Eldorado Water Supply Threatened

The Parker and Parsley Petroleum Company of Midland, Texas has made application to the Texas Railroad Commission to use water from the Edwards Formation to aid in oil production.

The Edwards Formation is the fresh water source for Eldorado.

The Parker and Parsley Company has applied to use a maximum of 2800 barrels of water per day, or over 3 million barrels per month.

This action could result in permanent damage to our City's water supply.

The Eldorado City Council has sent a letter to the Railroad Commission to try and stop Parker and Parsley's action.

We are publishing a complete copy of that letter for the citizens of Schleicher County.

RAILROAD COMMISSION OF TEXAS

Oil and Gas Division
P. O. Drawer 12967, Capitol Station

RE: Parker & Parsley Petroleum Co.
Wilson 137 Lease and Wade Lease
Sections 137 and 110, Blk. A
HE & WT RR Co. Survey
Schleicher County, Texas.

Dear Sirs:

We are aware of the above named company's application to inject fluid into a reservoir productive of oil. This Application greatly concerns the citizens of Eldorado. Previous discussion concerned use of fluids from the Trinity or another source of water; however, this application proposes to use water from the Edwards Formation at 320-470 feet.

The City of Eldorado's only source of water is six water wells. The depths of these wells range from 300-360'. Parker & Parsley lists their source of the injection fresh water as the Edwards Formation at 320-470'.

Parker & Parsley proposes to inject a maximum of 400 bbls. of water per well for a total daily maximum of 2800 bbls. of water per day (117,600 gallons of water per day). According to our records the citizens of Eldorado have used a maximum of 29,155,200 gallons per month (August, 1990), and this use of water from our water supply threatens our community and its future. We are also concerned about contamination and damages to the formation itself from such use. We have experienced a history of water supply problems in the past when the water table was lowered, particularly in dry years. Communities to the East and South of Eldorado have also experienced problems, and we understand their water comes from the same formation.

Our community depends on the water from this formation. We feel that this project jeopardizes the future of our community and those people living in the area who also depend on this sole source of water. If this source is jeopardized, where will we go for an alternate supply?

The City of Eldorado is very much opposed to this project, and desires to go on record as in strong opposition due to concern for the health and future needs of our community. The Commission's approval to Parker & Parsley's request will serve as a precedent for future and more extensive injection wells using the Edwards formation.

Sincerely,

Halloween Carnival Set

by Glenda Harris

Beta Sigma Phi is again sponsoring the Halloween Carnival. It will be on October 31 from 6-8 p.m. and will be held in the old McCalla's building on Main Street.

We are looking for a great turnout this year and hope to have something for everyone.

At this time we have nine booths and a possible tenth. The booths will be cotton candy, sucker pull, toy walk, popcorn balls, wheel of fortune, fishing pond, darts, concession stand and that all time favorite, the spook house.

We will also be selling chances on a handmade quilt to be given away at the Halloween Carnival. The proceeds from these tickets will go to help Lupe Mejia, who is in financial need due to medical bills from an illness she has.

If anyone wishes to have a booth, please call Dorothy Dacy at 853-3020 or 853-3174. The cost of a booth is only $10. The fun and excitement you will provide will be tenfold.

The set up for booths will be Tuesday, October 30 at 7:00 p.m. This will allow for any last minute problems or changes before the carnival.

All my life I've heard "there's nothing to do in Eldorado!" Well, on October 31st, Beta Sigma Phi is providing everyone with something to do. So, don your costumes, bring the kids, and have some family fun together.

Life Among The Fishes

by Thomas Giovannitti

Usually, when I have to fly on an airplane, I try to just leave from San Antonio Airport or Midland and fly directly to my destination. The reason for all of that driving to such distant places is because I don't like those commuter planes.

Those little turboprop aircraft are the only types of commercial planes that fly out of San Angelo, and I just do not like them.

What many of the younger air passengers might not know is that planes very similar to those commuters where what the original air liners were like. Oh, some where a little bigger but the rides were just as rough and the seats about as comfortable.

The big difference seems to be that the crews don't seem the same. The pilots on those commuters look either too young or too old. The older looking guys make me wonder why is it that a fellow who looks to have been flying when commercial planes with propellers were the rule rather than the exception. The younger guys don't instill confidence in me. I always get the feeling that if this youngster had been higher up in his flight class standings then maybe he'd be flying one of those "real" airplanes.

