RADBURN

Something new in town building has been accomplished in New Jersey, twenty miles out from New York City. The town of Radburn has been planned and built with an eye first to safety in the streets. It has been laid out so that all streets in the residential districts are "dead-end" thoroughfares. No through traffic rushes past homes, endangering the lives of children. Schools, playgrounds, parks and recreation centers have been so located that no child has to cross a street carrying motor traffic to get to any of them. And there are plenty of open spaces, in the midst of which dwellings have been built which house today about 600 people, where there was nothing but a farm a year ago.

Radburn calls itself "Tomorrow's Town." It is certain that new methods of town planning must develop to meet the new tools of civilization.

MIRACLES

Nothing but gas and water are needed to make artificial silk, by a new process discovered by Professor Harold Hibbert of McGill University, Montreal. That is amazing, even to such of us as have got used to the idea of transmission of electric currents through space. Gas—carbon dioxide, produced from coal—is invisible and, to our unaided senses, without weight. Water is a fluid which takes solid form only as ice, in our ordinary experience. But by combining the two to make a permanent, tangible solid which will take the place of rayon fibers produced from cotton or wood pulp, Dr. Hibbert has performed a miracle which seems none the less miraculous when he explains how it is done.

This is another step in the progress of science toward the goal producing in the factory, by swift, cheap methods, everything we need to eat, wear and use. The method, in general is to take the short cut where Nature takes the long road around.

DOLLAR

Eighty-six years old, owner of a fleet of 50 great passenger and freight ships and one of the world's largest lumber enterprises, Captain Robert Dollar still runs the details of his own great business. He started to work at 11, in his native Scotland, at wages of 60 cents a week. He has made every cent of his great fortune by hard work and still gets to his office in San Francisco at 20 minutes to nine every morning. When he feels like it he calls up Mrs. Dollar, tells her to pack the bags for a trip, and the happy old couple start out on one of his own ships for a voyage to China or around the world. On every such trip Captain Dollar finds new opportunities for American trade and new business for the Dollar ships.

SPELLING

There is a great revival of interest in the old-fashioned "spelling bee." Helen Jensen, a 13-year-old girl of Council Bluffs, has just won a prize of $1,000 and the title of National Spelling Champion in a contest at Washington. Newspaper men, Congressmen, women's clubs and other bodies have been conducting spelling bees in many cities.

This is interesting and more or less important. Correct spelling is an accomplishment which reveals a great deal of the character of the individual. Good spellers are persons who concentrate on details, who have a keen eye and a pictorial memory. Few persons who learn chiefly by ear are good spellers. The "phonetic" method of teaching children to read, a fad which is being abandoned in many schools, is responsible for much of the atrocious spelling which makes so many girls unable to earn more than a bare wage as stenographers. Good spellers remember words as pictures. And that is it should be. Spelling is of importance only in connection with reading and writing, and reading and writing, are means of expression designed to appeal to the eye only.

TEACHERS

One reason why our public schools are not as good as they could and

SCHLEICHER COUNTY COVERED BY HARD RAINS

Entire County Gets About Two Inch Average

Rain amounting to about an inch and a quarter fell practically all over the county Thursday night and was followed by about a two inch rain fall Saturday morning. Rains last week were generally over a large area, swelling many rivers and creeks. Ranges and crops in Schleicher are in very good condition at present and the last rain will out everything in almost perfect condition. A good season is at hand, making it possible for the crops already planted to come at a good stand. This rain will almost assure the farmers a good crop this year without much additional rain.

ELDORADO LOSES TO MENARD MONDAY 9-0

The Eldorado baseball team fell before the strong Menard team on the local diamond last Monday afternoon 9-0. The game was very interesting during the first five innings when Lefty Hanna pitched great ball and the Eldorado defense going far and wide in his support. This defense cracked and the game that had been on the big game style was turned into a football affray, with practically all of the team doing their share of the booting. Errors galore were chalked up against the local team.

Hanna pitched grand ball the entire game but could not get the needed support from his team mates. He struck out fifteen men, while Woods of Menard struck out seven but holding the home club to five scattered hits. A very large crowd attended the game and of course many different opinions have been given out since the slaughter Monday.

W. J. FREISS DIES IN SAN ANGELO HOSPITAL

Willie J. Freiss, age 42, died at 2:00 o'clock Monday morning at a San Angelo Hospital. Mr. Freiss took ill about two weeks ago and was carried to Christoval, where he remained for a week under treatment, he was then carried to San Angelo and placed in a Hospital. The funeral was conducted from the First Baptist Church Tuesday, the Rev. J. L. Ratliff officiating. He is survived by his wife and a son, also his mother Mrs. G. A. Friess, two sisters, one brother, and two half brothers. The remains were laid to rest Tuesday morning in the Eldorado Cemetery.

WATER RATE TO BE LOWERED IN ELDORADO

Word has been received from the office of the Interstate Public Service Company that the water rates in Eldorado during the month of July. The rates that have been $3.00 a month for 3,000 gallons of water will be reduced to $2.50 a month, provided that the customer pay the water bill by the tenth of each month. If not the customer will be charged $2.75.

The company also states that a new tank has been ordered and will be erected within the next few weeks. This is a standard size tank giving a much greater pressure and water supply for the water customers in Eldorado.

Water in Eldorado for many years has been the cause of much slow development in the little city. But within the next few weeks, when the large tank is erected there will be nothing to hinder the now growing little city from becoming the center of attraction in West Texas.

should be is that we do not pay the teacher the same respect—to say nothing of salary—that they do in Europe. To be a school teacher in Germany, for instance, is to achieve at once a degree of social standing equivalent to that of a physician or a lawyer.

