

Business Move Into New Buildings

Two local businesses, Eldorado Instruments and Kwik Service are now moved into their new buildings. Attending the opening ceremony for Eldorado Instruments Monday were Bobby Phillips, owner; his wife Mildred their sons, Kenneth and Michael; their daughter and her husband, Charlene and Buster Harris; Ben and Wenona Isaacs; employees Barbara Behrens and Terry Grelle; Phillips' mother, Mrs. Nora Phillips and Mrs. Phillips' mother, Mrs. Edwinna Sparks.

Phillips moved from his old location at 208 S. Divide over the weekend, where the company had been since it began in 1972.

The property for the new location was purchased the first of this year and Phillips began work to complete the 40' x 75' structure.

The new building has separate office space, large parts and service areas and a coffee area.

Open house for the company will be held Saturday, Nov. 7 from 1-4 p.m. The community is invited.

Just down the highway from Eldorado Instruments in Kwik Service Supply's new building which the company moved into last week. The 3,000 square foot building has an attractive front office, two separate offices for manager Fred Buie and assistant manager Jeff Doan, a large storage and stock room.

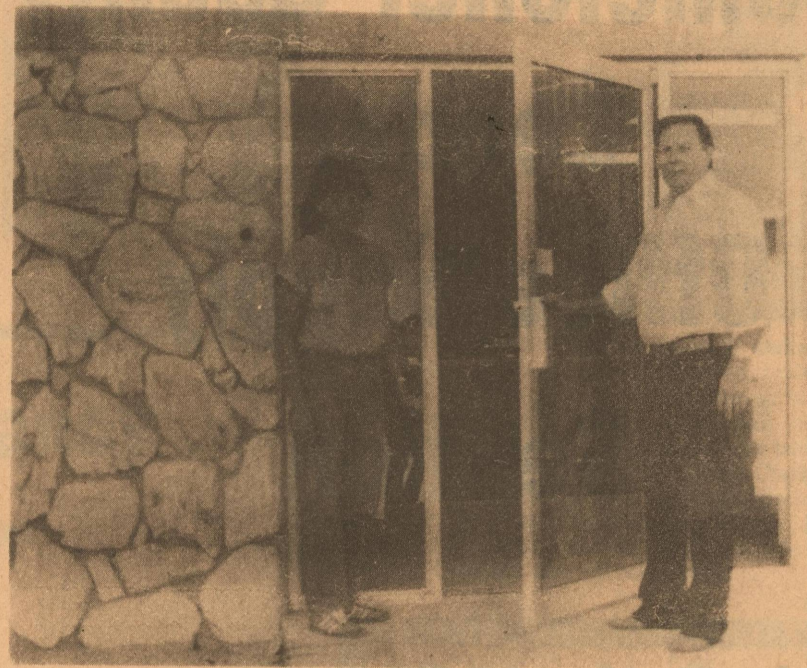

The company opened here three years ago selling all kinds of oil field equipment, especially production equipment. The company now has field equipment, especially production equipment. The company now has five employees here, Doan, secretary Marie Sharp, Mike Wall and Johnny Doan.

It is a part of a chain of stores owned by Lowell Martin of Odessa which have offices in Eldorado, Ozona, Odessa and Robert Lee.

The location of the new building will make it easier to find and more convenient for customers.

Geistweidt Addresses Local Lions

State representative Gerald Geistweidt addressed the Eldorado Lions Club during their meeting last week, giving a report of "good and bad news" from the last state legislative meeting.

Geistweidt expressed frustration at the state legislature for not responding to all the needs of the Texas people.

He blasted the bi-lingual education program which he campaigned against, saying that "a federal judge thought he had more wisdom than 14 million people in Texas."

He also blasted the legislature for spending over $26 billion which is an increase of 20 percent and not for abolishing state property taxes "when they had a fantastic opportunity to do so."

He noted that the legislature considered a total of 5600 bills and only 800 of them passed. "Two years ago, when I ran for this office," he said, "I campaigned for fewer laws and less government, but most of the bills that were passed either abolished existing laws or modified one of them."

He said that 87 percent of the bills he either sponsored or co-sponsored were passed. Those included the war on drugs, returning lateral road funds and automobile registration fees back to counties, and the fruit fly bill. The two bills he said was the proudest of were the bills to abolish state inheritance taxes and the bill increasing penalties for criminal trespassing.

Geistweidt also reviewed the seven amendments to the Texas Constitution which Texas voters faced this week, saying he supported the amendments to authorize people to receive patents to land under certain conditions, establish the water trust fund, exempting livestock and poultry from taxation, giving local governing bodies the option of giving a tax relief to homeowners and authorizing the Veteran's Land Board.

The representative said he knew he had made some mistakes along the way, but did the best he could. Finishing his talk, he said "I always tell them I am from God's Country and I am here to help."

Interested Parents Attend Program

Several parents interested in the quality of their children's lives met in the school administration building Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. They heard a report on research done by Ross Perot's Texans War on Drugs Committee that indicated that the key to protecting children from the world of drug and alcohol abuse rests primarily with the parents and the goals they set and help their children achieve.

