HE'S A RARE BIRD—This bird, out for a jaunty stroll at the Aransas Wildlife Refuge on the Texas Gulfcoast near Corpus Christi, is a Whooping Crane. Only 36 of these rare birds are alive. All are at the Aransas Wildlife Refuge. Last year a female laid two eggs, the first known to have been laid in captivity, but they were infertile. Her mate died. Wildlife officials, who hope the birds will reproduce and preserve the species, report a couple are courting now. (AP Photo).

TO CRACKDOWN ON TAX EVADERS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24. (AP)—The Treasury Department is eyeing even more closely the income tax returns of individuals making between $7,000 and $25,000 a year. It plans to crack down on tax evaders in this group if Congress will put up the money for additional enforcement agents.

The plan turned up in testimony made public yesterday by the House Appropriations Committee. The committee was told by T. C. Atkeson, assistant internal revenue collector, that the middle-income group makes numerous "errors" in computing tax liability.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder asked for more money for tax law enforcement. "This is the most effective way that I know of to increase the government's revenue under the existing tax laws," he said.

George J. Schoeneman, commissioner of revenue, told the committee that tax audits during the fiscal year 1949 brought in $1,881,679,000 which might otherwise have been missed.

But most of these audits, he said, affected individuals in higher income groups. Only 17.8 per cent of the returns on incomes in the $7,000 to $25,000 group and only 3.9 per cent of those under $7,000 are now being so closely checked. The larger the income, the more likely a check-up.

Treasury officials said they have found that 7 out of every 10 returns checked in the upper groups are found to be erroneous, with the errors generally in favor of the taxpayer.

They estimated that the government gleaned $5.40 for each dollar spent on extra enforcement personnel in the 1949 check.

Java Revolt Laid To Dutch Army 'Mutiny'

JAKARTA (Batavia), U. S. I., Jan. 24. (AP)—A top Indonesian military chief today blamed a sudden guerrilla raid into the city of Bandung on a "mutiny" of native soldiers in the Dutch army.

About 600 armed fighters from the so-called private army of an outlawed former Dutch army captain seized key points in the big West Java city yesterday morning, but withdrew later in the day after bloody fighting.

Grounding Of Warship Blamed On Bad Luck

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 24. (AP)—The grounding of the Battleship Missouri on a Chesapeake bay mudbank was blamed yesterday by her commander on "a chain of unusual and unfortunate circumstances."

The officer—tall, handsome, gray-haired, 47-year-old Captain William D. Brown, said, however, he could not "go into detail."

"To do so would be to usurp the prerogative of the court of inquiry which has been appointed," he said in an interview in his cabin.

The captain said he is optimistic about seeing the battleship's shadow in a different location after the next move is made to float her on Feb. 2—Groundhog Day.

So is Adm. Allen E. Smith, commander of Atlantic Fleet cruisers, who is in charge of the salvage operation. Smith said increasing the big ship's buoyancy and pulling will be the two chief methods used in the next attempt to haul her off the mudbank.

Terrell said the medical system of the U. S. has increased the average life expectation from 47.7 years in 1900 to nearly 70 years in 1950.

NEW YORK — Broadway shows come and go but figure skater Benji Hertz seems to go on forever. In 12 previous visits to Madison Square Garden she has given 143 performances before 2,500,000 people. Her current Garden appearance, which includes six costume changes, ends Feb. 8. Her five-city tour concludes in Detroit's Olympia Feb. 11-March 5.

Giant, Dwarf Equines to Make Four Appearances Downtown

Some of the largest equines and one of the smallest make their appearance in Big Spring this morning.

Twelve champion Clydesdale horses weighing an aggregate of more than 24,000 pounds, and a 165-pound Sicilian donkey, here for four appearances on downtown streets, were staged in the Truman Jones motor company, Champions of the International Livestock exposition of Chicago, the dozen Clydesdales average more than 2,000 pounds each in weight. Lindy, the largest, tips the scales at an even 2,250.

Eight of the giant animals, owned by Anheuser-Busch Inc. of St. Louis, were to pull the concern's colorful wagon out W. 3rd street for more than a mile this morning, repeating the performance on E. 3rd street this afternoon. They were expected back in the stables by 3:30 p.m.

