Volume 88 #29

Eldorado, Texas

Nancy Lester Named to Advisory Council

Nancy Lester has been named Schleicher County representative to the Regional Advisory Council of Concho Valley Home for Girls. Mrs. Lester is the wife of Bob Lester of Eldorado.

According to Patricia S. Rice, Board president, Concho Valley Home for Girls established the Regional Advisory Council this spring. Members will assist in disseminating information about the Home, giving feedback to CVHG from their home counties, and otherwise facilitating communication between the Home and the Concho Valley community.

Concho Valley Home for Girls operates two foster group homes in San Angelo for girls who can no longer live with their families. The agency was incorporated in 1969, and the first home began accepting residents in 1973.

As the name implies, the Home serves the whole Concho Valley, offering a constructive alternative for girls aged 10 to 17 who are faced with a destructive home situation -- abuse, neglect, or other serious family troubles. A number of children from the Eldorado area have been served by the Home in the past.

The goal of the Home is to provide a safe and caring environment to help its residents surmount their earlier troubles and grow into happy, responsible, self-sufficient adults. Residents attend public schools and participate in social, cultural, and religious activities in the community. The Home's programs also incorporate tutoring, individual and group counseling, and training in independent living skills. Further information on the Home can be obtained by contacting Council member Lester.

New Attendance Policy for SCISD

Students of Schleicher County ISD will be under a new attendance policy when they return to school this fall. According to changes recently made by the State Legislature, students must attend at least 80 days of classes each semester, with no exceptions. There will no longer be a distinction between excused and unexcused absences.

This year there are 87 days in the first semester and 88 days in the second. Students who miss more than 7 days in the fall semester or 8 days in the spring semester for any reason, will have to prove to the district that their excuses are acceptable. Any student attending less than the required 80 days automatically loses credit for that semester. In order to have that credit reinstated, both the parents and the student must appear before a school committee to justify the absences.

If the reasons for the absences are accepted by the committee, the student may be able to receive credit for that semester by agreeing to terms recommended by the attendance committee. The committee may make any number of recommendations, such as stipulating that the student miss no more days for the semester and that the student attend tutoring sessions for the rest of the term.

Willeke Receives Scholarship

Daniel Gus Willeke was awarded an $8,000, four-year Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo FFA scholarship this week in special ceremonies at the 61st annual Texas FFA

Convention, now underway in Houston's Astroarena. Dan, son of Mr. and Mrs. A.E. Willeke, Eldorado, recently graduated as salutatorian of his class from Eldorado

High School. An active FFA member of the courtesy corps at the state FFA convention and exhibited steers at livestock shows across the state. He participated on the farm radio and chapter conducting teams and earned the Lone Star Farmer degree.

While in high school, Dan served as president of the Texas Association of Future Educators. He was a member of the National Honor Society, student council, band and 4-H.

Dan, who plans to attend Texas A&M University and major in agricultural communications, was on of 50 Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo FFA scholarship winners honored.

"These young people have demonstrated their outstanding leadership and scholastic abilities," said Show president Hal Hillman. "We're proud to play a part in their futures."

"We're also pleased that the Texas FFA selected the Astroarena as the location of this year's convention," said Hillman. "Although our scholarship winners come from all over the state, we're especially proud to present these scholarships in a facility built and paid for by the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo."

In addition to the 50 FFA scholarships, the Show awarded 50 four-year, $8,000 scholarships at the Texas 4-H Roundup on June 6 in College Station. As in past years, all FFA and 4-H recipients must pursue a bachelor's degree at a Texas college or university. This scholarship program has been expanded, however, to include life science as well as agricultural majors.

Scholarship funding is provided by revenues earned at the annual Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, a civic and charitable event made possible by the efforts of more than 6,000 volunteers. To date, the Show has committed more than $1.14 million in educational funds for the upcoming school year.

Included in this commitment are 24 new, $8,000, four-year metropolitan scholarships, awarded at a special

Million Dollar Scholarship Luncheon on June 20 in Houston; the Area Go Texan scholarships, presented at rodeo performances during the 1989 Show; and, school art scholarships, awarded to recipients selected during this year's school art contest.

