WORK

Half of all the work done in the world is done in the United States says Dr. Thomas Thomson Read, Professor of Mining in Columbia University. The average American does thirty times as much work as the average Chinaman two and one-half times as much as the average German, almost twice as much as the average Briton. Electrically powered machinery is the answer; each American worker has the equivalent of thirty five slaves at his command who do not have to be fed out of his earnings.

Europeans, puzzled by our prosperity, have attributed it to America's natural resources. We know better. We do more work.

YOUNG

Owen D. Young told a Senate committee that it will soon be possible for anybody to write a message in his own home or office and have it transmitted on his own handwriting, instantly to any point in the world. All that needs to be done to accomplish this is a slight extension of existing telegraph facilities. Technically it is easy.

Mr Young's predictions are always entitled to respectful consideration. He is one of the rare men who combines great business ability with a broad and statesman like view of public affairs. As the head of the international commission which worked out the plan for the World Bank to handle war reparations payments he has a reputation in Europe even greater than in America. He is a Democrat otherwise he would have been in the cabinet of President Hoover, who is one of his warmest friends.

KLEIN

Keep an eye on Dr Julius Klein Assistant Secretary of Commerce the young man from California who has been the center of the business conferees in Washington. Dr Klein is a graduate of the University of California and of Harvard; he studied also in Berlin and Paris universities. He knows more about international trade than anyone else in America and what is more important he understands men and knows how to make industrial and business leaders pull together. He will go higher in public service.

BARNES

Another man to watch is Julius Barnes head of the Chamber of Commerce of the U. S. Mr Barnes has an office in New York but spends most of his time on the floor of the Produce Exchange where he has done more than any other one man or group of men to stabilize the price of export grain for the benefit of the American farmer. Mr Barnes has not made a fortune for himself out of his wheat operations which he took over after the war from the U. S. Food Administration. He has charged himself with the duty of seeing the American grain goes where it is needed and that the price is fair to buyer and seller.

Mr Barnes is one of the President's most intimate personal friends perhaps the most intimate. His hobby is the U. S. Chamber of Commerce which he believes can be made the most useful constructive force in American business and he has the faculty of making big business men believe him.

Sonora Young Lady Marries Odessa Man

Miss Lucille White one of Sutton county's most popular young ladies, became the wife of Mr Ewell McKnight, prominent Odessa ranchman, Saturday afternoon at five o'clock. Rev F M Jackson, pastor of the Methodist Church of this place, in an impressive manner performed the ceremony at the Methodist parsonage. The marriage was scheduled to be performed at the S E McKnight ranch, west of town, but due to impassable roads, it occurred here.

Miss White is the daughter of John H White, well known Sutton county ranchman, and is a niece of Mr and Mrs S E McKnight, with whom she had made her home for several years. She attended school at CIA and is a very charming young lady. She has a host of friends here who wish for her much happiness.

From here Mr and Mrs McKnight went to Fort Worth before going to their home in Odessa. — Devil's River News

Spencer — McKee

Sunday morning, December 22, Mr Elton D Spencer and Miss Mildred Lynn McKee were quietly married at Miles Texas. The ceremony took place at 10:30 a m and Rev. Bishop of the Miles Methodist Church officiating. Mr and Mrs Spencer then returned to Christoval where members of their families met them and all enjoyed a sumptuous wedding dinner.

Elton is an esteemed citizen of Bailey Ranch, having spent most of his life here. His father W A Spencer is one of the founders of Bailey Ranch and is prominent in all its affairs. Mrs Mildred Spencer is the daughter of W T McKee of Christoval, formerly of Miles Texas. She is a graduate of McMurry College at Abilene.

Mr and Mrs Spencer will make their home in Bailey Ranch where they will certainly be welcomed. All unite in wishing them a long and prosperous married life.

middle class Americans. Being a partner of J P Morgan, Ambassador to Mexico, the next Senator from New Jersey, has not impressed Mr Morrow with the necessity of keeping his trousers creased and otherwise dressing like a bond salesman. One of his daughters is a school teacher; another, as everyone knows, married "Slim" Lindberg. Just plain Americans to whom "society" means nothing.

Glenn Lewis Is First To Be Candidate

The 1930 political campaign gained its first local candidate Saturday afternoon in the announcement of Glenn R Lewis San Angelo attorney for the 51st judicial district. The place is now held by D I Durham.