Texas set an example years ago of one way of increasing the teacher's self-respect. In 1880 a "teachery" was built in the Blum school district in Guadalupe County—a home for the teacher. Now Texas has 1,330 of these teachers' homes, costing an average of $2,200. One teacher, H. E. Dietel, of Schumannsville, taught one school and lived in one teachery for 40 years. He became the foremost citizen of his community.

The rural school without a home for the teacher or teachers is a relic of the dark ages.

E. E. (Pat) Murphy Completes Another Week Of Campaigning

E. E. (Pat) Murphy, San Angelo Candidate for Congress from this District, last week completed another week of intense campaigning by making speeches in all towns along the T & P Railroad and in other counties in the Western end of the big District. He invaded the camp of his opponent Hon. R. E. Thomason at El Paso on Wednesday June 11, and on Thursday night, June 12 Mr. Murphy spoke at an old time Political Rally in Cleveland Square El Paso, to more than 500 enthusiastic followers. The El Paso Herald, a paper that is fighting Mr. Murphy, stated, "The crowd which filled all available seats in Cleveland Square and which was scattered thru out the Park was difficult to estimate. It numbered several hundred persons and was mildly demonstrative." R. W. Berry, former San Angeloan and prominent Railroad man in El Paso presided.

Ex-Service men and others spoke highly of Murphy. Even Mr. Murphy's opponents admit Murphy is going to poll a large vote in El Paso County. Murphy last week spoke to large audiences in Pecos, Barstow, Wink, and Monahans, Friday night he spoke at Isleta and Saturday night at Faben in El Paso County.

Mr. Murphy will leave El Paso on his return trip from the Western Part of the District and has announced the following schedule:

- Monday June 16—2:00 P. M. Sierra Blanca.
- Monday June 16, 8:00 P. M. Van Horn.

Entertainment Provided For Special Train July 1

The entertainment committee that was appointed by the Eldorado Lions Club finds some way to attract the passengers of the special train chartered from San Angelo to Sonora on the first day of July, when the Santa Fe opens the $3,000,000 extension between two points. Although the train will be very little or Eldorado to put on much program, but there will be many people there to meet the train and to take the passenger over the city during the short stay. Badges and banners will be ready to give to those that wish to go to the station to meet the first scheduled passenger train to Eldorado.

Souvenirs of small bottles of oil, gotten from the Whitten oil well will be handed out to those that come through to Sonora. Tickets for the round trip to Sonora will be on sale at the station here. The train will leave Sonora on the return trip at one o'clock that night. The committee members are urging that a large crowd accompany the passengers on the Special to Sonora.

ENTERTAINED WITH BARBECUE AND DANCE

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ballew entertained a host of their friends with a Chevon Barbecue and dance at the ranch home of V. G. Tsedale. The crowd arrived at eight o'clock and enjoyed themselves around a long table loaded with barbecue before the dancing began at nine.

The music was furnished by the Ruff twins, well known two piece orchestra, and are noted for their blowing ability and endurance, always keeping plenty of snappy music for the toe ticklers.

The dance lasted until about two o'clock and all who attended expressed themselves very freely as having a wonderful time.

W. H. PARKER TO MOVE INTO NEW STORE NEXT WEEK

W. H. Parker who is having a modern store building erected on the south side of main street reports that the grocery store will be moved into this new structure next week. This is going to be a very modern building, 60 x 70 and is divided into two apartments. The extra space will be rented out as soon as completed.

BORN—To Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Parker in a San Angelo Hospital last Friday a fine baby boy.

Thomas B. Love Speaks In San Angelo June 25

Thomas B. Love candidate for Governor and one of Texas greatest State men will speak in San Angelo, Wednesday June, 25 at 8:00 o'clock. Mr. Love is an able speaker and is one of the most prominent and best known politicians in the Southland. Make his positions on all questions known, and has been one of the most successful men ever in the State Legislature. Whether you agree with Mr. Love or not you will hear a good speech from a Christian gentleman if you will go.

ELDORADO DEFEATS GASSERS IN CLOSE CONTEST

Little Eddie Ratliff, flashy short stop and relief pitcher for the Eldorado ball chasers pitched his way to a three to two victory against the Oklahoma Gassers of San Angelo last Sunday afternoon. The game was close but a very slow contest, due to the trouble in getting everything in readiness. High waters in the South, Concho held up the fray for about an hour. The Gassers were water bound at Christoval and could find no means of getting here but the big hearted sport fans of Eldorado went to the rescue and gave their cars to go and bring the players here in order that a game of ball might be played. The players walked the railroad bridge and were met at the crossing by the Eldorado cars. It was rather a dirty deal to go and get them and then give them a defeating after they were brought here.

The club has been playing fairly good ball this summer, nothing classy and in some instances were over matched. With the exception of a pitcher in two of the contests, the team is composed of strictly Schleicher county men.

CATTLE RETURNING TO BLACK LAND

Beef cattle left the blackland years ago, but they are returning. The county agent of Rockwall county reports that Mr. Walter, local cotton farmer, has decided to produce beef cattle as a side line and has bought 89 head of Herefords which he has turned into two small leased pastures totalling 149 acres. Records kept since February 1st when 36 small, poor heifers were placed in one of these pastures and fed for six weeks show that the cattle gained 5400 pounds in that time. The lease on the pasture for the entire year, and the cost of the feed amounted to only $176.69. At present all the cattle are in good pasture and fattening rapidly.

BARBECUE IS GIVEN WHEN WELL IS SPURRED IN

Large Crowd Attends Barbecue on Nicks Ranch

Approximately two hundred and fifty people of Schleicher County and adjoining counties attended a free barbecue given Thursday at noon at the L. E. Ratliff No. 1 celebrating the spudding of the Wesner Wildcat to be drilled on the W R Nicks ranch north east of Eldorado about one and one half miles.

The well was spudded Thursday afternoon as many of the people attending the barbecue waited to see the first lick struck in the new well.