The reason for the gathering was to encourage concerned parents to know their children's friends and to support one another in an effort to form positive guidelines for acceptable behavior that will help their children aspire to a successful future. Ideas set forth in the meeting stress the need for cooperation of parents, school, law officers and churches in an United effort to create a more wholesome environment for children.

A film entitled "For Parents Only" gave those present a view of the drug scene and the damage it can do. The film stressed the theme "Tough Love," loving your children enough to take a firm stand on the issues which will affect their mental and physical growth. Following the film county sheriff Orval Edmiston spoke to parents in relation to the problems existing in Eldorado that could definitely affect children's lives.

The program stressed that parent peer groups have proven to be a successful method of improving the environment of children. Because all parents have the common bond of love for their children they can join together in helping their children understand the need for discipline. The message was for parents to contact parents of their children's friends, share ideas and goals for children and show them that you really care and love them.

Firemen Ask Motorists For Help

Several weeks ago, members of the Emergency service advised residents of procedures for helping accident victims. Now the volunteer firemen are advising local motorists and residents about how to help them in case of fire, because of problems encountered during two separate fires last week.

Firemen are reminding motorists that they should not follow a fire vehicle enroute to a fire closer than 500 feet, and they should yield to all emergency vehicles.

After a fire truck has parked at a location, no one is to drive into or park within the block of the fire.

They explain that fire hoses are dropped at the scene of the fire then the fire truck will go to the nearest fire hydrant to hook into the hoses; therefore, they need space to turn around, park or just to work.

Motorists should never run over a hose because with high pressures (250pounds) the hoses will burst and endanger the life of a firemen inside a burning building.

County sheriff Orval Edmiston emphasized that tickets can and either follow a fire truck too close park too close to a fire or obstruct firemen in any way.

The Cottage Makes A Move

Two local businesses have combined under one roof to make shopping easier for Eldorado women. All merchandise from the Cottage can now be seen and purchased at the Holley House located on Divide Street.

Owners Mary Leggett and Kathy Frerich made the move last weekend. They will still offer a wide selection of clothes for the fashion conscious woman, including dresses, skirts, blouses, pants, suits, and sweaters. Their monthly style show will be held at noon Thursday in the Memorial Building catered by Southern Seas of San Angelo. Reservations must be made by calling 853-3021 or 853-2763 by 5 p.m. Tuesday.

The Holley House will also keep its same merchandise which includes baskets, all kitchen items, dishes, place mats, wooden items, custom made frames, just to name a few.

Juniors Take PSAT In Library October 27

By Rico Forlano

Juniors will be taking the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test (PSAT) October 27 in the library beginning at 8:15. Counselor Ken Newman said the test would take about two and one-half class periods.

The test is made up of two parts: verbal and mathematical. The format for the test is multiple choice.

Rules for the test include the following: students may not use dictionaries, notes, calculators or any other aid. No student may distribute

Band Elects Officers

Elected band officers this week were: president, Eddie Harris and vice-president Lori Whitaker, both seniors; secretary, Jo Ann Rodriguez and treasurer, Victoria Powell, both juniors; and librarian, Jennie Day, a senior.

others or receive help. Students may work only on the section specified by the counselor. No notes may be taken from the testing room. Once a student begins the test, he is considered to have taken the whole test even though he may not complete it. The test may not be taken more than once in the same year.

Test results compare the students nationwide. The test is also designed to help students decide on future career.

Mr. Newman asks that students come by his office to get a booklet concerning the test if they have not already received one.

The National Educational Development Test (NEDT) will be given to tenth graders, October 20 at 8:15. According to Ken Newman, the three hour test may be given in two sessions.

Two scores are recorded for this test: The standard score tells the student how he performed on each section. The percentile score compares each student to students around the country.

Schools will receive certificates of Educational Development for all of their students who scored at or above the ninetieth percentile on their composite score.

NEDT reveals strengths and weaknesses of which students may not be aware.

Monika Kristen Finds U.S. School And Lifestyle Different

"I want to learn more languages and travel the world," says Monika Kristen, AFS student from Corinthia, Austria. This senior, approximately 9,000 miles from home, has become a daughter for a year to Superintendent and Mrs. Guy Whitaker.

Monika says that her life has really changed since exchanging her small, quiet lakeside town for our small, quiet, semi-desert town. She likes our school and finds the students friendly. Sometimes, however, she is confused, because she does not understand everything they say.

"My school does not have such strict classes, and we may wear anything we want. We do not have athletics as a part of the school program. Austrians have to be 18 in order to drive a car, so we ride buses for transportation.

Clothing styles," she said, "are quite different. At home, we wear big-legged pants and blouses." Drugs and drinking are not problems in her school.

entertainment, teenaged Austrians go to discos and listen to hard rock music.

In winter, they go snow skiing and ice skating. In summer, they go swimming in the lake on which she lives. "We have the same movies there as you do, but we get them about a year later. They are dubbed or subtitled in German.

