School Plans Approved By Govt. Agency

Project Speeded So Bids May Be Taken At Early Date

With difficulties surrounding the school's application for a PWA grant on proposed new school construction largely ironed out, every effort was being made Wednesday to expedite the completion of plans and the offering of $65,000 in bonds for sale.

Retain Ground Floor
In conference with PWA regional officials at Fort Worth early this week, school officials were given permission to retain the ground floor of the present gymnasium-auditorium wing of the high school, but were told that the top two stories must come down.

Bids On Bonds
The school board announced Wednesday that it was calling for bids at 7:30 p. m. on the $65,000 issue voted by the Big Spring independent school district for its part in the financing of the proposed improvements which would total approximately $105,000.

W. T. Strange, Jr., member of Haynes and Strange, architects for the job, left at noon Wednesday for Lubbock where he will join with others on the firm's staff in pushing plans for the buildings. There was no indication when these plans would be available for resubmission to PWA.

Purchase of a site for a new ward school building appeared in the final stages Wednesday with the most likely site at the corners of Austin and 18th street.

VOTE FRAUD SCANDAL LOOMING IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP)—This city's first proportional representation election tally was fast developing into a major vote fraud scandal as police today impounded 3,000 more ballots in the Bronx.

The ballots seized brought the total of impounded ballots in the Bronx to 7,500, or approximately two per cent of the estimated vote cast there.

The seized ballots allegedly were tampered with by the $10-a-day special canvassers, many of whom have been the target of general charges of dilatoriness and obstructive tactics to give "P. R." a bad name.

CLOSING ARGUMENTS IN TRAXLER CASE

HUNTSVILLE, Nov. 10 (AP)—Closing arguments were heard today in the trial of Pete Traxler, notorious Texas and Oklahoma badman, on a charge of robbery with firearms.

The state rested last night and the defense put on no rebuttal witness. Traxler was accused of the capital offense of robbing J. C. Dunlap, farmer, of a pistol during the flight of the desperado and two companions from Eastham prison farm last night.

BRAZIL TO HAVE NEW CORPORATE STATE

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Nov. 10 (AP)—Minister of Justice Francisco Campos announced today a new Brazilian constitution, designed to create a corporate state, had been promulgated.

Campos said it provided for dissolution of the senate and chamber of deputies, as well as state legislatures and municipal chambers.

REHEARING IS DENIED IN J. S. GARLINGTON CASE

CAN'T ENTER THE U.S.

Magda de Fontanges, French woman journalist who shot Count Chirac de Chambrun because he "told all" about her friendship with my Benito—Premier, Mussolini—was prevented from landing when she arrived in New York. She was interviewed by reporters, Mile. de Fontanges was denied entry after a government inquiry at Ellis Island.

Former Judge Earlier Won Reversal

Court Reaffirms Finding That Evidence Insufficient

The court of criminal appeals overruled the state's motion for rehearing in the case of J. S. Garlington, formerly county judge of Howard county, whose conviction and $100 fine on a charge of altering public records previously had been reversed and remanded, dispatches from Austin said Wednesday.

No Comment
In denying the motion, the court reaffirmed its belief evidence did not sustain a charge that Garlington, member of the Howard county commissioners court, willfully and maliciously changed an order on the commission's minutes.

District Attorney Cecil Collings who filed the motion on behalf of the state, had no comment to make on the ruling.

Center of the controversy was an order entered on the court minutes in regard to proposed purchase of road machinery, Garlington admitted altering the minutes because he said that they did "not reflect the truth." In the district court trial here, commissioners had testified that no permission was given by the body for a change in the minutes.

REHEARING IS DENIED IN J. S. GARLINGTON CASE

The minutes had originally set out that Garlington had refused to put a motion to a vote and left the meeting room whereupon J. S. Winslow, a commissioner, was named chairman in his stead.

Garlington argued that this was not the case, that the meeting had been adjourned when he left the room.