Much excitement is being aroused over the oil business in Schleicher and many Major Companies are watching the outcome of the test with much interest. No proof of oil in Schleicher has been given by any other wells but many geologists are positive in their assertions as to the making of an oil field on the Schleicher county land.

SLOW PROGRESS BEING MADE IN WHITTEN TEST

Rapid progress in deepening the Phillips Petroleum, J. A. Whitten No. 1, has been checked considerably, due to the hole caving badly just above the drill. The well will probably have to be cemented before any more progress can be made. The drilling in this well for the past few months has been slow ed down considerably due to the caving of the soft shale that has been found. The drilling is still in sand.

CEMENT IS RUN IN PAGE TEST

Wilson's Munker Dept Page No. 1, was cemented last week Wednesday night while an attempt has been made for the last two weeks trying to catch the string of tools which were lost some time ago. Thirty two hundred feet of cable fell on top of the string of tools but up to date it is reported that practically all of the line has been taken out but cavings have been falling on top of the drill and further progress of finding and bringing out the tools that are below the surface about 4900 feet was abandoned until the cavings could be stopped.

ED RATLIFF SELLS REGISTERED STOCK

Ed Ratliff, rancher of Schleicher County, living just on the out skirts of Eldorado and improving his stock to the extent of practically all registered stock, sold three yearling bulls out of his herd for nice price of one hundred and fifty dollars per head. The sales were made to J. T. Evans of Ft. Terrett, John D. Robertson of San Angelo and Robert Jones of San Angelo. Mr. Ratliff has several registered cows sired by Prince Lad, one of the best sires of the C. M. Largent herd of Merkel. Besides these registered cows Mr. Ratliff has several registered sheep, bought at the Del Rio Show last year. He is contemplating improving his herd and stick to nothing but registered stock in the near future as he believes that that class of livestock will bring in more returns than the other class which he has been raising for many years in this country.

BEEF CATTLE RETURN PROFIT

A net profit of $13.60 per calf on 49 head has been made by Walter Lasley, Sherman county farmer who has recently completed a feeding demonstration with the aid of the county agent. The calves, sold in April on the Kansas City market, brought $83.60 each after a 95 day feeding period in which the feed consumption per calf amounted to $16.00. The ration consisted of 12 pounds ground maize heads and two pounds cottonseed meal for the first 70 days, and during the last 25 days 8 pounds maize heads, 5 pounds barley and 1 pound cottonseed meal. The calves weighed 400 pounds at the beginning and 760 pounds when sold.

We note from the Richland Springs Eye—Witness that the San Antonio Coffee Co furnished the coffee for the big feast, at the opening of the Big Cavern. Bro. Munsell said it was the All Gold brand of Coffee but from the "Bull" the San Saba County press used in telling the world about this big Cavern, we think the San Antonio Coffee Co. (which is owned by the Yarborough Brothers, San Saba County boys) put the Red Bull brand of Coffee to them instead of All Gold.

TEXAS AND TEXANS

By Will H. Mayes
Austin Texas
All Texans for all Texans

Too Much Politics
Business in Texas is suffering from an epidemic of politics and the press is helping to spread the disease by giving the politicians too much free publicity. A hotel proprietor recently told me that he wished he could close his hotel until after the primaries. He admitted that the hotels perhaps suffer less than any other business in heated campaigns, but said that the increased political patronage was more than offset by the loss of commercial business. There is more street-corner idling in Texas now than in the most serious unemployment days. If this were confined to white-collar loafers the situation might not be so bad, but all classes seem to have been bitten by the political bug. One never hears the question "How's business?" but the greeting invariably is "How's politics?"

Still Talking Texas
An editor who publishes this feature every week and who thereby proves that he thinks it worth while, has asked "why don't you devote some of your space to politics?" The reason is that this writer believes more in Texas than in Texas politics and thinks that one paragraph about building of a new factory, success with a farm crop, opening a city park or playground, starting a public library or any other constructive news is worth more to the readers of Texas newspapers than all the political guesses. Some people sincerely think that the weal or woe of the country is bound up in the election or defeat of certain candidates, but a moment about a new bridge in your county is of more importance to you than anything this or any other writer could say about any of the candidates. That is why he prefers to "Talk Texas."

Texas Oil Wells

Oil development in Texas is steadily going on. In May 442 wells were brought in as producers, an increase of 94 over April. There were 280 dry holes. Thirty-one new gas wells were reported. These producing oil and gas wells are distributed in some 50 counties of the State. Oil field men are not taking off much time for politics, it may be guessed.

Trinity River Improvement

Owners of Trinity river valley lands, and the cities along the river are getting much interested in the canalization of the river from its mouth to Fort Worth. Many reasons enter into the consideration—navigation, irrigation, reclamation, power, increased productivity and reduced freight rates are among these.

Texas Population

Texas will show a population of approximately 5,700,000 in the census returns. This growth has come about without any great exploitation. There has been no ballyhooing of the kind used by some States to attract population, but the growth has come about and has been gradual and steady. Really Texas has been too modest in proclaiming its resources and its possibilities. The State is rounding out its first centenary and should use that as a basis for showing the world what great achievements can be brought about within the short period of 100 years.

Summer School Growth

The Southwest Texas State Teachers College has a summer school enrollment of approximately 2,000, or a number that nearly equals half the population of San Marcos, where the school is located. While this large enrollment is in part due to the able faculty of the school, a still larger part of the credit is because of the splendid reputation of the little city for the hospitality of its people and the general attractiveness of the school surroundings. It is hard to estimate what a drawing power such a combination of people and location have.

Marketing Cantaloupes

An Asherton cantaloupe grower who is marketing 250 acres of cantaloupes says that although the melons are of better quality, have greater sugar content and can be moved to market at less cost than California cantaloupes, they are harder to sell. This is due to lack of systematic grading, packing and labeling of the Texas melons. California melons must measure up to required sugar contents, and this gives buyers greater confidence. Individual growers in Texas are up against the necessity of convincing buyers that they have a superior product, while the California label is all that is required. Texas should take steps to overcome this disadvantage.

