Cookin', Roping Huge Success

The fires were lit Friday evening for the opening of the Third Annual World Championship Cowboy Camp-fire Cookin' and Pasture Roping contests, a dance Saturday night and a Sunday Brush Arbor Church Meeting. All the events were held at the Schleicher County Rodeo Grounds.

Friday night was dedicated to family gatherings around the campfires and a melodrama entitled "Ragweed Cowboy Joe". It was presented under a large blue and white tent. The melodrama started late because of graduation exercises which were held that same night.

It was well worth waiting for as it was hilarious. The actors were all home town people which made it all the more exciting as we were not used to seeing them in such unusual situations. It was sponsored by the Eldorado Chamber of Commerce, so the proceeds will go to a good cause to help our town in some way.

Wagons of all kinds held the chuck boxes and cooking gear for cooking teams, but some of the wagons were rare originals that can cost a great deal of money when fully equipped. One of the wagons on display was built by Pate Boone of Christoval. Another wagon came from the late Cecil Meador's Ranch.

Grounds were open to the public at 9:00 AM Saturday but the working sheep dog contest began at 8:00 AM to take advantage of the cool weather for the sheep and dogs.

Cooking began at 10:00 AM. An "Old Fiddler's Contest" began at 1:00 P.M.

The Saturday night dance featured Chisholm and it began at 9:00 P.M. Sunday morning, a Cowboy Church Service was held under one of the tents with former rodeo cowboy, Boyce Evans of Lubbock, preaching.

Some of the contests and winners are:

Life Among The Fishes

By Thomas Giovannitti

I thought this would be a very easy article to write. I was going to just begin writing about my Father-in-law, Maximo Guerrero. I met him about a day or two after I had met his daughter, Maxine. I was impressed immediately. I knew nothing about him that day, except that he was Maxine's father, but I felt he was someone deserving of respect.

Of course, I had been raised that anyone my senior should be treated with respect, but with Mr. Guerrero it was more than mere reflex.

I found out later that these immediate feelings were not unfounded. My wife's father was a man that many, especially in the San Angelo Mexican American community, could and did look up to as a leader and role model. He had fashioned a good career as a Spanish speaking radio announcer. His voice traveled the night air waves in all directions from San Angelo so that many of the Spanish speaking people felt they knew him as one of their own family. From the forties until the seventies he was one of the major voices of Spanish radio here in West Texas.

I think though, the thing that impressed me the most was the look of respect and love with which he was treated by his children, his brothers, and his wife.

I am sure Maximo Guerrero did not do everything correctly. As all of us have done he made mistakes, hurt people's feelings, especially those people close to him, or made a few agreements that were not fortuitous. But after I joined the family and grew to know him I began to see in him the qualities that separated him from the regular group of good, decent men who lived around him.

Although he had his set of values and his in-terests, he was never un-willing to learn something new. His first love in sports was baseball, but as the family added sons-in-law he would watch the Thanksgiving football feast with us, always inquiring until he learned the game enough to enjoy it himself.

To me that seems so insignificant a thing to put in this article, meant to be a tribute to a man I have in my 24 years of association with him, grown to admire. I wish I could put in all my feelings; all the things that, although insignificant in themselves, peak volumes about this man's character. He lived by his principles, he took responsibility for his actions; he raised his family the best that he knew how, and he treated me with respect. He had the honor never to complain about the way I disciplined his grandchildren or how I handled my finances or whether I had made the right career decision. At least to me, he was uncritical, supportive, encouraging, fair and kind. He died in my home; and I consider that an honor!

I hate cliches. All they seem to do is muddy the water. What we really need here in the heartland of America is the good old naked truth.

I know some people would say, "Why not let sleeping dogs lie? Let the chips fall where they may. Let's face it, you know we can't all be letter perfect so why not live and let live. After all, it's the net result that counts and in our neck of the woods cliches are neither here nor there."

But I'm new at this newspaper business and you know that it's been said that a new broom sweeps clean and since we're starting with a clean slate, I just thought it would be time to clear the air, clear the decks and get down to business. If worse comes to worst and I can't get my act together and get a handle on proper English, I may have a change of heart. But as long as I can, I would really like to go by the book, but then again, by and large, by the same token, I would hate to get in over my head.

In a word, what I would like, in the long run, is for us all to get in the groove and look at cliches with a jaundiced eye.

