OF AND FOR EL DORADO AND SCHLEICHER COUNTY. ALL THE TIME

VOL XXIX

El Dorado, Schleicher County, Texas, Friday SEPTEMBER 6th, 1929

No. 36.

Eldorado High School Opened Monday

The Eldorado High School opened its 1929-1930 session of school work last Monday morning September 2nd, at nine o'clock, with one of the largest crowd of patrons and visitors that ever attended a school opening here. The large attendance representing a very strong interest taken in school work in recent years. The opening was an informal one with teachers and some of the members of the school Board giving interesting talks on various subjects of interest to school work.

Prof. R. D. Holt, Superintendent of the school gave the opening talk, expressing his appreciation of the many patrons and visitors present and asking for the hearty co-operation of all the parents in the coming school term, which is the only possible way of making a successful school. Rev. L. D. Hardt, pastor of the First Methodist Church gave the invocation. A song by Miss Victoria Jones was the next on the program, accompanied by Miss Lucile Oglesby, on the piano.

There were only four of the trustees present who were seated on the stage. Mr. S. L. Stanford, President of the School Board gave a very interesting talk on Co-operation between teachers and parents and that he thought the faculty this term was the best in many years. Mr. W. N. Ramsey, Secretary of the School Board gave a talk on the teachers in making school work enjoyable, as well as beneficial.

Rev. L. D. Hardt chose as his subject "the interest of the parents in school work" bringing out the essential part that the parents should play in co-operating with the teachers. He also predicted one of the greatest school terms in history of the Eldorado High School.

Rev. J. L. Ratliff, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Eldorado gave an interesting talk, choosing as his subject "School one of the greatest Assets to Community" and "Church and School Side by Side with each other". He brought out some very good thoughts in school work being very essential in Community Welfare, in educating the young to take care of the many problems that confront a community. He also said that the school and church should be classed side by side and work to one great end that being high moral standards for the young people. He also brought out in his talk the need of co-operation of all citizens in the county, faculty members and patrons, all should be one united family working together as one which constitutes a working standard which will end in the greatest success in school work.

A musical number rendered by the Ford Sisters was a very enjoyable feature of the program.

Mrs. Payne Robinson, Vice-President of the Parent Teacher Association announced that the meeting of the Parents Teachers Association would meet next Friday September 6th at three-thirty at the school auditorium.

Miss Lillian Osborn, Public Speaking Teacher in Eldorado School gave a reading.

After the reading Supt. Holt introduced the faculty members some of which were strangers to the people of Schleicher County.

The Eldorado High School having twenty-three affiliated credits has grown beyond all expectations in the past few years, in enrollment, athletics, school work and many other things that constitute of the highest type. The School Board has been very fortunate in retaining Prof. R. D. Holt, M. A. Degree, Graduate from State University as the Superintendent of the High School, as well as obtaining other teachers of reputable character and very efficient in their school work.

WATER CASED OFF IN PHILIPS WELL DRILLING RESUMED.

The water which was struck immediately after drilling was resumed at 4925 feet, was cased at a depth of 5,020 and drilling was again resumed the first of the week. The drilling has been very slow, as a great deal of water stood in the well and a very hard lime formation was struck.

Uncle Sid Boothe was in town last Monday from the farm. While here he sold a bale of cotton and feeling very prosperous made the Success office an appreciated visit, leaving with us his renewal for another year to the Success.

BORN— Wednesday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Chick a baby boy.

FOR SALE: If you are looking for a real bargain in a house and lot see me for particulars. Cecil McClatchey.

Mr. John Rae was in Eldorado Wednesday.

Mr. Ford Oglesby was in from the ranch and attended the meeting of the Lions Club.

WANTED: To buy two or three lots on East side of town. Phone 193.