Then they have these seats. I mean there is so little padding in the seat that the crew does not even recommend it as floatation gear. They have no arm rests since most of the passengers are much too tense to put there arms anywhere but up to grip the ceiling.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,

Having read Thomas Giovannitti's last article I must respond that some of his contentions are well founded. However, his strong defense of the welfare system in this country is way off the mark.

Mr. Giovannitti fails to understand that the welfare bureaucracy in this country serves more as a hindrance to the poor than as a help. The bureaucrats in charge of the welfare system seem interested only in perpetuating their own jobs and increasing the budget of their departments. Little, if any, meaningful help is given to the poor in the way of helping them get off the welfare rolls.

The poor are trained to follow the rules and not make waves and are rewarded by the system. Anyone trying to break free of the system is punished. For example, those on public assistance are discouraged from taking even part time work because it will disqualify them from receiving aid. What is the result of this? A self perpetuating welfare monster.

I feel this country would be much better served by a "Workfare" system. Such a system would require that anyone receiving public assistance perform an amount of work proportional to the amount of assistance they receive.

A "Workfare" system could even save money by providing local governments with labor that is already being compensated by another agency. I understand many feel that having to do an honest day's work for an honest day's pay is beneath their dignity. If accepting welfare isn't damaging to one's dignity I don't see how "Workfare" could be.

As for taxes, Mr. Giovannitti asserts that we pay too few taxes. I disagree. Just because other nations pay a larger percentage of their incomes in taxes is a feeble argument for increasing our taxes.

As a Democrat, Mr. Giovannitti seems stricken with the same malady that has befallen just about everyone else in his party. He seems to think that higher taxes are the answer to everything. And just what happens when taxes are increased? Of course, spending increases.

Oh, the Democrats have deftly tried to hang the blame for our financial problems on everyone but themselves. But the truth is that according to the Constitution the power to tax is entrusted in the Congress as is the power to spend. And just which party has been in control of Congress for the last half century? The Democrats, of course. By the way, Presidents Reagan and Bush have signed every balanced budget the Congress has sent them. Trouble is the Congress can't seem to send them one.

Tax and spend. Tax and spend. Tax and spend. What a vicious monster the Democrats have loosed upon our country. Tax and spend. Tax and spend. Tax and spend. Listen closely because its the only song the Democrats know.

Sincerely,
Randy Mankin, Chairman
Schleicher County
Republican Party

To Whom It May Concern,

I would like to express my gratitude to the person or persons who visited with the Department of Human Services Daycare Licensing Division for their concern about my Daycare. What a relief it is to know that someone in Eldorado is looking out for me.

I appreciate you explaining to the licensing division that I have been keeping more than 6 children, but for your information, I have been licensed for 2 years to care for 12 children, including drop-ins.

I also appreciate you informing them that a 78 year old woman (who is actually 75) watches the children while I go to school for my own children or to a funeral of a dear friend. She and 4 other ladies are listed with the state to come watch the children for me for emergencies and so I can be a mother to my own children.

I take care of children to the best of my ability. Children need to feel loved and feel secure. I try to make sure all children receive a lot of love and security in my home. There is one thing I can do right and that is to love all children. I care for all shapes, sizes, ages and colors. Children are a big part of my life. I wish you wouldn't try to take that away from me.

I'm sorry if I have rejected you, stepped on your toes or maybe I didn't take of your child on a certain day when you called, but I'm just doing my job. I am trying to make a living just like you.

Thank you,
Donna Newton

County Agents Report

by Jerry Swift, County Extension Agent - Schleicher County

TIME TO WATCH FOR BROWN PATCH ON LAWNS

If lawns have been infected with brown patch in prior years, get ready to treat again, says a plant pathologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Moist conditions with cooler night temperatures are ideal for the development of brown patch disease," said Dr. George Philley, plant pathologist at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Overton. "San Augustine is the most common lawn grass affected, but centipede and bermuda grass are also susceptible under certain conditions. Early infections can go unnoticed unless regular inspections of the lawn are made. Late September and October are when symptoms are most apparent."

