Low Voter Turnout Reported In Saturday's Combined Election

Low voter turnout was reported in the combined City Council, Hospital Board and School Trustee election held Saturday, May 5.

In the City Council election, there were a total of 235 votes cast, 55 of which were absentee. There were four candidates running for three positions. Dora Bosmans, incumbent, received 160 votes, John Callison, incumbent, received 161 votes, Debbie Ballew received 166 votes and Roger Powell, incumbent, received 42 votes.

There were five write-in votes in the City election. Each of the following received one vote each: Keith Nolen, Barbara Behrens, Burro Griffin, Jack Elder and Roy Lynn Love.

Those winning seats on the City Council were Dora Bosmans, John Callison and Debbie Ballew.

In the Hospital Board election, there were a total of 357 votes cast, 82 of which were absentee. There were four candidates running for four openings. Jerry Jones, incumbent, received 315 votes, Bobbie Sanders received 302 votes, De Lux received 289 votes and Raymond Mittel, incumbent, received 328 votes.

There were 11 write-ins in the hospital election. The following received one vote each: Duwain Sauer, Jack Elder, D.D. Griffin, Lynn Williams, Jay Behrens, Chris McCravey and Wayne Williams. Curtis Griffin and Sam Henderson, Jr. received two votes each.

The Schleicher Independent School Board of Trustees election tallied a total of 368 voters, 82 of which were absentee. There were six candidates running for three positions. Phil McCormick, incumbent, received 168 votes, Duwain Sauer received 166 votes, Lynn Williams, incumbent, received 197 votes, Lester Paul Nixon received 141 votes, George Gower received 124 votes and Chris McCravey received 177 votes. Phil McCormick, Lynn Williams and Chris McCravey won seats on the School Board of Trustees.

With the recent new legislation, no write-in votes were counted in the school trustee election. Write-in candidates must declare their intention to be a write-in candidate 30 days in advance of the election.

Several ballots were rejected in all three elections due to the fact that voters voted for more than what was allowed.

Peters, Nelson Honored With Open House

Pete Peters and Kim-et Nelson are pictured at an Open House held in their honor.

An Open House, honoring Peter Peters on his retirement and Kim-et Nelson on her change of employment, was held Friday, May 4 at Meador-Peters Agency.

Pete first came to Eldorado in 1942. He was in the Air Force servicing bomb ranges. He married Frances in January of 1946 and they moved to Wisconsin, Pete's hometown.

They returned to Eldorado in 1948, where he worked for Parker Motors. In 1948 he was employed by Tisdal Chevrolet Company and was owner of Peter's Chevrolet Company in 1955.

He entered the insurance business in 1958 with his own agency. In 1964 he combined insurance agencies with Ed Meador to form Meador-Peters Agency, where he has been to the present time.

Pete commented, "It was a hard decision, to retire. But I will be around the office for a while. Kim-et was a loyal and dedicated employee. I wish her well."

Pete was president of the chamber of commerce from 1966 to 1969. He received a certificate for Outstanding Civic Leader of America in 1967. During his term as president of the chamber, the organization was responsible for several undertakings, one of which was the building of the medical center. They also installed additional street lights and promoted the Ft. McKavett project.

Kim-et has worked for Meador-Peters Agency since April, 1981.

She grew up in Seminole and worked for Moore Haralson Insurance Agency while in high school. She married Steve Nelson in March of 1973. They later moved to Monahans, where she worked for Logan, Thrasher, Tatom Insurance Agency.

"I enjoyed working for Meador-Peters Agency. I look forward to a happy relationship at Mittel Agency," said Kim-et.

Many friends stopped by the Open House to wish Pete and Kim-et luck in their new endeavors.

Hospital, Nurses Week May 6-12

Members of the nursing staff from the Schleicher County Nursing Home and Schleicher County Medical Center made a display in the hospital lobby with their caps, different surgical scissors and scrap books from the beginning of the hospital until the present.

The week of May 6-12 has been proclaimed Texas Hospital Week and Texas Nurses Week in Texas. The theme for the celebration during this special week is "Texas Hospitals -- In Sickness and in Health". The theme for Texas Nurses Week is "Nurses Together in Caring".

Monday, May 7, the American Nurses' Association and its 53 constituent nursing associations celebrated National Nurses' Day. Every day, more than two million registered nurses work to care for people with all types of illnesses.

