Nancy Lester will head the Schleicher County Chamber of Commerce in 1988. She was elected chamber president at a meeting of the new board of directors Monday.

Raymond Mittel was selected vice president, with Jo Ward being re-elected secretary-treasurer. Cindy McGinnes is chamber manager.

Other members of the chamber board this year are Jo Ed Hill, Abbie McCormick, George Gower, Jim Martin, Steve Williams and Jim Glidden.

The new chamber board voted to continue meeting on the first and third Mondays of each month at Eagle Dairy Mart.

Following the election of officers the board discussed several ongoing chamber projects and adjourned.

by the National Study of School Evaluation for this purpose and thus the initial task is to identify the educational goals that the district wants to implement and which ones will become part of its program. The identification of educational goals will enable the Administrative Staff conducting the evaluation to develop a set of basic principles of education that will become the philosophical framework from which concrete educational objectives can be developed for the district. In order to identify the

Therefore, the purpose of the Needs Assessment are basically four:

1. Identify the educational goals that are supported the educational community of the Schleicher County I.S.D.

2. Provide the School Board with a set of educational goals cational principals that represent the framework under which all programs will be designed, developed and implemented.

3. Provide a date base that will give specificity and orientation for the long range planning and development of Schleicher County I.S.D. program.

4. Prioritize the educational goals so that more crucial goals will be planned first. This prioritization is deemed to be necessary because resources (time, monies, personnel, facilities, etc.) do not allow for the accomplishment of all the major purposes and goals that the district might find important.

HE RETURNETH..... The vision came back Sunday night, unfolding as if by magic from the dashboard of the Bronco and this time he was wearing a

"Wal, I don't know about that, but it's a shame it wasn't even a good game to watch," this columnist insisted, trying a subtle change of subject.

"Neill, even your wife said the Redskins would win and she should know--she is one," the vision continued, obviously not about to let yours truly off the proverbial hook.

"That doesn't mean anything. She doesn't hardly know the difference between a pigskin and porkskin. She was justrooting for the Redskins 'cause she has all that Choctaw Indian blood in her. I didn't have the heart to tell her that there isn't a single "redskin" on the Red-

"Do you visions know how the game will turn out before it is played or not?" we continued.

'We find out from Jimmy the Greek, and since he isn't on the tube anymore we're in trouble. What did he get fired for Mr. Publisher?"

"Wal, he made some racist remarks and CBS canned him," we answered.

"Against Redskins?" the vision queried.

"No, against blacks," we answered again, getting a tad impatient with the vision who is supposed to be all-knowing and instead has to be brought up to date on current events by this mere mortal

"I did hear about Dan Rather and George Bush," the vision said. "Old George ain't quite the wimp a lot of people thought he was and Rather was out of line."

Local students tour SA hospital

Mrs. Martha Spinks' Creative and Productive Thinking class took a tour of Shannon Hospital's Diagnostic Center recently. Shannon Hospital is the only hospital in the region to have a MRI (Magnetic Ressonance Imaging) for diagnosising brain tumors, brain concussions, disk distruction and many other complicated problems.

The new MRI Unit is especially exciting to have in the area because certain diagnosis can be made faster, with less pain and much more accurately.

It is a giant magnet that aligns the hydrogen molecules in the body of the patient and then radiograph pictures are taken. A computer is used to separate the pictures into whatever form the doctor needs and clear pictures of any part of the body come out. The use of computers in both machines was of special interest to students and parents.

Along with the academic benefits, Shannon Hospital invited the students to eat in the hospital cafeteria. "It was wonderful!" a spokesman said. Some of the comments made by the students included: Caty McGregor -- "We learned a lot and many of our questions were answered. They were very kind to us."

Lindsay Johnson -- "Our guide, Cindy Akers, was very complete in answering our many questions and allowed us to have a good time." Shanna Edmiston -- "I learned a lot and would like to go

Pepper Nix -- "If I had to go to the hospital I would go to Shannon. The food was great."

Farley Dakan -- "It was nice of them to take time out to teach us about the MRI and CT scanner. It was all very interesting and the food was great."

Reagan Bounds -- "I liked the MRI unit. The food was great." Mindy McClung -- "My

STATE TREASURER SAYS

Bank closings do not cost Texans

Texas State Treasurer Ann W. Richards reported this week that taxpayers "Didn't lose one red cent" from the 50 bank failures in Texas last year, even though those banks held almost $15 million in state funds.

"I am pleased to report to the people of Texas that their money is fully accounted for and is safe, even though our collateral system was tested as never before in recent history," Treasurer Richards said.

State law requires that all state funds invested by the State Treasury be fully collateralized at all times. This means a bank must put up collateral with the State Treasury before the bank can have state deposits. For example, if a bank has $500,000 in state deposits, the State Treasury requires $100,000 in federal deposit insurance and $400,000 in collateral before it released the deposit to the bank.