"We have found that heavily fertilized, well watered lawns are very susceptible to brown patch," Philley said. "Lush, moist grass creates an ideal environment for disease development."

The lawn-devastating disease appears in patches as large as 30 feet in diameter. The leaves turn yellow and are easily pulled from the stolon or stem. As the affected areas age, new green growth may develop toward the center of the patch, causing a donut-shaped appearance.

"A number of fungicides are available to prevent or treat brown patch," Philley said. "For the fungicides to be most effective, it is best to apply them before the disease develops. In lawns where treatment is limited, be sure to first treat the areas that were previously infected because the disease has a tendency to reappear in the same areas."

WINTER KILL

Lawn preparation is very important to aid in avoiding a winter kill on your lawn. These recommendations will help prevent winter kill, but no guarantees.

1. Fall fertilizer application to allow grasses to accumulate carbohydrates. Nitrogen, potassium and iron levels should be high throughout the fall. Apply .5 percent of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet - 1 pound of phosphorus per 1,000 square feet - Iron can be applied as a foliar spray or granules.

2. Mowing heights increased to aid in carbohydrate storage for the winter months.

3. Water monthly during the winter months. Dry lawns can not tolerate cold as well as wet ones.

Blood Safety Questioned: Hearings before a house of Representative subcommittee in mid-July once again raised the question of how safe blood supplies really are.

FDA investigators claim that sloppy recordkeeping and inconsistent use of tests to screen for AIDS and hepatitis in the early 1980's may mean that there is still some tainted blood being stored.

The risk of hepatitis infection is much greater than for AIDS.

Laugh and Live

by Gary Smith

TRUE STORY

In 1986, Refugio Tarin, the driver of a pickup truck, and Jesus Carrasco, one of his passengers, killed each other in a gin battle inside the cab of the truck while Tarin was driving. Manuel Carrasco, a passenger in the truck sitting between the two as they fired their weapons, was wounded in the arm and shoulder. Presidio, Texas, Sheriff Rich Thompson said, "It was just three of them in the pickup and they started arguing. The poor guy it he middle didn't have any place to go." Thompson did not know what started the argument.

Sometimes, I feel like we Americans are like the guy in the middle. Folks shooting on both sides of us and we just sit there in the middle getting shot.

Last week, Tom Giovannitti implied in his article that people who were opposed to higher taxes were against helping others. Randy Mankin, in his rebuttal, stated that, "(just about every Democrat) seems to think that higher taxes are the answer to everything."

Come on, guys, GET REAL. Tom, Congress has voted themselves a $35,000 a year raise. Randy, there were quite a few Republican Congressmen who voted for the increase.

I'm all for helping the needy, but I am opposed to American citizens sacrificing to pay higher and higher taxes to overpay wasteful, scandalous, corrupt politicians who are not affected by tax increases because they simply write themselves bigger paychecks.

Senior Companion Program To Include Schleicher County

The Senior Companion Program (SCP), sponsored by the Concho Valley Council of Governments, is expanding services to Eldorado and Schleicher County starting immediately.

Senior Companion volunteers work with older adults who are homebound and need assistance to maintain their independence. These volunteers are low income adults, age 60 or older, who work 20 hours per week. They receive a modest stipend and other benefits that allow them to participate in this community service project.

For a frail elderly person, a Senior Companion is often the difference between a life of independence and dignity or one of mere survival. For the companion, serving means activity, accomplishment and purpose. For both clients and companions SCP means enjoying the best life has to offer.

The local program is coming to your community through the efforts and support of the Schleicher County Commission. The Senior Companion program is funded by ACTION, the federal domestic volunteer agency, the Texas Department on Aging, the Concho Valley Area Agency on Aging and local contributions.

If you are interested in being a Senior Companion, or you know of someone that might benefit from the program, please contact Josie Knight at 853-3177 or Deborah Ellsworth, director of the Senior Companion Program at 944-9666.

Eagles Lose Fundamentals

"It looked like we never got off the bus. There was a team playing on the Coahoma Football field, but it did not look like the Eldorado Eagles," replied head coach Doug Kuhlmann. "We have been playing good football for most of the season, but on the road against district opponents, we have had our troubles. Against Ozona, we did not execute real well and now against Coahoma we lost our fundamentals of blocking and tackling. It is not just a few athletes having an off game, but it is a total team effort."

