ALCOHOL

More alcohol is being distilled in the United States than ever before. That has nothing to do with prohibition. The use of alcohol in industry has multiplied enormously since the war. The new chemical industries use it in a thousand ways. Next to sulphuric acid, it is the most important of all chemicals. Business would stop, in hundreds of lines, if the manufacture of alcohol stopped. But less grain is being used for alcohol than before. Molasses and potatoes are the chief sources of industrial alcohol. The sugar-growers of Louisiana are getting real money now for what used to be pure waste, and the potato growers of Maine, Michigan, Maryland and the other potato centers have a more stable market for their product.

CITIZENSHIP

Becoming a citizen of the United States ought to be as impressive as joining a church or a lodge. When you join a church it is a solemn occasion. You are welcomed into the communion by a ceremony in which minister, elders, deacons or other officials take the lead and the whole congregation participates. When you join a lodge you are, for the moment, the central figure among the brothers; you are made to feel that you have achieved a new importance in their eyes, a new dignity in your own esteem. But when a man or woman goes into a naturalization court to get his final papers he is treated as if Uncle Sam wished he had stayed at home.

It would be a useful service for any Chamber of Commerce to undertake to make of the admission of aliens citizenship an occasion for public rejoicing. And if the same idea could be extended to an annual welcome to the new American-born voters who have just come of age, that would certainly help improve upon them the responsibilities and the dignity of American citizenship.

CHEESE

There are more than five hundred varieties of cheese. Some are made only in certain parts of the world, such as Roquefort, which ripens only in natural caverns in France, Gorgonzola, a native of Italy, Stilton, as English as John Bull, Limburger, Brie and a hundred other "ripe" cheeses, besides the mild soft cheeses such as Camembert, cream and the others which should be eaten as soon as possible after they are made. Swiss cheese must not be overlooked. And then there are the more universally popular cheeses of the cheddar type, which includes the Dutch Edam and pineapple cheeses and the standard hard cheese of commerce, which is can diary.

Cheese supplies all of the nutritive elements found in meat. The use of cheese is increasing, as the use of meat is decreasing. That is encouraging to the dairy farmer but not so good for the cattle raiser.

MOUNT VERNON

Greatest of all our national shrines is Mount Vernon, the country seat of George Washington, on the Potomac, a few miles below Washington. It was a neglected, almost ruinous old house when, more than fifty years after Washington's death a band of ladies selected from the various states, raised funds with which to purchase and repair it.

From time to time a movement for the Federal Government to take over Mount Vernon and be responsible for its maintenance has been begun. For

Eldorado Loses Trophy To Sonora

Sonora's Track Team Too Much For Local Team

At the Annual Invitation Track and Field Meet held at Sonora last Saturday March 1st, Sonora's fast stepping track team laid claim to the large trophy that was won at the last year's meet by the local boys. Although some of the Eldorado boys placed in several of the events but were unable to hold their own against the speedy Trainer and others that paved the way for a sure win for the Bronchos. Sonora scored a total of 42 against 29 1-2 scored by Eldorado for second place. Third place went to Eden with 25 points and Miles took fourth with 24. The Eldorado boys winning first place trophies were McAngus, in the 120 high hurdles, Smith in the mile race, and McGilvray, in the Javelin.

Coach Smart went to Sonora with a weak team to face the competition that he knew would be there. Sonora placed a crack team on the field to outdistance all competition by a wide margin. Several individual wins were turned in by stars of Coach White's team. Trainer the fleet foot of Sonora carried off two races with ease. The high pint man of the meet was Jennings of Lake View who tagged up a total of 18 1-2 points in the Senior classic. His team finished fifth but he made the entire number of points himself. Woodrow Wilson of Ozona led the Junior field with 18 1-2 pints.

Governor Moody Sends Topics To Legislature

Governor Moody has sent 21 Topics to the Legislature Seven of them are of his own suggestions while the other eighteen have been requested by members of the Legislature. Quite a few of the topics were included in a message delivered to the House last week by the Governor. The seven main topics of interest are: a bill sponsored by the independent oil dealers to curb what they claim is an effective discrimination against them in purchase of oil.

He proposes legislature that will prevent the maintaining of special accounts by State Officials. Other topics suggested by Gov. Moody are workman's compensation insurance for State employes in dangerous occupations; compulsory fire and tornado insurance for schools; authority to water improvements districts to condemn land; a survey of needed office space for the State departments in Austin and amendment of the pension law.

Announcing Tea For Eldorado Girl

On Saturday afternoon, March the 1st, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kirk Jones gave a beautifully appointed tea at their ranch home a few miles north of Eldorado, in honor of their daughter Miss Bernice, at which was announced the approaching marriage of Miss Jones to Mr. Jas. Blaine Sammons on March 20. Miss Jones is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jones, who are prominent ranch people of Schleicher County and of prominent pioneer families in West Texas. They moved to Schleicher County from McCulloch County a number of years ago. Miss Jones is a graduate of the Eldorado High School, has attended Daniel Baker College Brownwood, Texas; the University of Texas; Texas Tech; and Sullins College, Virginia. Mr. Sammons is a ranchman of Schleicher County and during the World War served with the United States Expedition army forces overseas as first Lieutenant.

The beautiful ranch home was decorated in pastel shades with yellow, green and orchid predominating. The lights in the living and dining rooms brought out the delicate pastel shades. The dining table was covered with an exquisite imported cloth of cream lace. Four candle holders on the dining table held yellow tapers and in the center of the table was an array of sweet peas.

The guests on arriving were greeted at the door by Mrs. R. A. King, aunt of the bride to be, who was dressed in an all silk lace dress of turquoise blue with accessories to match. Next in the receiving line was Mrs. T. K. Jones, mother of the bride to be, who was attired in a lovely dress of orchid chiffon and who greeted the guests in a most charming manner. Miss Jones, who stood by her mother, was dressed in a yellow crepe with cream lace trimmings embroidered in gold. Her corsage was of sweet peas held in place with ribbons of pastel shades.

Others in the house party who assisted in receiving and serving the guests were as follows: Miss Ouida Moseley, Brady, Texas, (Continued on last page)

State Health Nurse Ends Work In Schleicher County

Miss Celia Moore, Itinerant State Health Nurse, who spent the month of February in health work in Schleicher County completed her work on February 28 and left Saturday, March 1st, for Three Rivers in Live Oak County to take up a similar work there. Miss Moore was very active while in Schleicher County and it is the general opinion that her work along the line of health education and correction was very beneficial. She was brought to the County by the Eldorado Parent Teachers Association which cooperated with her in her work while she was here.

