I always tell myself that I am not going to talk about religion, politics or my job, but I am afraid I just cannot help myself. Oral Roberts is at it again. It seems the devil is after his ministry and the only thing that will stop the devil is money. Now, that is unusual. I thought I read somewhere that "the love of money is the root of all evil." I may be wrong about this, but I don't recall ever reading that the founder of Christianity asked for donations, or for that matter worried much about the survival of his ministry or himself. Oral's son, Richard, said he was a little perturbed that he had to be discussing this matter with the secular press feeling they had only asked $500 or more from those already on the mailing list.

I agree with Attorney General, Dan Morales, that the protection of individual rights is important, but fifteen years seems like a very long time to decide whether Mr. Green was treated fairly. On the other hand, his sentence was pretty final and fifteen years is only a drop in the bucket compared to the rest of his sentence.

Pinkeye Control Can Save Time And Money

One of the most laborintensive and frustrating problems for cattlemen is the control of pinkeye.

A very common disease, pinkeye is a bacterial infection of the eye that can cause permanent damage and blindness if not treated. Pinkeye is found in every breed of beef and dairy cattle. It affects all ages of animals, especially young calves.

USDA research estimates that producers lose more than $150 million each year due to the effects of pinkeye. Attributed to this disease are poor weight gains, disfigurement of the animal that results in discounted prices, and the actual expense of medicine

Pinkeye occurs most often in the summer because there are more irritants such as pollens, tall weeds and ultraviolet rays from sunlight that reduce the eye's natural defenses, making it susceptible to infection. Excessive tearing, blinking or redness of the eye and nasal discharge are all symptoms of pinkeye. The infection is easily spread from animal to animal by face flies, and can become a major problem for a herd in just a few days.

intensive. Topical applications of powders, sprays and eye patches will reduce inflammation and help the eye heal. However, to be effective, these medications must be repeated during a threeto-five day period, adding stress to the animal and causing inconvenience for

According to Pfizer

Technical Services Veterinarian Korb Maxwell, D.V.M., there is a long-acting, broad-spectrum antibi-otic that provides three days of pinkeye therapy with one intramuscular injection.

"Liquamycin® LA-200® is excellent for pinkeye control," he said. "One intramuscular injection provides a high concentration of oxytetracycline in a longacting formulation that releases the antibiotic over a 72-hour period. This works effectively against the pinkeye bacteria and clears up the infection quickly.

There are several management practices that can also help reduce pinkeye problems. Producers should clip pasture weeds and grasses, control fly populations, provide shade and minimize dust. If a herd has a history of pinkeye problems, a vaccination program is also advisable.

A combination of good management and early treatment with effective antibiotics will help cattle producers prevent pinkeye problems.

Liquamycin LA-200 is a Pfizer Inc. trademark for oxytetracycline hydrochloride

If you call a girl a kitten, she will love you forever. If you call her a cat, she will scratch your eyes out.

If you tell a woman that she is a vision, she will think that you are great. If you say that she is a sight, that is an all together different story. It O.K. to tell a girl that she looks like the first day of spring. But watch out if you say that she looks like the last day of a long, hard winter.

If you say to your wife, "Honey when I look into your eyes, time stands still" she thinks that you are great. But if you say, "You have a face that could stop a clock." LOOK OUT.

Now, I just read Thomas Giovannitti's column about George Bush, Oral Roberts and capital punishment. I figured that no matter what I had to say about those three subjects, or how I said it, somebody wouldn't like it. And as long as the government has capital punishment on it's side and Oral Roberts has God on his side, I certainly do not want to make any body angry.

I did have one idea that I thought I might pass on. Perhaps Oral and George could team up. I mean if George could talk Oral into talking God in to giving us some assistance on this recession that we are "technically" not in then maybe we would all be a little better off.

Letters To The Editor

Monday night, November 11, to me, was a special occasion which I'll cherish for eternity. For you see, it was a time for me, a veteran, one of the Persian Gulf War.

The time and effort expended in the making of the program showed pride in the people of Eldorado. This pride, the young, innocent heroes, of the 3rd and 4th grade, was the reason I went to a foreign country to fight in a war. To allow them a chance to live long and prosper, so they might not live to see what I had to witness.

While in the desert, I shed tears many times. Those same tears, were again shed in the program because I knew I had been just in my actions to defend what my country believed to be right.

