Leader Says 'Thanks'

By TERRY NEILL

Thanksgiving is still two weeks away, but the staff of the Schleicher County Leader would like to say "thanks" to all of those who have helped make this newspaper a tremendous success.

The people of Eldorado and Schleicher County have been fantastic in their acceptance of our new product, and encouraging words continue to come in each week.

Since June 1, when the Leader made its appearance, we have picked up an average of 15 new subscriptions per month, until the paper now reaches almost 900 homes in the county. According to the national average of people per paper, that means we are reaching over 3,000 local residents.

It is our belief, that it is the job of any community newspaper to be a leader, and that is witnessed by the name of our product. The Leader plans to be just that — a leader for the good.

To grow and prosper, which a community must do in this day and age, merely to survive, a county must have a good bank, good schools, good churches and a good newspaper.

It is our firm belief that Schleicher County has all of these important ingredients working for it in 1978. We are proud to be a part of this growing and going community, and hope that we can be of service to each and every resident.

The Schleicher County Leader is the only newspaper in Schleicher County. The only newspaper that puts Eldorado and Schleicher County people first, and the only newspaper that has any stake in this county's future.

We have been impressed with our welcome, and would like to take this opportunity to tell you about it. We appreciate our readers, and our advertisers, both in and out of the county.

Advertising pays the bills, and without the help of our Eldorado, Sonora, San Angelo and Christoval merchants, this paper could not exist. We appreciate their patronage, and with their continued support we can continue to work to improve the Schleicher County Leader.

At the Leader, we try hard to present our readers with a modern, attractive product, which is easy to read, contains lots of news, and therefore benefits our advertisers. From the results which our ads have been attaining, we know that we are succeeding.

Any newspaper should be published for its community, and is usually only as good as its community. We are happy to be publishing a good newspaper in a top notch community. The Schleicher County Leader belongs to you all.

Again, our thanks. Schleicher County and its people are number one with us!

Krueger, Clements, Loeffler Favored Locally Schleicher County Voters Play Follow The Leader With Votes

Schleicher County voters seemed to be playing follow the leader on election day this year as they followed the trend for the rest of the district and the state.

The closest race in the county was that for U.S. senator. Local voters favored Democrat Bob Krueger over Republican John Tower, 397-380 votes. At press time, it was still uncertain which of the candidates was the statewide winner.

Local voters followed the rest of the 21st district as they gave Republican Tom Loeffler 451 votes compared to Nelson Wolff's 312 votes. Loeffler was one of only a few Republicans to be elected to the U.S. Congress.

In the Texas governor's race, Schleicher voters also followed the crowd as they favored Bill Clements over John Hill, with 489 votes to 290 votes.

Bill Hobby outraced Gaylord Marshall in the election here for lieutenant governor, 490 to 247 votes. Meanwhile, Mark White took command of the attorney general race to win over Jim Baker. Locally, voters again followed the leader and favored White, 419 to 336.

In local races, unopposed Democratic candidates received the following votes: Johnny Griffin, county judge, 666; Helen Blakeway, county and district clerk, 669; A.G. "Mack" McCormack, county treasurer, 682; F.M. "Pancho" Bradley, 589 and Holvey Enochs, commissioner of precinct 2, 143. Incumbent David Meador kept his seat on the county court by a landslide victory over write-in candidate De Lux, 193 to 58 votes.

Back to statewide races, local voters gave the following votes to unopposed Democrats: Bob Bullock, comptroller of public accounts, 577; Warren G. Harding, state treasurer, 599; Bob Armstrong, commissioner of general land office, 582; Reagan Brown, commissioner of agriculture, 576; Mack Wallace, railroad commissioner, 584; Pete Snelson, state senator, 608; Jim Nugent, state representative, 600 and John Phillips, justice of the court of civil appeals, 572.

Elected to the justice system were Joe R. Greehill, chief justice of the supreme court, 580 local votes; Franklin Spears, associate justice, supreme court, 579; Sam D. Johnson, associate justice, supreme court, 574; Robert Campbell, associate justice, supreme court, 575; Wendell A. Odom, judge, court of criminal appeals, 571; Sam Houston Clinton, judge, court of criminal appeals, 574 and W.C. Bill Davis, judge court of criminal appeals, 571.

In the race for railroad commissioner, 534 voters favored John Poernor over Jim Lacy who received 190 local votes.

Emergency Service Is Doing Well

The Schleicher County Emergency Service is alive and well, according to service officials. The service is still receiving memorials for Phil Olson who was instrumental in founding the voluntary ambulance service in 1971. In fact, the service now has enough funds to cover the large insurance premium that is due in January.

The service is still accepting donations so that it can provide upkeep for the ambulance and the equipment in it.

The service is totally voluntary and is self-sufficient. The ambulance was bought by the county, school and city each paying one-third of the cost. However, none of these groups contributes anything to the service now.

The service is self-sustaining in that the charges cover operation expenses.

Hospital Auxiliary Planning For Hospital's Anniversary

Schleicher County Medical Center, will be ten years old in February and already plans are being made for the anniversary.

The hospital auxiliary is planning a fund raising drive which will begin this week and an open house to observe the anniversary.

Purpose of the fund raising drive is to buy new equipment to either update or replace the existing equipment. Some of the machines needed include a blood gas machine, a life pack read out monitor and a fetal monitor.

In previous years, many patients had to be referred to hospitals in larger towns because this hospital did not have the necessary equipment for certain kinds of treatment.

But with these machines and others, local patients can be treated here rather than somewhere else. This will cut costs for the patient and his family.

Estimated costs for the machines mentioned is $11,550. Donation boxes will be placed around the city in various businesses for donations. The auxiliary is also planning bake sales, a bikeathon and possibly a community play, among other activities.

The drive will be completed on Feb. 17, 1979 and the open house will be Feb. 18. Persons wishing to donate to the cause may donate now by contacting any member of the auxiliary or Lillian Kroeger at the hospital.

Revolver

By TERRY NEILL

Perhaps the best way to start a new column is to explain its title. "Revolver" is a name tag that has been with this columnist for a long time — ever since I first sat down at a typewriter and attempted to make the boss happy by turning out a column.

