How Important Is Your Water To You?

by Cindy Cawley

The residents of Schleicher County are blessed with a bountiful supply of underground water. Water is something that most of us take for granted. It's one of the first natural resources that we reach for in the morning and continually throughout the day.

The success of Schleicher County, legendary or factual, has historically been attributed to oil, agriculture and other activities dependent upon the abundance and variety of natural resources found underground. Schleicher County is unique in that the whole county and small outlying areas of the surrounding counties have sole use of the Edwards Plateau aquifer. Water is a dynamic resource that is in constant motion as it travels from stage to stage in the hydrologic cycle. The water supply at any particular place depends on several factors, including rates of precipitation, evaporation, streamflow, and absorption into the ground. More than half of Texas is underlain by seven major and sixteen minor aquifers which are underground geological formations that contain water. These aquifers contain about 1.4 billion gallons of water or 430 million acre feet (maf). Aquifers supply about 61% of the total water used in the state. About 11 maf are withdrawn annually while only 5.3 maf are recharged. Agriculture and municipalities are the two major users of groundwater. This dilemma makes management of groundwater quality and quantity one of the state's biggest water problems.

Water development in Texas has many facets to which to draw our attention. Five federal departments and numerous agencies are directly involved in water development and protection. At the state level there are agencies involved in water planning, development, quality protection and allocation. The Texas Water Development Board is the water planning and development arm of Texas government. The Texas Water Commission is responsible for protecting the quality and quantity of Texas' water resources.

The Texas Department of Health enforces federal standards for drinking water and monitors quality of water distributed by public systems. The Railroad Commission of Texas enforces regulations to protect ground and surface water from wastes generated by oil and gas production.

Many other agencies are involved in the scheme of controlling our waters. However, the waters of Texas are so diverse that the most effective control is at the local level. Underground water conservation districts have been authorized and created since 1949 in Texas. Many districts have been created, since locally-controlled underground water conservation districts with region-specific rules, programs and activities have been demonstrated to be an efficient and satisfactory solution to addressing the groundwater problems of the state. Their reasons for formation have included conservation and protection of underground water supplies and encouraging more efficient use of water. In order to be a viable, working entity, a district must become active. An active district must carry out the following activities:

1. The district has a board of directors which consists of 5 to 11 directors elected for four year terms.

2. The district holds regularly scheduled meetings.

3. The district developed and filed with the commission a comprehensive management plan.

4. The district has on file copies of driller's logs.

5. The district has on file permits for wells.

6. The district has on file annual audits.

Other programs and concerns are available to the district to better serve their jurisdiction. The most important consideration is to the size of a district, but whether there is a common vision of the district's purpose amount is its citizens and whether those citizens are willing to bear the expense necessary to carry out that purpose.

The 90's will be known as the decade for water quality and quantity issues. As our population of Texas grows, so does our need for water. Ideas, proposals and laws are initiated continually. It is up to Schleicher County to control, preserve and defend her waters. The Plateau Underground Water Conservation and Supply District and the citizens of this county have that task at hand.

Editor's Journal

TOP OF THE DIVIDE

I have to admit that I am getting more and more of my material for my articles from Nicolas. We start by trading ideas until we come up with one that amuses us and we take off from there.

We were watching Carl Sagan, the noted Astronomer and writer. He has a television show on PBS (Public Broadcasting Service) where he takes the viewer through the universe and poses some intriguing questions about extra terrestrial life, where it might exist, what it might look like and whether it, or they, would be intelligent. There is no reason not to believe, at least none that I can see, that there is intelligent life on other planets in other galaxies.

Of course, if this is true then they probably have scientists who have video shows where they discuss life on other planets such as earth. In fact many people have claimed to see space ships land and these creatures get out. Some even claim to have been taken on trips in these alien spaceships. Who Knows?