She enjoys cooking, but her favorite American dish is certainly not of the gourmet variety -- bologna sandwiches! "We are enjoying her and learning how to eat sandwiches again," said Mr. Whitaker. "Monika loves American food; we have not found one thing that she doesn't like."

Senior Lori Whitaker says that Monika is just like having a good friend, someone to talk to. She says that there is no competition between them.

Students attending the meetings were: Kirk Griffin, Dan Ray, Nicky Dahlberg, Kelly Griffin, Bill Clark, Clint Cumguardner, Mark Payne, Houston Taylor and Mitzi Mittel.

WTU Files For Change In Wholesale Rates

West Texas Utilities Company has filed for a change in wholesale rates for electric service it supplies to rural electric co-operatives, one municipa-lity and one investor-owned distribution company.

In its filing Friday, Oct-ober 16, with the Federal Energz Regulatory Commis-sion in Washington, WTU estimated that the new rates will produce about $4.3 million in additional revenue for the company during the 1982 calendar year. This amounts to an increase of approximately 10 percent from these wholesale customers.

WTU requested that the new rates become effective on December 15. The present rates have been in effect since June, 1980. WTU also proposes to change to a fuel adjustment clause similar to the one applied to its retail cus-tomers. No other major changes were proposed.

WTU officials said the rate change is necessary to bring the Company's earn-ings on sales to wholesale customers to a level that will help WTA maintain a sound financial condition and attract new capital for growth required to meet future needs of electric customers. The previous wholesale rate increase proved insufficient because of inflation, higher than anticipated interest rates, and the delay in making the rates effective.

The following wholesale customers will be affected by the filing:

Coleman County Electric Cooperative, Inc., Concho Valley Electric Cooperative, Inc., Dickens Electric Co-operative, Inc., Gate City Electric Cooperative, Inc., Greenbelt Electric Cooper-ative, Inc., Lighthouse El-ectric Cooperative, Inc., McCulloch Electric Co-operative, Inc., Midwest Electric Electric Coopera-tive, Inc., Rio Grande Elec-tric, Inc., Stamford Electric Cooperative, Inc., Taylor Electric Cooperative, Inc., Western Farmers Electric Cooperative, Inc. (which supplies Southwest Rural Electric Association), Bra-zos Electric Power Co-operative, Inc. (which sup-plies B-K Electric Cooper-ative, Inc., Comanche County Electric Coopera-tive, Inc. and Ft. Belknap Electric Cooperative, Inc.), City of Sonora and Texas-New Mexico Power Com-pany.

Schleicher Receives Road Funds

State Treasurer Warren G. Harding announced to-day that early next week $25,770,675.15 will be dis-tributed to the 254 counties. These funds are the Lateral Road Fund admin-istered by the State Treas-urer's office as allocated by the sixty-seven legislature. The Schleicher County allocation is $51,247.84, and the funds will be used for the construction and improvement of county roads. The lateral road fund is composed of mon-ies derived from gasoline taxes collected at the pump. The county alloca-tions are based on the county square mile area, the rural population, and the county lateral road mileage. Expenditures of the funds are reported by the counties to the State Treasurer.

Treasurer Harding stated that the distribution in-cludes money appropriated for fiscal years 1980, 1981, and 1982, as well as inter-est earned on these funds.

SCRIPTURE: 1 Corinthians 13:4-13

Love is patient, love is kind. It does not envy, it does not boast, it is not proud. It is not rude, it is not self-seeking, it is not easily angered, it keeps no record of wrongs. Love does not delight in evil but rejoices with the truth. It always protects, always trusts, always hopes, always perseveres.

Love never fails. But where there are prophecies, they will cease; where there are tongues, they will be stilled; where there is knowledge, it will pass away. For we know in part and we prophesy in part, but when perfection comes, the imperfection disappears. When I was a child, I talked like a child, I thought like a child, I reasoned like a child. When I became a man, I put childish ways behind me. Now we see but a poor reflection; then we shall see face to face. Now I know in part; then I shall know fully, even as I am fully know. And now these three remain; faith, hope and love. But the greatest of these is love.

Answers to last week's questions:

1. False, Reuben was Jacob's first born son with Leah.
2. True
3. True
4. False, Luke was the "Beloved Physician"
5. False, Simon and Andrew were brothers and fishermen and James and John, sons of Zebedee, were fishermen.

★ The Eagle Junior Varsity, yet to be beaten, clobbered the Reagan County Junior Varsity 22-2 last week.

Luke Brame and Tim McAngus both had excellent offensive nights while Sonny Dean and Brett lead the defense. The Junior Varsity is now 7-0 for the season and will face the always tough Junction JV tonight, at 7:30 p.m.

The seventh grade battled the Owls to an 0-0 tie, while the eighth graders were victorious over the Owls 7-0.

All three Eagle teams will host the Junction teams tonight with action beginning at 5 p.m. in Eagle stadium.

The Reagan County Owls clawed the Eagles Last Friday, 28-7.

The Owls' attack started in the first quarter when Gary Fisher scored on a one yard run. In the second quarter, Michael Ortiz tallied a touchdown on a 21 yard pass from Fisher.

