Headlines From Around The World

Pyongyang, North Korea

Long-time North Korean dictator, Kim Il Sung died last week. Kim's death comes amid heightened tensions between North and South Korea. A scheduled summit between the two Asian nations has been postponed. Early signs indicate that Kim's son Kim Jong Il will assume control over the communist state.

Washington, D.C.

U.S. Supreme Court Nominee, Judge Stephen Breyer's Senate confirmation hearings began this week. Breyer sailed through the first two days of questioning and appears headed toward easy confirmation. Leaders of both political parties have indicated their support of him.

Albany, Georgia

Tropical Storm Alberto continues to rain itself out over southern Georgia. The latest numbers indicate 28 dead and thousands displaced in widespread flooding. The storm defied meteorologists' predictions and stalled after slamming ashore last week.

Berlin, Germany

President Clinton wrapped up his European trip Tuesday by pledging to all the former communist states of eastern Europe, "America is on your side, now and forever." Clinton joined a procession through the Brandenburg gate and told his German hosts, "All things are possible, Berlin is free."

Los Angeles, California

Municipal Court Judge Kathleen Kennedy-Powell ordered O.J. Simpson held without bail last week after ruling that evidence Simpson's lawyers had sought to suppress was admissible. Simpson's attorneys claimed that the evidence found at Simpson's estate had been obtained illegally since it was taken without benefit of a search warrant. Judge Kennedy-Powell also concluded that there was sufficient evidence to suspect Simpson in the murders of his ex-wife Nicole Brown Simpson and her male friend Ronald Goldman. Simpson is scheduled to face arraignment proceedings this week or next.

Sheriff Announces Texas H.E.A.T.

Schleicher County Sheriff, Richard Harris announced this week his department's participation in Texas H.E.A.T., or Help End Auto Theft. Texas H.E.A.T. is a program established by the Texas Department of Public Safety and is under the direction of the Automobile Theft Prevention Authority.

To enroll, the registered owner of a vehicle signs a registration form with a participating local law enforcement agency, in our case, the Schleicher County Sheriff's Department, stating that a peace officer may stop his/her vehicle if found occupied on streets anywhere in Texas between the hours of 1:00 A.M. and 5:00 A.M. to inquire as to ownership of the vehicle.

A vehicle owner must present the following criteria to a participating law enforcement agency:

1. his/her vehicle; 2. Certificate of Title (copy acceptable); 3. photo identification; and 4. proof of insurance and/or vehicle registration receipt.

When a registration is signed and the ownership of a vehicle is verified, a color-coded decal will be affixed to the inside of the front windshield and another decal to the outside of the rear windshield to indicate the vehicle is registered with the program. A white front decal indicates the owner also consents to have the registered vehicle stopped whenever that vehicle crosses or is about to cross the border into Mexico directly from Texas 24 hours a day; a yellow front decal indicates the owner only consents to the border stop between the hours of 1:00 A.M. and 5:00 A.M.

Information concerning the vehicle will be entered into the statewide computer file for purposes of enforcement.

There will be a $2.00 fee for registration and is payable to the registering agency. The registration will be for a period of 4 years.

Registration in the program does not prevent the owner or anyone to whom the owner grants permission from driving the vehicle during the program hours but, the owner agrees to advise anyone granted permission to operate the vehicle of the H.E.A.T. registration.

The vehicle owner must also agree and understand that peace officers will take certain precautions when making a stop on a registered vehicle during the program hours because it will be suspected that the vehicle has been stolen.

Any individual who wishes to withdraw from the statewide program or transfers possession of the vehicle must fully remove the Texas H.E.A.T. decals and notify the registering agency in writing of such removal.

Any questions regarding this program should be directed to the Schleicher County Sheriff's Department at 853-2737 or the Texas Department of Public Safety, H.E.A.T. Program Staff at 512-465-2483.

Loomis Moves To Eldorado Attorney To Practice Law Here

Raymond Loomis, Attorney at Law, has moved to Eldorado from Houston. He moves here with his wife, the former Gina M. Forlano, Eldorado High School class of '76 and their three children: Anna, 14; Lori, 8; and Eric, 2. Loomis, 45, has worked in the real estate business and the petroleum industry since 1971 and since 1985 as a licensed attorney. He also taught real estate law on the collegiate level as an adjunct professor. He has been in private law practice as a solo practitioner, with Gina as his legal assistant. His practice has been focused primarily in land titles, oil & gas lease acquisition, oil & gas title opinions, closing real estate transactions, wills & trusts, probate, civil litigation, divorce and family law and other civil matters. Mr. Loomis plans to practice law in Eldorado.

Private Applicators Compliance Inspections

The Texas Department of Agriculture has entered into an agreement with the Agriculture Marketing Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture to conduct compliance assistance inspections of private applicator records. The inspections will be randomly divided and include all regions of the state.

The 1990 Farm Bill requires private applicators to keep records of federal restricted use pesticides for a period of two

Varsity Cheerleaders Attend Camp

The Eldorado Varsity Cheerleaders, Mascot and sponsor attended a Universal Cheerleading Association Camp July 6-9 at Angelo State University. The long, hot days were spent learning new cheers, chants, sidelines, pom routines, partner stunts, pyramids as well as practicing in private coaching classes.