He was found guilty by a 70th district court jury here and on appeal the case was reversed and remanded. Collings then filed the motion for a rehearing, contending that the evidence was sufficient to warrant a conviction.

The appellate court action Wednesday may be the last chapter in the episode.

MARTIAL COURTS IN THE HOLY LAND

JERUSALEM, Nov. 10 (AP)—The British struck a new military blow today at terrorism in the Holy Land, scene of fresh disorders in which five Jews were slain, by establishing martial courts to try riot cases.

The courts will be empowered to pass a maximum sentence of death.

The announcement regarding the new courts did not actually constitute a declaration of martial law, but was considered a step in that direction.

PROCESSING TAXES UNDER DISCUSSION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—The house agriculture committee considered today suggestions for processing taxes on cotton, wheat and corn to raise an estimated $300,000,000 to help finance the proposed extra-normal granary program for agriculture.

Representative Anderson (R-Minn.) said the committee devoted most of the day to a discussion of the constitutionality of processing taxes.

One committee member had a different idea on how to raise money. He was Representative Fulmer (D-SC) who proposed that an 8-cent per pound tax be placed on rice from India.

HOWARD CO. RED CROSS UNIT LAUNCHES ANNUAL ROLL CALL

Annual roll call of the Howard county chapter of the American Red Cross officially opened here Wednesday, but the "big push" for membership is due to be launched after Armistice day.

This year the Howard county chapter will be seeking a minimum of 2,000 memberships, the largest goal ever set locally. Shine Phillips, chairman, said that this number was necessary to carry out the program adopted by the chapter for 1938.

J. H. Greene, chamber of commerce manager, became the first individual to take out membership here, and the Vertex Oil Co. was the first firm to report a 100 per cent membership of its employees.

A Mixup In Dates; Violinist Thought Was Due Nov. 18

It was all a mixup in dates. Officers of the Music Study club Wednesday had word from Jan Kubelik, violinist who—though—was to have presented a concert Monday evening. Kubelik was in Phoenix Ariz., believing, until he heard from the local group, he was booked in Big Spring on November 18, not November 8. He was reported to be as chagrined over the misunderstanding as were the local women who Monday night had to tell a disappointed group that the violinist hadn't appeared.

Members were endeavoring to ascertain cause of the date mixup, and meanwhile were seeking to make arrangements for the November 18 date. Kubelik may play here, after all, on Thursday of next week.

Houses To Be Sold Off Of State Land

City To Order Pipe For Water Line To New Hospital

City of Big Spring had advanced a few more steps Wednesday in preparation for construction of the state hospital on the municipally-contributed tract. The commission, meeting Tuesday night, authorized the city manager to advertise for bids on disposal of all houses on the five tracts of land included in the site. These include farm homes, outhouses and all other structures, and will be sold as a lot of individually.

Revenue from the buildings is expected to offset somewhat the extra expense the city has shouldered to furnish the state a clear title to the land.

Pipe Purchased
The city manager also was authorized to purchase pipe for extending a six-inch water main to the hospital tract. Some 7,000 feet of six-inch main will be bought, the line to extend through Government Heights to serve that area as well as the state institution. The city will purchase a patented Transite composed of asbestos and cement, at a total outlay of around $6,700. The price is some $1,600 less than that for cast iron pipe. Transite has approval of underwriters and the state board of control.

A resolution was passed by the commission authorizing transfer of the final site to the state. This was the D. L. Massey fund, on which final sale was held up because of price.

The city's hospital fund received $51,222.21 from the bond issue, including a $1,061 premium and $161.21 in accrued interest. Against this have been expenditures to November 1 of $53,785.90, necessitating a $2,563.69 transfer from the general fund.

Disbursements include $51,400 for 580 acres of land; $2,055.40 for purchase of oil and gas royalties on the land; and $330.50 in miscellaneous expense, including cost of legal opinion and printing of bonds, recording deeds, etc. Land disbursements were as follows: A. H. Bugge, $19,900; Wendell Leatherwood, $4,000; D. L. Massey, $7,900; R. Marchbanks, $12,000; and Mrs. M. A. Thomas, $8,900.

