HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

Those who crave, always, for something to paint dark pictures with, will find a choice morsel in the action of yesterday placing the Couden Oil company into receivership.

The plain facts are, however, that the action will not in the least affect the company's operations in Big Spring and the oil fields of West Texas.

The salary or continued employment of those now in the service of the company will not be endangered.

High officials, in New York Monday, told the local Couden offices that things would go ahead as usual here, the receivership proceedings, it is learned, are in reality but a step toward "improving" rather than damaging the financial standing or continued activity of the company.

Shrewd men contend and direct this company. They know their business. They know how to overcome unfavorable conditions in the oil industry. They will do so.

An illustration of their resourcefulness is seen in the surprising growth in demand for Couden refined products within the past 30 days.

Never before has the big refinery here been called upon to manufacture as much gasoline and other petroleum products. Business has been dull for a brief period. So the company went out and got some foreign business.

One day last week, we are informed from an authoritative source, Couden set a new record for a single day's shipments of refined products—a total of 138 cars.

Nope. Calamity howlers will be disappointed in the end insofar as the Couden Oil company is concerned.

Business as usual.

Big Spring owes much to the Couden Oil company. There has not really enough, here, little direct personal contact between its officials and the rank and file of Big Spring business men. That has been the case not because Big Spring has not appreciated the Couden company, and the value of its operations as one of the city's major industries.

Big Spring should appreciate Couden and Couden should appreciate Big Spring and the territory centered about it.

We have heard criticism of the company for its attitude toward civic movements and organizations within Big Spring and we're not so certain but that this criticism was justifiable.

But, we are certain the people of the city will overlook minor incidents and see the real value of this great industry to the community. It is a high type of men who serve the Couden company. They are good citizens.

Boy Who Fleed In Dad's Car Starts To Frisco Home

A San Francisco boy who took his father's car and fled, was on his way back to his home.

The youth who was arrested here by Patrolman Howie, is alleged to have taken his father's new automobile and left home.

Another youth arrested with the California boy was released. He was "just a hitch-hiker" he explained.

At the time of his arrest the boy had approximately $150 in currency on his person and in his car.

A diamond ring, belonging to his mother, and his father's watch were found in the pocket of the automobile.

Humble Sales Forces Meet At Hotel Here

Forty Men Hear Talks On Featured Petroleum Products

Forty salesmen, agents and other men in the sales department of the Humble Oil & Refining company held a conference at the Hotel here Monday evening.

A program of educational nature was given following a dinner. D. F. Monroe, Houston, district manager of sales, presided and one of the principal items on the program was an address by H. A. (Pop) Mabry, Houston, of the personnel department.

More detailed knowledge of the technical and practical features of Humble Flashlike gasoline and Velvet motor oils on the part of agents was the chief object of the meeting.

Arnett Dorbandt, Sweetwater, of the district sales force, flew here Monday from Dallas. His ship, an Inland Sport semi-cabin plane powered with a Warner, Jr. motor is piloted by T. J. Richards, formerly of Big Spring. In spite of rain and lack of any ceiling Richards brought the ship from Dallas in 2 hours 50 minutes, landing at Big Spring air terminal shortly after dark.

Sweetwater, Colorado, Big Spring, Stanton, Midland, Odessa and McCamey agents' districts were represented.

Those attending the dinner were: D. T. Munson, B. A. Mabry, Houston; E. W. Besay, McCamey; D. A. Tesser, Big Spring; Arnett Dorbandt, Sweetwater; J. A. Turpin, Midland; W. B. Groselocke, McCamey; A. Drys Gird For Battle To Hold 18th Amendment

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The drys are girding for battle in congress, buttressing their defenses around the eighteenth amendment.

A recognized staff of the friends of prohibition pushing an educational campaign all over the country, has been called for by Senator Fess of Ohio, who now carries the duties also of chairman of the Republican national committee.

In his stand was seen in a warning against any repeal movement within the Republican party. Fess has been mentioned by prohibitionists as a potential leader for reorganizing dry forces. In the movement for rebuilding the prohibition attack group indications appeared that some of the burden of political activity would be lifted from the anti-liquor league which for many years has borne the brunt of the task.

