

Who does what for whom?

Recent action by the Eldorado City Council called for no more payment to Schleicher County for law enforcement protection. The city has been paying the county $800 per month for the last several years.

According to city secretary Carolyn Mayo the council took the action because a majority of the city fathers think the city is not getting any or enough late-night law enforcement.

Sheriff Ronnie Norris denies that statement. "We usually have deputies on duty at most hours. However, we are currently operating with one man short and that is not a good situation."

The city and county do work together in other areas, however. The following is a list of what each governmental entity does for the other:

WHAT COUNTY DOES FOR CITY

Road work to landfill when required.
Caliche for street work as required - how much?
Assistance in digging landfill pits - one-half every 3-5 years?
One half of expense of landfill tractor - $12,000 in 1986.

Haul truck when needed to haul landfill tractor in, etc.

Use of land at golfcourse for water well location.

1600 Gal. of asphalt (1986).
Storage of city firetruck in county built fire hall.

WHAT CITY DOES FOR COUNTY

Water golf course and park area.
Water at county loading rack (avg. of 91,000/month) - 177,000-14,800.
Backhoe at courthouse for Memorial Building problems -

2-3 times/2-3 days each at no charge.

Backhoe on Elm St. (Meador) when paving/telephone company work.

Attendants at landfill 7 days per week - Cost $17,200 plus S.S. plus Ret. plus ins., etc.

Lease at landfill $3600/year. $800/month for deputy service.

Storage of county firetrucks (3-4) for 40 years w/ no expenses for building/insurance.

Furnish wa/g/trash pickup at new firehall at no cost to the county.

ACCORDING TO SALES TAX TOTALS

SC economy stable?

State Comptroller Bob Bullock says the state's economy is making a comeback and according to sales tax figures released by Bullock this week, Eldorado's business is too.

The City of Eldorado received $6,460.59 from Bullock's office, compared to $4,922.46 for the same time period last year, an increase of 31.25 percent.

For the year, Eldorado has received $25,021.45, a decrease of 33.23 percent for the same time last year. However, the city's sales tax total was distorted last year by a lump sum late payment of one or several taxpayers.

Things are looking up for other area cities too. Sales tax totals for some neighboring towns include Eden, $5,745.56, up 22 percent; Crane, $14,474.57, up 8.61 percent; Mertzon, $3,613.65, down 1.16 percent; Junction, $15,310.74, down 3.32 percent; Brady, $31,328.83, up 1.54 percent; Sonora, $20,732.85, up 27.93 percent; and San Angelo, $680,148.09, up 7.91 percent.

Bullock Wednesday sent checks totaling $120.7 million to 1,041 cities and 81 counties that levy local option sales taxes.

"The economy of Texas is recovering," Bullock said, "and the consumer confidence is reflected in the rebates going to local governments."

City sales tax rebates totaled $111.4 million.

Bullock also sent checks totaling $9.3 million to the counties which have approved a half-percent county sales tax.

The largest allocation this month went to Houston--$19 million.

El Paso County received the biggest county allocation--$1.3 million.

May's checks represent taxes collected by monthly filers in March and quarterly filers for the first quarter that were reported to the Comptroller's office by April 21.

LEARNING TO DRIVE....

Learning to drive was no big deal. Not the way we looked at it. Mom, on the other hand, might disagree just a tad.

Gaining the old driver's license, certainly one of the main events in a young man's life, was accomplished with the aid of driver's education of course, a prayer or two on mother's part and the perseverance of that poor little Corvair that was unlucky enough to be in the wrong place at the wrong time.

The first driving day at driver's ed featured parking lot motoring--we rode around and around the parking lot at Fort Stockton High School with one of the coolest DE teachers who ever strapped on a seatbelt.

It seems his name was Mears or Means or something like that and he was truly a neat dude. He sat there and read the newspaper while t.b. guided the new chevrolet through it's paces. We had the radio on and we'll never forget listening to the Indianapolis 500 get underway. This driving was going to be no big deal we thought. A couple more lessons and Mario Andretti and A.J. Foyt had better look out.