GEOLOGIST WORKING ON LOCATION OF WELL ON PAGE RANCH

The geologist have been working the past week trying to find a suitable location for an oil test on the Bert Page Ranch southwest of Eldorado. Up to date no specific spot has been found and the work is still under way. The contract calls for a well to be started within seventy days making date for drilling some time around the first of November. The Company in charge of the drilling seem to think that the location is one of the best in the county and that oil will be struck before the depth of 5,000 feet is reached.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Bailey returned to Abilene last Saturday after a few days vacation here with the home folks and friends. While here they, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Gibson and son visited the Carlsbad Cavern, and many interesting places in Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico. They had the pleasure of seeing the Graf Zeppelin pass over El Paso on its world tour. T. J. will resume his work with West Texas Utilities at Abilene.

Carson Weest states that he has picked his highest cotton and it has yielded him about 250 pounds to the acre. He says that he will make a quarter of a bale to the acre or better.

ELDORADO WATERWORKS CONTRACTED

Mr. O. W. Evans owner of the Eldorado Water Works was in Eldorado Wednesday and reported that he had contracted the Eldorado Water Works to W. E. Buckman Company of Madison, Wisconsin, and will take charge about the first of November. This Company is a very large Utility Company operating practically all over the south. They will install eight inch mains in the town section giving the people a much better force. They will also put in fire plugs giving protection which they have never had before only the protection of the good Lord. This is another great asset to our town and with a few more of its kind added now and then we will be classed with the best equipped towns.

MORE KNOWLEDGE OF GOVERNMENT NEEDED.

America's greatest need is "a more complete and thorough knowledge on the part of our citizens of what their government is and for what it stands," says Governor Allen of Massachusetts.

"A well-informed electorate is the best guaranty we have that our officials will be of the right calibre. A keen interest on the part of those who constitute the government and a desire to inform themselves thoroughly on every issue are the best assurances we have that government will be efficient. Prodigality and indifference to public interest and welfare usually result from ignorance or corruption."

Chandler Whitten has returned from a tour through the Western States the past two weeks. He visited the Yellowstone National Park, Grand Canyon and many other interesting places while on his vacation.

Billy Stewardson was in Eldorado from the Pecos ranch the first of the week.

Boy Scout Meeting Friday Night

Vacation time is over. School time is here and fall and winter months are rolling around which indicate that the time for work is on hand. The work of the Boy Scouts as well as other organizations has in some ways slackened and fallen below the regular standard.

The Boy Scouts of Eldorado will meet Friday night, September 6th, and we hope that a very large attendance will be had at this meeting. Vacancies may be found in the troop for new scouts. A rearranging of the old troop will be made Friday night, New Patrols will also be formed.

All Scouts are asked to be on hand Friday night, at 8 O'clock. J. A. Whitten.

The Eldorado Boy Scout Troop was organized a little over a year past and has grown into a large organization with each Scout taking an active part in the work. The organization of this troop was due to the hard work and loyal support of Scout Committee, J. A. Whitten, Don McCormick, Frank Bradley and others. These men should be commended as there is no better organization among the young boys as this organization. Every one should take a greater interest in this work. Editor.

Alf. Stevens was in from the Pecos Ranch Thursday on business.

The Salvation Army of San Angelo will be here in Eldorado Saturday after noon and hold a meeting with band concert about 3 o'clock, on the street.

The Womens Club has $300 available to some girl or boy wanting to go to College. See or phone Mrs. D. C. Hill.

FOR SALE— Thoroughbred Deane Bucks, Phone 4413, A. J. Stephens. (c)

We Take The Reins

With this issue of the Success the ownership passes into the hands of Miss Agnes Wright and L. T. Barber. We will in our weak way do our best to give the readers the best paper possible, with our short experience as newspaper editors and publishers. The readers have remained loyal to our little paper for the past and we ask your co-operation to help build a good paper and without your co-operation it will be impossible. You have worried along with us for quite a while and we have worried and struggled to give our best to you.

A paper without co-operation of the merchants as well as the readers, will soon dwindle into nothing. We are asking that the merchants give their heartiest co-operation in advertising and we will give in return our co-operation to you.

Due to the smallness of the Success our editorial staff is rather small but we are going to make an effort to enlarge it as soon as possible.