Revolver is a column that will cover many subjects, "revolving" on a regular basis from one to the other, and hopefully providing our readers with some chuckles and maybe even a serious thought or two from time to time.

I like to keep the column light, usually, because it seems to me that most people have enough serious news to worry them for a lifetime, and need little from this corner.

One of my pet peeves has always been the worsening condition of our justice system — both locally and on a state and national level. Things have changed since the day when lawbreakers were punished in an attempt to make breaking the law less attractive.

In today's society the lawbreaker has got more rights than the law-abiding citizen — a fact that makes most of us fighting mad.

I pulled the following from Marcus McCormick's column in the Gaines County News last week. Entitled, "Little Red Riding Hood Brought Up To Date", the article points out many of the problems facing this country today.

Once upon a time, in a far-away country, there lived a little girl called Red Riding Hood. One day her mother asked her to take a basket of fruit to her grandmother who had been ill and lived alone in a cottage in the forest.

It happened that a wolf was lurking in the bushes and overheard the conversation. He decided to take a short cut to the grandmother's house and get the goodies for himself. The wolf killed the grandmother, then dressed in her nightgown and jumped into bed to await the little girl.

When she arrived, he made several nasty suggestions and then tried to grab her. But by this time the child was very frightened and ran screaming from the cottage.

A woodcutter, working nearby, heard her cries and rushed to the rescue. He killed the wolf with his ax, thereby saving Red Riding Hood's life. All the townspeople hurried to the scene and proclaimed the woodcutter a hero.

But at the inquest, several facts emerged:

(1) The wolf had never been advised of his rights.

(2) The woodcutter had made no warning swings before striking the fatal blow.

Court Facing Decision On Road Work Policy

A big decision will be facing Schleicher County commissioners Monday as they try to decide whether or not to accept an easement for a privately owned road and make it into a public county road.

The commissioners court is under an injunction filed at the first of this year prohibiting county-owned equipment and employees to do road work on private property.

Several roads in the county have been designated as public county roads and can therefore be maintained by the county. However, there are many roads that remain owned by private individuals and cannot be maintained by the county.

To make work on the private roads legal, landowners can give an easement to the county and give up the private road designation. The only stipulations are that the roads cannot be obstructed by anything except a cattle guard and the county has to accept the easement.

A local rancher, Lawrence Steen, has presented an easement to the court for a stretch of road on his land which is a little over two miles long. It is the first easement to be presented to the court since the injunction was filed.

During a long discussion during the last commissioners court meeting, commissioners expressed the feeling that if they accepted one easement, they would have to accept all easements presented to them.

It was the policy in past years for the county to maintain roads to a man's house if he lived on the property or to the nearest cattle chute if he did not live there. Many ranchers donated their own caliche in exchange for work done on their private roads.

However, commissioners have said that in future years, caliche will be hard to find and that most ranchers will not donate it anymore, but will instead begin charging the county for it.

They also noted that the county equipment is not in good condition and will have to be replaced in the next few years.

Therefore, if they were to accept many easements from private landowners, they may create problems because they will not have the caliche or the machinery to do the work.

County judge Bob McWhorter noted, "It takes between $600-700 to open the gates at the county barn every day. That goes for salaries, gas and many other expenses incurred for road work."

If the easements are accepted, the county will be able to legally maintain these roads. The roads will become public and anyone can travel

Deer In Good Shape As Hunting Season Nears

Deer season is quickly approaching and hunters in this county and out are getting ready for one of the most active times of the year.

Hunters are likely to have good luck this year, according to game warden Mike Porter. Porter reports that deer are "just about like last year. There are plenty; we are not going to run out."

He said the count is about the same as last year, with more deer in the east end of the county but with many deer in other places as well.