The first threat they made to us concerned driving illegally while taking the course, in other words you were not under any circumstances to drive without a licensed driver in the vehicle.

Neighbor David became the first casualty of this rule when he was not only seen driving by our DE instructor by himself but also managed to roll his brother's auto. He had to wait until the next year and get his license.

This was a truly severe penalty in those days because it meant another year of double dating, not being able to ride the "drag" and in short little independence.

To say that mother was a little nervous about yours truly's driving would be like saying Custer could have used a little help at the Little Big Horn.

To be fair, mother has always been kinda nervous when behind the wheel anyway and we suppose the thought of her baby son zipping down the highway in

TAX LAWS CHANGING

'Ins', 'Outs' of new laws given

EDITOR'S NOTE -- The Success has been asked by local businessmen to reprint the following information on agricultural sales tax exemptions, recently changed by the Texas Legislature.

AGRICULTURAL SALES TAX EXEMPTIONS: WHO QUALIFIES?

A farmer or rancher is not automatically exempt from payment of the sales tax. To be eligible for an agricultural exemption, an item purchased (except those listed below which are specifically exempt regardless of use) must be used exclusively on a farm or a ranch in the production of agricultural products.

A farm or ranch is defined as land used, either wholly or in part, in the production of crops, livestock, and/or other agricultural products held for sale in the regular course of business.

Farms and ranchers include: commercial greenhouses that are the original producers of agricultural products; feed lots; dairy farms; commercial orchards and similar agricultural operations. (Home gardens, logging and timber operations are not considered farms and ranches.)

SPECIFIC EXEMPTIONS REGARDLESS OF USE

The following items are specifically exempt under the law, regardless of use, without an exemption certificate:

--Seeds and annual plants, the products of which either are ordinarily food or are to be sold in the regular course of business.

--Animals, the products of which ordinarily are food, (cattle, sheep, poultry, swine, etc.).

--Horses, mules and work animals.

EXEMPTIONS ACCORDING TO USE

The following are exempt when used EXCLUSIVELY on a farm or ranch if an exemption certificate is secured from the purchaser.

--Fertilizer, fungicides, insecticides, herbicides, defoliants and desiccants (drying agents) used exclusively in agricultural production.

--All medications, tonics, restoratives or other therapeutic preparations for farm and ranch animals. (Example: vaccines and drenches.)

--Machinery or equipment used exclusively in the production of food, grass, feed, and other agricultural products or in building or maintaining roads and water facilities.

--Feed for animals held for sale in the regular course of business.

--Feed for farm and ranch animals.

EXAMPLES OF EXEMPT MACHINERY/EQUIPMENT

Machinery and equipment include expendable agricultural supplies such as: hand tools, baling wire and binder's twine; lubricants for farm machinery and for motor vehicles not licensed for highway use; nuts, bolts, washers, and other hardware; and materials and structural components used to construct those items listed below which are classified as machinery or equipment.

Items specifically designed to be assembled into a machine such as parts of a pumping system or portable irrigation system.

Repair or replacement parts used exclusively on farm or ranch machinery or equipment, including tractor tires; tires used on the family auto was a little hard to handle. Undaunted this future publisher got through DE in great shape, making 100s on both our written tests and driving almost flawlessly for the DPS officer who finally made things official. Less than a week later, however, we went for a Coke and lost control of the car in the rain, smacking a pole and denting the Corvair to the tune of $800. We had always heard about having your life pass before your eyes but didn't believe it until the wreck. We didn't have that feeling seconds before hitting the pole—instead getting it while nursing the injured auto back to the house and contemplating the expected confrontation with mother. Actually she took the news in pretty good fashion, only screaming for five minutes, crying for three and telling us at least four times, "I just had to work so hard to buy us that nice car and now it's gone." We assured her it wasn't fatal and pointed out that at least no one was seriously injured. The best friend's head had bounced off the dash board, leaving him with a lump and that was all the injuries. In later years his now ex-wife would swear that the wreck did more damage than we first thought. We got to drive the Corvair all during high school with no more serious crashes. Mom eventually got to the point she thought we could drive a little bit and we grew to love driving, realizing that we do our best thinking when behind the wheel. Dozens of Eldorado teens are taking driver's ed right now, preparing to do the very same. Our condolences to their parents and the local light poles.