AGED RANCHER SHOOT DOWN INTRUDER

SANTA ROSA, Calif., Nov. 10 (AP)—A courageous 79-year-old rancher shot and killed an unidentified hooded marauder armed with a butcher knife last night after beating off his assailant with a sword and receiving critical injuries himself.

The rancher, Thomas Elliott was in Santa Rosa hospital today and attendants said he had an even chance to recover.

Late last night Elliott responded to a knock at the door and was told it was a messenger with a telegram. He opened the door and was confronted by a man, hooded with a barbed sack with slits for eyes.

Threatening Elliott with a butcher knife the intruder said: "This is a robbery, I want your money."

Elliott ran upstairs to his bedroom, the marauder, a stocky man of about 60, followed. The rancher grabbed an old sword from his scabbard and turned on his adversary. Of the defensive the hooded stranger backed from the room and down the stairs to the living room where Elliott with surprising strength for a man of his age forced the fighting.

A sudden swipe of Elliott's sword cut off the stranger's left hand. Then, despite loss of his hand, the intruder suddenly overpowered the elderly rancher, threw him to the floor and waved his butcher knife menacingly.

"I surrender! I'll get the money!" the rancher shouted. The man let Elliott up and attempted to stem the flow of blood from his arm.

Elliott stumbled toward a cupboard. But instead of cash, he grabbed a gun, turned and fired. The intruder dropped dead.

Elliott staggered a quarter of a mile to the home of his nearest neighbors.

Repeats Plan Of Balancing The Budget

Housing Program Suggested As Aid To Employment

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—Stimulation of heavy private investments in housing construction developed today as one means the administration may seize upon to aid business and employment.

Calls Conference
President Roosevelt called federal officials and private business to discuss the possibilities with him this afternoon.

White House attaches, emphasizing any new undertaking would be apart from the government's slum clearance and low-cost home building program, said the conference would be concerned with methods of inducing private capital into the housing industry.

The impression prevailed that suggestions for general increases in NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP)—Evidence of a more kindly attitude on the part of President Roosevelt toward business brought a rally of $1 to $7 in the stock market today.

Gains ranging to $3 at early afternoon were lengthened on slight demand in the fourth hour, but the ticker tape came frequently to a standstill.

government spending, as an aid to business, would get nowhere.

The president's reiteration at his press conference yesterday that he intended to balance next year's budget led informed observers to believe there was little prospect of more federal "pump-priming."

Secretary Morgenthau may have some of the administration's intentions in relation to present business conditions in a speech at New York tonight.

He has indicated this speech, on "pump priming," might be an official statement.

MURDER TRIAL IS NEARING THE JURY

FORT WORTH, Nov. 10 (AP)—The murder trial of Betty Simpson, 22-year-old Kansas City woman was nearing the jury in criminal district court here today.

The defense presented Mrs. Fannie Pool, county jail matron, who testified that Mrs. Billie Jo Palmer, co-defendant in the slaying of A. M. Reilly of Dallas, had a bruise on her body when she was admitted to the jail. The bruise, Mrs. Pool said, showed eight teeth prints.

After Henry R. Bishop and Raymond Wilson, defense attorneys, rested their case, District Attorney Parker began brief rebuttal testimony.

The stabbing of Reilly allegedly occurred the night of Oct. 12, and Reilly died in a Dallas hospital three days later.

Heart Attack Is Fatal To Ramsay M'Donald, Ex-British Premier

71-Year-Old Scotsman Dies Aboard Boat Bound For South America

LONDON, Nov. 10 (AP)—The death of James Ramsay MacDonald, the son of a poor Scottish farmer who lived to decline an earldom, divided Britain today in appraisal of his life.

Against those who lauded the three-time prime minister as savior of the nation in the dark days of 1931, there were others who regarded him as a traitor to the labor party he built.