The cheerleaders participated in three evaluations and received Excellent, Superior and Superior/Superior ratings respectively. They competed in the Varsity Division Cheer Contest and the Varsity Division Sideline Contest and were awarded a trophy for their superior efforts.

In the overall weekly evaluation, the squad received Superior ratings in all divisions which included partner stunts, pom routines, sidelines and cheers. Their dedicated work also landed them a spirit stick.

"Eldon the Eagle" participated in the mascot classes and received Superior ratings in the daily evaluations. The mascots prepared a series of skits for the Final Day and "Eldon" was a star in the Mascot Follies. He, too, was awarded a Superior trophy as well as a spirit stick.

Squad members include: Ruby Gonzalez, Cari Green, Leslie Hunter, Erin Meador, Estella Montalvo and Tara Whitten. Evve Kuykendall is this year's mascot. Kara Sue Garlitz is the sponsor.

Twelve Tips From KTB & Chamber Pride Committee

Twelve tips for preventing litter in our town.

1. Set an example for others by not littering.
2. Pick up at least a piece of litter every day.
3. Teach others to properly dispose of litter.
4. Use covered trash containers.
5. Carry a litter bag in your car and encourage their purchase by businesses for distribution throughout the community.
6. Ask your neighbors to join you in cleaning up one public area.

7. Properly secure recyclable.
8. Encourage civic groups to become involved in a cleanup and recycling.
9. Plant and maintain flowers along a curb or sidewalk (folks litter less when a spot has been "beautified").
10. Encourage businesses and neighbors to keep dumpster lids closed and loading docks clean.
11. Use a tarp when hauling debris (i.e. feed sacks) to keep it from blowing out of your pickup or truck.

12. Start awards programs that recognize litter and beautification efforts by individuals, groups and businesses.

Some of these ideas are already being implemented by some of us. Let's work together to get them ALL implemented on a regular basis for a cleaner and more beautiful Eldorado!

TOP OF THE DIVIDE

by Thomas Giovannitti

We recently had election and installation of new officers for the American Legion Post. Being one of the younger members I agreed to take the job of Adjutant, which is sort of the secretary/treasurer. I want to commend the State and national organization and our outgoing Adjutant because they spelled my last name correctly. I can't speak for everyone with a vowel on the end of their name but for some reason that puts people off. I've had my surname spelled so many imaginative ways that even I am fascinated as to exactly how the correspondent arrived at such a configuration of letters.

Over the phone I get some interesting pronunciations. People want to speak to Mr. Vanetti, or Giovanni, or Gavanti. Often the person on the other end of the line will ask me if I can spell it (My last name). Of course I can spell it, I've been practicing since I was five. I hardly ever misspell

it now. I get asked if it is Italian and of course it is. To me, that is like asking if spaghetti is Italian. The witty folks laughingly tell me what a fine Irish name I have. The humor in this line escapes me but to the speaker it can reduce him to incapacity. I never here any one say to someone named McCarthy, "What a swell Italian name he has".

The really curious, if they don't know, will keep after me until I tell them what kind of name "Giovannitti" is and when I do they ask me what part of Italy I am from. I tell them I'm from New Jersey which, in places may appear to have as many Italians as Italy but is part of the United States. My grandfather did not think to shorten our name or make it any easier to pronounce. He was satisfied with it and so is my dad. I like it. It does not fit on all computer forms but it does start conversations.

Did you watch the TV documentary Moon Shot this week? It is a look back at the glory days of NASA and the "space race" of the 60's. As a youngster during the early days of the space program, I was thoroughly impressed with just about everything NASA did. Now, looking back at the way we first went to space, I'm thoroughly amazed that we made it at all.

Let's not forget that pocket calculators weren't around in those days. Slide rules were the way it was done. Funny thing about slide rules, a person had to actually understand math to make one work. And, computers were huge contraptions filled with tubes. To write a routine necessary to perform complex mathematical functions, a person almost needed to know the answers to the questions he was asking.

Laying all the technical aspects aside for the moment, just think about the men who chose to climb atop a rocket and be propelled skyward. What could these men have been thinking? To say that they were thrill seekers would have to be the understatement of all time. Alan Sheppard, Gus Grissom, John Glenn, Scott Carpenter, Deke Slayton, Wally Schira and Gordon Cooper answered the call enthusiastically long before they knew what the call was. Remember that NASA began during the late 50's as a response to the Soviet Sputnik. The first seven astronauts signed up before Kennedy's challenge to go to the moon had even been conceived.

Seldom during peacetime has our nation been so focused as we were on the goal of going to the moon. But, I don't think we would ever have made it had it not been for the challenge of getting there first. If the Soviet Union hadn't been far ahead of us we probably wouldn't have bothered. But Kennedy pointed us toward the moon and gave us a deadline. And recently, I've learned that when it comes to focusing your attention, there's nothing quite like a deadline.

Other astronauts followed in the footsteps of the original seven. The new guys fully understood the challenge when they joined. The United States was going to the moon. Whatever else occurred was secondary, we were going to the moon. One of the new guys was Neil Armstrong. He paid his dues during the Gemini and Apollo programs and by the middle of 1968 got the nod from NASA to be the first American on the moon. Yes, I said American. You see, even as late as 1968, The Soviets were still ahead. We were gaining ground fast, but they were still ahead. And, NASA officials privately conceded that the Russians would get to the moon first.