Both drys and wets in congress are expecting a renewal of conflict, sometime after the prohibition report of the president's law enforcement commission is given out. Harassed by an insistent curiosity and speculation as to what is being accomplished in closed sessions, members of the commission have been pleading to be left alone with their difficult task. They have little hope of completing a report by the time congress meets, Dec. 1. Perhaps a month later it will be ready—that now is expected generally to be the latest date it will be given out.

Defense of the eighteenth amendment in congress at present offers the drys no difficulty. They have ample votes for the purpose and all prohibitionists are united on that point. Regarding sentiment on the enforcing law indications are less definite. Senator Fess, himself, yesterday said the increasing penalties imposed on liquor violators under the Jones act had failed to do the benefit he had hoped for.

Preservation Of Peace Chief Object Of U.S.

Twelfth Anniversary Of Armistice Observed By America

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Armistice Day, 1930, a dozen years after bloodshed ended on the Western Front, saw this nation dedicating itself to the cause of peace.

The great and small of the capital turned today to the president of the United States for words of reassurance against renewal of war.

At two shrines those whose memories went back to 1918, and the war years paid homage. On the hill at Arlington the Unknown Soldier, symbol of America's lost sons, was surrounded again by men who committed him to that resting place, together with civilian and military leaders of the country. In Washington cathedral faithful friends met at the tomb of Woodrow Wilson, the war president.

President Hoover, after placing a wreath on the Unknown's tomb, was to speak before the goodwill congress of the World Alliance for international friendship, his words uttered against a background of urgencies of lasting peace.

The audience of delegates gathered to hear him, augmented by thousands of Washingtonians, had fresh in mind the words of earlier speakers, two former American ambassadors who pleaded for greater international goodwill.

Three Arrested After Robbery Of Texas Bank

WILLIS, Nov. 11.—Three men were under arrest today in connection with the robbery of the First State bank of Willis, about 50 miles north of Houston, in which approximately $4,000 was obtained.

One man was arrested near Conroe shortly after the robbery yesterday, and two were taken into custody at Huntsville. None of the suspects was in an automobile like the one in which the bandits escaped.

Two men, described as about 30 years old, walked into the bank, thrust a gun into the face of Cashier L. P. Paddock while he sat at his desk, and likewise covered Mrs. Paddock and three customers.

One man then went behind the cage and swept loose currency and silver into a brief case which he had brought with him, meantime keeping up a running fire of verbal threats.

When the robber had cashed the visible money, the five persons were herded into the vault, and the door locked. They were told by the robbers to remain there a few minutes before attempting their release.

The robbers then entered a small sedan and fled at high speed from the town.

Rainfall Since Friday Is 1.17

Although a lull in the slow rain which has been falling for four days was had this morning, rain laden clouds continued to control the skies, and additional precipitation was expected this afternoon and tonight.

Since Friday night 1.17 inches of rain had been registered at the U. S. experiment farm, one mile north of Big Spring. That included rainfall up to 8 a. m. today.

As an Armistice day program was beginning, and preparations being made for the annual football game here this afternoon between Sweetwater and Big Spring high school eleven, the sun was still being held back by moisture heavy clouds.

The rain has been general over Howard county, although light east of the Howard county line, it was declared.

Production Of Crude Drops During Week

Decline In Nation Is 43,323 Barrels Says Journal

TULSA, Nov. 11.—The country's production of crude oil dropped sharply in the week ended November 8, continuing the downward movement that has been in progress for several weeks.

The daily average production, as estimated by the Oil and Gas Journal was 2,315,881 barrels, a decline of 43,323 under the preceding week's figure.

Oklahoma, with a decline of 34,935 barrels was the pace setter. The drop, for which the Oklahoma City field was largely responsible, carried the state's output to 489,060 barrels, the lowest level in four years.

Southwest Texas, a heavy oil area, contributed 15,632 barrels of the country's decline, its production being placed at 103,236. Of the total decrease, 23,607 barrels was in light gravity oil and 19,716 in heavy gravity oil.

Total production of the midcontinent area, including both light and heavy oils, was 1,217,771 barrels, a decrease of 28,392. The shifts in the area outside of Oklahoma were small. An increase of 2,983 placed the Texas Panhandle output at 81,330 barrels, and Kansas production was 117,260 barrels, a gain of 3,060.