The PAT was good again and the Owls led 14-0 at halftime. Ortiz scored again in the third quarter.

In the fourth quarter Eldorado got on the board when Danny Pina pushed over from a yard out, Pina also kicked the point after. Fisher rushed for a second TD later in the final quarter.

This loss lowers the Eagles' record to 0-8 and 10-4 in district 2-9AAA play. The Owls remain in second place in the district race. In other district play, Mason crushed the Menard yellowjackets 28-7; Junction nipped Wall 7-8 and Ozona was open.

Cherry Coconut Cake
1 pound cake
1 jar jam or preserves, any flavor coconut

1 jar maraschino cherries
Cut pound cake in 1-inch cubes & store in sealed sandwich bag to preserve freshness until you're ready to cook. Spread jam or preserves on all sides of cubes of cake, roll in coconut, then thread on skewers alternating with cherries. Grill over cooking coals, turning often, until cake is warmed and coconut is toasted. This makes a delicious dessert.

Turn an Old Blazer into a Cardigan

Pin the jacket layers together and cut, as shown. Cut off the collar and undercollar on the seamline curve the front at the lapels - and barely trim off the front seam edge. (If the bottom front corners are curved, trim off the seam edge around the bottom to where the hem begins.) Remove the loose seam allowance pieces at the and front edges.

Pin perpendicular to the cut edges. Staystitch 3/8" from edge through all thicknesses.

Use matching or contrasting 1/2" wide fold-over purchased braid to slide over the cut edges. Pin and topstitch in place. Or use ultrasuede scraps...folded in half as the braid with the inside edge 1/8" wider.. and topstitched over the edges.

Bind the bottom edges of the sleeves with the fold-over braid or ultra-suede. (Do not cut off the sleeve hemfold.)

Stitch the back vent into a seam. Cut off excess fabric.

Note: The shaping of this "new" jacket is almost identical to the Joseph Picone Vogue cardigan, 2551. A very becoming silhouette and a marvelous way to pep up a tired blazer with worn or frayed collar and sleeve hem edges.

Cashier's or Certified Check. Is There a Difference???

A cashier's check and a certified check are both negotiable instruments.

negotiable instruments, (readily acceptable in lieu of money).

These checks are often used when purchasing an expensive item, and the company or business demands proof that you have enough money in the bank to meet the amount of the check, or vice versa. They may seem identical, but the important feature is the stop payment aspect.

The cashier's check is drawn by a bank upon itself-the bank is both drawer and drawee. Payment can be stopped on this check.

By certifying a check, an official of the bank will sign

Eleanor Jeffrey

Wild game can be delicious, especially if it is cooked properly and it is excellent for barbecuing. Not every hunter has the time and equipment to barbecue their meat and that is where Eleanor Jeffrey can help.

Mrs. Jeffrey, owner of Bethel Barbecue of Main Street, took over her husband's after his recent death, selling delicious beef and chicken barbecue every Friday.

The business began when her husband, Bethel Jeffrey, began barbecuing for the Jeffrey family reunions in 1948. After a few years, he began selling to the public.

In 1967, he got a larger pit of heavier metal which Mrs. Jeffrey still uses.

She follows the same routine as her husband always did. He started cooking the barbecue meat in the evening and cooked it to a certain point. Then they wrapped it in foil and put it back on the grill with a vat of water between it and the fire. It simmered until the coals died out and the next morning he would get it good and hot. The would hook up to the station wagon and take it down to the courthouse square be ready for selling to the public.

People going to the post office would stop and buy barbecue, and for a long time, Bethel worked alone. But one day, after only a few sales, he asked Eleanor to join him thinking it would change his luck. Sure enough, it did and from then on, she always helped him.

In fact, it was Eleanor who thought up the idea of making barbecue sandwiches, which have been a big hit in Eldorado. They were named the Bethel Burger by their favorite customers.

wholesale dealers and how to clean the pit.

Bethel died in December and he public wanted her to keep up the business, so she and her family decided to build something at her home making it easier for her. They built a green fiber glass building with the help of the entire family. And during the summer months, Joan Schrier became her grandmother's right arm at serving time.

With custom cooking, weddings, family reunions, oilfield barbecues and weekly Friday sales, it has been a busy season for Bethel's Barbecue and also a profitable one. Mrs. Jeffrey will close her business regular Nov. 20 for the winter months but will do barbecuing for special occasions anytime, especially wild game for hunters.

WTU Gets Approval For Connections

West Texas Utilities Company and its three sister companies in the Central and South West Corporation have received approval from the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) to interconnect with each other across state lines and operate as an integrated system.

The FERC in Washington authorized a proposal which will result in construction of electric transmission lines connecting the Southwest Power Pool with the Electric Reliability Council of Texas, which historically has operated strictly as an intrastate electric grid.

The proposal filed with the FERC for decision had been agreed to by all utilities affected, included Central and South West Corporation, Houston Lighting and Power Company, and Texas Utilities Company.