Nic and I figure that the other scientists from other galaxies must run into the same sort of incredulosity that earth scientists have when they describe those little green men. Can you imagine some paisley blob talking to another blob saying, "Well, when I went to earth you'll never believe what I saw. The living things there walk on hind legs, they breathe oxygen and they cover their bodies with assorted skins that they seem to change at least once a day and sometimes oftener." "Yeah, right!" replies the other blob. "Next thing you'll be telling me they carry their young in their stomachs until they are big enough to breathe that oxygen on their own".

The scientists, miffed by his colleague's disbelief would invite him on the next trip to Earth. The colleague would be skeptical wondering aloud, "But what if we are spotted by these earth creatures, what will we do then?"

"That's the beauty of it. If they see you they really can't tell anyone. If they tell anyone they are declared crazy and no one believes them."

Football Update

The Eldorado Eagle Varsity and Junior Varsity football teams have scrimmaged teams from Brady and Central High School.

On August 22nd, the Eagles went to Brady. The Junior Varsity, which lost four players to Varsity, had a difficult time moving the ball offensively and allowed three scores defensively. "We concentrated on Varsity techniques during the preceding week and, as a result, the J.V. did not get as much team practice. But, the following week against Central's Sophomores, we saw a big improvement," quoted Coach Doug Kuhlmann. "We were able to move the ball up and down the field offensively, and we played better defensively also."

The Varsity tread 0-0 in their contest against Brady's Varsity. Defense did not allow a score and Brady could only manage 3 first downs against the Eldorado Eagle Defense. On offense, the Eagles had problems moving the football, but did have one drive that stalled at the Brady 35 yard line.

The next week the Eagles scrimmaged Central High School's Junior Varsity. "We played great defense, as we did the week before against Brady, and on offense we improved considerably with a lot of credit going to the offensive line," explained Kuhlmann. "We won the scrimmage 3-0 and had a tremendous amount of good things happen from the

Laugh and Live

The reason that we have so little joy is that we take ourselves too seriously.

Thomas Merton

Normally, I don't bother reading the Standard-Times. This past Friday, however, I looked at it pretty good.

You see, Thursday, the Eldorado Eagles had a scrimmage against Central High School's J. V. Our boys gave them a pretty good stomping--3 to 0. Why we had interceptions, pass completions, good running.

I had expected to see a big write-up with big headlines like

Eagles Stomp Central or

Eldorado Wipes Out San Angelo

I expected it because that is what they did last year when this 5A school beat our 2A school.

Well, I couldn't find anything at all in that newspaper about our victory. Granted, I only looked that one day and perhaps they put something in about it later. But then again, maybe they didn't.

Maybe the staff writers at the Standard-Times only go to the games that Central wins. If that be the case, maybe they should just stay at home when the Eagles come to town.

Till The Next Time...

MAY GOD BLESS!

Gum Disease: Are You At Risk?

Gum disease, or periodontal disease, has been in the news a lot lately. However, most people are unclear about what this disease is and how a person can tell if he or she has it.

Periodontal disease is very common, in fact, some form of this disease. Usually, it does not cause any pain and goes unnoticed. However, early detection and treatment are very important.

Gum disease is an infection of the gums that is caused by a film of bacteria, called plaque, that is attached to the crown and root surfaces of the teeth. This plaque produces toxins that irritate and inflame the gums. If not removed, these toxins will destroy gum tissue, causing the tissues to separate from the tooth and form deepened spaces, called pockets. The pockets can then hold more bacteria and toxins causing the gum to detach even further until the bone and other supporting tissues are destroyed.

THE WARNING SIGNS OF GUM DISEASE ARE:

1. bleeding during brushing or

- flossing
2. red, tender or swollen gums
3. persistent bad breath
4. gums that have pulled away from the teeth
5. pus between the gums and teeth
6. loose or separating teeth
7. a change in your bite
8. a change in the fit of your partial denture

To determine if you have gum disease, your dentist needs to do a complete examination. This examination includes a small instrument, called a periodontal probe, to measure the depth of the space between the tooth and gum. This charting of each tooth will determine whether you have periodontal pockets and their depth. Also x-rays may be necessary to check the bone supporting the teeth.

