Hear and Their

by SHERRY LUX

With the hint of spring in the air, activities are buzzing all around town. The men of the Methodist Church were trimming trees as were the school employees. Everyone is anxious to get their gardens planted hoping they can outguess Jack Frost's last stand in April. I plant my garden every year to have a place I can go all by myself and not have to worry about anyone helping me. My frustrations of the day are taken out on the weeds that grow among my plants.

School Activities are hopping with tennis, golf and track. The weekend of February 23rd the Hardy girls, Katie and Lindy, teamed up to win the Div. B. San Angelo Tennis Tourney. Division C runner-ups were Roxanne Martinez and Lee Ann Lamb.

Going to the Junction track meet is tradition to my family. Since I have two sisters there, we make it a reunion time, too. You never can predict what the weather will be like. Two years ago we met the bus coming back in a snow storm. Last year was beautiful. This year you did not have to worry about getting a sunburn because the 50 mile per hour winds gave you windburn. It was all the hurdle setters could do to keep the hurdles in place for the races. The sprinters hitting the last turn coming into the home stretch seemed to stop in mid air for an extended second as the blast of air hit them dead center.

With Spring Break going on, the Eagle track teams were short in number. Our sprint relay teams for JV & varsity boys had a run of bad luck in the finals with hand offs and were disqualified. It is an omen of some sort how this has happened in the past and the same team has ended up at the State HS Boys Track meet. So we look forward to seeing these boys in Austin.

Results of the Junction Track Meet were: Lacy Finley-1st in the discus and 6th in the shot put. Angie McGregor was 6th in the 800 run. Hector Chapa was second in the Varsity boys 800 run. Bobbye Roubison qualified for the 110 hurdles and the 300 hurdles placing 6th in each event.

Jason Whitten for the Eagle JV was 3rd in the high jump, 3rd in 110 hurdles, 3rd in 300 hurdles and 6th in the long jump. Trent Manning was 6th in the 100 meter dash for JV boys and qualified for the 200. Joaquin Covarrubiaz was 2nd in the high jump. Rudy Saldivar won 1st in the JV shot put. Reyes Lozano was 4th in the triple jump. Heli Sanchez, Felix Ochoa and Daniel Sanchez ran the 1600 meter run. Ochoa was second, Sanchez 10th and Hernandez 12th.

Hector Chapa was 9th in varsity 1600 meter run. Clifton Brown was outstanding Eagle for the day with 1st in the 100 meter in 11.3 seconds. He came back to win the 200 meter dash with a time of 23.6.

The JV 1600 relay composed of Jason Whitten, Reyes Lozano, Hunter Preston and Michael Gamez finished off the day for the Eagles with a 3rd place.

Don't miss the Plateau Relays this weekend in Eldorado. Jr. High starts at 3:30 p.m. Friday. High School track starts Saturday morning at 9:00 a.m.

High School Rodeo begins the spring session March 16th at Crane. Good luck to these young cowboys and cowgirls.

The Young Riders of Schleicher County 4-H will be part of the parade in San Angelo on Friday, March 8th. The parade will be featured on Channel 8 (KLST). If you can't be in San Angelo, catch the re-broadcast on Saturday morning.

"Hear & Their" is an article about what is going on in Eldorado or with Eldoradoans. Let me hear from your service organizations, school or church activities, relate stories of long lost buddies you've recently heard from, how you did in 42, 84, or dominoes, golf or bragging, fishing and etc... Call or come by the office at 115 SW Main, 853-3068.

D.J.s For a Day

by Andrew Sauer

and Collier Shurley

The 4th Grade classes of Eldorado Elementary School traveled to San Angelo on Friday, February 15th to the KIXY Complex. Becky Moore, Debbie Griffin, and Melissa O'Harrow's classes were led on a tour of the radio station by Don Robertson.

Misty Harris, Angela Ballew, Jennifer Nixon, Andrew Sauer, Veronica Sanchez, Brandon Leggett, Katie Graham, Levona Lloyd, Tony Sandate and Hector Patino were interviewed on the air by Don Robertson about their local radio station, KEEE.

The 4th grade class runs a radio station at Eldorado Elementary School called KEEE. The show airs every morning at 8:05 and lasts between 5 and 10 minutes long. The show consists of world news, local sports, a thought for the day, and birthdays of elementary students. Songs are played before and after each broadcast. During the last few months, they have also included a moment of silence for the men in the military.