In making his announcement Mr Lewis says:

"In making announcement of my candidacy for the office of district attorney of the 51st judicial district of Texas, subject to the Democratic primary I realize fully the responsibility attached to the office. It is to my mind the most important and responsible cog in the law enforcement machinery of the country. It is my purpose if elected, and I believe that I am capable to deliver to the people of this section of the brand of diligent service to which they are entitled."

Mr Lewis is now the Junior member of the law firm of Gibbs & Lewis, but prior to this had been associated with J A Thomas and subsequently with W A Wright. He was graduated from the law school of the University of Texas in 1925 and immediately thereafter he began the practice of law here. He was reared in West Texas spending his boyhood at Quitaque.

He is credited with being a vigorous prosecutor and has acquired a wide range of experience in his four years of practice. During that time he has been associated in some of the most important cases that have originated in West Texas in recent years.

The district in which Mr Lewis seeks office embraces Tom Green, Coke, Sterling Iron and Schleicher Counties.

Double Wedding In Eldorado

A double wedding of unusual interest took place in Eldorado at eleven o'clock January 1, when Miss Mary Alice Stewardson was married to Mr Ervin Mund and Miss Ruth DeLong to S D Harper, Jr., at the First Baptist Church in the presence of a large group of relatives and friends. The Rev. E. L. D. Hardt, Pastor of The Methodist Church of Eldorado, performed the ceremony.

Mr and Mrs Mund and Mr and Mrs Harper left immediately after the wedding dinner which was served at the A L Stewardson home at twelve o'clock for a short honeymoon tour, after which they will make their homes near Eldorado on ranches. Mrs Mund is the youngest daughter of Mr and Mrs A L Stewardson, of Eldorado, and Mrs Harper is the daughter of Mr and Mrs D E DeLong, of Eldorado. The bride graduated from The Eldorado High School together, attending McMurry College together. She attended The University of Texas together and later taught together at Skidmore, Texas. Previous to their marriage Mrs Mund was a teacher in the Ozona Public School while Mrs Harper was a teacher at Station A in Schleicher County.

Mr Harper is the youngest son of Mr and Mrs S D Harper of Santa Anna, Texas, and was reared near Santa Anna and attended the public school at that place. Mr Mund is the son of Mr and Mrs H Mund who live in the Bailey Ranch community in Schleicher County.

The altar was banked with palms and ferns. The pews were reserved for the relatives and immediate friends of the couples were marked with white satin ribbon.

As a prelude to the ceremony Mrs Archie D Hunter, of Santa Anna, sister of Mr Harper sang "I Love You Truly" accompanied by Mr Homer Springfield teacher in the Snyder Public Schools. Mr Springfield accompanied by Miss Jettie Grace DeLong on the violin played as the procession entered.

The matrons of honor Mrs T J Bailey of Abilene and Mrs John Galloway aunt of Mrs Mund from Skidmore Texas entered dressed in light brown crepes.

WHAT HAPPENED BEFORE

Leeson sees Lucy and in a burst of confidence tells her of a plot against her husband. Certain interests are to break down the bridges on his property, and make it worthless. She goes to Faunce's place, where her husband and Faunce are together, and tells of the plot. Preparations are made for a fight. Lucy's husband and the man she loves make common cause against the invaders and hold the bridges against the crooked sheriff and his gang, backed by Clary, the copper magnate. Lucy leaves them together as she rows back to Mango Key, gets her car and finds Judge Leaming.

Now Go On With The Story

She told herself that her desire to be back on the bridge was due to her desire for fair play, to her reluctance to leave any excitement behind her. But even as she told herself those things, she realized that she was not admitting the whole truth. Certain shy thoughts had been!

How utterly devoid of fear he was!—She was awake when he returned, somewhat after dawn, to the house, and she descended quietly to the patio, lest the servants be awaked, to greet him.

He was haggard, mud sained a stubble of beard was on his chin, but his spirits were gay. He grinned at her.

"If you'd do all this for a man you hate,—lord! what you'd be capable of for a man you loved, Lucy Devil May Care!" he said to her.

She felt herself blush. "I like fair play," she said. "Oh, I know. Don't be worried. I'll not bother you. Gosh but I'm hungry!"

"Sit down," she said. He eyed her curiously, but dropped into a chair. She went to the kitchen and turned on the electric stove; she was back in just ten minutes, bearing a tray on which was steaming coffee and a plate of scrambled eggs.

"But you don't get it unless you tell me everything that happened," she warned.

