

On The DIVIDE

We hear some talk regarding the organization of a volunteer fire department in Eldorado. The fire-fighting unit will probably take shape in the near future. Negotiations for equipment is said to be underway by members of the city council.

One of the elderly Lions club baseball players slid into third base last week and skinned his shin on a mesquite stump that had been overlooked on the diamond. A local fan remarked to the player, who was propelling around on about three cylinders, that he was just too old to play kid games. "Heck," came the reply, "one of those kids would have broken a leg on that stob."

We hear frequent references to the much talked-of Hitler of Germany, but a remark by an Eldorado rancher last Friday morning, when snow was on the ground and a brisk north wind blowing, was one of the most expressive. "I wish that guy Hitler was a fresh-sheared goat 14 miles from shelter this morning," he remarked as he read the morning paper.

Shell Team Wins Over Lions In Soft Ball Game

The Shell Pipe Line Softball team won an interesting game over the Lions club team Sunday afternoon by a score of 17 to 18. In a repeat game Wednesday afternoon, the oil boys again took the Lions for a defeat with a score of 7 to 8.

A large number of fans attended both the games, and interest in the sport seems to be increasing since the recent organization of the Lions unit.

1530 Acres For Cotton Not Planted

A total of 1530 acres allotted for cotton production was not utilized in 1938 an audit in the county agent's office revealed this week. It was found that Schleicher County cotton acreage allotment was actually 10,422 acres. There were 8,892 acres planted to cotton, leaving 1530 acres that could have been planted, but was not used, the county agent stated.

The county committee in 1938 was not allowed to prorata this 1530 acres to other producers in the county. This year, if a producer will sign necessary forms he may turn back and part of his cotton acreage allotment and this may be prorated out proportionately to other producers within the county, the agent explained.

Information in the county agents office also revealed that 1620 bales of cotton was produced in Schleicher County in 1938. A total of 815,441 pounds of lint cotton was produced during 1938. This is minus bagging and ties. The average yield of the county for the year was 91.7 pounds of lint to the acre.

The ambulance which meets his ship at the dock in San Juan turns out to be manned by smugglers and Mr. Moto's illness a ruse. He and Hymer rout the kidnapers and uncover valuable clues. The picture is filled with thrills and excitement and promises to furnish much entertainment for those who attend.

Through the cooperation of the theatre management and the local Lions club, fifty percent of profits derived from the two nights receipts, will replenish the Boy Scout treasury.

Fit for the Suen—and made from Texas wool. Byron Wilson, secretary of the Wyoming Wool Growers, writes: "I saw the goods for the Suen's dress. She sent over a sample of the type of goods she wanted and the color. It is a pastel shade of blue—almost gray. They made the patterns they are sending her from a 2-ply yarn made from Texas 80's wool—believe it or not! Julius Forstmann was quite delighted with the fabrics made from this wool, as he did not believe we could get as fine a wool as that in this country."

G. W. Cunningham, secretary of the Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers' Association, in Washington to attempt to secure a 10 cent raise on the government mohair loan, has found on this trip to the capitol that much more information is available there on the Angora than on his previous trips. In preparing for his trip Mr. Cunningham collected records of mohair sales from five ware-

It has been a practice of the Lions club for several years past to offer prizes to students making the highest grades.

Cooking School Will Be Held April 17 - 18

The electric range again will be a feature of the annual cooking school sponsored by the West Texas Utilities Company, it was announced yesterday by J. M. Pennington, local manager, who said that Miss Jewell Taylor, Hotpoint home economist of Chicago, will be here to conduct the two day demonstration opening Tuesday, April 18.

The school, he said, will be held in the basement of the Methodist Church beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

"Miss Taylor," he said, "will bring many new ideas to homemakers here, demonstrating new methods developed by electric range manufacturers to save time and labor in the kitchen. The theme of the school will be coolness and cleanliness made possible by electric cookery."

Every woman "owes it to herself to get acquainted with the new model electric ranges" which set an all-time high for beauty, efficiency, and economy, it was pointed out. Electric cookery costs only one-half as much as the average person guesses before actually trying it out themselves.