The 4th graders take turns being the D.J.'s for KEEE. Three people run the station at a time. Two people rotate every week, and one person stays to teach the two new people. The days they change are on Wednesdays.

Mr. Robertson came to Eldorado on Wednesday, February 13th, to speak to the 4th grade classes. He talked about KIXY and listened to a broadcast of KEEE.

Sponsors for the trip were: Becky Moore, Debbie Griffin, Melissa O'Harrow, Mrs.

Gutierrez, Mr. Rojas, Mr. Steele, Mrs. Parker, and Mrs. Iglesias. Mrs. Gutierrez was also interviewed on KIXY by Don Robertson about her son Kenny, who is in Saudi Arabia.

Life Among The Fishes

by Thomas Giovannitti

There are some very bad jobs in the world, but I think I have heard of the worst. In Iraq there are supposed to be thirteen people who are Saddam Hussein "look alikes."

It was probably a pretty dangerous job before the gulf war, but now it is probably even more scary. Imagine getting up each morning, looking in the mirror, and realizing that you look exactly like one of the most hated and feared dictators in the world.

The temptation to shave off your mustache must be almost irresistible. On top of that you have to wear that military uniform everywhere so it is even more obvious that you are a target.

I am not so sure, since they have never explained how these guys got the job. Were they drop outs from an Iraqi acting school? Are they the ones who pose for all those posters found all over Iraq, or is that the real Saddam Hussein? Is there a real Saddam or did the Iraqi leadership just make him up? Maybe they just kill one of the "look alikes" and declare they overthrew his regime and we're none the wiser.

It might be easy to find the real Hussein, though. All we have to do is beat him up, take everything he owns, ruin his home and destroy his family; then, if he declares himself the winner, we know we have the real Hussein.

Nicolas wondered why they even have people designated as Saddam "look alikes" since every male Iraqi seems to look like him.

Gary Smith's

Laugh and Live

True story...

Went to see a psychiatrist. "The Conference" says that United Methodist Ministers have to pass a sanity test before they can be full-fledged preacher types. This Mental Man of Medicine starts showing me a bunch of ink-blot and asks me what I see in each picture.

It had been a long ride to San Antonio, and I thought a little fun was in order. Each time he showed me a picture, I found a naked lady. He showed me ink-blot #1 and I showed him the naked lady. He showed me ink-blot #2 and I showed him another naked lady. All the way through the ink-blot, I found naked ladies.

When he finished, he looked up at me without a smile and said, "Mr. Smith, I think you have a sexual fixation."

I looked back at him and said, "ME? YOU'RE THE ONE WITH ALL THE DIRTY PICTURES."

Sometimes I wonder if life is not like one big ink-blot. With so many different shapes and colors, we can see whatever our minds will allow.

Sometimes we see the reds. Sometimes we see the yellows. Sometimes we see beauty. Sometimes we are engulfed by the hideous.

This morning, I was talking with a friend about how easy it is to hate. We can easily see the wicked ways of others. With barely any effort at all, we can detect their weaknesses and like the God-fearin' people we are, we can point those weaknesses out to God, to ourselves, and to others. We can see the dirty pictures in the ink-blot of each other's minds and we know that if only we were given the chance we could straighten out the nastiness of the world.

Today, I have a dream. I wonder what it would be like if for once, just once, you could look at your ink-blot and I could look at mine, and for once we could say, "No matter what you see in the pictures of your life, I will not judge."

"Till The Next Time... MAY GOD BLESS!"

County Agents Report

TEXAS AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION SERVICE

by Jerry Swift County Extension Agent - Schleicher County

A prince of a peach is about to stake out its territory across mid-Texas.

TexRoyal, the earliest ripening medium-chill freestone peach in the state, has been released by Texas A&M University for propagation by private nurseries. The first commercial trees should be ready for planting in 1992.

The new peach variety packs its firm flesh into vivid red skin hence the name.

"It just looks like royal red," said fruit breeder Dr. David Byrne, a horticulturist at Texas A&M University.

But most appealing to potential growers is TexRoyal's consistent production, Byrne added. Regardless of the fluctuation of temperatures during six years of experimental growth, TexRoyal has yielded full crops, even in years when other popular varieties failed to produce.

