HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

Nationally, the Democrats poured it on 'em.

In Texas the folks broke the old tradition that no matter how meritorious they will not amend the constitution.

Developments of west Texas will be materially quickened by taxation of University of Texas lands, which one of the amendments adopted makes possible.

Another old belief returned this year in Texas, you may recall, was through the nomination of Ross Sterling—a rich man. Until August it is about as easy for a rich man to go through the eye of a needle, literally, as for one to be nominated for governor.

Very few of the boys who voted in the Democratic primary in Howard county bolted to the Republican ticket Tuesday, according to the returns. One or two boxes which went heavily for Mrs. Ferguson last summer produced a good portion of votes for Tolson in the general election, which may and may not mean anything. May be some republicans just moved in.

It looks, at last, as if we're going to have an opportunity of saying whether we want a good, permanent improved system of state and county roads in Howard county.

Once the proposition is put to a vote we believe the necessary bond issue will be adopted. There are, after all, few people who will vote against sound progressive movements just for the sake of doing so. A handful may feel they are having a hard time and labor under the delusion they will be talking revenge by voting against such a measure as a road bond issue. The question is just who would they be hunting, anyway?

Howard county needs the road. Howard county can pay for them. Howard county will get them.

Winkler County Oil Production Reduced 20,000

FORT WORTH, Nov. 5 (AP)—Allowable production from Winkler county, was cut to 69,000 barrels daily, a reduction of 20,000 barrels daily, after one of the shortest meetings pertaining to proration yet held by the Texas railroad commission.

There was no objection voiced to the suggestion that outlet be reduced 20,000 barrels and the railroad commission represented by Commissioners C. V. Terrell and Lon A. Smith, issued the order immediately after all operators represented had ratified the plan.

Potential production of Winkler county is approximately 160,000 barrels, daily, but its average daily yield has hovered around the 70,000 barrel mark even under allowable of 80,000 barrels daily.

R. D. Parker, chief supervisor of the oil and gas division of the railroad commission; L. E. Barrows, district manager of the Texas Company and chairman of the Winkler county proration committee were among those present.

Highway Board Petitions Soon To Be Offered

Many To Assist With Circulation Of Lists

Residents of Big Spring will have a chance to prove their spirit of progressiveness within the next few days. C. T. Watson, manager of the Chamber of Commerce told members of the Business Men's Luncheon Club today, in roughly outlining the program to pass a county-wide bond issue for construction of highways and roads.

According to Watson, within the next few days at least 20 business men will be called upon to assist in circulating petitions among Howard County voters asking the commissioners' court to call the bond election. It is planned to send four men into each community, and to present the petition to every qualified voter in the county. Residents in the various school communities will be asked to work with the Chamber of Commerce in obtaining signatures for the petitions.

Watson urged members of the club to respond when called upon to assist in the work.

It is planned, he declared, to have a resident in every block of Big Spring work on the project, and to see that voters are taken to the polls when the election is held. Only a short outline of the campaign was given by Watson as time was nearly up when he was called upon.

The Armistice Day program was given with Cecil C. Collins as chairman. Ex-service men were asked to stand and tell what division they were with in the war. Six were present.

Short talks relative to the war were made by Dr. Charles C. Carter, who was stationed in China, and M. R. Showalter, who was in France.

Songs that were popular during the war were sung by the assembly. A short musical program of wartime hymns was given by the Jackson Sisters, violinists, accompanied by Miss Roberta Gay, pianist.

B. Of R. T. Protest Consolidation Of Santa Fe Trains

FORT WORTH, Nov. 5 (AP)—Representatives of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen today protested the petition of the Fort Worth & Denver City.

Authority to consolidate trains for authority to consolidate trains 5 and 6, southbound, between Dallas and Amarillo, at a hearing here before the railroad commission.

Commissioners Lon A. Smith and C. V. Terrell, and Walter Gerton, railroad inspector for the commission, and L. A. Gueringer, the commission's railroad engineer, conducted the hearing, which ended at 11:30 a. m. Ten days were allowed for filing of briefs.

The order of the commission issued Oct. 25, authorizing consolidation of the trains, has been suspended pending outcome of the hearing.

H. G. Hamrick, Amarillo; J. T. Stedham, Fort Worth; J. T. Moore, Smithville, and O. L. Kinney, San Antonio, representatives of the railway brotherhood and protested the consolidation on grounds that it is unnecessary and would not only work a hardship on employees of the trains which would be discontinued, but would mean an inconvenience to passenger service.

Testimony based primarily on exhibits was submitted by J. H. Barrow, attorney for the railroad, showing expenditure and returns on the four trains during a given period of time.

Among the Democratic nominees who were elected to congress and as governors of states in the general elections of Tuesday, were: Tom J. Hamilton Lewis, w. t. Democrat, who overwhipped Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, republican in the senatorial race in Illinois; center left, W. H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, Democrat, elected governor of Oklahoma over Ira A. Hall, Republican; right center, Huey P. Long, governor of Louisiana, who was sent to the U. S. senate representing the Democrats; bottom, Edward P. Costigan, Colorado Democrat senatorial nominee, who was elected.

Democrats Drive Toward Tie In Senate And Threaten Republican Lead In House Late Returns Show

By BYRON PRICE
Associated Press Staff Writer
The off year political revolt which toppled a half dozen state administrations at yesterday's election was furnishing a spectacular sequel today in a remarkably balanced struggle for control of congress.

It appeared at 2:30 p. m., eastern time, that the Democrats had captured almost exactly half the places in both senate and house. They had elected or were leading for 49 of the 96 senate seats, and for somewhat more than 200 of the house membership of 435.

As the political leaders scanned the growing totals, and both sides claimed victory, they found that Idaho, Massachusetts, and Ohio had joined Connecticut in changing Republicans for Democrats as governors, and that Republican governorships in Minnesota and Oregon apparently had been captured by a Farmer-Labor and an Independent.