"Electric cookery really is economical cooking," Miss Taylor declares. "Present low electric rates highly perfected new heating elements in modern electric

A Saturday night prevue, starting at 11:15, will be offered at the local theatre beginning next Saturday, it was announced this week by T. W. Barrow, manager.

"The Hound of the Baskervilles," one of literature's most shocking, spine-chilling mystery stories and the greatest of all Sherlock Holmes' adventures.

Tall, spare, hawklike Basil Rathbone, in the perfect-fitting role of the great detective, is co-featured with Richard Greene and Wendy Barrie in the 20th Century-Fox production which will be presented at the first Saturday night preview.

If interest in the show this week is sufficient to warrant a continuation, the Saturday night prevues will become a regular event, the manager stated.

Judgement requiring the city council to levy a tax on city property to pay -5,200 warrants held by W. D. Collins and Mrs. B. M. Radford of Abilene, was entered in 51st District Court Wednesday by Judge John F. Sutton.

The tax will be sufficient to retire the principal and interest, attorney fees, and court cost. Mr. Collins and Mrs. Radford each hold $2,600 warrants, issued by a former administration to enable the construction of 200 pit-type toilets in the city.

In the Collins' case the city won a jury's decision in trial court. The case was appealed and the court of Civil Appeals at Austin reversed the decision and rendered judgement for the plaintiff issuing a mandamus that the city assess a 45-cent tax. The hearing was sought to have that tax established.

Mrs. Radford's case was taken from a jury by Judge Sutton, March 20, and judgement rendered in accordance with that of the appellate court in the Collins' case.

said Mr. Roach, "even at the age of 84 he sat for hours at the piano." He also recalls how Mr. Kempsky traced the advances of the enemy in Hungary during the World War and wept when they reached and destroyed his family's estate. Mr. Roach quoted him as saying, "I love America for the peace and quiet one feels in her boundaries". He never returned to his native land even for a visit.

FARM COST RECORDS

Unusual difficulties in recent years have caused farmers to realize the necessity for better bookkeeping, as an aid to the determination of their production costs. This is particularly true among progressive livestock feeders, whose records if feed costs are kept more accurately than formerly

Stockmen are greatly aided in the adoption of scientific feeding systems through experimental work continually carried on by the Department of Agriculture and the state agricultural colleges. Bulletins giving the results of these experiments are widely distributed and are very valuable.

BASEBALL CENTENARY

This year baseball celebrates its 100 years of existence, for it was in the spring of 1839 that Abner Doubleday, a West Point cadet, laid out the first baseball diamond at his home town of Cooperstown, N. Y. and established new rules to supersede the old game of "town ball" in vogue before that time.

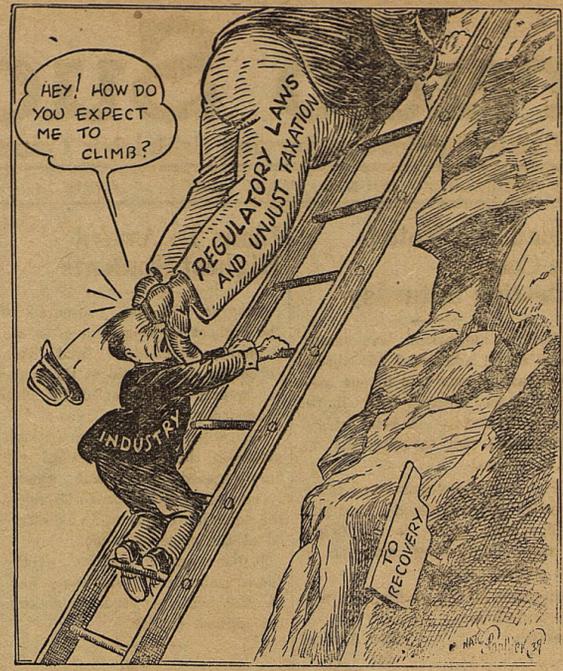

Among the changes made in the old game was that of limiting the number of players on a side to 11; making put-outs as at present, instead of "soaking" the player with the ball as he ran; and regulating the length of games. At first, the opposing teams agreed on how many runs must be made to win, and the club first reaching that number was the victor—no matter how many innings it took.