Wednesday the team is scheduled to go out Gregg street to the Veterans' hospital at 11 a.m. and out the Lawrence highway for over a mile at 1 p.m.

The Clydesdales, imported from Scotland and Canada, were declared winners of pairs, fours, sixes, and individual exhibits at the International exposition last fall. Bob Berra, team manager, said. They are currently on a five-month tour extending from St. Louis to California. Dunagan Sales company of Big Spring and Midland is sponsor of their appearance here.

The horses are eight years of age and average "28 hands" in height. Harness for the eight-horse team, made of black leather and liberally decorated with brass, is valued at $5,000. Walter Brady driver, controls the eight reins when the team is in action.

This is the group's second stop in Texas. The assembly arrived here yesterday from Breckenridge and will leave Thursday for Monahans. Eight men, the team manager, and driver accompany the

Local C-C Sets Membership Banquet Feb. 27

Annual membership banquet of the Big Spring chamber of commerce will be on Monday, February 27.

Principal speaker will be Dr. Tom Taylor, president of Howard Payne college, Brownwood.

The date was approved formally by the C-C directorate at its Monday luncheon session, and President Doug Orme announced committees to handle the yearly affair which always draws a capacity crowd.

Dr. Taylor has a wide reputation in the Southwest as a humorist and after-dinner speaker. He has appeared at scores of civic programs, and has been active in Rotary club affairs.

At the banquet, new officers and directors of the chamber of commerce will be presented, and the new year's work program planned. Election of directors will proceed shortly by the mail method.

Committees to handle banquet details include: Arrangements, Fritz Wabner; program, Orme, H. W. Smith and Edith Gay; publicity, H. J. Morrison; tickets, Cecil McDonald; registration, Mrs. Ina McGowan and Edith Gay; food, Elmo Wesson, Harvey Wooten and K. H. McGibbon.

Reservations for the banquet may be made at the chamber of commerce offices.

Directorate of City C-C May Be Increased to 40

A proposal to increase the Big Spring chamber of commerce board of directors membership from 30 to 40 will be voted on by the membership.

The directors Monday voted to submit a change in the by-laws providing for the board expansion, and this will have to be approved at a special membership meeting, which has been called for 10 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 4.

The action is being taken now, so that additional directors, if the plan is approved, may be elected to start the new C-C year.

Directors in voting to submit the amendment, said it was felt the chamber board should be representative of a wider cross-section of the city's business interests.

Under the new plan, 15 directors (instead of the usual 10) will be elected this year, to join the ten hold-over directors. Then ten would be elected by the board itself. Next year, 15 others would be elected at large to bring the board to its proposed full strength of 40.

Discussion of housing and other matters occupied the board at its Monday session. A number of new members and other guests joined the directors in the meeting. This list included E. H. Bouillon, W. I. Broadus, H. D. McElraith, Burl Haynie, Dr. Gale Page, E. S. Stacey, Mrs. Myrtle Mayes, Dan M. Krause, Eugene Sonnenschein, Mark Sutphen, F. C. Rhoads, W. D. Berry, J. S. Robson, Ed Fisher, Jack Ashby, Mrs. Jack Ashby, Jim Kendall, Mrs. Lina Frawell, A. J. Prager, Leonard Lyon and J. E. Sanders.

Howard Wildcat Still Coring After Oil Shows

Coring continued Tuesday on the Stanolind No. 1 Louie Hutto, eastern Howard deep wildcat which developed a showing of free oil Monday.

Returns from a five-foot core below 6,387 feet showed largely shale, according to unofficial reports. Another core was due to be taken and a drillstem test was to be run Wednesday morning.

The section yielding oil Monday was tentatively identified as Wolfcamp in the lower Permian.

On a two-hour drillstem test from 6,372, top of the pay, to 6,387, gas was to surface in 85 minutes. On the breakdown of drill pipe, 160 feet of free, high gravity oil with no water were recovered. Some sources reported the 15-foot section was broken with shale.

Stanolind reported the test from 1,285-4,372 with 120 feet oil and 630 feet oil cut with mud.