Life Among The Fishes

by Thomas Giovannitti

The other day I was in the bank making a deposit and the teller asked me how I wanted the cash. Did I want it in large or in small bills, she asked. I told her, in my case, it did not matter since I was sure to have it spent no matter how large the denomination of the bill. I don't know about you, but I have a little trouble keeping any sizable amount of money on me very long.

I have to admit that I do not spend every dime I make in Eldorado. I do try to patronize the local businesses but like most of us I am drawn to the city in the north. No matter the valiant struggle that our local shopkeepers wage, they just cannot carry the variety and amount of "Stuff" that a Wal-Mart can.

What really fascinates me about stores such as Wal-Mart, and K-Mart is that they never seem to run out of anything. There are two of each of those outlets in San Angelo, right? Take any consumer product and I bet the combined total of that product is more than the total of the population of San Angelo and the surrounding communities.

Take for instance, car batteries. Each of those stores has plenty of them on hand all the time. There are also gas stations and tire and battery outlets other than the two major shopping stores so there must be at least one battery for every man, woman, and child in the Concho Valley. who the heck buys all the batteries? I haven't bought one for six months someone must be buying my share of them. Is there someone hoarding batteries and we don't know about it? Will there suddenly be a shortage of them and the proud owner of that stash will have a corner on the market. He would have a few under his overcoat pandering to baser instincts by seemingly offering us a very good deal.

And that is not all! What about all of the kitchen aids and pots and pans? Who is buying them? We bought a set of the "Waterless" cookware several years ago it looks to me those pans will outlive us. There can't be that many new households starting up. Maybe someone is throwing them away thinking they are disposable?

On top of all that those stores are usually crowded. They are not even the only stores, when you add in the big supermarkets and all of the mall stores, and the other specialty shops. If all this stuff isn't biodegradable and very quickly where is it all going. I know it ain't in my closet, I think?

Laugh and Live

by Gary Smith

"Before a fellow tries to live by his wits, he ought to make sure he has some." GCS

Heard a story of a Sunday School lady who was talking to the pint-sized members about the things money can't buy. "It can't buy laughter," she said, "That comes from the soul. And money can't buy love." To emphasize what she was saying, she asked, "What would you do if I offered you $1000 not to love your Mommies and Daddies."

The youngsters started whispering and giggling among themselves, and then a young voice demanded, "How much would you give me to not love my sister?"

Doesn't take a sage to know that it sure is a lot easier to love some folks than it is to love others.

While I was thinking of folks that I know, I came to a startling realization. Not only are some of them hard to love, but I'd bet that a few of them think that I'm pretty easy to dislike myself.

Till the next time...
May God Bless.

It is never an easy job, working and trying to keep house. I always say I don't have time during the week or I am too tired to do housework when I get home. Some weekends I do a really good job of cleaning house, but other times I do just enough to get by.

House cleaning is not one of my favorite tasks. I will find any excuse to get out of it.

I read a book recently, "Phyllis Diller's House-keeping Hints". I would like to share some of them with you. She says:

"I explain away the smudges on my walls as the height marks of my kids which I'm too sentimental to wash off."

"To get a roaster clean, send something like baked apples in it to a neighbor. Neighbors always return pans spotless, and you won't have to use a blow torch on it like you usually do."

"Don't dust the cupboard shelves. Then you can fit things where they belong on the spots where there's no dust."

"Choose a checked or striped wallpaper. People will be halfway home before they are able to focus."

"If a guest is wearing glasses, as he walks out the door grab them before he notices they're clean and say, 'Let me wipe the dust off for you.'"

"Get a decent looking housecoat so you can occasionally pretend the latch slipped behind you and you're locked out, forced to spend eight hours basking in the sun on a chaise lounge."

"Blame a lot of things - like soiled wall paper, greasy walls, and a dirty basement -- on the previous owners, even if you've lived there for 25 years."