The 71-year-old Scotsman, Britain's first labor prime minister and the first prime minister to visit the United States, led last night aboard a South America-bound ship on a quest for the peace and happiness he had failed to find in his unique, stormy political career.

He had sailed last Thursday in search of what he called "the most elusive of all forms of happiness—rest."

Heart Attack
Death apparently was due to a heart attack following a long period of poor health. His daughter Sheila, his sole companion on the voyage, messaged that the body would be taken off the ship, Reina del Pacifico, at Bermuda Monday and returned for burial either in England or at his beloved Liosmouth, Scotland.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—President Roosevelt issued the following statement today on the death of J. Ramsay MacDonald, former prime minister of Great Britain.

"Because Ramsay MacDonald labored long and successfully for the good of his fellowmen, he will be mourned by those throughout the world who call themselves liberals. I am glad to have known him as a friend and I deeply regret his death."

BOBCATS STILL FAVORITES AS TWO TEAMS TAKE LAST DRILL

THE SPORTS PARADE

BY HANK HART

Proceeding the San Angelo-Big Spring annual grid party in years past, there have been held pep rallies on the eve of the battle and this season is no exception. Tonight at 8 o'clock on the high school grounds immediately south of Central Ward, the band and pep squad will take control of things around a giant bonfire. There will be no public speaking.

San Angelo's Harry Taylor recently switched Johnny Teague to end and put A. Milch at the full-back slot which may or may not help the Angelons' attack. Johnny didn't do so badly in the secondary but he's better on the defense and Taylor decided to move him into the infantry where he can see a lot of action.

Milch and the other back, Delaney, will try to shake loose Ellis and Fuller, a couple of boys who supply the offensive punch that the Angelons have been putting forth. Both are small but have shown a neat bit of hip swinging thus far. They may do what Harry Hays, George Delker, Curly Hays and others failed to do, cross the Big Spring goal line.

The Kittens look to be a 30-point better team than the Bovines any way you look at it. They whipped Eastland, 81-0, whereas the Mavericks took the Longhorns into camp, 18-13, and came back last week to trounce Brownwood, 25-0. The Lions, earlier in the season, outscored the locals, 19-13.

Local followers, however, are not conceding anything and the Kitten backers are certainly not giving anything. They seemed to have learned their lesson over the past three or four years.

If you force our hand we'd go so far as to say that the Big Springers will win by a 6-0 count but please don't make the department go that far.

A capacity crowd is expected here and an even larger one will probably be on the sidelines in Breckenridge when the Buckies, who are winding their way back

Herd Polishes Running Game In Workout

Reserves May Start Game At Three Positions

A break in the weather gave the Big Spring Longhorns a chance to dash through their plays in Steer stadium Tuesday and clearing skies and a blazing sun that quickly dried out the field. Tuesday gave rise to the hopes of the local gridgers that they may break the strangle that the Herd and the San Angelo Bobcats have played to during their last three meetings here, when the two teams take the field at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

Coaches Pat Murphy and Carmen Brandon called the boys to the dressing room Tuesday evening for an hour mental drill and were due today to polish off the rough spots that were apparent in yesterday's drill.

Gripping tension could be noted among the members of the entire squad, forecasting a sign that the crew is ready once again to defend their personal laurels in this, the leading game of the year.

Reserves Still In Lefty Bethell, Howard Hart and Red Vornack were still running with the first string and it was indicated by the coaching staff that this trio would start the battle in place of the regulars, Red Cunningham, Doug Rayborn and Raymond Lee Williams, who have been starting at the positions, however, are slated to see plenty of action since it is believed that their weight and experience will be needed against the touted Bobcats.

Playing with old Sol as the only light instead of the customary army may handicap the Kittens from the Concho more than the Bovines. Twice this season the locals have participated in games during the day time and, on each occasion, they have emerged the victors. The Taylormen, on the other hand, have met all their opponents under the lights.