While in the county, Miss Moore examined a total of 407 school children and found 292 that needed corrections such as removal of tonsils, etc. Eighteen of the corrections were made before she left the county. There were 162 children who were found to be ten percent or more under weight. Fifty eight infant and preschool children were examined and 40 home visits were made. While in the county Miss Moore made 27 health talks to school children, P. T. A., and civic organizations.

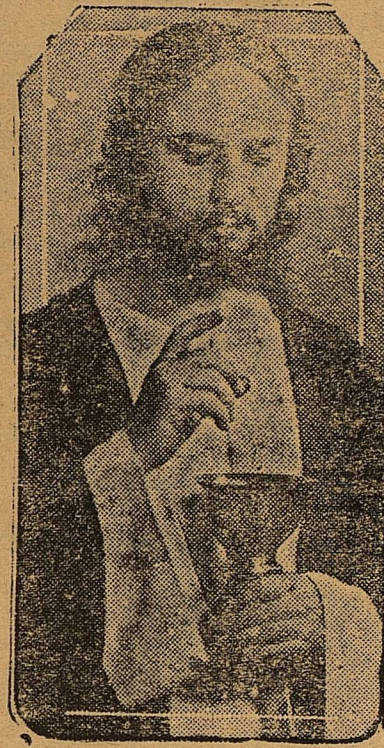

Miss Moore commended the people of Eldorado and Schleicher County for their hospitality and for their willingness to cooperate as illustrated by the clean-up campaign which was carried on in Eldorado. She mentioned in her reports and frequently commended upon the fact that the children of Schleicher County had better teeth than any she had ever examined. The organizations for carrying out the work which Miss Moore suggested and began are already at work. Among these organizations are the Parent Teachers Association of Eldorado, and various clubs. Contests have already begun in the health buton contest, which is sponsored by the Bureau of Child Hygiene, Austin.

One of the notable steps accomplished by Miss Moore while in Schleicher County was immunizing 234 children against diphtheria. The first dose of the toxoid was administered on February 7th and the last on February 28th. On last Friday, February 28th, Dr. Lewis, of San Angelo and Dr. W. D. Patton and Dr. E. B. Newsom of Eldorado administered the toxoid. Misses Shipp, an Cunningham, nurses of San Angelo, helped to give the toxoid also.

"CHRISTUS"

Those who attend the Freiburg Passion Play at the municipal auditorium in San Angelo March 10, 11 and 12, will see this portrayal of the life of Christ in the smallest city in which it has ever been offered in this country, according to Robt. Campbell, of the Music Guild of San Angelo, which with the San Angelo Standard Times is sponsoring the performances.

Mail orders already received for tickets indicate that all seats will be taken for each performance before the first curtain is raised", Mr. Campbell said. Ticket sales booth, opened Monday in the City Drug Store in San Angelo has been a center of activity in San Angelo, Mr. Campbell added.

The historic pageant will begin promptly at 8:15 p. m. on each of the three days, with a special matinee for children Tuesday, March 11, at 2:15 p. m. Three thousand people were turned away after the municipal auditorium in Amarillo was over filled when the play was presented there early this month. If the same condition exists here those who fail to obtain tickets will be included among the disappointed.

Ministers and civic leaders thru out West Texas are showing keen interest in the approaching Passion Play dates. The great interest centering about this dramatization of the Life of Christ was shown in 1922 when 60,000 Americans journeyed to Freiburg, Baden, Germany, to witness this, the world's oldest Passion Play. It will be presented in San Angelo by the Original players, just as it has been presented at intervals during the past 700 years.—San Angelo, Texas.

PROWLERS ENTER HOOVER DRUG STORE.

Last Saturday night an unwelcome visitor entered the Hoover Drug Store and robbed the cash register of $20 and took along a quantity of narcotics.

The entry made by the thief is unknown as no trace was left in any part of the store. It is thought he might have unlocked the front door. Every thing was in order Sunday morning when Mr. J. W. Hoover opened the store.

Several of the Eldorado young people who enjoy dancing attended the dance in Ozona Wednesday, March 5th.

4H Boys Club Have Lamb Show At Fair Grounds

On Wednesday afternoon, March 5th, the 68 feeder lambs which have been fed by the thirteen boys of the Schleicher County 4H Club were shown at the Schleicher County Fair Grounds to a considerable number of interested people. The stockmen of the county were well represented and there were a number of visitors from other neighboring towns. Mr. W. H. Dameron of the Experiment Station was the judge of the lambs.

The First National Bank, of Eldorado, had much to do with encouraging the feeding project by the boys who were members of the 4H Club. The bank awarded a total of $45 in gold to the boys and a large silver loving cup to the breeder of the pen of winning lambs. The $45 in gold was in prizes as follows: grand champion lamb, $15; to boy who fed the winning group of five lambs, $10; to boy who fed 2nd place group of five lambs $5; and first and second premiums, of $10 and $5 respectively, to the boys showing the best and second best weight gains per lowest cost of feeding. The boys who entered the feeding contest have shown more interest in their projects than they would have shown in almost any other thing.

The winning lambs, as judged by Mr. Dameron, were as follows: Best pen of 5 mutton lambs $10 prize, fed by Gene Koy and bred by Jess Koy. (loving cup)

Second best pen of five lambs ($5 prize) fed by Garth Clark, breeder was J. Forrest Runge. Grand Champion lamb ($15 prize) fed by Jim Tom Roach, breeder was J. W. Lawhon, Jr.

The ranking of the individual lambs was as follows: 1st place (Grand Champion) fed by Jim Tom Roach, and breeder J. W. Lawhon, Jr. 2nd place (Grand champion) fed by Glenn Green, breeder J. W. Lawhon, Jr. 3rd place (Grand champion) fed by Gene Koy, breeder Jess Koy. 4th place (Grand champion) fed by Garth Clark, breeder J. Forrest Runge. 5th place (Grand champion), fed by Banning Wade, breeder H. H. CHAPEL PROGRAM

One school body enjoyed a most entertaining program on Wednesday morning. The public speaking class was in charge. The assembly sang two songs showing that they needed practice.