This venture, three miles southwest of Coahoma, is located 660 feet from the south and east lines of section 4-31-1s, T&P. This puts it four miles west of shallow production in the Istan-East Howard pool and three miles directly south of the abandoned Southern Minerals No. 1 R. V. Guthrie, northwest of Coahoma.

While Borden county was getting a new wildcat, it also had a failure. Cosden No. 1 T. J. Good, bidding as a northeastern extender to the Vealmoor pool, encountered the Canyon reef 123 feet low and found it barren. This venture was located 80 feet from the south and 1,980 from the west lines of section 21-32-3s, T&P.

Barnsdall Oil company staked location for an 8,500-foot wildcat in southern Borden county, near the Howard county line. It will be the No. 1 W. L. & R. G. Wilson, in the northeast corner of section 16-27, H&TC.

This puts it a quarter of a mile (most of section 16 is in Howard county) and 2 1/2 miles west of the Standard No. 1-6 T. L. Griffin, wildcat drilling at 7,762 feet 10 miles southwest of the Amerasia No. 1 Von Roeder, lower Canyon pool opener in southeast Borden.

It also is five-eighths of a mile northeast of the Skelly No. 1 Wilston, abandoned at 4,735 feet in northern Howard county.

In Borden county, R. S. Brennan No. 1 Everett, south central Borden deep exploration, drilled to 9,506 feet in Ellenburger. It is located six and a half miles southwest of Gall and in section 7-31-4s, T&P.

Condor announced new location for its No. 1 Good, which will be located 1,200 feet west of the No. 1-38. The location would be 660 feet from the north and 1,960 from the east lines of the southeast quarter of section 38-33-4s, T&P.

Kittens Grab Two Decisions

The San Angelo Kittens swept two games from Big Spring soph teams here Monday night by scores of 27-23 and 38-17.

The Big Spring quintet made a close fight of it during the "A" game, but Angelo's Wayne Evans found the range for 17 points to lead his mates to victory.

Bud Whitney was the leading scorer for Big Spring with a total of six points.

Big Spring's Ninth grade team defeated Midland, 26-16, in a game played at Midland Monday afternoon. The eight graders were submerged by Midland in another attraction, 33-12.

Chisholm, who is being sponsored here by the Church of Christ, served last year in Frascati at the mission point supported by the Brownfield Church of Christ.

His talk will deal with reported incidents of persecutions carried by press services.

Cline Paden, also of Brownfield, is head of the orphanage home at Frascati and was one of the principal figures in the series of stories which told of incidents of violence directed at the missionaries.

Chisholm took off from his business to help establish the business affairs of the orphanage home at Frascati. While not on the scene at the time of the reported incidents, he and the Brownfield church have maintained weekly contact with workers there.

$1,681.01 Payroll Is Distributed to Local Guardsmen

Monday was payday for Big Spring's 51 National Guardsmen.

Capt. T. A. Harris, commander of Battery B, 132nd Field Artillery, distributed payroll totaling $1,681.01 last night during the unit's weekly drill period at Municipal airport. Guard members are paid every three months on the basis of attendance of the twelve drills held each quarter. Pay scale corresponds with that of regular Army personnel.

Payroll for the last quarter of 1949 was approximately $500 higher than for the previous three months, Capt. Harris said. The increase was due to the salary hike granted members of armed forces in October.

Annual payroll for the Big Spring unit will be some $10,000, the commanding officer stated. This figure includes pay for local drills and for two weeks at Camp Hood during the summer.

Annual Fourth Army inspection for the Artillery battery will be held Feb. 24. Capt. Harris told Guardsmen last night. The inspector General of the Fourth Army will conduct the inspection at the unit's headquarters at hangar No. 2 on Municipal field.

"Failure of the unit to pass the Federal inspection will mean dissolution of Big Spring organization," the commander warned, urging 100 per cent attendance of Guardsmen.

Inspecting officers praised the unit for appearance, training and maintenance of equipment following the last Fourth Army inspection conducted in October.

Building Permits Here Hit $228,380

A type of insurance that is becoming increasingly popular in this area is burial insurance, protection which serves to dissolve a family's financial burdens at a time of stress and bereavement.

