WEST TEXAS HIGH SCHOOL BASKET BALL TOURNAMENT TO BE HELD AT SNYDER

The Eldorado Girls High School basketball team has been officially invited to attend the West Texas Girls Basketball tournament that will be held at Snyder February 14, 15 and 16 under the sponsorship of the Snyder Lions Club. Plans are being laid to entertain more than fifty girls teams during the three days.

R. H. Schulze, Dallas, southern commissioner for the A. A. U., was in Snyder recently to complete preliminary plans and expressed satisfaction for the fine basketball floor and gymnasium that will be provided during the visit in Snyder of the West Texas girls teams.

Six huge loving cups of solid gold and silver, one of which is the actual size of a basketball made of gold is first prize; a silver ball of the same dimension is second prize; and the four other major prizes are huge loving cups standing waist high. In addition there are three sets of small gold and silver basketballs.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends for the kindness shown us during the sickness, death and burial of Mrs. Elizabeth Wolfe. Also for the beautiful floral offering.

Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Cheek and family.

NEW FORD EQUIPPED WITH STRONG CRANKSHAFT

The new Model A Ford Automobile contains some of the finest examples in the world of new metal treatment for resistance to wear and to the torsional strain imposed upon some of the parts of the modern internal combustion engine.

One of these is the crankshaft. In this latest Ford product the crankshaft is made of a special Ford carbon manganese steel, developed under processes of metal blending and heat treatment that are new to the industry.

These processes produce a crankshaft that is heavier than any previous Ford crankshaft, that is tougher to resist wear and stronger to resist the torsional strain of high speed performance.

The weight of the shaft in itself makes for smoother operation and the static and dynamic balancing process to which it is subjected before it is installed in the motor still further reduces the chances of vibration.

This special carbon manganese steel is only of more than forty different kinds of steel, each representing a special treatment, which are used in the manufacture of the new Model A Ford car.

We are glad to see our friend Bob Duncan up and able to be around town. Bob has just gotten up from a serious attack of the flu and pneumonia.

JERSEY BULL SERVICE

I have a registered Jersey Male, at my barn in town for your service at $3.00 per season, cash in advance. Sire of this bull is Queen Rosie's Majesty, Dam: Foxie Presilla.

SCOUT MEETING

The regular Scout meeting was held Friday night. Mr. Mc-Masters, the new Field Scout Executive, was present to tell us all some news.

We opened the Scout meeting with the pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. After a contest of the game "Touch", the patrols were organized.

About 7:30 we went to the Presbyterian church to hold a Court of Honor. Just three badges were awarded. Two first class to, J. R. Conner and Eli Mc-Angus and one Tenderfoot, to Joe T. Hext.

The ceremony for Tenderfoot Scouts is very impressive. There will be another Court of Honor next month, to which all the people of the town are invited. Scribe.

HIGH LINE BEING BUILT FROM SAN ANGELO

The West Texas Utilities are now building the High line from San Angelo to Eldorado. The workers are near Christoval and it will not be many days until the citizens of Eldorado will have all the electricity they care to use. Mr. Westbrook, local manager also said that the company was going to build a $20,000 or $25,000 building in Eldorado.

THE RECORD FLIGHT

The army plane, after being in the air for 150 hours, shattered the world's record for continuous flight of any machine carrying human beings. The name of the plane is unique, if not uncanny. What it did is remarkable and unusual. One would think that that venture practically the last word in endurance tests. On the other hand it may be considered but a suggestion of the possibility of greater marvels.

No matter whether it is considered seriously or humorously, there are yet many things to do in the field of exploration, in tests of strength: opportunities for championships of fall sorts are still open. By the very nature of things there are no limits of expansion in mechanical and scientific achievement.

There are the stars and planets standing out in the sky. Great worlds are beckoning for someone to come to them. What is in the center of the earth, or even twenty miles down, is still a mystery. Even this comparatively little spheroid called earth has patches of uncharted seas and unsurveyed lands.

Who will deny that all of the five senses eventually will be capable of applying themselves over great distances? We now hear around the world. Television is making possible for us to see events happening across continents. Who doubts that we shall sometime be pleased by the fragrance of roses blooming in some far off land, while we sit at our fireside on this side of the ocean? The things that sound ridiculous today become realities of tomorrow. Science, invention and human genius remove the barriers of time and space. What we doubt and place in question marks are turned in to statements of fact. Progress is immeasurable in its workings. Nothing stands still, for mind is active and positive.