Help us make a good paper by phoning in news items. Write your own articles and send them to us and we will print them whether they coincide with our ideas or not. Our aim is to give all publications an equal right. We do not care who you are, what you believe, or what you do as long as it is honorable and free for publication. Fall in line and help us build a paper that the town will appreciate.

Miss Agnes Wright

NOTICE TO ELDORADO WATER CUSTOMERS

Mrs. J. D. Ramsey, is visiting her aunt in Kentucky this week.

ELDORADO LIONS TO PUT ON PUBLICITY CAMPAIGN

The people of Eldorado at last awakened to the fact that they need a little advertising to place Eldorado and Schleicher County on the map letting people know that we are in this world and are doing something. They have been leaving it up to the other people to advertise for us and of course have not received the benefits from it that it should have.

At the meeting of the Lions Wednesday a move was taken by the club, to put on an advertising or publicity campaign telling the outside world what we have to offer in the way of opportunities which is not surpassed by any county in West Texas. The motion for this campaign was brought before the club by Lion R. T. Trail of the Trail Motor Co. and was at once sanctioned by all the members present. A committee was appointed by president Campbell to study on a plan for this campaign and report at the next meeting.

We have been laying down on the job for the past years, letting the other towns do the advertising, thinking that they would help us out in their work but have come to the conclusion at last that if we do not do something for ourselves, it will not be done.

The coming of the railroad will be one of the greatest assets that we can possibly hope for and if the people in surrounding counties do not know about this we will derive very little good from its presence.

The club asks for the co-operation of all citizens in Schleicher County to do their best in helping to make Eldorado and Schleicher the best place in the southwest in which to live. We have the opportunities for many developments, and there is only one way in which to develop our county and that is to back it up with a high class of advertising.

TWENTY-FIVE BOYS TRYING FOR FOOTBALL.

The lovers of football sport may not be disappointed this year in the High School Football team as was thought at first when there was talk of a weak team. There are twenty five athletes on the field every evening fighting for berths on the team this year, although they may be light and inexperienced but the boys here have always been classed as the hardest fighting bunch of football players in this section of the state, not knowing when they were defeated until the last whistle. This is the record that the Eldorado High School boys have established in the past years, and by the number of boys out for practice the prospects for another winning team is very good. As every one remembers the team in the last three years have been one of the best in this section and the boys of this year promise to carry on the winning game and still recognized as a team that is to be feared by other opposition.

A CORRECTION

In reporting the return of Mrs. Leonard Isaacs and son Leonard Floyd, last week we got it Leonard Jr., when it should have been Leonard Floyd, so we gladly make the correction this week.

"The Sage Of Potato Hill"

The Hundred Days—Good Conduct—Advice.

Fiction is a poor thing compared to facts. I suppose I know the story of the Siege of Troy, from having read a little of it, and hearing of it many years. It never interested me, its incidents seeming childish, specially that one of the river taking sides, and leaving its banks, at command of the gods, to inconvenience some of the combatants.

But I read of Napoleon, a real man, with absorbing interest. Every little while there is a new book about him, and I am not satisfied until I get hold of it. His life was crowded with incidents an ordinary man can in some measure understand.

His first wife had an impudent, troublesome, highly-bred and ugly dog he hated; he was so frequently away from home on his big affairs that the dog did not know him, and it occasionally bit the conqueror. He tried to brobe a servant to get rid of the dog, but could not, with all his power.

I have heard all my life that when a man amounts to some thing, his wife reverences and obeys him. Probably Napoleon amounted to more, considering everything, than any other man that ever lived, but both his wives were unfaithful, and made a specialty of nagging him.

To my mind the most remarkable incident in Napoleon's life was his return from Elba. He was a prisoner of the allied nations, after his disgrace at Waterloo. His own country was in hostile hands; his soldiers had turned against him. Yet he landed in France, almost alone, and marched toward Paris. As he encountered soldiers sent against him, he spoke to them, and they were converted to his cause; when he approached the gates of Paris, he had a vast army at his heels, and the king fled, taking his treasure with him, which the people on the other side of France captured to lay at the feet of this impudent, strangely powerful and lovable man.