Eastern production was unchanged at 113,900 barrels. California had an average of 514,000 barrels in light oil production, an increase of 6,500 and 86,000 in heavy oil production, a decrease of 1,000 barrels. Rocky Mountain production was 101,411 barrels, a drop of 2,360.

I.C.C. To Hear New Plea For A&S Extension

Application of the Abilene & Southern Railway for permission to extend its line from Ballinger to San Angelo, a distance of 39 miles, was open for re-argument today, on a date to be announced later.

The interstate commerce commission yesterday gained permission for new arguments on the proposed construction, previously endorsed, with conditions, by a commission examiner, but denied by the commission itself. The application was supported at extensive hearings several months ago by San Angelo and other cities, but was opposed by the Santa Fe railway, which asserted its subsidiary, the Bent railway, would be paralleled.

FORT WORTH, Nov. 11.—Gen. John A. Hulien, vice-president of the Fort Worth and Denver City railway, said yesterday an early attempt would be made to reach an agreement with the Chicago, Rock Island and Gulf railway in regard to building in the Panhandle. Discussing refusal of the Interstate Commerce to rescind a ruling sanctioning extension of the Denver from Childress to Pampa, General Hulien said the construction would begin at the earliest possible date after an accord with the Rock Island as to joint use of trackage between Shamrock and Wellington. The extension will cost approximately $4,000,000.

Three Humble Stations Prey In Night Raids

Quality Service Station Fourth Victim Of Robbers

Burglars again pried their trade in Big Spring Monday night, entering and robbing four filling stations, and getting away with approximately $150 worth of merchandise and money.

Three of the stations robbed belong to the Humble Oil and Refining Co. Humble station No. 302, Seury street, was robbed of $3 in cash, 84 gallons of gasoline and a quantity of accessories, including spark plugs, light bulbs and other material.

Humble station No. 90, east Third street, was robbed of $21 in cash, three gallons of oil and a box of spark plugs.

Although the Humble station No. 92, 509 West Third street, was entered, nothing was taken according to a check made this morning.

Eleven inner tubes were taken from the Quality Service Station, 412 East Third street. Fifty cents in pennies, two second-hand tires and a quantity of tire patch, also was taken.

In each of the burglaries, the same method of entering was used. A glass panel in the front door was broken and the door opened from the inside. City and county officers were working on the robberies today.

News Bulletins Picture First Armistice Day

Peace Story Made History 12 Years Ago

EDITOR'S NOTE
This "Armistice day" story is written by Drake Simpson, Associated Press staff writer whose series of stories on "The Unknown Soldier" in November, 1921, won a Pulitzer prize as the outstanding reportorial work of the year.

By KIRKE SIMPSON
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Armistice day, 1930!

Twelve years ago today official word came tapping over thousands of miles of waiting wires that the World War was ended—the armistice signed.

Three hours later, at 11 o'clock a. m., Paris time 6 o'clock for a vast army of sleepers was wakened in Washington—the last gun roared on the western front. The carnage had ended; the post-war chaos began.

One moment, as that fateful message came in over wires held for hours to receive it, the nation was girded for war.

Virtually in the next instant all was changed—as if a control lever in some titanic engine had been set over. The nation was in reverse from its war effort.

Most Graphic
Nowhere is the American story of that 24 hours of the first Armistice day told more graphically, more succinctly than in the minute-by-minute report that went from Washington over Associated Press wires that day.

It takes more than 100 pages of closely-written newspaper "flimsy" to tell it—pages now drawing, untouched for years, amid files of the Washington office.

speaking the story of that day to morning papers of the far west.

The last regular news story of November 10 out of Washington was "cleared" at 1:15 a. m. November 11. It was a battle communique from General Pershing's headquarters in France.

"Flash"
Then a half-hour pause with Washington silent.

"A series of low-level operations by the first and second armies resulted in considerable gains today." . . . In the West, despite stubborn resistance . . . the towns of Marcheville and St. Hilaire were taken and Bois Domartin cleared of the enemy.

At 2:45 a. m. comes this message: "FLASH: ARMISTICE SIGNED." At 2:52 this follows: "Washington, Nov. 11.—The World War will end this morning at 11 o'clock, Paris time. This announcement was made by the state department at 2:50 o'clock this morning."