Then Jess Ella and Loleta played several violin numbers. A boy's quartet sang "A Spanish Cavalier" and "My Wild Irish Rose." Herma Lee Hooker and Elora Andrews sang several songs, which were very much enjoyed by all.

The big number of the program, however, was Elzie's singing and jiggling.

If you missed this program you missed one of the best programs of the year. Come out to our chapel and see what your high school can do!

JUNIOR TRACK TEAM

The junior team of Eldorado did not do so well at Sonora toward winning the junior cup. But they did work hard to defeat the other junior teams that competed for the cup. Ozona won the junior cup by a large margin and Sonora came second with Eden third. Eldorado did not get any points in the final but in the fifty yard dash Albert Martin was fourth and in the hundred he was fifth. But they did not place in the relay. Ozona has won the cup for three years and gets to keep it this year for all time. The Sonora Chamber of Commerce will buy a new junior cup.

NEW BOOKS

Five books were received for the library this week. Every one counts, and the students certainly enjoy reading them. The books are: "Sand" By Will James; "The Wind" By Dorothy Scarborough; "The Indians in the Rockies" By Schultz; "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" By Victor Hugo; "With Fire and Sword" By Sienkiewicz.

SENIOR PARTY

This game occupied the time for about two first entertainment. Since it was a hind-part-before party, each one had to wear his apparel backwards and come in at the back door. The entrance of a hours. Mr. Curry and Elizabeth Bradley proved to be the best players. Some other interesting party games were played.

When the guests were ready to leave, Mrs. Holt announced that since she had given a hind-part-before party, the boys ought to stay and wash the dishes. The boys were in "hot water" for a while but Mr. Holt finally promised them that he would wash the dishes, (and also dry them if it was necessary) if they would only have that history lesson up for Monday. Upon arriving at the cars, the guests found that some one had visited them. Cars were found scattered far and near.

Every senior reports a very delightful time. Those present were: Vera Wade, Garnette Luedecke, Ruby Wilson, Alta Stevens, Dahlia Fae Johnson, Matalie Cates, Bernice Newlin, Elizabeth Bradley, Victoria Jones, Fannie Hardt, Miss Orborne, J. C. Journalism In High School

There is nothing in the course of high schools that is of more real value to a student than journalism. Whether he plans to be an editor, reporter, or any literary worker whatsoever journalism is useful to any person.

Journalism develops the mind in correct literary paths, teaches one to write and understand literature and above all furnishes a good background for the writer. Even in every day life this course comes in handy. In writing letters, reading papers, and such journalism is an aid.

A high school is the place where the students are prepared for future life by being taught how to live and learn a livelihood. If it is a preparatory school then, why not teach journalism which is of real value in after life?

Journalism helps the student if he goes off to college, helps him if he goes to work, whatever his future is. It helps the student with other subjects in high school as well. Why not teach journalism as well as other subjects when this is really a valuable course?

Luther Kent has left school, but we hope he will come back next year.

DECLAMATIONS

On Tuesday morning Victoria Jones and Elzie Moore gave their declamation for the Inter-scholastic League work before the high school students. Both of them did rather well, but Elzie needs to study his a little more, it would seem.

The slide which was bought by the Parent Teachers Association is intended primarily for the first and second grades, we understand. These pupils seem to be enjoying it immensely, but the high school girls are also delighted with it because it gives them something to do just to watch the youngsters and to speculate upon what it would be like to try sliding themselves. The slide has already furnished untold pleasure for the little folks, and every student should be proud this addition to our play ground equipment.

A great many students are absent from school on account of the measles, but high school thus far has not fared so badly.

PERSONALS

Miss Waterson is absent from school this week, and Mrs. Ashmore is taking her place.

Mrs. Bailey went to Ft. Worth for a week-end visit.

Miss Bradshaw visited in Abilene vast weekend.

Louise Evans, one of our students who has been seriously ill for some time, was taken to a San Angelo hospital Sunday.

ELDORADO LOSES LOVING CUP

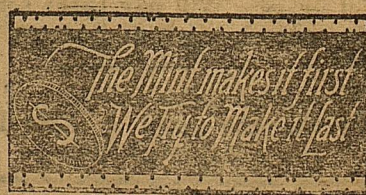

Saturday, March 1st, the track team went to the Sonora invitation track and field meet with hopes of returning with the cup that was won last year. Altho the Eldorado boys did not win the meet they made a good showing in several events and needed only a few more points to win the cup again.

The junior events began about 10:30 A. M. The junior meet was very interesting, but several towns were disappointed in letting Wilson from Ozona win most of the first places. Ozona has taken the junior cup in succession with Wilson as high point man in all the meets.

At about 11:30 the preliminaries for 110 yd and 220 yd dashes were held for the seniors. McAngus went to the finals in both races and won third place in the 100 yd. dash. McAngus won the 120 yd. high hurdles, the time being 18.2 sec. He also entered the low hurdles but did not place. As William McAngus was seen in so many events and made a good showing in them all, Mr. Smart was asked if "Legs" was the only track man he had.

Soon the half mile run came on and another Eldorado boy was seen for Aubrey Smith won second place. It was interesting to see "Lefty" run the half mile but he won first place in the mile run. These wining places began to put Eldorado on the score

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE

WHEREAS, the future agricultural, commercial, industrial and political progress of Texas may be better served, promoted and developed through a union of the progressive forces of our State; and

WHEREAS, by virtue of the magnificent vote registered in our State in favor of President Hoover, Texas has now taken its proper place in the Councils of the Sisterhood of States in directing the destinies of the Republic; and

WHEREAS, the Administration of governmental affairs of our great State has gradually deteriorated from the efficient, economical, generous and frequently brilliant achievements of the past until we find our people burdened to the limit with taxation; many important departments of the government on the verge of a breakdown; the adequate support of our Old Soldiers and their widows sadly neglected; general inefficiency existing in the administration of public affairs, and the machinery of the dominant party in the control of an autocratic and despotic committee, which assumes to disqualify voters as candidates, and prescribing penalties to be fulfilled, because said voter exercised the American privilege of freedom of conscience and action in voting for candidates of their choice at the last general election.