He walked the steps of the king's palace, removed his travel-stained clothing, went to bed in security, and fell asleep to the sweet sound of "Long live Napoleon!"

In all his omnipotence God never witnessed a stranger scene.

When good conduct does not pay, I do not urge it; indeed, I believe that when a man's conduct is not good, and he should change it, it is not generally profitable, it is. The scheme of life contemplates a healthy, normal body, and in 95 per cent of births is natural inheritance. This entails food getting, shelter, association with pleasing creatures of our kind, and thus Conduct is born. As it is good or bad, we succeed or fail.

When most people talk, they are merely barking what others have said.

The futility of good advice has often impressed me. A gentleman in Michigan who has long made a business of giving advice about securing employment, and who has written extensively on the subject, writes to me to confess he is out of a job, and can not find one. Somehow this old gentleman reminds me of a doctor who has spent all his life in advising others as to health, and is himself ill, and writing to others for advice.

A WORD TO THE WISE

"You want to have your earnings and your property secure. You want a free and fair opportunity to conduct your own business and make your way in the world without danger of being overcome by a government monopoly. When the Government goes into business it lays a tax on everybody else in that business and uses the money that it collects from its competitors to establish a monopoly and drive them out of business. No one can compete. When the Government really starts into a line of business that door of opportunity should remain open."

—Calvin Coolidge, former President of the United States.

WEAK SPELLS

"I WAS so weak," says Mrs. Josephine Cockcroft, of Baldock, S. C., "that I was not able to do anything."

"At certain times, I suffered dreadfully with pains in my back and sides. My head would hurt—felt like it would split open. Spells of weakness would last for weeks."

"I read of Cardui. I sent for a bottle and began taking it. My case was stubborn, and at times I almost lost hope, but I could see a little improvement. At last I began to feel much better. Then I improved rapidly. For the last year I have been in better health than I ever have been before."

"I give the credit to Cardui, for after I had given it a thorough trial, I got well."

CO-OPERATION

Individual effort to make the town a better place is good. It may accomplish much if properly directed. But if all the units of industry, business, religion, education, and society are harnessed together and set to work for the good of the community, the total result will be a revelation of the power of co-operation.

Eldorado is climbing up toward the ideal or sliding back into the rut according as it possesses or lacks community co-operation.

You as an individual have power to accomplish almost anything you set out to accomplish. What a man wills to do, that he can do. Just so, your town, as a town, can accomplish anything it sets out to accomplish. Organized efforts in Eldorado will bring about practically any condition we set out to develop.

To increase our business and general welfare, it is necessary first to reduce the amount of trade going to outside sources.

Legally, anyone can spend his money where he prefers, but nevertheless there IS an obligation to spend it at HOME, for we all want Eldorado to continue in existence, we all want it to prosper in such ways as will offer better service and greater opportunities to its citizens.

Are YOU co-operating in the advancement of Eldorado's prosperity?

Entered as Second Class matter July 9, 1906, at post office at Eldorado, Texas, under Act of Congress of March 3rd, 1879.

With this issue of The Success I cease to be the owner, having sold all my interest in same to L. T. Barber and Agnes A. Wright.

Twenty three year ago, July 1, I assumed the responsibility of editing and publishing the paper for Schleicher County under numerous handicaps, whether I have succeeded in the business I leave it to my readers. I have tried to stand for the moral side of every issue, I have never straddled the fence on any issue and lay down my pen with no regrets for anything I have ever advocated.

Those who are acquainted with the situations know that L. T. Barber is my son-in-law and Agnes Wright is my daughter and Mr. Barber for the past 16 months has been doing most of the work and business management of The Success and we feel like he is better prepared now to serve you than ever before.

The improvements in The Success office has been slow owing to the office not being financially strong, but with a good advertising patronage that is expected in the future, much new equipment can be added as the months go by. I will devote my entire time to my other business, keeping in touch with the paper, helping in every way to make it a better and more appreciated news carrier.

If you want a good paper, patronize it, give it news item and a helping hand.