Central and South West officials said the interconnection would be accomplished with construction of direct current facilities near Vernon in North Texas and near Victoria in Southeast Texas. The North Texas interconnection is projected for completion in 1984 and the Southeast Texas interconnection in 1985. Construction activities are expected to begin immediately following receipt of required regulatory approvals.

Central and South West officials expect customers of the system's subsidiaries in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas to save about $1.7 billion in reduced expenses between 1984 and 2000 as result of the interconnection.

Society Plans Open House

An open house for the museum was tentatively planned for January by members of the Schleicher County Historical Society during their meeting Monday.

Attending were members Frankie Williams, Mable Freitag, Ruth Baker, Ola Ruth Barbee and Margaret Frost, president.

They reported Having 277 visitors during the year and receiving carpet from a shop in San Angelo for the new display cases.

Plans were made to have several pictures framed and letters from the state historical commission in Fort Worth were read.

Thirty persons paid their dues in 1981. A membership drive will be held in January and there will be no meeting in December.

Marinades Overcome Gamey Flavor In Venison Meats

Marinades for venison can help overcome its gamey-flavor problems, and they can tenderize the meat.

To marinate venison, cover the meat with your favorite marinade and allow it to stand in the refrigerator at least 24 hours. Then it will be ready to broil, roast or braise.

Or choose one of the wild-game marinades below:

† Vinegar to cover steak

or roast

† French dressing
† Tomato sauce or undiluted tomato soup

† Fruit juice such as lemons or pineapple, or a mixture of many juices, ¼ cup cooking oil, 7 teaspoon pepper and ¼ teaspoon garlic salt.

† 2 cups water, 2 cups vinegar, 1 to 2 tablespoons sugar, 4 bay leaves, 1 teaspoon salt, 12 whole cloves, 1 teaspoon allspice and 3 medium-size sliced onions.

† Garlic salt, salt and pepper to taste, and equal parts of Worcestershire sauce and two of your favorite steak sauces. This gives a blend of flavors and also is excellent for basting game roasts or thick steaks during cooking.

† 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1½ teaspoons ground ginger, 1 clove minced garlic, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, ½ cup soy sauce and 3/4 cup vegetable oil cooker. Burn it until live coals are obtained; then put a few hardwood chips on the coals.

† Commercial marinades

Place the sausage or cured meat cuts on the rack on the opposite end from the coals. Use enough water on the chips so that they do not blaze. Smoke the sausage with the cooker closed.

Keep the temperature of the cooker between 130 degrees F. and 150 degrees F.

Smokehouses can be made from any closed device such as old refrigerators, oil drums, etc. An air inlet is needed at the bottom and a damper at the top. Some method for keeping the interior hot is needed.

The whole smoking and drying procedure can be accomplished in one of these devices but requires close watching.

Try a small quantity at first until you perfect your own special method. This is not an exact science!

STORING SAUSAGE
Fresh sausage can be stored in refrigerator for 1 week or in the freezer at 0 degrees F. for not more than 3 months. Salt added to the meat reduces freezer storage time by about 50 percent.

Before freezing, wrap the sausage in freezer paper, plastic freezer bags or foil.

Wrap bulk sausage in freezer paper, plastic bags or foil, and place it directly into the freezer.

Protect and store cured and smoked sausage using the same method as for fresh sausage.

Cured and smoked sausage may be kept in the freezer for not more than 3 months.

Hunter's Guide

the Schleicher County Leader

Nov. 5, 1981

Welcome Hunters to the best hunting country in Texas...

By Fred Alford, DVM.

Welcome Hunters!

The Schleicher County Leader and all of our advertisers welcome all hunters to Schleicher County during the 1981 hunting season.

We hope this season will be the most successful one ever for you. From all reports, it promises to be because of excellent weather conditions at the right times of the year.

We are heppy to provide this hunting guide for all hunters and hope it will be of help to you.

Again, Welcome Hunters and Good Luck.

1981 Season Looks Good

Both the turkey and deer populations in Schleicher County have increased considerably this year, according to Mike Porter, local game warden.

Countywide, hunting should be good. Porter said, with the heaviest deer population lying toward the end of the county.

Porter reminds hunters that they should be careful about filling out tags on the hunting license. Tags must be filled out on the back with proper information. Also, the month and the day must be cut out on the back of the tag. This tag should be attached to the carcass in the proper manner before it is moved.

Plan for Hunting Trips

With the approach of fall hunting seasons, Texas sportsmen should begin making preparations for their trips afield. These preparations should include more than marking hunting dates on a calendar and contacting landowners about hunting leases. Time and effort should be spent getting field gear and "desk chair physiques" ready for the hunting adventures ahead.

Firearms which have been stored since the last hunting season should be cleaned and checked. It is a good policy to check stored guns every month or so for signs of rust or dust accumulation, particularly if they are kept where temperature and humidity conditions are variable. Special attention should be given to cleaning the bore and making sure the action works smoothly. It's time for carefully sighting in rifles and handguns. Even if the hunter feels sure that a gun has not been bumped or jarred since the last firing, it is good policy to double check. This will not only prevent disappointment over a missed shot, but will also get the shooter used to the "feel" of his weapon again.