National Nurses' Day is a day set aside to recognize the unique role that nurses play in enhancing and promoting health-care and the well-being of all individuals and their family members during emotionally and physically debilitating times.

The Eldorado Success is proud to recognize the efforts of our important health-care professionals and extends a hearty thank you for all their efforts.

Sometimes, in the routine and the rush of every day, we forget: Caring is what hospitals are all about.

Every single employee contributes to the ability to care for the community -- not just for one week of the year, but day in, day out, 52 weeks of the year.

There are many people and places to which the community can turn for compassion. At the hospital, they also find the know-how, skills, energy, technology, and information essential to healing and health.

Chamber Hosts Luncheon For 1990 Graduating Seniors

Schleicher County Chamber of Commerce hosted a luncheon for the 1990 graduating seniors of Eldorado High School on Monday, May 7 at the Memorial Building, with 39 seniors and two sponsors in attendance.

Ronnie Sauer, president of the chamber, congratulated the seniors on their achievements. He said that they are Eldorado's ambassadors to the world, as they go out into the world, to say something nice about Eldorado.

He commented that as most chamber members have children who have already graduated, their main concern with them was that they stay in touch. Most of them did stay in touch because they needed the checkbook and money. Another way the students stay in touch with family is that they bring their dirty laundry home.

The chamber presented each senior with a laundry bag with their name and the year 1990 stenciled on them.

In closing, the seniors were wished good luck for the future.

New Number Installed For Ambulance Service

Schleicher County Medical Center's hospital nurses station serves as dispatcher for the local EMS. Up to now, calls requesting ambulance service had to go through the hospital switchboard, which meant two possible problems: (1) if the call was during office hours, the call would be answered in the office and then have to be transferred to the nurses station, and (2) if all three hospital lines were in use, the caller would get a busy signal.

Now a separate phone line has been installed at the hospital nurses station which is dedicated to receiving calls requesting ambulance assistance. The new number is 853-3061.

Calling through the hospital switchboard will also continue to work, but you can bypass the hospital switchboard and call directly to the ambulance dispatcher by calling 853-3061.

At Schleicher County Medical Center, they continue to look for ways to serve you better.

Life Among The Fishes

By Thomas Giovannitti

Last week I ended my article remarking about the problem with cheap plastic bags and the way they are stuffed into the boxes. Well, that problem got me to thinking about some other types of problems I have encountered with other off-brand products.

I don't know about you, but I have a real problem tearing off paper towels from the generic brand. For some reason, the perforations are either not deep enough or the paper is of such a grade that, no matter how careful I am, I always tear an odd shaped towel. I either rip the first one or tear the next towel into a triangle.

On the very few occasions I have bought the expensive name-brand paper towel, I always get a nice square towel. (Actually, I have never purchased the expensive paper towels, someone has given them to us though.)

How can the manufacturers make such fine distinctions? In fact, it seems that we Americans can make these small but important modifications to nearly any product we make.

I mean, cheap dish soap doesn't wash as well as the name-brand; cheap nose tissues are just stuffed in their box and never come out one at a time; cheap cereal is less tasty than the name-brands; and so on through nearly every product made in America.

I can't understand how the Japanese are doing better than us in the world market place? If our corporations can make these sort-of fine, little changes, then they ought to be able to make products better too!

Editor's Clips

No, I didn't win the great millions, or even thousands. In fact it was only $2.00! But I won!

I got to thinking about entering contests and came to the conclusion that it is similar to entering anything -- even life. It is all a gamble.

I know, we don't really think we will win when we enter those contests, but we enter them anyway, just to be sure. Why not enter the game of life, or enter upon a new challenge, just to be sure.

As most of you may already know, I am leaving the Success at the end of May and embarking upon a new challenge, a new job. I have enjoyed working for the newspaper these past five years, but there comes a time when, as is the case with most of us, we have to move on.

Every day we live is a contest of sorts. I wonder sometimes that if we would enter other things with the same enthusiasm as we enter contests, we might win even more.

I would like to think that I did my best here at the newspaper and won something by it. I will enter my new job with the same enthusiasm as I did this one and hope that I will gain the same winnings -- friends, experience and insight into other things.

This isn't a goodbye, just a so long. I will be around the office until the end of the month. Don't hesitate to call or come by for a visit.

