Shorty Doyle, could say "I told you so" Thursday morning as showers had gutters well filled with water and hampered Eldorado citizens in getting the old bus out of the garage. A few days ago when the wind was sprinting out of the north rather briskly, Shorty predicted "good rains in a day or so."

WHY INDUSTRY LAGS

If we're looking for reasons why industry is not expanding and providing more jobs for the unemployed, here's one that speaks for itself in tones loud enough to be heard by even the most indifferent observer, says the Motor Wheel News.

A leading statistical company has just released a report showing that last year 80 representative corporations paid a tax bill of $203,682,751, and that after paying this tax bill, these companies had an aggregate net income of but -133,685,202.

Reduced to simpler figures, this means that the various governmental taxing agencies took $20 for every $13 paid to stockholders. Nor does that tell the whole story. Some of these taxes must be paid whether the corporations are operating or not.

Now, it is a well-known fact that employes do not work for fun. And it is just as well-known that investors do not intentionally put their money into industrial concerns just for the fun of it either.

And that just about completes the circle. People will not invest money in a corporation whose enormous tax bill prevents the payment of dividends, and without investments, industry is certainly not able to expand and provide more jobs for the unemployed.

Those two aristocratic dogs,
"Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Arko von Schneider," dachshunds owned by T. M. Bailey of Sioux Falls, S. D. who were listed in the social register somehow a few months ago are in the news again. They are the parents of seven puppies—two male, five female.

Bill Miner, a filling station attendant of Vincennes, Ind, reports the poorest customer of the season. She asked him to wipe off her windshield, inflate her tire, change the oil and put in five gallons of gas. But she carried her owly oil and gas and only wanted service.

Mrs. Mary Miller of Reading, Pa., is a great-grandmother at 52, her daughter is a grandmother at 32, and her granddaughter is the mother of a daughter at the age of 15.

At Wilson, N. C., a newspaper announced that the new baseball park there would be opened without fanfare. A lot of people thought that meant fans would be admitted free.

Mrs. Lydian Fifield of Putman, Conn., was surprised recently when a single child, a son, was born to her. She is the mother of six pairs of twins.

Prof. Sigurd Johansen of New Mexico State College was puzzled when he saw steam rising from

DON'T LET IT SPREAD!

Nobody's Business

By Julian C. Capers

AUSTIN. State officials and employes, whose compensation is dependent upon the biennial appropriation bills, were in a state of jitters this weekend, as the deadline for signing the appropriation bills approached, and Gov. O'Daniel notified department heads that he intended to take some healthy slashes at the appropriations set up by the legislature to operate the state's departments and the state institutions. For the first time in years, the appropriation bills are itemized, each job and the salary being listed separately.
This will permit the Governor to cut out any that he sees fit, by veto, but he cannot alter the amount fixed in the bills for any particular job. Thus, he may eliminate jobs entirely, but not cut their pay. Department heads reported, after being called into conference with the governor, that he apparently is seeking to reduce the total appropriations for departments and institutions by 10 percent. He gave some department heads the option of making suggestions for eliminating jobs and employes, or of submitting to an arbitrary elimination decided by himself. Nobody knew what jobs and which employes would be abolished, and the working forces were in a demoralized state, with many expecting to "walk the plank" on September 1.

Who Wants Special Session?

Political observers here were surprised at the Statement of Gov. O'Daniel on the radio that a special session is being sought by three groups, namely, race horse gamblers and liquor dealers, news papers, and members of the Legislature. The real pressure for a special session is coming from the old folks who didn't get any money for pensions, and it hasn't gotten up a full head of steam yet.
The real pressure from this group will come when enlarged pension rolls and decreasing revenue force a reduction from the present average of $13.85 per month pension payments to half that, or less.
That will probably happen within the next 90 days, and that is when the squak is going up from the old folks. The race horse gambling sentiment is at a low ebb in Texas. The gamblers' lobbyists found that out when they sought to enact a bill re-legalizing that form of "sport" at the regular session. They not only lost, but they barely avoided getting a constitutional amendment adopted by the house which would have forever prohibited race track betting if okayed by the people.