"In the summer, blame dust on open windows; in winter, on the furnace."

"You could say, 'I would have cleaned but I'm helping my son's pediatrician conduct an allergy test.'"

"Keep at least one window pane clean to check the weather. Once when I didn't do this I sent the kids off with umbrellas for six weeks straight."

"Buy an easel and leave it lying in a conspicuous place. Much will be forgiven if people think you are an artist."

Good Diets for Babies: Because the greatest amount of human growth takes place in the first two years of life, feeding babies the same type of diet as adults could lead to health problems.

Although adults are being told to limit fat, cholesterol, and sugar, such limitations are not good for children under two years of age.

Doctors note that breast milk, the ideal food for babies, is not low in fat or cholesterol, and sugar in moderation can make food more palatable for babies. (American Medical News)

"America's No. 1 Country Character" Contest

COUNTRY magazine has launched a search for "America's No. 1 Country Character", and has contacted The Success to request our staff's assistance in this national search.

Our staff is turning this assignment over to you, our readers. We're asking your help in nominating someone from this area for the title.

The national winner will receive a 30-day unlimited ticket on Greyhound or Amtrak, allowing him or her to travel anywhere in the U.S. for a full month to see rural America up close!

And the person who nominated that winner will receive the same, allowing unlimited free travel by train or bus throughout the U.S. for 30 days! Or, the winner or nominator can accept $1,000.00 in cash instead.

Possible Local Candidates
A quick read-through of Country's description of the kind of "character" it's looking for in this search leads our staff to believe we may have a few viable candidates right here in our community.

"Every rural community has at least one 'real character' who can be counted on to brighten a dull day," says Roy Reiman, publisher of Country.

"He or she is the one who always comes up with a colorful remark, finds humor in what could be a depressing situation, is perhaps a practical joker, or is someone who simply marches to a little different drummer to the delight of others in the area."

Sound like someone you know? Then nominate that colorful person--it may give him or her national exposure by being featured in Country magazine, which has attracted over 1 million subscribers in just 2 years.

And both you and the winner could be traveling around the country by train or bus for a full month later this year!

Here's the How-To

To nominate one of the locals, Country simply requests some details on why you feel this person is "America's No. 1 Country Character", and asks you to enclose a photo of your candidate if at all possible.

You're to enclose a self-addressed, postage-paid return envelope so the editors can get back to you quickly to get more details or to return your material later.

All entries and photos become property of Country magazine, which will feature many of the runners-up in future issues before announcing the national winner at the end of the year.

Send your nomination to: "America's No. 1 Country Character Contest", Country magazine, Box 643, Milwaukee, Wi. 53021. A sample copy of the magazine is available for $1.

The Way We See It

by Lola Squires

"The marking of territories insures that the holder has at its disposal an area sufficient to provide for its needs..."

As I sat on the front porch the other night just after dark, I watched as a young cat approached the steps very cautiously. Before it had reached the half-way point, another cat appeared from under the bushes at the front of the house. The approaching cat, turned and ran to the middle of the street when it saw the cat who came from the bushes. The first cat knew he was invading territory that was not his for the marking and the second cat confirmed this when the first cat tried to invade.

As I sat watching the two animals, I compared them to humans. Sometimes we invade the territory of others without realizing it and need reminding. Sometimes others do this to us. Watching the felines has given me a little insight into the way to treat others as well as how to let others treat me.

Johnson-Griffin Exchange Wedding Vows

MRS. KIRK LANE GRIFFIN

Miss Holly Beth Johnson of San Angelo and Kirk Lane Griffin of Eldorado exchanged wedding vows Saturday, July 15, 1989, at 7 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Brady.

Officiating the double ring ceremony was Rev. Roemer Hudler of the First Christian Church of Brady.

Parents of the couple are Charles Miers Johnson of Rochelle, Mrs. Ray Johnson of Brady, and Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Griffin of Eldorado. Mrs. Jack Griffin is Kirk's grandmother.