Dentistry can treat gum disease. I will explain the different treatments in my next article.

A Special Meeting of the Eldorado City Council was held Wednesday, August 28, 1991, at 7:30 P.M. at the City Hall with all Councilmembers present with the exception of John Callison. Meeting was called to order by Mayor Nikolauk.

WTU FRANCHISE:

Leroy Reeves with the local WTU office met with the Council to present proposed Ordinance #101-91 with changes. After brief discussion, motion was made by Randy Mankin and seconded by Debbie Ballew that the 10-year franchise agreement with 2% monthly payments be approved. Motion carried.

PUBLIC HEARING

1991-92 BUDGET:

A Public Hearing was opened on the proposed 1991-92 Budget. No citizens were present. After review of changes from the previous meeting, Jeri Whitten made the motion that the Budget be approved with specific acknowledgment that the local matching funds pledged for the TDOC water tower project is more than the TDOC contract previously stated due to the contractor bid being higher than anticipated. Dora Bosmans seconded the motion. Motion carried.

Announcement was made that the TDOC Water Tower Project Preconstruction Conference would be held September 16 at 3:00 P.M. at the City Hall.

LETTER OF RESIGNATION:

Mayor Nikolauk read letter of resignation from Councilmember John Callison, and his resignation was accepted by the Council. The Secretary was asked to place discussion and appointment of a person to complete Mr. Callison's term on the September 10 agenda.

TAX RATE:

After discussion, motion was made by Dora Bosmans and seconded by Randy Mankin that the City adopt the 1991 tax rate as 77.61c/$100 (30.01c I&S; 47.6c M&O). Ordinance #102-91 was executed by Mayor Nikolauk.

UNIFORM UPDATE:

Supt. Dean reported on his conversation with Texas Industrial Services representatives regarding the 3-year uniform contract. After discussion, the Council requested that the item be tabled.

WASTEWATER PLANT TREATMENT:

Supt. Dean reported that the Texas Rural Water Association personnel would be in Eldorado on Thursday, September 5, to make recommendation regarding the treatment of the wastewater plant facility in order to bring testing results into compliance. He reviewed the three proposals for shock treatment of the plant and stated his preference. Randy Mankin made a motion that if the TRWA recommends treatment begin before the wastewater plant repairs are made that Jack Dean be authorized to use Heussner Co., Inc. Motion was seconded by Debbie Ballew. Motion carried.

CURRENT BILLINGS:

In anticipation of the fiscal year end, current billings were circulated and motion was made by Jeri Whitten that they be paid. Motion was seconded by Dora Bosmans. Motion carried.

AMENDMENT #6 TO 1990-91 BUDGET:

The Secretary reviewed specific accounts needing funds, after discussion, motion was made by Dora Bosmans and seconded by Debbie Ballew that a final amendment to the Budget be approved. Motion carried.

UTILITY RATE REVIEW:

After report from the Secretary of her findings regarding other communities' service charges for reconnect after "no pay disconnection", motion was made by Debbie Ballew and seconded by Jeri Whitten that the reconnect fee be proposed to be raised from $5 to $10 and that an Ordinance Amendment be drafted for publication. Public Hearing will be set for September 10.

The Secretary reported that she had received a request from Pat Wescott of Mertzon to use local landfill facilities to dump refuse from the two Conoco plants located in Schleicher County. He would use 6 dumpsters from those locations. After discussion, the Council expressed a viewpoint that the landfill should not be opened for out of county commercial carriers. In any event, the applicable rate would be charged.