The game made headway slowly, and it was several years before grown men took much interest in it. Umpires were unknown until about 1858. Before that time the batters themselves called the balls and strikes, and it may be imagined that pitchers had a tough time. Some of the early umpires wore silk hats and frock coats on the field.

The catcher's mask dates from 1877, the first being made by a tinsmith for James Tyng of Harvard, and the light catcher's glove shortly followed. The first big mitt was used by Buck Ewing of the New York Giants in 1890. Basemen and fielders played with bare hands until about the same time, when light gloves were gradually introduced, followed in time by heavy mitts.

A 1939 model brand of the popular sport may be demonstrated when the local Lions club team swings into action on the new diamond north of the court house.

GET THOSE FEET OUT OF HIS FACE

Nobody's Business

By Julian C. Capers

AUSTIN.—Going into the home-stretch of the last month of the customary 120-day regular session, the Legislature this week prepared for a showdown in the immediate future on the question of raising money for social security. Unexpected reversal by the Senate of its previous action revived the sales tax constitution-amendment plan, which most observers had believed was finally dead. The issue now is clearly between a constitutional amendment and a tax bill; and also between a sales tax and some other form of levy. Pending bills and resolutions in both House and Senate make it possible for the solons to go either route. A comprehensive omnibus tax bill by a large group of House anti-sales taxers proposes levies on about 30 commodities, some of them sales-taxes in form, but not of a general sales tax nature. In the Senate, revival of the sales tax resolution, which was passed to engrossment with 21 votes, enough to insure its final passage, was regarded as a political precautionary move, which would leave the Senate with a chance to clear its political skirts in case the House produces no tax legis-

AVIATION MILESTONE

With the establishment of regular air service between the United States and Europe this summer a new and important milestone in the history of aviation will be reached. The first trans-Atlantic pioneering flight in one of the new planes to be used in this service began at Baltimore a few days ago.

The route lies by way of Horta, in the Azores; Lisbon, Portugal; Marseilles, France; Southampton, England, and Foynes, Ireland. Stops may also be made at Bermuda. The first and longest leg of the course, between Baltimore and the Azores, about 2,500 miles, was made on the maiden trip in 17 hours and 32 minutes.

For this service, the world's newest and largest type of flying boat will be used, the Boeing 314. These planes weigh 42 tons, have a hull 106 feet long, and can carry 74 passengers. On the initial test flight a crew of 21 was carried, but no passengers.

Pilots for the new service are all veterans, with years of experience in command of overseas transport planes, flying the Caribbean and the Pacific. Each has the rating of "master pilot of ocean flying boats," the highest certificate of ability which an aviator can attain.

In being the first to establish service, American further increases its lead in overseas flying.

lation. There was considerable doubt whether any constitutional amendment, or any sales tax levy, would ever get through the House, but both Houses have reversed themselves so unpredictably on the tax question that the shrewdest observers of legislative trends were extremely wary about committing themselves on predictions.

Gov. O'Daniel, apparently learning a lesson from the extremely bad reaction his "fighting" talk aroused in both houses two Sundays ago, didn't mention the legislature or the tax question in his Easter Sunday broadcast, but stuck to a "sweetness and light" program of hymns, poems and banjo harmony.

West Seems Sunk

Close observers here this week were speculating on who Gov. O'Daniel's next nominee for Highway Commission chairman might be, with Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, wife of the former Governor, of Houston, frequently mentioned. Insiders declared James M. West, the Houston multi-millionaire oilman, would fail of confirmation, if a vote is taken. Many believed he would withdraw, in the face of bitter opposition aroused by his wealth, his activity in behalf of Republican Candidate Alf Landon, and the enmity which has grown out of the battle on the Texas Tech Board of regents over election of a president for that institution. West is a member of the Tech board. Although West's name was favorably regarded at first, revelation of his political activity has aroused bitter resentment among many Senators, and his opponents claim sufficient votes to block confirmation.