The day's more complex returns on Governor Roosevelt's crushing reelection in New York lifted his plurality near to 750,000. In Pennsylvania Gifford Pinchot finally came through with a Republican majority for governor, but it was hard going, and the final margin was small.

HOWARD VOTES FAVOR ALL OF AMENDMENTS

O. Dubberly was elected the first district clerk of Howard County by a good lead over an announced field of five candidates, at the general election held Tuesday, according to complete returns received from 11 of the 15 boxes in the county.

Returns from Morris, Gay Hill, Hillar and Hiway had not been received this morning.

Dubberly has a lead of 189 votes over his nearest opponent, and returns from the other three boxes cannot effect the outcome of the race. No majority is required in a general election.

The 11 complete boxes gave Dubberly a total of 421 votes. Miss Julia Boyce of Coahoma received 22; C. T. Tucker of Big Spring being third with 186. W. A. Prescott received 129 votes and R. F. Cherry Lawrence 79. A. C. Walker, deputy county clerk in charge of the district office, and who was not an announced candidate for the office, received 53 votes. J. O. Tammitt, deputy tax collector, who was not a candidate received one vote.

Chaloma
With 59 votes, W. J. Jackson of Coahoma was elected Justice of the Peace of Precinct No. 2. J. G. Graham of Coahoma, was elected Justice of the Peace of Precinct No. 1. P. Phillips, Chaloma, was named Justice of the Peace of Precinct No. 3. J. Slaughter, sheriff, and Loy Sheriff, tax collector-elect, lead the ticket with 112 votes. This is from 12 complete boxes, as the Morris box was complete excepting the district clerk's race.

Noting was light in the 12 boxes heard from, there being only 1192 votes accounted for. The voting strength of the county is over 2,500.

The five proposed amendments to the state constitution carried in this county by good majorities. The following table shows the results in the 12 boxes accounted for:

For Supreme Court amendment, 490; against, 97.
For University Land Tax amendment, 511; against, 83.
For fixing terms of the Legislature, 410; against, 128.
For increasing legislators' salaries, 392; against, 172.
For University fund amendment, 417; against, 110.

William E. Talbot, Republican candidate for governor, lead his ticket with 137 votes. Ross Sterling, Democratic candidate received 928. L. L. Rhodes, specialist candidate, received three, and J. S. Shannon, communist party candidate, one.

Results in another major state race, was Morris Sheppard, Democratic candidate for the United States Senate, 10414; Doran John Haesly, Republican, 33; Guy L. Smith, socialist, 2; and W. A. Berry, communist, 1.

R. E. Thomason, democratic candidate for Congress, 16th district, 1004; Mitchell Waldrop, Republican, 31.
Republican votes for other offices ranged from 29 to 33.

Cost of Proposed Improvements On Howard County Lateral Roads Presented By State Department

Estimates of costs of construction of two different types of lateral roads have been received by Judge H. R. Debevoise from the state highway engineer.

The figures were prepared by W. E. Van London, resident engineer, Abilene, of the highway department. Van London made his estimates on lateral roads from Coahoma to Vincent to Big Spring. He came to Big Spring and prepared this data in order that the commissioners' court might make estimates of the proposed county-wide road issue.

According to Van London's statement, a road with no surfacing would cost $2,875 per mile, while a surfaced road would cost $5,497 per mile.

STERLING ELECTED

DALLAS, Nov. 5 (AP)—Additional compilation today by the Texas Election Bureau of returns from yesterday's election in Texas did not change any of the indicated results.

With nearly half of the estimated total vote counted, the five proposed constitutional amendments appeared to be safe. The least popular of the five was still leading by a majority of more than five to three.

The lead of Rep. Harry M. Wurzbach, Republican, in his successful race for re-election in the fourteenth district, mounted with every new tabulation. The latest figures gave Wurzbach 20,648 votes to 14,799 for Henry B. Deinmann, the Democratic nominee.

Ross S. Sterling's majority over Col. William E. Talbot in the governor's race continued almost 5 to 1. The latest count gave the Democratic nominee and chairman of the state highway commission 120,763 votes to 25,952 for Talbot. The returns were from 160 of the state's 253 counties, including 9 samples.

The vote on the constitutional changes followed: To double the length of legislative sessions, for, 66,701; against, 27,232; to double the salaries of legislators, for, 62,474; against, 34,732; to eliminate the unpaid three months vacation for the supreme court, for, 73,544; against, 25,329; to widen the investment field for the University of Texas fund, for, 65,990; against, 31,109; to allow counties to tax University of Texas lands within their boundaries, for, 69,109; against, 28,782.

A. F. Henning, manager of the election bureau, said he was not convinced the legislative salaries amendment had carried. He added he did not believe the favorable margin would fade away to the vanishing point unless the total vote reached about 400,000, which was not expected.

D. W. Christian Jr., Opens Salesroom

D. W. Christian Jr. has opened a salesroom at 1046 East First for the sale of Oliver farm equipment in this territory. The line includes Hart-Parr tractors as well as implements of all kinds. Mr. Christian received his first carload of machinery this week and is expecting more in the next few days.

A 30-car train of Oliver farm equipment has just been shipped into Texas from the Charles City, Iowa, factory for the Texas territory, according to Mr. Christian. John Paul Jones, district block man with headquarters in Brownwood, is in Big Spring assisting in the opening of the new salesroom.

Mr. Christian has a farm 12 miles north of Big Spring where he expects to give demonstrations of the implements he sells.

Dairy Employees Found Disposed Are Discharged

Two employees of a local dairy, who handled milk daily, were ordered discharged Tuesday by the city health department, when physical examinations disclosed they were suffering from venereal disease, Jimmy Williams, city sanitation inspector, said Wednesday. Both the employees had been at work for several months in a plant that marketed milk in the city.

Physical examinations, and issuance of health certificates to all milk handlers is required under the standard milk ordinance now in effect here.