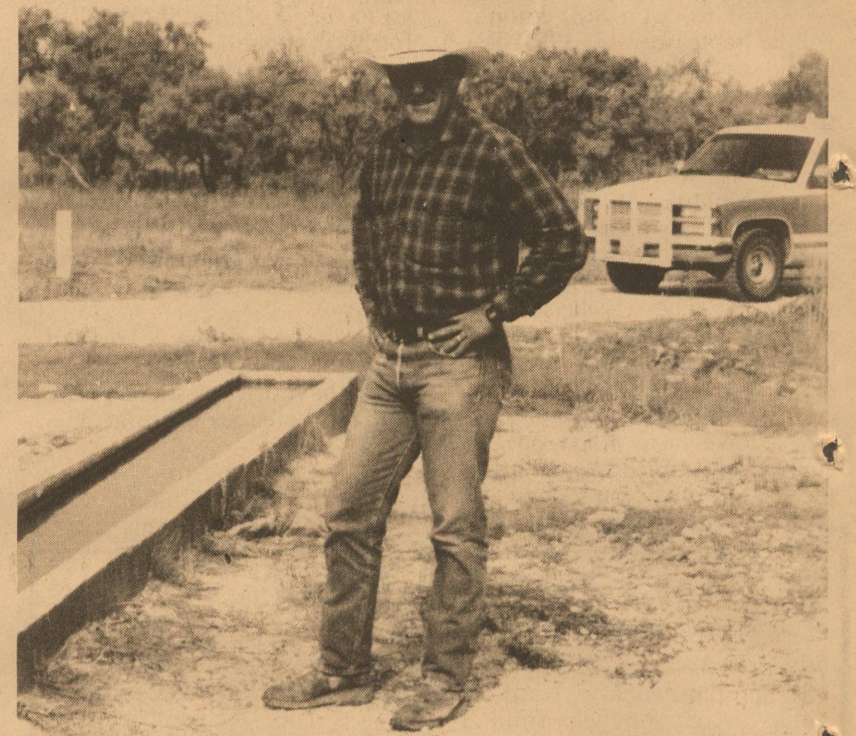

The Secretary distributed work papers analyzing the rates for trash pickup for both residential and commercial customers. The "per cubic yard" analysis showed inequities among businesses, and she requested the Council's review to simplify the rate structure to eliminate problems encountered. The item will be placed on the next meeting agenda.

With no further business, meeting adjourned at 10:20 P.M.

City Secretary

ACP Program Widely Used

The Agriculture Conservation Program (ACP) is the most widely used program through which the federal government assists farmers and ranchers in carrying out needed conservation practices. The ACP is administered by the Schleicher County ASCS office. The ACP is a joint effort between producers, Federal and State Agencies, and other conservation groups to restore and protect the Nation's land and water resources and to preserve the environment.

Matt Brown

Conservation practices carried out with the help of ASCS and the ACP will have lasting effects on all areas of the U.S. Since it began in 1936, the ACP has helped local farmers and ranchers build terraces to control agricultural run-off and water erosion, planted trees to improve woodlands, built and preserved wildlife habitat, shaped gullies, and built ponds to protect soils from wind and water erosion.

Practices in Schleicher County that are eligible for cost-sharing include brush and pear control, crossfences, terraces, livestock pipelines, water wells and storage tanks, and re-seeding crop and rangeland.

Pictured below is Matt Brown inspecting a livestock water pipeline on his ranch five miles southeast of Eldorado. Not only will this pipeline help distribute the livestock grazing on his ranch but it will also enhance the deer and turkey population on his place.

For more information on programs available through the ASCS contact the Schleicher County ASCS office at (915) 853-2838.

Health News

by Dr. Rico J. Forlano

Very few adults go through life without experiencing some injury as a child, particular when engaged in contact sports. Usually any problems associated with that injury will clear up and not become evident again until later in life, sometimes many years later.

A pain in the back or neck may suddenly appear as if from a recent injury, when in fact, there has not been any injury to explain the cause of the pain. Disc degeneration, calcium deposits, spurs, and arthritis are usually signs of long-term degenerative changes from injuries which occurred many years earlier.

In chronic degenerative soft tissue injuries, which are typical of old sports injuries, pain is the last thing to appear and the first to leave. When the pain goes away it is easy to assume that everything is normal again. Often, that simply is not the case. If you don't correct problems that are in your spine or you don't maintain proper spinal alignment, then it will deteriorate and wear, causing physical pain and discomfort.