"Then in brief 'bulletins' follows a summary of expected terms of the armistice, as yet unknown. They were strikingly close on later comparison with actual stipulations of Marshal Foch.

For almost 21 hours thereafter, at intervals of a few minutes, followed such developments as these: 5:11 a. m.—"Armistice terms will be made public after 8 a. m."

7:38 a. m.—"The World was ended at 6 o'clock this morning." Washington time, with revolution in Germany and William II, Kaiser, former emperor, a fugitive from his native land—this a "general lead" of several hundred words rounding up the whole situation at that hour.

8:43—By that time a column and a half story on probable steps in civil and military demobilization had been sent.

"Joy"
9:11—"Washington's joy . . . quietly manifested" the first item on popular reception of the news.

9:25—Preparations to cancel draft calls for 300,000 men during November, "some of them moving to the camps this morning."

9:52—President Wilson cancels November draft calls.

10:36—Text of President's proclamation of armistice to "My Fellow Countrymen."

10:45—President to read terms to joint session of congress at 1 p. m.

10:58—Secretary Baker outlines draft cancellation plans; Secretary Daniels says navy calls stand temporarily.

11:03—President begins address to congress. Eighteen brief bulletins skeletonizing armistice terms follow, cleared on wires by 1:38 p. m.

1:55 a. m.—Secretary Lansing denies United States opposed easier armistice terms to Germany.

12:15 p. m.—President greets war workers parade at White House, drives to capitol through cheering crowds.

1:30—President begins address to congress. Eighteen brief bulletins skeletonizing armistice terms follow, cleared on wires by 1:38 p. m.

1:40—Full text of armistice.

Historians, so they say, delve into statistics, go back into the past and drag into the present some of the things of bygone days. Which is their business. History and statistics combined, show that since 1924 the Big Spring Steers and Sweetwater Mustangs have broken even on games—three each.

In 1924 the Steers beat the Ponies 46 to 0. The next year, which all rights would be 1925, the Mustangs copped a 6 to 0 decision. In 1926 the Steers again shifted, the Steers tuning in on a 7 to 0 victory. In 1927, the Ponies eked out a one-point victory, winning 14 to 13. They repeated in 1928, copping 6 to 0. In 1929, the Steers evened the ledger up by winning a 12 to 0 decision over the Mustangs. So today's contest is the rubber game. By history, it is Sweetwater's time to win. By strength on the field, it is Big Spring's.

The Southwestern Conference schedule for the weekend shows Texas against T. C. U. at Fort Worth; Baylor versus Arkansas at Fayetteville; Rice versus A. & M. at College Station; Southern Methodist versus the Navy at Baltimore. Naming the prospective winners in order, Texas, Baylor, A. & M., S. M. U. (with six points).

Gabby Hartnett, the Chicago Cubs catcher, is at his wits' end, again. A news story being circulated around informs the public just exactly what catchers say to pitchers when things go wrong. Asked a question by the master of ceremonies at a Chicago theater, Gabby answered:

"Gabby," asked the m. c., "the fans would like to know what you say to a pitcher when you walk out to the box after you dig one out of the dirt?"

"Well," said Gabby, "I just say, 'Harold, you really mustn't do that.'"

Down the Bankhead Highway to day two of the greatest high school football enemies in Texas are fighting it out. Cisco and Ranger are meeting in Ranger, and the

As the sun and an overcast sky fought this morning for supremacy, two football teams were set for their annual game this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Sweetwater and Big Spring high school elevens, who have been battling each other for quite a number of years, will clash in the "rubber" game of a seven year stretch.

San Angelo admits it or does not.

Weather conditions Friday indicated the mud bogs would be dragged into use at the Steer Stadium (that's the new name of the athletic field) this evening. There is no telling what will happen out there this eve if the soil is saturated with precipitation. Anything could and anything might. In a long distance telephone call with Albert Sledge, the Sweetwater sports chronicler, a mournful tune was crooned. That makes two mournful tunes, as we also are whistling one. We cannot afford to allow our great amount of optimism, that nature to nicely endow us with, to spread through the ranks of the Steers.

