

Bits & Barbs By Bratcher

With Saturday set as the Democratic Primary we are faced with a major decision and that is to select our Democratic candidate to replace U.S. Senator John Tower. The polls indicate that the Democratic forerunner is Bob Krueger followed closely by Doggett and Hance with Harley Schlanger close on the heels of the pacesetters.

You Democrats among us are obligated to place the best candidate that you have in opposition with the soon to be picked Republican candidate. I suppose each voter holds alliances with their respected party but, through the years the party platform has become less of a factor to every individual voter than the candidate that is running for one given position.

Hopefully, by this late date in the game each of us has selected the man that we feel will best represent our sentiments in the U.S. Senate. I, for one, reserved my decision making process until I had an opportunity to look in the face of each individual candidate. For as many of you may have gathered, we at the office, have received reams upon reams of political propaganda from each candidate vying for Tower's seat. A few of the press packs were extremely elaborate and undoubtedly expensive. We have all been hit with a barrage of electronic campaigning by the more affluent candidates but, when it comes right down to brass tacks, we should not allow our decision to be made merely on what we read or see or hear. The position of U.S. Senator is too important to our well-being to allow well-groomed hype to have any bearing on our decision and whatever candidate we elect to support will have a full time job filling John Tower's shoes and I don't mean to say that Tower was the best of all possible selections but I am saying the man represented Texas and it's people's beliefs for a long enough period of time to be very influential in D.C.. His replacement will be expected to do as least as much as Tower has accomplished.

As many of you know last Wednesday seven of the nine senatorial candidates appeared in a debate at San Angelo. The attendance at this meeting was as sparse as the West Texas population. Two of the candidates deemed it unnecessary to even attend this debate and therefore shall not enter into this discussion. Phil Gramm, Republican leader, so say the polls, and Robert Sullivan, a Democratic slow runner were not on hand to air their views. Those that were on hand were two Republicans, Ron Paul and Rob Mosbacher with five Democratic candidates present.

The questioning panel was comprised of members of the San Angelo Press Club who posed questions that each candidate had already time and time again responded to via press releases. The assembly had very little input into the debate and therefore very little sharpshooting was allowed to take place by the future constituents. By close observation a voter could pick his favorite from the seven candidates on hand and if you will allow me I will share with you a few of the observations pertaining to each candidate as they jostled with each other and responded to the cut and dried questioning. I will begin with the two Republican candidates represented.

Ron Paul appears to be a highly intelligent man with an adamant, zesty flair for the conservative Republican viewpoint. He is a forceful orator that shows true and raw emotion on the issues that he deems important. His power is almost charismatic and he is not a typical politician in that he dodges the point. Rob Mosbacher, a well polished and groomed businessman has all the finesse and flair of a ballet dancer but, as one listens to his concepts of government which are typical Republican, one point comes through stronger than others, Mosbacher is too young and needs the experience only age can bring. Yes, folks we will see Mosbacher again in the political world.

Now moving on to the democratic candidates, we will begin with a back runner named David Young, who would probably fall best into the category of the moral majority candidate. Young is obviously a highly moral individual with strong Christian convictions who could possibly represent Texas well considering our Bible Belt attitude but, his chances of winning the primary are virtually null and void, he is not a politician. Next, we will view Harley Schlanger, a pleasing enough young man with middle of the road ideologies of what he thinks Texans want from their Senator but the force and the power necessary to fulfill John Tower's seat seem to be apparently missing from Schlanger's personality. Here again we wonder if more experience would not season this pleasant young man better for the position he seeks. And now for the forerunners in the Democratic race and between the following three, is where the personalities as the general thinking was best witnessed as Doggett, Hance and Krueger to bow shot each other. Lloyd Doggett, my personal choice, would be considered somewhat liberal by many of our readers but, this young man is definitely a motivator who appears to stand square on his ground and would battle endlessly for his constituents. One of the main planks in his platform is consumer welfare which can best be attested to his setting up the Sunset Commission in Texas. He would not be a bad choice for the working man. He was lest zesty in attacking Hance and Krueger and more concerned with presenting his views than any of the leading three. Next allow me to offer you my observations of Kent Hance, the obvious Democratic winner. He has the "down home country" personality that we all respect and admire. He has the sharp and cutting wit we want from our representative in D.C. and the typical conservative viewpoints so many of us hold near and dear to our hearts. If you will allow me, he is the typical West Texas type politician and definitely 'good ol boy'. He could be a strong debater in any circle with something of a Will Rogers flair for cutting his opponents. He has the ability to use humor to present his very serious and well-thought out comments, he could be considered a friend by many of his constituents. And last but definitely not least, comes the leading Democratic candidate, Bob Krueger. As many of you know this is not Krueger's first attempt at the Senatorial seat in fact he once gave John Tower a very well earned run for his money. He is undoubtedly, one of the more intelligent candidates with a list of academic accreditations as long as most people's arm. His voice could be considered mesmerizing but there is something wrong in the image that Krueger projects. He appears to be something of a toucher and obviously a well-groomed politician. Each time he speaks his words are as well thought out as a movie script, he never backs off from a statement but, then it would be hard to place any statement he makes in a corner. You sense a high degree of wealth and power in his presence but, in my lowly opinion, there was a definite absence of eye contact in his Amstead blue peepers and when it comes right down to it, folks, a handshake and eye-contact say a lot about a man to me.

