PTA Organizational Meeting Held

The elementary parents were targeted for the organizational meeting on the 19th only because experience tells us that is where the most interest comes from.

A follow-up organization meeting is scheduled on Thursday, October 26, at 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the all purpose room next to the elementary library. ALL parents/guardians and even grandparents are encouraged to attend. Bylaws will be presented for approval. Dues will be collected and members signed up. Officers will be elected.

If you are interested in helping Schleicher county Independent School District help our kids, be there! Baby sitting will be provided.

A PTA organizational meeting was held October 19 in the elementary library. Two representatives from PTA from San Angelo were present to explain the advantage of PTA over PTO.

The group decided unanimously to form a PTA. Steve Goode was elected temporary chairman and Denise Goode was elected temporary secretary. A Bylaws committee was elected, as was a nominating committee to recommend a slate of permanent officers.

The second Thursday of each month at 7:30 p.m. was established as the regular meeting time.

The question was raised if the PTA was for elementary only and was decided that the PTA is to be school wide "Schleicher County ISD PTA".

Support the Eagle Band!!!

The Eldorado Eagle Band will be traveling to Brady, Saturday, October 28 for the District Band Contest.

The students have been working very hard preparing for this contest. The Band Aiders urge everyone to make plans to travel to Brady this Saturday and Support the Mighty Eagle Band.

Eldorado Woman's Club Holds Fall Board Meeting

By Evelyn Stigler

The annual Heart of Texas Federation of Woman's Clubs Fall Board met October 21, at the Memorial Building in Eldorado.

Women from San Angelo, Eastland, Cisco, Mason, Winters and other area towns were present.

Mrs. Ruby Lee Pirtle of Cisco presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Judy Mackay of Blanket.

The flags were presented by local Boys Scouts of Troop 18, Chris and Michael Jenkins, under the director of Scoutmaster Weldon Jenkins. Judge Johnny Griffin welcomed the group to Eldorado.

Soaring High in Federation was the theme of the meeting. The words of the theme were cut out of pink paper and placed on background at the back of the building directly behind the officer's table. Brightly colored balloons on pink poster boards were placed around letters and around the room to emphasize the soaring. Balloons were hanging over the stage in back.

During the business session, reports from District officers were given, giving accounts of accomplishments so far this year in the departments of arts, education, homelife, international affairs, public affairs, community improvement and conservation. Much emphasis was to help eliminate drugs in all communities but especially with the youth. Emphasis was placed on wearing red on special days to show we are helping to prevent use of drugs in our communities.

A luncheon was served during the noon hour in the basement of the building. The tables were covered with pink cloths. Many colored ribbons, which had been shredded, were placed in the center of each table, lengthwise, with miniature umbrellas standing in the center of the ribbons. A meal of chicken spaghetti casserole, miniature carrots, green bean wonder salad and cherry delight was served to 36 members. The centerpiece on the serving table was of roses grown by Dan Griffin.

The evening session was spent in hearing more reports. Emphasis was on M.D. Anderson and many needs to help patients there. Bibs of different kinds are needed. Each chairman in individual clubs has a list of items which are needed. Boxes are sent each year to the hospitals. Eldorado women are to bring items to the November 14 meeting to help fill a box.

The District Spring Convention will be in Eastland on March 23-24, 1990.

Life Among The Fishes

By Thomas Giovannitti

Well, Halloween is only a few days away. Our Catholic parish is having its second annual All Saints Eve festival on Tuesday, October 31, the traditional day for this now very secularized holiday.

The church festival will be from 6 to 9 p.m. and will have the usual games for kids, some things to eat, and hopefully a costume contest.

In our parish school of religion we are trying to encourage the children to dress as Saints or as heroes from the history of our State, Country and Church. You see, this day used to be a religious holiday and somehow the commercial interest managed to take it over and in the process, lose the meaning for its existence.

Actually this fall festival may even date back before Christ, but it was the medieval Christians, trying to replace some still rather pagan forms of revelry.

There is another version of the creation of this holiday based upon the notion that, due to the violence of the times, parents wanted to find ways to keep their children indoors at night, so they told them stories of goblins and other scary creatures being out and about. Another story has it that the goblin outfits, much as the gargoyles on the building at that time, were worn to scare the real evil spirits.