Personally, I'm keeping my fingers crossed, that one day, if we all mind our P's and Q's, and play our cards right, we could find that cliché-free language is as easy as pie. When that day comes I am going to heave a sigh of relief, but until then I am going to try to find it in my heart not to be down in the mouth, but to stay as busy as a cat on a hot tin roof, trying to find an answer to the burning question "Can we truly live without cliches?"

I went camping recently at Boy Scout Camp Sol Meyer. This may not seem like a big deal to you, but believe me, it was.

The event was a "Mom and Me" campout for Cub Scouts and their moms. The idea of the whole affair was that the mothers and their scouts could get to know each other better. So someone came up with the idea of moms and their scouts camping overnight.

It started on Saturday. Cars were arriving by the dozen, full of moms and scouts, and all sorts of camping (?) gear. You just never know when you might need the extra three or four pairs of pants and shorts and shirts.

After we registered, we set up our camp.

Then the activities began. For each activity we participated in, the boys received a bead. These beads were very important, so we entered as many events as we thought we could handle.

The water balloon toss wasn't too difficult, nor was the BB gun shooting or the archery shooting. But the row boats were another story entirely! For someone who has never been in a row boat, much less rowed a boat, it wasn't the easiest thing I have ever done. But with a little help from my able scout, we did make it back to shore. (Can I help it if we took a little longer than we were supposed to? Everyone got their turn anyway!)

Well, everything went fine until the storm came up. We thought our camp and our tents kept pretty dry, but upon further inspection some of them were wet, including our sleeping bags. But never fear, we improvised and everyone had a dry (?) place to sleep (?).

Sunday morning was another day. We made it through the night! Hurray for us!

What an experience! Am I ready to go again? Sure, but let's wait until next year, okay?

Terror In The Night: SIDS: Sudden infant death syndrome (SIDS), where a baby dies in the crib for no discernible reason, is every parent's nightmare.

Although no cause has been defined yet, research shows that SIDS is more common among boys, in lower socioeconomic groups, in families with several children and among premature infants. Theories of its causes include a link with some type of breathing disorder, impaired oxygen delivery to the fetus before birth (which could be caused by bleeding during pregnancy, position of the placenta, multiple fetuses, an interval of less than one year between pregnancies and maternal anemia) and smoking during pregnancy.

"Education is what survives when what has been learnt has been forgotten." -- B.F. Skinner

To those of you who received your high school diplomas Friday evening, congratulations.

Whether you have chosen to go to college, seek gainful employment or enter a branch of the Armed Forces; there are a lot of decisions that will fall solely to you now that you are an 'adult'. Mom won't be available to help; you will have to make decisions based on what you have learned from your experiences. It isn't that Mom doesn't want to help; this is a difficult time for her too. Adulthood is scary even to adults and Moms have trouble letting go. Remember, she has spent years nurturing you and she can't turn it off like a water faucet. It won't be easy sometimes, but you will make it. Look how many 'adults' there are running around this world.

Some of you did not find your niche at EHS. Never fear, out there somewhere, outside Schleicher County, there are people like you who like to do the things you do and have similar values; it may take a little time, but you will find them.

My interpretation of Mr. Skinner's statement is that you learned a lot more at EHS than readin', 'ritin' and 'rithmetic and you will need to use ALL that you 'learnt' as you go through life. GOOD LUCK!!!

Chuckwagons were an important of any cattle drive in the early days. Pictured here is one such chuckwagon as the men are gathered around for a meal.

A Touch Of History

By Rene Calcote

The dust flew as the cowboy slapped his leather chaps with his weather worn old hat. He could still taste the grit of "biting dust" all day behind that mangy herd of cattle.

The sun was sinking low in the horizon, silhouetting the cattle, still and weary after a long day of travel.

The smell of hot coffee filled his nostrils. The fire from the camp filtered the air with fragrance of burning wood. The trail cook was ringing the supper bell, a welcomed sound to all the cowboys.

This time, in the late evening, around the camp, was a cowboy's best time of the day. Eating fresh baked biscuits, boiled beans, "son-of-a-gun", and lots of hot boiled coffee. A lot of tall tales were told, maybe a little singing and guitar picking.

The chuck wagon was one of the most important items during a trail drive. The wagon was a traveling kitchen. It was usually built of rough lumber with a cupboard on the back and a drop table hinged to the back.