Finally, I would like to thank all of those who participated in the program because you have warmed my heart better than any star.

Daniel Glen Pfluger Garlstedt, Germany P.S. I know of a woman who taught me to sing songs, memorize poems, dance, play musical chairs, keep my hands behind my back when in a line (coming or going), laughter, joy, honor, loyalty, trust, and respect. That someone is Mrs. Jo Parker. Your faith and love has encouraged me strive to be

TRIBUTE TO A BLOOD DONOR

No badge of service does he wear He lives, "Hero" unaware, A man who rolls his sleeve to give His blood, to help another live. Who gives without return or fee, In simple answer to a plea, That flush of health again may glow On cheeks of one he'll never know. His blood a new-born babe may save From yawning brink of early grave. That child, so weak and small today, A hero's role may later play. Or one, a prey to accident, By his blood new strength is lent. His blood may help a surgeon's knife Bridge the gap from death to life. No, none of these will know his name, Nor see it carved on walls of fame; But we who toil that men may live, A hearty, humble, "Thank you" give. Give Blood! Give Life!

Causes of Low Hemoglobin

Maybe at your last blood drive you were asked not to donate blood because the hemoglobin content in your blood was below our required level. Hemoglobin is a protein in the blood that contains iron. It carries oxygen to the body tissues and gives blood its red color. While your hemoglobin was below the level we use, it may be perfectly normal and healthy for you, especially if you are a woman.

cause of low hemoglobin, but not the only one, is not having enough iron. This is called iron In adults, iron deficiency. deficiency develops when too little iron is absorbed to replace the iron a person loses because of heavy menstrual flow, gastrointestinal disease, surgery or too frequent blood donations.

The amount of iron absorbed from food depends on how the iron is "packaged" in the food. It also depends on the combinations of food you eat, because some foods, beverages and minerals can prevent the body from absorbing iron, while others may help the body to absorb it. In addition, someone who is iron-deficient will absorb more iron than someone whose iron level is adequate.

For the most part especially for those with iron deficiency, iron is best absorbed from animal foods: red meat, veal, pork, chicken, turkey and seafood -- but not from milk or dairy products.

If the blood loss that contributed to the iron deficiency can be controlled, a person can restore their iron balance by eating foods from which iron is more readily absorbed, and by paying attention to the combination of foods they eat. For example, iron is absorbed better if you drink orange juice with your hamburger, then wait a few hours before drinking milk. That is because the calcium in milk and dairy products blocks iron absorption. Restoring the iron balance with diet is a slow process and takes several

Iron deficiency can be corrected more rapidly with iron salts, such as ferrous sulfate or ferrous gluconate. Such treatment should be done only under a doctor's care. The doctor will want to find out if you have iron deficiency and what's causing it, and then decide how to treat it. These foods contain iron that is readily absorbed:

*Fish and other seafood These foods will help your body absorb iron: *Citrus fruits and drinks *Eggs (yolk)
*High bran foods

*Whole wheat bakery

*Calcium supplements *Antacids

(While some of these are part of a balanced diet, you can help your body absorb iron by eating them at a separate meal.)

Although you were not able to donate last time, we invite you to come back and try donating again. Low hemoglobin is usually a temporary deferral. We will be in Eldorado at the Memorial Building on Tuesday, November 26, from 2p.m. to 6p.m. Our staff will be happy to check your iron prior to you filling out the paperwork.

Senior Ambassadors Return From Fall Trip

Twenty-five Senior Ambassadors of First Baptist Church returned November second from a ten day tour of the fall foliage which carried them as far as Ashville, NC. The group was led by Mary Barton Robinson who scouted and planned the trip for them along with her companion, Geneva McWhorter.

After the first day's long drive, they spent the night in Shreveport. The next day they toured the newly refurbished capitol in Jackson, Miss., where an eight foot eagle of copper covered with 14 karat gold stood majestically above the dome. Three friends who knew Mary, and some of the group, met the bus and brought gifts of delicious cookies for all.

In Pigeon Forge, TN, on the Little Pigeon River, they went to the dinner show of the Dixie Stampede. There a four course dinner was served with no utensils, a new experience for many. It consisted of soup, chicken, beef rib, corn on the cob, potato, bread, turnover and Farther along, the Ococe River ran along the highway. The river bottom was solid rock with huge boulders and swift water rushing on to the Ococe Dam and lake with hydro plant.