A. T. Wright.

SCHOOL NOTES

NEW PUPILS

As the graduating class of last year was so large we were beginning to think that High School would be rather small but the new pupils have filled up the vacant space. We, as a school body are glad to have the new pupils and wish each of them a very successful year in school work. They are as follows: Seniors—Nettie Lee Cates, Juniors—Cora Sauer, Sophomores—Clyda Pruitt, Catherine O'Harrow, Elzie Moore, J. A. Cates, Pauline Rape, Elizabeth Ray and Margaret Sheen. Freshmen—Thelma Anderson, Mayola Bruce, Ellanor Meachan.

COMMERCIAL LAW

Several subjects have been added to the school and among them is commercial law. This subject counts one-half credit and you are only required to take it one semester. There are several pupils who have signed up for the subject but as we do not have our text books yet, we have not started our real work.

ENGLISH IV.

The Public Speaking Class
A very important step was taken this year when a course in Public Speaking was added to the High School. Public Speaking should be essential to the complete high school course of study. Can you stand before an audience or an individual and express your thoughts so that the listeners will put his mind with yours and understand you perfectly? Can you draw the undivided attention of your hearers and convince them of your ideas without your nervousness being noticed if you are not at ease? Do you know how to organize a speech and deliver it forcefully? If you cannot do all of this, join the fourteen who have enrolled in public speaking and let Miss Osborne help you through life battles and save you many embarrassing moments. Don't let the opportunity go by. Miss Osborne, a graduate of C. I. A. has planned an interesting program for the year.

PROSPECTS FOR OUR FOOT-

Remarkable Six-Cylinder Engine
Chevrolet's remarkable six-cylinder engine impresses you most vividly by its sensationally smooth performance. At every speed you enjoy that silent, velvet-like flow of power which is characteristic of the truly fine automobile!

Beautiful Fisher Bodies
With their low, graceful, sweeping lines and smart silhouette, their ample room for passengers and their sparkling color combinations and rich upholsteries—the new Fisher bodies on the Chevrolet Six represent one of Fisher's greatest achievements.

Outstanding Economy
The new Chevrolet Six is an unusually economical car to operate. Not only does it deliver better than twenty miles to the gallon of gasoline, but its oil economy is equal to, if not actually greater than, that of its famous four-cylinder predecessor.

Remarkable Dependability
In order to appreciate what outstanding value the Chevrolet Six represents, it is necessary to remember that it is built to the world's highest standards. In design, in materials and in workmanship—it is every inch a quality car!

Amazing Low Prices

An achievement no less remarkable than the design and quality of the Chevrolet Six is the fact that it is sold at prices so amazingly low! Furthermore, Chevrolet delivered prices include the lowest financing and handling charges available.

FIFTH INSTALMENT

What Happened Before

Remember Steddon, a pretty, unsophisticated girl, is the daughter of a kindly but narrow-minded minister in a small mid-western town. Her father,

Rev. Doctor Steddon, violently opposed to what he considers "worldly" things, accepts motion pictures as the cause for much of the evil of the present day. Troubled with a cough, Remember goes to see

Dr. Bretherick, an elderly physician, who is astonished at the plight in which he finds her. Pressed by the doctor, Remember admits her unfortunate affair with Elwood Farnaby, a poor boy son of the town. As Remember and Dr. Bretherick discuss the problem a telephone message brings the news that Elwood has been killed in an accident. Dr. Bretherick accordingly persuades Remember to go West, her cough serving as a plausible excuse; to write home of meeting and marrying a pretended suitor—"Mr. Woodville," and later to write her parents announcing her "husband's" death before the birth of her expected child. Remember goes to her mother with it.

Her mother agrees with the plan of the doctor. Mem leaves town. On the train Mem accidentally meets Tom Holby, movie star, traveling with Robina Teele leading lady in the movies, who are the cynosure of all eyes. The train comes to an abrupt halt, a disaster having been narrowly avoided, and the passengers get out and walk about.