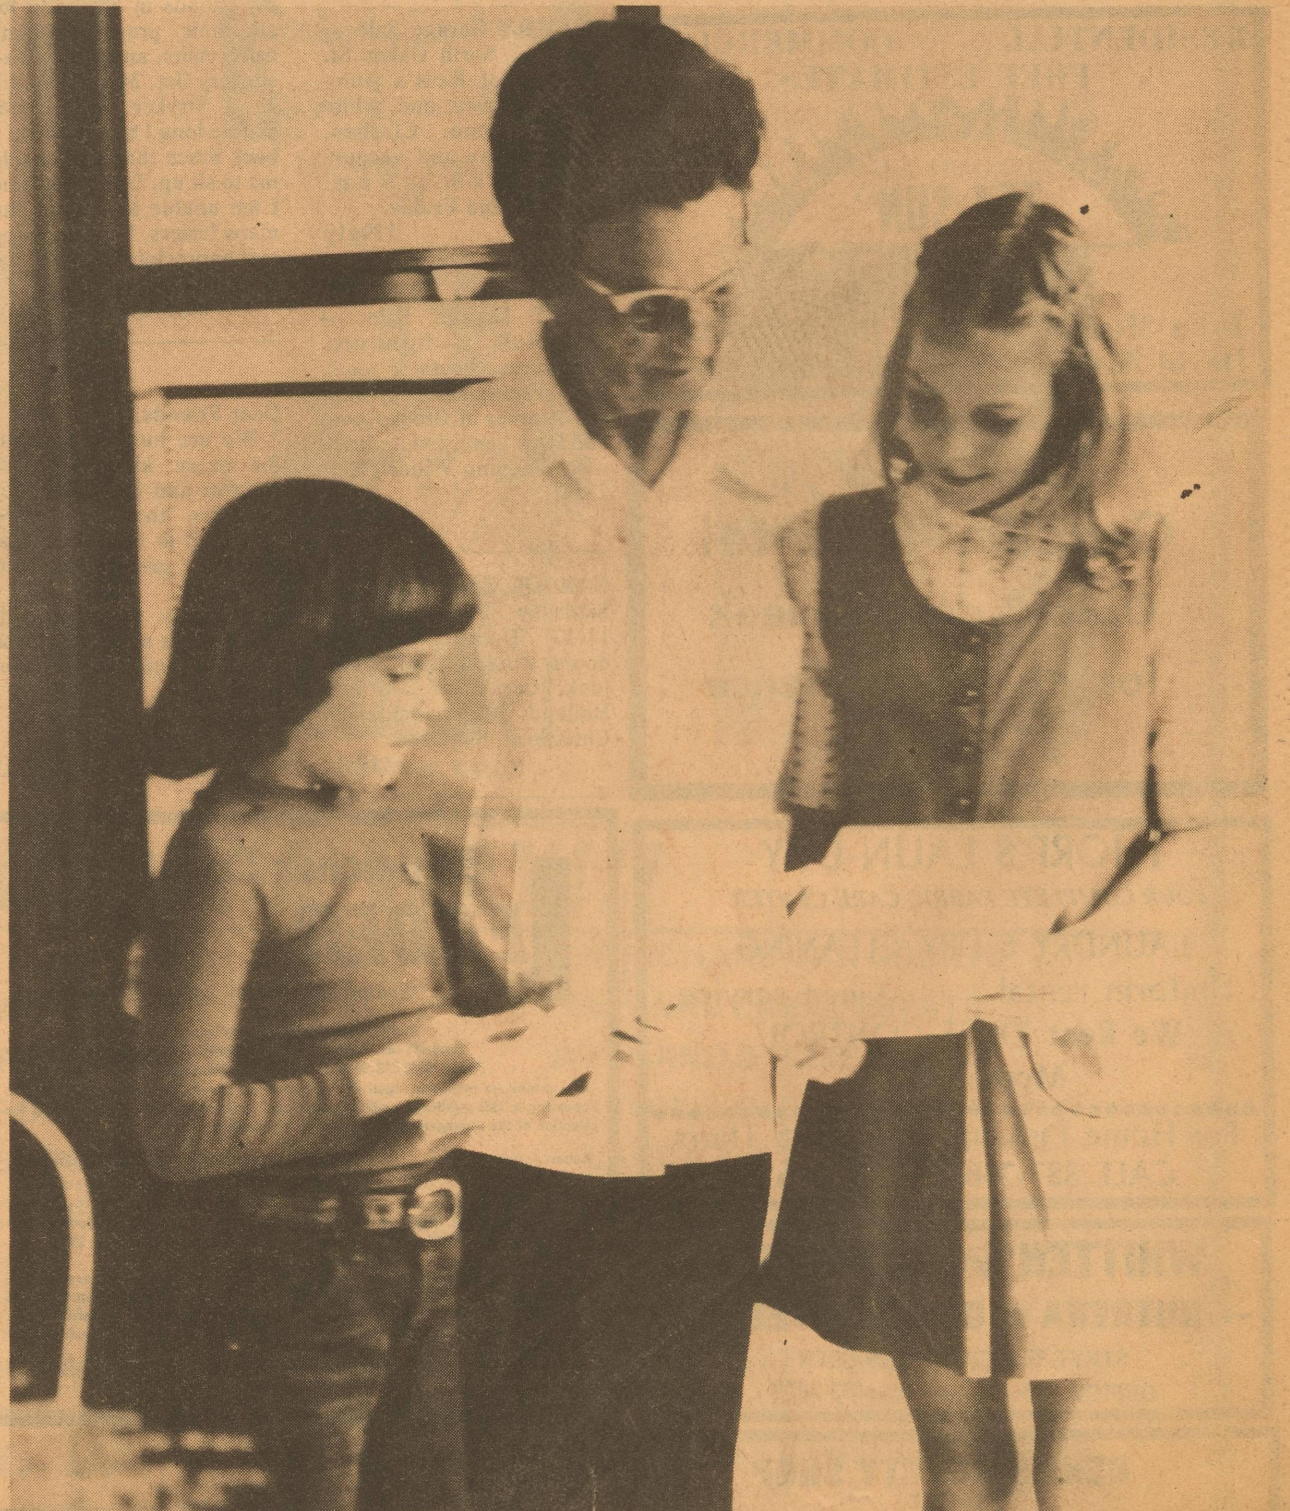

"They are in excellent condition," he says, adding, "I have seen some real big racks, in fact, they are better than usual. This is because good rains fell at the right time to give the deer good nutrition for growing antlers."

As far as turkeys are concerned, there are plenty, although not as many as last year. This is because the rains were not right to hatch the eggs, says Porter. The same conditions held true for quail.

Antlerless deer permits will be issued to qualified Schleicher County landowners on Tuesday at the Memorial Building 8 a.m. to noon and 1-5 p.m.

To qualify for at least one permit, a landowner must own or control acreage at least equal to the permit issuance rate within the compartment in which his property is located. Eligibility for each additional permit will be based on the full issuance rate. Joining tracts of land may be combined to attain sufficient acreage to qualify for permits; however, one of the landowners involved must be designated as agent for the combined acreage.

Antlerless deer permits will be issued to bona fide landowners or their authorized agents only after the owner or agent has applied in writing for the permits during the scheduled day of issuance. Certification of the Antlerless Deer Permit Receipt shall constitute written application and proof of ownership or authority to receive the permits.

who are coming out enmasse to sell that good American tradition, Girl Scout cookies. Proceeds from the sales go back into the county to benefit girls.

(3) The Civil Liberties Union stressed the point that, although the act of eating Grandma may have been in bad taste, the wolf was only "doing his thing" and thus didn't deserve the death penalty.

(4) The SDS contended that the killing of the grandmother should be considered self-defense since she was over 30 and therefore couldn't be taken seriously because the wolf was trying to make love, not war.

On the basis of these considerations, it was decided there was no valid basis for charges against the wolf. Moreover, the woodcutter was indicted for unaggravated assault with a deadly weapon.

Several nights later the woodcutter's cottage was burned to the ground.

One year from the date of "The Incident at Grandma's" her cottage was made a shrine for the wolf who had bled and died there. All of the village officials spoke at the dedication, but it was Ted Riding Hood who gave the most touching tribute.