The inside of the cupboard was partitioned and shelved to hold such items as beans, lard, coffee, flour, salt and pepper. There were cubby-holes to hold tin cups, plates, and eating utensils. Usually the iron skillet, lids and iron pots, along with the camp grill, hung on the back of the chuck box.

It was the responsibility of the trail cook to keep the chuck boxes well outfitted with provisions for the cowboys meals along the drive.

We simulated this era of cowboy campfire cooking this past weekend in Schleicher County. It's a beautiful way to make the pioneer days a lasting memory -- and have a good time, supporting our community.

Locals Attend 'Mom And Me' Campout

Local Scout and their Moms attended the 'Mom and Me' Campout held recently at Camp Sol Meyer. The event, a first of its kind, exceeded all expectations as between 400 and 500 Cub Scouts, Weebelos and their Moms attended.

The event began on Saturday, May 20, with registration and setting up camps for the weekend. Various activities were held throughout the afternoon. Some of the activities included archery, BB gun shooting, obstacle course, water balloon toss, water balloon volley ball, swimming, canoeing, row boats, and frisbee throw.

Supper was served in the mess hall Saturday evening, followed by a campfire. Because of bad weather, the campfire was held in the mess hall.

As the storm approached, tents and equipment were secured. Although lightening, winds and rain came, it didn't dampen the spirits of those at the camp, with the majority of campers staying the night.

Sunday morning started with church services at the outdoor chapel, conducted by Gary Smith of Eldorado. Following the service, breakfast was served.

The morning was then spent playing various games during the Gold Rush. Camps were broke, lunch eaten, and everyone departed, having spent a weekend braving the elements.

Local scouts and their moms who attended were: Janet and Kirk Curtis, Betty and Shane Bradford, Betty and Jaime Robles, Rosa and Javy Robles, Kyla and Justin Behrens, Pinkie, Joe and Chris O'Connor, and Mary and Jaime Jenkins.

Caviar describes the eggs, or roe, of sturgeon. But not just any sturgeon will yield caviar. "International Wildlife" magazine reports only three sturgeon varieties found in Russia's Caspian Sea produce what gourmets consider caviar. And they're not small fries. Spawning sturgeon have been caught weighing up to 1,800 pounds. These big fish can yield more than 500 pounds of caviar.

Sorority Has Busy Year

By Glenda Harris

May has been a busy month for Beta Sigma Phi. We are winding down officially for the year, but the countdown has been an active one.

One such activity was the building of a float which we entered in the 4-H Junior Rodeo on May 12. A lot of hard work went into this endeavor, but it paid off. We were awarded first place for our "Mesquite Branch Saloon". This was indeed an honor considering all the tough competition. We want to congratulate Melissa Lloyd on one of the best parades Eldorado has seen in quite some time. A lot of work went into this and it showed.

Each year the last meeting of the year is set aside as a family barbecue for the members and their families along with possible new members. This year we were honored with a guest speaker presented by Pat Gentry. The speaker was Mrs. Rene Calcote who spoke to us about our community and how it originated. In closing she reminded us that in order to keep our community going, we must support it in every way possible.

As in the past, the barbecue is hosted by the incoming officers and this year our hostesses were Tonya Mahanay, Dorothy Dacy, Brenda Norris, Mary Jenkins, Sissy Cheatham, Jan Bailey and Kim-et Nelson. If the meal was any indication, we are in for a great year. We want to thank the great chefs for their time in preparing the delicious meat--thanks go to John Cheatham and Monroe Dacy. Great job, guys.

This year at our annual barbecue we honored three graduating seniors with a small gift from the sorority. They were Tina Dacy, Michael Jenkins and Dana Kidwell. All of the students have mothers who are very active in Beta Sigma Phi and we want to congratulate them all.

This year sorority received four applications for the annual scholarship presented to a graduating senior of Eldorado High School. The decision was a difficult one but a choice was made. The scholarship was presented at graduation by Ken Newman, high school principal, to Tina Dacy, daughter of Monroe and Dorothy Dacy. We want to congratulate her and all the 1989 seniors and their parents for jobs well done.