This collateral is usually in the form of municipal bonds and US government securities.

Should that bank fail, the State Treasury, which has actual possession of the bank's collateral, simply converts that collateral into cash.

This collateral is checked each day by Treasury staff to make sure all 1,700 state depositories have sufficient collateral to cover their state deposits.

"This system was called upon 40 times in 1987 and passed the test each time," Richards said.

"Unfortunately, bank failures have almost become a way of life in the last few years and experts say there may be as many bank failures in 1988 as last year," Treasurer Richards said. "The fact that the Treasury staff has kept on top of the situation is testimony that our system

In total, 40 of the 50 state banks that filed in 1987 held $14.8 million in state funds.

Richards said she also wanted to remind Texans that their personal money is safe in Texas financial institutions with federal insurance coverage as long as their total deposits at any single institution do not exceed $100,000.

WINDOW CONDENSATION The condensation that forms inside windows in the winter is usually just a nuisance, but can be a sign of a larger problem with humidity. Foggy or wet windows inside your home shows that the temperature of those surfaces has dropped below the dew point temperature at which water vapor in the air will condense on surfaces. Condensation may not be damaging to your home if it is temporary and vaporizes as the surface warms during the day. But moisture which lingers on the surface and eventually pools on the window frame could damage the frame, especially if

NOTICE TO AT&T CUSTOMERS

The Public Utility Commission of Texas has initiated a proceeding to consider the following: whether any long distance telephone company that does not provide local telephone service has the ability to control prices in Texas; the status of long distance competition; and the effect of competition on the public interest. In this proceeding AT&T will be seeking the right to compete in Texas on an equal basis with other long distance companies.

This matter has been assigned Docket No. 7790 and hearings have been set to begin May 31, 1988. Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the PUC as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas, 78757, or by calling the PUC Public Information Office at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227 or (512) 458-0221 for teletypewriter for the deaf.

Maxine has been after me to write about time. It is also about time I did, write about time. You see there are twenty-four time zones that the world uses to keep track of time. Most time, official time, is calculated from "Greenwich mean time" and, I am sure that in most metropolitan areas there are places where you can find out the "exact time" if you needed to know.

All this came about because when we first moved here Maxine attempted to find out what time it was. When we lived in San Agelo there was a number you called and the recording told you what time it was. Or, if you wanted to, you could tune in the cable channel with the weather and there would be what I assumed was the correct time.

Anyway Maxine, since we did not have and still don't have cable, called to ask the operator what the time number was for Eldorado. The operator told her there was no such thing. Maxine then asked her for the Angelo number which the operator indicated you could not call from out of town. I guess this is to keep out-of-towners from calling collect. Anyway, she then asked the operator if she would call time then tell Maxine what time it was. The operator said they could not do that nor could she give the time that she had by looking at her watch or the clock on the wall. Maxine never did find out what time it was so she estimated from what her watch showed and my watch showed and arbitrarily set all the electric clocks in our Eldorado home.

Now my Dad was and still is, I imagine, a real stickler for punctuality. He was always getting us to somewhere and home again early. On Sundays when he used to take us to six o'clock a.m. Mass he would have us there by five-thirty. He also had a very keen sense that time kept going on even if you didn't. Some people don't have this quality. Some people think that getting your coat on, getting in the car, rounding up all the children, and starting the car take no time at all. I am not going to name names here but you may know some one just like that.

Why is it that your children, especially the small ones, never have to go to the bathroom until just before you are about to leave to somewhere? There is also this game that is played in families for more than two people, that when it is time to go somewhere you go and call one of the children, he comes out, and the children whom you thought were waiting at the door have gone off into some other room, so you go back to get them, and while you are retrieving them the first child you had to get has gone back in his room. That may be a little hard to follow but I bet you have had the same thing happen to you. The only time all of them show up ready to go is when, to avoid the chase situation you plan ahead and start rounding them up about a half hour ahead. Of course, as soon as they all see it is half an hour early they scatter like chaff in the wind.

Rabbit Club forming

On January 31, a group of 19 people met to discuss starting a Rabbit Club in Eldorado. The meeting was held at Janet Hunley's home at 3 p.m. Sunday afternoon.

Brenda Collins of B&B Rabbits spoke to the group of parents and children. She demonstrated proper handling and care of the rabbits.

She also spoke on what to look for in choosing a healthy rabbit for a pet or for showing. Mrs. Collins also commented on general care and diet of rabbits, nutritional value of the meat, rabbit disease and markets for rabbits.

Mrs. Collins gave advice on starting a club and encouraged all present to participate in this endeavor. Another meeting was set for Sunday, February 14 at 3 p.m.