She said that, while she had been selfishly grateful for the woodcutter's intervention, she realized in retrospect that he had over-reacted. As she knelt and placed a wreath of honor on the grave of the brave wolf, there wasn't a dry eye in the whole forest.

or park on them even if they run up to someone's front porch.

On the other hand, if the easements are not accepted, the burden of repairing the roads will fall on the shoulders of the landowner himself. According to Britt Poyner of Poyner Construction Company, this is an expensive chore. Cost for a dump truck is $15 an hour with a driver and $24 an hour for a backhoe with an operator. One yard of caliche is one dollar and five yards fills up a dump truck.

He estimated that it would take a full day's work, providing you worked ten hours a day, to put a thin layer of caliche on one mile of road.

Commissioners feel that what ever direction they take on this particular easement will be a policy decision for road maintenance for many years.

be given and a short educational program on the nutritional needs of adults will be presented. Educational programs presented by the Texas Agricultural Extension service are open to all persons regardless of race, color, creed or socio-economic level.

City Council Meets Briefly

Eldorado city council members met Tuesday night for a brief meeting in which they discussed three different items.

Meeting with the group were Fred Teagarden and Myrl Sudduth who gave the council some information on the catholic protection of gas lines. The council discussed the protection on gas lines running from City Service at the Page Field east of town to the city but took no action. Sudduth and Teagarden are corresponding between the city officials and the railroad commission concerning the protection process.

The council decided to resubmit bids for pickup trucks. The bids will be for two three-quarter ton pickups and two one ton pickups.

The council then went into executive session to discuss appointing a city secretary but no action was taken.

Sorority Holds Eagle Band Good Carnival

The annual halloween carnival sponsored by the Xi Xi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority here was termed a success.

Sorority members reported more booths at the carnival and more intake than in previous years. There were four booths sponsored by the sorority and 12 booths sponsored by other organizations.

In the costume contest, Gabe Schooley, five, won first for the most original costume in the 0-6 year age bracket. In that same category, Marty Davis, two, was named the cutest, and Danial Martinez, four, was named scariest.

In the 6-12 year age group, the most original prize went to Prissy Rodriguez, ten. Michelle Marshall, seven, was named the cutest, and Jeffrey Hausenfluck, nine, was the scariest.

All costume winners were given cash prizes. The carnival is the largest money making project sponsored by the sorority each year.

Eagle Band Does It Again

Wayne "Mr. Mack" McDonald, and his "goin' band from Eagle Land" have done it again. They received a one rating in the marching contest held in Brady Saturday.

This is McDonald's 28th one rating for a band under his direction. Twelve of these were earned by the Eldorado band during the 13 years he has been directing the band.

Although McDonald says he wasn't sure the band would get a one rating before the contest "they really did their best that day."

There are 78 members of the high school band.

Golf Club Slates Bingo

The Ladies of the Road Runners Club met in Eldorado Oct. 17. Twenty-three ladies played in the select ball play. Later they had lunch at Jerroll's Restaurant.

Winning first place after a play off was the team of Rowaldt, Finkle and Barrow. Coming in second was the team of Archer, Doyle, West and Huling.

Taking third place was Kinser, Jacot, H. Taylor and McMillian. Our next Round Robin Road Runners Play Day will be at Sonora on Nov. 14.

All the yearly tournaments are over and it's rather quiet around the golf course.

Bingo at the club house will be held Nov. 15 at 7 p.m. The public is always invited so for a nights fun, come out and bring the family and friends.

Eddie Kinser was the toast for the ladies auxiliary monthly special play-off. Winning first place with the most putts on 18 holes was Mary Waldron. Gladys Mittel placed second. Eight ladies were present.

Our next Round Robin Road Runners Play Day will be at Sonora on Nov. 14.

All the yearly tournaments are over and it's rather quiet around the golf course.

LATIN TO ME — The Rev. Mark Woodruff, left, shows Lawrence Brame and his mother, Holly Brame, a Latin altar missal. On the table in front of them are the brocade vestments and a gold chalice used by priests here possibly in the 1920's or 30's. On Mrs. Brame's arm is a maniple which priests wore on their arms during Mass. All are on display at the museum now.

Catholic Church Aids Museum

"Peace is our final good." St. Augustine

The Schleicher County Museum is growing by leaps and bounds. And thanks to the Rev. Mark Woodruff, it received another large donation Monday.

Father Woodruff, pastor of Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church, found a five piece set of garments in the back storage room of the church on a cleaning spree. He also found four altar missals and an old chalice.

Since the items were all outdated, he felt they would make a good contribution to the museum.

The vestments were made in France and donated to the Catholic church here during its mission days. They were possibly used during the late 1920's and early 30's, Father Woodruff believes. He added that they were donated by the Catholic Extension Society.

In almost excellent condition, all five pieces are made of elegant white brocade and trimmed in shiny gold braid. The braid was also used to make a cross on each piece of the set. Although the braid was sewn on by machine, the gold cotton lining was attached by hand.

The priest explained that today, plainer vestments than these are worn during the Mass, making these vestments a rarity.

The largest piece of the set is the chasuble which is a large sleeveless garment that reaches from the priest's chest to the floor. The stole is a long piece of lined material that goes around his neck and is tucked into the chasuble.

The maniple, another long slender piece of lined material, is no longer used today. It was draped over the priest's left arm and used as a handkerchief during the earliest days of the Catholic Church. It later lost its purpose and became only ceremonial. The veil is a square piece of material which is placed over the chalice and the burse was a smaller square piece of material which covered cardboard. It was placed on top of the veil and had a pocket for hand cloths.

The chalice Father Woodruff donated to the museum is not a rarity, he says, because he has seen many of them. They were donated to many churches in this area by the Knights of Columbus. There is no way of telling now which chapter of the KC's donated this particular chalice.

The missile he donated was one of four he found in the storage room and is the prettiest, he thinks. It is red with gold etching on the front and back. It was published in 1931 somewhere in Europe. It is totally in Latin and is also in excellent condition. Such missals were used until the church allowed priests to conduct a Mass in the predominate language of the people in the parish. The priest believes it was used by the Franciscan priests who were at this mission from 1938-1968.