WHEREAS, experience has fully demonstrated that these states are better served and their progress promoted when the political power is more equally divided between two great parties, each contending for the honor of public services; and,

WHEREAS, the present organization of the Republican Party in Texas is in full accord with the progressive and brilliant program of our illustrious President, and with the ideals, aspirations and progressive spirit of the citizens who voted for our National ticket in the last election.

Therefore be it resolved, by the State Executive Committee of the Republican Party of Texas, that an official invitation be, and the same is, hereby extended to all Democrats and other progressive and forward looking citizens, both men and women to affiliate with our Party; that a special invitation is extended to all those under sentence of ostracism and penance to unite with us for the purpose of effecting progress in the administration of our State affairs and maintaining the enviable position our State has established in National affairs.

Be it Further Resolved: That all such voters are cordially welcomed into our forthcoming primary election, with an assurance that all such having ambition to serve the Federal, State, County or Precinct, as officers, are welcomed to offer their names as candidates for any such office on equal terms with all members of longer standing in our party.

Be it Further Resolved: That all new voters or candidates affiliating with our party will be accorded full voice and participation in our party organization and councils and in shaping future policies of the party, without prejudice, probation or penance.

Be it Resolved, that the Republican State Executive Committee, hereby respectfully requests the Honorable Dan Moody Governor of Texas, to submit to the Legislature now in session a recommendation for the repeal of the law compelling political parties holding primary elections to place on the primary ballot a pledge to support at the general election all persons nominated at such primary.

We further request that legislation be submitted and enacted, providing a penalty for any attempt on the part of party officials to either directly or indirectly coerce or in any manner interfere with the right of voters in Texas to cast their votes according to the dictates of their own consciences at any election, general or special.

Be it Further Resolved, that we emphatically condemn the placing of any pledge upon a primary election ballot and declare that the law requiring such pledge as it now exists to be an infringement upon the inalienable right of citizens of Texas to vote as they please and a brazen effort to force voters to cast their ballots in the general election for party nominees regardless of their fitness for office.

Way of Life BRUCE BARTON

YOUR LEGS AND YOUR BRAIN

They travel by taxicabs and street cars; they travel by automobile; they project their personalities over a telephone wire. But they do not walk.

There is a double loss in this. A loss in health, first. Most of the diseases of modern men originate in the intestines. Formerly men and women walked enough to keep the stomach muscles firm, the intestines healthy and the nerves agitated.

Now men and women even more so sit all day slumped in. Germs settle down inside them gladly; and Death, his work made easy for him, laughs. There is another loss, equally great. A loss in mental keenness and mental wealth.

Did you ever take a walk in the country, with some one who knows really how to walk?

Some one of the type of the naturalist Linnaeus, for instance. Linnaeus walked into Oland, and found the lands of the farmers ruined by sand blown from the beaches.

He discovered that the roots of a certain beach grass were long and firm: he taught the farmers to sow that grass along the beach, and so preserved their lands from ruin.

He walked into Thorne, and found that at a certain period in every year the cattle fell sick and died.

It was a curse, the people said—the act of angry spirits.

But Linnaeus, examining the pastures, uncovered a noxious weed, and showed the farmers how the work of one laborer for a few days every season would root it out.

In his walks he examined and catalogued 8,000 plants, vegetables, and flowers.

How many plants, vegetables, and flowers do you think you could identify if you were to see them in their native state?

"Few men," said Dr. Johnson, "know how to take a walk." But those favored few enjoy a glorious and mysterious privilege.

To discover where the violets first bloom in the spring—

To be able to tell directions in the woods, by knowing that large pine trees bear more numerous branches on their southern side—

Or that grass grows on the south side of ant-hills and whortle berries on the north—

There are few pleasures more richly satisfying; none that pay larger dividends in health.

The man who goes into the country once a week is a better citizen than the man who never goes, even though his eyes see nothing more inspiring on his walk than a golf ball.

Flabby legs usually mean flabby brains.

If you would think clearly, speak forcefully, work effectively, get out into the country when you can—and walk.

PARAGRAPHS BY WRIGHT

BORN—Thursday, February 27, 1930, to Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Ballard, a 9 pound boy. We trust the youngster will be as good a Yodler as his dad but we hope that does not yodle so much at night.

Work has started laying the main to the Santa Fe depot. The railroad will get its water supply from the Eldorado Water Works.

A. B. White campaign manager for L. T. Wilson, reports that L. T. has been campaigning over at Ft. McCavett and believes he has secured several votes in Menard county.

District Judge M. C. Jeffrey, of the 22nd District at San Marcos, has been delivering an address at the opening of each court in each county of his district on "The Crime Wave."

The Judge deplored the condition in his district and especially the boys and girls under 20 who had been brought before him and admonished the citizens of his district to find a remedy. Here is a part of his address: "In one of the large cities of Texas in 1929 there were 106 delinquent girls between 12 and 17 returned to their homes by probation officers. Fifty-eight girls had come in from other towns. In January of the same year in the same city twenty-three girls had left home for a career of crime. In the same month there were sixty-nine charges against young women."

The Judge seems to think it is worse to punish a youth than it is an aged person. While I always thought that was the kind that punishment might help. An old reprobate can seldom be made a decent person by punishment but many a lad has made useful men and women by the use of the rod. The rod has been let out of the family circle too much in late years, consequently the youth must appear in court for the punishment.

If the man in the front seat at the Sharky and Scott bout did not get any more kick out of the fight that a Radio listener he must have felt that he paid for something and saw nothing. Any way it was of short duration and what we would call "punk."

L. T. Wilson was in town Monday and said he would announce A. B. White for Governor against Jim Ferguson but was afraid A. B. might not get by with his night mare as well as Jim did.

C. B. Reagan reports that he will run Henry Wilson for Justice of the Peace, if Henry will agree to file charges against him self for his own darn meanness.

"Alcohol Seen As Fuel for Future Cars" is a headline in a Sunday paper. We suggest, however, that it be used in the machinery and not the driver.

Only one out of ten men who assisted in the work of entering into the tomb of King Tut-Ank-Amen a few years ago is living. It is possible that Pharaoh's wrath has befallen them. Most of the nine dead ones have met violent death. The remaining party is Howard Carter and we would suggest that he have his will prepared and get ready for the climbing of the Golden Stairs. However, this suggestion is good for anyone whether he digs in King's tombs or not.

About 15 years ago Eldorado harvested a good crop of measles but our 1930 crop promises to be a bumper. Some 52 pupils were absent from school one day last week with measles.