An Apple A Day

By Lee R. (Smokey) Taylor, R.Ph.

Ulcerative Keratitis on the Rise:

Ulcerative keratitis, an eye condition that occurs when an abrasion in the cornea allows bacteria to enter and infect the eye, is growing, particularly among contact lens users.

The primary culprit is wearing lenses overnight frequently. If lenses are worn for an extended period of time, the oxygen supply to the eye is reduced and any bacteria that may have entered the eye have time to grow.

The FDA has now recommended that extended-wear contacts be cleaned every seven days rather than every 30. Also, users should clean the lens case and never moisten the lens in the mouth.

Heard a lot of women talk about how they wish they had a "perfect" husband. Seems to me that some of you women folk ought to remember that even though "the grass is always greener on the other side of the fence", it probably ain't that great anyway.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editors and Publisher:

Schleicher County Historical Society was among 30 Texas historical commissions honored at the 1990 Historical Preservation conference in Abilene on April 26-28.

SC Historical Society was presented the Distinguished Service Award, the highest award the State of Texas gives to a local commission. The award was for work completed in 1989.

Many hours of work was completed by SC Historical Society to qualify for the award.

We, the members of the Society, would like to take this opportunity to thank the Eldorado Success for your help and support the past year. One of the requirements for the DSA award was the publication of local history. Thanks to the Success, the stories and old photos of "A Touch of History" was typed and portrayed beautifully.

Research and copies of old newspaper articles were also made available for our work.

Thank you again for your help and support.

Sincerely,
Rene Calcote

President, SC Historical Society

Estella Sandate Honored For Essay On Conservation

Estella Sandate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Sandate, was honored Tuesday, May 1 at a banquet at the Houston Harte Center in San Angelo for winning the Region 2 Area Essay Contest. Estella competed with students from the entire West Texas area for this award. She read her essay to a crowd of about 250 people that night.

The Eldorado-Divide SWCD would like to share her essay with Schleicher County residents:

"Our Nations Wealth"

"The United States wealth and true value, which is not fully appreciated, is its soil and water. Usually, we have had a sufficient supply of soil and water to feed ourselves and then some to help foreign nations. But our soil and water are finite and vulnerable which makes it clear that we must mend our ways, replacing waste and carelessness with conservation while we still have time.

"Several approaches are attempting to deal with these resource problems by farmers and ranchers in conjunction with soil and water conservation programs. Protection of the land resource base is the first priority of any soil and water conservation district.

"Since this is a voluntary program, landowner cooperation is essential in this effort. While education can bring about landowner awareness, the individual must also be willing and financially able to carry out a program. However, most farmers and ranchers do not possess the technical expertise needed to plan and implement conservation programs.

"While it is generally accepted that the conservation of soil and water resources is of benefit, many farmers and ranchers are more concerned about paying their bills than they are with applying conservation practices because of the cost. Soil and water conservation districts are a vehicle through which assistance is provided to landowners and operators. There are many ways districts work with people.

"The USDA Soil Conservation Service was created to provide technical assistance on soil and water conservation and related matters to landowners and operators. The Agricultural Conservation Program administered by the USDA Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service shares the cost of applying approved soil, water, woodland, and wildlife conservation practices with farmers and ranchers.

"These and other programs make possible mechanical practices such as terraces, drop structures and development of water sources for livestock, recreation, wildlife, and other purposes. Conservation measures for rangeland include seeding, brush management, planned grazing systems, and proper grazing use. All these are possible thanks to these government programs.

"However, we too need to contribute in this fight for our soil and water. By supporting our local conservation district and participating locally, we can make a difference."

ESTELLA SANDATE

THE LIVING LIGHTNING ROD

Living Trees are lightning rods for electrical trouble. In a system similar to human circulation, water and sap move constantly from root to leaf. The water and the chemicals in the sap are excellent conductors of electricity.

If a tree has grown into contact with a power line, the potential for electrical path to the ground exists. Never attempt to trim a tree that has power lines running through it. Have a tree-trimming professional, preferably one that works with your utility, handle the job.

West Texas Sheep Conference Set

Area sheep producers are urged to attend the West Texas Sheep Conference May 18 at Angelo State University's Management, Instruction and Research Center (MIR Center). The conference is being sponsored by the Extension staffs in Tom Green, Menard, Schleicher and Concho Counties.

