Ginger Sterling Receives Scholarship

Ginger R. Sterling was awarded an $8,000 four-year Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo 4-H scholarship on June 5, 1990, in special ceremonies at the Texas 4-H Roundup in College Station, Texas.

Ginger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Sterling, is a recent graduate of Eldorado High School. Since joining 4-H in 1978, she has been active in the food and nutrition project, serving as a junior leader five years and winning the District 7 Food Show three years. She was a member of the district council and Schleicher County 4-H and Youth Committee. She received the county leadership award and the Gold Star Award.

In high school, Ginger served as state vice president of the Texas Association of Future Educators. She was a class officer and member of the band.

Ginger, who plans to major in clothing, textiles and merchandising at Texas Tech University, was one of 50 Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo 4-H scholarship winners honored.

The 4-H scholarship recipients were chosen by members of the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation. The selected students all demonstrated academic excellence and strong leadership skills throughout their high school careers.

The Show also will award 50 four-year, $8,000 scholarships at the Texas State FFA Convention on July 11 in Lubbock. All 4-H and FFA Recipients must pursue a degree in agriculture or life science at a Texas college or university.

The Show is the world's largest donor of agricultural scholarships, with scholarship funding provided by revenues earned at the annual Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo. Since awarding its first scholarship in 1957, the Show has provided an education. Additionally, the Show has committed more than $1.15 million in educational funds for the upcoming school year.

Included in this commitment are the metropolitan scholarships, to be awarded at the Million Dollar Scholarship Luncheon on June 21 in Houston; the Area Go Texan scholarships, presented at rodeo performances during the 1990 Show; and, school art scholarships, awarded to recipients selected during this year's school art contest.

Albert Martinez, son of Lucia and Luiz Martinez, rounds the corner of third base in a baseball game held on Monday, June 11, 1990.

Square Fair Planned

The Schleicher County Chamber of Commerce will be sponsoring a Square Fair on the courthouse parking lot, Saturday, June 16. If you have fruits, vegetables, arts, crafts or garage sale items you are welcome to set up a booth. The charge is $10.00. Call the Chamber of Commerce at 853-3109, from 9:00 a.m.-12:00 noon for more information.

Eldorado Pharmacy Now Accepting Blue Cross/Blue Shield Cards

Eldorado Pharmacy has signed a contract with Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Texas for providing pharmaceuticals to its BC/BS policyholders. Patrons that are planning on using the cards are being asked to bring them to Eldorado Pharmacy along with the patient's date of birth and address. This will be needed only once since all the data will be maintained by the pharmacy's computer system.

Youth Rodeo Scheduled

The 8th Annual Eldorado Youth Rodeo will be held June 22 and 23 at the roping arena on Highway 277 south of town. The 4-H Drill Team will kick off each evening performance at 7:00 p.m. Slack will be Saturday, June 23 at 10:00 a.m. Age divisions are 12 and under, 13-15 and 16-19. Age will be determined as of date of show and no contestant shall have reached his or her 20th birthday.

Trophy buckles will be presented to the winner of each event. An All Around buckle will be awarded to the top boy and girl in each of the three age divisions, plus seventy-five percent pay back to the contestants.

A parade will kick off the rodeo at 4:30 p.m. Friday in the downtown area of Eldorado. Anyone interested in being in the parade should call Melissa Lloyd at 915-853-3227 after 5:00 p.m.

Entry forms are available by writing the Eldorado Youth Rodeo, Box 10, Eldorado, Texas 76936, or by calling 915-853-2339 or 853-3377. Entries must be postmarked by June 16, 1990.

Sheepdog Association to Host Dog Trial

The Texas Sheepdog Association will host a Dog Trial on Sunday, June 17, 1990 at the rodeo grounds. This trial will start around 8:00 a.m. The judge will be Carter Whitney.

There will be three classes: open, open ranch and ranch class. Entry fees are $30.00, $20.00 and $15.00 respectively.

Trophies will be given for first through third place in each class. The trial will work rambouillet yearling ewes. This trial will follow the Fiesta Del Concho Trial on Friday and Saturday, June 15-16, 1990 at Old Ft. Concho.

For more information, please call Steve Sykes at 915-653-7863 or 915-853-2209.

OES Officers Installed

Isabella McCutcheon was installed as Worthy Matron of the Eldorado Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star. Marjorie Mae Russell of Fort McKavett was the installing officer.