Santa Fe to Sonora

The Santa Fe extension of the old Orient line will be completed to Sonora and train service will begin to that point by July 1. This service includes the towns of Eldorado and Christoval, and Eldorado is preparing for a big July 4 Celebration in which all that part of Texas will participate. It is a great country with a wonderful spirit of co-operative enterprise and the event will be one long to be remembered.

Milam County Grapes

A number of Milam county farmers are growing grapes in sufficient quantities for carload shipments and the business promises to be highly successful. The grapes are ready for market ahead of California grapes and command good prices. Much of the sandy land of Texas is adaptable to grape culture.

The Rev. Bob Schuler of Los Angeles has received so many letters of congratulations from able dividers in California that one would naturally conclude that even the lay fraternity believe he is right in his struggles against the law in his fair city.

AMERICA LEADS IN POWER ON FARMS

More Mechanical Energy In Use Per Worker Than In Factories

Let us think for a minute of farming in terms of power.

Animal power as well as mechanical power.

Farming without power is almost inconceivable to the American mind.

Power on the farm, then, is nothing new in America.

The same proportion obtained down to 1925. It is only in the past five years that workers in industry have had more mechanical power per man at their disposal than workers on the farm.

All of that means that the farm output per person employed in farm work is steadily growing larger.

This increase in farm productivity has been going on for a hundred years.

It does not follow, however, that even small farms cannot be largely operated more efficiently by the aid of mechanical power.

Beyond doubt there will be a good deal more of that kind of farming in the future than there is now.

The present volume of power in use on the farms of America is estimated at 50,000,000 horsepower.

Thin, Pale, Weak

"I HAD been through a bad spell of sickness which left me very weak," says Mrs. Virginia Spruce of Stapleton, Va.

"I spent most of my time on the bed. I was very nervous, and the least thing upset me. I did not have strength enough to lift a broom. At times I would have had headaches, which would hurt me until I could hardly see."

"Someone asked me why I did not try Cardui. I had read of it, so I thought I would see what it would do for me. It was really remarkable how I came out. My strength returned, and my health was better than it had been in years. I gained in weight about ten pounds. My color was good, and I ceased to suffer from headaches. I have told my friends about Cardui because I was benefited after taking it."

MURDER

Ten persons out of every 100,000 are victims of murderers every year in the United States.

That is an appalling record. Nothing like that number of murders occurs in any other civilized country.

Think it over for a minute. How many people do you know who have had any contact of any kind with murder? How many people in this community have been murdered, in recent years?

We all know that the life of every law-abiding citizen, going about his or her business and not seeking trouble, is as safe in our midst as it is anywhere in the world.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Crosby and daughter, Miss Kitty Crosby, of Alamogordo, New Mexico arrived at the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Crosby Monday night.

Mr. Willie Isaacs has returned to Eldorado from San Angelo where he has been attending San Angelo Institute College.

John Irving King was in Eldorado Monday, a spectator to the ball game between Menard and Eldorado.

Mrs. J. W. Lawhon and daughter Miss Eleanor returned to Eldorado last Friday from San Angelo.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Crosby were in Eldorado Monday from the ranch.

Even in Chicago, from which we hear more news of murders and murderers than from any other place in America, conditions are not at all like that of American unfamiliar with the ways of big cities.

The plain fact of the matter is that in almost every case of murder the victim is either a criminal, an associate of criminals, or engaged in some reckless undertaking which exposes him unnecessarily to attack.

That does not dispose, however, of the fact that there has developed in America a criminal element which is almost defiant in its attitude toward the authorities of the law.

Miss Nobody from Nowhere

BY ELIZABETH JORDAN

EIGHTH INSTALLMENT

What Has Gone Before

A beautiful young woman finds herself on the sidewalk in a strange city. She can not remember her name or where she came from. She has nothing in her purse to tell herself who she is. A young man who has seen her in the hotel where she is stopping notices her and takes her to the hotel in a cab. There they find that she is registered, in French, as "Miss Eve Nobody of Nowhere." The clerk has been calling her "Miss Parsons." The young man tells her she is in New York. His name is Eric Hamilton, of Chicago. She is terrified at her loss of memory. He asks his friend, Dr. Carrick, a nerve specialist to call at the hotel. Dr. Carrick talks encouragingly but says he will send a nurse to stay with the mysterious "Miss Parsons" that night.

"Miss Nobody" listens while Hamilton tells her what the doctor has said, then steps into another room. When the nurse arrives, the girl has vanished from the hotel!

Eve's departure was simple. She went out of a back door into the servants hall of the hotel, where she encountered a young French Porter, who claimed to recognize her. He had seen her in Paris. "Then you know my name?" she demanded eagerly. But the porter had forgotten that he would write at once to a friend in Paris and find the name of the American young lady they had both admired. He tells her of an apartment house where the janitor, he thinks, would take her in. Meantime, while Hamilton is anxiously hunting up the nerve specialist for advice, Eve gets into a taxicab and drives away.

She arranges with Marcel's friend, the janitor of a dingy little apartment house on the East side of New York, for a small furnished apartment. He tells her not to be frightened if she hears the young woman who occupies the next apartment come in very late in the morning, Eve wonders what sort of a place she has got into.

The girl in the next apartment is Ivy Davenport, a professional cabaret dancer with a weak heart. Eve helps her one night when she is ill. Eve suggests that Eve who is short of funds, should take her place in the cabaret. Eve thinks it over, dislikes the idea, but realizes that she has to do something to earn a living until she finds out who she really is. Ivy has twisted the name of "Berson" which is the only surname Eve knows for herself, into "Berson."