The next item of business on our agenda was the annual Pasture Roping and Cookoff. With the chamber of commerce having to cancel their games, Beta Sigma Phi picked this opportunity to provide entertainment for the younger crowd. Thus "Fort Fun-O-Rama" was launched. The games included bobbing for apples (and pears after we were cleaned out of apples), panning for gold, the old stand-by fishing pond and a new concept of the dart throw. At this time we want to thank each and everyone who helped make our fort a success. Thanks goes to Foxworth-Galbraith for donating sand and balloons, to Shakey's Pizza in San Angelo for providing game tokens as prizes, to Richard Harris and Ronnie Norris for building the dart board, and a special thank you to Danette Dunagan for spending several hot hours painting our one-of-a-kind dart board. We want to also thank the melodrama cast for the use of their props to give us that authentic look. If I have left anyone out please accept my apologies and know that you were appreciated in making our fort a success.

Although we may not be meeting officially through the summer months, we are still going to be busy. At this time, we want to invite everyone to join us at Schleicher County Days in August. Come see what a great community we have. As Mrs. Calcote says "support your community--it's a great investment!"

Dan Ray Receives Mabel Hare Award

Twenty-seven West Texas State University students were awarded scholarships for the 1989-90 academic year by the department of English and modern languages. Recipients were chosen by department faculty based on academic achievement. Among the English and Modern Language Scholarship recipients was Dan O. Ray, a sophomore from Eldorado, who received the Mabel Hare Award.

Four Seniors Receive Scholar Award

The University Interscholastic League "UIL Scholar Award" is presented to students who graduate in the top 10 percent of their classes, and have participated in a UIL academic, music or athletic contest.

The purpose of the award is to honor students whose "academic and extracurricular achievements have been exemplary and whose self-discipline in preparation and integrity in competition are a model to others," said Dr. Bailey Marshall, League Director.

"This award program is one of the outstanding awards programs in the nation," Marshall said. "We feel it is important for the League to restate our commitment to academic success first, extracurricular proficiency second."

The awards were presented to students during a ceremony held at Eldorado High School, Friday, May 26, at the awards assembly. Students who received this award were Dusty Barton, Dan Willeke, Ashley Johnson and Kimberly Scott.

48 Kindergarten Students Graduate

Friday afternoon, May 26, at 1 p.m., 48 Kindergarten students of Eldorado Elementary School held their graduation ceremonies and program in the Elementary Gymnasium.

Multicolored chairs were placed across the back of the gym floor. Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs characters were enlarged and placed on the back wall.

Parents, grandparents and friends gathered on the opposite side on the bleachers to watch the ceremonies.

The Kindergarten pupils marched in to recorded strains of Pomp and Circumstance. Each of them wore a graduation cap.

After they were seated, Mrs. Shari Wink, a kindergarten teacher, gave a welcome to parents and guests. Glen Nix, Elementary principal, gave a welcome address.

Each class presented a part of the program. Mrs. Wink's class presented their version of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. They dressed in costumes made of large paper bags, representing each character.

Mrs. Beth Heath and Mrs. Candy Homer's classes sang and illustrated several nursery rhymes. Some of them included: Eency Wency Spider, I'm a Little Teapot and the Alphabet Song.

Mr. Rojas, Mr. Preston, Mrs. Rodriguez and Mrs. O'Connor were recognized as helpers for this year.

Each member of the class was presented a Diploma by Mr. Nix as their name was called and each one marched down a center aisle.

Mrs. Homer stated that she would like to say "thank you for all the support from parents and friends throughout the year. Your devotion has enhanced the kindergarten program."

She went on to say, "Memories of butterfly kisses, cornstarch, tennis shoes flying across a classroom and many others will always warm our hearts. Knowing that we have had a small part in shaping the future fulfills us."

"Teaching the ABC's, shapes, colors, and many other things have been important. Teaching love, honesty, compassion and fairness have been most important. These are the lessons that we hope will last a lifetime. They are the tools our children will need to shape the future of our world."

"Thank you for allowing us to touch the lives of your children," she concluded.

The class marched out of the gym and back to their rooms.

Tax Payments Up

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said that May's statewide sales tax payments to cities, counties and transit authorities continued to follow this year's steady upward trend.

"We've watched sales tax rebates across the state grow by more than 11 percent overall this year. More money is being pumped into our economy, which is great for the state and for local governments," Bullock said.

Checks totaling $117.8 million were sent Friday to 1047 cities that impose local sales tax at either one or one and one-half percent, according to Bullock.

Eldorado's City Sales and Use Tax payment this period was $6,259.24, down 3.12 percent from the previous year's payment of $6,460.59. Payments to date are $27,785.25, up 11.05 from last year's total of $25,021.45.