The thing is, it was at one time a Christian feast, and we ought to take it back. This is too short a space to explain the idea of Saints, but suffice to say they should be the heroes of our Christian faith. We all might have different ones but we probably all have one or two. Even if your best remembered Christian is the Grandmother that taught you the Ten Commandments, or how to read the Bible, or how to recite your prayers, or some person from the history of your faith, they ought to be the people we are trying to get our children to emulate.

I know when I was little, I would love to put on my Dad's old hat and coat, because someday I hoped I would be as good a man as he. I am probably not as good, but dreaming that I might someday be and dressing up like him could not have done me too much harm. Let's take Halloween back and make it "Holy" again.

There is a saying that goes something like this: "You don't know what you have until you lose it."

There was a young woman once who woke up one morning with a terrible pain in the lower part of her body. As the minutes past, the pain worsened until she fainted. Fortunately, her husband was there with her.

When she came around, it was decided she should be taken to the hospital. The hospital was 30 miles away -- there was not even a doctor in this small town where they lived.

A trip that normally would have taken about 30 minutes to drive, took only 15 for that husband as he rushed his wife to the hospital -- having no idea what was wrong with her.

When they arrived at the hospital, the doctor checked the woman and determined she was bleeding internally and would have to undergo emergency surgery -- immediately.

Nurses began an IV solution and a pint of blood was given in an attempt to keep the woman from going into shock. Emergency surgery was performed and the woman was saved -- but it was a close call. She nearly didn't make it.

Yes, that woman was me. If we had been any later in getting to the hospital I wouldn't have made it.

I realize that the Eldorado hospital cannot do surgery, but they can begin the process of stabilizing before a person is transported to San Angelo. If we had lived in a town where there was a hospital, we would not have waited as long as we did to decide to go to the hospital.

I don't like paying taxes any more than the next person. But sometimes you have to do what you have to do.

The little town where we were living at the time, still does not have a doctor and probably never will. We made quite a few trips to the emergency room -- 30 miles away -- over the years we lived there. We have made quite a few trips to the emergency room here in Eldorado since we have lived here.

I know what it is like to live where there is no hospital, not even an emergency clinic. Think about what you may be giving up if you vote on a tax roll-back.

This is a small town that has seen some hard times. But if we pull together, we may be able to salvage one of the most important assets this town has -- our hospital.

Think about it! Your life could depend on it!

Preventing Baby Bottle Tooth Decay: Baby bottle tooth decay (BTTD) is a rampant form of cavities that occurs before the age of two. Often it is not detected because the decay usually occurs on the inner surfaces of the teeth.

Treatment involves tooth restoration or extraction of incisors or molars. The primary cause is the accumulation of liquid around the teeth when the infant is sleeping, which usually happens when a child is given a bottle when put to bed.

Avoiding this practice can reduce the incidence of BTTD. -- (Journal of the American Dietetic Association)

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

In regards to the discussion concerning the increased tax rate set by the Hospital District, I think we should sit back and take an overall look at the situation.

Of course, none of us relish the idea of paying more taxes (whether it be City, County, School or Income Tax); but it is this revenue that helps operate our hospital. The hospital is one of the most important institutions in our community, and I feel we should all do our part to help make it a success. If the Board thinks at this time that this is the amount of tax increase we need then we should be willing to accept their decision.

If you would discuss taxes with your friends in other communities or states you would be surprised as to ours in comparison. I know, we have had friends and relatives say they cannot believe what small amount of taxes we have.

I feel fortunate to be able to use the doctors here and not have to go to San Angelo for all of my medical needs. This allows me to take only about an hour from work; otherwise I would have to take at least a half day off plus the added expense. Just a couple of these trips would be as much or more than enough to pay the increase in taxes.

When I had to put my Mother in the Nursing Home there was no opening here, and she had to be in San Angelo. This necessitates three to four trips a week after work or on a weekend to see about her. This created a hardship plus all the expenses involved. I was so grateful, when in a couple of months, she could be transferred here. If you haven't been faced with this problem then you don't know how much it means to have this facility here. At the time my Mother was in the nursing home and had to be hospitalized she could be put in our hospital rather than having to be transferred to San Angelo.