The one-day event begins at 9 a.m. with registration and coffee provided by Tom Green National Bank. The formal program is set for 9:30 a.m. with a welcome given by Tom Green County Extension Agent, Rex Jones.

"Because the sheep and wool industry is so vital to this area, the coordinators of the conference have made a real effort to present the best information possible to help producers make practical management decisions to increase their net income," Jones said. "During the conference, we will be looking at ASU's facilities and using live animal evaluations to illustrate points made during the day."

Ram epididymitis, a venereal disease which has created much concern among area producers, will be the subject of the days' first talk. Addressing the issue is Dr. Charles Livingston, recently retired Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES) Veterinarian from San Angelo. Livingston will discuss the most current means available for detecting epididymitis.

Dr. Chris Lupton, San Angelo based TAES Wool Lab Coordinator, will speak on the Australian method of wool grading some ranchers are trying this year. He will also demonstrate a portable wool press or baler being used in conjunction with the grading method.

The mornings next two speakers will discuss the merits of Ultrasound, a technique growing in popularity that is used to determine pregnancy and the number of fetuses in sheep. Dr. Laird Lawrence, with Fredericksburg's Hill Country Veterinary Clinic, will discuss his work for the public using the device. Menard rancher, Bill Austin, will then share his management practices based on the results of ultrasound.

The final speaker for the morning session is Dr. Tom Craig, Parasitologist at Texas A&M University. Craig will give an update on internal parasite control. He will also give the latest research information on the effectiveness of all drenches now available and the best times for their use.

A free lunch is being provided courtesy of Merck and Company, All Flex-Vet Brand Ear Tags and the Pitman-Moore Company.

After lunch the conference will move from the MIR Center to the ASU sheep facility for the afternoons live sheep presentations. ASU staff members Dr. Gil Engdahl and Clayton McCown will describe the school's lambing facilities and discuss the advantages in a shed lambing management program.

The next speaker, Dr. George Ahlschwede, is an Extension Sheep and Goat Specialist based at San Angelo. He will demonstrate palpation techniques used in determining epididymitis.

Following a short break, Jamie Kothmann, owner and operator of Menards' Kothmann Commission Company, will look at the lamb market outlook and the type of feeder lamb desired by the trade. He will discuss the most desirable breeds as well as the best breed crosses for feedlot performance and carcass quality. He will also touch on conformation points needed in the ideal feeder lamb.

The remaining conference speakers will demonstrate live animal selection techniques used in selecting breeding stock. Explaining yearling ewe selection techniques are Dr. Frank Craddock, Extension Sheep and Goat Specialist at Uvalde and Rex Stultz, Concho County Extension Agent. # Texas Outdoors.....With Jimmy Fontenot

April showers bring May Flowers! With all of their splendor and beauty, these small leafy wonders possess many qualities unknown to the casual observer. It is almost shameful to think such colorful plants are often referred to as weeds. Really, what is a weed?

Webster's dictionary defines a weed as an unnatural or unsightly plant. So, I suppose if we were to see a rose bush growing in someone's cotton field it would be a weed. Well, I guess the term "weed" is relative. For a better understanding of these flowering plants, let us refer to them as forbs, their appropriate name. A forb is simply defined as any broad-leaved, flowering plant which does not develop woody stems above the ground.

WILDLIFE BENEFITS

The majority of forbs are unpalatable during certain stages of growth, but have a high nutritive content. Many important range forbs are members of the sunflower family; easily recognized by small groupings of disc flowers in the center with petals of ray flowers surrounding the edges. Range forbs exhibit either annual or perennial growth forms. Perennial plants are seldom abundant, but are more stable members of range-cover. Sadly enough, the most abundant and palatable forbs are normally found in the roadside bar-ditch. These plants would love to occupy space in the pasture, but high deer densities and sheep prohibit their long lasting existence.

Forbs are similar in nutritive value to grasses, but forbs are higher in minerals and crude fiber. These jewels of the plains are particularly well-liked by all wildlife species especially deer. A variety of forbs are necessary for good deer production and survival in all regions, especially the Edwards Plateau. Deer are primarily browse and forb eaters, relying on spring and fall rains for adequate vegetation production.

The Edwards Plateau is susceptible to droughts or prolonged periods of low rainfall. Consequently, deer quality is reduced during years of low forb production. This is evident by low fawn crops, decreased dressed weights and poor antler development. During years of adequate rainfall and an abundant forb crop, deer production will be optimum if they are managed to accommodate available food supply.