Bullock added that another $10.5 million was allocated to 91 counties that collect the one-half percent county sales tax. Eldorado's net payment for county sales tax for this period was $2,534.94. Total payments to date in 1989 are $5,770.07.

May's checks represent taxes collected in March by monthly filers and during the 1989 first quarter by quarterly filers. The deadline for both monthly and quarterly taxpayers to file sales tax reports with the Comptroller's office was April 20, Bullock said.

AT&T MultiQuestSM Service

AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc., (AT&T) announces its intent to introduce within Texas on July 14, 1989, AT&T MultiQuest Service, a new interactive 900-type telephone service. Since February 19, 1989, this innovative service has been available to Texas businesses only on an interstate basis. With AT&T MultiQuest Service, Texas business customers (otherwise known as sponsors) may offer value-added information services to callers originating long distance calls from Texas or elsewhere in the United States over AT&T's public switched network. A Texas caller, accessing the service by dialing the sponsor's 1-900 plus seven-digit number, can obtain recorded and/or live information by communicating with attendants, voice messaging equipment and computer data bases. Flat-rate, time sensitive usage charges will be billed to the caller for the sponsor's service.

AT&T is offering AT&T MultiQuest Service within Texas in response to requests by its business customers for a service that offers intrastate as well as nationwide interactive voice & data transport capability. Potential sponsors include entrepreneurial companies entering into new ventures that are information intensive, local mass announcement sponsors who want statewide as well as national coverage coupled with interactive capability and other information service providers.

The Texas intrastate AT&T MultiQuest Service will be tarified as an "add-on" offering to a sponsor's existing interstate AT&T MultiQuest Service. The intrastate AT&T MultiQuest Service costs will be recovered from sponsor usage charges set forth in AT&T's intrastate tariffs. The usage charges billed to the caller are determined by the sponsor as appropriate to the service being offered and are not tarified charges.

For more information about AT&T MultiQuest Service please call your AT&T Account Executive or AT&T's business consultants toll free on 1 (800) 552-0212. They can answer your questions regarding this service and how it can be of benefit to you.

AT&T intends to file a tariff to offer this service with the Public Utility Commission of Texas on June 13, 1989, effective July 14, 1989. Persons who have questions regarding this tariff filing may contact the Public Utility Commission's Public Information Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf, or write to them at 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757.

Intrastate AT&T MultiQuest Service is projected to generate $1.1 million in the first year of its offering or .1% of AT&T's total gross service revenues in Texas.

Graduation Ceremonies Held Friday Night

The 34 graduates of the 1989 Class of Eldorado High School marched down the aisle for the last time Friday night, May 26, to the music of Pomp and Circumstance played by the Eldorado High School Band.

After the Invocation by Father Louis Moeller, Dan Willeke gave his Salutatory address. He stated that one secret to success was to work hard to attain your goals. He gave the teachers credit for much of their progress. Dan also stated that it takes perseverance to embark on the future as the future holds many challenges.

Dusty Barton, Valedictorian, followed, stating that "Knowledge is one of the greatest elements which leads to the highest success. It can also be acquired through diligence and effort. Learning furnishes the lamp by which we read the past, and the light which illuminates the future.

Dusty gave the seniors a challenge to go into the world, confident in your ability to become successful in life. The key to success lies within each of us as individuals. The path we choose depends on us.

The band, under the direction of Mike Marsh, played special music, "Through the Eyes of Love".

Weldon Moore, superintendent of schools, introduced the speaker of the evening, Dr. Victoria Bergin of Austin. She is a graduate of the University of Kansas with a master's degree and received her doctorate from the University of Houston. She is now Deputy Commissioner for Curriculum of Program Development for the state of Texas in Austin.

Mrs. Bergin stated that these graduates are going into an era where many things are to be learned yet, that our nation will be facing the biggest competition with Japan and Third World countries that has ever been known. She challenged the graduates to take a good look at the First Grade children of this school and remember they will be the graduates 12 years from now. What kind of changes will they face?

She closed with this statement, "Remember always that our dreams are invested in you."