We all may be paying a little more taxes than we would like to, but let's think what our benefits are and be grateful for the nice facility we have, the good doctors who are willing to be here, and for all the time and effort various people have invested.

Do we want a "Dying Community" or do you want to pay a little more for one to stay "Alive and Growing"?

Frances Peters

Dear Editor:

Figures are not my best thing, so I phoned Ray Lewis the other day to find out how much money Jon and I would save if the county votes to have a tax roll-back in the Schleicher County Hospital District.

If the citizens voted to roll the taxes back to an eight percent increase in hospital taxes, instead of the 21.6 percent increase we adopted -- Jon and I will save $10.34. Wow! How could Jon and I spend this money? -- Well, Jon could have coffee money for a week with his half, and I might rent two videos -- or maybe buy two gallons of milk! Would it be worth it if our hospital cannot manage on just an eight percent tax increase???

Now if your home values $50,000 you will save $26.00 a year or if your a land owner, you will save $8.02 on each section you own.

Some citizens may not realize, even if the hospital should close, we, the tax payers, still have to pay off the debt the hospital district owes the bank and support the nursing home.

The hospital administrator stated at the meeting, held to discuss the SCHD tax increase, he talked with three major hospitals in San Angelo to compare advantages to disadvantages an Emergency Clinic would offer Schleicher County. As I understood him, there would not be a great difference in tax revenue or present staff. Steve Goode would probably be glad to give this information to any interested party.

The hospital is having a difficult time with a large debt to pay off. This is the reason we are paying 21.6 percent tax increase -- to help clear the debt.

The hospital board is doing a great job in a difficult situation. They say we can save the hospital if we all pull together.

Thanks,
Rene Calcote

Evelyn Stigler Attends Centennial Homecoming

Howard Payne University in Brownwood celebrated 100 years of existence last week culminating in Homecoming activities October 20-22, which was called the Centennial Homecoming.

During this Homecoming, a new tradition was revived that has come to be known as Founder's Day. This year's Founder's Day centered around a luncheon which was held on Friday, October 20 in the Brownwood Coliseum. Those alumni who had graduated 25 and 50 years or more ago were honored.

Those honored were special guests and were inducted into the newly created Howard Payne University Heritage Club. Each class was called by the year each graduated. They line up and marched across the state and were given diplomas -- a silver one was given commemorating their 25th anniversary, and a golden one commemorating their 50th anniversary.

In addition to the diplomas, recognition was given to the person from the earliest class year and the person coming the longest distance. This was followed by the singing of the Alma Mater.

Following this program, Cynthia Clawson, HPU alumni and renowned musical and stage performer, was presented in concert as a part of the Homecoming celebration.

The concert was telecast live on ACTS network, courtesy of Faith and Family Communications.

A new Alumni Centennial Plaza is being built with granite bricks on which alumni names are engraved with the class year. More than 500 alumni have purchased a brick and have been engraved and put in place. The bricks may also be purchased in memory or in honor of a friend or family member.

Under the leadership of the University's 17th president, Dr. Don Newberry, Howard Payne has seen a 50 percent increase in enrollment during the last three years, making it the fastest growing Baptist university in this time period.

Several former Eldorado residents and some present ones were on hand to enjoy the festivities. They were: Mr. and Mrs. C.T. Humpries of Hamilton, former elementary principal, and superintendent, Mrs. Humpries taught fifth grade; A.J. Quinn, Clifford Nelson and Don and Pam Williford, former pastors of First Baptist Church; and Evelyn Wright Stigler, who received a 50 year diploma.

Texas Wins Funds To Expand Drug Treatment

Drug treatment programs in Texas got a boost when the federal government allocated $334,114 for the Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse, says U.S. Senator Phil Gramm.

The grant, from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, will help existing drug abuse treatment programs rapidly expand their capacity to serve drug abusers who are on waiting lists.

Grant awards may be used to cover all allowable startup and treatment delivery costs related to expanding a program's treatment capacity.

"Highest overall funding priority will be given to those applicants who have the greatest need to expand their programs, propose to create the most new drug treatment capacity, provide state verification of their existing waiting lists and provide the strongest assurances that funding for their expanded treatment slots will continue to be available after the grant expires," Gramm said.