Rain insurance was taken on today's contest, so if the sun comes out after a few drops have been sprinkled around the field, the grid fund may be bolstered somewhat. Which is one of the things it needs most of.

Our guess on today's contest—Big Spring 12, Sweetwater 7.

It might be added here that we've picked fewer winners than any other fan in town this year. We'll beat someone to that crack. Even a young man named Witt, who draws funny looking pictures for a local firm, can click the week's winners off his fingers with much gusto. Even one McGaha who creates quite a disturbance in the rear end of this establishment, selected some 26 out of 40 correctly, and looked about eight like gamblers.

Jim Cantrell, former Colorado coach, won't officiate at today's game. Sweetwater protested him, it is understood. So Gulgightly will bring along some one with him from Lubbock. Johnny Grea, of Abilene, will be the third man, so they say.

Although the fray itself will start at 2:30 o'clock, dedicatory services for the new athletic field, which has been named Steer Stadium, will be held at 2 o'clock. The services will include introduction of team captains, officials of the game, coaches and others. Short talks will be made by local school officials, as well as those of the Sweetwater school. The field will be christened by Miss Dorothy Ellington, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. O. Ellington. Dr. Ellington is president of the school board.

Light but fast, the Mustangs will invade Big Spring at 1:30 today on a special train from Sweetwater bearing pep squad, band and fans.

The Ponies this year will find a forward wall that is composed of some very tough young fellows about the size of the average young milk cow. Behind this mass of humanity will rest Delbert Rogers, the best defensive back in this section. Bill Flowers, who has scampered his way through a number of teams along the line, and Bob Kidwell, a rugged back.

The announcement made by coach Bill Stevens Monday morning that Nugie Mims, regular quarterback, would not be in the game had not been changed this morning. Absence of Mims will mean that Howard Schwarzenbach, a flyweight, will start the game, with Harris, Stamm and Richbourg standing ready to get into the conflict. Rogers will be shifted to quarter, with Schwarzenbach going to fullback. Kidwell and Flowers will take the halves.

The line will consist of the usual stellar, with the exception that Heblson won't start the game as he usually does a guard. Red Coburn will replace the blond haired behemoth in that position. Glover will assume the responsibility of the other guard, with Brownie Hanshaw and Eddie Maxwell holding down the tackle berths. Coats and Phillips will be the starting wingmen, with Pardue the bul-

Bird Declared Eligible By Officials

Chuckaluck Bird, the two fullbacks of the Ranger high school eleven, was given an O. K. as a bona fide resident of the Ranger fire station by the district committee at a meeting held at Abilene Monday night.

It was contended by Cisco, the party on the business end of the protest, that Bird was ineligible because his parents did not reside in Ranger, while his mother lives at Mineral Wells. Bird was a Mineral Wells product before Ranger sportmen saw him in action and lured him away from his native lair.

As a result of clearing up Bird's eligibility, Ranger goes into the Cisco-Ranger fray today heavy favorites to cop the annual affair.

YOUR INSURANCE PROTECTION MUST NOT LAG

MODERN business is restless with ambition. Never still, never satisfied, it constantly seeks new methods, new appliances, new uses. A ceaseless reshaping of practices, readjustment of facilities.

Not only has modern business required new forms of indemnity, but new manufacturing processes and new buildings of undreamed proportions have brought new fire hazards.

STOCK FIRE INSURANCE

has not only met the insurance requirements, but by research, engineering and laboratory tests has discounted the new hazards to such an extent that its average cost has constantly declined for more than twenty years.

Under the system of establishing fire insurance rates, Stock Fire Insurance company engineers have surveyed practically every commercial building in the United States, whether insured or not, and have on file minute details of construction, occupancy, protection, exposure and other information relating to fire hazards.

Stock Fire Insurance surveys buildings and their contents—studies neighborhood and community conditions—offers advice—makes recommendations—points out hazards—establishes facts by which risks are measured.

To this end it maintains Underwriters' Laboratories, where thousands of materials and devices are tested for safety purposes, and, when approved, are so labelled.

In many other ways it contributes to commercial stability by providing standards of safety.

If fire should come— Would You Be Protected?