-top of the divide-

BY THOMAS GIOVANNITTI

On Sunday, June 11, our family will become smaller by one. Jacobo Martinez, the exchange student from Mexico City will be returning to his home.

Jacobo has been a fine guest. He entered into our family life without reservations, sharing himself and his history with us from the start. The Martinez family can and should be very proud of their second son. It has been refreshing to be around a young man who is so mannerly and polite.

There are, of course, many mannerly young men right here, but I was singularly impressed with Jacobo's presence. He was able, quite often, to anticipate the needs of each family member, from reading books to Annamarie to his attentive listening to this long-winded lawyer.

Jacobo seems to have made a pretty good impression upon the broader community of Eldorado. Many of the school personnel have expressed to me, and I hope to him, his many fine qualities. Jacobo approached his stated goal of learning more English with a dedication and discipline to be envied.

He spent many a night, in his room studying English. Of course, many people here, helped him. Not only teachers, but several other people and their families took time from their schedules to coach him in his pronunciation and English syntax.

Another of Jacobo's goals was to experience American life first hand. I have got to be honest, at first, I, myself, thought that coming from a city of nineteen million to Eldorado might not give him a true picture of America. In fact, being sent to live with a displaced son of an Italian immigrant was even less likely to give Jacobo a clear picture of life in these United States.

As Jacobo's visit comes to an end, I have changed my mind. Jacobo has met America because he met its people. He has met a wide variety of people from many places who, by the way, are living here. What could be more American than people from all over finding that life had brought them to Eldorado, Texas. He also has met people who have spent their entire lives here.

Jacobo got to eat plenty of Italian food, maybe more than he wished, but he also ate American fare, especially some Texas meals that are just not the same anywhere else.

But Jacobo's visit has not been all one way. He brought, to me at least, an appreciation of himself as a person. I am afraid that we did not really do very many different and exciting things while he was here. Jacobo entered every activity with a real sense of anticipation and interest.

I am sure that this young man will do well whatever he chooses to do the rest of his life because he has all the best qualities. We have been privileged to have such a fine young man live with us.

I am sure it takes much courage to leave his comfortable home, travel to a place far away and foreign, and then join in the community to which he is so thoroughly that when he leaves, he leaves an empty space.

Giovannitti named All-American Scholar

The National Secondary Education Council announced that Mario Giovannitti has been named a Scholastic All-American.

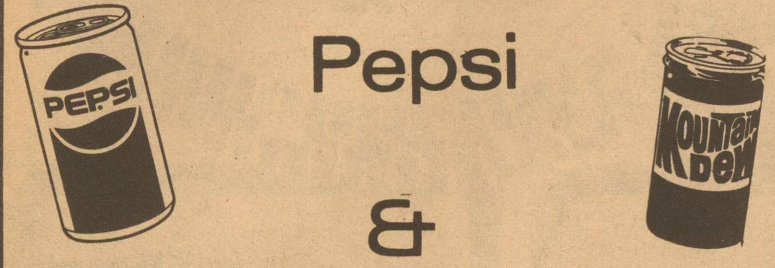

The NSEC has established the Scholastic All-American Scholar Award Program in order to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in the Academic disciplines. The Scholastic All-American Scholars must earn a 3.3 or better grade point average. Only Scholars selected by a secondary school instructor, counselor, or other qualified sponsor are accepted. These scholars are also eligible for other awards given by the NSEC. These are awards few students can ever hope to attain.