Eve finds "Jake's" a strange sort of place and the girls who dance there even stranger, though kind to the stranger who is taking Ivy's place.

Now Go On With The Story

"After they come we gotta be out there, setting around in our corner. The bunch there now is reg'lers that come early to get good tables. They know each other. It's when the singles begin to wash in, or two or three men comes together, that we get busy."

"How do we get busy?" "My Gwad!" Miss Morris exchanged a deeply eloquent glance with Maizie, who was smiling a sharp-toothed ophidian smile. The instructor continued her explanation in depressed tones. "We're dancers, and we're Jake's hostesses, too. See?"

"Our job," Stella added, "is to keep the men from dyin' of homesickness as they go here."

Queenie ignored Stella. "When a man's settin' alone at a table, or two or three men are to her, lookin' like it's Decoration Day they're sayin' it with flowers, I drift up an' give 'em the glad eye. Nothin' fresh, you understand. Just a kind look to let them know there's a live wire near. If they speak, I draw on my hot-air tank and find out who they are; and later I introduce 'em to the other girls. If they don't respond I breeze past like I hadn't seen 'em an' dtry some others. None of the other girls goes near till I find out who the men are an' introduce them. If you seen your own brother at a table you couldn't go to him an' say you could. That's all the ins to it, but it's gotta be done with class."

To the novice there seemed a great deal to it. "If they see you, I suppose we dance with them?" she asked, anxious to get a more definite line on her individual duties than Ivy had given her. "Ain't she the clever kid?" Maizie murmured. "Got it the cry folist time." "Dance with 'em if they want you to," the instructor coldly explained.

"If they want you to set down an' give 'em the story of your life, let 'em have it. Only make it snappy. No sob stuff, Maizie tells 'em she's a Russian princess, an' it goes over great. If they want talk while you listen, leave 'em do it."

"They'll tell you how lonesome they are," Stella contributed. "Lonesome!" she sneered. "They don't open my faucets with that dope. The men that comes here is as lonesome as angleworms in a box of bait!"

Stella, Eve learned, was a pessimist and a black one. She was also a man-hater and freely confessed that she had no use for women. Her speech and Queenie's were usually better than those of the other girls; but on occasion they could, and often did, draw on the argot of the gutter. All this Eve grasped later. At present the lesson of the moment went on.

"There's two things you don't stand for," Queenie was saying in a crisp tone. "You don't take insults and you don't drink from pocket-flasks. Jake's rule. See? Men that come here has got to treat us like ladies!"

To Eve the whole experience was part of the dream she was in, but the nightmare in the dream was lessening. She was intensely interested, and she realized that she was also a trifle more sophisticated than the girls around thought her. She had never danced in cabarets; she was sure of that. She knew nothing of their intimate inner workings, or of the duties of employees. But she must have known such places as at least an occasional visitor, for the superficial aspects of this one held no surprises for her.

"What you're really here for, Berson is to admire the men," Stella drawled. "Make 'em see what great big wonderful guys you think they are, and you'll be a wow."

"No Berson, if you think you've had enough gasoline to roll out on the floor with, we'll start; and I'll put you wise to the reg'lers an' the loose-anke boys."

"Which are the loose-anke boys?"

"The reg'lers are the guys that come every night an' scatter their coin. The loose-anke boys are the instructors—the lads Jake hires to dance with the dames that blow in for a good time. That's all they gotta do; but Gawd knows it's enough. Any woman that's got a real face c'n make some man bring her to a cabaret an' dance with her. The ones that come alone an' has ta rely on the boys are the ones Gawd forgot."

"Don't pay any attention to the loose-anke lads. They'll come buzzing round, for they need a change bad an' they'll want to give you the once-over because you're green. But Jake ain't payin' us nickels to dance with them."

All the girls were intrigued by the new-comer's presence and they showed it in various ways—some by talking the rest by close attention to what was said.

Eve followed her with a sinking heart. What had she let herself in for? But the two young men they approached were wholesome-looking American lads who had just given an order to a waiter, and who for the present were most interested in having it filled than in the scene around them. Queenie cast a radiant smile at them, and one of the young men returned it with a cheerful but impersonal grin. She slowed her steps a little distance from the table, checking Eve's swifter movement by a warning pressure of the arm.

"Look at them settin' there waitin' for bread and milk, with good music goin' to waste," she tentatively observed, in a tone designed to reach the ears of the new-comers. The latter looked up, this time with attention. The girls were under inspection now, to be taken or rejected. To Eve the moment was horrible.

"Give us time, girls, give us time," urged the young man with a grin. "We're hungry, and we've got a pair of rabbits coming. But it we're able to move ater thif stuff you folks serve here, I'll take you out to the center." "We only ordered two, and I could eat them both," he plaintively observed.

"We'll order two more," of the floor later on and make a May-pole of you."

His friend had been watching Eve. "That goes for me, too," he quietly told her.

"It's a date," Queenie agreed, and tactfully started to move on. But the quiet young man spoke again: "Won't you ladies join us and have some of the rabbit?"

The young man of the grin frowned. As he spoke, the quiet young man drew out for Eve the chair next to him, Miss Morris secured the remaining empty chair for herself and sat down with a sigh of achievement.

"You ain't got the nice manners of your boy friend, Willie," she told the grinning youth. "But if you stick around with him p'raps you'll improve Got a cigarette?"

The grinning youth had, and offered his case. Miss Morris helped herself and passed it to Eve, who hesitated an instant and then took a cigarette and lighted it at the match the quiet young man held for her.

"My name is Hunt," he told her as he did so.

"Here is Miss Berson. She's new to this work. I'm Queenie Morris." Miss Morris made the announcement with an air that impelled the grinning youth to get up and bow deeply, and Queenie accepted the burlesque homage with a care-free grin equal to his own. She had lit a cigarette without his assistance, and, having established it firmly between her carmined lips, was doing the honors with easy affability.