What we didn't know then was that the Soviet space program had stagnated. As is often the case in centrally controlled societies, inspiration and independent thought are frowned upon, deviation from the government's planned path is not allowed. The Russians, realizing we had overtaken them, decided to roll the dice. They unveiled a gigantic rocket (even larger than our Saturn V, and entirely untested) and made a last-ditch attempt at reaching the moon first.

In May of 1969 reports of a massive explosion in Russia leaked out. Though there was no official confirmation from the Soviets, the CIA knew and so did NASA that the Russian rocket had exploded on the launch pad. There would be no Soviet landing, America was going to the moon, and we were going to get there first.

Neil Armstrong was and is an American hero. He accepted his country's challenge and placed his life on the line. What must it have been like to lie flat on your back in a launch capsule strapped atop the equivalent of two atomic bombs, waiting for someone to push a button and set the whole thing on fire? And what must it have been like knowing that every nut, bolt, washer and gasket was built by the lowest bidder.

Armstrong resisted the temptation to cash in on his fame. He shunned talk shows and turned down many lucrative offers. He even shied away from politics. I had the distinct pleasure of seeing Neil Armstrong on a lecture tour in 1976. He was asked about the massive investment this country had made in going to the moon, and was it really worth it? He looked his young accuser in the eye and asked a question of his own, "How much do you estimate we spent on the moon?" The student who had challenged him stammered a bit and responded, "I don't know, but it must have been billions." "Wrong," answered Armstrong, "we didn't spend one penny on the moon. We spent it all right here at home."

Twenty five years ago this week, America did something no other nation has done before or since. We broke free of earth's gravity and put a man on the moon. In all, twelve Americans have walked on it's powdery surface. But, Neil Armstrong was the first and he claimed the moon not for the United States but for all humanity with his words, "That's one small step for a man, one giant leap for mankind" We'll never know I suppose what the Soviet Cosmonaut would have said.

HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams & Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Carelessness, not alcohol, was to blame in 31 of the 44 deaths on Texas roads on Sunday, July 3, the bloodiest traffic day on record.

An accident near Snyder claimed 11 lives — children piled into the open bed of a pickup truck; 14 died in a collision between a tractor-trailer rig and a family van near Weatherford; and six people died in an accident near Ballinger.

"...It looks like a matter of driver alertness more than anything else," said Department of Public Safety spokesman Mike Cox.

In all, 65 people died on Texas roads over the 78-hour period of the July Fourth holiday, breaking the previous high of 64 deaths recorded in 1971, 1982 and 1983, the DPS reported.

Of the 65 deaths, 51 were vehicle occupants, nine were riding in the rear of a pickup truck and five were pedestrians, and the count will rise if others die of traffic-accident related injuries.

The death toll was more than double the number the DPS predicted for the holiday break.

Cox said many who died were not wearing seatbelts, although statistics indicate that more Texans are buckling up. The DPS issued 91,898 citations for seatbelt violations in 1992, 77,028 in 1993 and 27,309 through May 1994, Cox said.

Court Rules on Drug Seizure
The 3rd Court of Appeals ruled last week that the state cannot tax illegal drugs that were improperly obtained by law enforcement officers, the Houston Chronicle reported.

The court struck down a $20,329 tax assessment that the state comptroller levied against Jesus Alberto Vera because Dallas police did not have a search warrant when they seized the marijuana that was taxed.

Vera was arrested in 1990 after police discovered marijuana in his truck and adjacent premises. Vera paid the tax under protest and contended the exclusionary rule, which prohibits unconstitutionally seized evidence from being admitted in a criminal proceeding.

A June 6 court decision in Montana also invalidated a law taxing profits from the illegal drug trade.

The Texas law, which went into effect in 1989, requires drug dealers to purchase tax stamps or face a tax liability in addition to criminal charges of drug possession.

Sex Complaints Against MDs

The State Board of Medical Examiners reported that 43 complaints against Texas doctors alleging inappropriate sexual advances, suggestions, seduction or assault have been filed this fiscal year, which ends Aug. 31.

Tim Weitz, general counsel for the board, said most complaints involve male doctors and female patients, and that all complaints are investigated.

The board's policy is to prohibit sexual relationships of any kind between doctors and patients, according to an article by The Associated Press.

Statistics show a rise in the number of such complaints being filed, with 7 in fiscal 1991, 27 in 1992 and 30 in 1993.

Candidates Nix Proposed Ban

Gov. Ann Richards and Republican challenger George W. Bush, both teetotalers, say they would not support a proposal by Mothers Against Drunk Driving to ban happy hours in Texas.

But both candidates used the opportunity to speak out against irresponsible drinking while reminding voters that MADD's proposal would fly in the face of free enterprise, according to a report in the Dallas Morning News.

In late June, MADD members asked the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission to adopt rules that would put a statewide ban on happy hour at drinking establishments. The commission is expected to consider the proposal at its Aug. 29 meeting.

Kirk Brown, state director of MADD, said happy hour promotions, such as those featuring beer at 25 cents a pitcher, induce customers to drink too much, and have extracted a toll in lives.

Richie Jackson, vice president of the Texas Restaurant Association, told the News he was pleased with the responses by the Bush and Richards campaigns.

Toll-Free Campaign Hotline
Texas voters can learn more about the candidates, their voting records and issues in the Nov. 8 statewide election by calling Oregon.

The toll-free hotline, 1-800-622-SMART, is financed by the Center for Independence in Politics in Corvallis, Ore.