Assisting the installing officer were Alma Corbell, Eldorado, Beverly Valiant, Sonora, Madge Weatherby, Big Lake and Polly Mayes, Ozona.

Other officers installed were Elton McGinnes, Patsy McDonald, Mary McGinnes, Charlene Edmiston, Maxine Locklin, Catherine Nibblitt, Jesse Lee Spencer, Geneva Wade, Charlotte Wilson, Alma Corbell and Blanche West.

Among the guests were Bill McCutcheon and family, Elizabeth Bradley, members from Big Lake, Fort McKavett, Ozona, Sonora and Uvalde.

Melodrama Meeting Set

There will be a melodrama meeting on Thursday, June 14, 1990 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

The melodrama, Peril at Pumpnickle Pass, will be performed on July 13, 1990 at the rodeo grounds. It is being directed by Marcy Willis. Many local people will be involved in the production. Some parts are still available. For further information contact Marcy Willis or Joann Sproul.

Life Among The Fishes

by Thomas Giovannitti

The other day, in desperation, Nicolas and I watched an old western movie. I am not so sure I agree with Willie Nelson, that cowboy movies provide us with those old fashioned values he has suddenly become fond about. I don't know what you think about Willie but I never considered him a role model for my children.

Anyway, Nic and I were watching this western and it dawned upon us that sometimes the movie makers took a little liberty with the historical truth. For one thing, in the battle with the indians there were a thousand indians and only a few cowboys. Guess who won? You guessed it, the cowboys won. It occurred to Nic that in all of the westerns there are always more indians than white men and the white men always win. If there were so many indians how did they manage to lose?

Of course, one explanation may be that every time the indians are even near the scene (Even off camera) the music switches to that same old tom-tom beat. Everybody, especially the cowboys, must have known that that music meant indians were around. Thus it was probably impossible to surprise the white men.

The indians never seemed to be able to shoot as accurately as the cowboys. I don't know whether this was historically true but it seems a little far fetched given the indians being pretty good with bows and arrows, a more difficult weapon with which to be accurate.

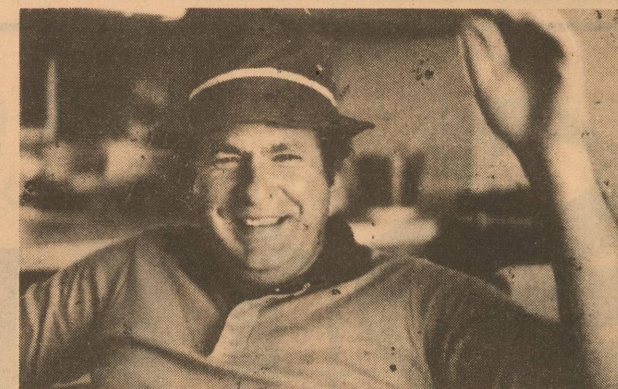

I also wonder how those indian calvary scouts must have felt always leading the horse soldiers right to the indians, and in the end they had to go live on reservations too.

The other thing about western movies is that they all have the same lettering for the title and credits. The lettering is always a sort of, I guess 'western', looking lettering. They are that sort of rough square letters with little square feet on them. They are almost always 'yeller' with red outline or vice-versa.

This has become so much a part of western lore that we don't believe something is western unless it has that lettering. You see it on western wear stores, saddle shops and all the gift shops on every interstate west of the Mississippi.

Paper was all in the news last week. Yes, you read right... PAPER.

Seems that some kids down in Livingston, Louisiana were graduating from high school. Decided to throw some paper airplanes at a few teachers. The teachers didn't think it was funny. Police got em'. This rowdy band of delinquents were charged with "MISCHIEF."

Now I don't know what kind of sentence you can get for "MISCHIEF", but I guarantee that it's not near as bad as what's gonna happen to the fellow who threw paper in Washington, D.C.

They say that this man was trying to get Vice-President Quayle's attention. He was waving papers and shouting something stupid like, "I've got proof." The Vice-President was far too busy to bother with such trivia, so the man threw the papers at him. News reports stated that the papers "bounced off of Mr. Quayle's head." The Vice President didn't think it was funny. Up to ten years or a $10,000 fine... that's what the guy could get.