The grading costs on this type would amount to $650 per mile, including right of way, grading, 500, and drainage structures, $300. Surfacing amount to $4,847, including purchase of caliche, 3,100 cubic yards at five cents a yard, $155; stripping pits, 500 cubic yards at twenty cents a yard, $100; caliche, first one-quarter of a mile, 3,000 yards at forty cents per yard, $1,200; two mile haul, 24,800 additional one-quarter of a mile, at five cents, $1,240; and asphalt surface, 10,560 square yards at twenty cents a yard, $2,112.

The grading cost for the six inch caliche road, with no surfacing would be the same as the other, $60 per mile.

I. C. C. Orders Hearing Held In Plains City

Many Intervene For And Against Construction Of Line

The interstate commerce commission Wednesday ordered a hearing December 8 at Lubbock to consider proposal of the Texas & Pacific Northern Railway Company to build 332 miles of new line in Texas from Big Spring northward to Vega, Amarillo and Lubbock, according to Associated Press dispatches.

Texas & Pacific attorneys have been seeking for several weeks to hasten the hearing of the T&PN application and Lubbock has been considered all along as the most logical place for it to be held.

The construction is opposed by the Santa Fe, the Rock Island, and the Fort Worth & Denver City. Lubbock is expected to intervene against the application. Oilton seeks to have the line touch it and will intervene with that view, it is understood.

Interveners for the application total about 25. Among them are Chambers of Commerce and other agencies representing Amarillo, Vega, Hereford, Levelland, Littlefield, Brownfield, Lamesa, Big Spring, Abilene, Lubbock, Dimmitt, the Texas & Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association and a number of shippers.

The towns along the proposed line will be represented by Major Fred N. Oliver, Washington, D. C., retained jointly as special counsel, Garland A. Woodward, Big Spring, who represented the city in the successfully prosecuted hearing on the Texas & New Mexico extension from Monahan to Lovington, will assist Major Oliver. Mr. Woodward has spent most of his time working on the project since the application was filed and in drawing up remuneration for it. He is a member of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce here.

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Nov. 5 (AP)—J. L. Lancaster, president of the Texas & Pacific railroad, will keep tight on filing applications until the Abilene and Southern is extended from Ballinger to San Angelo. W. R. Lence, general manager of the Abilene and Southern, said here recently.

Mr. Lence said neither he nor Mr. Lancaster were discouraged by the temporary delay but before the Interstate Commerce Commission, characterizing the battle thus far as a draw.

"We have won two votes and the Santa Fe two," he said. "We received the vote of the examiner who said we would be allowed to build here. Then we got the vote of one member of Division B of the commission. The Santa Fe got the votes of two of the commissioners. We received the vote of the chairman, and we feel he will be helpful in getting a hearing before the entire body."

He declared this city must have the direct outlet to the north and west to become a large city, adding that the Texas & Pacific was the only line that could give San Angelo the service needed.

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 5 (AP)—A special to the Dallas Times-Herald today said the Interstate Commerce Commission had announced Washington that further hearing on the application of the Southern Pacific Railway Company to acquire the Cotton Belt will be held in Dallas beginning December 1 before Examiner H. C. Davis.

The Times-Herald said from Dallas the examiner will go to Lubbock to conduct a hearing on the Texas and Pacific Railway Company's application to build 332 miles of new line from Big Spring to Vega, with branches to Lubbock and Amarillo.

The Southern Pacific-Cotton Belt hearing was opened here October 20 and continued a week, having been adjourned until further notice.

East Texan Flags Freight Train To Bum A Cigarette

GRAND SALINE, Texas, Nov. 5 (AP)—Just because he wanted a cigarette a man flagged a 74-car freight train near here to ask members of its crew for one.

The affair took place two miles east of here. The engineer noticed the man on the track wildly waving his hands, and not knowing what danger might be ahead he jammed on the brakes. The head brakeman ran up to the man and excitedly inquired the trouble. "Brother," the man answered, "just wanted a cigarette."

Selection of a jury was started with indications the entire day would be spent in examining veniremen.

Gambrell's body was exhumed and his viscera examined by a chemist, who reported poison in sufficient quantity to cause death, after officers inaugurated in investigation when their suspicions were aroused by circumstances of his death.

600 Bales Handled By Cotton Co-O

Approximately 600 bales, or an average of 50 bales per day, have been handled here by the Texas Cotton Cooperative association, according to the local office manager, Mr. Reynolds.

Prices paid have brought farmers 9 to 10-12 cents per pound, net, which represents 80 per cent of the actual cash value.

About 20 members have been signed here, one of them controlling 1,000 acres and two others 700 acres of cotton. The largest single shipment from here was 85 bales bought from one man.

Drop In Stocks Follows Election

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—The stock market turned emphatically downward by the end of the first half hour of trading, after showing an uncertain tone in the initial transactions.

A drop of $10 in Eastman Kodak was an unsettling development, and a long list of leading shares declined $1 to $3. The importance of the election results as a market factor were difficult to determine, owing to the unsettled market conditions for some time previously. Weakness in Eastman had been a notable development last week.

The heaviness of the market reflected lack of support, rather than any scale liquidation. Trading was in light volume the first half hour's sale aggregating only 250,100 shares.

The victory of candidates favoring more stringent control of public utilities in New York and Pennsylvania gubernatorial elections may have been a factor in the heaviness of utility shares, which grew more pronounced as trading progressed. American Waterworks sold off $3 a share, and United Gas Improvement, Consolidated Gas, and North America lost $1 to $2.

There are, however, still millions who believe depression or prosperity depends entirely upon the identity of the office holders.

Political humors has very little to do with conditions. Only indirect is its influence felt.

But, as Mr. Morrow points out the party that tries to take credit for the rain cannot expect but to be held responsible for drought, when it is in power.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS Jersey Billboard Law

Roanoke World-News. THOSE who have traveled over the Pennsylvania railroad to Philadelphia to Atlantic City will recall the method of billboards which the train rap on its way across the Jersey meadows.