At Tuscon Mem meets Dr. Galbraith, a pastor, who knows her father and takes an interest in her. She miscalls Tom Holby "Mr. Woodville" in order to make her fancied suitor seem more real. While the Galbraiths are away, she writes them as well as her parents that she has married "Mr. Woodville" and that they are to live in Yuma—for which place she buys a ticket.

Mem decides to kill off her imaginary husband by saying he died of thirst in the desert, meanwhile she starts off for another town to get a job as a servant. On the way she runs into the movie company of Tom Holby. Tom insists that she become an extra, and is most cordial to her. She finds herself in the movie game.

Now Go On With the Story

Close-up of individuals were taken, the most striking types being selected and coached to express cries of feeling: "You go mad and babble, old man, will you? Tear at your throat and let your tongue hang out?"

"You, miss, will you fall back in your mother's arms—you be mother, will you, miss, and catch her—you are to die, you know; just roll your eyes back and sigh an ink dinto a heap. And you mother, wring your hands and beat your breast an wdaile. You understand—Oriental staff, eh?"

"And I'd like somebody just to look up to heaven and pray for mercy—somebody with big eyes—You, the young lady over there—will you step out? Oh, it's Mrs. Woodville, isn't it? I met you this morning. Here's your chance. Do this for me like a good girl, and give yourself to it. Look up to heaven; if the sun brings tears to your eyes all right, but let them come from your soul, dear, if you can. You see, you have seen your people dying like flies about you, from famine and hardship. You look up an dsay, O God, you don't mean for us to die in this useless torture, do you, dear God? Take my life and let these others live. Won't you, dear God?"

Mem stood throbbing from head to foot with embarrassment and with a strange inrush of alien moods. The fierce eyes of the director burning through his dark glasses, the curious investigation in his voice, the plea to do well for him, quickened her magically.

Folger took her by the arm and murmured: "Now, dear! Let your heart break! Look round and see your dying. That's your father over there just grasping his life out. Your mother lies dead back there; you've covered her poor little body with sand to keep the jackals from it. Can you do it? Will you? That's right. Look round now and let yourself go!"

She felt herself bewitched, benumbed, yet mystically alive to a thousand tragedies. Her eyes rolled around the staring throng and made out Tom Holby gazing down at her from his camel and pouring sympathy from his own soul into hers.

Then she flung her head from side to side in a torment of woe, cast her head back, and heaved her big eyes up into the cruel brazier of the skies, seemed to see God peering down upon the little multitude, and moved her lips in supplication.

She felt the words and the anguish wringing her throat, and the tears came trooping from her eyes, ran shining into her mouth and she swallowed them and found them bitter-sweet with an exultation of agony.

There was such wierd reality in her grief that the director's glasses were blurred with his own tears; the camera men were gulping hard.

As her upward stare again encountered Tom Holby's eyes she saw that tears were dripping from his lashes and that his mouth was quivering.

The sight of his tears sent through her a strange pang of triumphant sympathy, and she broke down sobbing, would have fallen to the sand, if Leva Lemaire had not caught her and drawn her into her arms, kissing her and whispering "Wonderful! Wonderful!"

She felt a hand on her arm and was drawn from Leva's arms into a man's. Her shoulders were squeezed hard by big hands and she heard a voice that identified her captor as the director. He was saying:

"God bless you! That was the real stuff! You're a good girl! The real thing!"

Then she began to laugh and choke, became an utter fool.

This was her first experience of the passion of mimicry. She was as ashamed as glorified, as drained yet as exultant, as if a god had seized her and embraced her fiercely for a moment, then left her aching, an ember in the ashes.

The director was already calling the mob to the next task. She could not help glancing toward Tom Holby. His camel was moving off with the crowd, but he was turning back to gaze at her. He was nodding his head in approval and he raised his hand in a salute of profound respect.

Mem's sin had led her to the edge of aridise, and then drawn her back by the hair.

She was doomed to spend a certain time in increasing heaviness, and then to die or to go about thenceforth with a nameless child holding on to her hand and anchoring her to obscurity.

She found a place as maid in the home of a storekeeper at such wages as he could afford. She became the sordid routine of her tasks, but, contrasting them with the glamour of playing tragic roles, she felt herself entombed.