Insurance Gyp Curbed

The Legislature this week armed the Department of Insurance with a weapon which it has sought for years, to end one of the most scandalous abuses in Texas, when it passed a bill tightening regulation of mutual assessment insurance companies, burial societies and similar insurance groups. The bill permits the Department to name a conservator and take charge of the affairs of such organizations when they fail to "pay off." Many honestly managed mutuals and burial clubs have given protection to a large number of Texans, but a few crooked operators have for years practiced the "racket" under which thousands of poor Texans, both negroes and whites, have been "milked" of thousands of dollars for worthless "life insurance". The bill underwent two days of bitter debate in the House, but finally went over 123 to 3.

Oil Proration Row Rages

Who wrote the proration order that drastically shut down production in West and South Texas, hiked East Texas allowable, and abolished Sunday shutdowns? This question was being asked in Austin this weekend, in the wake of the bitter row which broke after the order, signed by Railroad Commissioners Lon Smith and Jerry Saddle, brought hundreds of protesting oilmen, bankers and businessmen to Austin to protest. The order was not written in the capitol, but in a downtown hotel, and was brought to the Railroad Commission, signed and issued, without Commissioner Ernest Thompson, admittedly the best-posted man on proration in Texas, ever having seen or signed it. Later, Sadler and Smith, weakening under the terrific storm of protest, issued supplemental orders restoring about two thirds of the cuts in the original order, but they did not satisfy Oilman Jim Abercrombie of Houston, who obtained a temporary injunction from Houston Federal court, restraining enforcement of the order in certain South Texas fields. Abercrombie's lawyers contended there was not a scintilla of evidence in the record at the last proration hearing to support the order.

Lawyers Will Govern Selves

Climaxing a six year fight, the Legislature finally passed a self-governing bar bill, under which attorneys of Texas will govern themselves. The bill permits the Supreme Court to formulate rules of practice, charges of $4 annual fee to each attorney, provides a method for initiative of rule changes by 10 percent of the bar, and provides no lawyer may be disbarred without a court trial in his home county. The attorneys contend the law will raise the standards, and permit elimination of crooks and shysters. The bill has gone to Gov. O'Daniel for signature.

Senate Goes Silly

A new high in silly legislation was reached when the dignified

Senate, virtually without debate, passed a legal monstrosity sponsored by Franklin Spears, of San Antonio, permitting barbers to "get together" and fix the prices of haircuts and shaves, by a popular vote among the barbers. Amendments pegged the price of a haircut at 40 cents. Every lawyer in the Senate, except Spears, of the bill, but the barbers vote and talk to lots of voting customers, and they brought a strong lobby to Austin when the bill was in committee. The first court test is expected to knock the price-fixing haircut law for a loop on constitutional grounds.

Drive On Loan Sharks

A big boost for the pending bill to regulate loan sharks came when County Attorney Paul Holt, of Austin, joined by Attorney General Jerry Mann, obtained an injunction under the nuisance statute against 19 loan brokers, which practically tied them in a legal knot. Mann announced the drive would be taken into other large cities, where the loan brokers charging exorbitant interest rates, have been doing a thriving business. The pending law permits legitimate loan companies to charge service fees in excess of the present legal 10 percent interest rate, but prevents exorbitant charges on small loans.

Mr. and Mrs. Hal Knight and son, Hal Jr. of Sterling City and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bruton and daughter, Sue of Menard visited Mrs. C. T. Sproul last Sunday.

Drive safely. Save a life.

MEN LOVE GIRLS WITH PEP

If you are peppy and full of fun, men will invite you to dances and parties. BUT if you are cross, listless and tired, men won't be interested. Men don't like "quiet" girls. When they go to parties they want girls along who are full of pep.