The meeting will be held at Janet Hunley's residence, 308 West Fields.

Anyone who is interested is encouraged to attend. For more information, you may call 853-3116 or 853-2228.

Ruth Baker honored

Miss Ruth Baker was the special occasion celebrated at the Schleicher County Museum Monday, February 1. About 50 members and guests greeted Miss Ruth, as she entered, singing "Happy Birthday." The refreshment table was beautifully decorated in red and white, to accent February, the Valentine month.

A money tree, in full bloom, served as center piece for the table and a long white banner drapped the front containing a birthday greeting.

The Historical Society honored Miss Ruth on this special date as a tribute to her devoted service and work in our commu-

The Historical Society was organized December 6, 1962. Miss Ruth was a charter member and served as an officer many of the years since. The Schleicher County Museum opened June mental in this event.

The Baker family moved to Schleicher County September 16, 1906. Ruth attended school in the Kaffir Community and Eldorado. She attended North Texas State. She came home to be a school teacher and her love of education has been evident all through her life. She taught school for four years and was librarian for 26 more years. Ruth was also Schleicher County librarian from 1944 until 1970.

CHANGING CAREGIVERS AND CHILDREN'S STRESS--Imagine going to work one morning and discovering that you have a new boss. Then imagine that you got a new boss every few weeks or months. You'd probably find the adjustments required by these working conditions to be quite stressful. Yet parents may not realize their young children experience this same kind of stress when caregivers are constantly changing. Figures show that child-care workers have the highest rates of turnover of all occupations. In some day care centers, children may be cared for by a revolving supply of child care workers. When parents move children from one daycare center, family daycare home, neighborhood babysitter or relative to another, the child has to adjust to new people and new surroundings. Some children are better at adjusting to changing circumstances than others. However, sleep disruptions, changes in eating habits, regression in toileting, clinging and being more demanding may be signs of stress in any child.

INSULATING YOUR MO-BILE HOME--When it comes to insulating a mobile home, some steps will be more cost-effective than others. For example, adding blown-in wall insulation is usually not cost-effective, unless the home is totally without insulation. Some insulating protection can be added to inner walls with decorative wall treatments, such as carpet, corkboard, wood or padded fabric coverings over rigid board insulation. It will be more cost effective to add bat or blanket insulation underneath the mobile home if there is none there now. Wrap with insulation all exposed heating and cooling ducts under the home to prevent excessive loss of conditioned air.

You will be far better off to make efforts immediately to work out a payment plan with the creditor. Two of the most important factors to creditors is that they be paid regularly and on time. Write a letter to the creditor as soon as possible and offer a monthly amount of payment that you know you can handle. The final decision will be up to the creditor.

THANKS

I think this was the most fun birthday I have ever had! Thanks to my children, grandchildren, and friends. One would not want to live without friends and neighbors. Surely you have made this day joyful and special to me. The cards are beautiful and the fellowship too precious to describe. Thanks, and I love you. Dixie

Blind program approved for SC

The West Texas Lighthouse for the Blind in San Angelo, has received funding from Concho Valley Council of Governments (Title III Funds) to provide services to visually impaired and blind persons over 60 years of age in 13 counties, including Schleicher County.

Don Starr, Independent Living Program Coordinator at the Lighthouse, has been visiting referrals in Eldorado, to assess needs and to initiate needed services. Services will be provided to persons in their homes, nursing homes, hospitals or at the Senior Citizens Center.

Training and supplies will be provided, without cost, to the participants in the program in the areas of personal management, home management and communication skills. Specialized training such as braille will be

Special aids and supplies will be large print telephone dials, bold line paper, braille paper, slates, stylus, asbestos oven mitts, splatter guards, low vision or braille timers, low vision playing cards, special designed checkers and games and other items to help in developing leisure time activities and white canes for mobility.

Starr is retired from the Air Force and graduated from Angelo State University in 1985 with a bachelor of science degree in psychology. He began working at the Lighthouse four years ago as a volunteer, then worked in the Rehabilitation Department as a Vocational Evaluator-Trainer until June of 1986 when he developed the Independent Living Program at the Lighthouse in San Angelo.

His program at the Lighthouse includes a Work Activity Center in which severely disabled and/or elderly blind persons work two hours a day and have classes in music, arts and crafts and recreational activities.

His eldest participant in the program is 93 years old.

The goal of this program is assist visually impaired elderly persons to learn the skills that would enable them to remain in their homes and to enhance the independent living skills and socialization skills of those in nursing homes.

Counties that can receive services through this program are Reagan, Crockett, Sterling, Coke, Tom Green, Irion, Schleicher, Sutton, Concho, Mc-Culloch, Menard, Mason and Kimble. Any person desiring more information about this program is invited to contact Starr at the Lighthouse at 915-653-4231.