Governor Larsen of New Jersey has just signed the bill passed by the New Jersey legislature taxing regular outdoor advertising.

No doubt there will be a court contest over this measure. The billboard interests are not disposed to question the right of the state to prohibit altogether the more objectionable form of tack-up signs.

Hollywood Sights Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD—Love at first sight, as exemplified in the romance of a vaudeville actor now in pictures.

He met her first at her dressing-room at the theater where they were both playing after he had gone in to inquire about some detail of the order of the acts.

She stared at him. "Don't you take off your hat in a lady's dressing-room?" she asked witheringly.

"Yeah," he glowered, "point 'er out." And so (sometime later) they were married—and have lived happily ever since.

SPLIT Another movie team, risen to screen fame together, is to be split and put before the box-office as independent attractions.

NOT OUT Here's hitting a man when he's down. A comedy director is making "The Hollywood Theme Song," in which musical pictures are taken for a long, risqué and opposing series of "fighting to burst into music."

Eddie Cantor has added another chapter to the history of theatrical friendships by coming to the rescue of George Olsen's night club here.

THE ROSE IN THE DARK BY ROY VICKERS

Synopsis: Saxely Grannock is sustained during the first shock of going blind by the love of Hallie Ellesmore, though he does not know she is also the nurse who caused his blindness by deserting him at a crucial moment.

"I'm perfectly willing to see Russell," said Grannock, then, "I'm willing to take any steps to recover my sight that you may advise. In the meantime, I'll adjust my life to blindness. Rose will teach me. And if one day I recover my sight—" he seemed to know by instinct where Hallie was standing, for he turned confidently in that direction.

"Yes," she promised. Lytton glanced at her as they walked away together. Against his better judgment, he muttered: "You're a plucky girl. I'm sorry I nearly gave things away when he felt for your eyebrows."

"I had a letter from him during the morning," she said. "Perhaps you'd like to read it before we start."

"The doctor took it with distaste. 'It's all fixed up, Hallie,' read Lytton. 'Eleven o'clock on Thursday morning at the municipal building. After that any paradise for two that you can think of—or what about Paris, darling? There'll be a truckful of dough coming when we're married and I can get hold of enough to give us a swell honeymoon. Hallie, you must be sure to be there at eleven or I shall have to come down and see old Socks and formally ask for your hand in marriage. I mean this and I think you know it!'"

"I don't know. I hoped that something would happen today." "What could happen?" "I thought perhaps you would help me."

"You see, it's hard for me—" her voice trembled, "to have to invent some reason—some quite unforeseen reason—why I can't marry Saxely in three weeks. It was what he suggested marrying at once and now, to be the one to back out!"

"Assuming you married Grannock as arranged," Lytton said, "what would you do if and when he found out who you were?"

"I'd do just what I felt he wanted me to do. Disappear and give him the means of freeing himself of me legally. Or stay with him in any capacity he could endure. Or—kill myself."

"Piffle!" said the doctor. "Anyway, the immediate problem is Broom. I've been thinking I might go in town and talk to him."

"It wouldn't do the least bit of good."

"No, I don't believe it would," confessed Lytton. He brooded for a moment. "Then—" "But what are you going to do?" he burst out. "If you don't marry Broom on Thursday, he'll come between you and Grannock at once. And if you do marry him, how are you going to marry Grannock in three weeks and stay with him for even the shortest feasible time?"

Sweetwater Will Run Special Train For Game Tuesday

Ponies Set To Give Steers Battle

"Bunch of Fighters" Is Reputation Of Mustangs

Things are tense in Abilene football circles. Still a bit stunned by the 6-6 tie they were lucky to earn against Eastland, the Eagles are plugging along slowly, even grudgingly so our scout reports, for the Breckenridge Buckies. It will be a great football game. It will draw a record crowd. And Breckenridge will grab the laurels and hoof it back to the Stephens county team.

Our good friend Mr. R. C. Hankins and our good friend Mr. A. Garland Adair, of Midland and McCamey, respectively, are locking horns over the McCamey controversy. McCamey has been accused of pulling things a Class B team have no business pulling. Only Class A teams in the lower end of the OU Belt district appropriate to commercialize their football and import players. Anyway, it has been recommended that McCamey be booted out for a couple of years. Adair, a newspaper man, accuses Midland in general and Coach Barry in particular of being responsible for such a thing. In no uncertain terms he states such. Hankins, a newspaper man, declares Adair is all wet, and is "shooting at a bull's eye with a blunderbuss." Personally if we were scheduled to be a bulls eye we would just as soon not be shot at with a blunderbuss.

It is noticed with interest that Sweetwater will run a special train to Big Spring Armistice Day. As well as we remember Big Spring tried to run a special train to Abilene, but it ended in a couple of coaches being hooked on to the rear of the regular train. The Ponies will have the same old story this year—Breck and the Golden Sandies. We believe a representative of District One has never been able to hang the crepe over a representative of this tough district. Should Ranger accidentally fall into the championship and meet the Sandstorm, it will be like a renewal of old acquaintances.

Amarillo having practically eliminated things in the District One title chase, it looks like the same old story this year—Breck and the Golden Sandies. We believe a representative of District One has never been able to hang the crepe over a representative of this tough district. Should Ranger accidentally fall into the championship and meet the Sandstorm, it will be like a renewal of old acquaintances.

The Steers came in after dark last evening.

We remember before the season opened that Bill Stevens, Steer mentor, received a letter from a Sweetwater school official. The letter informed Stevens the Mustangs would beat the Steers this year. That was before either of the teams had played a game. Stevens and this humble scribbler had a quarrel of great guffaws over the episode. We don't know about Stevens but we do know we retract our pair of guffaws. The Sweetwater officials might have known more than we gave him credit for at the time. Every doper in the district is picking the Mustangs to whip the Steers, and are casting some pretty rough things about the Steers. For instance one writer declares the Steers were lucky to hold San Angelo 6-6, and that today the Hobcats could slash them 40 to 0 or thereabouts. Another refers to the Steers as an "in and out, mostly out" club. So it seems maybe the Mustangs will find easy pickings over here and crash through just as the Sweetwater school official declared when Stevens and ourselves had laughing pains for two days running.