The Allerita Loomis Players are playing in Eldorado this week and are giving the people a good show. They have been here before and say that Eldorado is one of the best towns to play on their circuit. They have played for good attention for the Golden dance and much applause for the climbing of the Golden Stairs. However, this suggestion is good for anyone whether

ANALYZE THE ALLOWANCE ON YOUR USED CAR

If a dealer pays you more than the true worth of the car he must make up the difference by extra charges on the new car or re-sell it to some one else at too high a price

PERMANENT value is always better than a temporary bargain in the purchase of an automobile. It pays to look ahead and consider reliability and ultimate up-keep costs, as well as comfort, safety, speed, and beauty of line and color.

Since most automobiles are bought for replacement, the value set on your used car is a factor in almost every purchase. Frequently it is given an importance beyond its true worth.

Used cars have a definite market value and you are justly entitled to an allowance based on that value. It is not fair that you receive less. It is not to your best interests to receive more.

If a dealer pays you more than the true worth of the car he must either re-sell it to some one else at too high a price or make up the difference on the new car. This he cannot do unless he is allowed an excessive profit on the car or on financing, extra equipment and other charges. In either case, you pay the bill, for no way has yet been found to give something for nothing. The money must come from somewhere.

You may not get the largest used-car allowance from the Ford dealer, but that very fact should give you confidence that you are receiving full value in the new car. Ford charges are not marked up or increased to cover a high trade-in allowance on your old car.

Because there is no waste, extravagance or undue profit in manufacturing, distribution or selling, every dollar you pay for a Ford brings a full dollar in return. In lower first cost, in reliability and long life, in the low cost of operation, service and replacement parts, the Ford will save you much more than the seeming difference in trade allowance.

FURTHERMORE, at least $75 extra value is given to you in the new Ford in the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, the Rustless Steel, the five steel-spoke wheels, and the four Houdaille hydraulic double-acting shock absorbers. The unusually large number of ball and roller bearings, and the extensive use of fine steel forgings instead of castings or stampings, are other features that show the extra quality built into the Ford car.

WHY CHINESE STARVE TO DEATH

Newspaper dispatches a few weeks ago carried the startling headlines: "Two Million Chinese Doomed to Die!"

China is in the grip of a food famine. Millions are dying of slow starvation. Hundreds of thousands have already died since Winter began, and there is no human power which can save the rest of those who are threatened.

Yet China is mainly an agriculture country, and its people are highly efficient producers of crops. They practice scientific methods of crop rotation and fertilization and maintain the yield of any piece of ground year after year. Why, then, do the Chinese starve?

They starve because they have no livestock. That is the explanation which Mr. Renick W. Dunlap, U. S. Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, gives, with convincing arguments in favor of that statement.

"The Chinese lack that great reserve of food which is represented by the vast herds and flocks of America," says Mr. Dunlap. "In a land dependent entirely upon its plant crops for food, one crop failure is likely to mean famine. Our livestock industries represent a great reservoir of foodstuffs, something which we may draw upon in time of need, and build up in time of surplus. A large corn crop is carried along a year or so in the form of hogs and cattle."

Before livestock became an essential part of general farming fine conditions were likely to arise anywhere, as they formerly did frequently in parts of Europe and within recent years over extensive areas of India, where the religion of the people forbids the taking of life and meat food is unknown.

In the United States there are still agricultural sections where almost no livestock is kept, and those are the sections in which the farmers have the hardest time to get along. One of the most important parts of agricultural education in America in the past forty years has been the effort on the part of Federal and state agricultural departments, and the agricultural colleges, to introduce diversified farming into these one-crop regions.

It is surprising to learn that more than two-thirds of all the land included in the farms of the United States is devoted to growing feed for livestock or for their pasturage. This in addition to the great herds which graze on the open ranges not included in farms. And more than half of the annual value of the farm products of America is the value of the cattle, hogs, sheep, horses, mules and animal by-products raised on the farms.

YOU CAN'T PLEASE EVERYBODY

The world is full of good-natured people who try to agree with everybody. If they have any opinions of their own, they conceal them in their effort to avoid hurting someone else's feelings. But they don't get anywhere. They don't gain the respect or the confidence of anybody, and they count for nothing, or next to it, in the lives and affairs of their families and their communities.

How far would a minister get in the congregation if he tried to make his sermons please everybody in the congregation? The question answers itself. The politician who flatters all of his constituents and agrees with whatever any of them thinks seldom gets elected and if he does he is even more seldom re-nominated. The business man who would let every customer tell him how to run his store would soon be bankrupt. And the newspaper editor who did not have any opinions of his own but ran his paper to suit the supposed views of everyone of his subscribers would find himself in a sorry fix.

There is one sound rule for everyone who is ambitious to get along in the world and to be a respected member of his community, his state and his country. That rule is to form his or her own opinions, form them in the light of reason and change them only if reasonably convinced that they were wrong, and then to stand by them courteously but firmly. Even those who disagree will respect the man who honestly and sincerely holds an opposing view. And it is better to be respected than merely tolerated.

PROMINENT BRADY GIRL HANGS HERSELF; FOUND AFTER PROTRACTED SEARCH

That fatal step may end the most happy life, has often been true. Even the most refined, the most cultured and best loved are no exceptions to such a fate. A father's devotion, a mother's fond care a brother's or sister's beloved companionship will not even shield them when a desire to take that step has been once yielded to. This fact was vividly illustrated last Sunday evening when one of the highest educated, most beautiful and vivacious girls of Brady, who always enjoyed the luxuries of life was found hanging in the home parlor of her fond parents. Late in the evening she had been missed, a careful search had been made to reveal her whereabouts. The telephone had been persistently used without any definite result. Friends and kind neighbors were called to assist in the search. Finally the almost broken-hearted mother returned to the house and to her intense horror and surprise found her daughter hanging in the parlor—hanging to her sweet-heart's neck an begging him to take the Brady Standard, so that they might read all the latest local happenings and get the benefit of the advertisement that appear every issue in its columns. —Brady Standard.

GUNMAN'S BLUFF

Edgar Wallace
COPYRIGHT BY EDGAR WALLACE

SEVENTH INSTALMENT

While they were talking Gunner Haynes was introduced. Morrell begs her not to see him and when she insists, Morrell hides in another room. Haynes admits that he is a jewel thief and that he is just out of prison but Luke Madison had once tried to do him a favor and he wants to return it if possible. He asks if Danton Morrell is a friend of hers and why her husband left her.