The vows were read before the altar decorated with candelabra, jade leaves and arrangements of ivory gladioli. Family pews were marked with ivory bows and English Ivy.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of candlelight ivory satin fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and a fitted bodice appliqued with lace and pearls. The short puffed sleeves were appliqued with a matching motif of lace and pearls and the full skirt ended in a chapel train edged in matching lace. She wore a matching headpiece of illusion with silk stephanotis framing the face.

For something old and borrowed, the bride wore a gold necklace with a pearl drop borrowed from her mother. Something blue was a blue garter, a gift from a friend, and for luck, she carried a tupence in her shoe.

Soloist Bernadette Bickford of San Angelo sang "All I Ask of You" and "Just You and I". Accompanying Ms. Bickford and playing the wedding music was Mrs. Norma Ridout. Mrs. Deryl Bishop provided music for the reception.

The matron of honor,

Mrs. Joe Byrne, sister of the bride, wore a gown of iridescent lapis blue taffeta fashioned with a dropped waist and a draped gathered skirt finished with a fabric bow and flower. She carried a cascade bouquet of ivory pixie carnations and English Ivy.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Steve Nazerenus of Houston, Mrs. Steve Gamel of Katemcy, Mrs. John Osborne, sister of the groom of San Angelo, Miss Dena Manning of Eldorado and Miss Shanna Johnson, of Rochelle.

The bridesmaids gowns were identical to that of the matron of honor. Flower girls were Miss Amanda Manning of Eldorado and Miss Lindsay Johnson of Rochelle.

The father of the groom served his son as best man. Groomsmen were John Osborne of San Angelo, Trent Manning of Eldorado, Mike Godwin of San Angelo, Curtis Griffin of Eldorado and Nickie Dahlberg of Big Spring. Clint Griffin, Cy Griffin, Craig Griffin and Kelly

Griffin of Eldorado seated guests.

Members of the house party for the reception held at the Fellowship Hall of the church were Kathy Mayfield of Round Rock, Rheda Moseley of Austin, Lezlye Henderson of Knickerbocker, Cindy Osborn of San Angelo, Mrs. Bill Burns and Mrs. Jack Browning of Brady. Miss DecAnna Johnson and Miss Allison Johnson presented rice bags to guests.

The couple will be home on the groom's ranch north of Eldorado where he is engaged in the ranching business. The groom is a graduate of Eldorado High School and Angelo State University. The bride is employed as Director of Community Relations at St. John's Hospital in San Angelo. She is a graduate of Brady High School and Angelo State University.

The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Griffin, hosted the rehearsal dinner June 14 at the Depot in Brady with LaFlores serving.

Martin Participates in Youth Congress

The Texas Department of Agriculture recently sponsored the Second Annual Texas Agriculture Youth Congress in Austin. The 1989 event brought together 75 of the top vocational agriculture students in Texas as part of an effort to encourage young people to pursue a career in agriculture. Among those participants was Louis Pat Martin of Eldorado High School.

Louis was recognized by Deputy State Agriculture Commissioner Mike Moeller at the close of the four-day meeting. The delegates were chosen based on their academic performance, leadership skills and involvement in community agriculture programs.

"If the tremendous problems confronting American agriculture are to be solved, the solutions will come from the small army of young people now considering a career in agriculture," Deputy State Agriculture Commissioner Mike Moeller said. "My generation is calling on

The Texas Agriculture Youth Congress is a four-day event designed to expose some of the state's top vocational ag students to career opportunities in agriculture. The congress is organized by the Texas Department of Agriculture with financial support from federal farm policy and alternative crops. The Texas Agriculture Youth Congress is one of only two such events held in the United States. The state of Nebraska has sponsored a similar event for the past 13 years.

The 1989 Youth Congress featured lectures by experts on a wide range of topics affecting agriculture. Those topics included biotechnology, agriculture in space,

Bentsen Urges to Include Rural Areas in Drug Control

U.S. senator Lloyd Bentsen Saturday urged Drug Czar William Bennett to look beyond the "big drug dealers in big cities" when drafting his National Drug Control Strategy, due out in September.