Tomorrow, those fire trucks may not speed thrillingly past, but may stop right in front of your own home. Don't be a victim to the idea that you or your property are immune to fire loss. Exercise every reasonable care to safeguard your property and to prevent fires, but be sure of protection by carrying adequate insurance. . . and be sure that your premiums are kept paid. . . the protection costs very little compared with the loss you may sustain.

Artist and Model for 1930 Red Cross Poster

Mr. Lawrence Wilbur, shown in his New York studio, painting the poster which is used in the 1930 Roll Call of the American Red Cross, to urge every one to join as a member this year.

A SYMBOLICAL figure is selected each year to represent the American Red Cross and its service to the nation, for wide distribution in poster form during the organization's annual appeal for members, at the period of its Roll Call, Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day. A poster competition is held, in which prominent artists of the United States participate, and a committee selects the painting which shall carry the Red Cross message for that year. Lawrence Wilbur, a distinguished artist, with studio in New York, is the creator this year of the magnificent figure representing the spirit of motherhood and of the Red Cross, hovering over the world. The phrase "The Greatest Mother" was first applied to the Red Cross during the World War, by the soldiers on the battlefield and in hospital. All of the great poster artists of America have at one period or another since 1917 presented their conception of the spirit of the Red Cross. An early poster by Howard Chandler Christy, entitled "The Spirit of America," and one by Harrison Fisher, depicting a Red Cross nurse, are on exhibition in the original in the Red Cross museum in Washington, together with other originals. The first creation of "The Greatest Mother" was by A. E. Foringer and was considered the most appealing poster ever used by the Red Cross. It showed a spiritual mother-figure, holding in her arms a wounded soldier, on a stretcher. Many artists have used the figure of a Red Cross nurse, until these two ideas—the spiritual

"There are scoops in industry as in publishing. And it takes a great deal of enterprise to score them. Your use of the Ultra Violet Ray in the 'Toasting' of the LUCKY STRIKE tobaccos is a scoop that makes front page news for every smoker."

Herbert Fleishhacker

Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why TOASTING includes the use of the Ultra Violet Ray. LUCKY STRIKE—the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so TOASTING removes harmful irritants that cause throat irritation and coughing. No wonder 20,679 physicians have stated LUCKIES to be less irritating!

charming and romantically minded daughter of a county minister. To shorten a tedious tale, my dear Rose, she married him. In fact she eloped with him.

"It is to be supposed that she knew he was only a book but believed that he would make her a faithful and kind husband. Herein she was most tragically mistaken. When their daughter was only one year old, he abandoned her without making the slightest provision for her future and returned to the woman Muir. It was, of course, necessary that he should earn a livelihood for himself and Muir and he took a post as cook in an insignificant private hotel in Southcliff. Muir took rooms nearby and there in due course, a daughter was born.

"It would seem that Conalidine's affection for this unfortunate woman and her child was of no more stable a nature than his so-called affection for his wife; for when Muir's child was somewhere near its first birthday, the father left Southcliff and went to New York. And there he fell in again with Bolt for a short time they worked together and then there was a quarrel—a very violent quarrel. A part of it was overheard by our later Bolt and was very brutally murdered and Conalidine had disappeared. Although the most exhaustive search was made for him, he was not found. He has never been heard of again."

Rose was twisting her watch round and round her wrist. There was something odd about this story—something that didn't fit. She would work out presently what it was. Then she knew that Mr. Perle was going to work it out for her.

"All this happened, my dear Rose, about 20 years ago. That is to say that at the present time, Conalidine's daughter—christened Rose after her mother—would be between 23 and 24. And the child of Margot, born of course out of wedlock, would be between 21 and 22."

HE IS NOT UNKNOWN

Nobody knows his name; yet simple heroism needs no other calling. Nobody knows his creed...or whether he had a creed...yet no more sublime lesson than self-sacrifice is learned within church walls.

He may have been a toiling clerk whose scope encompassed only the task before him. Or his life may have been as far-flung as the mist-blue western hills toward which he pushed his plow.

Who he was, or what he was, matters little.

He was American. The sun-warmed Virginia hillside where he sleeps is his soil for it is American. The ideals for which he died were the fruit of a tradition characteristically American; a tradition of freedom that has heard ax strokes in a clearing, pen scratches at Independence Hall and "Cuba Libre" at San Juan Hill.