This little record breaking feat is only a foundation for greater things that are to be accomplished in aviation in days and years to come.

J. F. Craig, old time resident of Eldorado, turned his car over near San Angelo last Friday afternoon. His wife was badly bruised about the body and her face cut. From the last report she was doing nicely.

KITCHEN SHOWER POSTPONED.

On account of so much sickness the kitchen shower that was to have been given at the Baptist church, has been postponed until a later date.

H. G. Parker, Eldorado, has just been appointed agent in Eldorado and vicinity for the Southland Life Insurance Company of Dallas, according to announcement by the company.

The Southland Life is one of the strongest companies of the South. With more than $25,000,000.00 of written business for 1928, the company closed the year with over $131,000,000.00 of insurance income.

INTERSTATE EXPLORATION COMPANY BEGINS DRILLING ON WHITTEN WELL

The Interstate Exploration Company began drilling on the J. A. Whitten oil well, Thursday morning. They will go to a depth of 3,500 feet or deeper, if prospects justify. Without serious accidents the drilling will be completed within 90 days.

Formations on different sections attract the attentions of this company and they will probably drill two or three more wells in Schleicher county.

AL HURLEY

Mr. Al Hurley, age 65 died last Thursday evening, January 10. He came to Schleicher County about 40 years ago and was known the large sheep-ranchers as a "sheep rustler", drifting large flocks of sheep to the different parts of the country for the ranchmen. After he became too old to work he was placed in care of the county.

Notice is hereby given by the Commissioner's Court of Schleicher County that at the February term of said Court to be held on the 11th day of February, 1929, that said Court will receive bids from any Bank or Banking Corporation that may desire to be selected as the depository for said County for the next two years.

LUNCHEON

The Eldorado Lions met at the Presbyterian church last Wednesday with only about half of the members present.

The dinner was served by the ladies of the Presbyterian church and those that failed to be there missed a real treat.

Discussions of incorporation and other public work were discussed. A Public Utilities Committee was appointed by the chair to take charge of all public utility work coming to and near Eldorado. They will also try to get a road opened from the Humble Pipe Line Station to Eldorado so that the people living there can come directly to Eldorado instead of going by way of Sonora. This Committee consists of: E. W. Brooks, W. N. Ramsey, J. E. Hill and A. T. Wright.

CAR WRECK

Last Monday, Mr. Jack Waits of the Evans Chevrolet Sales and Misses Sallet Edmiston, and Ella Mae Sharp were returning from Brady when the steering gear of their car came loose and it turned completely over. Miss Sharp was knocked unconscious and was taken to the Brady hospital where she remained in this state for about twenty-four hours. The other two passengers escaped uninjured.

"PICK'S TOPICS"

It's a long road that has nobody changing tires.

There's usually a rain of terror from a war-cloud.

February isn't the only short month for the most of us.

Aviation is twenty-five years old. Old enough to know whether.

The black sheep in the family is the one that gets your goat.

Cigarettes as food! Well we are already fed up on cigaret ads.

If you think you're such a friend to man compare yourself with a dog.

The two things that never pay in this world are crime and defeat.

The old songs are the best songs because we don't have to listen to them so often.

When a movie star's fame begins to wane she has to do something sensational again.

Whether we ever get them or not, this would be a dull old world without the quadrennial issues of farm relief and Prohibition.

Marital happiness can be determined by the expression on the spouses face when the radio plays "Here Comes the Bride."

REDUCE DEAD LETTERS

Another note-worthy item of the N. E. A. legislative and educational campaign has been the increased number of editorials published asking business men and other users of the mail to have corner cards on all first class mail, suggesting that the printing be done at a local office. The Post Office Department in its annual report points out that there has been a decrease of 8.5 per cent in the number of undeliverable pieces of first class matter. The Department claims that "No doubt it was directly due to the persistent campaign carried on by the Department throughout the year to induce mail advertisers to use envelopes bearing return addresses in lieu of plain noncard envelopes and to keep their mailing lists properly corrected to date."

Reports from publishers in various Congressional districts show that postal employees are eager to urge the use of government stamped envelopes because it increases the receipts of their office and affects their salary and standing. Therefore, it is unlikely that postal employees suggest that mailers patronize private printers. The Department in its report further states that "Interviews with more than 5000 of the largest mail advertisers of the country show that over 85 per cent of them agreed unreservedly to the Department's suggestion to use return cards on all future mailings."