I tried to bounce some paper off of my head, but it just wouldn't bounce. I wadded some up in a ball and then it sorta bounced off my head. I even made a paper airplane and threw it at my wife. Hit her right in the back of the head. It didn't bounce, it just kind of crumpled up the tip. She just laughed. She thought it was funny. Just goes to show what a lousy teacher or Vice-President she would make.

Then, I started thinking... maybe in other parts of the country paper might be harder than it is here. You know, like we have hard water here, but other places have soft water.

I also thought that maybe I should put a warning label on the Newspaper, you know like they do on packages of cigarettes... "WARNING Throwing paper could be hazardous to you and other people!!! DON'T THROW PAPER."

I'm just glad that I didn't get arrested for the time I threw a spitball at my seventh grade teacher. But, that's another story...

'Til the next time...

MAY GOD BLESS.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

I would like for everyone in Schleicher County to know that senior residents of Kimble, Menard, Schleicher and Sutton counties will soon have available to them a program of in-home assistance following hospitalization or illness. "One-stop" access to available services in the community will be given to the frail/elderly and/or their family or caregiver.

The local program, entitled Links, is part of a state-wide Options for Independent Living (OIL) project begun in 1985 and administered by the Texas Department on Aging. At present, nine OIL programs are functioning in Texas with more preparing for operation.

Links will be based in Junction but will have case managers in Menard, Schleicher and Sutton counties to assist with information and referrals. Available services to eligible persons over 60 years of age include homemaker service, respite care, benefits counseling, transportation, home delivered meals and residential repair. (Persons with income between current Medicaid eligibility level and 250% of the poverty level will pay for the cost of care on a sliding fee basis. However, no one will be refused services due to inability to pay.)

Sallye Teel is project director and Fran Padilla is case manager for the four-county area. Carolyn Smith services as administrative aide at the Links office located at 401B Main Street in Junction. For more information regarding eligibility or services provided, call 915-446-2028 in Junction or Janee Finley in Eldorado at 853-2848.

Thank you,

Janee L. Finley

P.S. We have a video available to various groups and organizations. It is tentatively scheduled for June 18th at 5:00 p.m. with the Schleicher County Chamber of Commerce and with the Hospital Auxiliary for their next meeting on Thursday, July 5 at 9:30 a.m.

Dear Editor,

Recently the City of Camp Wood built a $2,000,000 Convalescent Center which has 92 beds. It is an extremely beautiful facility, however, that is like many people that are beautiful, but is only skin deep, what is inside is the most important thing.

This comes from my heart when I tell you that our Center is even more beautiful inside because of the love for our elderly that dwells in there. It is a city owned facility and the majority of our citizens keep a close eye on it insuring that it is ran according to the needs and happiness of the residents.

What makes our facility best, far and beyond any in Texas, is the amount of volunteers we have working in it. Not for money, but because of loving hearts. How many nursing homes do you know can make that boast?

We recently had several elderly residents that wanted to go fishing. We had more volunteer sponsors than we had elderly wanting to go. They enjoyed it so much that next time they are going to take a picnic lunch.

Mary Jo Kirchner, a resident recently deceased, gave the Center a beautiful station wagon fully loaded. This vehicle is used to transport residents that need to go see specialists in places like Uvalde, Del Rio, Kerrville, San Antonio, etc. Needless to say, they are driven by volunteers and sometimes the residents want to go to a mall shopping or they may have a special place they like to eat. Their wish is the volunteers command.

We even have supervised volunteers to help with the feeding during meal times. If a resident is a slow eater and takes an hour to feed, so be it.

L.J. Dean, a senior citizen, virtually every afternoon volunteers and goes to the center and plays the organ.

We have local bands and entertainers that volunteer their time on weekends and gives them parties.

We have an in-resident doctor named Dr. Triplet, who I consider one of the best. He is a prince. He refers to many of the residents as his girl friend. The only thing I can think of that he may be guilty of is having too big of a loving heart.

We have a Convalescent Center Booster Club that meets once a month to discuss possible ways of improving our home and to solve any problems that may arise. It is a wonderful club and once again made up of all volunteers. I could write a chapter on their accomplishments alone.

Probably the biggest complaint that most nursing homes endure, is in the food preparation department. All of our cooks come from the local community and if you want a testimony of their food preparation come look at the citizens of Camp Wood.

The Center recently received a resident from another Center that had been bed ridden for five years. That resident is now up and walking.