Bentsen said an effective federal anti-drug plan must deal with the rapid spread of crack cocaine to smaller towns and rural areas in Texas and other states.

"I'm strongly urging (Bennett) to be sure and include the smaller cities - the rural areas too-- because you've seen an explosive growth in the use of drugs in those particular areas. It isn't just limited to the big cities anymore," Bentsen said.

"One of the reasons is because of the growth of crack cocaine which is relatively new. It's very addictive, and you're seeing it spread particularly into these rural areas and small towns," Bentsen said.

"That is why I am concerned by a recent Drug Enforcement Administration memorandum about increasing crack cocaine abuse in rural Texas. According to the memorandum, crack dealers in smaller communities 'do not merit full federal investigative efforts' since they typically limit their sales to small quantities," Bentsen said.

Bentsen responded that "the urban problem must not be the exclusive focus of the effort if we are to make real progress."

Bentsen cited reports from police in one rural Texas community showing an 80 percent increase in crack cocaine cases in just one year.

"If you ignore that kind of an increase, you do so at your own peril. Imagine how severe this relatively new problem will be two or five or 10 years from now if we fail to take immediate steps to contain it," Bentsen said.

"So we want to be sure that the Drug Enforcement Administration doesn't limit its efforts just to the big dealers in the big cities, that we include rural and small towns, too," Bentsen said.

"It's absolutely imperative that we have an overall program that takes care of not just the large cities but small towns and rural areas in addition," Bentsen said.

Beating The Heat For The Elderly

With the hottest months of the year now upon us, heat illnesses are major health concerns -- especially for the elderly. About 4,000 deaths related to heat stroke occur in the United States each year, with the majority of the deaths occurring in the elderly population.

The most dangerous weather conditions for heat illnesses are extreme heat, high humidity and no wind.

"An elderly person, however, can suffer from heat illnesses at temperatures as low as 80 degrees," says Dr. Katherine M. Jew, of the Division of General Internal Medicine at the Scott and White Santa Fe Internal Medicine Clinic. Dr. Jew is board certified in Internal Medicine and Geriatrics.

The three forms of heat illness, in order from the least to the most severe, are heat cramps, heat exhaustion and heat stroke.

Abdominal heat cramps, the least dangerous form of heat illness, are usually experienced by young, healthy people who have over-exerted themselves physically, but these cramps can occur in older people as well. The remedy for heat cramps is simply fluid replacement.

Symptoms of heat exhaustion include dizziness, headache, nausea and a low grade temperature.

When these symptoms occur and heat exhaustion is a possibility, the person needs to report to an emergency room for treatment, which consists of replacing fluids.

The most serious form of heat illness, heat stroke, can result in death if left untreated. Heat stroke victims experience numerous symptoms including severe confusion, dizziness, headache, elevated temperature, nausea and vomiting, and low or high blood pressure.

In the advanced stages of heat stroke, a person may even have seizures or go into a comatose state.

The elderly are more susceptible to heat stroke. Because of the changes that occur in the sweat glands with aging, elderly people do not sweat properly, which means that their bodies do not cool themselves down as well when they become overheated.

Friends, family and neighbors of elderly citizens should be aware of the heat illness symptoms listed so that they can easily spot problems in the older people who might be unaware of the symptoms or unable to care for themselves.

If an elderly person is experiencing heat stroke symptoms, the following steps should be taken by friends, family or neighbors: Remove his clothing, sprinkle him with water and turn on fans to cool him down, and take him or call an ambulance to take him to an emergency room immediately.

When overheated, el-

Coverage For Farm Workers Changed

Important changes in the Social Security coverage of farm workers are in effect, Franklin H. Upp, Social Security manager in San Angelo said.

The change affects laborers who live at home and commute to work daily during harvest season to pick fruit, or vegetables by hand. If work is paid on a piece rate basis and the laborers are commuters or local workers and employed less than 13 weeks the preceding year, it is only covered by Social Security if the worker is paid at least $150 in cash.