"Oh, you saw all the excitement!" he laughed. "Leaming arrived at five this morning. He'd brought court officers with them; he presented an order restraining any one from entering upon my property until title was adjudicated. If think the old boy exceeded his powers a bit, but it doesn't matter, because Clary and I came to an understanding. Clary's a rotten winner, I'd guess, but he knows how to lose. Offered to buy me out at my price. I told him I was here to stay; so he offered to erect a combination of his holdings with mine, my crowd to have the majority stock, and we shook hands on it."

"Only man that wasn't satisfied was the marshal. I thought he was sheriff, but he was smaller fry than that. Yep, Maddox was pretty sore at what I'd said, and the men I'd slugged were angry, so I'm to be tried this afternoon. I'd plead guilty and pay a fine; only, this Maddox chap got my goat, and he ought to be removed from his two penny office, so I'll go to court. And that's that."

Tim was up and out of the house when at lunch time she awoke and dressed. She was surprised at his absence, and vaguely hurt.

Luncheon seemed strangely lonely. She wondered if Tim were with Fergus Faunce, and tried to imagine what had brought these two together in amity. She couldn't guess. Restlessness possessed her.

She swallowed her sorrows and telephoned the court. Both Fergus and Tim were there. At two o'clock, Mrs. J. B. West Palm car, entered the court, and was directed to crowd that thronged in the corridor outside it.

She could make no headway through the crowd until she bethought herself to state, on an proper room, and joined the attendant, her name. Then way was made for her, and she found herself in the courtroom. Her husband saw her, whispered to a lawyer, and that worthy immediately came to her aid, and led her to a seat beside Tim.

Stevens seemed a bit worried. request of Clement Clary, who had told him he had reason to believe that violence would be offered his peaceful gang of laborers by the defendant, had, with half a dozen deputies, gone to Seminole Creek. Thoro two of his deputies had been assaulted by the defendant, Timothy Stevens, who had later threatened Maddox with a revolver. He had put Stevens under arrest, but the defendant had resisted restraint.

Two of his deputy marshals were called and corroborated his testimony. Then Stevens took the stand. Duly sworn, he began his story.

"Maddox may tell the truth, your Honor, when he says that Clary stated he expected trouble. The truth of the matter is that I never dreamed of such action until my wife came to me at Mango Key, several miles from the bridge over Seminole Creek, and informed me that she had learned of the proposed assault upon my property rights. Naturally it being a matter of vital importance that the bridge be left standing, I with my wife and Dr. Faunce, went by boat to the bridge in question.

"I threw a couple of men off the bridge, and challenged Maddox and his gang to take me. He said that he was an officer of the law,—I think that he called himself sheriff, which was an untrue statement,—but I felt that he was not enforcing justice and refused to yield to arrest. The man is truthful enough, so far as he goes, your Honor, but he doesn't go far enough. I do not believe that he was bribed by Mr Clary, but I have reason to believe that he owns certain acreage adjoining what was, until this morning, the Clary properties, and believed that the value of his holdings would be enhanced by the destruction of my bridges. You might ask him your honor if my surmise is correct?"

Maddox admitted the truth of the surmise, reluctantly. The man was stubborn; Clary had tried to call him off, and now he began to regret his stubbornness. He regretted it still more when Devil May Care took the stand. For she not only corroborated her husband's testimony, but remarked that twenty men had shown an exceeding reluctance to attack two, which statement brought a laugh from the crowded courtroom.

That ended the rather flat proceedings; the judge roprimanded Maddox for too zealous conduct and discharged Stevens. Through the press Tim guided his wife; the pressure of his hands—either was big enough to inclose her biceps—was strangely pleasant upon her flesh. She was seeing, she thought a new Tim, a Tim that had never existed in the days when she had mockEd him, derided him. "Much obliged, Lucy," he said as they gained the street.

HE bowed, turned on his heel, and left her. SHE entered her coupe and drove slowly across the toll bridge to Palm Beach. At Bradley's she turned into the courtyard, parked her car, and entered the Casino. Gambling seemed indicated. SHE wanted something to restore that wild uncertainty of racing blood that had been hers last night when she started from the Everglades Club; that had been hers half an hour ago in the street before the court house.