Ken Newman, high school principal, presented the following awards: TSTA Scholarship, Kim Scott; Cassie Morrison Scholarship with a plaque and Valedictorian Award, Dusty Barton; Mark Nikolauk Award, Carter Edmiston; Beta Sigma Phi Scholarship, Tina Dacy; Daughters of the American Revolution, Stan Meador; Bausch-Lomb Science Award, Dusty Barton; Hext Memorial Award, Dan Willeke; Music Education, Jeffrey Hutcherson; Livestock Award, Ashley Johnson; and Perfect Attendance, four years on the Secondary Level, Michael Jenkins.

Phil McCormick, president of the School Board, presented diplomas to the Seniors as Ken Newman called their names.

"Hail Eldorado", the school song, was played by the band and sung by graduates and the audience.

To all customers of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company:

Public Notice

On March 14, 1989, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company filed with the Public Utility Commission of Texas an application which proposes to revise its Toll Restriction Tariff in Section 21 of the General Exchange Tariff. The Commission received the application as Docket No. 8700.

The application proposes to reduce the monthly rate for Toll Restriction residence service from the current $15 a month to $5 a month per residence access line. This proposed application will affect approximately 2,487 residence customers who presently subscribe to toll restriction. It is estimated that the proposed rate schedule will reduce the Company's annual revenues from this service by approximately $298,000, which is less than one percent of the Company's total intrastate revenues. If the application is approved, the effective date of the rate reduction will be set according to the Commission's Order.

Living History Camp Marks Fort Concho's Centennial

In June of 1889, the United States Army left Fort Concho to area civilians. The military had accomplished its mission of pacifying the wild frontier of West Texas.

To mark that century of civilian care and preservation of Fort Concho, a major living history camp and display will take place on the grounds of the Fort Concho National Historic Landmark on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, June 8, 9 and 10.

Over 100 volunteers portraying the infantry, cavalry, and artillery of the 1870s and 1880s will make camp on the historic site, dressed and equipped in authentic uniforms and gear. During the three-day event, the infantry will perform marching and firearms demonstrations; the cavalry will display its riding and saber skills; and the artillery will show why its weaponry was feared and respected by the enemy.

Throughout each day, period activity of inspections, meals, guard and fatigue duty and general camp life will transform Fort Concho into a living history setting and exhibits will be open to the public on all three days. Visitors may visit soldier's camps, inspect the barracks, watch exciting military drills, experience a ride with two army mules pulling the wagon and witness an 1880s style baseball game in the evening as the local and visiting soldiers challenge each other with a game that is as timeless as Fort Concho itself.

The grounds and exhibit buildings will be open without charge, but contributions will be gratefully accepted at various locations. For more information about Fort Concho and this event, contact Fort Concho, 213 East Avenue D, San Angelo, Texas 76903, (915) 657-4441. The site is located just south of downtown San Angelo, accessible by US Highways 67, 87, 277, and 83, in West Texas.

Skin Cancer Is Preventable

Exposure to the sun is the cause of more than 90 percent of all skin cancers, almost all of which are preventable, says the Texas Medical Association. And although skin cancer is the most common (and the most curable) of the many forms of cancer, 450 Texans died in 1987 because they didn't take the necessary precautions to prevent the disease. In addition, they did not detect it in its early states and take proper steps to control its spread.