You can co-operate in this campaign of education—through your newspaper, in editorials and in advertisements, and through personal solicitation in calling on patrons of your printing department.—N. E. A. Service.

HIDE OF HUGE SNAKE

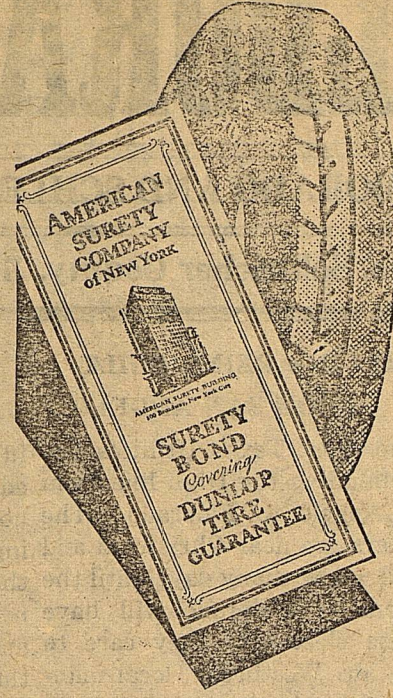

22 Ft. Long, 30 In Around ON DISPLAY

The snakiest snake story that has gone the rounds here in some time is told in a display this week in the window of the Joe Oberamph store.

The display consists of a snake hide (and it's a real snake hide) 22 feet long and 30 inches wide. A sign beside the hide reads "Snake Stories," and "Captured in the wilds along the Pecos River."

Whether this monster, about the size of a telephone pole, was captured in the "wilds of the Pecos River" or in the jungles of South America or Africa, all who have viewed the specimen agree that he was SOME snake. —Ozona Stockman.

The state of Michigan has sent a man to the pen for life for possessing a pint of gin. This really sounds cruel but the records showed that offence to be his sixth felony and under Michigan criminal statutes such a sentence is made mandatory. We all may think, of course that this is out of reason for a man to be given such a sentence for merely having this small bottle of gin in his possession but we suppose he knew the law and what would happen if caught. There is but one thing to do and that is if you have a law, why not enforce it? The only way to get rid of the bootleggers and other law breakers is to enforce the law on them and see what the results will be.

J. H. Rodgers carried his mother to Eden Saturday to be with her sister Mrs. Y. Y. Eaker, who is seriously ill with pneumonia at her home near Eden. Mr. Rodgers returned home by San Angelo to await the arrival of her son, Capt. Ira Eaker, by plane from Sandiago, California Sunday afternoon but the birdman did not arrive, as a delay in refuelling at El Paso. Night forced him down at Midland and he made the remainder of the trip by automobile. Capt. Ira Eaker who piloted the Question Mark on its endurance flight is a first cousin to Mr. Rodgers of our city.

The Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History

- a Six in the price range of the four!

represents 4 years of Development and over a Million miles of Testing

Years ago, the Chevrolet Motor Company designed and built its first experimental six-cylinder motor. This far-sighted step was taken because Chevrolet engineers knew that the six-cylinder motor is inherently the most perfectly balanced motor—the ideal power plant to meet the growing public demand for greater reserve power, faster get-away and, above all—smooth, quiet performance.

During the last four years, over a hundred six-cylinder motors were built by Chevrolet engineers and tested on the General Motors Proving Ground.

Day and night, through winter's cold and summer's heat, the incessant testing went on—until the present motor was developed and finally pronounced correct.

At the same time other Chevrolet engineers were perfecting other parts of the chassis. And another great automotive organization—the Fisher Body Corporation—was devoting its gigantic resources to the creation of the finest, sturdiest and most beautiful bodies ever offered on a low-priced automobile.

As a result, the Outstanding Chevrolet offers an order of well-balanced excellence—a combination of performance, comfort, beauty and handling ease that is truly remarkable—with a fuel-economy of better than 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline.

You owe it to yourself to see and inspect this remarkable car. Come in today!

GOLDEN NOTES

Editor-in-chief Prince Murphy
Assistant editor Vera Wade
Assistant editor Glenn Ratliff
Reporters: J. C. Bullion, Lola Davis, J. C. Kinchen, Louise Williams, Albert McGinty, Linna Parker and Fannie Hardt.