Turkey and quail populations respond more favorably during abundant forb production. Turkey feed on the leaves, flowers, and seeds while quail primarily eat seeds; however, they will readily consume leafy parts. Nesting areas are more abundant when vegetation becomes more dense and quail feel more secure when they have an adequate cover of vegetation over their heads.

PHOTOGRAPHY

Flowering plants inevitably fall prey to shutter bugs every year. Amateurs and professionals take advantage of the flower explosion to enhance their home or gallery. You do not need to be an elusive or dynamic photographer to master plant photography. Just think, unlike animals, where could a plant hide? I guess you could sneak up on one, but it is not likely to run away. You might even try to call one up close, but why waste your breath. It just so happens that millions of plants are standing around waiting to be photographed at your convenience.

Even with the plants co-operation, I find it a little more difficult than simply pushing the shutter button. The skillful photographer utilizes the best subject, lighting, and film. A good 35mm camera and a couple of good lenses (macro, zoom) should be all the necessary artillery to tackle a field of wildflowers.

Next time your bored of people pictures and you cannot get close to any wildlife, head to a nearby field and try your skills at wildflower photography. You might use these photos as a reference of lowering plants on your ranch.

HIDDEN DECEPTION

As we admire the sea of flowers covering the countryside and appreciate how they benefit wild animals, let us not forget that the vast majority are unpalatable to animals and potentially poisonous. Have you ever heard the phrase "Beauty is only skin deep?" Many wildflowers fit this description. Beneath those brilliant colors deadly toxins await some unsuspecting victim. So, for the most part, these forbs are worthless right! Wrong! Every plant and animal grows and lives in certain places for a reason. Normally, under ideal range conditions and adequate range cover, undesirable plants will be suppressed.

Next time you are driving down the highway, try to notice the different flowering plants growing in the pasture as opposed to the ones in the bar-ditch. If we were to class these plants as desirables and undesirables you would find more desirables inhabiting the ditch. Something wrong with that? Yes, but that is another topic for another day....

It should be fairly evident to all just how important a little flowering plant is to the earth. We in the Edwards Plateau make our living by utilizing these plants year after year. Spring rains not only make our attitudes more vibrant, they help all living organisms handle everyday life easier. While the rains drench our soil, we will continue to experience the splendor of the forb.

Hopefully you have gained a different respect for our many flowering plants.

Until next month, enjoy your time spent outdoors!

Garvin Place Opened For Business Monday

The opening of Garvin Place was held Monday, May 7. The store is located just south of Eldorado on Hwy. 277.

Donna Garvin, owner, says, "Right now my main line of business is to expand my Keaton Kolor film processing service. Film processing should take only three days. I will also supply photography supplies later on, but I can get whatever you need."

Garvin Place is also a book exchange. You can exchange your old books, in good condition, two for one. The books are also for sale.

Other aspects of Garvin Place include jewelry, note cards and Ms. Garvin is also a Shaklee dealer. "I hope that I can build this business and maybe later on stock Shaklee in the store," she said.

One area of the store is set up for this and that, some old and some new. "You never know from one week to the next what I will have," said Ms. Garvin. Later on she plans to stock plants, office supplies and maybe garden supplies. "I would like to have whatever people think we need in Eldorado and welcome your ideas."

Garvin Place is open Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the metal building just south of Eldorado.

Property Tax Protest and Appeal Procedures

The law gives property owners the right to protest actions concerning their property tax appraisals. You may follow these procedures if you have a concern about:

- * The value placed on your property;
- * exemptions that may apply to you;
- * cancellation of agricultural appraisal;
- * whether your property is taxable;
- * which local governments should be taxing your property; or
- * you think the appraisal district has done something else that adversely affected you.

More information: You can get more information by contacting your appraisal district at 1 West Warner Avenue, Box 936, Eldorado, Texas 76936 or telephone 915-853-2617. You can also get a pamphlet describing how to prepare a protest from the appraisal district or from the State Property Tax Board, 4301 Westbank Drive, Building B, Suite 100, Austin, Texas 78746.

(the deadline is postponed to the next business day if it falls on a weekend or holiday)

Informal Review: For an informal review of your property value, contact Ray L. Ballwe, Chief Appraiser, at the Appraisal District Office at 1 West Warner Avenue.