Nobody knows what he did or where he fell. Yet in honoring him, we cherish the remembrance of those who marched an unknown road far longer than the one to St. Mihiel or Vaux.

For the Unknown Soldier is not unknown. His name is known to those who called him buddy; he still marches with the Immortal Fifty Thousand. Though they have never returned, they are all the more glorious for the misty years that separate us from them.

THE UNKNOWN SOLDIER

He is known to the sun-white Majesties
Who stand at the gates of dawn.
He is known to the cloud-borne company
Whose souls but late have gone.
Like wind-flung stars through lattice bars
They throng to greet their own,
With voice of flame they sound his name
Who died to us unknown.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Pastor of the First Baptist Church of Big Spring, Texas. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

My child has required constant care, so I have been unable to attend church services regularly; consequently I have lost the sense of fellowship with those who are so essential to me. I am to teach my child and build the foundation of religious faith for her while she is young. Can you mention some books which would help me to understand the Bible, or possibly a translation into modern English?

Marion, Ohio
I want to find some means that will help me in Bible study, but it must not be too difficult. I have been hearing a good deal lately about the Abingdon Bible Commentary. Do you think this would meet my needs, or is there something better?

May I suggest that there is no reason why you should lose touch with your Heavenly Father while you are engaged in caring for your child. She is also His child, and you are doing His work as a faithful mother. No one serves God's Kingdom on earth more faithfully than devoted parents who love and obey Him.

I keep the Abingdon Bible Commentary and several other single volume Commentaries on the Bible on my desk and find them useful. It is my judgment that the Abingdon is the best for you and any other American Protestant who desires to know what the Book actually says and means. It presents in a single volume of four-teen hundred pages, and in readable, accessible ways, the best modern scholarship concerning the many important questions bearing on the explanation of Holy Scripture.

You may rest assured of your acceptance by Him who is the Father of us all. So give your believing self a chance and to strengthen its aspirations, read "The $5.00 Bible" by James G. McKim, the Christian Content of the Bible, by N. Gilber, and "The $5.00 Bible" by A. C. Benson. The titles indicate in a general way the contents of these volumes, and they should prove helpful.

You may also consult the Commentaries of Peake, Dummelow and Gray, all excellent works. The five dollars spent on the Abingdon will prove the most profitable investment you could make in the interest of Bible study.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—Kid Chocolate, Cuban negro flash, will clash with Bat Battalino, world featherweight champion, in a 15-round titular bout in Madison Square Garden Friday, December 12. The championship duel will be the headline attraction of the annual show sponsored by the New York American.

Chocolate gained the "title shot" a few days after the most disappointing showing he has made in an American ring. The Cuban was decisively outpointed by Fidel La Barba, former flyweight champion, last week. Battalino's handlers saw the Chocolate-La Barba bout and evidently decided the Cuban had slipped badly.

Battalino has not fought in New York since he lifted the crown from Andre Routsis at Hartford, Conn., September 23, 1929. The Connecticut boy has defended his title several times since then but has done most of his campaigning among the second-raters.

The garden announced La Barba would meet Bud Taylor of Terre Haute, Ind., in a ten-rounder Friday, Nov. 28.

All-Conference Material Emerges From Conflicts

By GAYLE TALBOT JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Nov. 11 (AP)—Four or five outstanding candidates for places on the 1936 All-Southwest Conference eleven emerged from Saturday's conflicts. Similar play on the next three week-ends would make them hard to leave off of any selection.

Jake Wilson, elusive little quarterback, and Captain Bochey Koch, husky guard of the Baylor Bears played the kind of football against Texas that earned them almost unanimous berths last fall. Wilson still is the greatest kicker the conference has seen in recent years and the hardest man in the section to stop in a broken field. Koch is the conference's outstanding guard.

Texas displayed a pair of sophomores, Stafford and Blanton, who appear determined to break into the mythical line-up. Stafford, a strapping halfback, has starred for the Longhorns against Oklahoma, Southern Methodist and Baylor. It was his 53-yard run for a touchdown in the third period that blighted Baylor's hopes. Blanton has been playing a superb tackle for the Steers all year and, in addition, is a field-goal threat anywhere inside 30 yards.