Mario Giovannitti who attends Eldorado High School, was nominated for this National Award by Armando San Miguel, head basketball coach. Mario Giovannitti will appear in the Scholastic All-American Scholar Directory, which is published nationally.

The Council selects Scholastic All-American Scholars upon the exclusive recommendations of teachers, coaches, counselors, and other qualified sponsors. Once awarded, the students may be recognized by the NSEC for other honors.

Kelly Squyres gets TCV honor

Kelly Joanne Squyres of Eldorado is among 690 high school seniors chosen as recipients of academic scholarships at Texas Christian University. The honorees successfully competed in an initial group of scholarship applicants from across the nation.

Applicants were judged primarily on the basis of their strong academic records with consideration given to leadership and community service. Based upon continued accomplishment at TCU, the awards are renewable through completion of the baccalaureate degree program.

TCU's unique commitment to the individual is demonstrated when outstanding students from throughout the country selected for academic scholarships are invited to participate in an intensive leadership development program, according to Dr. Edward G. Boehm, Jr., associate vice chancellor for academic affairs. "This combination of academic challenge and leadership training is directed at students with identified potential for distinguished lifetime service and careers," he added.

TCU, an independent institution related to the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) since its founding on the Southwestern frontier in 1873, offers bachelor's and master's degrees in more than 50 fields of study through its five schools and colleges. Five departments have doctoral programs in addition to TCU's Brite Divinity School.

The University is included in a number of widely recognized collegiate listings, including Peterson's and Fiske's Guide.

Squyres, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Squyres, is the recipient of a Chancellor's Commended Scholarship. This honor, designated for students ranking in the top 10 percent of their high school class, includes a $1,200 per year award.

Squyres is a 1988 graduate of Eldorado High School.

You can slow down the wheels on your Electric Meter and lower Summer Cooling Bills when you follow these helpful tips:

- Set your thermostat on 78° or higher and use ceiling or portable fans to help circulate the air.
- Have your air conditioner serviced annually and once a month, check the filter. A dirty filter can keep your air conditioner from working efficiently.
- Keep doors, windows, and drapes firmly closed to keep cool air in and heat out.
- Protect ceiling and walls with adequate insulation. Make sure cracks around windows, doors, pipes and wiring are tightly sealed with caulking and weatherstripping.
- Use heat producing appliances, like ranges, dishwashers, and dryers during the cooler part of the day.

BY DONNA GARVIN

May was a busy month for the Schleicher County Nursing Home residents. Along with the regular bingo and exercise there were some special activities.

A very special thank you to the VFW Post #9842 for the Memorial Day services on Monday, May 30. Goodfellow Air Force Base Color Guard and VFW members presented the program. The nursing home was given a flag for the dining room by Post #9842.

Video movies, shown every Tuesday, are donated by the VFW Auxiliary of Post #9842.

The birthday party on May 18 had several "May Flowers". Honorees were Connie Spence, Mae Thompson, Betty Goodwin, Marjorie Nantz, Sybil Blair, Ora Fry and Alpha Blaylock.

The 4-H Club performed skits in the dining room on May 6. May 16 was arts and crafts day for the residents. They made baby doll P.J.'s.

Pat Lloyd, Katy and L.D. Doty once again provided their ever-faithful volunteer services for the residents in the beauty shop.

The Wednesday Bible Study for the month was presented by the First Baptist Church.

A special thank you goes to Peggy Grelle and Ola Mae McDonald for being so faithful in helping with bingo every Tuesday and Friday and to Winnie Johnson for the reading hour on Thursday.

Sunday church services were arranged by Agape Assembly of God Church, Primitive Baptist Church, First Baptist Church, First Christian Church and First United Methodist Church. Services begin at 3:30 p.m. and everyone is welcome to attend.

The nursing home is always in need of volunteers to help with activities for the residents. Anyone with an interest please contact Marlene Mitchell, activities director, at the nursing home.