Powell shining Duchess

Miss Deborah Lorrie Powell was presented as a Visiting Court Duchess to the Court of Shining Moments in the Coronation of the Queen of Fiesta presented by the Order of the Alamo in San Antonio on Wednesday, April 25, 1984.

In keeping with the theme of the days of King Arthur, Miss Powell was the Duchess of Frivolous Comedy.

Her escort was Mr. Michael Mertz. She wore a gown of hot pink and marigold silk and velvet in the Harlequin design with shimmering jewels and jester's golden bells forming the dress and train. The collar and headpiece are reminiscent of a jester's cap.

On Friday, the Queen, Princesses and their entire court rode in the fabulous Battle of Flowers parade. The magnificent robes of the court were displayed on beautiful floats designed and built by the Battle of Flowers Association.

Lorrie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Powell of Ft. McKavett, Texas. She is currently studying at the University of Texas.

Ehrlichiosis increasing

Texas veterinarians are reporting an increasing number of cases of Canine Ehrlichiosis (pronounced early-ki-o-sis), a potentially fatal dog disease.

Originally introduced to the U.S. from Vietnam, the disease is transmitted by ticks and aggravated by stress, according to an article published recently in the Texas Veterinary Medical Journal.

Veterinary internal medicine specialists say early symptoms may include listlessness, fever, poor appetite and weight loss, followed by depletion of red and/or white blood cells and decreased blood platelets. If not properly diagnosed and treated during the early phase, some dogs may be subject to a severe chronic phase of the disease 50-100 days after infection. This stage of the disease is frequently fatal, with treatment often unrewarding and animals living only a few days.

The disease is characterized as rickettsia, which is smaller than a bacteria but larger than a virus.

Dogs possibly infected with the disease should be tested for Ehrlichiosis (blood test) by a veterinarian.

When a test is shown to be positive, the dog is then treated by a veterinarian with tetracycline antibiotics. Other control methods include the elimination of ticks, both on the animal and premises.

Eldorado band tours Nashville

On Wednesday April 25, the Eldorado High School Band along with their director, Mike Marsh and sponsors, Lola Squires, Deanne Walker, Mrs. Jim Robinson, Bob and Jo Parkers, Elaine Marsh, Charles and Juanice Orr and Ron Sutton, left Eldorado at 4:00 p.m. to go the Grand Ole Opry in Nashville, Tennessee.

They arrived in Nashville at the Continental Inn around noon April 26. About 4:30 that afternoon they went on a riverboat cruise by Belle Carol Riverboat Co. in Nashville, where a sumptuous Southern-style dinner was served plus live "Nashville Sound" entertainment, including Jo Parker who sung with the band.

On Friday morning at 7:00 a.m. they went to the Grand Ole Opry House where they played in competition with other bands in their class and were rated on their playing.

After playing they had some time left so they toured Andrew Jackson's Hermitage which was Andrew Jackson's home. It was a very spacious and lovely home with some of the early Hermitage cabins which had been preserved. Some were slave cabins where they had left the furniture as it used to be. They also toured the gardens back of the home where the flowers were unusual and beautiful.

That afternoon they took a guided tour of the Grand Ole Opry which included a tour of the Ryman Auditorium in downtown Nashville and the Capitol, a drive down Music Row and by the Parthenon. Next was a trip to a recording studio and a tour by the homes of such artists as Minnie Pearl, Ronnie Milsap, Rex Ritter, Hank Williams, Eddy Arnold, Waylon Jennings and the Governor's mansion.

On Friday night they went to a Ratings Party at Opryland where the ratings were announced. Eldorado won a rating of sixth place out of eleven bands. They were in competition with much larger bands out of larger schools. They played Normandy Beach by John Edmonston and Three Ayres from Gloucester by High Stuart. The Festival Director was Dr. W.J. Julian from the University of Tennessee in Knoxville.