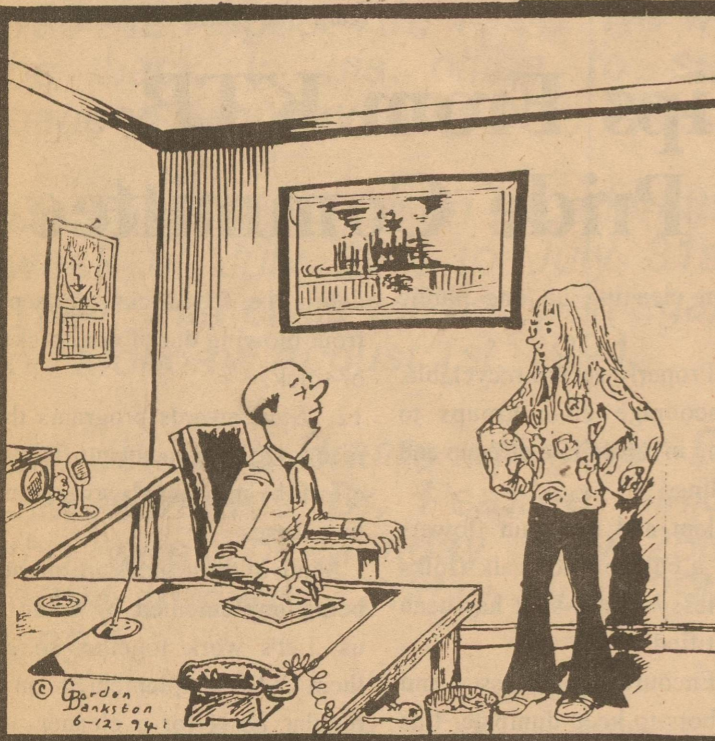

"We grew out of a need to counter a climate of mudslinging and manipulative campaigning that candidates run to get elected," explained Adelaide Elm, a founding board member of the nonprofit, nonpartisan group.

Since it was formed two years ago, a trained hotline staff has fielded 209,000 calls. The staff surveys candidates and officeholders. Elm said she expects 80 percent of more than 2,000 state and federal candidates to respond, although in previous years two-thirds of the 1,500 House and Senate candidates did not reply.

Other Highlights
■ The Legislative Budget Board last week unanimously approved another $114 million for accelerated prison construction, a program designed to give the state another 152,000 prison beds by August 1995. Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock said lawmakers are following through to meet the top concern of Texans.

Tolerating Everything But Christianity

"For while this year it may be a Catholic against whom the finger of suspicion is pointed, in other years it has been, and someday may be again, a Jew. Or a Quaker. Or a Unitarian. Or a Baptist. Today I may be the victim, but tomorrow it may be you—until the whole fabric of our harmonious society is ripped at a time of great national peril."
—John F. Kennedy (Sept. 12, 1960)

"Today, when half the children born in our cities are born out of wedlock and violence fills our streets, Bill Clinton and the Democrats tell us our problem is that Americans who hold strong religious beliefs are becoming involved in the political process."

—U.S. Senator Phil Gramm
The well-coordinated recent onslaught from the White House and the Democratic party against conservative Christians saddens the hearts of tolerant Americans everywhere.

Anyone who participates in politics is fair game for criticism of their ideas, of course. But the unambiguous message of this particular attack has been that Christian conservatives have no right to participate in the political process at all; that they should simply accept without protest policies and lifestyles they find objectionable.

Your Voice In Washington

Congressman

Thomas Jefferson would have cringed to hear U.S. Surgeon General Joycelyn Elders lambast the "un-Christian religious right...for selling out our children in the name of religion."

"Jefferson's goal was to protect religion from the government. Judging by the rhetoric of our Surgeon General and her cohorts, the need is as acute today as it was 200 years ago."

The First Amendment's cherished guarantee of religious freedom was not written to protect the government—and certainly not the Clinton administration—from organized religion. Both can undoubtedly fend for themselves.

Jefferson's goal was to protect religion from the government. Judging by the rhetoric of our Surgeon General and her cohorts, the need is as acute today as it was 200 years ago.

Tragically, many of our traditional defenders of free speech and political diversity have fallen silent today. Some, in fact, are openly joining the assault.

A New York Times editorial refers to conservative Christians as "sinister,"

"retrograde" and "exclusionist." A report of the Anti-Defamation League uses the words "extremist," "bogus," "conspiratorial," "fevered," "flimflam," "bizarre" and "fervent."

As Bill Bennett, author of The Book of Virtues, has put it: "This is not political discourse. It is argument by invective. It is worth reflecting on how liberals and the mainstream media would respond if similar things were said by conservatives about, say, homosexuals. Or feminists. Or blacks. Or Jews. Or virtually any group actively engaged in politics except conservative Christians."

The burden of an unpopular president and control of both houses of Congress has apparently driven some Democrats to search for a bogeyman to draw attention away from their own problems.

But most Americans know the real danger this country faces is not from those who go to work on Monday and to church on Sunday.

My office in Washington is here to serve the needs of the 21st District. Please don't hesitate to call at 202-225-4236.

Rodeo Sweetheart Candidates Sought

submitted by Becky Lux

The Schleicher County Rodeo Association is seeking contestants for the Rodeo Sweetheart Contest. The contest is open to any girl enrolled in Eldorado High School.