I could go on and on listing the good points about our Center.

If you are a person that has finally reached the point where your elderly needs more care than you can provide and you truly love them and are looking for a place that will not only look after them, but look over them also, I feel that you have only one choice and that is to place them in our care at the Camp Wood Convalescent Center. Call 512-597-5250 and ask for Daisy or Mr. Simms.

Sincerely,

Jared R. Gildart

Diabetes Can Compound Heart Disease: When diabetes is not well-controlled, it can affect many other organs in the body, including the heart. Diabetes is a major risk factor for heart disease, along with cigarette smoking, high cholesterol levels, and high blood pressure.

Diabetes also can contribute to high blood pressure. Additionally, the nerve damage that can accompany diabetes may mean that a person can have a heart attack or angina and not know it because there is no pain.

Dear Editor,

HEALTH CARE FINANCING FACTS MEDICARE

The U.S. population is aging at an unprecedented rate. About 745,000 Texans are over age 75, according to the Texas Department of Aging.

Senior citizens are hospitalized twice as often as younger adults and remain in the hospital longer. In 1989, Medicare patients used an average of 44.27 percent of hospital patient days. Medicare patients had an average length of stay of 8.24 days, compared to an overall 4.94 average length of stay.

Medicare pays LESS than what it COSTS to deliver services to Medicare patients. In 1989, Texas hospitals lost an average $591 on every Medicare patient treated.

The Bush Administration has proposed a $5.5 billion cut in Medicare for 1991. The ability to purchase new, more technically sophisticated equipment, to maintain the physical plant and to keep pace with inflation are impacted by the proposed cuts. Texas hospitals would lose more than $192 million under the Bush proposal.

If no cuts are made in Medicare in 1991, Texas hospitals will lose $283 million due to previous cutbacks in the prospective payment system. This is a result of inadequate inflation adjustments in previous years, and refusals to pay actual costs of delivering services to Medicare patients.

By law, hospitals cannot bill Medicare patients for the difference in payment and costs. Medicare patients are required to pay a yearly deductible, and for charges not covered by Medicare, such as a private, rather than semiprivate room.

MEDICAID

Medicaid is a joint state and federal health insurance program for the poor. The federal portion paid is determined by the amount the state spends.

In Texas, only 38 percent of the state's poverty population receives Medicaid benefits due to restrictive eligibility standards. About 3.2 million Texans live in poverty, and only 1 million (mostly pregnant women, infants and children to age 4) get Medicaid benefits.

The poverty level is defined as income from all sources not to exceed $12,100 per year for a family of four.

Comparing all the states on per capita spending on Medicaid, Texas ranks 46th at $113.

On an average, Texas hospitals are paid only about 50 cents on the dollar for every Medicaid patient treated. In 1989, Texas hospitals on average lost $601 for every Medicaid patient treated.

Texas is second in the nation in the incidence of teenage pregnancy.

One-fourth of all uninsured births in the nation occur in Texas.

The Institute of Medicine estimates that for every dollar spent on prenatal care, more than $3 is saved on high cost neonatal intensive care.

UNCOMPENSATED CARE

In 1988, Texas hospitals provided more than $1.6 billion in uncompensated care. In comparison, Florida provided $1.2 billion; and New York, about $1.1 billion.

In 1989, uncompensated care represented more than 10 percent of the average hospital's total patient load.

Many uninsured people wait until a medical emergency arises before they seek health care. Because their condition has deteriorated by waiting, their treatment period is longer and more expensive. Emergency care is more costly than preventive or out-patient treatment.

CLOSURES

For the past four years, Texas has led the nation in the number of hospital closures.

From 1984-89, 105 Texas hospitals have closed. Ten reopened, and two subsequently closed again.

As of January 1990, 53 of Texas' 254 counties have no hospital.

Sincerely,
Stephen M. Goode

Exchange Student Seeks American Home

COMMUNITY ALERT...HE NEEDS A HOME

A local family is needed immediately to host Marc Henneman, an outstanding foreign exchange student from West Germany. An ASSE International Student Exchange Program representative is now taking applications from families who wish to host a teenager from Europe while the student attends the local high school during the 1990/91 school year. Marc is excited about discovering the real U.S.A. by living and participating in an American home and academic life. Marc enjoys playing tennis and volleyball, reading, building airplane models, sailing and swimming. If you want to be considered for an ASSE Host Family interview and learn more about Marc and other available students, please call our toll-free number today 1-800-333-3802 or contact the local ASSE Area Representative: Sherry Hubbard, 6009 Equestrian, San Angelo, TX 76904, (915) 658-8155.