Bringing expanded drug treatment to Texans who want it is part of fighting the war against drugs, the senator said.

"And I am committed to assuring that Texans win a fair return on the tax dollars we send to Washington to finance the war on drugs," Gramm said in making the announcement.

Public Notice

On October 18, 1989, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (SWB) intends to file an application with the Public Utility Commission (PUC) of Texas to add a new service offering for business customers, called Consolidated Billing (CSB). The proposed effective date for this offering is December 4, 1989.

Consolidated Billing allows the business customer to combine an unlimited number of accounts within a single Revenue Accounting Office (RAO). Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's RAOs in Texas are located in Dallas, Houston and San Antonio. This service will establish a common billing date for each of those accounts so that they may receive one bill each month. Each customer account is tied together for billing purposes, but retains its own identity and level of detail.

PROPOSED RATES

There is no monthly rate associated with Consolidated Billing. However, a nonrecurring charge of $15.00 will be applied to establish a Consolidated Billing arrangement. An additional $15.00 nonrecurring charge will apply for each account which is incorporated into the Consolidated Billing arrangement.

Consolidated Billing (CSB) has been forecasted to generate an increase in first year annual revenues of approximately $581,733.

Persons who wish to comment on this application should notify the Commission by November 24, 1989. Requests for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757, or you may call the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

A Touch Of History

By Rene Calcote

Rural post offices and communities played an important part in the development of Schleicher County.

Travel in the early days was limited to horse or horse and buggy. It was impossible to travel into Eldorado everyday for school, supplies or mail.

Throughout the years, nine post offices were established in Schleicher County. The first was in the community of Gwynn, September 22, 1888, with postmaster James B. Taylor. It was discontinued January 23, 1892.

Another early day post office was in the little community of Kaffir, located in the western part of Schleicher County. It was established December 8, 1915, with William M. Smith as postmaster.

Kaffir was a quiet little farming community 20 miles west of Eldorado. It consisted of a store, post office and school house.

Church was held every Sunday in the one-room school house and every summer there would be a big revival meeting. This gave all the surrounding ranchers and farmers a chance to get together sharing some good "ole time" fellowship.

The young residents of Kaffir Community got together in the homes for parties. Groups would also go "kodaking" on Sunday afternoons, maybe pack a picnic lunch, sharing each other's company and taking a lot of photos.

Charlie Chick carried the mail twice a week to Kaffir from Eldorado. He had the only car in the neighborhood, an old Model "T", without a top.

Some of the early residents of Kaffir were W.E. Baker family, Charlie Chick family, Miller Jolly family, Hazelwood family, Lassiter family, Choat family, McDonald family, Zimmerman family, B.F. Jones family, John Rae and W.M. Smith family.

Mr. Smith gave up the store and post office because of bad health in 1921. The post office was discontinued March 31, 1921.

Early teachers in the Kaffir school were Tennyson Nixon, Ester Evans, Eula Martin, Mrs. Ford Oglesby, Mrs. Johnson and Pearl Chick.

The years have passed and a lot of the old time residents are gone, but this area of Schleicher County is still called "Kaffir".

CanSurmount Offered By ACS

"I have cancer, too...."

This thought is often shared by American Cancer Society volunteers like Joyce Lawless of San Angelo.

"Cancer can be a pretty lonely experience, but it doesn't have to be," she says.

Lawless is an American Cancer Society CanSurmount volunteer who gives of her time and experience to help newly-diagnosed cancer patients as they go through an experience similar to her own.

The CanSurmount program provides patients with a one-to-one visit from someone who has also had cancer. Volunteers make themselves available to talk with cancer patients about the thoughts, frustrations, and fears that most cancer patients have.

CanSurmount volunteers are carefully screened and must be recommended by their doctors. The objectives of the program are to provide new patients with someone to talk to who shares their experience and also to provide hope that a normal life can be regained.

"Cancer patients need a special kind of support, and yet this need cannot always be satisfied by family, friends or even medical professionals," says Lawless. "The essential missing element is shared experience."

CanSurmount volunteers can be living proof that there is light at the end of the tunnel for someone who must cope with a cancer diagnosis.