Now placed together in a showcase at the museum, they will make a nice contribution to the quickly growing county museum.

Nursing Home News

Today is election day and I am hoping that every "Blue Blooded" American who is mentally and physically able will exercise their right and obligation by casting a vote today. I am so thankful that we are living in a country where we are allowed to have a part in selecting the ones who are willing to shoulder the many responsibilities that are connected with the various important offices. There are some countries in this big ole world where your life is governed by so called "high-ups", so the people who live there have no rights of their own, but how thankful we should be that our dear country is not like that.

So far as I know most of our residents are about as usual, for which we are thankful. The rain was wonderful and very welcome as it was getting awfully dry. The ranch men and farmers who have large fields planted in small grain are especially glad to receive the rain. Up to two and three quarters inches seems to be the general amount received over most of the county, and it fell so gently and slowly that it had time to soak in the ground as it fell.

Your truly was in San Angelo Monday and it seemed that they received very little rain there. In the past years tho', I have noticed that the gauge at Mathis Field never registers nearly as much moisture as they receive in town or the surrounding area. I can't understand that, but that evidently is just a dry strip of country right where the gauge is located. We had a few visitors last week. Little Debbie Swain of San Angelo who was in Eldorado visiting her Grandmother and Grandfather Swain, came to the nursing home one day to visit the residents in all of the rooms. We are all so glad to see her and to observe how well she is now, after having had a very hard time physically last year. She is such a pretty, sweet little girl and I love her. Her grandmother is one of our dear, sweet nurses here in the home and we all love her so much, as we love all of our nurses because they are all so kind and sweet to all of us.

Gene, Dale and Leslie Eubank of San Antonio and Mrs. Edna Eubank of Roosevelt came to see their mother, or own dear Blanche West, and while they were here they came to the nursing home to visit Lester Garrett, Beulah Harris, Fred Gunstead and other friends in the home.

The West Side Church of Christ conducted the service Sunday afternoon here in the dining room and a large number of the members were present. They sang a number of hymns and we all enjoyed that and the service so very much. I do love to sing hymns. Next Sunday the First Presbyterian Church will conduct the service.

The bingo winners last Wednesday were Beulah Harris, 2; Lester Garrett, 1; Mabel Wilkinson, 1; Juanita Sanchez, 1; Bessie Andrews, 1; Zeral Holland, 1; Frank Reed, 1; Erna Rexroat, 2; Fannie Blaylock, 1. On Friday the winners were Beulah Harris, 2; Delhia Gardener, 1; Erna Rexroat, 1; Fannie Blaylock, 2; Bess Andrews, 1; LaVita Brooks, 2; Frank Reed, 2; Juanita Sanchez, 1 and Zeral Holland, 1.

Between TV and radio I get the morning news, the noon news, the evening news and the late night news. In between, I read the morning paper and the afternoon newspaper. So how come, when someone asks me, "What's new?" I say, "Nothing."

My wife makes $30,000 a year, and I make $20,000 a year. Man, that's what I call incompatibility.

Joiner Tops At Tech

Wally A. Joiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace D. Joiner of Eldorado, ranks among outstanding students in the College of Home Economics at Texas Tech University.

After graduation next May with a major in home education, she plans a career in that field but not necessarily as a teacher.

Joiner holds the position of executive vice president of Vocational Home Economics Teachers Association of Texas, student section. The organization acquaints those majoring in home economics education with their professional field and is involved in proposing legislation in related areas.

She is also a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron, home economics honorary society, Baptist Student Union and President's Hostesses who serve at presidential functions. Her name is also on the Dean's Honor List.

Miss Joiner chose to attend Texas Tech because of her home economics interest and she learned that the college of Home Economics was respected as one of the top in the nation.

She received the Diane Dorsey Scholarship for the 1978-79 academic year. The scholarship is based on extracurricular activities and scholastics.

Honor Renewed For Local Grad

A scholarship from the Society of Exploratory Geophysicists for a local boy has been renewed. Matt Worth Bumgardner, a sophomore at Texas A&M University, received the scholarship last year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Bumgardner of Eldorado.

He was valedictorian of his class and received the 1977 Bausch and Lomb Science Award. He was first in the district University Interscholastic League science competition, was a 4-H Gold Star Winner and named Family Leader of Tomorrow. He was also on the EHS track team for three years.

Ceremony Unites Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Elder will be at home in Eldorado following their marriage Nov. 1 in Mason.

Mrs. Elder is the former Gladys Tinney Killer of Mason.

A reception given in their honor will be Sunday in the Mason National Bank Community Room. It will be hosted by the bank directors and their wives.

Hawks Top Eagles, 37-22

The Eldorado Eagles used the Dallas Cowboys' playbook Friday night, as their own mistakes got them in a hole early in the game against the Wall Hawks, losing 37-22.

The Eagles made a gallant comeback the last quarter but couldn't overcome the deficit.

Wall struck on a 53 yard touchdown run by speedy Danny Herrera with 7:30 left in the first quarter and the PAT was true to give the Hawks a 7-0 lead.

From that point the Eagles mistakes, penalties, fumbles, interceptions and a high snap from center stopped the Eagles scoring chances until late in the second half.

The Hawks picked up a safety with 3:58 left in the first quarter when the snap from center went over punter John Cheatham's head to give Wall a 9-0 lead.

The Hawks scored again on an eight yard pass with 50 seconds left in the first quarter. The PAT was good to pad the Hawks' lead to 16-0.

The Eagles, behind the running of Sam Whitten moved the ball down to the Wall 12 yard line on their first possession in the second quarter, but again was stopped by penalties.

The Eagles defense put the clamps on the Hawks high powered offense at this point, forcing a punt, where the Eagle offense set up on their 39 yard line.

On a third and seven situation the Hawks were guilty of a pass interference call moving the ball to the 26 and a first down for Eldorado.