Upon arriving in Chatanooga, the group took a sightseeing boat ride on the Tennessee River aboard the Southern Belle. After the boat ride they rode the incline railway up Lookout Mountain. This railway car climbs 600 feet per minute and is billed as the steepest and safest incline railway in the world. "We're afraid that women will delay treatment if breast implants are no longer part of their reconstruction options," says George Peters, M.D., President of the American Cancer Society, Texas Division. Concern about a potential ban of breast implants is building in anticipation of the mid-November meeting of the FDA General and Plastic Surgery Devices Panel. Some fear that the panel will ban the use of breast implants. An announcement about future use of breast implants is anticipated from the FDA in January.

American Society physician volunteer leaders in Texas recognize that scientific evidence documents a low health risk associated with breast implants and that implants are a significant benefit to breast cancer patients who are able to restore an amputated body part. It is estimated that 25 percent of the two million women who have breast implants are breast cancer patients.

"It scares me to think about the women walking around who won't have their breast cancer treated because reconstruction won't be an option," said Lynne Lofgren, a breast reconstruction patient and volunteer for the American Cancer Society in Dallas "The FDA should not take away the option women have to be reconstructed after breast cancer surgery," continued Lofgren.

For information on how to get involved in the American Cancer Society's letter writing campaign urging the FDA not to ban breast implants call the American Cancer Society at 1-800-ACS-2345.

"The real tragedy," says Carl Cummins, Soout Executive for the Concho Valley Council, "is that widespread hunger is completely preventable. When commnuties work together with programs like Scouting for Food, hunger can eliminatad."

Food collected by the Scouts will be taken to local churches and agencies, where it will be sorted and distributed to those in need in our area. Nationally, the drive is expected to oollect 87 to 89 million cans

American Cancer Society Launching 'All About the Links Program', Options for Independent Living

The Texas Department on Aging's "Options For Independent Living" (known as the LINKS program) was established by the 7lst Legislature, with enactment of Senate Bill 484 in July 1985. Its purpose is to help elderly persons remain at home despite limited self-care capacities, through a provision of SHORT-TERM SERVICES for the purpose of: (a) restoring functional capacities after illness or hospitalization; and (b) educating and preparing elderly persons and their caregivers for self-care. The locally named Options program, LINKS, has been providing services since May, 1990.

LINKS operates under the supervision of the Kimble County Senior Citizens Center and is funded through the Concho Valley Council of Governments and the Area Agency on Aging, which receives grants directly from the Texas Department on Aging (TDOA). LINKS currently provides a wide array of community based services to the elderly in Kimble, Menard, Schleicher and Sutton counties. Few advantages such as health care related programs are in place to provide services to the elderly in the four-county region. In fact, no hospital exists in Menard, one of the counties served by LINKS. Without local health care systems available at reasonable cost, many of the frail elderly are forced to rely on nursing facility care long before it is necessary. LINKS is designed prevent institutionalization through the provision of SHORT-TERM SUPPORT SERVICES.

Services of the LINKS program will be available to persons age 60 and over whose income or resources disquality them for entitlement programs, yet are insufficient to purchase needed support services. PRIORITY WILL BE GIVEN TO THOSE WHO: (1)

have recently suffered a major illness or health care crisis or have recently been hospitalized; (2) live in rural areas; (3) have insufficient caregiver support; aad (4) have a low to moderate impairment or a temporary severe impairment.

The LINKS program is responsible for providing or arranging for the following services: case management, homemaker (including personal care), residential repair/home modification, benefit counseling, respite care, emergency response, education and training for caregivers, home-delivered meals and transportation.

Homemaker II services which includes housekeeping and personal care is provided by two licensed home health care agencies, Concepts of Care in Abilene and TLC Registry in Eldorado. They are not themselves. We "hire" each agency by contract on a referral basis to place one of their workers in the home. Concepts of Care accepts referrals only from LINKS and the Texas Department of Human Services (TDHS). Concepts of Care provides inhome workers in all four counties and TLC provides in-home workers in Schleicher and Sutton Counties.

Homemaker I services are provided by a group of dedicated senior citizens who are volunteer companions to the elderly in the community.