Volunteers provide support by just being alive.

Anyone needing more information on CanSurmount can call the American Cancer Society office at 944-2509.

"The people who get on in this world are the people who get up and look for the circumstances they want, and, if they can't find them, make them."

Take the chill out of winter heating bills.

With winter just around the corner, WTU has these suggestions for lower energy bills.

1. caulk and weatherstrip around windows and doors to help prevent excessive heat loss.
2. Check the attic for adequate insulation; R-30 is recommended.
3. Clean or replace filters monthly in your heating unit.
4. Tightly close the damper in the fireplace when not in use.
5. Set the thermostat at 68° or lower.
6. Open drapes and blinds during the day to let in sunlight and close them at night to hold in warm air.

For a more comfortable home and an electric bill that won't give you a chill, contact your local WTU office for more conservation tips.

Eagles Hold Lions to 15 Points

The Ozona Lions defeated the Eldorado Eagles in football last Friday night, in Eldorado. The Lions downed the Eagles 15-6, in this District 6-2A contest.

Ozona played a full game, executing plays well in both the first and second half, without making too many mistakes. The Lions scored their first six points in the first quarter. The kick after failed. They scored another touchdown in the second quarter and also a field goal to take the lead by 15 points.

Eldorado played a better second half to hold the Lions to their 15 scored points. Juan Ramirez scored Eldorado's six points in the third quarter on a five yard run. The run for extra points failed.

The defense played a good second half as did the offense.

Coach Doug Kuhlmann commented, "The offense executed better than previous games and gained confidence which they were lacking going into the game."

The Eagles play Forsan, there, this Friday night at 8 p.m. Forsan and Eldorado have identical records.

Kuhlmann concluded by saying, "Forsan played Ozona well. They have a good ball club. If they play our type of game, we have an excellent chance for winning."

Lack Of Water Is A Fact Of Life

Amendment Would Improve Water Conditions

In Miradon outside Laredo, school children play tag near a stagnant pond of sewage. In San Elizario near El Paso, families have to drink water from tank trucks because the well water has been contaminated by outside latrines.

Scenes like these look oddly out of place in a state where the biggest water worry for many people is remembering to turn on the lawn sprinkler. Yet, for 111,000 or more people living in settlements along the Texas-Mexico border, lack of running water and sewage service is a fact of life.

The resulting unsanitary conditions, says the Texas Medical Association, have become a breeding ground for "Third World" infectious diseases that threaten to move north across Texas and the rest of the United States.

Health conditions along the border are so bad the Legislature is asking Texans to vote November 7 on a constitutional amendment, Proposition 2, which would provide $500 million in water development bonds, including $100 million for water and sewer projects along the Texas side of the border.

Unregulated growth of colonies, unincorporated subdivisions along the border often without water, sewage, and electrical connections, and poor hygiene have resulted in high rates of infectious disease. El Paso County in 1987, for example, reported more tuberculosis than 19 states, more shigella dysentery than 20 states, more hepatitis A than 24 states, more hepatitis B than 14 states, and more typhoid than 29 states. The county also had nine cases of leprosy. High rates of disease also are common in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Cameron, Hidalgo and Starr Counties, for example, have tuberculosis incidence rates two or three times that of the United States as a whole.

The implications are vast. If water and sewer conditions are not improved, taxpayers will have to pay huge sums to treat diseases that could have been prevented. Furthermore, with frequent travel to and from the border, particularly by colonia residents looking for work, the diseases could spread to Abilene, Fort Worth, Dallas and Chicago.

"We have a potential national health problem on our hands," said Dr. Laurance Nickey, chairman of TMA's Council on Public Health and director of the El Paso City/County Health District.

As a first step, the Legislature passed a bill last spring empowering 30 border counties to enforce tougher regulations to prevent the spread of more colonias.

A second step is massive water and sewer improvements. If voters approve Proposition 2, Texas Water Development Board bonds could provide funding for subsidized loans and grants to develop water and wastewater facilities in "economically distressed areas" along the border.

The proposal has been endorsed by top state officials including Lt. Governor Bill Hobby, Attorney General Jim Mattox, State Treasurer Ann Richards, Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower, State Comptroller Bob Bullock and Land Commissioner

Garry Mauro, as well as a number of humanitarian organizations in the Valley.