Three plays later the Eagles were faced with a fourth and 10. Randy Morrison found Keith McCormack in the end zone for a 26 yard touchdown pass with 3:44 left in the first half. The Morrison to McCormack combination worked again for the PAT and the mistake ridden Eagles narrowed the Hawks' lead to 16-8 for halftime intermission.

The Hawks came back for the second half, following their homecoming events, fired up and ready for more grid action. Danny Herrera shook loose from his 22 yard line for 68 yards, carrying down to the Eagle 10, where Micky Nixon stopped the fleet footed halfback.

Two running plays by the Hawks were stopped cold by the Eagles but a 10 yard pass on third down to Johnny Holik put the Hawks on the scoreboard again with 10:34 left on the clock. The PAT was good as the Hawks hiked their lead to 23-8.

Wall scored again with 1:50 left in the third quarter after recovering an Eldorado fumble at the 44 yard line. Herrera got the last yard and Mike Mikulik split the uprights for the PAT and a 30-8 score.

Wall recovered another Eagle fumble early in the fourth stanza at the Eagle 15 and again used the airways to tack on another TD. The pass was to Herrera for the final 14 yards, with 10:14 left to play. The PAT was good to boost the score to 37-8.

David Buitron recovered a Wall fumble at the 49 yard line to set the stage for the Eagle offense.

The Eagles moved the ball to the 20 yard line on the running of Morrison. From the 20, Morrison found Michael Mertz in the corner of the end zone for the six pointer. Morrison then tossed the conversion to Mike Griffith with 4:39 left in the fourth quarter to cut the lead to 37-16.

The Eagles got the ball back quickly after the kickoff when Cheatham recovered a fumble on the 33 yard line.

Morrison passed to Griffith for a 20 yard gain and the ball was moved down to the 12 yard line after a roughing the passer penalty against the Hawks. Morrison sneaked to paydirt from the one yard line five plays later to light up the scoreboard again for the Eagles. The PAT failed and the final score was Wall 37, Eldorado 22.

The Eagles will be at Junction this Friday in a district match-up against the big, physical Eagles of Junction. The contest will start at 7:30 p.m.

Seventh Grade
The seventh grade Eagles took a 12-8 gridiron victory from the Wall Hawks here last Thursday night.

Bill Clark put the Eagles on the scoreboard with 2:36 left in the first quarter when he punched the pigskin over from the one yard line. The PAT was no good.

Sammy Santellano scooted 26 yards with 1:30 left in the half to pad the Eagle lead to 12-0. The PAT failed.

Wall got on the scoreboard with 2:20 left in the third quarter when David Mikulik picked off a lateral and raced 51 yards for Wall's only touchdown. The point after was good to cut the Eagle lead to 12-8.

The young Eagles keep the Wall offense pinned to the turf all through the game to completely dominate the offense.

Eighth Grade
The Wall eighth grade blanked the Eldorado eighth graders here Thursday 16-0.

Carl Bradlock was the big gun for the Hawks as he had touchdown runs of six and 16 yards to lead the Hawk scoring. Wall added a two point conversion after their first TD and with 1:21 left in the first half the defense picked up a safety when Eagle Danny Pena was trapped in the end zone trying to pass.

Junior Varsity
Gus Hinojosa broke two long runs against the Eagles defense to lead the Wall Hawks junior varsity to a 26-8 victory here last Thursday night.

The Eagles scored first in the contest when Brad Thomas reached pay dirt from six yards out, then passed to Rick Griffith for the PAT to give the Eagles and 8-0 lead with 1:40 left in the first quarter of play.

The Hawks came back the second quarter to score with Wes Theirs going across the goal line from the eight yard line. The kick was true but Eldorado still held an 8-7 lead with 6:39 left in the first half.

Theirs put the Hawks ahead with 39 seconds left in the half on a four yard burst. The PAT was good to give the Hawks a half time lead 14-8.

Hinojosa had runs of 21 and 38 yard for the final TD's and the Hawks added another conversion to take the contest 26-8.

The seventh, eighth grade and junior varsity will travel to Junction Thursday for their last games of the season. The seventh grade will play at 5 p.m.; eighth grade at 6 p.m. and the junior varsity at 7:30 p.m.

From The Horses Mouth

By JERRY SWIFT
Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

Home gardeners will want to start shopping for trees and shrubs at garden centers and nurseries. The best selections usually await early shoppers.

Shrubs and trees usually sell in three forms, so gardeners can consider the transplanting method that is best for them.

Balled and burlapped plants, often called B&B, are usually larger than container-grown plants of the same price. A ball of soil is wrapped in burlap and pinned, so when handling this type, the plant should not be lifted by the stem or trunk. The life of the plant could be endangered if the ball of soil is loosened.

Container-grown plants continue to gain popularity. The advantage is less shock when transplanting for easy removal, and there is less chance for damage from rough handling. Of course, plants should never be transplanted with the container left around the ball.

Nurseries also offer bare root plants for sale. Many fruit and nut trees are handled in this form. Transplanting bare root plants is most successful when they are dormant during late fall and winter, and is most risky once the plants leaf out. Never allow the root system to dry out or be completely submerged in water for a long time.

Also, pruning before transplanting is essential, and generally one-third to one-half of the top growth should be removed.

Maximum growth during the establishment period can be aided by plenty of humus worked into the soil, and a good mulch on the surface.

Prussic Acid Poisoning
Frost will be hitting Schleicher county before long, and this could lead to prussic poisoning in livestock grazing certain pasture grasses and forages.

Although many plants contain the toxic material that causes poisoning, those causing the highest mortality in livestock when grazed after they have been frozen and wilted are Johnson and Sudan grasses and sorghum or hybrids of these.

The most dangerous time as far as the grazing of these plants is concerned is following frost when the plant material begins to wilt. Livestock should not be allowed access to the wilted material until it has dried completely. This usually becomes nontoxic and can be grazed within 10 days to two weeks following a rain.

As far as prussic acid poisoning is concerned, the poison acts rapidly and can kill animals within minutes. In most acute cases, animals become affected within 10-15 minutes after eating toxic material and can die in two or three minutes. Symptoms may include a brief period of stimulation followed by depression and paralysis. Signs of colic may be present. Stupor (loss of sensibility), difficult breathing and frequent convulsions may result. Death is caused by suffocation since oxygen remains in the blood and is not exchanged to the tissues. This also causes the blood to appear bright red.