THC Grants Available

The Texas Historical Commission is accepting preliminary applications for 1991 Survey and Planning Grants. Grants may be used to support local preservation planning activities and to identify cultural resources eligible for nomination to the National Register of Historic Places. Preliminary applications must be submitted by June 29, 1990.

Projects eligible for grant funding include surveys of historic resources, National Register nominations, publications, and resource protection plans. Grant funding priorities in fiscal year 1991 will emphasize phased projects currently underway, surveys of historic resources in endangered areas, and preparation of National Register multiple property nominations.

Cultural resources addressed by the projects, including buildings, sites, structures, and objects, must predate 1945 and should be significant in American history, architecture, archeology, or culture. Projects should treat resources on a community-wide basis. THC staff is available for consultation with applicants to devise preliminary scopes of work and cost estimates for proposed projects.

The THC expects to award approximately $50,000 in grants, contingent on the availability of state and federal funding in fiscal year 1991. Grant awards must be matched on a one-to-one basis at the local level. Other federal sources of funding, with the exception of Community Development Block Grants and revenue-sharing funds, may not be used to match Survey and Planning Grants. Federal regulations also strictly prohibit unlawful discrimination in federally-assisted programs on the basis of race, color, and/or national origin.

As the official state agency for historic preservation, the THC administers a wide variety of programs that protect the cultural and historical heritage of the state. For information and grant application materials, contact Bruce Jensen, THC, National Register Programs, P.O. Box 12276, Austin, TX 78711, 512/463-6094.

1990 Hunting Lease Directory

"Hunting has always been a way of life for many Texans. The sale of hunting leases is helping many Texas farmers and ranchers make a living, and the publication of the 1990 edition of the 'Texas Hunter's Clearinghouse Directory' will assist a growing number of rural Texans in making use of this valuable source of extra income," Deputy State Agriculture Commissioner Mike Moeller announced.

The 1990 directory, along with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's Deer Hunting Lease Register, lists 956 available leases covering a total of 4.3 million acres in every region of Texas. The 118-page directory, which is available free of charge, is a joint project of TDA and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Interested hunters and rural landowners will receive copies of the directory upon request.

"More than 200 listings in this year's edition of the directory are new, and a large number of these listings have never been hunted on a lease basis before," Moeller said.

"The directory listings are arranged by county in alphabetical order, and the directory includes a wide range of fish and game. Hunters can find leases to hunt and fish for wild turkey, bass, catfish, javelina, and whitetail deer. We've also got listings for exotic game species like axis deer and blackbuck antelope. The listings also include useful information such as the location of the nearest airports and hotels, as well as services and amenities provided on leases.

The four-year-old Clearinghouse program has become popular with hunters and rural landowners alike. More than 1.3 million Texans hold hunting licenses and land capable of producing huntable wildlife is limited. The directory puts hunters in contact with rural landowners who need the additional income generated by hunting leases.

In previous years, farmers and ranchers who leased their land through the clearinghouse program added an average of $2,200 to their income. Hunting leases generate about $146 million each year for Texas farmers and ranchers. As the demand for hunting leases increases, many rural landowners are putting more emphasis on wildlife management practices in order to satisfy this demand.

Farmers and ranchers with land available to lease may apply to the Texas Department of Agriculture for a free listing in the directory. Applications for inclusion in the directory are accepted throughout the year. For more information on the Texas Hunter's Clearinghouse, call TDA at 512-463-7679 or write Texas Hunter's Clearinghouse, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

Public Notice

TO ALL FORMER AND CURRENT INTRASTATE WIDE AREA TELECOMMUNICATIONS SERVICE (WATS/800) SUBSCRIBERS: Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has instituted a Class Action Lawsuit seeking judicial approval of a settlement reached in Docket No. 7297, an inquiry of General Counsel of the Public Utility Commission of Texas into possible overcharges which occurred between September, 1976, and February, 1987, due to rounding practices, on bills of intrastate WATS/800 customers sent by Southwestern Bell and other telephone companies which concur in Southwestern Bell's tariff. The suit is styled "Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, Plaintiff, vs. MCI Telecommunications Corporation, A Member of the Class of Texas Intrastate WATS and 800 Service Customers Who Paid Overtime Charges From September 1976 Through February 1987, Defendant," and identified as Cause No. 471,460 in the 126th Judicial District Court of Travis County, Texas.