An agency handling such a policy in Big Spring is the Nalley Burial association, which caters to persons living in the Big Spring trade area.

Terms are so arranged that subscribers can handle premiums either quarterly, semi-annually or annually, and with surprising ease. Since 1939, when the association was founded by C. O. Nalley, owner-manager of the funeral home bearing his name, an estimated 230 claimants have been paid off locally.

Persons interested in learning all particulars of the policy can contact L. S. Crenshaw, agent in charge, by telephoning 275 or by calling in person at the Nalley chapel 906 Gregg street.

Crenshaw is one of several experienced persons in the employ of Nalley, who maintains a funeral home modern in every detail. Others include J. C. Pickle, a licensed funeral director, and G. Buach, licensed embalmer and funeral director. Nalley ambulances are alerted to answer calls to any section of the county 24 hours of the day.

RIBBON RAMBLINGS

By Mildred Young

Ever notice how some of the most polite people in town need to brush up on their church etiquette?

Now we are just as guilty as the next guy of causing a little confusion in church. But we know that it shouldn't be done and we don't appreciate it when someone interrupts our train of thought when we are attempting to stay in a worshipful mood.

We hear a lot of remarks from other people, but just to keep from putting anyone on the spot, we quote some recent quotes from four Protestant ministers in Portland, Oregon.

They agreed that whispering in church bothers them more than sneezing during the service. The "vociferous" greeting in the church foyer after service has started got unfavorable comment, too.

"I can hear them in the pulpit when I am praying," said Dr. Paul Wright, minister of the First Presbyterian church. "It is quite disturbing."

Dr. Laurence E. Nye, First Methodist church minister, thought it might be a good idea to post a sign reading, "Anyone who gets here five minutes after the service starts will not be greeted."

This brought up the question: "Is it necessary to greet people at the church door?" To this, Unitarian minister Dr. Richard M. Steiner added another question: "Why should the minister go to the door after the service to greet the worshippers?"

Dr. Myron C. Cole of the First Christian church complained of the worshipper who holds his breath until the preacher stops to take one, and then lets out a great, long sigh as if to say: "When will this guy ever stop preaching?"

Dr. Wright said many people were better informed as to proper manners at a football game, at a movie or at a party than at church.

Westside Baptists Have Mission Study

Westside Baptist WMS members met for a mission study Monday afternoon, Mrs. Sara Sanders was in charge of the program.

Mrs. Odell Buchanan and Mrs. J. C. Maddred presented a special number.

After the group singing of "We've A Story To Tell To The Nations," Mrs. O. Sanderson led the closing prayer.

Twenty persons were present.

First Baptist WMU Program Held Monday

Members of the Maybelle Taylor Circle served as hostesses at the social following the business meeting of the Woman's Missionary Union at the First Baptist church Monday afternoon.

Mrs. C. T. Clay brought the devotional, "World Evangelism," from Matt. 28:19-20; Joshua 1:7 and Deut. 4:40. She also read a letter of appreciation from a Japanese Baptist missionary thanking her for a box of clothing sent to the Japanese natives.

The assembly sang the group song, "Christ For The World We Sing." Mrs. R. C. Hatch gave the opening prayer. Mrs. Theo Andrews discussed the meaning and the origin of the WMU emblem pin. Mrs. W. B. Younger discussed the book, "Things We Should Know."

Effect Of Oil Imports Becoming Matter Of Concern To All Texans

There is some evidence that major oil companies may be undertaking voluntary action to curb high oil imports, and thus lead a higher degree of stability to domestic production. Texas production has been cut back until it has become habitual and economically painful. Until last week, when a couple of companies announced plans to curtail their imports, domestic producers, and that means principally Texas, had reduced allowances to control surpluses.

Too Early For Conclusions, But Oil Showing Stimulates Interest

Oil always is news in this area, and shows of oil in explorations is especially news. Thus, the Standall No. 1 Well, in eastern Howard county, will be watched with great interest in this vicinity since reports of free oil have been received. What the implications of this development will be we have no way of knowing. It always is a good rule to regard developments with a degree of caution, for free oil does not always mean an oil well. It takes a sufficient thickness and porosity of zone to insure commercial production. At this writing, reports (and perhaps actual tests) are to meager to form any sound conclusions. Stories of Tameus Hymns

By HORACE B. POWELL

Thou Art The Way, To Thee Alone

Thou art the Way to Thee alone
From sin and death we flee;
And he who would the Father seek,
Must seek him, Lord, by Thee.