"Don't mention your name," she advised the grinning youth. "My heart's goin' to tell me what it is, pretty soon."

"You bet it will," said the grinning youth, in high good humor. "I'm one of the sbleks you read about. One long look into my eyes, girle, and you're done for."

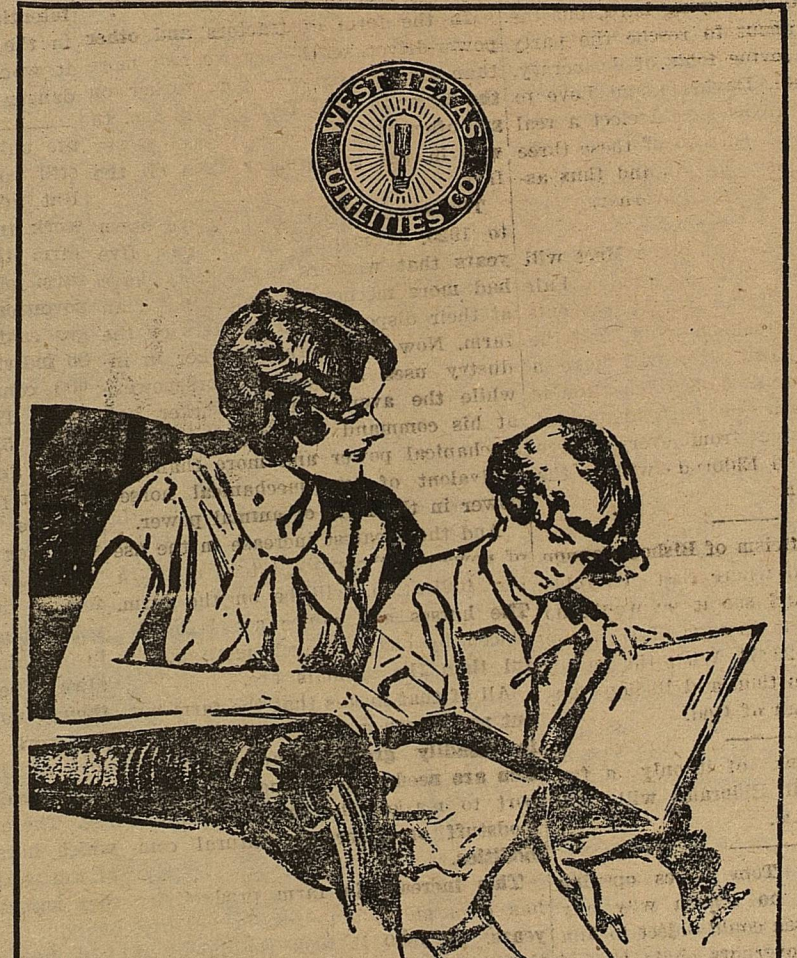

"Let's see if I am," Miss Morris suggested with sudden interest, and she made the experiment forthwith. Hunt turned to Eve.

"You don't exactly belong here, do you?" he asked.

"No. Do you?"

He laughed.

DO PEOPLE FEEL BETTER

BECAUSE YOU PASSED BY?

I was in a doctor's office by appointment at five-thirty when his telephone rang. A woman's voice at the other end of the wire asked him to call at the house that evening.

His voice betrayed his irritation, but he promised to call. Then he snapped the receiver on the hook and exploded.

"There is a woman who has nothing to do all day but gab about. She mites just as easily have called me this morning or early in the afternoon. But, no, she has to put it off and spoil my evening.

"Nobody but a doctor has any 'dea' of how inconsiderate people can be."

On two recent with two different men I had an interesting opportunity to contrast their conduct toward their fellow human beings.

One of them had made several million dollars in the past few years. Whenever he entered a dining car or a hotel he wanted everybody to understand that he is rich and important. Waiters dislike him, even though he tips liberally. I sometimes felt embarrassed by his critical demands for attention.

The manner of the other man is the exact reverse. You would never guess that he is a power in world industry. He never gives orders, but makes suggestions or very courteous requests. He seems surprised that anybody should wait to do him a favor. He can make a waiter or a station porter feel a new sense of self-respect merely by his smile.

A noted preacher once remarked that one of the finest of all the sayings of Jesus is this: "I have compassion on the multitude."

Said the preacher: "Many men can be virtuous. Many can be honest in a hard, self-righteous way. But how many are really considerate? How many feel instinctive respect and sympathy? How many have compassion?"

A lot of twisted standards have somehow grown up in the world. A lot of very righteous people seem to think that a man is good if he does not smoke, does not take a drink, does not do this or that.

These are negative and unimportant. The real mark of a Christian and a gentleman is whether he treats other people as he would like to be treated.

Whether they feel better or worse because he has passed by.

MONEY FOUND

The writer found a nickle Saturday of last week near the side rear door to the local post office. The nickle bears the date of 1927. The writer understands it to be the law that if found money is advertised for a given length of time and no one claims it, then it becomes the legal property of the finder. So if the owner of this nickle will call at this office and pay 50c for this notice he or she may have same. Otherwise, we shall salt it down for ours for keeps. —Menard Messenger.

We are confident from the amount of the coin found it was lost by one of the Eldorado ball boys but we doubt if he can pay for the ad to redeem the coin.

The Upton County Journal reports that Rankin has voted bonds for the improvement of the streets and to install an adequate water system.

REVIVAL CLOSES

The undenominational revival meeting which was held at the Christian Church last week closed Sunday nite. The Evangelist Rev. Elmer Coughran of Fresno, California reported that eight people were converted, four received the Holy Spirit, and one was gainly healed. Five services were held, the meeting having started Wednesday evening.