Roller coaster yields of Texas peaches are no thrill for producers. In recent years, the crop has taken a jittery ride from cash receipts of $1.8 million in 1987 to $7.1 million in 1990, with lots of bumps in between, according to the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service.

Nationwide, Texas peaches in the past three years have clung to a spot in the top 10 in production and value among 32 states with commercial trees, the statistics service figures indicated.

But one freeze at the wrong time can determine whether bushels are harvested and checks written. "If producers had a variety that could withstand some of the losses associated with the freezes, that would reduce the fluctuation," said Dr. Charles Hall, Texas Agricultural Extension Service horticulture economist.

The threat of freeze may frighten growers, but peaches do need a bit of winter chill to encourage growth, the horticulturist said. "A peach tree needs cold winter weather to start growing again each year," Byrne said. "A peach tree for this area will not grow in the Rio Grande Valley, because it doesn't get enough chill hours. The first thing to go is fruit quality, then the production and eventually the tree dies."

TexRoyal fits into the growing conditions typical in the midsection of the state, a crescent whose northern edge is defined roughly by a line from Nacogdoches to Waco to Langtry, where the Rio Grande bends south. The peaches won't grow well in South Texas, at a latitude below that of Victoria.

Such a middle area needs a medium-chill variety or one that requires about 600 hours of temperatures between 32-45 F. Byrne said the number of chill hours affects the shape of peaches.

"In this area, we may get from 550 to 1,200 hours of chilling a year in the medium range, and a variety will react differently depending on the year," Byrne explained.

Most peach varieties will elongate, or become torpedo shaped, if they do not have a sufficient number of chill hours, Byrne added. Elongated peaches are lower quality, because the tip tends to soften. But the TexRoyal peaches maintained an acceptable round shape through years varying from 550 to 950 chill hours.

Some 20,000 buds from two 10-year-old trees in College Station will be available in May for nurseries, Byrne said. Additional trees have been planted to supply budwood.

Byrne estimated that with some commercial trees planted by 1992, TexRoyal peaches should begin showing up on the market within three years.

Care Packages

Even though the outlook of the war is good, we still intend to send our care packages until each of our young men in Saudi Arabia return home. Donations of money and items are as important as ever to make this operation a success.

Casa Arispe, The Eldorado Success, and Cathy's are accepting donations of items, and money for these care packages. Here is a list of items that we suggest you might donate: Pictures, Letters, Hard Candy - not chocolate (nothing that melts), Hand Lotion, Sun Screen, Hand Soap, Toilet Tissue, Razors, Lip Balm, Q-Tips, Pens, Papers, Envelopes, Playing Cards, Magazines, Books, Athletic Foot Powder, Chap Stick, Tube Socks, Sugarless Gum, Chewing Gum, Breath Freshener, Roloids, Tea Bags, Pre-sweetened Kool-Aid, Vienna Sausages, Cheese Crackers, Louisiana Red Hot Sauce, Dried Jerky Sticks, Can Dip Chips (in a can), Canned Tuna, Canned Meats (All Canned Foods), Small Packages of Cereal, etc.

All Easter items need to be turned this week in order for them to reach Saudi Arabia before Easter.

Wallets have been purchased for each of the men. We are asking everyone to bring in snapshots or fun items to fill them with. ($2.00 bills would be a neat and unusual item for them to receive.)

A total of $134.07 has been spent on postage so far. The cost of postage runs between $5.60 and $10.00 per box, depending on the weight. The postage is paid for strictly by donations. The donation of money is vital for this operation to continue. All extra money that is not needed for postage will be used to purchase items to finish filling each box, and to purchase items for future boxes.

Donations of sturdy shoe boxes to ship the items in would also be appreciated.

The ribbons are still available for anyone wanting them.

Woolen Mills Celebrate 50 Years Of Business

by Mary Barton Robinson

Eldorado is fortunate to have a local business that is unique in the state of Texas and that has a world-wide market and a world-wide reputation for excellence.

Eldorado Woolen Mills, Inc. has a long history of service. Founded in 1941 by the J.B. Christian family, the mill was purchased in July of 1968 by the J.P. Barkers. Mr. Barker had been associated with woolen mills in Wisconsin and several northeastern states before coming to Texas as an employee of Rockriver Woolen Mills in Brownwood.