Water and sewage problems were one of several issues discussed at TMA's border health conference August 23-24 in El Paso, which attracted medical, health and governmental authorities from the four border states -- Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California. Other issues included differing environmental regulations in Texas and Mexico, as well as the shortage of physicians, hospitals and ambulance service along the border.

The Texas Medical Association is a professional organization of more than 29,000 physician and medical student members. It is based in Austin and has 116 component medical societies around the state. The Association represents 80 percent of the state's physicians, and its goal is to improve the health of Texans through the professional and personal development of members.

Influenza Season On The Way Flu Vaccine Is Available

Influenza season is on the way and the flu strain considered most likely to appear this year is one that frequently brings a higher mortality rate, according to researchers at the national Influenza Research Center of Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

Particularly susceptible to possible complications from this A-Shanghai strain of flu are older people, reports Dr. W. Paul Glezen of the Flu Center.

There is good news, however, because this year's flu vaccine covers A-Shanghai, as well as A-

Taiwan, considered the second most likely strain to make an appearance during the 1989-90 flu season.

Glezen considers it unlikely there will be much influenza B this year, in large part because it has appeared the past two years, lessening the chance of an immediate recurrence.

But, he cautions that a new strain of influenza called B-Yamagata has appeared in Asia and could make its way to the United States; however, it, too, is covered by this year's vaccine. Glezen said four categories of people should receive flu shots:

- People with heart and lung disease, including asthma and chronic bronchitis.
-- People aged 65 and older.
-- People with diabetes, chronic kidney disease and chronic anemia, including sickle cell anemia.
-- People likely to come into contact with those in the three high-risk groups.

People in high-risk groups are more prone to life-threatening infections, such as pneumonia, after contracting influenza.

Health-care workers should be vaccinated, Glezen said. "The vaccine will help prevent them from contracting the flu and spreading the virus to their patients."

The flu vaccine is available from most physicians and at community health clinics.

The U.S. Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta and the Food and Drug Administration in Washington, D.C., decide on the composition of the coming season's influenza vaccine based on viruses circulating worldwide.

Influenza usually strikes suddenly and produces symptoms such as fever, generalized muscle pain, weakness and a dry, hacking cough. It is caused by variants of types A and B influenza viruses. Variants are classified according to where they were first identified.

Incentives For Returning To Work

The Social Security Act contains a number of incentives designed to encourage disabled people to return to work. For example, a disabled person may continue to receive some benefits for a time while working. In addition, if benefits are stopped because of work, the reapplication process is simplified.

A trial work period permits a disabled person to continue to receive disability checks for up to nine months, regardless of his or her earnings. These nine months do not have to be consecutive; in fact, they can be separated by months or even years during which the beneficiary is not employed.

Any month during which a person earns more than $75 in gross wages is counted as a trial work month. For self-employed individuals, trial work months include those in which net earnings exceed $75, or the person spends more than 15 hours with the business.

After a trial work period, a decision is made about the beneficiary's ability to perform substantial gainful work. This means significant physical or mental work that is productive and is usually done for pay or profit.

If the person is not able to do substantial gainful work, benefits continue; if the person is able to do substantial gainful work, benefits generally are paid for an additional three months before they are stopped.

Immediately following this period is a 36-month re-entitlement period during which benefits can be reinstated for any month of non-substantial gainful work. During this reinstatement period, if a person has Medicare coverage, it will continue.

Other provisions in the law similarly are designed to encourage beneficiaries to return to work.

Contributions are now being accepted at the 1st National Bank for a plaque to be placed in the High School Gym honoring Shannon Harber.

Let's Guarantee The Rights Of Crime Victims

By Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox

In November, Texans will have an opportunity to cast a vote to add a Crime Victim's Bill of Rights to the Texas Constitution.

The victims' Bill of Rights is an effort to bring fair treatment, respect for the dignity and privacy of the victim and reasonable protection from the accused throughout the criminal justice process.

The Constitution would state that a crime victim, upon request, would be notified of court proceedings involving the accused and be allowed to attend those proceedings.