Chiropractic physicians are trained to diagnose the problem, detect old injuries, and to restore proper spinal alignment for relief. The longer it has been since the injury, the longer it may take to achieve satisfactory results and for the body to be healed. Therefore, it is wise to start therapy as soon after the injury as possible. This is particularly important to remember now that school is starting again and our youngsters will be actively participating in contact games and sports. On the other hand, regardless of how long it has been since you have experienced an injury, it is never too late to get help.

Summer Composting Nature's Own Recycling Program

by Dwight S. Hall,
Landscape Horticulturist,
Overton

An estimated one-third of our existing landfills will reach full capacity in the next five to seven years. Approximately 20 to 30 percent of this waste is made up of organic materials from the yard and kitchen that can easily be recycled.

With space becoming limited and time running out, several states, including New Jersey, Florida and Minnesota, have banned the disposal of yard waste in landfills. If you can't take your leaves and grass clippings to the dump, then what do you do with them? Composting is the answer.

Composting is the process of turning the organic materials you normally throw away - things like leaves and grass clippings - into a rich soil nutrient called humus. Texas sand and clay soils often lack organic quality, but it can be achieved with generous amounts of organic humus.

When used as a soil amendment, humus does wonders for your garden. Generous applications of healthy humus supplies your soil with many of the nutrients found in fertilizers. It also increases moisture retention and improves water and air movement in soil lacking these qualities. In addition, compost allows easy water movement deep into the soil which results in less watering and healthier plants.

The inside of a compost heap is hot. As the organic matter decomposes, temperatures inside rise above 140° F, killing weed seeds, disease organisms and eventually even the bacteria that cause the transformation. The end result is humus.

Nearly anything that was once alive can be added to a compost pile. Besides leaves, branches and grass clippings, kitchen wastes such as coffee grounds, vegetable and fruit peels are also appropriate for composting. However, avoid including grease, fat, meat scraps and bone as they may attract insects and produce undesirable odors.

The location of a compost pile is important. Select a level, well-drained spot, preferably in full sun. Make sure the pile is accessible and the contents are easy to reach. Water should be available. If the compost pile is unsightly, it can be located in a somewhat screened area. The bin should be framed with cinder blocks, cross-ties or treated timbers. Several sections may be constructed, one for completed compost and another for materials in the process of becoming compost.

The ideal way to construct a compost pile is to begin with a bottom layer of brush to hold the compost above ground and aerate it. Then, "sandwich" layers of green wastes (grass clippings, garden weeds, plant tops and vegetable parings) with layers of brown or carbonaceous materials, such as leaves, chipped branches and sawdust. If the materials are dry, wet them down with water as they are added. The top of the pile should be concave to hold additional water which helps in the process.

From time to time, add a layer of soil to supply microbes and bacteria, and also add a sprinkling of fertilizer between layers to act as a catalyst. Construct the pile as quickly as possible; if your waste materials are added a little at a time, they will decompose without building up enough heat to make humus.

Keep in mind that the smaller the particles are, the faster and easier decomposition will be. Large twigs and limbs from woody plants should be reduced to smaller forms before being placed on the pile. Leaves with a waxy or shiny surface, such as magnolia, may take longer to decompose. Pine needles should be mixed into the pile to avoid packing.

Frequently turning the pile will greatly speed the composting process. To turn the pile, use a pitchfork to mix the raw matter on the outer sides with the hot, "cooking" compost in the center.

As the organic matter decomposes, the temperature inside the pile rises. You'll know when the decaying matter has run out of oxygen and needs to be turned because the temperature inside will noticeably drop. After each turning, the pile should reach peak temperatures within a few days before cooling again.

The extra effort involved in frequent turning can pay off handsomely. A well-constructed pile, turned with a fork every three days, can produce usable compost in as little as 12 days during summer. When the pile is half its original size and its temperature stabilizes no matter how often you turn it, the compost is finished and ready to go into your garden, a prized gift from nature.