SERVICE LIMITATIONS are due to the severe funding limitations, and since the services are intended to be SHORT-TERM to allow stabilizations and convalescent following a health care crisis, the AVERAGE LENGTH OF SERVICE FOR EACH LINKS CLIENT SHOULD NOT EXCEED THREE MONTHS. Depending on the level of client co-payment and the amount of other funds available to and pooled for the local LINKS project, the total length of service per client may exceed the LINKS does not deny services to anyone based on inability to pay. However contributions are gratefully accepted. Financial arrangements are made at the time of assessment on a sliding fee scale depending on the client's income.

Before authorizing inhome attendant care, emergency response system service, respite care or home delivered meals, LINKS will determine in the person has applied for or is already receiving the same or similar services from another program such as Texas Department of Human Services (TDHS). A person who is eligible for TDHS services may not receive the same or similar services from LINKS - UNLESS the person is on a WAITING LIST for that service from TDHS. LINKS offers other services which do not duplicate TDHS services such as residential repair, benefits counseling and education for LINKS accepts referrals TDHS, hospitals, physicians, home health agencies, family members, friends, caregivers, the elderly themselves, community organizations and churches.

The LINKS office for the four county region is located in Junction at 401 S Main Street across the street from the Chamber of Commerce building. The telephone number is 915-446-2028. If you have any questions or need more information please call or stop by the office we will be happy to

You can't really keep your money at home - it should be in a checking or savings account to be safe. But you can have your account with a bank that keeps your money in you community.

The First National Bank of Eldorado does just that. Our customers like knowing that their deposits are invested here at home - not sent out of town or out of state to the headquarters of some megabank.

It makes sense to us to invest local money in local projects like home mortgages. Maybe that's because our decisions - on investments and everything else - are made by people who live here, too. You don't have to install a vault in your living room to make sure your money is close by. All you have to do is open an account at The First National

Cooler Weather Brings Greater Need for Blood

Shorter days and cooler temperatures signify the onset of winter. But as physicians and hospitals are well aware, this time of year also brings a greater need for blood.

"The need for blood increases during the fall months," said Paula Kennemer, Community Relations Director for United Blood Services, this areas non-profit community blood provider. "That's because many farmers, ranchers and other people who are unable to take time off during the summer often chose the fall and winter months for elective surgeries and hospital stays;"

Eldorado's next drive will be held from 2p.m. to 6p.m., Tuesday, November 26, at the Memorial Building.

By giving blood a donor helps replenish a community resource used by a neighbor, relative or friend. The donation gives tomorrow's patient the same recovery opportunity as today's patient, because it assures that blood is on the hospital shelf when it is needed.

Only when a significant number of people donate on a regular basis can a community maintain adequate supplies. If everyone waited for an emergency before donating, lives could be jeopardized. Waiting to donate in an emergency only creates Blood must be emergencies. available at all times in sufficient amounts to meet the needs of this community.

"Together In One House"

Eldorado Ministerial Alliance Thanksgiving Service

ELDORADO MINISTERIAL ALLIANCE'S annual ecumenical Thanksgiving Service will be held Sunday, November 24, 1991, 7 p.M. in the Memorial Building. The service brings together churches and individuals throughout the Eldorado community in gratitude to God for His many blessings.

"Ecumenical is an ancient New Testament Greek word meaning 'in one house' The early church fathers used the word to describe the unity of all Christians, Jew and gentile, slave and free, from all classes and ethnic backgrounds," explained Hawley Wolfe, ELDORADO MINISTERIAL ALLIANCE. "We believe that giving thanks "ecumenically" is especially appropriate as we celebrate the many common blessings which we as Americans

The service will strive to be inclusive. The choral music will be presented by a "massed choir" involving any church choir that wishes to participate. The joint Adult Handbell Choirs of the first Baptist Church and First Presbyterian Church will perform a piece under the joint direction of Carol Graham and Maxine Page. A litany of Thanksgiving is being prepared under the direction of Rev. Paul Lynn, to include a variety of groups and organizations of our community. A canned goods offering and distribution is also being planned for this service, under the supervision of Rev. Hawley Wolfe. The preparation of the worship bulletin, including many area clergy and religious leaders, is being done by Rev. Chris Graham.

The total offering from the service will go to the Ministerial Alliance Fund. This money is used to aid stranded travelers, to support local youth work, and to assist county residents with medicine, food, and utility bills.