So in case you need a good general system tonic, remember for 3 generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling thru" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps build up more physical resistance and thus aids in giving you more pep and lessens distress from female functional disorders.

You'll find Pinkham's Compound WELL WORTH TRYING!

Flameless Electric Cookery Is Praised By Women Here

"To me, one of the most important features of the electric range is its cleanliness," many Eldorado women say after trying out electric cookery. "A range always has a dominant part in the cleanliness of the kitchen in which it is used. I most appreciate the fact and cool."

The primary difference between electric cookery and other types is that there is no flame—no fire whatever—involved in operation if the electric range. There is no combustion at all—just clean, glowing heat. Where there is no combustion, there is no smoke or soot. This means cleaner walls and curtains, free from greasy sooty deposits so common with flame-type cooking devices.

"With electric cooking also, the bottom of pans are always just as bright and shiny as when new," says Miss Jewell Taylor, Hotpoint home economist of Chicago, who will conduct the two-day cooking school here for the West Texas Utilities Company. "Health and pleasure resulting from a clean kitchen should be considered as still other assets of electric cookery. With complete control of electric heat, foods are cooked in their own juices, thereby retaining health-giving elements and vitamins."

Users of the electric range particularly praise the speed of cookery obtained by the new models and the fact that it cooks a whole oven meal without attention, giving women many more hours of freedom from kitchen duties.

Laughing Around the World

With IRVIN S. COBB

And Now He Has Sin On His Soul

By IRVIN S. COBB

A FAMOUS clergyman of New York, was a stalwart Democrat and the possessor of a keen wit. He was priest of the most widely known Catholic churches in the downtown section. A reporter for the Tribune, then as now, a strait-laced mouthpiece of old-time Republicanism, decided to get a symposium of the views of prominent clergymen of various demonstrations on some burning question or other.

On his list appeared the names of preachers of many faiths and it was late in the afternoon when his assignment almost completed, he reached Father X.

An assistant priest, in his robes, was standing in the portico of the church, taking a breath of air.

"Father," said one reporter. "I'm very anxious to see Father X." "Walk right on in," said the assistant. "Father X. is in the confessional, but there's no one else there for the moment."

"But you see," he explained, "I'm not a communicant—I'm a newspaperman. I didn't come to confess; I came to ask him for his views on a certain matter for publication."

"No matter," said the clergyman. "Walk right on in—I'm sure he will be glad to hear what you have to say."

So, feeling decidedly embarrassed, he walked on in with some trepidation, to the confessional box.

He entered and coughed nervously. From the other side of the partition a voice spoke—a voice kindly and inviting:

"Well, my son, what have you to tell me?"

"Fa-a-ther X.," sputtered the nervous man. "I'm a reporter for the Tribune."

"Well," said Father X., "I absolve you of that. Go on with your other sins."

But the reporter had vanished. (American News Features, Inc.)

Mr. and Mrs. Glazener are visiting in Commanche this week and will return to Eldorado where they will make their home for the present.

Continued from page one ranges, completely insulated ovens that conserve heat, exact methods of heat measurement at the snap of a switch, and automatic thermostats which keep current down to a minimum all contribute to this low cost of operation."

Added to these mechanical perfections, electric cleanliness, perfect cooking results, and less shrinkage of foods resulting through use of electricity assure even greater economy she added.

Both days of the cooking school will be free. The delightfully prepared foods cooked by Miss Taylor during the demonstrations will be distributed among those attending. Both men and women are invited to attend.

Miss Taylor will be assisted by Miss Eudora Hawkins, home economist for the West Texas Utilities Company, who is know personally to the thousands of West Texas women already using electric ranges.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts
The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or chew poorly—your stomach often pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over. Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in no time and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion.

Final Notice —

According to a Texas Law, Prairie Dogs must be killed by property owners on whose place they appear.

Poison is available at the County Sheriff's office and farmers and ranchmen are asked to rid their premises of the animals immediately.

If this is not done in a reasonable length of time, the Sheriff has been authorized by the commissioners' court to poison the Prairie Dogs and charge the expense to the property owner.