The Sweetheart Contest will be a little different this year. Activities are being planned for the week of the Schleicher County Rodeo for the contestants. The modeling and interviews will occur during the week and the crowning of the new sweetheart will be during the Friday, August 12th rodeo performance. The Sweetheart and her court will ride in the parade on Saturday, August 13th and will be present at Schleicher County Days. The Sweetheart and her court will also be presented in the Saturday night rodeo performances and also at the dance afterward.

We are looking forward to the Sweetheart contest. If you are interested please contact Becky Lux at 853-3646 in the evenings or Nancy McAngus at 853-3608 or 853-2958.

Two Essentials In Today's Church

Many church members are concerned that the world has not sat up and taken notice of the church. We seem to have forgotten that the world will not sit up and take notice because we haven't sat up and taken notice of that which makes the world sit up and take notice.

One essential in today's church is enjoyment. It might be called plain old-fashioned fun. Fun was one of the characteristics of the apostolic church. "Hilarious" is a New Testament Adjective used to describe the saints.. and this concerned the giving of offerings to the Lord. Taking the collection is usually one of the low ebbs in a worship service. If "hilarious" described a low ebb in the early church, they must have really gotten happy when something exciting took place

The early church members experienced great joy because they knew that all Heaven had broken loose through Jesus' victory on the cross. The devil laughed when Jesus went to the cross - then wept when he discovered why our Lord went there.

Another essential in today's church is fellowship. Fellowship is more than a sterile spoonful of philosophical pabulum dealing with the "koinonia" as a beloved community of believers. The fellowship of a church family is not measured by how unanimously they support their pastor or some program, but by how many souls are cured.

Wherever Jesus is, there will always be a clamoring throng seeking fellowship. Empty churches mean the Lord isn't near the place.

Joy and fellowship are not something worked up but worked out. The key to such an endeavor is found in the hymn written by Elisha Hoffman in which he says: "What a fellowship, what a joy divine, Leaning on the everlasting arms."

Definition of Income

Income means total cash receipts before taxes from all sources, with the exceptions noted below. Income includes money, wages or salary before deductions; net income from non-farm self-employment; regular payments from Social Security or railroad retirement; ppayments from unemployment compensation, strike benefits from union funds, worker's compensation, veterans benefits, public assistance (including Aid to Families with Dependent Children, Supplemental Security Income, Emergency Assistance money payments, and non-Federally funded General Assistance or General Relief money payments); training stipends; alimony, child support, and military family allotments or other regular support from an absent family member or someone not living in the household; private pensions, government employee pensions (including military retirement pay), and regular insurance or annuity payments, college or university scholarships, grants, fellowships, and assistantships; and dividends, interest, net rental income, net royalties, and periodic receipts from estates or trusts; and net gambling or lottery winnings.

As defined here, income does not include capital gains; any assets drawn down as withdrawals from a bank, the sale of property, a house or a car; or tax refunds, gifts, loans, lump sum inheritances, one-time insurance payments, or compensation for injury. Also excluded are noncash benefits, such as the employer-paid or union-paid portion of health insurance or other employee fringe benefits; food or housing received in lieu of wages; the value of food and fuel produced and consumed on farms; the imputed value or rent from owner-occupied non-farm or farm housing; and such Federal noncash benefit programs as Medicare, Medicaid, food stamps, school lunches, and housing assistance.

The period of time to be considered for eligibility is the twelve months immediately preceding the month in which application or reapplication for enrollment of a child in a Head Start program is made, or for the calendar year immediately preceding the calendar year in which the application or reapplication is made, whichever more accurately relates to the family's current needs.

Dorothy's Movie Time

by Dorothy Dacy

Hello, Movie Fans! I know it's hot, but don't let these long, heated dog-days of summer get you down. Rent a movie from your local video store, enjoy a cold drink and popcorn in front of an air conditioner and sit back and wait for the weather to change.

I have two films to review this week. The first one is The Air Up There starring Kevin Bacon. It is rated PG-13. Bacon plays an ambitious college basketball coach who travels all the way to Africa to recruit a player he has seen in the background on a video he has seen about a missionary program. This is a very funny and entertaining movie with great basketball moves. If you love this particular sport, then this movie is pure slam-dunk fun! The Air Up There is currently available at Shot's.

The next film is Philadelphia starring Tom Hanks. It is rated PG-13. Hanks plays a brilliant gay lawyer who is fired from a prestigious law firm. The partners say his work was below standard to the point of negligence, he says he was let go because he has AIDS. He enlists the help of another lawyer (played by Denzel Washington), who excels at personal injury lawsuits, to sue the law firm.

This is a very powerful film that looks at the issue of AIDS in a new light. No matter what your personal feelings are concerning homosexuals and the gay lifestyle, this story will touch your heart, or at least it did mine. I cry over lots of movies (my husband says I'm just a sentimental fool) but this one affected me in a way no other has. This particular gay character has a wonderful, loving and supportive family who unconditionally love him no matter what his sexual preference. Most homosexuals in the real world do not have this kind of love and understanding, and some are even rejected and disowned by a "loving" family circle.

The music in this film was written and performed by Bruce Springsteen. The song "Philadelphia" is especially haunting in its message. Philadelphia is currently available at Meyer's.

Until next week, remember: More people have died of bigotry than any other disease.