Saturday they went to Opryland for the day and to the Grand Ole Opry performance that night. They heard Jimmy Dickens, Jan Howard, Porter Wagoner, Skip Stevenson, Bill Monroe, Wilma Lee Cooper, Jimmy C. Newman, Jean Shepard, Stu Phillips, Bill Anderson, Roy Drusky, Karen Wheeler, Del Wood, The Crook Brothers, The Melvin Sloan Dancers, Roy Acuff, Stonewall Jackson, Jeanne Pruitt, Carlises, Hank Snow, the 4 Guys, Billy Grammer and Riders in the Sky.

They left Nashville for home about 10:00 p.m. Saturday and arrived in Eldorado in about 8:00 p.m. Sunday April 29th. According to the band it was a wonderful trip and everyone had a really good time.

McAfees attend Pianorama '84

Belle McAfee, of Eldorado and her son Ronnie and his family of Katy, Texas attended a Greater Katy Crusade during the week of April 1-8 at the First Baptist Church in Katy, Texas. Each night there were different musical entertainers featured. Among them were the musical group, Eternity, a contemporary gospel band; Jeff Benward, Christian vocal artist; Debbie Boone, Grammy award winning performer; Dale Evans Rogers, television personality and performer; The Brothers, a gospel vocal group and Dr. Shirley Cothran Barrett, Miss America of 1975. Each performer gave their testimony as they performed.

They also attended a Pianorama '84 featuring Dino Kartsonakis, a Christian concert pianist, in the Houston Music Hall, April 10th in Houston.

He featured six young Houston pianists and seven concert performers, benefitting the Star of Hope Mission in Houston.

One of the six pianists featured was Teal McAfee, nine year old granddaughter of Mrs. McAfee.

Nancy Chapman, Tara Erickson and Diane Hill, winners of Miss Oklahoma, Miss South Dakota and Miss South Carolina contests were included among the performers. Also Nathan Digesare, whose concert ministry takes him all over world, and Dr. R. Bob Davis, a noted pianist and a staff member of the First Baptist and Prestonwood Baptist Churches in Houston.

There were seven grand pianos on the stage at one time that were used in the performances. The decor and lighting were superb.

Dino is a five time winner of the Gospel Music association's Dove Award and has performed in Europe, Asia and America. He was nominated for a Grammy award for his playing on an album of music from the movie, Chariots of Fire. His program that night included a variety of piano classics, sacred hymns, contemporary Christian hymns, show tunes and popular music selections.

Before the performance the McAfee family and some guests went to an Oriental restaurant call Benihana of Tokyo in down town Houston on Louisiana St. It was an unusual and interesting eating place.

The McAfee family brought Belle home and all the family spent Easter with Jon and Rene Calcote. All of Rene's children were there too. Charlene Warnock of Dallas, Susan and Brian Sweeney and Jo Dan Minnick of San Angelo.

1983 called meat year

1983 was the "great meat year," and the near-record levels of meat on the market shocked many economists. While 1983 red meat production did not quite match records set in the mid-seventies, it was up substantially from the previous year and came close to the record high only 2 percent short. At the same time per capita consumption of meat and poultry set a new record of 209 pounds in 1983 up six pounds from 1982, points out an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. With even larger supplies of beef, slightly larger supplies of poultry, and fairly level pork supplies forecast for 1984, consumption could set another record.

Reports from Washington

Home to Texas

No matter where Texans live or travel, we always look forward to heading back to the Lone Star State. Whether it is momentarily viewing the gently flowing Guadalupe River's south fork near my home or following a busy schedule squeezing in as many visits as possible, being in Texas is always a revitalizing experience.

And, while my travels reinforced once again the accuracy of your calls and letters as a barometer of the thoughts and attitudes of the 21st District, nothing can ever replace the importance of personal contact.

As I traveled, the topic of conversation on everyone's mind remained the same — Central America.

Time and again I encountered strong support for continued economic and military assistance for the freedom-seeking people of Central America, including the use of covert aid to the Contras, or Freedom Fighters, for the purpose of interdicting the flow of supplies and munitions from Nicaragua to the guerrillas in El Salvador.

For, while our nation shares almost 2,000 miles of common border with our neighbor to the South, the 21st Congressional District of Texas contains the single largest stretch of that border — some 345 miles. Such proximity heightens our awareness of the events in Central America. And, we in the 21st District fully understand the implications when intelligence experts describe Mexico as the pearl desired by these same Marxist agents now advising the Nicaraguans. Such a pearl must remain forever out of reach.

As I traveled throughout our district, my thoughts kept returning to the hundreds of conversations I had with the people of El Salvador in my capacity as an official election observer there on March 25. The nation of El Salvador would fit into the 21st Congressional District over five times. Yet the Salvadoran people displayed courage as big and grand as all of Texas. They refused to bow to either terrorist-style efforts to disrupt the voting process or to long delays in the sweltering sun brought about by a voting system designed to eliminate even the perception of impropriety. I found the Salvadorans determined to emulate our democratic traditions, desiring simply to live in peace and to better their lives. These people love their country as we love our own. Their budding democratic traditions simply must be allowed to flourish and grow.