Farmers must pay Social Security taxes for any worker who is paid at least $150 in cash during a year. If the farmer's total expense for agricultural labor is $2,500 or more, all workers are covered by elderly people should not try to replace their salt. Although this is a common practice for other age groups, it could be hazardous for older people who can experience complications.

Social Security with the exception of piece-work laborers.

Beginning 1988, growers who spent $2,500 or more on agricultural labor were required to report for Social Security the earnings of all workers. Because the record keeping was very burdensome when large numbers of workers were needed for a harvest, Congress amended the law effective in 1988, Upp said.

More information for farmers and farm workers is available from Social Security, Upp said, by calling 949-4608. Ask for Fact Sheet #6, "Crew Leaders and Farmers" or Fact Sheet #8, "Agricultural Workers".

The San Angelo Social Security Office is located at 2214 Sherwood Way. The office is open 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Sales Tax Rebates Continue To Climb

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Monday that local sales tax rebates across the state continued to climb this month, increasing by 12 percent over last year's July payments.

"National economic indicators seem to be showing a slowdown, but the trend in Texas remains upward," Bullock said. "Our diversifying economic base should ensure that we continue to do well."

Bullock added that Texas' economic growth is becoming apparent in almost every sector of the economy.

"Oil and gas, construction, banking and real estate appear to have bottomed out. And some of the areas in Texas that lagged behind in economic growth are beginning to show signs of improvement," Bullock said.

Rebate checks totaling $68.7 million were sent Monday to 939 cities that impose local sales tax at either one or one and one-half percent, Bullock said.

Eldorado's allocation of $5,019.02 shows an increase of 26.82 percent compared to last year's payment for the same period of $3,957.54. Total 1989 payments to date are $36,363.74, an increase of 8.76 percent over last year's payments to date of $33,435.33.

July's checks represent taxes collected by monthly filers in May and reported to the Comptroller's office by June 20, Bullock said.

Biting Irony

The crocodile is one of nature's high powered predators. The reptile's cavernous mouth and powerful jaws leave little to chance. But despite being well endowed with teeth, crocodiles can't chew.

"International Wildlife" magazine reports their long, sharp teeth serve mainly as survival weapons and clamps. A crocodile can eat only what it can swallow whole.

Bidding Deadline On Forfeited Land Tracts

The bidding deadline for 270 tracts of land recently forfeited by the Texas Veterans Land Board (VLB) has been set for August 23 at 1 p.m.

Located in 115 counties throughout the state, all the tracts are being offered exclusively to Texas veterans who are eligible to participate in the Texas Veterans Land Program. The interest rate will be 8.75 percent for a 30-year loan.

At a February forfeited land sale VLB sales hit a six-year high when 119 forfeited tracts were sold for nearly $2.5 million. The sale continued an upward trend first seen in August, 1988, when the VLB sold 107 tracts totaling $2.2 million.

The VLB will finance the entire loan amount of all winning bids and there is no limit on the amount loaned. The buyer will be responsible for the current year's taxes only.

"I'd like to encourage Texas veterans who have been looking for quality land to take advantage of this sale," said Garry Mauro, who chairs the VLB. "Everybody has an equal shot at winning."

The sale will be by sealed bid only with the minimum bid set by the Board. Winning bidders will be notified by mail within one week of the sale. The VLB may reject any bids for any reason.

Bidders must submit a $25 non-refundable bid fee for each bid and $320 to cover closing costs with their bid form. Unsuccessful bidders will have all money refunded except the $25 bid fee.

To be considered an eligible Texas veteran, the only residency requirements are that a veteran live in Texas for at least five consecutive years immediately prior to filing an application with the Board or must have entered the service while a resident of Texas. In addition, the veteran must be a resident of Texas when filing an application.

The veteran must have served at least 90 consecutive days of active duty in the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines or Coast Guard, unless discharged sooner due to a service-connected disability. Service must have been after September 16, 1940, and the veteran must not have been dishonorably discharged.