Sweetwater will move into Big Spring, lock, stock and perhaps the proverbial, yet forbidden, barrel, according to announcements in the Sweetwater Reporter.

A special train, bearing pep squad, band, school and city fans, will be tossed upon the railway tracks and puff toward this West Texas city beautiful the morning of Nov. 11. Several hundred fans are expected to attend the game, as a very low rate is being quoted by the railway company. The Sweetwater Mustangs, who clash in annual battle with the Big Spring Steers on that holiday, will not be on the train but will trek across the country in a bus the night before.

From all indications it will be a gala football day Nov. 11 when the two enemies get together in their parley. Although the Mustangs come here late to win, simply because they have reputation of being a bunch of fighters, the Steers feel confidently not too much so as they did in their regrettable conflict with the Brownwood Lions.

Comparison Although Breckenridge rushed the Ponies 22 to 7, while Big Spring led the game 14 to 19 to the Abilene Eagles that beat Big Spring 33 to 0, gained only a 19 to 9 season over the Mustangs. Midland Wells whipped the Mustangs 14, while Big Spring was leading the track 12 to 6. The fact that the Steers met at Mineral Wells in the opening game, Sweetwater was the same team that whipped the Mustangs, and led to San Angelo by a one point margin.

Sweetwater was knocked about by the San Angelo Hobcats 25 to 7, while the Steers held the Bissert plan to a 6-6 draw. Although the Eastland-Sweetwater battle ended in a draw, the Steers beat Eastland 6 to 0 when no one expected them to. Rex Clark, however, was not among those present in the latter game. In fact, we believe he was out of the Sweetwater game also.

There is the comparative scores which don't mean a thing. Sweetwater was not met Brownwood, but when Sweetwater does the Ponies in a draw, the Steers beat Eastland 6 to 0 when no one expected them to. Rex Clark, however, was not among those present in the latter game. In fact, we believe he was out of the Sweetwater game also.

Cagle Shows 'Em, But He Can't Make Scores

STARKEVILLE, Miss., Nov. 5 (AP)—Chris Cagle, Army All-American halfback last year, finds it easier to score touchdowns than to tell someone else how.

And the sandy-haired grid hero of other days is finding that a line is a valuable part of any man's football team.

Cagle's Mississippi Aggies—he's been each down here, now four of their first five games this year and the outlook isn't too bright for the remaining games.

The Aggies took it on the chin from three Southern intercollegiate athletic association teams before upsetting these parts with a startling victory over Louisiana State Dixie's high scoring team. It was the first conference victory for the Aggies in two years.

But victory didn't last long. North Carolina State trampled Cagle's proteges in the next game. On paper the record looks bad but Mississippi grid fans realize that "Red" received poor material and that from a squad that took only one game in 1929. The folks of the Delta state believe in Cagle and with more time he hopes to show them he can coach as well as run.

This 24 year old youngster whose gridiron exploits had thrilled fans from coast to coast, but who had no coaching experience, takes his jolts with a smile. He's building this year.

His eight years of college football—at Southwestern Louisiana and in the Army—have enabled him to play against many different formations and he has picked up a lot of ideas along the route.

Baptists To Convene Soon In Amarillo

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 4 (AP)—Although Amarillo is located far to one side of the state, several thousand Baptists are planning to attend the Baptist General Convention of Texas when it gathers there in annual session Nov. 22-24, in the belief of Dr. W. R. White of Dallas, secretary of the Executive Board of the Convention. This is the first time in the long history of the body that it has met in the Texas Panhandle, the farthest west and northwest it has gone heretofore being Abilene and Wichita Falls.

The program committee, headed by Dr. L. R. Scarborough of Ft. Worth, president of the Convention, and Robert H. Coleman of Dallas, have arranged for a special presentation of this year's interests in a manner that will feature a different phase of denominational service each day.

After the election of officers on Wednesday morning, November 12, and the delivery of the convention sermon by Dr. W. Marshall Craig of Dallas, the body will go into a consideration of both state and south-wide benevolences, including hospital work, ministerial relief and the orphanage. The climax of Wednesday's program will be reached that night when Dr. Hal M. Buckner of Dallas, superintendent of Buckner Orphan's Home, will present the report of that institution.

Dominant Theme Christian Education will be the dominant theme of Thursday's program when the reports of the various Baptist schools of Texas will be presented and representatives of the Southwide Baptist Seminars will be heard. The whole of Thursday night has been set aside for Baylor University when the report of the Greater Baylor Campaign will be the chief feature of the hour. President P. Brooks will deliver the principal address at that time, though the formal report of the campaign will be read by Dr. L. E. Finney, executive secretary.

On Friday, the last day of the Convention, missions of every character will be emphasized. At the morning hour Dr. W. R. White will present the report of the state mission board, which will be considered in detail. Later in the day addresses on the work of the Home and Foreign Mission Boards of the Southern Baptist Convention will be heard, Dr. J. W. Beagle, of Atlanta, speaking in behalf of home missions and Dr. W. E. Sallee, of Richmond, Virginia, bringing the discussion on foreign missions. Dr. Sallee is a former Texan who has spent thirty years in mission service in China but who was recently called home to take the home secretaryship of the Foreign Mission Board. His wife was prior to her marriage, Miss Annie Jenkins of Waco, a sister of Mrs. George W. Truett of Dallas. On Friday night Dr. W. H. Knight, professor of missions in the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary at Ft. Worth, will give a resume of a recent tour of the mission fields of Europe and Dr. George W. Truett, of Dallas, will report on a recent evangelistic tour he made of the several Baptist mission fields in South America.