As she approached the roulette room she saw young Leeson. With him was Elsie Darragh, a dimpling, smiling, joy radiating Elsie. She seized Lucy by the hand and said, "You're the first to know,"

she breathed. "Just now I reached for some chips, and my hand touched Jim's and, with the croupier looking on, my dear he might have heard him!—he asked me to marry him!" Lucy kissed the girl. She held out her hand to Leeson. That young man was blushing but his eyes were cold. SHE could read his thoughts. They said "You played with me, found out what you wanted to know used me, betrayed me. I'm a afraid of you; you're not my kind I need something tamer, I've got it."

she breathed. "Just now I reached for some chips, and my hand touched Jim's and, with the croupier looking on, my dear he might have heard him!—he asked me to marry him!" Lucy kissed the girl. She held out her hand to Leeson. That young man was blushing but his eyes were cold. SHE could read his thoughts. They said "You played with me, found out what you wanted to know used me, betrayed me. I'm a afraid of you; you're not my kind I need something tamer, I've got it."

She played unhappily, for half an hour. Why should other people be happy and she unhappy? For Leeson would be happy, despite the thoughts which she had read. He would forget the memory of Lucy in the reality of Elsie—Heigh ho— "The breakers is on fire" she heard the croupier say. "Your luck's bad, anyway. Better not buy more chips, Mrs Stevens. Look at the fire."

As she came abreast of the bathing casino, she gasped in sheer delighted amazement. For the flames were shooting up into the air, seemingly hundreds of feet, illuminating the whole vast building. Vesuvius in eruption could hardly be more beautiful, more awe inspiring. No one cried, no one seemed sad. That was the marvelous thing about the catastrophe. In few other places in the world could people have faced disaster so philosophically. But these were of the nation's wealthiest. Their losses would not be crippling. Even the hotel company would lose nothing. It carried and could sell the land on which the Breakers stood, for ten times the original cost of the land buildings combined.

The sun setting over Lake Worth, suddenly shone through the flames, a burnished, angry orange disk. The throngs upon the beach gasped in sheer delight at the spectacle. She found herself suddenly in the midst of a group of friends. Mrs Copper Clary was among them. "Aren't you proud of Tim?" the plump matron asked.

"He seems to be a good business man," she rejoined. "Business! I'm not thinking of business! look at him, my dear!" cried Mrs Clary. "Look at him? Where is he?" asked Lucy. "He's been everywhere; just now he's on that roof—see!" Lucy looked upon the cottage adjoining the north wing of the breakers crouched men; white clothes, doubtless water soaked, covered their heads; they played streams of water upon this building to whose roof they clung. They fought the fire as one might fight the living assault of savages.

She had advanced nearer now; she could pick him out of the others on the roof, by his cat like agility as he moved about. Oh, my God! why didn't he come down? What right had he to risk himself there. He was married and there were plenty of young men to take chances. Some one had climbed one of the ladders was beside Tim was speaking to him. It looked from the way he held his face close to Tim as if he were whispering but Lucy correctly guessed that he was screaming at the top of his lungs. In no other way could he be heard above the roar of the flames.

She bumped into Leeson and Elsie Darragh. The girl was flushed with excitement and Leeson was hardly less aroused. He showed a magnanimity of which she had not believed him capable. (Though why should she have judged him harshly?) "Congratulations on having a man for a husband Mrs Stevens" he said.

KEEPING UP TO TERRACING DEMAND HARD JOB

College Station:—Farmers who are inclined to criticize the county agent because they can't get him out to terrace their farms may feel better about it when they learn that it's the same story all over the state. From two to five times as many farmers have called on agents for help in this line this winter as it is possible to aid, Extension Service authorities assert. In spite of the fact that the acres terraced per agent have been steadily increasing from year to year, they say, and that more than 600,000 acres are estimated to have been protected by terraces or contours in 1929 alone, farmer demand has swamped nearly every county agent in Texas with more work than he can handle.

The solution the Extension Service has been working on for a few years back under the leadership of M R Bently, Farm Engineer, has been the training of farmers to do the work themselves in community and county terracing schools. This is because terracing as a means of conserving soil and rainfall has been demonstrated thoroughly enough in most sections to convince the majority of its value. County agents must largely abandon helping individuals in favor of training enough men to carry the terracing program forward rapidly, Mr. Bently believes.