Another pair of beginners played a big part in helping the champion Horned Frogs crush Rice at Houston. Blanton Spearman made a number of sensational runs to take the play from his more noted teammate, Cy Leland. Spearman has looked great all year. Then there was Johnny Naught, a sophomore guard, who covered himself with glory against the Owls. Lane Coach "Dutch" Meyer of the Frogs has said that Naught is the best guard he has had in years.

The Southern Methodist Aggie line here, from all accounts, failed to produce any individual brilliance to speak of, although Harry Stiller, the Farmers' diminutive quarterback, made a favorable impression on the critics.

Jack Dempsey was selected to referee the bout.

Mike Maurer, another of "Pa" Stribling's protégés, was pitted against Roy Reiver of Philadelphia in the semi-final. The main bout was scheduled for 4 p. m. (Central Standard Time).

STIRBLING TO CLASH WITH DE KUH

ATLANTA, Nov. 11 (AP)—Young Stribling, fistie pride of Macon, Ga., was confident of adding Arthur De Kuh, New York Italian, today to a knockout list which bears the names of Otto Von Porat, Phil Scott and K. O. Christian.

Stribling's ten-round afternoon match with De Kuh in the Atlanta baseball park marked his first ring appearance in his native Southland since he began a knock-out campaign by flooring Von Porat.

Stribling and De Kuh have been working out here since last Thursday. Both said they were in good trim. De Kuh planned to weigh in at 222 with Stribling tipping the beam a few pounds over the 190 mark.

An Atlas White stucco finish for the cost of two paintings

Aside from architectural changes, the average old home of frame construction can be overcoated with stucco made with Atlas White portland cement for about the cost of painting the same house twice. And such a treatment of its exterior is a permanent improvement.

Besides its economy and permanence, there are many other qualities recommending Atlas White stucco to those who plan to build a new home or remodel their old one. There are few materials with as wide a range of color and texture. Atlas White stucco is weather-proof and fireproof. (A stucco coating on an old frame house of course does not make it absolutely fireproof, but does make it fire-resistant.)

Ask your building material dealer, architect or contractor to help you with suggestions and prices on finishing your home with Atlas White stucco.

Atlas Cement is made at Waco—by Texas workers—of Texas materials. Along with other economical quality products, your building material dealer can quickly furnish you either Atlas portland cement (gray) or non-staining Atlas White portland cement. Ask for Atlas cements.

"HERE'S ANOTHER ADVERTISEMENT ON GERM PROCESSED OIL . . . I CHANGED TO IT YESTERDAY—AND FOR ONCE JIM AND I ARE AGREED"

TEST BOARD
AAA
CERTIFIED TEST

Following the Pike's Peak Tests, where Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil was tested side by side with three other popular, nationally known oils, the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association issued Certificate of Performance number 2268, comprising 14 points, of which the point below is one.

POINT NO. 8

"That carbon deposits collected from the combustion chambers and cylinder heads and weighed by the official chemist were shown by the records of the test to be less after the use of the subject oil than after the use of the comparables."

CONOCO

The recent Pike's Peak tests disclosed some startling facts about motor oil. . . Free booklet at all CONOCO stations.

Even the women are becoming conscious of one oil brand, instead of just asking for "a quart of oil." That brand is rapidly becoming Conoco Germ-Processed.

The reason is simple. For, while these women don't think much of technical discussions of "adsorption," and "Penetrative Lubricity," every one of them knows what we mean when we say: "This oil actually penetrates metal surfaces." Then, the sensational proof of Conoco Germ-Processed oil in the recent Pike's Peak Tests and at the Indianapolis and Altoona races, appeals to practical-minded women who want to be shown.

For there is just as much difference in motor oils as there is in cold cream. Some oils, as with some inferior creams, simply lay on the surfaces to which they are applied: While Germ-Processed oil, like a fine cold cream, penetrates deep into the "pores" (there are pores in metal, you know) and there performs its true function.

The assurance and peace of mind which comes from this penetrating quality of Germ-Processed oil, instantly stamps this as every woman's favorite brand. That's why we see both men and women so well represented among our customers . . . at the Sign of the Red Triangle.