The Rev. Coughran, his daughter and son, and brother, Marvin, left Tuesday afternoon for Tahoke, Texas where they will visit relatives and then return to their homes at Fresno. —Miles Messenger.

Popular control of governmental functions in Texas still is one of the foundations planks of the Democratic party in Texas. Such was the tone of remarks of members of the State Executive Committee of Democrats meeting in Austin on Monday.

Committee members voiced disapproval of the Terrell election law that places control of party elections and conventions within the purview of statutory law. Steve Pinckney, committeemann from Houston, voiced particular disapproval of the election law and declared that party solidarity and independence was contingent upon a repeal of the Terrell law and the substitution in its place of a workable statute that would leave party control within the party.

LEWIS WHITTEN, MGR.

After the First Twenty-five Thousand Miles

THE VALUE of sound design, good materials and careful craftsmanship is especially apparent in the new Ford after the first twenty-five thousand miles. Long, continuous service emphasizes its mechanical reliability and economy of operation and up-keep.

As you drive the Ford through many months and years you will develop an increasing pride in its appearance and a growing respect for the substantial worth that has been built into it. From every standpoint—in everything that goes to make a good automobile—you will know that you have made a far-seeing, satisfactory purchase.

Wherever you go, you hear enthusiastic praise of the car and this significant, oft-repeated phrase—"I'm glad I bought a Ford."

A FORD owner in New York tells of a 13,000-mile trip across the United States and back in sixty days and says "the car was extremely economical to operate, comfortable and speedy." A grateful father tells how the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield saved his wife and children from serious injury.

To test tires, a large company drove a new Ford day and night, for an average of 500 miles every twenty-four hours. It was still giving satisfactory service after 105,000 miles.

A Ford car that had fallen into Fernan Lake was submerged for twelve days before being raised. After a new battery and carburetor bowl were installed, it was driven back to Spokane under its own power.

Many police departments have written of the special advantages of the Ford in crowded traffic because of its alert speed, acceleration, and ease of control. An increasing number of fleet owners are also purchasing the Ford because their cost figures have given conclusive proof of its economy of operation and up-keep.

In addition to important triumphs in Germany, France and Italy, the Ford won six out of seven leading places in a contest in Finland, first and second in the Rafaela races in Argentina, first and second in the run from Copenhagen-to-Paris-to-Copenhagen, three gold medals in England, first ranking in the durability test over the tortuous Amancaes road in Peru, and first place in the 1930 reliability run conducted by the Royal Automobile Club of Sweden.

This contest was an exceptionally severe test of endurance and sturdy construction because it was held in the dead of winter and covered 600 miles of steady running over snow-covered country roads and mountainous hills.

HE MIGHT BE WRONG

Two weeks ago Mr. John J. Raskob, who is the National Democratic Chairman, arrived in Paris from Rome. It was upon a Sunday, and immediately upon his arrival he gave out this interview:

"The American people are going to find a way to do away with prohibition within the next two years.

"The fatuous individuals who represent the organized opposition can not say for one minute that they represent the voice of the people.

"What's beyond me is that more people can not see to what extent prohibition is detested. It is growing more so. Daily hitherto moderate and sensible dries are changing, demanding repeal. That tide will grow and sweep everything before it."

Since then two or three things have happened that might indicate Mr. Raskob is mistaken. First, the Southern Baptist convention went on record as favoring the strict enforcement of the prohibition laws. That was one challenge.

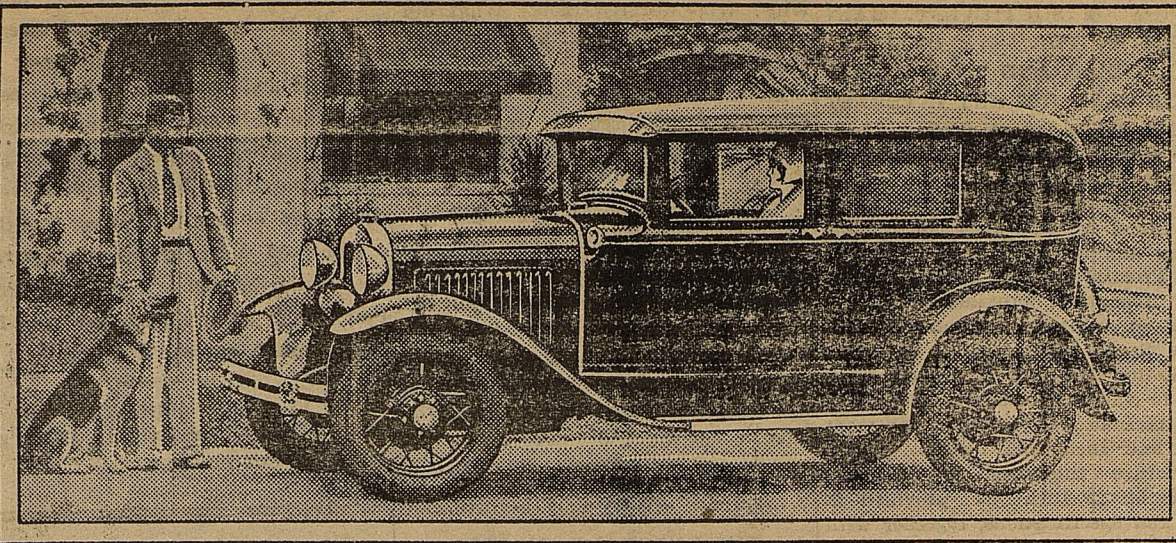

While Mr. Raskob was branding the law-respecting men and women of the nation as "fatuous individuals who do not represent the voice of the people," a crowd of these same "fatuous" ones gathered at Dallas from Maryland to California, a body representing three million Southern Methodists and went on record as endorsing all efforts to enforce the 18th Amendment and pledging the church to use all honorable means to uphold that part of the Constitution. That was another challenge.