"As a part of this training system quite generally used now farmers and business men in many places have formed central committees to assist county agents in every possible way to speed up the terracing program," he continues. "Every local agency willing and capable of helping is being pressed into service, and even club boys and vocational agricultural students are laying off terrace lines

SICK AT HIS STOMACH

"I was suffering from stomach trouble, in 1917," says Mr. C. K. Nelson, a railroad engineer living in Pulaski, Va. "I had a tightness in my chest, a shortness of breath. There seemed to be a heavy weight in the pit of my stomach, and quite a bit of nausea, yet I couldn't vomit. I tried different remedies, yet suffered on just the same. "When in West Virginia on a work train, I was in such a condition that I just gave up and came home. I couldn't stand to work in my condition. Some one told me about Black-Draught. I started taking it in small doses after meals. It helped me, and I went back to work."

Bob Crosby and Holder To Meet

Abileneans, along with all West Texans will have an opportunity, on January 18, of seeing their own world champion cowboy defend a part of his title—that of calf roping—against another of West Texas' high ranking rodeo performers.

For, on that date Bob Crosby will meet Allen Holder of Rankin here by the West Texas Fair Association. It had been tentatively set for Midland, but of tuesday closed a deal with Crosby to Toss his lariat here, so Crosby and Holder will swing their loops before the fair park grandstand.

Exact program, price of the exhibition, and other details are yet to be arranged. Preliminary plans call for each man to have a chance at roping 20 calves.

The dual match arose out of a challenge of Holder to the winner of a 50 calves event at Del Rio Sunday and Monday, when Crosby crossed lariats with Jake McClure of Lovington. N. M. Holder was one of the judges of the $3,000 purse contest, in which Crosby emerged winner by the time margin of 22-5 seconds.

Holder whose home is at Rankin, beat Crosby eight seconds on 10 calves in a match at Fort Stockton 18 months ago. Crosby's time at Del Rio show, 1 21 1-5 seconds for 50 calves is considered a new record.

Self Culture Club Meetings for November and December

The Self Culture Club met Thursday Nov. 14 at the home of Mrs Edwin DeLong. The subject of the program was "The English Drama from The Beginning to The Time of Shakespeare".

The next meeting was held Nov. 21 at the home of Mrs Ed Hill with Mrs Frank Meador as hostess. The subject of this program was "Characteristics of The Drama of Today". Mrs Meador was leader and a very interesting program with a pretty and clever refreshment plate was carried out.

The club met Dec. 12 with Mrs Seth Ramsey. The subject of the program was "Why the Principles of art should be taught in the Public Schools", with Mrs Joab Campbell as leader. Ramsey's home was very prettily decorated with the Christmas colors.

The next meeting was held at the home of Mrs D C Royster, Dec 26. Mrs Jim Williams was leader with her subject as "What We Have Learned from Egyptian, Greece; Roman and Gothic Architecture."

Shower To New Year Brides Of Eldorado

A Miscellaneous shower was given to Misses Mary Alice Stewardson and Ruth Alice DeLong at Three o'clock on December 31st at The Methodist Church in Eldorado. As the guests were arriving Mr Homer Springfield of Snyder Texas entertained with piano music Mrs Reuben Dickens read "An Old SwEEthEarT of Mine" and Miss Fannie Hardt read a very appropriate poem entitled "Husbands" after which Mrs A J Roach entered and announced the passing of Father Time Old Father Time entered dressed as an old man and carrying a scythe and leaning on a stick and read a bit of advice to the brides. 1930 was then announced and Miss Genevieve Ramsley entered and paid tribute to the brides who were seated in the middle of the room. Mrs Walter Ramsey accompanied by Mr Springfield at the piano also read a suitable selection.

After the program Master Bobbie Barbr and little Miss Reagan entered pulling little wagons loaded with beautiful gifts for the brides to be. The brides thanked the guests for the gifts after receiving them and then refreshments of tea, minis; chicken sandwiches and potato chips were served to approximately 50 guests.

SELF CULTURE CLUB PARTY

The members of the Self Culture Club entertained their husbands at the home of Mrs Joab Campbell, Thursday night Dec 26.

The evening was spent in playing Pitch and Forty-Two. A very delightful plate consisting of salad; potatoes chips; sandwiches; fruit cake and cocoa was served. Those present were: Mr and Ms Geo Williams; Mr and Mrs Leslie Baker; Mr and Mrs Orville Conner; Mr and Mrs Shorty Pointer; Mr and Ms D C Royster; Mr and Mrs John Williams; Mr and Mrs Joab Campbell, Mr and Mrs Reuben Dickens; and Miss John Alexander.

THE FORWARD LOOK

Brethern, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this on thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus. Philipplan 3.