The Eagles could not get not tell from our angle, but it was close on the two fourth down touchdowns," explained Kuhlmann. On another long run for a touchdown, the Bulldogs were clearly off-sides as the entire offense moved before the snap of the ball, but no penalties were called and the Coahoma Bulldogs had their fourth and the offense in gear and the defense had trouble stopping the Coahoma Bulldog offense. The Eagles goalline defense did get tough and two scores by the Bulldogs were questionable whether the ball carrier made it across the goalline. "We could final touchdown of the night. All four scores were made by Coahoma's Shane Walker.

The Eagle's next game is with the Forsan Buffaloes. They bring a record of 1-6 to Eldorado High School with the game beginning at 8:00 p.m. on Friday, October 26th.

"It is important that we regain the confidence in ourselves that we had in the fourth half of the season. We have to work hard on the fundamentals of blocking and tackling if we are going to be successful," ended Kuhlmann.

Looking out for taxpayers

In the current two-year budget, our state government will spend $43 billion of the people's money. Dr. Forlano, ACS Tour Speaker

Albert J. Forlano, Ph.D. has just completed 2 extensive lecture trips through 7 states as an invited Tour Speaker for the American Chemical Society in Washington, D.C. All of the lectures were in the area of Preventive Medicine.

The ACS is the national organization of chemical scientists, about half of which hold doctoral degrees, many of whom have developed and produced the drugs used in medicine today. Dr. Forlano has been an invited ACS speaker since 1982.

On the first tour, sponsored by the local sections of the ACS Prairie Circuit, Dr. Forlano lectured at 3 universities in Illinois, including Knock College in Galesburg, which was the site of the Lincoln-Douglas debates in 1858. Some of the other lectures were hosted by the University of Iowa, Creighton University School of Medicine in Omaha, Nebraska and Hastings University in Hastings, Nebraska.

The second tour included lectures to the local sections of the ACS Coronado Circuit where the meetings were held in Big Springs, Amarillo, and Lubbock at Texas Tech University, and at the New Mexico Highlands University in Las Vegas, New Mexico. The visit in Las Vegas was a high point since Dr. Forlano had conducted research at the New Mexico Highlands University in 1963-64 under a National Science Foundation Fellowship grant.

The lectures dealt with a new concept and research that has shown that there are harmful substances called "free radicals" that can cause damage to body cells and tissues leading to increased cell aging and death.

This research has also led to the discovery of the protective nature of certain vitamins and enzymes called "anti-oxidants" which help to control the harmful effects of the free radicals and offer protection against aging, cardiovascular disease, blindness and other eye diseases, brain diseases such as Parkinsons disease and senility, osteoporosis, the deleterious effects of diabetes, and possibly an improvement in immune system function. In a recent conference at the Queen Elizabeth II Conference Center in London, England, about 600 doctors from 37 countries convened to review their work in this fascinating area.

We feel that we are at the cutting edge of a discipline that will allow us to have a more productive longevity, freer from the disease processes that take their heaviest toll in our senior citizens. That is not to say that younger people should ignore the guidelines for preventive medicine as well. The question that is becoming more prevalent in thinking Americans is "Is it better to prevent the disease from happening in the first place or to treat the disease after it occurs?" It is felt that we all have made some choices in that area.

Dr. Forlano indicated that driving about 4500 miles on this tour was an enlightening experience. One notable observation was that when he was in central Nebraska it was hard to tell it from West Texas because he saw lots of ranches and fences mended with bailing wire, and lots of "sho' nuff" country folks, so he felt right at home. But the best part of all was getting back home to Eldorado after the long tour.

WIC Participation Increases Birthweight, Reduces Medicaid Costs

A new study demonstrates that Medicaid costs are lower and infant birthweights are higher for pregnant women who received healthy foods and nutrition education during their pregnancies from the Special Supplemental Food Program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC). The Eldorado WIC program, directed by Maria Carrasco, RN, provides food and nutrition services for 87 local women and children each month. The new findings, released October 1 by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, reaffirm the positive impact of the federally-sponsored WIC program for low-income women and infants, according to Debra Stabeno, Chief of Texas Department of Health's Bureau of WIC Nutrition. The one-year study sampled five states including Texas which serves more than 300,000 WIC participants each month.