Being the only complete woolen mill now in operation in Texas, the Eldorado establishment can do every process necessary to turn raw wool into finished fabric. Scoured wool is received in compressed bales and must first be pulled apart by a "picker" before it is sent be carded and then spun into yarn. This yarn, sometimes straight and sometimes twisted for extra strength, is wound onto spools and woven into fabric on one of seven looms.

These looms and all the other machinery in use today are the original equipment installed by Mr. Christian. Mr. James F. Barker, president and owner, points out that the carding machine was made in Germany over one-hundred years ago.

The dyeing is done either to the yarn itself or to the woven cloth. Mr. Barker states that he has the formulas for two hundred colors and can make any other color that should be desired.

Once the cloth is dyed and has the excess liquid removed by an extractor, it is placed on a drying machine to complete the process.

At the present time, the mill's primary products are blankets and upholstery material suitable for the covering of airplane seats and motel and restaurant furniture. Fabric from the Eldorado mill has passed every test necessary for these uses, meeting airline codes and fire codes, including Boston's, one of the most stringent in this country.

Distributed in part through International Fabrics of North Carolina, material from the mill has been shipped to every major city in the United States. Saudi Arabia, Finland, and Paris are among its many foreign destinations. Some of the better known customers are ex-governors John Connally and Dolph Briscoe.

Locally, there is a retail outlet in the mill where blankets may be purchased. Also available are colorful car robes in original, individual designs. The mill and retail outlet are open Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. and from 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. Tours of this interesting and unique facility are available for individuals and small groups by appointment.

The Chamber Pride Committee commends Eldorado Woolen Mills, Inc. as an asset to the community and a source of pride.

Editor's Note: Rene Calcote spent a lot of time gathering information on the history of the Eldorado Woolen Mills. The following information was taken from newspapers and other resources. by Rene Calcote

"Hometown Boy to Build an Enterprise that might become of unintelligible importance to Schleicher County and West Texas. A mill to turn raw wool and mohair into a finished, fine product.

Joe M. Christian, son of J.B. Christian, long-time rancher and banker of the County, will be in charge of all operations. J.M. is a graduate of Textile Engineering Division of Texas Technological College at Lubbock. He also worked several years in eastern mills to gather experience.

January 5, 1940, ground was broken for the construction of a building to house West Texas' first woolen mill. Located on Main Street in Eldorado, the structure will be of native stone and concrete construction. Stone used in the building is being quarried on the Will Whitten ranch and the J.B. Christian ranch. John Griffin was named foreman of construction. Brick will be used around corners, windows and doors.

Planned floor space is 5,800 square foot, filled with the latest modern equipment for woolen manufacturing of 324 spindles. The plant will be able to do dyeing, carding, spinning, weaving, pre-shrinking and finishing, and manufacture materials.

The plant will produce the highest type virgin wool blankets, car robes, bed spreads, dress flannels, sport suiting, comforts, rugs, neckties, scarfs, drapes, overcoat batting, yarns, and woolen supplies for hand weaving.

February 27, 1941 - "Grand Opening! Estimated 5,000 people came to this small West Texas town to greet the opening of a new industry - The Eldorado Woolen Mills. Governor W. Lee O'Daniel made the formal dedication. The first 58 blankets were auctioned to pay the expense of the day's festivities, which included a long parade, 4-H Club & F.F.A. Stock Show, and a free barbecue. Old-timers were honored and introduced by Senator H.L. Winfield, master of ceremonies.

March 30, 1950 - "Eldorado Mill turns wool from 32 states to finished product, and sold through out the U.S. During W.W. II the mill made about 25,000 blankets for the army.

February 1965 - The woolen mills processes some 250,000 pounds of raw wool annually.

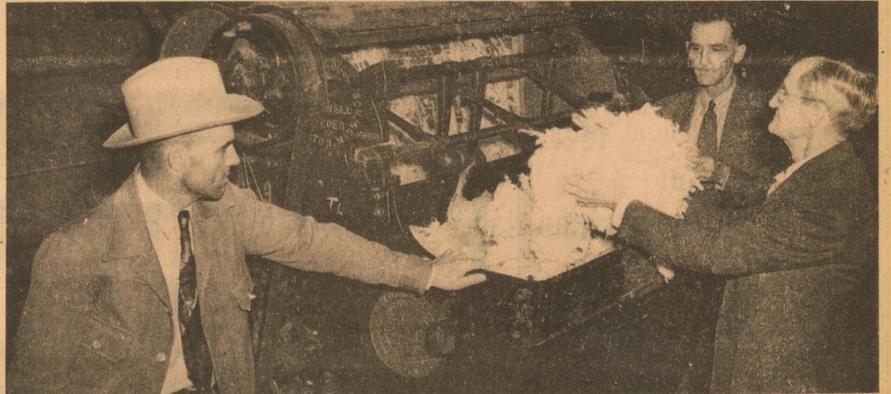

In addition to blankets, the firm takes orders for throw rugs, area rugs, and sheep pelts in numerous decorative colors.