Special Interests Happy

Certainly, the governor, who never talks to newspapers or repart of the annuser's formula for the O'Daniel program, knows how we do it in business now.

O'Daniel vetoed Westbrook's main legislative achievement of the long session—a local bill providing for a rural school supervisor for Sabine and San Austine counties. The governor expained the bill was against "sound business principles" . . . Another bill by G. C. Morris, of Greenville permitting cities to fund improvements by second lien obligations, was killed by the governor because it wasn't sound business, O'Daniel thought. . . Morris was floor leader of the successful fight to block O'Daniel's sales tax amendment. Earlier in the session, the Governor vetoed a local bill by Leighton Cornett, of Clarksville, another anti-sales tax leader. The fair trades act, found unfair and in violation of the anti-trust laws by Attorney General Gerald Mann, also fell under the veto axe, and the O'Daniel broadcast is not being tuned out in many a rural drugstore. A joint committee of House and Senate, named to supervise administration of the rural aid fund, which has been notoriously infestated with politics for years, met and organized at Austin. The State Prison system cannot legally bid for the state's printing work a contract that runs into thousands of dollars a year, Attorney General Gerald Mann held, since the prison system is not a "responsible bidder", under the law The printing contract is a fat, fat plum which has built up fortunes in the past for several Austin firms which have enjoyed a monopoly on it for years. . . A conflict in the near future between old age and youth, is seen by Dr.

Homer Rainey, new president of Texas University Dr. Rainey, new president of Texas University.
Dr. Rainey, in an open forum talk, pointed out that in 1850, there were 890 adults to every 1,000 youths "In 1930", he said, "we had 6,500,000 people in the U. S. over 65; in 1960 we shall have 23,000,000. The situation already is acute in Texas. We are at the beginning of the old age problem. It will be increasing insistently for the next 20 years."

An Associated Press dispatch recently described a man as "two-headed." Later a correction was flushed over the wires changing it to "two-headed."

Pioneers Are Entertained With Swimming Party

A swimming party and water-mellon feast entertained the pioneers of the Presbyterian church and their guests last Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Jones.

Of course,
a CAR'S not a DROMEDARY

... nor is a concrete highway a desert. Nevertheless, if half we hear is true, certainly no traveler of desert wastes ever looked for a spot of green more eagerly than the experienced Texas motorist looks for the oval Humble sign! So we call the Humble Service Station a highway oasis, a refreshing stop for both the car which is your modern beast of burden and yourself... Wherever you see the sign of a Humble Service Station, you can stop with the confident expectation of finding a place equipped and manned to keep your car running right and looking good, to speed you on your way. Products for your car—motor fuels, motor oils, lubricants, tires, batteries, accessories—are second to none in quality; and as for yourself—well, stop next time at a Humble Service Station and see. Note the cleanliness of the rest-rooms, the abundance of ice water, the cool shade, the grassy lawn, the flowers, the shrubs. And above all, note how the neatly uniformed salesman services your car. You'll discover that he's a friendly fellow who knows his business; he's genuinely anxious to be helpful to you; he's prompt, courteous, efficient... Maybe you're a regular Humble customer and we're wasting words on you; but if you're not, the latchstring's out, and we'll be expecting you!

By Fred Gipson

SAN ANGELO.—Used to, when Papa was alive, he'd aggravate me nearly to death running my coon-hounds after jackrabbits in the summer when they weren't doing anything else.

I'd say: "How do you expect me to keep those hounds rabbit-broke for coon-hunting if you're going to chase jacks with them all summer?"

And there was not much argument I could put up there, so about all I could do was load up my .22 and go along with him.