Margaret sees Luke driving a car in company with a fair-haired girl. She does not recognize her husband, with his beard, but overhears a passer-by refer to the woman in the car as Jean Gurlay, the cleverest woman crook in London. Luke in his new environment has been asked to act as her chauffeur. He drives her to a famous jewelry shop and waits at the curb for her to come out. She rushes from the store, jumps in and tells him to drive on at once. He does so, and is amazed the next day to read in the newspapers of a jewel robbery by a woman who got away in a car driven by a bearded man. He was unwittingly made an accomplice of thieves, and considers fleeing to Spain, but realizes that he has no passport.

Now Go on With The Story

Luke dismissed from his mind his experience of the afternoon. That was something not to be thought of without a shudder—he was whistling cheerfully when Mrs. Fraser came with a pair of bright, new scissors to collect the gray tweed suit he had discarded, and to bring him a pair of brown shoes, so hideously bright that they dazzled him.

"Connor says you'd better leave your mustache," she suggested.

"Where is Connor? Is he on the premises?"

She shook her head. "No he phoned me."

"I didn't know you had a phone," he said in surprise.

Mrs. Fraser smiled cryptically.

"We've got lots of things here that people don't know anything about," she said.

She came back a little later with a tube of shaving paste, a brand new lather brush, and a razor which had evidently been purchased recently, for when he opened the case he found it still enclosed in oil paper. Shaving was a painful process in spite of this, but apparently the results were satisfactory, for when the woman brought him some food later she stood in the doorway and gasped her approval.

"Well, I should never have known you, Mr. Smith," she said, "and I'll bet your best friend wouldn't know you!"

As to this Luke was perfectly convinced. What an extraordinary change a mustache made in a man's appearance! To him it lent a touch of the sinister—he stood gazing, fascinated, at his reflection in the mirror.

Mrs. Fraser seemed more inclined to be conversational than she had been before; asked him if he was married, and before he could answer announced herself as a widow.

"At least, practically," she amended the statement. "My husband got a liver two years ago."

She was quite cheerful about this calamity, and Luke gathered that life had not run any too smoothly for the woman.

"He asked for it," she said. "Shot a copper and nearly killed him; and naturally, Connor wouldn't stand for that. Connor says a gun's all right for the heads but not for the unders. Fraser was that kind—flash! He tried everything—"

"Had he been in prison before?" She smiled amusedly.

"Why, of course! He did two stretches."

Luke did not ask what a stretch might be: he had a vague idea that it meant penal servitude.

"He did one stretch," said the communicative Mrs. Fraser, "for a swindle up in Manchester—he and Danty were in it—"

Luke's jaws dropped.

"Danty?" he said incredulously. "Who is he?"

"He's a con man—you must have heard of him. I think he's straight now, but you can never tell. He lives up west, knows all the swells, and has got a flat in Half Moon Street." He and Gunner Haynes used to work together—

"Gunner Haynes—you know him?" asked Luke quickly.

From her expression and tone he gathered that Haynes was a person of some importance in the hierarchy of the underworld.

"No, I don't know him, I've only heard of him. But what do they call Danty now?" She frowned in an effort of memory. "I had it on the tip of my tongue—a swell name. Danton Morell—that's it! Connor told me only the other day about him."

The room seemed to swim before Luke Maddison's eyes. Danton Morell—a confidence man, an ex-convict? It was incredible! And then suddenly he had the stunning realization that Danty Morell was his wife's best friend.

"What is he like in appearance?"

"Danty? I've seen him two or three times. . . ."

She described Morell in her homely language. There was no doubt at all that this was the man! It was more vitally necessary than ever that he should escape from this environment and reappear as Luke Maddison.

His vague plans became definite. He could leave the house that night, seek out Hulbert, and tell him the truth.

At nine o'clock that night he was preparing to leave when an unexpected difficulty arose. He was just about to turn out the light when Mrs. Fraser appeared.

She closed the door behind her, and from her manner he gathered that something serious had happened.

"Two of the Lewing crowd are down below," she said in a low voice. "I haven't had a chance to call up Connor; the phone is in the parlor, and they came in before I knew what was happening."

She had something hidden under her apron, and when she withdrew her hand he saw that it was a small Browning pistol.

"Put that in your sky," she said urgently. "You don't know what these fellows are after!"

"In my—?" he began, bewildered.

"In your pocket," she said impatiently. "Do as you're told."

Mechanically he took the pistol from her hand and slipped it into his hip pocket. The one thing he did not wish to challenge was a scene with two members of the rival gang. It was vital that he should get away from Ginnett Street with the least possible delay, and if this pistol helped him it was welcome.

"They want to see you—" she began.

And then a voice came from the foot of the narrow stairs.

"Come on, Smith!"

There was menace in the tone. Mrs. Fraser flung open the door.

"Wait! she said sharply. "Who do you think you are?"

Luke heard a grumbling voice and the slam of the door which separated the foot of the stairs from the parlor. And then, he at the beckoning jerk of the woman's head, he followed her down the stairs.

There were two men in the parlor. One stood with his back to the fire, the other significantly near the door that gave egress to the shop. They were respectably dressed. Luke realized that if he had seen them in the street he would have thought they were decent artisans. There was certainly nothing sinister in either face. One was tall and rather stout, the other a slightly built man, who wore as his neck tie the color of a cavalry regiment.

The big man who stood with his back to the fire lowered his chin to his breast and looked at Luke from under his eyebrows.

"Is this Smith?" he asked.

"That is Mr. Mmith," said Mrs. Fraser primly.

"What's the idea of your coming here and pretending you're somebody your not?" asked the little man by the door with extraordinary rapidity.

His big companion silenced him.

"You shut up. I'll do all the talking, Curly," he said. "You did that job to-day, didn't you, Smith?"

"I've done many jobs," said Luke coolly.

"You're pretending you're a fellow named Smith whom our governor brought over from Australia—no, I'm not talking about Lewing; he was nobody. Swank killed him, and he's well dead. But you're not Smith." He pointed a finger to the man at the door. "That's Curly Smith."

"I'll say I am!"