Center-fire rifles should be sighted in using the bullet weights and powder charges which the hunter expects to use in the field. Sighting distances are determined by the type of game to be hunted and the terrain where the hunt takes place. As a rule of thumb, shot groupings from 50, 100, and 200 yards will prepare the hunter for most situations.

The good hunter does not fire one or two rounds and decide that he and his rifle are ready to go. The expense of firing a box or two of ammunition while sighting a rifle is easily justified by the confidence the hunter will gain in his weapon and his shooting ability.

Handgun buffs should also spend some time "burning powder" on the range before taking to the field. Generally speaking, handguns should be sighted in for distances up to 60 yards. It takes a dedicated pistol shot to be consistently accurate at greater distances. Remember, range safety is of critical importance with all firearms, but especially so with handguns.

Barbecued or Fried Turkeys Are Delicious

Wild turkeys are clever birds and allude even the seasoned hunter.

Moving quietly and carefully in the crisp fall air, they seem to instinctively know when hunters are near.

Once aroused, they are out of sight and shooting range in a split second!

If you are skilled or lucky enough to bag one of the treasured wild turkeys, you will want to prepare it with skill and care to enhance the pleasure of this delicacy.

Roast and barbecued turkey are always favorites, and recipes for both are included below.

But, have you ever had fried wild turkey breast? It is a treat that will empty the platter in minutes.

FRIED WILD TURKEY BREAST

To prepare wild turkey breast, slice the breast meat as you would in carving a turkey, cutting the pieces no thicker than 1/2-inch.

If you prefer a crispier turkey steak slice the meat 1/4-inch thick.

Dip each piece of turkey breast in milk and then into seasoned flour.

Fry immediately in hot fat until golden brown.

ROASTED WILD TURKEY
1 turkey, 8 to 10 pounds, ready-to-cook

8 cups partially dry bread cubes
3/4 cup finely chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
2 to 3 teaspoons sage
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 1/2 cups chopped onion
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup water

Sprinkle turkey inside and out with salt and pepper.

Combine bread, celery, walnuts and seasonings.

Cook onion in butter or margarine until tender, but not brown. Pour over bread mixture. Add the water and toss lightly.

Spoon stuffing lightly into body cavity.

Put remaining dressing in a greased casserole.

Cover and bake in oven with turkey during last 30 minutes of roasting time.

Truss bird. Cover breast with bacon slices and cheesecloth soaked in melted bacon fat. Place turkey, breast up, on rack in roasting pan. Roast at 375 degrees F. for 20 to 25 minutes per pound or until tender, basting frequently with bacon fat and drippings in pan. Remove cheesecloth, skewers and string. Serves eight to ten.

BARBECUED TURKEY
1 turkey, about 8 pounds
Salt and pepper

Liquid smoke, if desired
Celery leaves from 1 bunch of celery
2 coarsely chopped onions
1/2 to 3/4 cup salad oil
1 recipe barbeque sauce, below

Remove turkey neck if still attached, but leave skin. Rub cavity of bird with salt and brush with about 1 1/2 teaspoons liquid smoke.

Stuff with celery leaves and onion.

Truss bird.
Add 1 teaspoon liquid smoke to salad oil; brush on bird. Sprinkle well with salt and pepper.

Place on rack in roasting pan and roast at 325 degrees F. for about 3 1/2 hours or until tender.

Brush with oil mixture several times during cooking.

Add remaining mixture to hot barbecue sauce 30 minutes before cooking is completed.

Brush bird with sauce several times during last 30 minutes.

BARBECUE SAUCE

1 cup catsup
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 cup water
1/4 cup vinegar
2 or 3 dashes hot sauce
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
Combine ingredients.
Heat to boiling, then simmer 30 minutes.

Records Needed for Deer Management

The age of a deer is of interest to both the landowner and the hunter. This interest is more than simple curiosity. Many things which measure deer quality and welfare are related to age.

On nearly all deer ranges in Texas, the food supply is the most critical element in the habitat. When deer numbers are not in balance with available food, inadequate nutrition is reflected in the herd by poor body condition, reduced reproductive efficiency and undesirable antler characteristics.

The massiveness of the antlers, rather than the number of points usually is related to age but is more strongly influenced by nutrition. A well-fed yearling could be an eight-point buck, but a poorly fed 7-year-old could be a four-point. Large antlers at an early age reflect good food conditions.

The age of a deer cannot be determined by replacement of the front teeth (incisors) as it can in sheep, goats and cows, but age can be determined by replacement of, and wear on, the jaw teeth. As a deer grows older, certain portions of its teeth, particularly the crests on the jaw teeth next to the tongue, wear and expose increasing amounts of the dark dentine. Description of most age classes is based on the relative amount of exposed dentine on the crests next to the tongue.

Deer managers should keep accurate records on all deer harvested to determine the effects of practices such as brush control, livestock management and levels of deer harvest. Without such records, any change in management be evaluated accurately with respect to the impact on deer quality.