To prevent prussic acid poisoning in livestock, follow these steps:

1. Allow plant material affected by frost to dry thoroughly before grazing. This may require a week or more of good sunlight.

2. Feed animals hay or a supplement before turning them in on plants that may contain prussic acid. Animals that are not hungry will not be affected as seriously by toxic material since their intake will be limited.

3. Remove all animals from the pasture if one in the herd shows any signs of poisoning.

4. Call a veterinarian immediately if an animal appears to be poisoned. An antidote to treat affected animals is highly efficient if given early. This product is available from veterinarians.

5. Have suspect plant material checked by the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratories at College Station or Amarillo. Local veterinarians will be happy to submit samples for you.

The overall key to preventing prussic poisoning in livestock is to be aware of plant materials that may cause poisoning and then to keep cattle from grazing such plants until a safe period has passed.

Hugh William Gaston was born August 5, 1893 in Grape Creek near San Angelo. His parents were S.W. and Addie Allen (Brooks) Gaston. William remembers his father always saying William run here and William run there so much when he was little that he was quite surprised to find out before starting school that his name was not William Run as he thought it was.

HUGH WILLIAM GASTON

He also recalled a terrific hail storm that blew their milk house down. "We were so scared that we stood on the edge of the porch so we could all jump off if the house started to blow away, William laughed. When he was about five years old he recalled that the family moved to Mule Creek where a boy teased him so unmercifully that he ran and got his fathers' gun to shoot him, but it was so heavy he couldn't lift it much less shoot it. He reminisced about his school years, remembering his first teacher, Mr. Fortune, who taught the whole school and was so bowlegged that a child could run between his legs. "It was a messy eight or nine grades," he smiled. Another teacher, a Mr. Shelton, he recalled as being strict and cruel. The teacher's daughter, Mary, sat beside him and being little would get restless. When this happened he would switch her legs until she always had red streaks on them. One day the teacher's son wrote "red hot" on another boy and his dad whipped him so hard he was the red hot one then. Another time a boy named Jim had done something and a girl told him "Don't take a dogs beating, Jim," so the teacher took his knife out and told all the big boys if they wanted some, come on." It liked to have scared the life out of me," William remembered.

young man had meningitis and died, so more quarantine time came. During this terrible time William said that their food was stolen. There was no coffee and everyone was really suffering. After the war he returned to college and graduated. He took a teaching position where he lived on one side of the Colorado River and taught on the other side. The river was up all fall and he had to wade or swim across to school each week day. During 1919 times were good and William had an agency for the Dallas morning news and the Dallas Evening Journal. William, a retired Methodist preacher, recalls his first preaching job. It was for the Kopperal Methodist Church. There was no parsonage so he boarded with a fine family, the E.E. Dixons. He also preached in the mission field up and down the Brazos river, part of which is now on the bottom of Lake Whitney. When he was preaching his last sermon there he would get all choked up and nearly break down and cry. Just before the tears came a bat came out of the attic and circled the congregation. This happened several times during the sermon, saving him each time. He figures the bat got more attention than his sermon did that day. William was part of a joyful 100 year celebration of Brother Reese in Brownwood this month. Brother Reese was in charge of William's first sermon at Winchell nearly sixty years ago. He met his wife, Maude, while he was serving her church as pastor. They have three children, William Jr., Ester, and Garland. The Gastons bought their home in Christoval on January 1, 1959 then retired and moved here permanently in 1970. William and Maude help conduct services at Golden Years Nursing Home each Sunday and have become a vital part of our community.

Thanksgiving Luncheon Scheduled

The El Concho Study Club will have a Thanksgiving Luncheon at Ole Coach Inn in San Angelo, Monday, Nov. 13 at noon. Area clubs have been invited to join them.

Gloria Martinez of San Angelo is to give a book review at that time.

Tuesday the Study Club will meet at 9:30 a.m. in the basement of the Methodist Church to finish making robes for Christmas.

They are still in need of material. Please come and join both the Golden Years Auxiliary and the El Concho Study Club in making these robes.

SCHOOL DAZE

By LENISE SULLIVAN AND PAM WALTON
This week we played Water Valley with a big 30-22 victory.

This week has been one of the slower weeks since we have really gotten used to our usual very busy schedules.

The boys have been working out just as hard as usual getting ready for our game with Novice Friday. We hope all of you Cougar fans will be there to support them. We are all hoping for a big victory.

The girls have begun working out for basketball after school. We hope to have a winning season this year.

Cougars Take Big Step Toward Title

The Christoval Cougars won over Water Valley in gridiron action at Water Valley last Friday night, 33-20.

Water Valley got a first quarter lead over Christoval when Doug Swartz threw a 70 yard pass to Todd Blair with Blair going in for the TD. Swartz got the PAT for a 8-0 lead.

Cary Tomerlin scored for Christoval in second quarter on a one yard run and Pete Morado's two-point conversion was good to tie the game up 8-8.

Swartz went over for Water Valley for the TD, however the PAT failed and Water Valley was ahead 14-8 at halftime.

Joe Jacquez got Christoval on the scoreboard again in third quarter play with a one yard plunge for the TD. A Marcus Herrera pass to Todd Arthur made the PAT good and put Christoval in the lead 15-14.

Danny Duke ran over for three yards and another TD for Christoval. The PAT failed.

Cary Tomerlin got his second touchdown of the game on a 45 yard pass from Corkey Solomon. The two point conversion attempt failed and the Cou-

Keep all care instructions to insure best care and longest life for leather and suede garments, whether real or fake.

In addition, follow these special care techniques:

Brush suede regularly with a terry towel or soft brush to keep dirt from settling in the nap and to ruff up the nap.

Remove most spots, small light stains or shiny areas by rubbing with a soft gum eraser, emery board or very fine sandpaper.

Most dark suede dyes easily bleed when wet or rub off when new.