A new office is being built, along with a showroom and even larger manufacturing space.

Joe M. Christian estimates his firm ships out 10,000 wool-mohair blankets a year to his customers in Europe, and all 50 states.

It's an old firm with a new idea for uplifting the rural economy and its own."

TAAS Reading Scores

TAAS Writing Scores

TAAS Math Scores

SCISD TAAS Results

Schleicher County ISD students scored above the state average in almost all areas on the Texas Assessment of Academic Skills (TAAS) test. This test took the place of the Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills (TEAMS) test.

The TAAS test differs from the former TEAMS test in its level of difficulty. TEAMS tested minimum reading, writing, and math skills; however, TAAS tests students on higher level thinking skills and problem solving. Another change in the state-wide testing process is that the TEAMS test was administered in February at all grade levels except for 11th where the test was given in October. The TAAS test, on the other hand, is administered in October for all grade levels. The rationale behind that change is that by giving the test earlier, districts receive results in time to spend the second semester in remediating students who did not master portions of the test.

Each campus, as a part of their campus improvement plan, has analyzed their test scores and set into motion plans for meeting any points of weakness revealed by test scores.

Historical Society Meets

by Ola Ruth Barbee

The Historical Society met the 4th of March for monthly meeting. President Rene Calcote opened the meeting with the Pledge to the flag.

Rene read a letter from Tom Enochs expressing appreciation for being invited to the speak about the American Flag at the February meeting. He thanked the Society for the generous donation for the two flags.

Rene met with the Commissioners Court and everything has been approved. On Wednesday, March 27, we will have refreshments and a Representative of the Historical Commission at 1:00 p.m.

Those attending the meeting were: Mary McGinnes, Bell Neff, Ethel Etheredge, Ola Mae McDonald, Willie Blanch Johnson, Jean Meador Brazell, Rene Calcote, Ola Ruth Barbee, Isabella McCutcheon, and Mrs. Williams, Isabella's sister.

PTA Meeting Changed

The regular PTA meeting, scheduled for 6:30 p.m. on March 14th, conflicts with Open House at the Eldorado Schools. The PTA meeting will be delayed one week to March 21st, Thursday, at 6:30 p.m. in the multi-purpose room.

All members please attend. We will be electing new officers and voting on a bylaws amendment.

Is your home wiring safe?

Home wiring and the electricity it carries are often taken for granted — a potentially costly and dangerous way of thinking.

Wiring in your home can wear out so requires maintenance and regular inspection. And your wiring should be reviewed anytime you add a new electrical load to assure that it is still adequate. This checklist can help you stop trouble before it starts.

- Check electrical cords for frays and nicks and have them repaired promptly, if needed.
- Make sure plugs and prongs aren't loose or worn.
- Don't place cords where they can be tripped over or receive excessive wear (like under rugs).
- Never use an electric tool or appliance if your hands or feet are wet or when standing in water or on damp ground.
- Know the location of your fuse box or circuit breaker panel.
- Equip your home with an approved fire extinguisher for electrical fires and check it periodically.
- Never attempt to make home wiring improvements yourself — always hire a qualified professional electrician.

- Insert plastic safety caps in low wall outlets when not in use to protect small children.
- Teach children the rules of in-home electric safety.
- Look for the Underwriters' Laboratory label on every appliance before you buy.
- Don't risk overloading wall outlets with adapters.
- Turn off and have repaired any appliance that sputters, stalls, or gives the slightest shock.