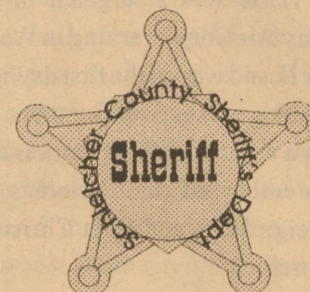

Schleicher County Days Slated For August

The Schleicher County Chamber of Commerce and the Schleicher County Rodeo Association announced this week that the annual Schleicher County Days celebration will be held August 12th & 13th. An open rodeo will begin, Friday, August 12th at the arena one mile south of town. Lester Meier from Fredericksburg will be the rodeo producer

Saturday morning, August 13th a parade down will begin the festivities. Food and craft vendors will dot the courthouse lawn that day with booths of every sort. The final performance of the rodeo is scheduled for Saturday evening with a country-western dance on the "slab" afterwards. Music for the dance will be provided by "The Movers"

Those wishing to participate in the Schleicher County Days activities are asked to contact Patsy Kellogg or Sherry Lux for more information. Call 853-2079 or 853-3068. Out-of-town vendors may call 1-800-657-9225.

Sheriff's Report

Schleicher County Sheriff, Richard Harris announced that his department received 123 complaints for the month of June. Included among those were: 1 vehicle theft, solved; 1 larceny theft, solved; 4 burglaries, 2 solved; 4 assaults, all solved; 9 disturbances; 2 vehicle accidents; 2 reports of loose livestock; 12 suspicious persons; 16 assist motorist calls; 11 cases of criminal mischief; and 58 other complaints. Harris reported 11 males and no females arrested for the month. Fires reported to the Sheriff's Department were: no city fires; 1 county fire; and 2 controlled burns. Harris also reported 19 civil processes served along with 2 out-of-county warrants. Income from the housing of out-of-county and federal inmates totaled $8,400 for the month of June.

Madolyn Joy Competes In Miss West Texas Teen

submitted by Jo Ann Sproul

Madolyn Joy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kerry Joy of Eldorado, recently competed in the "Miss West Texas Teen Scholarship Pageant" held on May 26th at Wayland Baptist University in Plainview, Texas. Madolyn earned the right to compete after being selected from applicants all over West Texas. Selection was based on scholarship, citizenship and participation in extra-curricular activities.

Although Madolyn was one of the youngest girls competing, she was awarded the "Most Photogenic" trophy and placed in the top five in talent, thereby earning the honor of performing for the audience on the last night of competition. She presented a comedic monologue. After interview and evening gown competition Madolyn was chosen as one of ten finalists.

Active in drama, Madolyn is one of the Way Off-Broadway Players and will begin her third year as a cheerleader this fall. She is a starter on her basketball team and plays tennis. She and her partner Victoria Mitchel won District this spring. Also active in 4-H, Madolyn has won numerous awards with her club lambs. She was also awarded the 1993-94 Eldorado Middle School Leadership Award.

Madolyn's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Page of Eldorado, Mr. and Mrs. John Wesley Joy of Sonora and Mr. Carrie Dobrovoly of College Station.

Long Hot Days Require Lots Of Water

Hot summer weather may drive some people to drink. Drink water, that is.

"The body loses large amounts of fluids during hard physical activity, particularly if the weather is hot and humid," said Dr. Jim Pivarnik, an exercise physiologist at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston. "It is important to replenish them. The best way, as obvious as it sounds, is to drink plenty of water."

Whether working construction, running, or merely spending a day at the beach, the heat can sap the body of precious fluids, leading to dehydration.

The simple rule, according to Pivarnick, is to pay attention to urine color. People who have adequate amounts of body water content normally have pale-colored urine. A darker yellow color indicates that the kidneys are forced to concentrate urine.

Not drinking enough fluids can affect exercise performance, and can lead to heat illness, which can be fatal, Pivarnick says.

Signs of water depletion include extreme thirst, dry lips and tongue. In severe cases, there can be an increase in heart rate and breathing, dizziness, confusion, and eventual coma. The skin can appear dry and non-elastic while the sufferer may feel lethargic, and have headaches, cramps and a pale complexion.

Don't wait until there are symptoms to take precautions warns Pivarnick.

"Thirst is not a good indicator by itself since by the time you are thirsty, the body's water reserves have already decreased to unhealthy levels," he said.

Pivarnick suggests drinking water continuously to keep the body hydrated.

"Take a drink every time you pass a water fountain, and keep a water bottle at your work area and sip on it through the day."

He advises spreading water consumption throughout the day rather than trying to make up for low levels in large gulps. A minimum of one pint of water per hour is a good starting point.

During exercise or strenuous outdoor activity, Pivarnick says to drink approximately 8 ounces of water every 15 minutes. Although the body can sweat two quarts of fluid in one hour during hot summer weather, it can only absorb about one quart, making it crucial to be "stocked up" before, during, and after those summertime activities.

ON YOUR FEET by Dr. Gene Nichols

LUNCH HOUR SURGERY

Have you been suffering with painful feet for weeks or months? Why continue to suffer when many of the ailments which may be causing this discomfort could be cured in the time it takes to go to lunch?

Want to clear up corns, calluses, bunions, hammertoes, and other disorders in a short time? With space age podiatric medicine, such problems can be corrected quickly in your podiatrist's office. No lengthy hospitalization is needed, and surgery is covered by most medical insurance plans.

