderness and overall satisfaction," Shult points out.

Based on evaluations by the panel, the following general recommendations can be made for Texas conditions:

1. Whenever a choice is available, select a female animal for less flavor intensity (gaminess). This does not mean that male animals provide undesirable meat, but rather that most consumers may prefer the less intense flavor of the female.

2. Whenever possible, place the shot in the neck or head to insure a clean, rapid kill. This prevents post-shot stress and also reduces tissue damage considerably.

3. Field dress the animal as soon as possible. If contents of the intestine or paunch have been spilled, the carcass should be rinsed with water. A publication, L-634 entitled "Field Dressing Big Game," is available from any county Extension office and provides more information.

4. If weather permits, leaving the skin on the carcass will help conserve moisture. However, a little common sense dictates that carcasses should be skinned and covered with a fly proof bag in hot weather if a cooler is not accessible. Also, a male in the rut may have a strong urine odor on the hind legs and probably should be skinned prior to storage.

5. If the family prefers a somewhat more intense flavor which is similar to aged beef, the carcass may be hung in a locker for about a week before final processing. Again, common sense dictates storage in a clean locker which eliminates contamination of odors from poorly handled carcasses.

"These recommendations are not the only way to handle carcasses," Shult emphasizes. "For the hunter who has a preferred method which differs somewhat from these recommendations but whose family is satisfied with the venison brought home, change is unnecessary."

"If a hunter has no experience in handling deer carcasses or has had a bad experience with deer meat, these suggestions may help increase the use of the deer resource."

Further suggestions on care and cooking of venison can be found in the publication MP-1333, "Big Game Cooking Care," also available from any county Extension office.

Families Can Buy Tires With Tax Relief Money

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Thursday said tax relief on utility bills in the next three years will save the average Texas family enough money to pay for a new set of tires for a typical compact car.

Bullock said a study, which was featured in the October issue of "Fiscal Notes," a monthly financial report published by the Comptroller's Office, showed ed the average family of four in Texas will save $130.84 during the next three years because residential utility bills are now exempt from the state's four percent sales tax.

The exemption, enacted by a special session of the 65th Legislature this past summer, became effective on October 1, 1978.

State loss of revenue from the utility tax exemption for the same three-year period is estimated to be $451 million, according to the study.

The study also showed that Texans may also enjoy an additional $295.2 million in homeowner property tax relief and as much as $250 million in agricultural tax relief if a proposed constitutional amendment is adopted on November 7.

The financial report also showed that the number of Texas state employees declined last year relative to the state's population.

The report also said state revenues for the 1978 fiscal year through July were $7.3 billion, up thirteen percent over the same period last year.

State expenditure for that same period totaled, $7.2 billion, up 19 percent from last year.

Inspect Home Before Winter

Check for home maintenance problems before winter sets in, Pat Seaman, a housing and home furnishings specialist, recommends.

Mrs. Seaman is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

She offers this checklist to follow in locating minor maintenance problems:

- Roof — Locate damaged or missing shingles. Check for loose flashing.
- Chimney — check mortar, look for damper creosote build-up on interior, and inspect flashing between chimney and roof.
- Gutters and downspout — locate loose fasteners and joints, and look for debris.
- Siding — locate loose boards and rotted areas, and inspect paint.
- Windows — check putty, caulking, weatherstripping and casement operators.
- Doors — examine caulking, weatherstripping and casement operators.
- Doors — examine caulking, weatherstripping, hardware and finish.
- Driveway — look for cracks.
- Foundation — check for cracks and termite tunnels, and inspect flashing.

Clements Preparing For Executive's Office

AUSTIN — New Governor-elect Bill Clements this week began working on plans for taking over the state chief executive's office in January. Clements upset Democrat John Hill in the general election for the most monumental Republican gain of the century at the statehouse level.

Republican U.S. Sen. John Tower also edged back for another term.

Tower and GOP State Chairman Ray Barnhart of Houston hailed the Clements victory as the harbinger of a two-party Texas.

"It's now respectable to be a Republican in Texas," commented Barnhart. "More Republicans will be elected next year—especially at the courthouse level."

But while the GOP captured one prize it hadn't been expected to get, its gains were modest in congressional places and the state legislature, and Jim Baker lost his bid for the attorney general's office.

Tom Loeffler, young Kerrville rancher-attorney, defeated Democrat Nelson Wolff of San Antonio in the 21st congressional district.

Dr. Ron Paul, who once held the 22nd district seat briefly, ousted Democratic incumbent Bob Gammage of Houston.

The GOP's legislative gain totaled only three seats. Actually there are four new faces among the Republican House delegation in Austin, but a new GOP representative, Dr. S.L. Abbott of El Paso, lost to a Democrat.

Judges Named

About the time U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen recommended lifetime appointment of 10 Texans to federal courts, Gov. Dolph Briscoe named nine to Texas state appellate courts.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Briscoe appointed Henry Doyle of Houston, James Warren of Huntsville and Jim Wallace of Houston to the First Court of Civil Appeals; Spencer Carver, Charles Storey and Joe Bailey Humphreys of Dallas to the Fifth Court of Civil Appeals; and George Miller, Paul Pressler and Felix Salazar Jr. of Houston to the 14th Court of Civil Appeals.