A new feature for this year's program will be music by a large choir that is being assembled from various points in the Panhandle under the direction of Robert Jolley of Houston.

Long's Public Impr. Program Wins

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 5 (AP)—Governor Huey P. Long's $100,000,000 public improvement program provided for in eight constitutional amendments was approved by the voters of Louisiana yesterday by overwhelming majorities.

The largest vote was cast for Amendment No. 1 creating $68,000,000 for paved roads and bridges by bonding part of the present gasoline tax. Other amendments provided for issuance of $5,000,000 of bonds to build a new state house at Baton Rouge, and authorized communities to grant a five-year tax exemption to new industries.

By heavy votes, Governor Long's two allies, Paul Maloney and J. O. Fernandez were elected to the house of representatives over their Republican opponents in the second and first districts. Fernandez will replace Representative James O'Connor in congress and Maloney will take the seat of Representative J. Zach Spearing, the incumbents failing of renomination in the Democratic primary.

Judgment Given Texas University Is Investigated

AUSTIN, Nov. 5 (AP)—Delving into the question of validity of oil and land leases, the legislative committee investigating university land leasing affairs prepared today to hear testimony of Claude Pollard, former attorney general, under whose administration the "million dollar judgment" concerning the Big Lake oil field was entered.

Other witnesses called were Judge H. L. Batts, chairman of the University of Texas board of regents and Judge George B. Calhoun, who signed the judgment by which the million dollar suit was concluded.

Details of the suit were related yesterday by W. H. Jacks, Jr., of Dallas, assistant to R. E. Laner, who had been retained by the university to represent it in the suit, which was instituted for an accounting of royalties.

Defendants were the Reagan County Purchasing Company, the Big Lake Oil Company and the Exxon Corporation, the latter operators of the field and the former purchaser of all the production. The purchasing company was owned jointly by operators and it was this fact, coupled with the fact that the company was paid a 20 cent per barrel premium for collecting the oil and delivering it to the Humble Pipe Line Company, that partly led to the accounting suit.

Jack said all details in the judgment were agreed upon by contesting attorneys before it was presented for Judge Calhoun's approval. He would not state, however, that it was an "agreed" judgment, although members of the committee asked him that specific question several times.

DAN MOODY, RELIEVED AS END OF TERM NEARS, TELLS HOW HE ACCIDENTALLY DRIFTED INTO POLITICS DECADE AGO

By PAUL BOLTON, Associated Press Staff Writer
AUSTIN, Nov. 5.—Watching the election returns which will take him out of public life roll in, Governor Dan Moody bid a tentative farewell to politics yesterday.

In a reminiscence mingled with relief at the impending end of executive office and retreat at leaving public life, the governor told the story of how a twenty-six year old attorney "accidentally" drifted into politics.

That was ten years ago, when he was elected county attorney of Taylor county at Taylor, his home town. A committee came to Moody and asked him to run, pleading him the united support of lawyers. Two weeks later, before Moody had asked any man to vote for him, his opponent withdrew.

The Ku Klux Klan was at that time struggling to gain a foothold in Texas, and ingrained enmity to the Klan's practices was the deciding factor which finally carried Moody to the governor's chair.

Organizer
A Klan organizer came to Taylor and asked the county attorney and another citizen to aid him. He told us frankly of the whippings, Moody recalled, and we told him we didn't need anything like that in Taylor. But the organizer was not easily intimidated. He found other more amenable and the Klan was organized. One morning a friend met Moody at the door of his office.

"What do you think of the Klan," his friend asked.

"I think it is an insidious anarchy," Moody replied. "Why are you a member?"

"I was until last night, when I resigned. They talked about your enmity to the Klan at the meeting, and they are looking for a lawyer to oppose you for reelection."

Moody is red-headed. He learned the name of the Klan leader and went to him, and said, "Now you haven't got much of a Klan in Taylor," he said. "You probably couldn't get a lawyer to run against me. So I'm going to enlarge the territory from which you may draw your candidates, and run for district attorney."

Appointed
Meanwhile, Ben Robinson, district attorney and a cousin of Moody, resigned from office, and without Moody's knowledge, Governor Neff appointed Moody to succeed him. Moody said he learned this when he read headlines in the Austin American Statesman.

Even with Austin to draw upon, he didn't find a suitable candidate and again Moody was elected without opposition.

The Klan which had decided him to run for district attorney, also decided him to run for attorney general. While prosecuting attorney, the Klan was accused of hogging in Taylor. The cases were prosecuted at Abilene.

At first the trial attracted little notice. Moody observed that the correspondent for several of the largest state newspapers was sending out only about 100 words daily on the trial. The Klan had become almost an obsession with Moody, and he believed the issues were of importance to all Texas. He wrote to the correspondent.

"Now if you'll send it out," he said later, "I'll write a summary of the day's testimony every evening, if your papers refuse to pay the fee, I'll pay them myself."

"And," he added, in an aside to newspapermen today, "if you will get the files of the papers of that time, you won't find Dan Moody's name mentioned. I wasn't trying to boost Dan Moody. I was fighting the Klan."

The plan worked so well that at the second of these trials, there were as many newspaper correspondents present as there were jurors.

The Houston Chronicle first suggested Moody for attorney general. When he started to make the fight, "I was about the only person in Texas who thought I could be elected." But he was elected, and most of his support came from supposedly strong Klan districts. The rest of his story is familiar to most Texans—his differences with James and Minnie Ferguson, his prosecution of the Ferguson Road Company suit, and finally his election as governor.

"Leaving"
While saying he was "leaving politics," like all good politicians, Governor Moody would not say he meant he would never seek office again. He will practice law in one of three office precincts that ten years in office precludes him from seeking another elective post. Borrowing a phrase from a contemporary political writer, "the people are not capable of sustaining emotion," necessary to keep one in popular favor.