A bid form, the list of forfeited tracts in the sale, bidding instructions and directions as to how to reach each tract for inspection is now available from the VLB.

For more information, write the Texas Veterans Land Board, 1700 North Congress, Austin, Texas 78701-1496 or call toll-free 1-800-253-VETS.

Natural Gas Decontrol Bill

Texas Railroad Commission Chairman Kent Hance today praised Congress for passing the natural gas decontrol bill with "strong bipartisan support." This long overdue measure is one of the keystones of President Bush's energy policy. "Natural gas decontrol may have come just in the nick of time. The gas available for use is rapidly slipping below an adequate surplus level. In fact, a gas surplus could already be history. Decontrol of natural gas, while not a cure-all, is an essential first step in revitalizing the gas industry," Hance said.

"The gas decontrol bill's passage is a start in the right direction toward the national energy strategy for which I have been calling. It will make us less dependent on foreign energy sources and strengthen national security in the long run. However, new tax incentives and stable oil prices are still needed if we are to ensure a sound oil and gas industry in the future. Economic growth in our energy sector is vital to providing jobs and an improved education system in Texas," Hance emphasized.

"The new legislation will provide the independent Texas wildcatter more incentive to drill for gas now that restrictive government price controls have been removed. This in turn will help build the surplus of gas we need to meet peak demands during summer and winter periods," Hance said.

"Whether or not we will have enough gas to meet our commercial and industrial demand in the United States this coming winter is a cause for concern. At the current levels of natural gas production, any kind of long-lasting cold snap could push the system beyond its limits. As one example of the problem close to home, it should be noted that the offshore Gulf Coast gas reserves are being depleted much faster than they are being replaced," Hance said.

"Supply and demand will once again be the order of the day for natural gas. Additions to natural gas reserves have fallen about 50 percent since 1981 and many producers have not been drilling because the price is still too low. A U.S. Department of Energy survey has confirmed there is little incentive for gas reserve exploration at prices below $2.50 per Mcf. The current spot gas price is around $1.60 per Mcf (thousand cubic feet) at the wellhead," Hance said.

"One of the best things about natural gas is it is the cleanest burning fuel available. Concerns about the environment and fears of the greenhouse effect have made natural gas increasingly attractive. It is also important to point out that Texas is the nation's largest single supplier of natural gas," Hance concluded.

Social Security Earnings

Many people inquiring for the first time about their Social Security retirement benefits have misconceptions about how their benefits will be computed, Franklin H. Upp, Social Security manager in San Angelo, said.

A question which comes up often, "Is my benefit amount based on my high five years of work or my last five years of work?" The answer is "Neither one!"

Retirement benefits are calculated on the total earnings during a lifetime of work under the Social Security system. Years of high earnings will increase the amount of the benefit, but no group of years counts more than another group.

The Social Security Administration encourages people of all ages to become better informed about what to expect in future benefits, Upp said. The Personal Earnings and Benefit Estimate Statement (PEBES) provides an individual's year-by-year record of earnings and estimates of retirement, disability, and survivors benefits.

To request a PEBES, people can call 1-800-937-2000 or write to Consumer Information Center, Department 55, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Other questions about Social Security can be answered by calling 949-4608, Upp said. The San Angelo Social Security Office is located at 2214 Sherwood Way. The office is open from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Main Street Business Association

The Main Street Business Association recently held a meeting to discuss ways to beautify Eldorado.

At the meeting, it was suggested that trees be planted along main street, four trees per block, with brick ledges around them to protect them. It was also suggested that the sidewalk in front of the old hotel be torn out so that grass could be planted.

The association is planning on painting the storefronts along main-street as soon as they contact all of the owners.

The Main Street Business Association has generates its funds from memberships and donations. Anyone interested is invited to come and join. If you have any questions, please call Bill Hodges at 853-2408 or Charlie Bradley at 853-2861.

There is a meeting scheduled for Wednesday, July 26, at 9:00 a.m. to be held at The Old Main Street Cafe.