Minimal incision surgery requires only a local anesthetic. The podiatrist makes a tiny incision and with special tools removes growths or masses of bone, restoring proper foot alignment and correcting the problem. It takes less than 30 minutes for most common disorders. You can walk out of the office and resume activities almost immediately. Follow-up visits will monitor the healing process.

Eldorado Represented At KTB Convention

"Invest In The Dream" was the theme for the Keep Texas Beautiful Convention held July 6-8 in Lubbock at the Lubbock Civic Center. The 1994 Governor's Community Achievement Awards were the highlight of the convention, with Carolyn Mayo, Eldorado City Secretary, accepting the KTB Proud Community Award for Eldorado and Nancy Lester, Eldorado's Recycling Chairman, accepting the Sustained Excellence Award (scoring 90 or above for 3 consecutive years in GCAA competition). Presentations were also made to

Although the presentation of awards was the focal point of the meeting, educational and motivational meetings were scheduled throughout the week for participants of Keep Texas Beautiful, Texas' premier environmental organization. Pat Sykes, District

7 Governor, and Nancy Lester led a round-table discussion on Friday morning on the subject of Rural Recycling. Other subjects covered Water Quality Monitoring, Wildflowers, Composting, Cleanups, Fundraising, Involving City/County governments, Storm Drain Stenciling, Trees, Illegal Dumping/Litter Law Enforcement and Keep America Beautiful. Sponsors for the convention included the Department of Transportation, Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission, Office of the Attorney General of Texas, and various private companies.

Convention-goers were entertained by the Steel Recycling Institute on Thursday by a "Recycling is Right" game show, in which Carolyn Mayo was a contestant. The Rockville High band from Fiesta Texas entertained on Friday evening and Jerry Jeff Walker surprised participants on Friday noon with his performance and presentation of "Keep Texas Beautiful" theme song, which he wrote and recorded on CD for each KTB Proud Community's local use.

"Pursue Ag Processing," Urges Perry

More communities should pursue ag processing opportunities because such companies can provide an economic boost in both rural and urban Texas, Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry quoted recently at the Dimmit County Annual Chamber of Commerce banquet.

"Towns and cities have been doing everything but laying out a red carpet to attract prisons," Perry said. "But along with attracting prisons, I suggest to you the same type of efforts should be made to lure ag processing companies, companies that turn Texas cotton into Levis and Wranglers, companies that use Texas-grown vegetables in their salsas; companies that create sausage and other meat products from Texas livestock; and companies that use vegetables grown right here in their salads."

According to the latest study conducted, Texas processes only 8 percent of its agricultural commodities, while the national average for in-state processing is 20 percent.

Along with creating jobs, Texas needs to increase its ag processing rate because exports of high-value agricultural products are growing, the commissioner said.

"Our ag exports are shifting from low-priced, bulk commodities to high-value ag products," Perry said. "In fact, high-value ag exports account for more than 70 percent of this nation's agricultural sales to Mexico. Mexico is already Texas' largest trading partner, but where will they go for steaks, frozen dinners and other high value ag products if we continue with our dismal ag processing rate?"

Perry outlined the state's three agricultural strengths: a diverse climate that enables farmers to grow just about anything; a prime location that provides a trade gateway to Mexico and the rest of Latin America; and a Texas mystique, with food companies throughout the nation using the name "Texas" to sell products.

"We've got the climate, we've got the location and we've got the Texas mystique, all of which add up to an agricultural economic powerhouse if we know how to take advantage of it," the commissioner said.

However, some current policies could undermine Texas' strength, Perry said.

"Our state can still short itself if we don't strive to make Texas the most competitive place to do business in North America," he said. "If certain policies remain in place, which create an unfavorable business climate, be they policies on tort reform, education, trucking, high taxes or over-regulation, our dollars and jobs will go elsewhere.

"It is essential that we all work together to build a climate that is friendly to business. But at the same time it must be a climate that is responsible to consumers, the community and the environment," Perry said.

Schleicher Co. Welfare Report

The state spent a total of $2,141,763 last year for major welfare programs in Schleicher County, according to David Maberry, Regional Administrator for the Texas Department of Human Services.

"Medical assistance had the biggest impact, with $367,800 spent for families and children and $315,908 for the aged and disabled for hospitals, physicians, laboratory, x-ray and other services. Also, $17,689 was spent for families and children and $71,378 for the aged and disabled in Schleicher County for prescribed medicines. Disproportionate-share hospital payments totaled $536,870. Nursing home costs of approximately $353,826 were paid for aged and disabled residents. Community Care for Aged and Disabled spent $130,143," Maberry said.

Food stamps worth $313,395 were issued for the fiscal year which ended August 31, while Aide to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) totaled $34,754. Food stamps are funded entirely by the federal government, while the department determines eligibility of applicants and issues the food coupons.

The state and federal governments share in the cost of AFDC to families where needy children are deprived of support because of the absence or disability of one or both parents.

Poetry Contest

A total of 51 prizes will be awarded in a national poetry competition sponsored by the International Library of Famous Poets, open free to everyone. A handsome book prize will be awarded to the finalist in each state. The Grand prize winner, chosen from among the 50 finalists, will receive a cashier's check for $1,000!