Then the summer heat began and grew so fierce that her employer and his family went to the seashore.

She spent much thought upon the letter home that she had not yet written, that she must write it if ever she were to go home again. The whole purpose of this long journey into loneliness was to be able to write that letter; and it had not yet gone.

Every time she had made the beginning her hands flinched from the lying pen. But one night in a frantic fit of histrionic enthusiasm she dashed off her fable, sealed it in an envelope, and dropped it after dark in the mail box.

Darling Mamma and Papa—How can I write the terrible news? I can hardly bear to think of it, let alone write about it. But my darling husband passed away in the desert. I cannot write you the particulars now, for I am too agitated and grief stricken and I do not want to harrow you with details. I know your poor hearts will ache for me, but I beg you not to feel it too deeply, because I am trying to be brave. And I remember what you taught me, that the Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away. I cannot write you more now. I am in no need of money and I will come home when I get a little stronger.

All the love in the world from Your loving Mem.

After she had slipped the letter irrevocably into the mail box she realized that the postmark of Palm Springs would be stamped on the envelope. Her plea of concealment would be disclosed.

Still it would not matter. She was a widow now in the minds of her people and she could go back to them and face the future in calm.

The mountains had a beckoning look always, and on this afternoon, when a clouded sky gave a little shelter from the sun, she set out to obey an impulse to climb as far as her strength would take her.

The exertion of climbing was more than Mem had bargained for. The steepes that looked so inviting from a distance were ragged and forbidding. The burnt-almond mountains were hot and sharp, edged gridirons to her feet. The sun came blazing forth and seemed to spill upon her a yellow hot mass of metal that slashed her about the head and rolled over her shoulders on blistering ingots.

A stone rolled under her foot and shook her from her balance. She wavered, clutched at nothing, whirled, struck, bounded from the hard rock fell and fell, and then—a smashing blow, blackness, silence.

A young Indian girl chasing her stray pony about the sand had seen Mem stumble, then fall; had drawn the thump of the body on cushioning sand; had run to the nearest house and told what she had seen. Mem was taken home. The village doctor did all that his skill could do.

Though she had never dared to visit him, he knew of her, and knew her as a widow. When she was strong enough to be talked to he prepared her for bad news.

"Am I to be crippled for life?" she cried.

"No," he sighed. "You will bear no marks of your accident. But you will not—but your other hopes and expectations—will not be realized."

She was dazed and he was timid, and he had some difficulty in making her understand his bad news; that she would not be a mother.

She bore this blow with a fortitude that surprised him.

And now Mem was a weak and weebegone, at the bottom of the cliff of life. She had never climbed very far, but she had fallen far enough to give both soul and body an almost fatal shock. She was a drudge in a poor family in a scorched settlement abandoned by all that could get away.

The only inferiors she could see were a young widow named Dack and her five year old boy Terry. Mrs. Dack took in washing.

The boy Terry was of the Ariel breed. His fancy girdled to earth in forty minutes. He mimicked birds and animals and often covered his mother with terror and amused chargin by imitating her clients with uncanny skill.

Once the child caught cold—in all that heat!—and Mem sat by his bedside through several smothering nights, while the back-broken mother slept. Mem exercised her skill in making up little dramas to while away the tedium of the long nights and to keep the wakeful child's mind from his cough.

During his illness Mem received a letter from Leva Lemaire, saying that she had just seen in an old paper a paragraph describing "Mrs. Woodville's" fall from the mountain and her miraculous escape from death. Leva expressed the utmost sympathy and prayed that her beauty had not been marred. She added:

"But if it has you can still find something to do in the movies. I've given up trying to be an actress and taken a position in the laboratory projection room, copying the films. It's cool and dark and interesting. I think I can get you a place, if you'll come up. There's no excuse for a woman of your education and charm wasting your sweetness in the desert air. Do come! I've sent my three children out to their uncle's ranch. You could live here with me and my friends."

The thought of working in the dark and the cool was a hint of paradise to Mem.