Review by the Appraisal Review Board: If you can't resolve your problem informally with the appraisal district staff, you may have your case heard by the appraisal review board.

The appraisal review board (ARB) is an independent board of citizens that reviews problems with appraisals and other concerns listed above. They have the power to order the appraisal district to make the necessary changes to solve problems. If you file a written request for an ARB hearing (called a notice of protest) before the deadline, the ARB will set your case for a hearing. You'll receive written notification of the time, date, and place of the hearing. The hearing will be informal. You and the appraisal district representative will be asked to present evidence about your case. The ARB will make its decision based on the evidence presented. You can get a copy of a protest form from the appraisal district office at 1 West Warner Avenue, Box 936, Eldorado, Texas 76936 or telephone 915-853-2617.

Note: You shouldn't try to contact ARB members outside of the hearing. The law requires you to sign an affidavit saying that you haven't done so before the ARB hears your case.

Review by the District Court: After it decides your case, the ARB must send you a copy of its order by certified mail. If you're not satisfied with the decision you have the right to appeal to district court. If you choose to go to court, you must start the process by filing a petition within 45 days of the date you receive the ARB's order. If the appraisal district has appraised your property at $1,000,000 or more, you must file a notice of appeal with the chief appraiser within 15 days of the date you receive the ARB's order.

If you believe the appraisal district or ARB should have sent you a notice and did not, you may file a protest until the day before taxes become delinquent (usually February 1). The ARB decides whether it will hear your case based on evidence about whether a required notice was mailed to you.

Deadline for filing protests with the ARB

First Division Ratings Given To Middle School Bands

The fifth and sixth grade band as well as the seventh and eighth grade band from Eldorado Middle School received first division ratings at the Sonora Invitational Concert Contest Saturday, May 5.

James Mallow, retired director of bands from Brady High School was the adjudicator who gave the bands their superior rating. Comments made from Mr. Mallow about the fifth and sixth grade group were "very musical for a young group...good style and concept...nice attention to dynamics, rhythm and musical expression...you are doing a very fine job."

The seventh and eighth grade group received remarks such as "very exciting performance...many high school bands do not play this well...very musically performed...fine style and concept...a real challenger today -- you did well...a fine performance on music far above the 'average' middle school band."

All Eldorado bands from grades five through 12 will be presenting their Spring Concert Thursday, May 17 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium. The public is invited to this final concert of the year. A reception by the Band Aiders will follow the concert.

ARCO Jesse Owens Games Slated For May 19 In Midland

The Midland Parks and Recreation Department, along with ARCO Oil and Gas Company, are sponsoring the ARCO Jesse Owens Games to be held Saturday, May 19, at Midland Memorial Stadium.

West Texas and Southwest New Mexico boys and girls born in the years 1976 through 1983 are invited to participate. There are no entry fees, and T-shirts will be provided.

Information and entry forms may be obtained by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to the Midland Parks and Recreation Department, 300 Baldwin; Midland, Texas 79701 or calling 915-685-7357. In order to receive a T-shirt, the completed entry must be received by the Midland Parks and Recreation Department by May 11 at 5 p.m.

This year marks the 26th anniversary for the ARCO Jesse Owens Games. The Midland meet is one of 600 events to be held nation-wide.

The Games are based on Jesse Owens' belief that organized recreational competition is an effective tool for developing and building character in children and for promoting the ideals of friendship and sportsmanship.

Boys and girls may compete in one of the following events: 50, 100, 200, 400 and 1500 meter races, long jump, high jump, and softball throw. The top three winners will receive medals to acknowledge their achievement, and those placing first and born between 1976 and 1981 will receive a free trip to the Regional Championships in Dallas on June 21. From there, participants have an opportunity to compete at the National Championships in Los Angeles in August.

"Everyone's a winner" is ARCO's way of describing its goals in sponsoring this program.

Pictured here are the fifth grade classes of Eldorado Middle School. The classes did so well on their TEAMS test that they were treated to ice cream and cokes at Eagle Dairy Mart recently. The TEAMS test is a test to determine the reading, math, English and written composition of students. They received tickets with which they could purchase ice cream or cokes. Teachers are Mrs. Christy Meador, Mrs. Glenda Nix and Mrs. Stacey Dunlap.