Pursuant to the settlement, while not admitting liability, Southwestern Bell, the other local exchange telephone companies in Texas, and AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc. have agreed to pay refunds to those WATS/800 customers who paid overtime charges attributable to the rounding practices for intrastate WATS/800 services at any time between September, 1976, and February, 1987. The refunds will be based upon either the actual or estimated amount of overtime charges attributable to such rounding practices. An exact refund will be determined for customers able to produce copies of their WATS/800 service bills. For customers who do not have copies of their WATS/800 service bills to establish actual overtime charges paid, an average refund of $4.53 to $5.95 per WATS/800 service line per month will be applied. All claims will be subject to verification. The refunds will also include interest at the rate of 7.80% per annum.

Claim Forms And Additional Information

Those customers who think they may be entitled to a refund or who desire more information must call 1-800-782-3026, 8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, or write to WATS Refund Pool Administrator, One Bell Plaza, Room 670, P. O. Box 650376, Dallas, Texas 75265-0376, to request a WATS Refund Information Package. The WATS Refund Information Package will contain further information regarding the lawsuit and eligibility for a refund, a description of documentation required to support a customer's claim for refund, and a refund claim form to be filled out and submitted requesting a refund. REQUESTING A WATS REFUND INFORMATION PACKAGE DOES NOT OBLIGATE YOU IN ANY WAY.

All claims for a refund must be received by the Refund Pool Administrator by Friday, October 5, 1990, and all rejections of the settlement (that is, requests for exclusion from the class action lawsuit) must be received by the Court by Wednesday, September 5, 1990. Only those who respond by filing a claim or by filing a rejection of the settlement, as explained in the WATS Refund Information Package, will receive notice of future developments in this proceeding.

Persons who wish to obtain further information may also contact the Public Utility Commission, Public Information Division, at (512) 458-0257 or (512) 458-1221, teletypewriter for the deaf.

Watch For Early Signs Of Asthma In Children

According to the National Center for Health Statistics, the percentage of asthma sufferers among youths under 18 with chronic respiratory problems rose from one-third in 1982 to more than half in 1987. Asthma-related deaths among children under 14 doubled between 1977 and 1983.

Pollution appears to be the major reason for the increase. Other factors contributing to the growing death rate may be misuse of medication -- asthmatics taking less or more than the prescribed amount -- and failure to seek medical treatment.

Early treatment and compliance with a medication program are the keys to controlling asthma. Some parents mistakenly believe that treatment isn't necessary because children "outgrow" asthma. Others discontinue their child's medication without medical advice when side effects like restlessness and difficulty in concentration occur.

Larry W. James, M.D., a TMA member and Austin physician who specializes in treatment of children with asthma, emphasizes that daily medication is necessary to prevent asthma episodes and enable the asthmatic child to engage in normal activities. Should side effects appear, parents are advised to consult the child's physician for a change in dosage or medication.

To obtain early treatment of affected children, parents and teachers should be alert to the symptoms of asthma. The most obvious warning sign is shortness of breath. This symptom is typically accompanied by wheezing, coughing, rapid breathing, and anxious or scared facial expression, paleness, sweating, unexplained tiredness, restlessness during sleep, and perhaps vomiting.

Asthma often affects children more dramatically than adults. Breathing difficulties associated with asthma can be particularly frightening to a child. Untreated asthma may affect a child's ability to perform in sports, participate in social activities, and function well in school. As a result, the child may suffer low self-esteem and other emotional problems.

With early treatment and ongoing management of their condition, asthmatic children can be spared the traumatic experiences of frequent or serious breathing difficulties, along with related emergency room visits and hospitalization. Activities important to the child's development need not be restricted when asthma is controlled.

Dr. James says, "Exercise-induced wheezing can be prevented by the use of a bronchodilator inhaler before physical activity." As a result, cooperation of teachers and coaches in the treatment program is essential to the effective management of asthma in children.

ASK YOUR CHILD WHAT A STRANGER LOOKS LIKE

Chances are good that if you ask your child what a stranger looks like, he or she is likely to describe a person like the one pictured here.