Records need not be elaborate. On males, antler characteristics can be measured using a small steel measuring tape. These measurements should include the circumference of the antler at the base, above the burr; the inside spread at the widest point of the main beam measured on the outside of the antler from base to tip. The number of points on each antler should be noted.

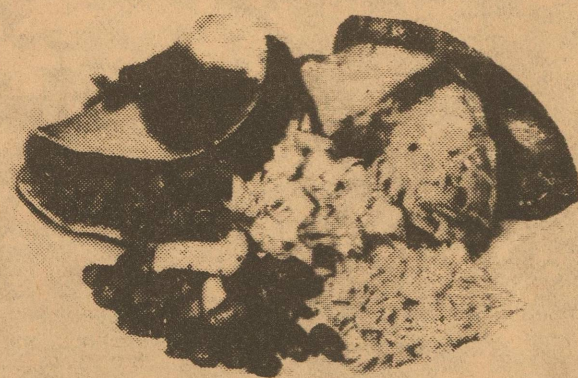

Body weights, usually from field dressed (internal organs removed) animals, should be kept. Also, the sex should be recorded.

Finally, all animals should be aged. This will allow the deer manager to categorize the information by age and sex. The records then will show at a glance, for example, what the average weights and antler characteristics are for all bucks in any given age class. Even if some error is made in aging individual deer, the combined records will reflect the quality of young growing deer, mature animals that should be prime and older animals that may be declining in some quality characteristic. Such accuracy is sufficient for management purposes.

Avoid Hunting Accidents

Each year there are hunting accidents somewhere in the state causing injury and sometimes even fatalities. Here are the ten commandments of shooting safety to follow while in the field.

1. Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun. This is the cardinal rule of gun safety.
2. Guns carried into camp or home must always be unloaded, taken down or have actions open; guns always should be encased until reaching the hunting area.

3. Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle, even if you stumble. Keep the safety on until you are ready to shoot.

5. Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger.
6. Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot.

7. Unattended guns should be unloaded; guns and ammunition should be stored safely beyond reach of children and careless adults.

8. Never climb a tree or fence with a loaded gun.

9. Never shoot at a flat, hard surface or the surface of water.

10. Do not mix gun powder and alcohol.

Most hunters carry some type of a cutting tool for dressing game. These knives, hand axes, bone saws, etc. should be examined carefully and sharpened now. A dull knife in the field is not only frustrating, but also is more dangerous than a properly honed one.

Checking wearing apparel well in advance of the day it is needed will not only add to the comfort of the hunt, but may also help preserve marital harmony. Clothing should be checked for snags or tears which need repair from last season. Footwear is especially important as a painful blister can ruin an otherwise enjoyable hunting experience. Boot stitching should be checked, and the leather should be oiled or treated for comfort and protection. It is a good idea to wear new boots around the house to break them in before starting out on a long days hunt.

In addition to checking his gear, the smart hunter prepares himself physically for the field. Many of us work at jobs which don't allow us to stay in shape for our once-a-year hunting trips. Perhaps the best solution is to start early with sensible exercise. This may mean just walking every day or it may include jogging and dieting off a few pounds for the hunter who will pursue game which requires strenuous effort. Remember, more hunters die from heart attacks brought on by over-exertion than from firearm mishaps.

The sportsman who begins preparing his gear and his body well in advance of hunting season will have a much more rewarding experience in the outdoors come hunting season than the "last-minute Johnny." A little effort now will mean a safer and more profitable hunting experience in the fall.

Deer Meat Is Very Delicious If You Follow Good Practices

Hunting seasons are in full swing and reports indicate good hunter success in most areas of Texas. There are many who enjoy hunting but do not enjoy eating meats - and there is a good reason. Improperly cooked duck, or deer meat, for example, is less palatable than good grade leather.

Properly prepared game, however, can be even more delicious than domestic meats. Mimeographed leaflets on cooking game meat are available from the specialist in wildlife conservation.

Following are some tips in handling a deer that has just been killed. These practices will improve the quality of the meat (and thus provide you a good argument for hunting again next year).

1. If the deer does not bleed thoroughly as a result of the bullet wound, bleed the deer immediately after the kill (be sure he is dead before you try this! Avoid his antlers and hooves). Place the deer on the ground with its head downhill, insert a knife blade just in front of the breast bone and sever the large blood vessels of the neck. This type of cut will not ruin the head if it is to be mounted.

2. Dress the deer as soon as possible to insure rapid loss of body heat. Avoid cutting the internal organs. Care should be taken to prevent hair from coming into contact with the meat. Trim away meat that has become blood-shot by the bullet.

Venison sausage may be made from a variety of recipes using a variety of seasonings.

Try different recipes until you find the one you and your family likes, or get deer sausage from a processing plant and prepare and taste it.

If they make a variety of flavors you may be able to select one from their processes that you will like. Remember - not all sausage is the same.