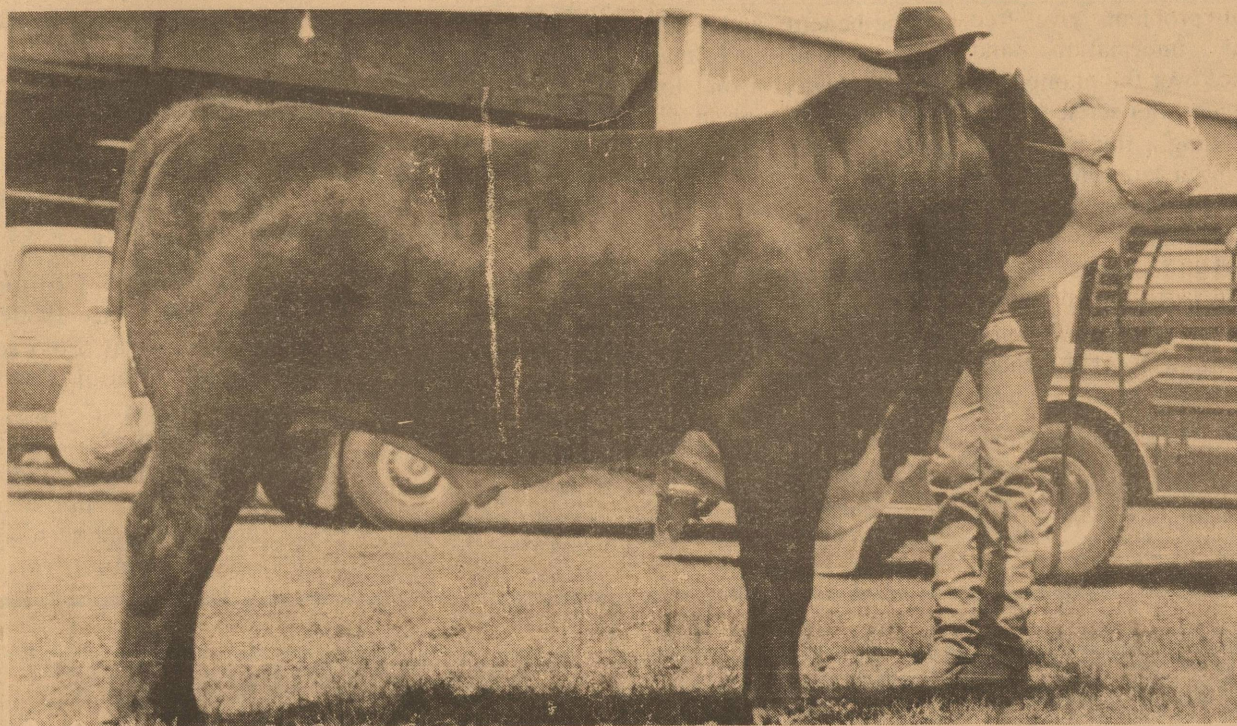

Dr. Victor Vogel is a medical oncologist at the University of Texas-M.D. Anderson Cancer Center, Houston, and holds a master of science degree in epidemiology (the study of the cause of a disease). "In this day and age, finding a skin tumor early means that you certainly won't die of it, and you won't need a painful or disfiguring operation to remove it," said Dr. Vogel. Skin cancer is a condition that begins with the uncontrolled growth of abnormal cells in one of the layers of the skin. Texans who live and work in the strong rays of the sun need to be especially aware that exposure to the sun can cause skin cancer.

Sensible precautions taken early in life can prevent any occurrence of skin cancer, even in high-risk individuals (those who are fair-skinned and light-eyed, spend a lot of time in the sun, or have relatives who have had skin cancer).

Dermatologists recommend ultra sunblock protection, to reduce skin cancer risk.

The American Braford Congress held in Jacksonville was a highly successful event. The show found 59 head in the competition with top honors being widely distributed among a number of exhibitors. Rocking Chair Ranch, Ft. McKavett, was the exhibitor of the champion bull in the three-quarter blood division. Scott

Downing, Rocking Chair herdsman is at the halter of the winner.

Benefits For Disabled

People who are developmentally disabled may qualify for monthly benefits under the Social Security or the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program, sometimes both. The medical requirements for eligibility so far as disability is concerned are the same for both programs. However, other eligibility rules differ.

A mentally retarded person can get Social Security payments when a parent starts getting Social Security retirement or disability payments or when an insured parent dies. It doesn't matter how old the child is, but he or she must have become disabled before age 22. A retarded person who has worked long enough under Social Security can also get benefits on his or her own work record.

SSI payments are paid to disable people of any age, as well as the blind, and people 65 and over. However, SSI payments are based on financial need and are made to people who have limited income and resources.

In deciding if a child under 18 and living at home can get SSI payments, part of the parents' income and resources are considered to be that of the child.

Although people living in institutions are generally not eligible for SSI payments, an application may be submitted when it appears that a person will be able to leave an institution soon.

Students Write Book

Glenda Nix's third grade reading class and Shari Wink's kindergarten class recently put their talents together and compiled a book which they presented to the Eldorado Elementary Library.

Mrs. Nix's class wrote the book with the help of Mrs. Wink's kindergarten class. The project started in January.

The kindergarten class would tell what to write about and the third grade class would write it. The third graders drew pictures to illustrate it.

After the final copy was written, it was taken to Mrs. Marci Willis's seventh and eighth grade English classes to be edited. After this, it was taken to Mrs. Su Scott's Typing II class. They divided it into pages and typed it.

The book was bound together. The kindergarten students colored their book and the third grade students colored their part of the book.