So when you tell your child not to talk to strangers, it's important to make sure that your child understands who a stranger really is.

Simply put, a stranger is anyone your child does not know, be it the "nice lady" with the dog or the kindly old man in the park.

One good idea is to establish a code word known only by yourself, your child and any adult authorized to escort or care for your child. If the stranger doesn't know the "magic" word, your child is not to go anyplace with that person. It's as simple as that.

While the movies make it easy to tell the good guys from the bad, real life unfortunately is not so simple.

So take a moment to help safeguard your child today.

Child Safety. It's a matter of show and tell.

Avoid 'Miracle Cures' For Arthritis

The sudden appearance and disappearance of arthritis symptoms make the disease a ready target for so-called miracle cures and quack products. During National Arthritis Month in May, Texas Medical Association urges arthritis sufferers to avoid these unproven methods and consult their physician for treatment.

"Because the common forms of arthritis represent diseases of antiquity, we should not be surprised that they're surrounded by myths and misconceptions," said TMA member Jerry C. Daniels, M.D., Ph.D., professor and director of the Division of Rheumatology with

The University of Texas Medical Branch in Galveston.

Americans spend an estimated $10 billion each year in search of relief. The most common remedies sought are special diets and nutritional supplements. Advertisements also promote relief through use of dimethyl sulfoxide, magnetic bandages, vibrators, or other gadgets. Despite glowing testimonials, the relief may be only a result of the sudden disappearance of symptoms. People who suffer from arthritis pain and stiffness should be wary of these treatments, which are unproven and may be unsafe.

Instead, arthritis sufferers should consult a physician for ways to relieve pain and stop joint damage. Although no cures have yet been found, promising research is underway, says TMA.

Arthritis, often incorrectly called "rheumatism", actually refers to more than 100 different conditions involving inflammation of the joints. In adults the most common forms are osteoarthritis and rheumatoid arthritis.

Osteoarthritis often is a painful condition that develops in the hips, knees and spine. Many people also have osteoarthritis in their fingers, which may give the hands a gnarled appearance.

A more descriptive term for osteoarthritis is degenerative joint disease because wear and tear on the inside surface of the joint frequently is a cause. Heredity and excessive weight are other contributing factors.

Rheumatoid arthritis is a more serious condition usually affecting the smaller joints -- knuckles, toe joints, wrists, knees, ankles and neck. Sometimes it is associated with inflammation of other body systems, including the heart and lungs.

In this disorder, the thin membrane surrounding the joint becomes inflamed and swollen.

In severe cases, deformed joints collapse and become distorted. If the neck is involved, paralysis or even death may result, although this is rare.

In both common forms of arthritis, high-dose aspirin frequently is an effective initial medication, although a physician may prescribe a newer anti-inflammatory pain medication, or occasionally a steroid injection. Physical therapy, heat treatments, a balance of exercise and rest, and swimming in a heated pool also may be helpful.

Surgery sometimes is necessary to remove an inflamed joint membrane or replace a severely damaged joint with an artificial one. No matter how severe your symptoms, TMA urges you to consult your physician for proper treatment.

TB On Increase Among Minorities

Although tuberculosis (TB) infects many people, those who develop the disease's symptoms sometimes fail to seek health care. Health officials attribute that fact to a lack of understanding about how serious untreated TB can be.

The same officials cite that lack of knowledge about TB as one of the main reasons for a current increase of TB among Texas minorities.

Dr. Michael Kelley, of the Texas Department of Health's

(TDH) Bureau of Disease Control and Epidemiology, said that until recently TB was declining nationwide.

However, TB cases among Texans increased in 1988 and 1989, especially among the black population. Dr. Kelley said that last year 529 blacks contracted tuberculosis, compared with 479 in 1988.

Reports also show increased TB cases among Hispanics and persons infected with HIV, the virus that causes AIDS.

"Before TB can be treated or cured, it first must be recognized. Years ago, when tuberculosis was a leading cause of death, the disease was often suspect in a patient. Today, though, doctors and nurses inexperienced with tuberculosis may overlook the disease, thus delaying a diagnosis."

Tuberculosis is an infectious disease primarily affecting a person's lungs and may spread to other organs causing severe complications or death. The disease is both preventable and curable if patients comply with the physician's instructions in taking medication.

The disease usually is spread by exhaled airborne bacteria from someone with the disease who may infect family, friends and co-workers.