The emotion which swept him to four successive offices had faded away, he believes, adding that this has been true with most of the nation's prominent public servants.

His philosophy of politics, gleaned in ten years in office centers around the belief that men should be trained for the business of state, and should not be discarded after a temporary period of service.

"The business of running a state," he said, "is different from any other business. It is wrong to train a man for this business and then discard him in favor of an inexperienced person. It is equally wrong to put an inexperienced man in politics and expect an outstanding success."

One outstanding example, in Moody's opinion, is President Hoover, "a great administrator," who had had to "bear up under all the heckle."

Gangster Shot By Sheriff

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 5.—James Dormondy, 22, a cuckoo gangster with a record of more than 50 arrests, was shot and fatally wounded early today by Sheriff Al Lill of St. Louis county. Dormondy died two hours after he had been wounded. The shooting occurred at Sappington and Lemay Ferry roads in St. Louis county.

Lill, recognizing the gangster, searched him and found a revolver which he seized. In a hand-to-hand fight, which started when Dormondy attempted to regain the weapon, the sheriff was not injured and managed to draw his own revolver. Four companions of Dormondy escaped in a motor car from which Dormondy had alighted just before the shooting.

T. & P. Freight Delivery Service Again Expanded

Motor transport service of the Texas and Pacific Railroad, providing for pickup and delivery of rail shipments at points of origin and destination without extra cost to the shipper, was extended to all points on the lines of the company and its subsidiaries in Texas by an order effective immediately.

The service, previously offered only in Marshall, Texas and Midland, becomes available to merchants and shippers at all points on the Texas & Pacific, the Clovis and Northwestern, the Abilene and Southern, Texas Short Line, Weatherford, Mineral Wells and Northwestern and the portion of the Texas-New Mexico Railway within the state.

Under the system, T. E. Little, T&P general agent, who made the announcement Tuesday, explained, a shipper at any point may have the shipment taken at his door and delivered by truck, after making the journey by rail, at all points. It is the only motor delivery service ever established in Texas to handle shipments at points so widely distant. The usual freight rate, set by the Texas railroad commission on an equality with motor freight rates, will prevail with no additional cost attaching to the motor transport service.

The motor service in each town will be handled by warehouse and storage firms designated by the railroad company and under contract, Little said.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Radio Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

What is your estimate of the late poet laureate of England, Dr. Robert Bridges, and of his last poem, "The Testament of Beauty"?

It is perhaps enough to say that this, the greatest of his poems, which he published on his eighty-fifth birthday, gives the late laureate a permanent place in literature. Its Miltonic tone, beauty and dignity convey to thoughtful men and women a very modern yet satisfying response to their spiritual demands. None need doubt the pre-eminence of the spiritual order of the universe after reading this classic contribution of a traditional and essentially religious mind. Doubtless you know that other wonderful poems by Dr. Bridges which began:

Learning across the beams of the urgent West

I should not measure, by all who speak the tongue of England. The author did not write the poem. He was an exceptional, aristocratic, intellectual and highly cultured man, who cared nothing for popular appeal and refused to compromise verses to any end. His work was dubbed him by the enthusiasm of his admirers. His quiet, confident, meditative and penetrating Muse was constantly active. "The Testament of Beauty" appeared in his long, honored and useful life in a truly remarkable manner.

I have read all the accounts I could get of the London Naval Conference, and it is my opinion that France and Italy were the chief hindrance to its success. What do you think?

I think it is easy for those whose hopes for the Conference were pitched high at first, to be disappointed. But as a matter of fact, the Naval Treaty formulated is a significant gain. It deserves comparison for consultation, and ends the long-drawn-out difficulty between our country and Great Britain about parity in naval armaments.

Some witnesses at the Conference said that it would have been better if the other three powers, Japan, Great Britain and the United States, had been invited to a treaty between themselves. But surely the wider the scope of international negotiations, the better they are to reach agreement and settlements.

France has made a remarkable recovery in morale, strength and enthusiasm since the Washington Naval Conference. This is a reflection on the part of a number of nations and the rest of the world will have to learn to live with the strength and security of the League of Nations.

The League of Nations is a reality that it would be impossible to see to mobilize the nations for another great conflict. Only the League can bring about a permanent peace. It is a reality that it would be impossible to see to mobilize the nations for another great conflict. Only the League can bring about a permanent peace. It is a reality that it would be impossible to see to mobilize the nations for another great conflict. Only the League can bring about a permanent peace.

What do you think of the Youth Movement?

The Youth Movement is a reality that it would be impossible to see to mobilize the nations for another great conflict. Only the League can bring about a permanent peace. It is a reality that it would be impossible to see to mobilize the nations for another great conflict. Only the League can bring about a permanent peace.

How does it compare with similar movements in other countries?

The actual existence of such a movement has been disputed. Those who repulse it declare that our rising generation is no worse and, if anything, somewhat better than those which preceded it. Certainly the unrest and dissatisfaction which were intensified by the World War have nearly spent themselves. Considering its upward mobility, it is no wonder that they prevailed for a time, especially among the less stable because less experienced elements of society.

I believe that fifty years hence historians will find that our young people stood the test of that crisis exceedingly well and emerged from it with the healthy determination to have done with the abject, unproductive and hypocritical which helped to bring in the war.

Efforts to bring in a perversion of moral and economic factors because she is a kind of ignorant peasant manipulated by dating experiments. Germany's youth has followed the drift except for the open door. British boys and girls show the solid persistence which is one of their best assets. Parents are to blame for yielding to the temptation to let their children be carried away by the excitement of the moment. But the vast majority of our youngsters have a deep-seated respect for the family traditions of a real faith. They still believe in right and wrong and will not be led astray by the lure of the moment. When we of the older generation stop to think of the youth of the future, we should be proud of the youth of today.

OHIO
COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 5 (AP)—Ohio has gone democratic on United States senator, governor and increased the democratic representation in congress.