The little man was quivering with anger; he spoke with a shrill cockney whine.

"You've been using my name!"—he qualified the name with a violent adjective.

The stout man by the fire rebuked him.

"There are ladies present," he said, with such solemnity that Luke almost laughed at the incongruity of the reproach.

"The point is," said the big man, who, Luke discovered, was named Verdi, "you was picked up when Lewing was chived, and you got yours too, and naturally Connor thought you were the man that Lewing was supposed to meet off that boat in the London Docks. And instead of going to meet him, Lewing got cold feet, because he thought the Connor lot were after him for a squeal. But you're not Smith, and I'll take my oath you have never been to Australia."

"Him!" Curly Smith was quivering with contempt. "That fellow couldn't get a living in Australia!"

He suddenly tugged a newspaper from his side pocket.

"Do you see what you've done for me?" he hissed, and thrust the paper under Luke's nose.

Luke Maddison read the paragraph which the grimy thumb of the man stabbed.

In connection with this robbery the police are seeking information concerning a man named Smith who landed a few weeks ago from the Orient liner Pontiac.

"Do you see what you've done repeated Smith savagely. You've got the dicks after me!"

His hand strayed to his trousers pocket.

"Steady your mitt!" growled Verdi. This bird's got a gat—what do you think the old woman went up to see him about?"

Mrs. Fraser flamed at the in suit.

"Old, am I, you fat snail! We'll see what Connor says to that! He'll be here in five minutes."

Verdi glanced uneasily at the door.

"Bluff," he said. "Any way, Connor can't complain if we come around to make a few inquiries. We're entitled to a bit of information."

"Do you want to see me any more?" said Luke and moved to ward the door.

Curly Smith stood squarely in his way.

"We want to know—" began Verdi.

"You know all you're likely to know, said Luke curtly.

He took another step forward, but Smith did not move. Suddenly Luke's hand shot up, gripped the little man and swung him across the room. It was not a moment to compromise or to argue; instinctively he knew he was taking the right line as he pulled the door wide open.

"Get outside, both of you!" he said.

Verdi shrugged his broad shoulders.

"That's all right," he said. "We don't want any unpleasantness."

He was smiling when he came abreast of Luke; but Mrs. Fraser had slipped to the other side of the table, and saw the life preserver he carried in his right hand.

"Look out!" she cried shrilly. As the deadly little stick a rose, Luke struck for the man's jaw, and he went over with a crash against the wooden partition which separated the shop from the parlor.

For a moment he was stunned, and in that time Luke had jerked the life preserver from the man's hand (a leather cord attached to it was twisted around his wrist) and had dropped it into his pocket.

"Come on, you," he beckoned Curly Smith, and the little man sidled nimbly past him.

Verdi was on his feet by now, a little dazed, blinking with his pale blue eyes at the man who had knocked him down.

"All right," he said, and went heavily after his companion.

Back Quit Hurting

"I WAS in a very weak condition from a serious sickness," writes Mrs. I. Leonard, 571 Joseph St., New Orleans, La. "I was so weak, I wanted to sleep all the time. I did not have strength to do anything. My back ached nearly all the time. I was just in misery. My mother told me I must arouse myself from the sleepiness, and take something to help get my strength back. She had taken Cardui and had been helped, so I decided to take Cardui, too. After my first bottle, I could see that it was helping me. I took four bottles at this time. My strength came back and I gained weight. Pretty soon, I was my old self again. My back quit hurting, and I haven't had any more trouble since I took Cardui."

board but that was not all. Bill McGilvray took third place in discus throw with more than 86 ft. The discus throwers could not beat Thomas from Miles, who threw more than 97 ft.

The 1 mile relay caused a little excitement. There were seven teams running and of course all wanted to win. Our team, L. Kent, K. Green, A. Smith, and W. McAngus, won fourth place. Sonora won the cup but not on the relay, for they came in last.

Bill McGilvray placed in the shot put but did better in the javelin throw. He won first place with 128 ft. 6 inches. Elzie Moore took second place in this event. During this time McAngus won third place in the broad jump. McAngus and Jennings from Lakeview tied for second in the highjump.

Sonora won the meet and the loving cup with only a very few more points than Eldorado. Lakeview and Eden, and Miles made good in several events. San Angelo compete in most of the events for exhibition but did not count against the B class schools.

The Eldorado boys who entered in some event were as follows: William McAngus, Aubrey Smith, Edwin Kent, Bill McGilvray, Elzie Moore, Kenneth Green, and Fred Logan.

Another track meet, is to be held at Eden in two weeks. With consistent training and a few more boys to take part Eldorado should win this meet.

SPEED CHAMPIONS

Each student taking type-writing is anxious to become the school champion for at least one month before the close of this term. The student who wins each month has his or her name placed on the Honor Roll of Champion Typists. To be a champion one must type for fifteen minutes and average at least 30 words a minute and not make over 5 errors during the time.

Frances Ballew was the champion for the month of February. She averaged 32 words a minute for fifteen minutes and made only one error. J. C. Kinchen averaged 37 words a minute but made seven errors. Garland Bullion averaged 34 words a minute but made six errors.

We expect the champion for March to average 40 words or more a minute for fifteen minutes and not make over five errors. Any student who can make an average of 40 is given a bronze medal by the Underwood Typewriting Company. Several Eldorado students have won these medals in the past, among the winners being Bill Currie, Victoria Jones, and Ruby Chich. We hope several more students will win medals this year.

TENNIS PROSPECTS

Quite a bit of interest is being taken in tennis by high school boys. Tennis is the best of exercise and a great game to enjoy. We have only one court and it is in poor condition. Clay is needed to make a good tennis court, and the black gravelly dirt on the school ground makes a poor ground to play on.

J. C. Kinchen, Fred Williams, Joe M. Christian, Albert McGinty, Bill McGilvray, and Edwin Kent are out for tennis team which will represent Eldorado at the District meet in San Angelo on April 4 & 5. A local elimination contest will be held in the near future to pick the singles and doubles teams which will represent the Eldorado High School.

FAILURES

Several students in Eldorado

High School are failing in every subject. Most of those complete failures do not carry any books home at night. Schools should be a place of business with high school pupils, and if it is, some of our pupils are business failures. Wake up, you are failing School will soon be out, and you will not have made a single credit. Time is money, even at two dollars a day. Don't waste your time! Parents see that your child brings some books home at night.