However, here are some recipes you may want to try.
FRESH BREAKFAST SAUSAGE

25 pounds very fresh

3. Rapid cooling is the next important step. This is accomplished by hanging the carcass in a shady, cool spot. Wipe the body cavity dry with a clean cloth and spread the body cavity with a stick for better cooling. Black pepper, if available, regular pork trimmings (50 percent lean, 50 percent fat)

1 pound salt
1½ to 2 ounces ground sage
1½ to 2 ounces black pepper
½ ounce red pepper (if desired)

5 ounces sugar
(For Small Quantities)
2 pounds wild game meat
2 pounds regular pork trimmings
2 teaspoons salt
4 teaspoons ground sage
2 teaspoons ground black pepper

¼ - ½ teaspoon red pepper (if desired)
1 teaspoon sugar
Thoroughly mix trimmings and grind through a sprinkled on the raw edges will help keep flies off the meat. Leave the carcass hanging overnight, if possible.

4. Even though you may want to exhibit your deer, it is best to transport the animal in the trunk of the car. If draped over the front of the fender of the car, engine heat will start meat spoilage.

5. Before cutting-up the carcass, be sure it has been aged properly. One week or longer at 40 degrees F is considered proper. This

"ripening period" should be allowed even if the deer meat is to be frozen.

6. Butchering a deer is very similar to butchering a beef. If the hunter is unfamiliar with the butchering process, it is best to let a butcher do the job.

Venison, Pork, Seasonings Make Excellent Sausage Your Family Will Really Enjoy

plate with ½-inch holes. Spread coarsely ground meat on table top, sprinkle seasoning on top and thoroughly mix.

Regrid through a plate with 1/8-inch holes.

If a ½-inch plate is not available, sprinkle seasoning on top of trimmings, thoroughly mix and grind once through a plate with 1/8-inch holes.

If sausage is to be stuffed to this immediately for best results. Stuff into natural hog casings, plastic bags (any cloth made from strong cloth that has been washed several times can be used).

Natural hog casings can be obtained from meat markets, local meat processing plants or stores. Soak them in warm, salty water for about 1 hour or until they are pliable.

If bulk sausage is to be served soon after making, ¾ cup of water may be added to about 4 pounds of sausage.

Knead with hands until sausage becomes sticky.

Pack tightly in small molds, pans or cans and chill overnight before slicing.

CURED AND SMOKED SAUSAGE (COUNTRY STYLE)

37½ pounds of deer
12½ pounds of very fresh pork
1 pound salt

1 ounce saltpeter (potassium nitrate - obtainable at drug store)

2 ounces black pepper
½ ounce ground cloves (or ½ ounce ground nutmeg, if desired)

¼ ounce garlic powder (if desired)

Prepare and grind meat and add seasoning as for fresh sausage. Stuff into natural hog casings or muslin casing.

Hang or place on racks to cure and dry for 24 to 48 hours at a temperature of 38 degrees F. to 40 degrees F.

The recipe used for fresh breakfast sausage can be used to make cured and smoked sausage.

Bowhunters Should Prepare

Archery season for deer opened in most of Texas on October 3, and in some counties on October 1. "Bowbenders" can then be seen venturing forth in camouflage garb seeking to secure the family venison with only "stick and string".

Of the few hunters who are successful this fall, most will have begun preparations well beforehand. In fact, at least a month of preparation is needed for the serious bowhunter, claims Dr. Dwight Guynn, Texas Agricultural Extension Service wildlife specialist based here.

"It's not the same as the rifleman dusting off his rifle he hasn't fired since last winter and spending an afternoon sighting in before opening day," Guynn explains. "The bowhunter's primitive weapon is more complicated to shoot than a rifle. It requires development of musculature and hand-eye coordination as well as exact execution of shooting form."

Guynn maintains this is only developed by long hours of practice well in advance of the season. Hence, the archer who hasn't taken his bow from its resting place in the closet since last hunting season must start promptly to get back in shape for the upcoming season.

Practice for the bowhunter should encompass variety to help accustom him to the myriad potential hunting shots that may be available. Guynn says that means practice at different distances out to 45 yards. Then the archer should practice shooting from an elevated position if he expects to hunt from trees or elevated stands.

He emphasizes learning to pick a spot to shoot at instead of shooting at the entire animal. Also, practicing with animal targets instead of bulls-eye targets will enhance the skill of picking a spot.

Equipment tune up and replacement should also be done now, Guynn emphasizes. Bowstrings that are worn should be replaced. A spare bowstring is a must for all bowhunters. "You need only ask someone who accidentally touched a sharp arrowhead to his string to get a resounding confirmation that an extra string should be part of the bowhunter's paraphernalia," Guynn stresses.

He recommends checking arrows for straightness and to determine if any need refletching. Hunting points should be touched up, resharpened or new blades inserted in component points. Cables and eccentric wheels on compound bows should be checked and cleaned before use this season.

Anticipation of the hunt is all part of the approaching deer season, Guynn notes. Equipment checks and practice sessions at the archery range are enjoyable activities for the serious bowhunter. Preparing now prevents the last-minute rush and assures one is ready when that big buck steps into view from behind the brush canopy at 20 yards.