ONE THING And THEN ANOTHER
By Fred Gipson

SAN ANGELO—I can still enjoy a fishing trip. But every once in awhile I get to wishing I could take just one more trip like I used to take when I was just a cotton-chopping kid.

Papa, was alive then, and he liked to fish, too. And during the summer we'd fight the grubs, and the catfish and trout will fight each other to get on your hook. But the thoughts of going up to that big nest black with fighting wasps, would just scare me sick.

Usually we'd find a big wasp nest hanging in a mesquite somewhere. And it would be full of grubs, the unhatched wasps. And Charlie would say we'd better get that wasp nest for fishbait. You can boil a nest like that and toughen the grubs, and the catfish and trout will fight each other to get on your hook. But the thoughts of going up to that big nest black with fighting wasps, would just scare me sick.

But Papa would drive up the road apiece, so the wasps wouldn't maybe sting the mules and make them run away. And we'd wait and watch Charlie ease up to that wasp nest and carefully pull it down. And the wasps would be swarming all around him, black and angry. And I'd be nearly choking, I'd be so scared. But they never would sting Charlie. I don't know why yet. Charlie was the only man I ever knew who could go right up and take down a wasp nest and not get stung.

Then we'd move along, and directly Charlie would drag his .22 rifle out of the bedroll and allow he ought to get a little fresh meat for dinner. And he'd step down off the wagon and slip off through the brush, and we wouldn't see him again for maybe a couple or three miles. And I'd always be afraid he'd get lost or maybe we'd go too fast and leave him. But he'd always show up in the road ahead of us after awhile, with four or five squirrels and maybe a couple of quail hanging to his belt.

And finally we'd roll down to the river and pitch camp in the shade of the big pecan trees. And Papa would unhitch the mules and tie them to the trees away from camp apiece and then holler for me to bring them their corn and fodder. And I'd drag out the sacks of corn and shuck a few ears for them and think how much better I liked to feed the mules here on the river, where there were no chickens that had to be minded away from their feed, like at home.

And it wouldn't be long until Charlie would have the squirrels and the quail fried over a campfire. And he'd lift the lid off a skillet that had a hot cake of brown cornbread inside. And we'd all fall to and eat like we'd never tasted such grub before.

Then, quick as our dinner settled, the men would rig up their poles with hooks and lines. And Papa would fix one for me and show me how to roll up the line on the pole, so I wouldn't always be hanging it in the brush on the way to the river. Then Charlie would dip his wasp nest in boiling water for a minute or two, and we'd be ready to snag the fish.

And we would snag them, dozens of them. And when one hit my line, lots of times I'd get so excited that I'd fall in the water, and Papa would have to fish me, pole, fish and line all out, if the fish were still hooked. And the men would all laugh and I'd be terribly ashamed for getting so excited. And then I'd forget it the moment my cork went under again.

And we'd fish and fish, and the wasp nest bait would finally play ing-wagon again and climb back on and me and Charlie would take turns shooting at lizzards and snakes and things we passed along the way.

Usually we'd find a big wasp nest hanging in a mesquite somewhere. And it would be full of grubs, the unhatched wasps. And Charlie would say we'd better get that wasp nest for fishbait. You can boil a nest like that and toughen the grubs, and the catfish and trout will fight each other to get on your hook. But the thoughts of going up to that big nest black with fighting wasps, would just scare me sick.

But Papa would drive up the road apiece, so the wasps wouldn't maybe sting the mules and make them run away. And we'd wait and watch Charlie ease up to that wasp nest and carefully pull it down. And the wasps would be swarming all around him, black and angry. And I'd be nearly choking, I'd be so scared. But they never would sting Charlie. I don't know why yet. Charlie was the only man I ever knew who could go right up and take down a wasp nest and not get stung.