These news notes are prepared by the students of the Eldorado High School and submitted to The Success for publication.

SPORTSMANSHIP APPLIED TO LESSON PREPARATION

In many ways the average High School student prides himself upon being a real sport. Our system of school and athletics teach us to play fair more than we would learn elsewhere. If a student can't play fair in our games of today he is counted as a "poor sport" and does not play.

The members of various teams which represent their schools are anxious to have the best and most complete preparation. They work together, they each do their part, and always think for whom they are playing. They spend hours each day in practice in skilled supervision, but they never realize the amount of time they spend, because they are really interested in their work.

There is an abrupt change in the student's attitude toward his work when he faces his lessons. He regards his lessons as a hated burden and looks for any way to cheat on them. He always wants some one else to do his work for him, when he could if he only wanted to. But that is not play and he is not at all interested. If he would spend more time in the preparation of his lessons he would soon become more interested in them.

A student is often encouraged in his indifference by people who need his time and activity. They are not educated people and do not realize the need of an education. If they can keep the student out of school for merely nothing, they think they are helping themselves and cannot see any harm toward the student.

This is evidence that the student's ideas of sportsmanship are limited or he would recognize lessons as a challenge to his ability, and would be more interested in spending time enough on his lessons for adequate preparations.

Miss Flanagan asked Hollis McCormick to write an essay on mules. He submitted the following:

"The mule is the queerest fowl that I know of. It is also larger than any that I have ever seen. It does not crow or cackle, but I imagine that the sound it makes is something like Gabriel's horn. Its wings are located on the side of its head but I have never seen it fly. They are very scarce in this country. They are stubborn about coming forward."

Mr. Isaacs (reading school report): "conduct, bad; reading, bad; history, arithmetic, bad-bad! What is the meaning of this Harold?"
Harold: "I can't understand it, pop. Do you think it might be forgery?"

Mr. Holt: "Does the question embarrass you?"
Estelle: "Not at all; it is quite clear. It is the answer that bothers me."

BASKET BALL

The Eagles played their first game of basket ball this season last Friday, when they defeated the Sonora Broncos on the Eagles' field by a score of 19 to 6.

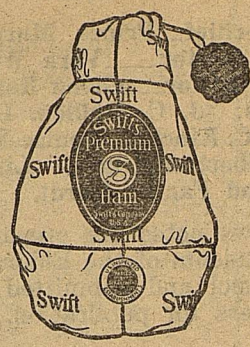

Several of the Eagles were forced to give up practice a part of last week on account of the "flu" and other sickness, and for this reason the team was in poor condition; however, the prospects for a winning team this year looks good if Coach Williamson can get all the eligible material out for practice.

PAINFUL INDIGESTION

"I SUFFERED a good while before I found something that would help me," writes Mr. E. W. Berry, of Neosho, Mo. "My trouble was indigestion, pains in my chest and a tight, bloated feeling that would make me feel smothered."
"Speaking of this to a friend of mine, he told me that Black-Draught was good for this trouble. I went over bought a package. It certainly did help me, so I continued to use it."

"I am in the transfer business, and sometimes when I would be hungry and ready to eat, I would have a call and would have to eat later. Then I would eat too much or too hurriedly. This would cause indigestion. After I started using Black-Draught, I found it did me a world of good. It is splendid for biliousness and stomach troubles."

TEAM WORK

It's all very well to have courage and skill
And it's fine to be counted a star,
But the single deed with its touch of thrill
Doesn't tell us the man you are;
For there's no lone hand in the game you play,
We must work to a bigger scheme,
And the thing that counts in the world today
Is, How do pull with your
They may sound your praise and call you great,
They maw single you out for fame,
But you must work with your running mate
Or you'll never win the game;
For never the work of life is done
By the man with a selfish dream,
For the battle is lost or the battle is won.
By the spirit of the team.

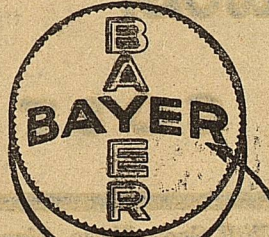

You may think it fine to be praised for skill,
But a greater thing to do
Is to set your mind and set your will
On the goal that's just in view;
It's helping your fellowman to score
When his chances hopeless seem;
It's forgetting self till the game is o'er
And fighting for the team.