"Texas has always produced great poets," says Dr. Richard Huntington, the Library's famed Contest Director, "and I would like to see a person from the Eldorado area take top honors. Beginners are welcome!"

Entries must be postmarked by midnight, August 15, 1994. A winner's list will be sent to all entrants.

To enter, send one poem 20 lines or less: National Poetry Competition, 421 N. Rodeo Dr., Suite 455, Beverly Hills, California 90210

Young Men Must Register For Selective Service

Responding to a recent decision by President Clinton, the U.S. House of Representatives voted on May 23rd to continue the requirement for all men to register with the Selective Service upon reaching age 18. The members considered a proposed amendment to the Defense Authorization Bill, H.R. 4301, that would have ended registration.

The amendment was rejected 125 to 273.

Five days before the vote, President Clinton notified Congress that continuing draft registration and providing funding to operate the Selective Service System is "essential to our national security." In letters to the leadership of the House and Senate on May 18th, the President based his decision on a recently completed review of the program by a National Security Council working group. He concluded that the Selective Service System and peacetime registration must be retained as a prudent military preparedness measure in an uncertain world, as a link between American society and the volunteer military, and as a symbol of national resolve.

Although there has been no need to draft men for military service during the past 21 years, the nation has maintained the capability to reinstate a draft in a major crisis. Since July 1980, draft registration has been an obligation of virtually every man, ages 18 through 25. Federal law requires that every man must register within 30 days of his 18th birthday. Each man completes a short form to provide Selective Service with his name, date of birth, address, phone number and Social Security number. Registration forms are available at any post office. Most men also receive a registration reminder in the mail a few months before reaching age 18, and they may use it to register by return mail. The Selective Service System has a telephone line dedicated to answering questions about registration: (708) 688-6888.

Men who don't register are in violation of Federal law. Non-registrants can be prosecuted, and they are ineligible for Federal student financial aid, most Federal jobs, and job training. The law applies to male immigrant aliens, 18 through 25 years old, as well as male citizens

Social Security: Rules For Brides

It's the time of year when many brides-to-be are busy with a list of "things to do" before their wedding. The Social Security Administration (SSA) would like them to add one important, but easily managed item, to that list.

"If you're going to change your name when you marry, remember to tell Social Security," says Franklin H. Upp, manager of the San Angelo Social Security office, for women who are working, reporting a name change assures that they will receive proper credit for their earnings and, one day, all the Social Security benefits they are due. For women who don't work outside the home, reporting the change will ensure that their Social Security record shows the correct name when the time comes to apply for benefits.

Another important reason to report your change of name is that Internal Revenue Service and SSA records should show the same name and Social Security number. If they don't, your tax refund could be postponed.

"Of course, if a woman continues to use her maiden name after the marriage, as many women do today," said Upp, "they don't need to report the marriage. They just have to be sure to use their maiden name consistently throughout their working years. And, if someone should change her mind later, let Social Security know at that time."

To report a name change, call Social Security's toll-free number, 1-800-772-1213, any business day between 7:00 A.M. and 7:00 P.M., or call or visit your local Social Security Office. You'll need to complete an "Application For A Social Security Card" and provide either your marriage certificate to verify your old and new names or two documents, one with your maiden name and one with your married name. All documents must be originals or certified copies. The application form lists acceptable documents.

Upp reminds everyone that the service is free. "Don't be misled by any business that offers, for a fee, to complete the paperwork for you. The process is simple and you don't need to pay anyone for a revised Social Security card."

CONFUSION

Can be turned into confidence...

There are many questions a high school student faces after graduation. What do I do after I graduate? Do I listen to my parents? My high school counselor? My classmates? Who? I think I know what I like, but how can I be sure? How will I get a good job?

At Texas State Technical College, we frequently hear these type of questions. If you want to talk to people who understand your frustrations and doubts, we encourage you to call us. We can help guide you through the choices of a technical career that will prepare you for a good paying job. It only takes 1 or 2 years and you'll have the option of transferring select credits to a 4 year college.

So what are you waiting for? At TSTC, you can turn your confusion into a career with confidence that can lead to a great future.

PUBLIC NOTICES

CITY OF ELDORADO
NOTICE OF INTENTION TO ISSUE CERTIFICATES OF
OBLIGATION, SERIES 1994

The City of Eldorado does hereby give notice of intention to issue City of Eldorado, Texas Certificates of Obligation, Series 1994, in the maximum principal amount not to exceed $470,000 for paying all or a portion of the City's contractual obligations for the purpose of improving and extending the Waterworks and Sewer System, including improvements to the City's Sewer Treatment Plant and for acquiring, constructing equipping a landfill site for the City's solid waste collection system, and for paying legal, fiscal and engineering fees in connection with this project. The City proposes to provide for the payment of such Certificates of Obligation from the levy and collection of ad valorem taxes in the City as provided by law, and from a limited pledge of the surplus revenues of the City's Waterworks and Sewer System, remaining after payment of all operation and maintenance expenses thereof, and all debt service, reserve, and other requirements in connection with all of the City's revenue bonds or other obligations (now or hereafter outstanding), which are payable from all or any part of the Net Revenues of the City's Waterworks and Sewer System. The City Council intends to consider for passage an Ordinance authorizing the issuance of City of Eldorado, Texas Certificates of Obligation, Series 1994, at the City Hall, Eldorado, Texas, at a Special Meeting to be held at 6:30 P.M. on July 28, 1994.