Clean smooth leather by wiping with a damp cloth and mild soap, not detergent.

Never use cleaning fluid, shoe cleaning products, polish or saddle soap.

Test any specially designed aerosol cleaners on an inconspicuous area first, particularly for color changes or circling.

If a leather garment becomes wet, dry as soon as possible away from heat on a shaped wooden hanger.

Before drying, shake or sponge extra moisture from garment.

After suede has dried, buff the nap in one direction.

For holes, piece with a matching piece taken from seam or facing and glue with fabric or leather glue. Tears may also be glued down.

Carefully dye lighter edges around tears or holes with shoe polish or ink.

Never store leather garments in plastic bags since plastic can cause discoloration.

Also, don't use adhesive name tags because they also discolor.

When major cleaning is needed and the garment is not washable, take it to a leather cleaning specialist.

Couple Wed In Home Ceremony

Vickie West and John Arnold Hodges were married Oct. 20 in the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. Gene Stark officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H.E. Lawson, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B.R. Hodges.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Linda Maham of Odessa.

Bobby R. Hodges Jr. of San Angelo was best man for his brother.

The bride wore a dress of blue silk with a white lace overlay and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

A reception followed the wedding in the El Dorado restaurant banquet room.

After a short honeymoon, the couple will live in Eldorado.

Dreams Of Fireplace Could Go Up In Smoke

With winter weather just around the corner, homeowners will soon be making preparations for sitting by a glowing fireplace. But these dreams of a warm fire and a cozy fireplace may go up in smoke if the wrong type of wood is purchased, cautions a forestry specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Since firewood purchases are not covered by consumer protection laws, it is the responsibility of the buyer to shop and choose the right type of wood," points out Dr. Mike Walterscheidt.

"Price comparisons may be difficult since firewood may be sold by the standard cord, the face cord or the truck load," he adds.

A standard cord is 8 feet long, 4 feet wide and 4 feet high, or 128 cubic feet. On the other hand, a face cord measures 8 by 4 feet on the face of the stack, with the wood cut into smaller pieces. The face cord measures about 1/3 to 1/2 of a standard cord.

"The best way to compare prices is to calculate the cubic feet of wood.

Measure the stack and multiply the length by the width and by the height," suggests the forestry specialist.

Following this advice will also keep the unwary buyer from making a mistake out of what appears to be a bargain. Cubic feet measurements should also be used on truck loads of firewood.

After the truck is unloaded and the wood stacked, multiply the length, width and height of the stack in feet and divide by 128 to obtain the portion of a cord you have. For example: 6 feet x 2 feet x 4 feet = 48 cubic feet; 48 divided by 128 = .38 or about 1/3 of a standard cord. A good rule of thumb is that a standard 1/2-ton pickup without heavy-duty springs can carry about 1/3 cord.

"Certain types of firewood also burn better than others," says Walterscheidt. "Live oak, hickory, white oak, post oak, red oak and pecan are excellent, long-burning woods with a high heat output. However, pine and cedar are soft woods that make excellent kindling but produce only short-burning fires."

A combination of softwood for kindling, hardwood for heat, and fruit or nut wood for aroma will make shopping around worthwhile. "Always choose dry, lightweight wood over green wood," says Walterscheidt. "Drier wood can give up to 20 percent more heat and is much easier to kindle than moist green wood."

Couple Married In San Angelo

Miss Lori Lin Sudduth and Jed Edmiston were married in San Angelo Oct. 27 in a civil ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myrl G. Sudduth of San Angelo, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Gene Edmiston of Eldorado.

Both are students at Eldorado High School where she is a sophomore and he is a junior. They will be living at route 1 where he will be farming and ranching.

Home Front News

Mrs. Ola Smith of Ft. Stockton visited in the home of Alice Van Horn last Thursday.

Out of town guests at the wedding of Vickie West and John Hodges were Mr. and Mrs. A.B. Remar, the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Maples and Mrs. Leonard Maham, the bride's sisters and Mr. and Mrs. E.T. Ware, all of Odessa. Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. B.R. Hodges, Jr. of San Angelo, Mrs. W.A. Griscemer of Elephant Butte, N.M., Ms. Annette Jones of Midland, Mr. and Mrs. Gerhart of Fritch and Mr. and Mrs. Vance Luckie of Sonora.

Douge Yates is in Audie Murphy Hospital in San Antonio for a gall bladder ailment. He was transferred there Tuesday afternoon from Schleicher County Medical Center where he had been a patient since Sunday. Sarah Yates took him to San Antonio.

Mrs. F.M. Bradley remains in St. John's Hospital after surgery Saturday.

Susie McAngus is home after a stay in a San Angelo hospital for asthma problems.

Mrs. C.W. Corlan of Snyder and Mrs. R.R. Roseman of Long Beach, Calif., were visiting with their sister, Mrs. Gladys Gunn last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Meador and Mrs. Wilson Page returned from a trip to Hawaii where they attended the American Bankers Convention. They were in Honolulu for one week during the convention, then went to Kauai, Maui and then to Hawaii. They returned to the mainland Oct. 31. The Meadors remained in Dallas where they attended the Southern Methodist University homecoming. They were joined by their son, Rusty Meador and his fiancée, Dawn Zigler.

Mr. and Mrs. Junior Isaacs visited their daughter and family, the Ronnie Wicker's, in Pearland over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hext visited with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joe T. Hext in Pasadena last weekend. They also visited with their grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Hext and family, also in Pasadena.

Comptroller Rep Visits Locally

Comptroller Bob Bullock will have a representative from his office in Eldorado on Tuesday, November 14, 1978, to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about state taxes.

Bullock said Enforcement Officer Esther Esparza will meet with local taxpayers in the Memorial Building from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m.

"If Eldorado area merchants, or anyone else for that matter have any questions about state taxes or need help in preparing tax forms, Ms. Esparza will be there to assist them," Bullock said.

"We're trying to cut the red tape in this office, and we believe these face to face sessions with taxpayers help do just that," Bullock added.

The San Angelo office, headed by Thomas M. Goff, serves San Angelo and surrounding counties.