The great writer of the above lines did not intend that we should forget the good we did in 1929 but he tried to carry to his people that more was in the past. We have closed the pages of history for 1929 for Schleicher County and Eldorado, but 1930 is here with its problem. Let's forget the difficulties of the past year and press forward to the accomplishments of the problems of 1930. With a united cooperation for the new problems of the coming year we will meet the situation with overwhelming success.

Before the close of this year Eldorado will have a railroad, and most sure to be in the shadow of gushing oil wells, so the success predicts that the development for the future will come much faster than it did in the past. Then as the great best writer of history admonished his brethren to press forward, for wholesome things so must we there is much in store for Eldorado. Let us be prepared to grasp the opportunity as they present themselves.

Double Wedding In Eldorado

carrying bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums. They were followed by the maids of honor Miss Mary DeLong sister of Mrs Harper and Miss Elizabeth Hinyard of San Angelo who were also dressed in light brown crepes carrying bouquets of chrysanthemums. The ring bearers little Miss Betty Sue Ashmore niece of Mrs Mund and Master Harper Hunter nephew of Mr Harper entered carrying the wedding rings on miniature satin pillows. The brides entered on the arms of their fathers and were met at the altar by the bridegroom Mr Harper and Mr Mund. Best men who were Mr Bill Mund brother of Mr Mund and Mr Sammie Kirkpatrick of Santa Anna entered with the bridegrooms.

The brides were dressed in lovely tweed suits and carried large bouquets of cream roses. Mr H R Ashmore brother-in-law of Mrs Mund and Mr Edwin DeLong brother of Mrs Harper acted as ushers.

After the ceremony dinner was served at the stewardson home to approximately sixty guests.

The out of town guests were as follows: Mrs Charles William and children Ozona; Mrs John Galloway and son Charles of Skidmore; Mrs Luther Rendleman of Skidmore; Dr and Mrs T Richard Sealy and Miss Velma Sealy Santa Anna; Mr and Mrs Archie Hunter and family of Santa Anna; Mr and Mrs Sammie Kirkpatrick of Santa Anna; Mr and Mrs S D Harper Sr. of Santa Anna; and Miss Ruby Harper of Santa Anna. WHAT WILL THE NEW YEAR BRING seems better than for business man. Following are conclusions drawn from the latest summary of the agriculture situation by the United States Department of Agriculture:

The world's wheat crop of 1929 was lower than the previous year by over 300,000,000 bushels. More of the American crop was rushed to market early depressing prices. Growers with wheat in storage will get better prices strong outlook good for continued good prices. Fruit and vegetable crops were below normal for 1929 with outlook for better prices for 1930. Potatoes in storage below normal prices tending to rise. Beef cattle prices show no sign of improvement. Butter and eggs are feeling the effect of the general business decline, but probably will improve as general business accelerates. Hogs and pork will continue to do better for the farmer than lambs and wool. If the textile markets improve, as business leaders predict, cotton will be fit.

Larger numbers of farm producers are associating themselves in cooperative marketing organizations under the Federal Farm Board Act, with the result that prices of farm products will tend to become more stable and producers will get a larger part of the price paid by the consumer. Full realization of the advantages open to farmers under the Farm Board Act probably will not come about for several years, or until farmers everywhere have learned how the new system operates and how to take advantage of it. Uncertainties which may affect all forecasts are:

J W FRY DIES IN ACCIDENT
 J Walter Fry 42, was killed about 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon when the walking beam at the Bert Page oil test fell, striking him a blow near the heart. He died before he could be brought to Eldorado for emergency treatment.
 Mr Fry with other men engaged in drilling the test was aiding in tying up the walking beam when the driller started the engine, and the heavy wooden piece fell catching him.
 Mr Fry is survived by his mother two brothers and four sisters. His mother, Mrs J W Fry, Will Fry, and Mrs Gib Ballow, brother and sister reside here.
 The funeral was held at San Saba Sunday afternoon. The funeral cortege, in charge of the Robert Massie Company, will leave San Angelo Sunday morning. Will Fry accompanied the body.

 The family moved here about two years ago from San Saba.

W R Rodgers and family of Artesia New Mexico were here this week guests of Mr and Mrs J P Rodgers, John Rodgers and family and Charlie Yancy and family.

Mr and Mrs T W Johnson enjoyed a visit through the holidays of all their children; Mrs O R Burden of Wichita Falls; Mrs W B Tarpening of Chicago Estelle who is at San Marcos Academy and Edwin.