Then we'd move along, and directly Charlie would drag his .22 rifle out of the bedroll and allow he ought to get a little fresh meat for dinner. And he'd step down off the wagon and slip off through the brush, and we wouldn't see him again for maybe a couple or three miles. And I'd always be afraid he'd get lost or maybe we'd go too fast and leave him. But he'd always show up in the road ahead of us after awhile, with four or five squirrels and maybe a couple of quail hanging to his belt.

And finally we'd roll down to the river and pitch camp in the shade of the big pecan trees. And Papa would unhitch the mules and tie them to the trees away from camp apiece and then holler for me to bring them their corn and fodder. And I'd drag out the sacks of corn and shuck a few ears for them and think how much better I liked to feed the mules here on the river, where there were no chickens that had to be minded away from their feed, like at home.

And it wouldn't be long until Charlie would have the squirrels and the quail fried over a campfire. And he'd lift the lid off a skillet that had a hot cake of brown cornbread inside. And we'd all fall to and eat like we'd never tasted such grub before.

Then, quick as our dinner settled, the men would rig up their poles with hooks and lines. And Papa would fix one for me and show me how to roll up the line on the pole, so I wouldn't always be hanging it in the brush on the way to the river. Then Charlie would dip his wasp nest in boiling water for a minute or two, and we'd be ready to snag the fish.

And we would snag them, dozens of them. And when one hit my line, lots of times I'd get so excited that I'd fall in the water, and Papa would have to fish me, pole, fish and line all out, if the fish were still hooked. And the men would all laugh and I'd be terribly ashamed for getting so excited. And then I'd forget it the moment my cork went under again.

And we'd fish and fish, and the wasp nest bait would finally play monstrator, marked up a 100 per cent lamb crop, according to R. E. Homann, county agent. It was remarked further that he had to knock a couple of lambs in the head to make his crop 100 per cent. 47 lambs from the 45 ewes used in the demonstration.

Clay Holland of Junction had had better luck than 90 per cent of the Angora men with his goat shearing. His kids sheared one pound over three pounds around and his does averaged 4.36 pounds

There aren't too many goats over the Hill Country for sale. Jim Carpenter of Junction says. A few mutton goats are selling at $2.25 and $2, but the supply is the lightest in some time. Carpenter recently purchased a few grown nannies, registered stock, from Jack Turner at $12.50 a round.

Gus Hartgrove of San Angelo sold a string of 2,500 mutton lambs in the wool to Al Dumsin. The lambs were delivered the last of the week and brought 8 cents a pound.

It is street talk around that the Mexican government will call a halt to allowing breeding cattle to be taken out of the country after the 15th of the month. Calves, steers, and heifers under two's can be brought out, it was said, but no cows older than two's.

Juniors Enjoy Egg Hunt

An egg hunt and weiner roast entertained members of the Junior department of the First Baptist church Wednesday afternoon on the ranch of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Finnigan.

Following the egg hunt a weiner roast was enjoyed around a campfire. Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Whitten were in charge of the hunt and games. 35 were present for the occasion.

out. And we'd seine for minnows, then. I liked to seine for minnows. We always caught so many other queer creatures, like perch, and little green snakes, and turtles and helgramites and gars. Then, too, I could fall down and get wet and splash around and Mama wasn't there to raise a row about my messing up my clothes. And finally night would come on and we'd all go in and sit around the campfire and fry and eat fish and the men would tell some more tall tales. And the river smell would be in the air. And the big frogs would be croaking and the little frogs piping and the locust whirring in the pecans and the sound of the water gurgling and singing over the rocks would grow louder.

And pretty quick I'd be so full and sleepy that I couldn't keep my attention on the yarns the men were telling, so Papa would spread out the bed roll and I'd pile in and drop right off to sleep, never noticing the rocks and sticks that made lumps in my bed.

I'd like to take a fishing trip like that again.

Teacher Association Opposes Bill That Would Take Land

The executive committee of the Schleicher-Sutton local unit of the Texas State Teachers Association today went on record as opposing House Bill No. 9, now, pending before the state legislature in Austin, and asked that a substitute bill be considered, according to announcement by Dave Williamson, president.