And we'd whistle the hounds up out of Mama's flowerbeds and tale out across a young cotton patch and it wouldn't be any time before old Mose or Birdsong would let out a yelp and out up a cotton middle would skin a long-eared jack, making for the mesquites. And the hounds would all fall in behind, singing their loud and eager and merry song, and Papa and I would open up a young war with our .22's and there'd be plenty excitement for a little bit.

If the jack wasn't too far when the hounds jumped him, we'd usually roll him in a couple or three shots. Papa was mighty good on running shots. Best I ever saw. And I was learning. But if the jacks was too far or we missed, we'd hit a dog-trot for a certain mesquite ridge in the pasture, where that jack was sure to run sooner or later.

He might cross the ridge, or run around the point of it, and go way beyond. But invariably the hounds would bring him back. Onl invariably Papa and I would be squatted among the catclaws, one on either side of an opening, ready to smoke him until the world looked level.

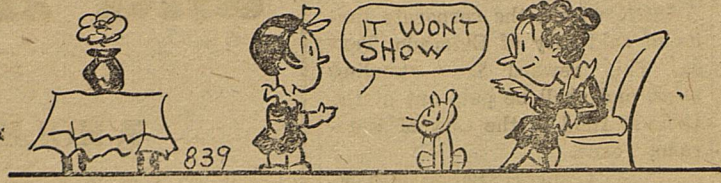

I always liked to watch those old jackrabbits run. A man could always tell which way a jack was about to turn. He'd point his back tail in the opposite direction. And a man could tell when he was throwing off and not much scared of the hounds. He'd be jumping high and looking wild and his ears would be stuck up. Running that way, the jack always

Laughing Around the World

A Kid Story

By IRVIN S. COBB

STORIES of children always seem to come in groups. Probably this is because someone in company tells of a cute saying by his little nephew, someone else is reminded of a cute saying that his little niece got off only that day. Here is one for today. Elsie, aged four, was being reproved for indulging in an appetite for chocolate caramels. "If you eat so much candy," her mother says, "it will ruin your stomach." "Oh, I don't mind that, Mother," she answered. "It won't show with my clothes."

looked like he was getting as much satisfaction out of the race as the hounds.

It takes a fast dog to make an old jack settle down and level off and pin his ears back. That's when he's running fast and getting yonder.

Old Mose could make a jack do that. Mose was fast. And he was loud. And he didn't much give a damn what he ran into when he'd jumped something. When he was just a 6-month-old pup and got into his first fox race, I saw him run right head-on into a blackjack stump one time. Knocked him out, cold. I had to pack him off to the creek and nearly drown him to bring him around. He learned to be a little more careful after that, but any time a hot trail led him into the brush he would pop it low and faster than the best cow horse in the country. Always when he came in after a night's run, he looked like he'd been in a scrap with a wildcat, what with the way his nose and ears were all torn up.

Me and Papa and Mose had some mighty good times chasing the jack-rabbits out of the crops in those days. I couldn't realize it much, then, of course. I'd always be worrying about what a whale of a job it would be to break old Mose and the rest from rabbit-running when coon-hunting time came along.

If I had the two of them back now—Papa and old Mose—I would feel differently about it. I would not quarrel with Papa about taking Mose out for a rabbit chase. And I wouldn't beat od Mose with a lead chain for quitting a cold coon trail some night when an up-start jackrabbit jumped right out under his nose and took off through the moonlight.

I'd give a whole lot now for the Headache, Bad Breath Tell of More to Come

Just as Paul Revere's famous ride warned of the Redcoats' coming, so Nature's messengers — headaches, biliousness, bad breath—often warn of faulty elimination.

Neglecting these signs may cause a host of constipation's discomforts: sour stomach, belching; no appetite or energy; mental dullness.

It's so easy to wake up your lazy insides. Just take spicy, all vegetable BLACK-DRAUGHT. Its unusual help comes from its principal ingredient—an intestinal tonic-laxative which imparts tone to lazy bowel muscles.

Millions of packages used testify to BLACK-DRAUGHT'S merit. Try it!