Dr. Kelley said that the general symptoms of TB include cough, fatigue, weight loss, fever or night sweats.

The federal Centers of Disease Control's "Strategic Plan for the Elimination of Tuberculosis in the United States" has a goal of 99 percent reduction in tuberculosis by 2010.

Dr. Kelley explained that to reach that goal in Texas, the TDH tuberculosis control programs will have to: (1) concentrate its surveillance of infection among high risk groups; (2) more thoroughly investigate patients' contacts; and (3) more closely monitor patients' compliance in taking their medications.

"We cannot over-emphasize the role of the public health nurses in Texas. They are the front-line educators, counselors and health care providers in preventing and detecting TB and other diseases," Dr. Kelley said.

"However," he added, "no matter how competent the medical personnel are, tuberculosis may needlessly continue to spread in any minority group which is at risk of tuberculosis if infected persons don't seek care."

Meeting

Continued from page 5 from the "Public Health Expense" portion of the budget to the "Vehicle & Equipment Maintenance" portion in the amount of $1800.00. Motion carried.

Mr. Dean further reported electrical problems with the ground storage tank and pump facility. The need for funds in the Water Department were discussed with no action taken.

Mr. Dean will have an up-to-date report on the landfill at the next meeting.

Clarification was made concerning correspondence and reporting on the wastewater facility with Steven Santellano as Wastewater Operator to sign correspondence and reports with Mr. Dean to make updates to the TWC.

With no further business, meeting adjourned at approximately 12:15 P.M.

Deadline for American Poetry Contest Nearing

The deadline for entering the American Poetry Association's contest is June 30. The contest is open to everyone and entry is free.

The Grand Prize is $1,000 and the First Prize $500. There are 152 prizes worth $11,000 in all.

"This contest is dedicated to discovering new and unknown poets," said Robert Nelson, publisher for the association. "You do not have to be a professional poet to win."

Poets may send one original poem, no more than 20 lines, name and address on the top of the page, to American Poetry Association, Dept. CO-55, 250-A Potrero St., P.O. Box 1803, Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

Poems postmarked by June 30 are eligible to win. A new contest opens July 1.

Poems are judged on originality, sincerity, and feeling.

Each poem is also considered for publication in the American Poetry Anthology, a leading collection of contemporary verse.

Every poet will receive a copy of the "Poet's Guide to Getting Published," a four-page booklet full of useful information.

During 8 years of sponsoring the American Poetry Association has run 36 contests and awarded over $180,000 in contest prizes to 3,300 winning poets.

DOWNED POWER LINES — THE LOADED GUN

When an overhead power line is downed by accident or weather, it's not necessarily dead — but you might be unless you stay away from it! An electrical power line is due the same respect as a firearm. Just as there is no such thing as an unloaded gun, there are no dead power lines.

A downed line that seems dead may be reenergized by a lightning strike on the line, contact with other power lines or interaction with another source of electricity somewhere back down the line. This may happen without warning or opportunity to break contact.

High voltages may be transmitted through materials other than metals. A wooden pole, a fiber rope or other normally non-conducting materials may carry an electrical current if they become wet or soiled. The loose ends of the conductor may also energize the wiring, plumbing or steel supports of structures, metal fences, telephone or cable television systems, and vehicles. Green tree limbs will conduct electricity.

Given the wrong set of circumstances, a current will go to ground in you. Don't give it the chance! Handle it safely by not handling it at all. Keep others away and give your electrical utility a call.

Blair/Griffin to Represent Eldorado FFA

Josh Blair and Cy Griffin will represent the Eldorado FFA at the 1990 Texas Agricultural Youth Congress. The conference will be held in Austin June 26 thru the 29th. This conference is designed to encourage young Texans to seek careers in Agriculture. Our country's future will depend on the knowledge, innovation, dedication and leadership to today's youth. The lessons we teach them today, by exposing the students to modern day economic trends, the latest technologies and job opportunities will help prepare them to tackle the problems facing the next generation of food and fiber producers.

The Texas Agricultural Youth Congress was created in 1988 to enhance the students interest and understanding of American Agriculture. Students will be shown that providing food and fiber for the nation and the world is an honorable profession that can be profitable. Presentations will be made by experts on topics such as the 1990 Farm Bill, Texas Pesticide Laws, Commodity Trading, and Bio-Technology.