Thou art the Truth: Thy word alone
True wisdom can impart;
Thou only canst inform the mind,
And purify the heart.

Thou art the Life: the rending tomb
Proclaims Thy conquering arm;
And those who put their trust in Thee
Nor death nor hell shall harm.

Thou art the Way, the Truth, the Life;
Grant us that way to know,
That truth to keep, that life to win,
Whose joys eternal flow.

By Horace B. Powell

"Thou Art The Way, To Thee Alone"

Bishop George Washington Doane, one of America's great nineteenth century church leaders, was the author of this grand old hymn. It appeared in a volume of "Songs By The Way" in 1824. Another popular hymn, "Softly Now The Light of Day," made its bow in the same collection.

Bishop Doane was born at Trenton, New Jersey on May 27, 1799 and because this was the year that Washington died, he was named after the first president. The young lad who was destined to become an illustrious churchman and hymnist had a brilliant career from the start. At 19 he was graduated with honors from Union College. After a brief spell of teaching, he became pastor of Trinity Episcopal Church in Boston, a pulpit which later was to be occupied by the famous preacher, Phillips Brooks. At 33, he was named bishop of New Jersey and he held that post until his death, in 1859.

The young hymnist was only 25 when he brought out his precious collection of "Hymns By The Way". Twenty-four years later, in 1848, he wrote another matchless hymn, "Fling Out The Banner!", when students of an eastern girls' school asked him to turn out some verses appropriate for a flag-raising ceremony.

Television Shows T of Her Poppy 'Playing For God'

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD Associated Press Staff...

A Fort Worth reporter found a great human interest story of a little girl and television. The reporter was Elston Brooks of the Star-Telegram. The little girl was only three, and Brooks wrote: "When a girl is three years old she's not required to understand such grown-up things as television or the reason why her father 'went away' after going to a hospital last spring."

The child in the story was Melody Muth. Her father was Billy Muth, nationally-known organist who died last April 15.

Muth's widow, Mrs. Lucille Muth, couldn't bear to tell her daughter that "poppy" had died, Brooks learned. So she said only that "poppy has gone away to play for God in Heaven."

The little girl waited for her daddy to come home. She practiced the dance steps he once taught her.

Then, last week, Mrs. Muth got a television set. It was tuned in to a Fort Worth television station one afternoon when an organist came on the screen.

It was Organist William Barclay and on the television screen he looks a lot like Muth. Barclay ran his fingers over the organ keyboard, the announcer called him "Bill" and the little girl, watching transfixed in the living room, was certain it was her father.

She ran to her mother, crying: "Mommy, there's poppy playing for God in Heaven—right in the living room."

The childish words hit Mrs. Muth—hard. She realized she couldn't disillusion her daughter. Not now. She knew Barclay—Barclay once had worked with Muth—and told him the story.

From the conversation came a plan—a plan relayed to and okayed by officials of the television station. That's why television set owners didn't understand what Barclay was talking about last Thursday and Friday when he said, on his program: "Melody, this tune is to you from your daddy."

But of course, little blue-eyed Melody Muth understood. It was daddy, talking and playing, straight from Heaven.

This week Mrs. Muth decided the situation had gone far enough. Yesterday she arranged to have the television set taken away.

"We'll have another one," she told us, "when Melody gets a little older."

Gandhi's Friend Is First President Of Indian Republic

NEW DELHI, India, Jan. 24. (U.P.)—Dr. Rajendra Prasad, 64-year-old disciple of the late Mohandas Gandhi, was named first president of the Indian Republic today by a cheering constituent assembly.

Prasad, who had served as president of the constituent assembly, will be installed at ceremonies Thursday when India formally drops her status as a British commonwealth dominion and becomes a "sovereign Democratic republic."

Although India is thus renouncing any allegiance to King George VI she will continue to remain a member of the British Commonwealth under an elastic interpretation of commonwealth association.