The resolution adopted by the association set forth that the pending bill would mean serious loss to the school children of Texas in revenues from unsurveyed land belonging to the permanent school fund.

The local association asked that 'serious consideration' be given a substitute measure prepared by Homer C. WeWolfe, member of the State Board of Education, working in collaboration with the Texas State Teachers Association and others interested in the cause of education.

The DeWolfe proposal, the resolution stated, would put a stop to 'vacancy racketeering' and protect the permanent school fund. House Bill No. 9 was described in the resolution as 'designed to take some 1,500,000 acres of land belonging to the permanent school fund of Texas and to place a vast proportion of the oil and as revenues derived from it in the cogs of the oil companies operating within our bounds.'

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wade and son, Jackie, and Mrs. O. B. Bradshaw spent last week end in Brady.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hughes and daughter Mona, and Mrs. Fern Aldridge and sons, Rubel and Glendon went to Grape Creek Sunday to attend the funeral of Mrs. H. C. Aldridge who was the mother-in-law of Mrs. Fern Aldridge.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

METHODIST CHURCH

"Then Jesus Came."—Jon. 20: His first words after the resurrection was, "Peace be unto you." He comes not to increase the storm, but quell it; not to complicate the problems of life but to solve them, not to alarm but to allay our fears. It is impossible to avoid Christ, the doors were shut still He came, men and nations have closed the doors to Christ and His teachings; yet they must meet Christ and do something with Him. To the overwhelmed hearts in the upper room, and to us He comes to help us in our problems of life. There are depths in the ocean which no tempest ever stirs and there are heights in the blue sky to which no cloud ever ascends, where all is perpetual sunshine and nothing disturbs the deep serene. Even so it is with the blessed Christ nothing can disturb the "Peace be unto you."

New Cases And Books Added To Library

Additional shelves with sufficient space for more than 400 books have been constructed in the local library.

Twelve additional books have been ordered, according to Mrs. Bailey Montgomery, member of the library committee. Six of the new books are for Junior ages and the others are best publications in fiction.

Miss Tom Smith, librarian, states that she plans to move all children's books and magazines to the new shelves.

This is the second time within the past year that it has been necessary to increase the shelving space due to the rapid growth of the library.

The commissioners court is paying for the cases, which were built by Wade King according to specifications drawn by the committee of three including Mrs. W. N. Ramsey, Mrs. J. B. Montgomery and Mrs. L. L. Stuart.

School Receives High Rating

The following letter was received by the school, and it shows that our school has retained its high rating in the Southern Association for this year:

April 4, 1939

Dear Sir:

I am very pleased to notify you that at the annual session of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools held in Memphis from the 27th through the 29th of March, your high school was elected to membership in that body for the current year.

The action of the Membership Committee with regard to your school is significant in that not a single criticism was voiced against your high school. May I not indulge the hope that you will continue to improve the status of your high school from year to year and thus justify a continuous membership in the Southern Association.

Yours very truly

Junior College Students Present Program Here

Twelve San Angelo Junior College students, representing the Dramatics and Musical Departments, presented an assembly program April 3rd during the activity period in the High School Auditorium.

"No Room for Understanding," a one-act tragedy written by Miss Clarice Rein, a student in the college, was presented first. Genevieve Ferguson portrayed the role of the mother. Bert White played the part of the son. The role of the spinster sister was played by Evelyn Williams. Muriell Brown portrayed the part of the girl. The characters in this play were splendid.

The quartet, composed of Ray Lee Moos, Frances Slaton, John Covington, and Rozelle King, sang two numbers which were "All Ashore" and "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise."

The last number was another one-act play, which was a comedy. Miss Clarice Rein played the part of Sallie Lou Smith, a bird and flapper in the lay. The role of Annabelle Withers, who thought she had already begun to wither, was played by Emily Dell Beard. Hamlin Elrod played the role of Charley.

Both of these plays were splendid and the entire program was exceptionally good. A program of this type is very educational as well as entertaining. We hope they will visit us again soon.

Edith and Morris Bricker are visiting relatives in Ozona.