"These results are exciting," said Debra Stabeno, "They show that Medicaid eligible pregnant women who participate in WIC have healthier babies. These babies require less Medicaid assistance after birth than do babies of low-income pregnant women who don't participate."

Another program that is of great benefit to this community is the immunization clinics held every other month. Thirty-five children were immunized in the month of October. The clinic will have back to back months in December and January.

For more information regarding these clinics, contact Maria Carrasco, RN in the Sonora office at 211 Hwy 277 N. or call 387-2234.

Women's Club Meets

The Woman's Club met in the club room on October 9 for its regular meeting.

The prayer was given by Mary McGinnes and the pledges to the flags were led by Dorothy Harris.

After the business meeting, conducted by Ora Deal, club president, a very interesting program was given on Conservation, led by Willie Johnson.

The roll call was answered with suggestions on 'How I Can Conserve.' Mrs. Johnson reviewed things that the club has taken part in concerning conservation in our community. She introduced the speaker Kerry joy, who told about the program at his ranch on deer and how he handles the hunting situation which he has been very successful in. Kerry said, "We work on quality of deer and not quantity."

Kerry has been awarded the plaque given by the Soil Conservation Service and the rotating trophy given by The First National Bank for his successful Wild Life Conservation program.

It was announced that the Fall Board Meeting of The Heart of Texas District will be held in Ozona on October 20 and members were urged to attend.

Refreshments were served to 17 members by the hostesses Bea McCormick and Ruth Harper.

Senior Companion Program To Include Schleicher County

The Senior Companion Program (SCP), sponsored by the Concho Valley Council of Governments, is expanding services to Eldorado and Schleicher County starting immediately.

Senior Companion volunteers work with older adults who are homebound and need assistance to maintain their independence. These volunteers are low income adults, age 60 or older, who work 20 hours per week. They receive a modest stipend and other benefits that allow them to participate in this community service project.

For a frail elderly person, a Senior Companion is often the difference between a life of independence and dignity or one of mere survival. For the companion, serving means activity, accomplishment and purpose. For both clients and companions SCP means enjoying the best life has to offer.

The local program is coming to your community through the efforts and support of the Schleicher County Commission. The Senior Companion program is funded by ACTION, the federal domestic volunteer agency, the Texas Department on Aging, the Concho Valley Area Agency on Aging and local contributions.

If you are interested in being a Senior Companion, or you know of someone that might benefit from the program, please contact Josie Knight at 853-3177 or Deborah Ellsworth, director of the Senior Companion Program at 944-9666.

Scouting Groups Secure New Meeting Place

Donations Needed

Three Eldorado Scouting Groups will begin meeting in a new facility thanks to the generosity of the Episcopal Diocese of West Texas. The idle St. Mary's Episcopal Church building at 207 Pelt Street has been cleaned up and maintenance work is being completed to get the once empty building back to a useful civic meeting place.

The three scouting groups, The Girl Scouts of America, The Boy Scouts of America, and The Cub Scouts, have been needing a place to meet and store facilities. The building and adjacent yard provide enough room to participate outside scouting activities.

The Eldorado Lions Club, sponsor of the three groups, is seeking donations from businessmen and private individuals for the establishment of a building expense fund. Money is needed to help pay utility and maintenance cost of the building. If you would be interested in making a needed donation, please contact any Lions Club member or Kym Nixon at 853-2176. Other items also needed to furnish the building are: fire extinguisher, tables and chairs, a large space heater, handtools, yard tools, a storage building and a lawn mower. These items may be loaned or donated.

According to Lions Club President Eddie Albin, "The Schleicher County residents have always been generous givers. I hope everyone will especially support these three groups. The groups have a very positive influence with kids in our community. Please help the building fund get off the ground so the scouting groups will be able to enjoy a nice meeting facility."

Two ways to reduce the cost of your prescription drugs

- I. If you are taking medicine over a long period of time, savings can be yours by buying in larger quantities. We can check with your doctor and work out the best quantity for you.
 - II. When a good quality generic drug is available, it will usually be less expensive than the brand-name product. We are adding to our generic drug inventory as they become available.
- Inflation is hurting us all. We constantly strive to hold down the cost of prescription drugs without sacrificing quality. Feel free to visit with us any time about your medicine.