Robert J. Bulkley, Cleveland Democrat, defeated the 15th amendment, who defeated Senator Roscoe C. McCulloch for the unexpired two years of term of the late Senator Frank B. Willis, will be the first anti-prohibitionist Ohio has sent to the senate since former Senator Allee Pomerene retired in 1922.

Even Speaker Nicholas Longworth had a close race with his democratic opponent, John W. Patterson, son of a former Ohio governor. Longworth had a lead of 8,045 with only 18 precincts unreported. Patterson is wet. Governor Cooper also went down in the democratic landslide, yielding to George White, Marietta, democrat, by an apparent decisive majority. White was leading Cooper by more than 55,000 votes in 5611 precincts out of 8985 and his majority continued to increase as additional blocks of precincts were tabulated.

ALABAMA
MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 5 (AP)—A wave of regular democratic votes, rising with the reporting of belated returns, today seemed to have defeated the independent candidacy of J. Thomas Heflin and swept John H. Bankhead into the senate seat Heflin has held since 1913.

Despite the mounting unofficial majority, Heflin who failed to support the democratic presidential ticket in 1928 and was barred from the party primary, refused to concede defeat. He charged yesterday's election was "one of the most fraudulent and corrupt ever held in Alabama and said he would seek an immediate senatorial investigation. The senator claimed the election was rightfully his by a margin of 54,000 and 100,000 votes. Tabulation of 1,553 of 2,115 ballot boxes, representing incomplete figures from 66 of 67 counties, gave Bankhead a lead of 46,238, he pulling 130,371 votes to Heflin's 83,133.

WISCONSIN
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 5 (AP)—The sons of Robert M. La Follette have carried on for him. Philip will be the next governor of Wisconsin. Robert Jr. is U. S. senator. In five years, Wisconsin has visited upon these two young men the honors it took their father more than 30 years to achieve.

NEW JERSEY
NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 5 (AP)—Dwight W. Morrow, Republican, has been elected United States senator from New Jersey for both the short and long terms, although by a smaller plurality than was predicted.

Returns from 2,052 of the 3,321 voting districts in the state, gave Morrow 322,014 votes to 227,837 for his Democratic opponent for the full term, Alexander Simpson. For the short term, Morrow pulled 270,753 votes to 143,969 for Thelma Parkinson, Democratic candidate.

The vote indicated that Morrow's margin would fall below the 250,000 to 300,000 predicted for him by his supporters prior to election.

NEW MEXICO
SANTA FE, N. M., Nov. 5 (AP)—New Mexico joined the Democratic parade of the nation today on the face of early, incomplete returns. Sen. Sam Brantton, Democrat, led H. B. Holt, Republican, two to one for the senate. Arthur Seligman, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, was holding a five to four lead over Judge Clarence M. Botta, Republican aspirant for the governor's chair. Dennis Chavez, Democrat, was times governor of Arizona, on the basis of returns early today appeared to have defeated the Republican incumbent, John C. Phillips, who in 1928 won the governorship from Hunt. With 227 complete and 145 incomplete of the 491 precincts reported, the vote was Hunt 29,228; Phillips 26,211.

Hunt campaigned for tax reform and more militant opposition to the Boulder Canyon dam project. Phillips asked for an opportunity to carry to a conclusion legislative programs he began and promised continued opposition to the Colorado river development program.

MARYLAND
BALTIMORE, Nov. 5 (AP)—The Democratic tidal wave that re-elected Governor Ritchie for his fourth term in yesterday's election also made the Maryland delegation of six in congress solidly Democratic.

Belated returns today indicated. The Republicans lost the two seats they held. Ritchie's plurality swelled today to the record total of 63,002.

ARIZONA
PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 5 (AP)—George W. P. Hunt, Democrat, six

Democratic nominees were leading in about the requisite number of districts on the early afternoon returns, but there was no definite indication who would take the seat ahead.

PENNSYLVANIA
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5 (AP)—Gifford Pinchot, Republican candidate for governor of Pennsylvania today was conceded the election by John M. Hemphill, his Democrat and Liberal party opponent as further returns from upstate Pennsylvania increased the Pinchot lead.

With all but 882 districts tabulated. All but 16 of these missing districts were upstate where the Republican candidate, had rolled up a vote which overcame the 224,000 plurality accorded Hemphill in Philadelphia.

Additional tabulations of the vote for United States senator served only to make more crushing the defeat of Sedgwick Kistler of Lock Haven, Democrat, by James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor and Republican nominee. The vote from 669 out of 832 districts in the state gave Davis a lead of 675,700.

KANSAS
WICHITA, Kas., Nov. 5 (AP)—Senator Henry J. Allen, Republican, conceded the election of his Democratic opponent, George M. Gill, of Wichita, in a statement issued today.

CHICAGO
CHICAGO, Nov. 5 (AP)—Oscar De Priest, Republican, negro congressman, from the first district, Chicago, today came out of what had been a close race to win with only two precincts unreported. The vote was De Priest, 23,860; Baker, 18,422.

ARKANSAS
LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 5 (AP)—Arkansas, on the face of incomplete returns, yesterday approved a constitutional amendment to require the reading of a part of the bible daily in state schools up to and including high schools.

Governor Harvey Parnell, democrat, was re-elected over J. O. Liversay, republican, and Lawrence Wilson, democrat, overwhelmed C. H. Harding, republican, for lieutenant governor.

Senator Joseph T. Robinson and all seven democratic congressional nominees, including Mrs. Otis T. Wingo who succeeds her late husband, were unopposed.

With Mrs. Pearl Penden Oldfield, retiring, John E. Miller, democrat, was sent to the house from the second district.

KENTUCKY
LOUISVILLE, Nov. 5 (AP)—First scattering returns from 37 of the 4,135 precincts in Kentucky showed the Democrats in the lead for the U. S. senate. Judge M. M. Logan had 3,016 votes for the long term to 2,370 for J. M. Robison, Repub-