Traveling across our District, it is obvious Mother Nature's fangs are still out — a very severe drought continues to devastate West Texas and is spreading eastward. Fewer bluebonnets are blooming and other familiar Spring flowers are virtually nonexistent. There is very little ground cover for our livestock to feed upon. Some ranchers are even saying that this drought could rival the terrible dry period of the Thirties — a time considered even worse than the Fifties, which I experienced growing up on my family's Hill Country ranch.

Despite our drought-related problems, which we will overcome, it was good to be home among those who share the same values and traditions. As always, I returned to Washington with a sense of renewed strength and energy that being in Texas brings.

How to relax a budget that's stretched tight

Many farm families find they need a better balance between short-term and long-term debts. Many times we can help with long-term Land Bank loans.

By spreading repayment over a number of years, terms may be arranged to fit your budget and cash flow. And, there's no prepayment penalty with a Land Bank loan. You can prepay any amount, at any time, from any source.

Stop by and see how we can help solve your budget problems.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Just a reminder! Even though the following has been on all levels of communications the past few weeks, I still get a barrage of questions daily about the up-coming Primaries this Saturday, May 5th. Please print the following in this week's Leader. Thank you.

Janee Finley
County Chairman
Democratic Party

What's happening May 5th in Texas? The two major political parties are having their primaries. Yes, Republican too! However, due to the fact of "lack of interest", Schleicher County has no Republican Primary. Two-thirds of registered voters in Schleicher County claim the famous Democratic Party. Places on the ballot include U.S. Senate, Chief Justices, and Judges of Court of Criminal Appeals, District Judge, District Attorney and various local government Places. All races on county level include incumbents, unopposed with the exception of Precinct #1 which has three vying for "Boss".

WHOOA!!!!!! WHERE'S THE BEEF???????? No Presidential Candidates?

Good Neighbor meet

The Good Neighbor Extension Homemakers Club met in the home of Connie Spence for their regular meeting.

The program was on "Milk and Your Health". The roll call was answered with "Why did you not go to the District 7 meeting or what you enjoyed most". Women attending were Ruth Baker, Oia Ruth Barbee, Flora Riley, Ruby Hight, Fern Parent, Nancy Lester, Bobbie Killebrew, Elenor Powell, and Connie Spence.

Not on the ballot, anyway. the mode, after a 12 year rest, is back to the good ole fashioned Precinct Convention held after polls close May 5th. (8 p.m. in Schleicher County). Caucus time! Delegate time! And if you are interested enough to support your Presidential candidate you'll put YOUR time into it too. If you have any questions concerning the primaries May 5th, give me a call or call your Precinct Chairman, 3-2848. Anyone can participate in the Precinct Convention as long as they have voted in the day's primary. Don't forget to exercise your right and privilege to vote and don't forget the Precinct Convention at 8 p.m. after the polls close at your precinct polling place.

Polling places: Precinct #1: Methodist Rec. Hall, Warner St.; Precinct #2, New Fire Station, Menard Hwy.; Precinct #3, Memorial Building, Cottonwood St.; Precinct #4, S.C.I.S.D. Administration Building, Field St.

To All Voters In Precinct 1

After completion of college, my goal has been to be able to move back to Eldorado and establish permanent residency. Even though my appraisal business is headquartered in San Angelo, I have made the commitment to live in Schleicher County. This included building a home, moving my family, and sharing with them the many opportunities I was afforded by growing up in this community. I would like to maximize the potential of this county as a small, primarily rural, environment. For these reasons I have chosen to run for County Commissioner. I will devote whatever time is necessary to effectively represent Precinct 1 and Schleicher County, if elected. Your consideration toward this commitment and my election would be greatly appreciated - but most of all, exercise your right and vote on May 5, 18 1984.

Jan Fuessel is featured in magazine

Eldorado's Jan Fuessel is making quite a name for herself in the San Angelo - Eldorado area for her creative, ceramic tile work. Jan hand paints and glazes the tile for different areas throughout the home.

She has done most of her work in the form of stovebacks and splashboards. Among the area homes who have Jan's tile work in them are the Britt Poynor's and the Billy Frank Blaylock's.

Jan is featured in May's edition of San Angelo Magazine along with pictures of her unique craft. As Jan states in the article, "I love everything about doing this. The challenge for me, is to take a pattern, enlarge it and try to make the finished tile work look as exactly like the original as possible."