Eldorado A.F.S. Update

We all speak with a deep sense of pride when we discuss the missions of Goodfellow TTC. The "Center of Excellence" is unsurpassed in accomplishing the mission of supporting Air Force, Department of Defense and national intelligence objectives. An additional mission of the Goodfellow TTC is to support a unit of Air Force Space Command--Eldorado AFS. Eldorado AFS is home of the 8th Missile Warning Squadron which is a key part of the Space Command global missile warning and space surveillance network. This network and the supporting command, Air Force Space Command, have undergone significant changes during the last 12 months. For this week's "CC Corner", I would like to share some of these changes with you that we of the Goodfellow AFB community are inherently a part of...

Space Command is the fastest growing command in the USAF. On January 15th, Vandenberg AFB became a Space Command base. On Oct 1, 1990, AFSPACECOM took over the Eastern and Western Space and Missile Centers, along with Patrick AFB and Cape Canaveral AFS. The command has doubled in one year to over 30,000. Patrick AFB has traditionally been one of the top three preferred AF assignments. We at Eldorado have already updated our base assignment preference sheets.

Space Command is playing a vital role supporting the deployment of troops in Operation Desert Storm.

Weather, navigation and communications support from space is an essential part of the mission planning and execution. Defense Meteorological Satellite Program (DMSP) satellites provide weather information pertaining to winds and sandstorms in near time to the theater commander. Forces are taking advantage of navigational guidance provided by the Navstar Global Positioning System (GPS). The use of this system as a navigational aid is very important due to the lack of predominant terrain features for reference in the desert. GPS is also being used by naval forces to enhance their operations. A recent minesweeping operation was simplified by the use of GPS. Minesweeping skippers knew the exact position of their ships which enabled them to rapidly and reliably sweep the gulf with no misses or overlaps. Additional AFSPACECOM systems have been adjusted to provide missile warning in the Middle East. Eldorado is not able to view this area, but other elements of the worldwide missile warning network are being utilized.

Eldorado's contribution to Operation Desert Storm consists of accurate assessment, tracking, and positioning data for all low and middle orbit satellites. After correlation from all Space Command sensor systems is complete, the satellite's present position in space is known and compared to previous observations. This "catalog" of information for each satellite, including those of the DMSP and GPS systems, is updated daily and used to ensure that the data transmitted to our field force is accurate.

Eldorado AFS personnel are very proud of their accomplishments during 1990. The AFSPACECOM IG rating was the highest by any Space Command unit in over two years. The unit is the 1st Space Wing's leading contender for the command facility excellence and outstanding unit award soon to be announced. The AFSPACECOM Commander-in-Chief Installation Excellence Award (special recognition category) went to Eldorado AFS.

The men and women of Eldorado AFS are very proud to be a part of Goodfellow AFB. In addition, we are very fortunate to be supported by two fine communities--Eldorado and San Angelo. We are committed to continuing to work together in support of the "Center of Excellence."

ASU College Days

Angelo State University will host two "College Days" for high school seniors during the 1991 Spring Semester on Saturdays, March 9 and April 6.

Prospective students and their parents are invited to the programs, which includes presentations on academic offerings, student activities and organizations, scholarship offerings and financial aid packages.

Registration for the College Day program begins at 9 a.m. in the Houston Harte University Center.

The program begins at 10 a.m. and runs through 3 p.m.

Registration fee for the program is $5 per person and covers the cost of the program and lunch in the University Food Service Center.

A multimedia program on Angelo State, campus tours, and visits with academic departmental personnel are also scheduled.

Faculty members, administrators student organization leaders and representatives of the admissions, housing, financial aid and the Carr Academic Scholarship offices will be available.

The University bookstore, snack bar, and "Super Slab" recreation facility will remain open all day during the program.

Know Someone Who Depends on Electricity For Life-Support?

Let WTU Know Who.

Electricity means more than convenience to some people—it means life itself. Their lives are maintained by special, electric-powered equipment, such as breathing and kidney machines.

West Texas Utilities wants to make sure we have a complete list of people who depend on electricity for life-support. In case of an outage or natural disaster, every effort will be made to restore their electrical power first and as quickly as possible.

If you or someone you know depends on electricity for life-support, please fill out the form below and mail it in or just call your local WTU office and give a name, address and telephone number.

Glidden Foods is making donations to the Eldorado P.T.A. and the Eldorado Woman's Club.

For every item of Parade and Better Valu foods that is bought at Glidden's between February 28 and March 30, three cents will be donated to one of these clubs.

Those who shop at Glidden's will be able to determine which of the two organizations will get the donations from the food that they buy.