Last Tuesday the great state of Pennsylvania, a state that has been claimed was predominantly wet, held its republican primaries. The wets put out a full ticket and had the support of the Association Against Prohibition. This ticket pledged its candidate for the United States Senate to work for the repeal of the 18th Amendment. It called loudly to the people to swat the "damnable affliction of prohibition." The result of the poll does not justify Mr. Raskob's assertion that the "tide will grow and sweep everything before it."

The wet candidates polled less than 300,000 votes while the two candidates for the senate, who were pronounced dries, polled a combined vote of one million four hundred thousand. In the Governor's race Gifford Pinchot, a militant dry received the nomination with a total vote three times as large as his wet opponent. This is challenge number three to Mr. Raskob's statement that the "sensible dries are changing, demanding repeal."—Troup Banner.

Ford Offers New De Luxe Sedan

Ford De Luxe Sedan

THE De Luxe Sedan, recently added to the Ford line, is designed for those who desire distinctiveness and unusual comfort in an automobile. The interior is inviting and roomy with wide doors to both compartments. Absence of rear quarter windows gives the car a striking individuality and affords privacy to the occupants.

Other refinements include arm rests for the rear seat, mahogany finished garnish moldings on the windows and beneath the windshield, flexible robe rail and hardware in an attractive pattern.

The front seat is adjustable within a range of four inches to suit the convenience and comfort of the driver. It is moved quickly and easily by a small, inconspicuous handle in the front center of the seat just above the floor. The De Luxe Sedan, like other Ford body types, can be obtained in any one of several color combinations.

"I'LL PRAISE IT THE LONGEST DAY I LIVE," SHE SAYS

San Antonio Woman Took Argotane On Advice of Trained Nurse—Trouble Ended

"I'll praise Argotane the longest day I live, for the good health I now enjoy," said Mrs. F. F. DePier, residing at 426 South Presa St., San Antonio, recently in an interview with the Argotane representative.

"I haven't been able to eat a hearty meal for years without suffering from a stomach trouble afterwards," she continued. "My appetite was never good because I was afraid of the pain I would have to go through with digesting what I might eat. My food would just turn as sour as vinegar and form gas that made my stomach so full and uncomfortable that sometimes I could hardly stand it.

"It's impossible to describe the dreadful pain that I would have in my side sometimes for four or five hours and longer, without getting easy for a minute. It just seemed like I was full of poison and there was nothing for me to do but just suffer right on through these spells, for I couldn't get anything to relieve me. For the last two or three years these spells had been coming more frequently and I got so weak at times that it looked as if nothing was ever going to reach my troubles.

"I have a friend who is a trained nurse and she told me to try this Argotane treatment as she personally knew of the great benefits it was doing others, so I decided to try it myself.

"Well, sir, all my friends are telling me they never saw me look so well since they have known me, and when they ask the reason, I tell them Argotane. I am gaining in health every day, and my appetite is enormous. Nothing I eat gives me the least bit of trouble, and I am always glad when meal time comes, for I'm hungry all the time. The gas that used to bother me so has stopped all together, for my food digests readily and I haven't had a spell of that cramping in my side since I took the first few doses of Argotane.

"I never have felt so well before in many years and am just building up and getting stronger and healthier every day. I don't know how many people I have recommended Argotane to, for I tell about the good it has done me every chance I get."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Eldorado at the Hoover Drug Co.

Over at Bryan Texas, a negro, Bill Roan, attempted to attack, Mrs. Henry Bawman, who was successful in fighting off the attack, the negro became frightened and ran into the woods, and was found two days later about 5 mile from the scene dead. He had been shot with buck shot probably by some one hunting snowbirds, from all reports he was found dead.

Nobody from Nowhere

"I'm afraid not," he admitted. "I don't care much about dancing, and I'm apt to get sleepy around midnight. I tried to persuade Jack to go home after the play, but he wouldn't. . . . and now I'm glad we didn't."

"Shall you be here every night after this?"

"No," she told him. "I'm here only as a substitute. I don't expect to come again."

"Then we must make the most of to-night," he smiled. There was some thing very nice about his sloop and manner. He was like . . . whom was he like? Probably he was merely a type she had known well and met often in her former environment.

"Shall we dance now?" she heard him ask. Queenie and Jack were already on the floor. She rose slowly.

"I'm not sure I dance very well," she confessed, and caught his look of surprise as he put an arm around her and swung her out among the others. She exhaled the breath she had been holding. He was a good partner.

"You're an odd girl!" Hunt skillfully guided her through a rapidly increasing congestion on the dancing floor. "What made you say you weren't sure you could dance well?"

"I wasn't." His expression made her amplify the terse statement. "I'm not very sure of anything just now," she smilingly admitted. "I'm so new at all this."

"Well, you can be sure you're one of the good dancers on the floor to-night," he said comfortably. "That's a tribute, too, for there are a dozen here who know how to step it. That up town bunch over there has some bully dancers in it."

She looked in the direction he indicated. Half a dozen young men and girls, evidently of good families, were keeping to themselves an ignoring the other patrons. Their eyes were tired and their expressions somewhat blasé, but they seemed content with their entertainment.

"They're the types that go to the theater first, then to supper, and spend the rest of the night rushing from one cabaret to another." Hunt explained. "Quite a lot of them like this place better than the clubs. I think Jake caters to them in various ways—drops the cover charge for them and that sort of thing. He likes to have them come in, thinks they lend 'class' to his place; and Jake is strong for 'class' They'll probably stay here an hour, then leave and visit half a dozen other places before they go home at daylight. In the meantime, we'll have another bunch or two like them."

"I've known all this, and didn't know why she knew it, any more than she knew why she appreciated the unusually good music of Jake's jazz band."

"Speaking of being here," Hunt went on. "Why are you here, really? It's easy enough to see that you don't belong."