- Chevrolet announces

THE GREATEST CHEVROLET IN CHEVROLET HISTORY

Today, Chevrolet presents the Greatest Chevrolet in Chevrolet History—a smoother, faster, better Six—with beautiful new bodies by Fisher.

Basically, it is the same sturdy, substantial Six which won such tremendous popularity in 1929. But it is a greater car in every way—for there are scores of vital improvements which contribute to comfort, performance, endurance and safety!

An improved six-cylinder valve-in-head motor, with its capacity increased to 50 horsepower; four Delco-Loejoy hydraulic shock absorbers; fully-enclosed internal-expanding weather-proof brakes; a new dash gasoline gauge; heavier and stronger rear axle; new Fisher non-glare windshield; larger tires—

—these are typical of the many improvements which make this car the Greatest Chevrolet in Chevrolet History.

But most impressive of all—this smoother, faster, better Six has been made available—

- at greatly reduced prices!

During 1929, more than a million three hundred thousand persons bought six-cylinder Chevrolets. This enormous volume has made possible many savings in the Chevrolet factories—and, in keeping with its long-established policy, Chevrolet is sharing these savings with the public. No written description can do justice to the extra value and quality provided in this new car. Visit your Chevrolet dealer—see this car—ride in it—and judge for yourself its sensational value.

NOTES OF A SENIOR

Spent all my time this first period writing a letter to my sweetheart; sure is hard to regain love after it is once lost. Second period reported to class had a quiz; failed flat, Wish I had studied the first period. Third period; read and answered a letter from my sweetheart. He is still mad; I bet I am more careful next time. Fourth period; another class another quiz; another failure. Hot dogs; dinner, walked to town with sweetheart; Took lots of talking but he is now in a good humor. Walked back to school and was tardy. Fifth period; reported to class another quiz happened to remmber Enough to make seventy. Sixth period; wrote another letter to same. Was caught chewing gum. Eighth period; Oh! report to bookkeeping room. Must write "Must not go To Town at noon" fifty times. Must write; "Must not chew gum during school" 25 times. Must write; "Must stay 30 minutes everyday at noon. 5 o'clock and I am thru sure am glad; my arm sure is tired. My sweetheart was waiting at front door. We went riding to show that night. Next morning dumber than ever; NEW Resolution: "Must start to work."

SCHOOL WORK

Are you getting all you should out of your school work? Your school work is moulding your character. Are you moulding your character in the right way? One gets out of school work what he puts in it. Are you putting everything you should in your school work? You are supposed to be going to school to learn something. In fact a great many things. Are you learning everything you should? If not, whose fault is it? It is your fault of course. If you don't put anything into your school work you won't get much out of it. Put some real effort into your work and you will be well paid for your time and trouble. School work moulds your character so you should begin moulding it right. Begin now and put some real effort in. To your school work. —Editor.

WORK OF TRIGONOMETRY CLASS FALLING OFF

We are very sorry to say that the work of the Trigonometry Class is falling off. Several of the students were in the opera and couldn't do as much work on math as they should. OPERETTA A BIG SUCCESS
The musical Comedy "Sailor Maids" Was a great surprise to many. Some didn't expect it to be very good but it was an excellent comedy.

Mr. Smart is a good actor and singer. He kept the audience laughing at his funny songs and antics most of the time. He should be on the stage instead of teaching a school.

Mr. Redford is some little actor or himself. HE Makes a very rom antic lover and one can tell that he has had experience. Elzie Moore did some singing and acting but he had the misfortune to be rejected by the heroine. IT's funny some of the high school girls doesn't follow the heroine's example and reject him some times.

If Mrs Brooks is such a fighter as she was in the comedy Friday night we do not wonder that Mr Brooks is beginning to get gray and goes around with a frightened look on his face.

All the players did good acting and singing and everyone enjoyed the performance very much. Everybody agrees that Mrs McDonald is a good director for such a performance.

SENIOR ENGLISH CLASS

HAVING INTERESTING DEBATES

The seniors have been studying Parliamentary Law and Debate in English. There has been some real warm debates given. The seniors have learned a great deal about debating and Parliamentary Law but expect to learn more.

Below is a letter that J C Kinchen wrote Santa Claus. J C is a senior.