How to Raise Poultry

By Dr. L. D. LeGear, V.S., St. Louis, Mo.

A ROBBER IN THE FLOCK

"The best way to cure roup", sagely remarked an old timer in the poultry game, "Is never to have it." [That may sound like a very weak attempt to be funny but it is gospel truth. Contagious diseases such as roup do not fall willy nilly from the heavens on some whimsical freak of fate. The way is usually paved for them by the lack of adequate sanitation, improper housing facilities, incorrect feeding, failure to cull out weaklings, the weakening effect of parasites, or by some other form of neglect. Healthy, robust fowls, properly fed and housed in sanitary surroundings, will almost always throw off germs of disease. Even when they do not, however, rugged constitutions make the success of treatment practically certain.

Acting on the idea of prevention as the best cure for roup, I never add new fowls to my flock until they have been kept in quarantine from two to three weeks. Even if it is practically sure that the birds come from an uninfected flock, this is a wise precaution. They might be carrying the germs of infection which would mature later with disastrous results. If this should happen before they are added to the flock they can be destroyed or treated as the case may demand without danger of spreading the disease.

Watch young and delicate birds very closely as they are most susceptible to the deadly roup germs. The same is true of fowls suffering from common colds or catarrh. The throat and nasal passages, being already sore and inflamed, are easily infected. Sick birds, no matter what the ailment, should always be isolated. They can be much more effectively treated when away from the flock and they canones if the disease should prove to be contagious.

Should any of your flock begin to show symptoms of roup, no time should be lost in starting measures to prevent further spread. All houses, pens, coops and runs should be thoroughly cleaned and sprayed with strong solution of a good coal tar dip and disinfectant. Droppings, litter and trash of every description should be removed and burned. All unnecessary equipment of every kind should be removed from houses and yards. Every piece of equipment for supplying food and water should be scrubbed and disinfected. All this sounds like work and it is, but the saving is decidedly worth the work required.

As the inroads of this deadly disease have been known to wipe out as high as 95 per cent of a flock, every owner of a poultry flock should learn to recognize the symptoms. At first they are much like those of a cold or catarrh, but more fever, dullness, prostration and loss of appetite. First symptoms are a watery nasal discharge, difficult breathing with wheeze sound and constant shaking of the head to dislodge accumulated matter.

After two or three days the discharge from the nose becomes thicker and gives off a characteristic offensive odor. The nasal passages then become so clogged that the bird must breathe through its mouth. A discharge will also run from the eyes. This discharge gradually becomes thicker, causing painful swellings below or in the eye which often destroy it. As it hardens, this discharge may cause the eyes to be completely pasted shut and may gather in such quantities that the head is swollen to twice its normal size. Quite frequently these deposits will press down the roof of the mouth so that the fowl cannot swallow. In some cases there is a canker deposit of yellowish matter on the tissues of the mouth and throat. It is easily removed, however, and should not be confused with a deposit of similar appearance which is a symptom of diphtheria.

As soon as any fowl is known to be sick, put it at once to itself as far from the flock as possible and give it one full teaspoon of epsom salts to remove cold fever from the system. If the bowels have not moved by the following day, repeat the dose. Give one roup pill night and morning.

Wash the affected parts once a day with a solution made by mixing one teaspoonful of dip and disinfectant in one quart of warm water. Souse head eyes and all into this solution each time. Roup will often yield to treatment if caught in time, but each case must be handled individually and more detailed instructions are required than the space allowed for this article will permit.

As a measure of protection for the balance of the flock after infected birds are removed give epsom salts in a wet mash. Give one pound of epsom salts to each 100 fowls of lighter breeds or for each 75 of the heavier kinds, and repeat in one week.

A saline purgative such as epsom salts is invaluable at such a time. By causing the prompt elimination of germ-laden matter, this simple remedy may keep many a good layer on the job without interruption.

But, after all there's no remedy like the one quoted at the beginning of this article. I do not claim that roup and kindred diseases cannot invade the premises where sanitation and other precautionary measures are always observed. I do not hesitate to say however, that the flock where such measures do not obtain is infinitely more liable to suffer infection. Furthermore, if the properly managed flock does become infected, the damage will be much less than among fowls not so well cared for. The old maxim, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" may be well worn from much usage, but it is still as true as it ever was.