Prasad, picked as the choice of the dominant congress party, was the only candidate for president.

Price Of Atomic Bomb Likely To Be Hiked Soon

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24. (U.P.)—Inflation Note: Costs may be going up soon for the atomic bomb.

Belgium is expected at a conference opening here next Monday to ask higher prices for the uranium ore—raw material for the A-bomb—sold to the United States. Under a six-year-old agreement, the U. S. is reported to be paying between $200 and $300 a ton.

American, Belgian and British representatives were named yesterday to take part in the conference, which will be a strictly hush-hush meeting. The State Department announced only that it will deal with "matters of mutual interest in the atomic energy field."

Diplomatic authorities reported, however, that one major item will be negotiation of a new agreement for the sharing of ore from the Belgian Congo, one of the world's main sources. They indicated also the Belgian producers want higher prices.

Under the previous agreement, which was made in 1944 and expired last Dec. 31, most of the Congo's output has come to the United States. All but "a few tons" have been sent here this month under a working agreement to continue on the former basis.

Terms of the contract and the amounts of ore shipped to the United States have never been disclosed.

Furrier Kills His Estranged Wife

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 24. (U.P.)—The dumpy little man stopped his estranged wife in front of her home and asked her to come back to him.

When she refused he pulled a gun, fired four shots. His wife lay dead on the sidewalk beside a loaf of bread that had rolled out of her shopping bag.

The little man, 37-year-old John Oravsky, had a bloody hand where he had shot himself. Police said he wrapped his hand in his handkerchief, threw a gun into a sewer, and calmly waited for police to come. His neat overcoat was spattered with blood.

He freely told Patrolman Charles Matthews and passersby how his wife of 13 months, Elizabeth, 37, wouldn't come home. She had gone to live with a nephew about two months ago.

Matthews, who was summoned to the scene by a passing motorist said Oravsky surrendered meekly. The bespectacled furrier was charged with murder.

Independence Pal Of Truman Dies

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Jan. 24. (U.P.)—Roger T. Serron, a close friend of President Truman and mayor of Independence for 26 years, died last night. He was 59. He died of a heart attack as he was leaving the city hall.

SLUMP FEARED Business Worries Over Complacency

NEW YORK, Jan. 24. (U.P.)—Complacency is the word for early 1950 business. The all but unanimous opinion that the first half of the year will be prosperous and the second half not-so-good or uncertain has some businessmen worried. They wonder:

1. Why the year is split in the middle that way—the first half good, the second doubtful. What is supposed to happen next summer? Or are the guessers just being cautious?
2. Whether business could come a cropper this spring from overconfidence, as many an athletic team has.
3. Whether fears over the prospects for next fall will slow down activity this spring and summer. And whether the psychology such dread builds up might bring on another inventory-cutting recession unnecessarily.

Against these fears, however, defenders of the split-year predictions contend the present view of how the year will go is healthy. It tends to prevent over-enthusiastic inventory building now, so that there need not be any drastic inventory cutting later, no matter how the course of business turns. The reasons that July 1 was picked as the turning point for guessing seem to be: 1. Some didn't want to stick out their necks beyond the time when the present momentum of prosperity, largely built on the rebuilding of low inventories, might presumably run down. 2. Summer has come to be much more of a dividing line in the business world than Jan. 1.

Vacations and lower consumer demand in most lines break the year in two at the dog days.

Washington, Jan. 24. (U.P.)—The Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO) charged today that more than 11 million persons are being worked to death in Soviet slave labor camps.

A statement by James B. Carey, CIO secretary-treasurer, prepared for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in part:

"Both Hitler and Stalin organized the greatest machinery for literally squeezing the blood out of human beings for two purposes: First to get human energy without pay and secondly, to kill, through overwork, the undesirable people. 'The population of slave labor camps in Germany reached almost 11 million. The number of inmates from the Baltic nations in the Siberian slave labor camps, including the sial mines, is certainly higher.' Carey urged American ratification of the United Nations genocide convention and expressed 'the hope that all nations of the world will follow soon the American lead.' The Senate committee is holding hearings on the United Nations proposal to outlaw genocide, which UN has defined as 'a denial of the right of existence of entire human groups as homicide is the denial of the right to live of individual human beings.' 'The UN action was prompted by the slaughter of Jews by Germany in World War II.