Nominated by Bentsen for the new federal judgeships were Barefoot Sanders of Dallas, Gabrielle McDonald of Houston, Mary Lou Robinson of Amarillo, James De-Anda of McAllen, George Kazen of Laredo, George Ciro of Houston, Norman Black of Houston, Robert Parker of Longview, David Belew of Fort Worth and Ted Butler of San Antonio.

The nominations add up to the largest number of federal judgeships ever picked at a single time in Texas history. An omnibus court bill signed last month created 117 new federal district benches over the country.

Guards Move On

There is a 60 per cent turnover among Texas prison guards, in part because of low salaries and lack of promotion opportunities, Texas Research League said in a new study.

The League suggested better pay, improved training and a chance at supervisory jobs might curb the exodus.

Texas has 11 inmates per guard in its prisons, while the national average is five-to-one. During night shifts, a single guard may be watching several hundred prisoners.

Most correctional officers in prison units are paid about $848, and have little chance of advancing to supervisory ranks.

Courts Speak

The State Supreme Court held the attorney general cannot file suit to knock out state agency decisions which they view as illegal.

The high court affirmed a state law which requires filing of paternity suits before an illegitimate child is a year old.

It found no reversible error in a lower court award of $12,000 in accidental death insurance compensation to the widow of a San Antonio man who was shot to death.

The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed a probation revocation order of a Hurst man where the judge was a temporary official who had not taken the oath of office.

The same court reversed murder convictions in Palo Pinto and Harris County cases.

The Third Court of Civil

Program On America Is Given During Luncheon

A program on "remembering America" was presented during a Thanksgiving luncheon for the Eldorado Woman's Club Nov. 1. Mrs. Lewis Stockton lead the program and was aided by Mrs. R.D. Johnson, Mrs. W.A. Van Dusen, Mrs. Jack Griffin, Mrs. L.G. Schooley, Mrs. Carrol White, Mrs. James Williams, Mrs. S.D. Harper, Mrs. JaneDoremier, Mrs. Arch Mittel and Mrs. Edwin Jackson.

In addition to the program, Mrs. Stockton gave a report on her recent trip to Washington, D.C. Mrs. Evelyn Stigler reported on a trip to New England and Mrs. S.D. Harper reported on a trip to Hawaii.

Mrs. Van Dusen gave a report on public affairs in which she warned women about safety in the home and on the street.

Mrs. T.J. Bailey reported on the needs for equipment to furnish apartments near M.D. Anderson Hospital in Houston. Club women all over Texas have been asked for donations to help. Club members voted to donate $15 for the cause.

Mrs. L.G. Schooley gave a report on the speech contest on free enterprise and economy and reported that several local students were interested in participating. The reports will be made in February.

Mrs. Jackson reported that "Shorn Lamb" by Huey Call had been sent to the Texas Federation Building in Austin to help build the federation library.

There were 23 members and six guests at the luncheon. Guests were Barbara Nicholson, Bea McCormick, Becky Sterling, Sharon Mittel, Fonnle O'Harrow and Mary Swan.

Appeals found the state not immune to prosecution in a case where a Runnels County motorist collided with a highway patrol car which pulled out to chase a speeder without turning on red lights or siren.

The Court of Criminal Appeals held policemen are not required to quote people they arrest exactly when reducing their voluntary oral confessions to writing. The decision upheld the 10-year sentence of a Jefferson County man in the death of his three-month-old son.

Car Theft Increasing

Auto theft is on the rise, and law enforcement officers this week announced a major statewide effort to combat it.

The Department of Public Safety, Governor's Criminal Justice Division and Texas Crime Prevention Institute announced the effort, together with the National Automobile Theft Bureau and several insurance company representatives. They noted there is an auto theft in the state every 10 and a half minutes.

Short Snorts

A legislative study committee concluded pension funds of firemen and policemen in some of the state's major cities are in bad shape.

A House sub-committee rapped the board which regulates private detectives for snooping on private citizens. Texas Railroad Commission refused to withdraw its order to stop dumping of oil-field wastes into Whalen Lake near Andrews.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe hinted he may try for a political comeback.

Speculation is rampant on who will take over leadership of the Texas Democratic party in the wake of Republican Bill Clements' victory over John Hill in the November 7 governor's race. (Recounts of ballots were still under way in many counties this week).

'View Point'

By SUNSHINE
 How do you feel about the Hill-Krueger recount in the recent election?
 Rena Gaines, activities director — I don't feel it was close enough to warrant a recount.

Mary Bradford, clerk — I think it was a good thing. It keeps them on their toes.

Bill Sublett, retired military — I think if they're not sure, it's a good thing. They need some sort of guideline.

Skip Hudson, welder — I don't have any opinion on this.

Lorraine Parker, owner Sunshine's, Christoval — I feel it will help keep honest election judges, knowing this can and will happen.

Center Plans Game Night

An exercise class is being held at the center and is being instructed by Mrs. Pat Wyatt. Presently there are about 20 persons attending.

The next meeting of the Community Improvement Group will be December 20. All young people are encouraged to attend and discuss what they would like to use the center for.