The victim also would have a right to receive restitution from the criminal and receive information about the criminal's conviction, sentence, imprisonment and release.

The Texas Legislature also could enact laws enforcing the rights of crime victims.

The Crime Victims' Bill of Rights will be Amendment 13 on the ballot on November 7.

Victims are often forgotten in the effort to exact justice from the perpetrators of crime. Victims sometimes suffer twice -- once at the hands of the criminal, and again at the hands of the criminal justice system. Justice is incomplete when the suffering of the victim is ignored or compounded by the system.

The statistics show that many of us have been victims and the rest of us are just one step ahead of becoming victims.

Five out of six of today's 12-year-olds will be victims of crime in their lifetimes. A crime occurs every five seconds. For example, in 1988, approximately 1.5 million persons became victims of crime in Texas.

We must get tough with criminals. The revolving door that allows criminals out of jail even before the victim is out of the hospital must be stopped. The criminal justice machine is in dire need of repair. One of the most important repairs we can make is to recognize the rights of the victims.

The rights of the criminal are detailed in volumes of law books. The victims should at least have a few paragraphs in the Texas Constitution. We all have a stake in making sure our rights are protected and we are not victimized twice.

Enshrining the Crime Victims' Bill of Rights in the Texas constitution would give victims legal standing in enforcing those rights.

Singles Group Organizes In Ozona

Have you ever wondered what single people do in Eldorado? The truth is not much; sure there are some clubs and churches, but there are few places for singles to socialize, to get to know others in a pleasant atmosphere.

There is a group trying to change that. The West Texas Singles Association, a San Angelo based singles club, is helping a group in Ozona get going as an organization.

Betty Kinnard, an Ozona teacher, has lived in several towns in Texas, and she believes there is a real need for a mature, sophisticated organization for single people of all adult ages.

"We would like to form an organization of people without spouses who would like to be active, not work like some groups, but have fun," Kinnard commented. It's not the wild party kind of group or a dating service.

The group is planning an active calendar of events. This does not mean members must attend each one -- just what they want, when they want, no pressure. The kinds of activities are game nights, dinners, cookouts, dancing, community events, VCR movies and some out of town activities such as water skiing, travel, camping, special events and such.

The West Texas Singles, Ozona Chapter, welcomes all singles in the area who would like to be in a mature, sophisticated atmosphere.

For more information, write Box 3119 in Ozona.

News From 'Off Broadway'

By Jo Ann Sproul

The Way Off Broadway Players would like to express their appreciation to everyone who has made a donation to their group.

Just recently the Schleicher County Chamber of Commerce donated the paint and cedar trim for the Playhouse. Ronnie Sauer along with five others donated their time and did the work. Harrison Roofing in San Angelo donated the copper trim.

We are very grateful and feel the entire community will benefit from their efforts. Ronnie took a day of vacation to paint!!! Thanks again Ronnie!!

It is exciting to think how much the downtown area would improve if all the buildings could be painted and otherwise repaired. I for one, would help paint if various groups or individuals would furnish the paint. Perhaps the chamber would consent to coordinate such an effort. LETS PAINT THE TOWN!!!

Hueco Tanks State Park, Texas' westernmost park, (past the Guadalupe mountains in El Paso County) contains a unique attraction of natural "cisterns" formed by depressions in limestone. Ranging in diameter from a few inches to 20 feet, some are as deep as 10 feet. The Apaches, Kiowas, and Comanches camped here as this was the only water supply for miles around, and left behind cave drawings telling of their hunting adventures.

The Players are still holding a Patron drive and a $10 membership fee entitles you to mailouts which will keep you up to date on auditions, productions, etc., as well as helping the group with needed supplies and monthly bills.

The Players feel that the most pressing need at this time is for more comfortable seating for their audiences. As funds become available, they hope to address this need.

Rehearsal for two one act plays is currently in progress. They will be presented on November 17, 18 and 19 (two night performances and a Sunday matinee). The casts include Barbara Cosper, Lewis Whitten, Jim Brame, Mabel Blaylock, Kathy Mankin, Glenda Nix, Pat Ragsdale, Gary Smith, Nancy Lester and Sheila Prater. The plays, a comedy and a farce, are coming along well. Directing is Jo Ann Sproul.