An autograph party was held, after which the book was presented to the library. The book is being sent to a bindery to be permanently bound.

"It took a couple of months to get it all together and ready to bind. It was good for all levels, the seventh and eighth grade as well as the kindergarten and third grade students," commented Mrs. Nix.

Hotline For Older Texans

Often, the people who need a lawyer the most can least afford one. A new service, the Legal Hotline for Older Texans, is now being offered to any Texan 60 years of age or older.

Hotline attorneys determine if callers have a legal problem, give free legal information and advice over the phone, and provide brief services such as calling a third party or writing a letter to resolve a legal problem. Problems that cannot be resolved by the Hotline will be referred to legal aid organizations for low-income clients, or local attorneys in private practice who agree to charge reduced fees.

Hotline services are free. People requiring follow-up services may be referred to a local attorney.

"Licensed attorney's will help resolve such caller's problems with Social Security, health care, consumer problems and elder abuse," Chapman said. "Our service will place a lot of emphasis on public benefits and health care. I believe our primary clients, elderly on low, fixed-incomes, are in dire need of these particular services."

The Legal Hotline for Older Texans toll-free statewide number is 1-800-444-9114. Austin residents may call 477-3950.

The hours of operation are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

The amoeba is considered the lowest form of animal life.

Third grade and kindergarten students present the book they wrote to library personnel Mrs. Igo at left and Mrs. Bible standing next to her.

An Open Letter

To: The Honorable Lloyd Bentsen, U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C.20510:

As fellow Texans we are writing to express our profound disappointment with your position in support of the 1988 catastrophic health care legislation.

Your support of a Medicare surcharge to fund this legislation strongly indicates your complete disregard for the financial well being of every elderly citizen. The Medicare surcharge and monthly Medicare premium should be abolished. To offset the resulting revenue loss, each beneficiary could be responsible for a reasonable deduction in doctor and non-hospital expenses each year, after which a coinsurance fee would apply.

These simple changes would enable elderly beneficiaries to retain the significant catastrophic health care benefits adopted in 1988, reduce their tax bill, and give them the same marginal income tax rates as everyone else, without an increase in the deficit.

As federal employees we are especially upset that the current catastrophic coverage legislation duplicates benefits already provided under the Federal Employees Health Benefits Program. In 1989 federal retirees could pay as much as $1600 per couple in additional premiums and receive no additional benefits. This is just flat not fair.

Your continued support of the catastrophic health care legislation in its current form will send a message to every Texan that you have lost touch with the elderly. You can be certain the message will be remembered.

Sincerely,
James & Ann Ainslie

The Success

Janie Fricke To Headline Fair

Janie Fricke, one of Country Music's top female vocalists, will headline The American Cancer Society Country Fair 89, July 29, at Hoolihan Acres east of Mertzon. The White Buffalo Band of Lubbock will provide music for dancing enjoyment during the evening of Ms. Fricke's concert.

With her unmistakable vocal style, Ms. Fricke has garnered six #1 singles, eight top 5's and four top 10's. Janie's career began in America's heartland on her parents 400 acre farm near South Whitney, Indiana. Growing up in a music-filled home where her parents both played instruments, Janie was compelled toward an eventual career in music.

She began as a jingle singer in college, then progressed to back-up for such stars as Elvis, Crystal Gayle, Ronnie Milsap, Charlie Pride, England Dan and John Ford Coley and Johnny Duncan. It was featured parts in recordings with Duncan and Tommy Cash that brought her to the attention of Columbia Record Executives, who quickly signed her to a recording contract.

Since then she has been recognized with "Album of the Year" and has been two-time "Female Vocalist of the Year" for her consistent contribution to Country Music's Top Ten ranking. Her most recent work includes an Album titled "After Midnight" and a video with Larry Gatlin "From Time to Time."

Country Fair 89 is set to begin at 7 p.m., July 29, with a barbecue supper, a silent auction and other special activities. The "Country Fair" was established by the Tom Green Unit for The American Cancer Society as an annual "By Invitation" fundraiser for support of its cancer control programs. It functions as one of The American Cancer Society Committees and adheres to their policies and guidelines. Attorney, Guy Choate, and his wife, Eva, are serving as this year's Chairmen.

Janie Fricke's performance will begin at 10 p.m. Tickets are $40 for individuals and $75 per couple. For more information, please call Ron Dooley, Publicity Chairman, at (915) 653-6866.