ATTENDANCE RECORDS

Hazel Bruton, Viola May, Pauline Rape, and Clyda Pruitt have not been tardy nor missed a day of school this term. A fine record and one any student should be proud of.

FRESHMEN

The first six weeks of the second semester didn't fare so well with the freshmen. Mr. Curry asked all the freshmen who had passed in all four subjects to stand up. Only two, Aubrey Smith and Claud Jeffrey, stood up. Willie Ruth Nicks, who was absent at the time, made four A's. The freshmen are getting busy this month and the teachers are pleased with their improvement. In the study hall you can see the "Fish" studying hard while others are staring into space.

FIRE! FIRE!

Last Wednesday evening at three o'clock every one was studying hard when all at once the fire alarm was sounded. The students had been told by Mr. Holt how to get out of the house in case of fire. The girls in the study hall were to go down the south stairs and the boys down the fire escape. The rooms were arranged for escape also.

The high school did very well. No one was hurt in the rush. We got out in the fast time of about forty-five seconds. Then the bell rang and we marched back. In doing this we will never know when a fire is on and we will think it is practice and no one will get hurt in the rush

FARMERS AND FARM RELIEF

The pegging of the price of wheat as a farm relief measure has been a considerably larger undertaking than was supposed by the peggers. Wheat at the present time is facing a world surplus. The pegging of the price is just an artificial remedy at present and it looks as though it is too temporary to do any good.

Farm relief of the market manipulating type works as long as the operators buy wheat but when they have to unload the price sags from the weight.

Unlike cotton, wheat has not been considered as a world market, but at the present time it is becoming more and more on the same plane with cotton—facing a world surplus. The Farm Board has not attempted to peg the price of cotton. This would be hopeless. The Board is not trying to buy up the surplus as they are the wheat. The wheat is coming under the same depression under the so-called tariff protection as cotton.

The reason for this surplus is very simple. Both commodities are produced in an excess of domestic needs. Both are exportable commodities. They can be moved from the ports only at world prices. This goes to prove that there are too many farmers raising too much wheat and cotton.

MONOPOLY INJURY TO AMERICAN PROGRESS

The independent oil dealers are calling for aid from the government in curbing the production of oil by larger oil companies that are trying to starve the independent companies out. Senator Sheppard has announced that he will support the proposed tariff on the oil and do his best in aiding the independents.

The independents are asking as a measure for self-defense and self-preservation merely for a tariff rate on oil and gasoline which will equal the difference in production costs here and abroad, a competitive tariff such as is advocated by the last Democratic platform.

If the independent oil industry is destroyed or crippled it will mean an economical disaster to the immense buying and tax sustaining power and affect the business structure of our section of the nation, including markets for many farm products. Texas led the Union in 1919 in the production of crude oil. Producing 300,000,000 barrels. This industry has been one of the most vital factors in the growth of Texas in the last ten years. The decline in prices of crude oil in the last three years has been tremendous. Further decline should be looked upon with seriousness.

If monopoly is enthroned and the independents destroyed or held in subjection, prices of gasoline will rise enormously and the consumer will realize the penalty. This prediction is supported by actual experience of other countries where independent oil companies have been destroyed and monopoly in control.

For example the gasoline price per gallon in Paris, France in 1929 was 34 cents; in Germany, 28 cents; Geneva, Italy, 40 cents; in London, England, 34 cents; in Bogota, Colombia, 61 cents; in Vera Cruz, Mexico, 31 cents.

The interests of the consumer demands that independents be preserved. Their existence will form a check on higher gasoline prices.

THE PASSION PLAY

"The Passion Play" which will be given in San Angelo, at the Municipal Auditorium March 10, 11 and 12 will be well worth the time and expense it will take to attend. From all literature and past performances of this wonderful feat in portraying the life of Christ, while it has been in the United States it is the most wonderful play ever produced in America. This play is put on in Europe every ten years on a much larger scale than it is put on in America but from expressions of those who have attended it, it is a great play of the true life of Christ.

San Angelo is the smallest city in the United States to have the honor of acquiring this play. The city has gone to considerable expense and everyone who can possibly attend may feel assured that they will see something worth while.

TODAY AND TOMORROW

nearly eighty years the burden has been carried by private donations and subscriptions. If there is any one spot in America which should properly be a charge upon the whole nation, it is Mount Vernon.

GETTYSBURG

To North and South alike the battlefield of Gettysburg is hallowed ground. Here was the high tide of the Confederate forces. Here Lincoln voiced his immortal phrase, "Government of the people, by the people, for the people." Here the most imposing monument is the statue of General Lee. Here, among these rolling Pennsylvania hills, lie the most gallant soldiers whom America has produced.

"Under the sod and the dew, waiting the judgment day." Every year nearly a million and a half tourists visit the Gettysburg National Park. They come from every section of the Union, as many from the South as from the North. The pleasant little town has welcomed them but its facilities for housing and feeding its guests have not kept pace with the growth of the tourist tide. It is good news, therefore, to all who cherish Gettysburg as one of our national shrines, that the people of the town have at last stirred themselves to meet this need. A new hotel, in a style and manner befitting its surroundings is to be built this year. And this will make the pilgrimage to Gettysburg even more popular than it is now.

breeder Tom R. Henderson. After the show the lambs were loaded on trucks and hauled to Fort Worth. The boys who fed the lambs will leave for the Fat Stock Show on Saturday or Sunday, making the trip in cars. Many of them will be unable to go, however, on account of the epidemic of measles which has been prevalent lately.

Matthews took up a subscription at the Fair grounds on Wednesday afternoon by which he collected some $71 which was to be divided equally among the boys to help to defray their expenses to Fort Worth.

There was one boy who took as his project the feeding of a calf. This was Hollis McCormick who fed a calf which was raised by Don McCormick. This calf was also on exhibition at the Fair grounds on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Dameron, the judge of the lambs and one who knows his business, made the statement after the judging that it was his opinion that the lambs fed by the Schleicher boys would run some body a very close race at the stock show, where they are to be judged next Monday.

Mr. L. E. Summers, the County agent, who has had charge of the feeding project is to be commended for the interest for which he aroused in this worth while undertaking. The First National Bank, the sheep breeders of the county are also to be heartily commended for their encouragement of this project which in time may develop into one of the most important industries in the county.