It's Decidedly An Event When Ava Gardner Pays You A Visit

HOLLYWOOD, (U.S.)—Here I sit, tongue-tied and blushed near type-writer-tied.

Suppose it had just happened to you. You're sitting at your desk. There's the familiar clatter of teletypes, the occasional jangle of telephones. Office voices murmur. Then the corner of your eye catches a bright figure coming through the door. It cries gaily, "Oh, so there you are!"

It's neither the boss's secretary nor an office girl. It's Ava Gardner. The movie star. She's coming to see you. You rise, shake her hand, and try to act casual. As though glamor queens called on you every day. Ava sits before the adjoining desk and offers you a peanut. She bought a bag from the old peddler at the foot of the elevator. She eats peanuts throughout the interview.

Her tight, white, pull-over sweater is well filled. Her dark brown hair is lustrous, wavy and abundant. Her skirt is an accordion-pleated wool plaid. She's bare-legged. On flat Grecian sandals she seems almost small. Her bare toenails are painted carmine.

Ava's visit is the result of—well, let's call it a big, beautiful misunderstanding.

One day recently, you drove 35 miles to interview her at a studio ranch where she was working. It was a luncheon appointment. But she walked off and lunched with Robert Mitchum, her co-star, instead. Said afterward she didn't know your appointment was for lunch. Two studio spokesmen say she did.

Burned, you sent her a note suggesting since you'd driven 35 miles for nothing, she could square matters by coming to see you.

It's Ava's first visit to a newspaper office.

"I'd expected a bustle and bustle," she says. "Maybe I've been seeing too many newspaper moves."

Your gaze falls naturally to her bare ankle, the left one. You ask who gave her its slim gold slave bracelet.

"An old friend," she evades, cracking a smile and a peanut. "It's not important."

"How about those reports that you saw Artie Shaw in New York?" Ava recently had a two-week holiday in the big town. Artie was her second husband, Mickey Rooney was the first.

"Artie wasn't even in New York," Ava says. "He was in the South, doing one-night stands."

"Are you going to remarry him?"

"Definitely no."

"Are you going to marry anybody?"

"No. That is, I have nobody in mind. I wish I had. I can't find a husband. Isn't that disgusting?"

"Why can't you find one?"

"I don't know. I'm going to be awfully careful this time. Two mistakes are enough."

"What kind of husband are you looking for?"

"It's a mistake to answer that. Haven't you read those interviews where so-and-so tells what qualities she's looking for in a man? And then, as likely as not, she marries some other kind of guy altogether."

Ava says she hasn't seen Howard Duff for at least six months. Other boy friends?

"I haven't got a boy friend," she pants. "Isn't that disgusting?" she sighs. "Well, maybe I'll find one in Europe."

Now that she has finished "Carriage Entrance" with Mitchum, she goes to Spain and England this spring for "Pandora And The Flying Dutchman." Her co-star will be James Mason.

Ava says doing three pictures in the last year hasn't left her much time to meet new boy friends.

A photographer asks Ava to pose at a teletype machine, with operator Betty Stees showing her how to run it. The pose isn't wholly a gag. Ten years ago Ava learned typing in Atlantic Christian College in Wilson, N. C. She proves it by writing on a typewriter, hesitantly, but without looking at the keys:

"Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party."

She's off, then, in a flurry of farwells. Glamor-oddies as any fan, you start composing your report. The first step is to take off your coat. The second is to empty the ash tray, mounded high with Ava's peanut shells.

Tot Says He Was Burned Because He Was Bad Boy

OLD BRIDGE, N. J., Jan. 24. (U.S.)—"I was burned because I was a bad boy."

This tale, told by four-year-old Roy Kulberdan yesterday caused Middlesex County probation officers to arrest the child's mother.

Mrs. Elizabeth Kulberda, 22, and her husband, Thomas, 24, on criminal neglect charges. The young couple has two other children.

Chief County Probation Officer Bernhart Jensen and Madison Township Police found the boy covered with infected burns in his home, a two-room shack six miles from New Brunswick.