Eldorado, Texas.
December 16 1929

Dear Santa Claus:
Please bring me a tricycle, a chu chu train, a girl friend some marbles; a stick of candy; some red hair; some new school teachers; some good grades; a cap pistol; a kite and some peanuts. Santa I sure do like chewing gum but Mr Curry won't let me chew it so you can leave it off. Please bring all this Santa. Yours longingly,

J C Kinchen

P. S. I've been good Santa. I have not even got a single spanking.

It seems that the fish had better tell the seniors that there is no Santa Claus in the world of the seniors acting dignified and telling the Freshman.

YOU

You are the fellow that has to decide whether you'll do it or toss it aside. You are the fellow that you will lead or linger behind, whether you'll try for the goal that's afar or be content to stay where you are, take it or leave it, here's something to do. Just Think it over, It's all up to you!

SMILES AND LAUGHS

Mr Smart: What is a grapefruit?
Pauline: It's a lemon that's been given a chance and taken advantage.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

J C: I Just bumped my crazy bone.

JOE: Just comb your hair right and the bump won't show.

Matalie: You had certainly better be able to run when Gabriel blows his horn.

Bernice: Is he coming in an automobile?

Mr Holt: What a detour?
Jimmie: The roughest distance between two points.

FLAT FEET

One of the reasons so many people have weak flat feet is because of habit of "toeing out". The correct position is to have the toes point straight forward. Obstacles do not come between us and our work because obstacles are part of our work.

MY WORK TODAY

Let me today do something that shall take
A little sadness from the world's vast shore.
And may I be so favored as to make

Of joys too scanty sun a little more.
Let me tonight look back across the span
Twixt dawn and dark, and my conscience say
Because of some good act to best or man
The world is better that I lived Today.

NEW COIN TRICK

Here is a simple trick which you boys and girls might have fun trying. It looks not at all easy and quite as if the performer must be very skillful indeed. Take a silver coin a quarter or a half dollar and pick it up by placing the points of two pins one on either side of the coin. Edge You may hold the coin securely in this position if you press firmly with both pins. Now blow smartly against the upper edge of the coin and it will fly around and around revolving with great rapidity between the pins.

If you don't believe it try it for yourself.

WHAT WILL THE NEW YEAR BRING?

While business may move slowly in the early part of 1930 it is certain to pick up by spring and by the middle of the year will be moving again on a definite upward trend.

Farming conditions will be better on the whole, with prices improving and the farmer getting a higher proportion of what the consumer pays.

There will be fewer jobs available in the early part of the year, but as programs of public works begins to go into effect unemployment will diminish. Wages will not be cut in the major industries of the nation.

Those are principal predictions of the professional prophets for the new year. They came from the men who work with facts and figures find out in what direction things are moving and at what speed, and then tell where we will arrive. If nothing happens.

They are prophets in the same sense that you are a prophet when you get on a train and say: "I will be in Chicago at 9 o'clock in the morning". Nine times out of ten your prediction will come true. The tenth time the train runs off the track.

First among business prophets is Col. Leonard W Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland Trust Company. Every year he tells the business men of America how business is going to be for a year ahead. He is right so often that it seems uncanny. This is what Col Ayres says about 1930:

The year promises a poor start and a good finish. Automobile production will be at least a million less. Building costs will be slightly lower but new construction will not be more than five percent greater than in 1929. The output of iron and steel will be low. Average wholesale prices of nonagricultural commodities will be only slightly lower than in 1929. Net profits of industrial corporation will be distinctly less than in 1929.

There will be more unemployment in the early part of 1930 than in the corresponding period of 1929 but conditions will improve as the year advances. There will be no appreciable change in the cost of living. Average wages will differ only slightly from 1929 in some cases being higher. Fewer American tourists will go to Europe than went last summer. Bank interest rates will be lower in the first part of the year increasing as business improves. Stock prices will be higher by the end of the year than they are now but still below the high levels of 1929.

Backing up Col Ayres are the reports made by the business leaders who recently met in Washington at the call of the President to consider precisely this question: "What sort of a year will 1930 be?" Remember that all business forecasts are big because they can see farther ahead than the little fellow. Here is a summary of what these big business leaders see for 1930:

No serious depression in any line a good year in many lines. Small business and retailers will benefit by the maintenance of wages and policy of not laying off men except when absolutely necessary. Thus maintaining the average worker's buying power. Foreign trade continuing good. Credit plentiful and cheap for necessary purposes only. Business will improve in textiles in lumber in machinery manufactures in household electrical appliances in chemicals. Industry will move cautiously but steadily.