Odds are shortening on the local's chance for victory due to the fact that the Herd played and almost defeated Stephenville two weeks ago but the visitors were still overwhelming favorites to break the deadlock and take a victory back to San Angelo with them.

The Angelons are expected to arrive early Thursday morning and take a short rest before the battle.

to an Oil Belt power following several unlooked for hickings, and the pace-setting Abilene Eagles' clash in an affair that will see the race up for War Birds if they win. This department sees otherwise, however. The crystal says 19-7 favoring the green and white and who are we to disagree.

More laurels come in for Ollie Cordill, local boy who is cutting up for Rice Institute. According to Bill Wallace, probably the greatest all-around back in the Southwest conference's history, the Big Spring boy is going to town.

Ollie has shown promise of being the most outstanding all-around backfield man on the Rice squad. His punting averages 40.11 yards and ranks second in the conference. He is the best ball toter on the squad. On defense his height and speed make it almost impossible to complete passes in his territory.

Ollie threw four passes in the Arkansas game last Saturday and completed one for eleven yards besides dragging down two of Ernie Lains' touchdown heaves.

The "most valuable" award of the Baseball Writers' association to Joe Medwick of the St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday, was mere formality. It was known long ago that "Ducky-Wucky of the New Jersey side" would get the honor. Any player who leads in batting, doubles, runs batted in, number of hits, runs scored and was second in home runs can hold his job.

Card Honored As The 'Most Valuable' Player

Joe Medwick, Who Swept Almost All Batting Honors, Selected Over Gabby Hartnett

By DREW MIDDLETON
NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP)—Joe Medwick, the payoff guy of the St. Louis Cardinals gas house gang, has the National League's most valuable player award for 1937 to add to his record string of batting "firsts."

"Muscle" did all he could to earn the prize. He won the batting championship, led in hits, runs batted in and doubles and tied with the Giants' Mel Ott for the home run title. Even so he barely nosed out Gabby Hartnett, the spirited Chicago catcher, who drew 68 votes to Joe's 70.

Eight members of the Baseball Writers' association made the selection. They gave Gabby more first-place nominations than Medwick, but Muscles more than made up that deficit with votes for second and third place to grab the award and the Sporting News trophy.

During the past season, Medwick compiled a batting average of .374; he hit safely 237 times, batted in 154 runs and hit 57 doubles and 31 home runs.

Carl Hubbell, the shrewd, smooth left-hander of the New York Giants, who won the award last year, was third choice with 52 points. Two newcomers to the headlines, the Boston Red Sox' venerable rookie pitcher, Jim Turner and Lou Fette, wound up third and fourth. They edged out such well known players as Dick Bartell and Mel Ott of the Giants and Paul Waner of Pittsburgh.

In the balloting among the eight writers—one from each of the seven cities and one borough in the league—a first place vote counted ten points, second nine, and so on for ten selections. Medwick drew two first-place nominations, Hartnett three.

SPOTLIGHT WAS ALL THAT GRID TEAM NEEDED

By the Associated Press
NEW YORK—It seems a little publicity was all the Brooklyn College team needed to get its share of attention. A couple of weeks ago the players picketed the college because so few came to their games. Now they have had to shift their two remaining contests to another field because they didn't have the facilities to control the throngs that have been turning out.

COLLEGE PARK, Mo.—Perhaps the University of Maryland's "iron men" are so durable in games because they don't tire themselves out in mid-week practice. Their schedule before Saturday's clash with Penn State calls for full sessions of about 1-2 hours each today and tomorrow and a brief warmup Friday before leaving for State College. They followed the same plan last week and whipped Virginia Military, 9-7.

NEW YORK—Although Coach Lou Little of Columbia had a team that could do pretty well at scoring touchdowns as long as he had Sid Luckman calling the signals, running, passing and punting when the Lions started losing one point decisions he instituted a search for a reliable place kicker to boot the extra points. He booted the squad down to five candidates yesterday, but them through an exhaustive test and found the best man was—you guessed it—Sid Luckman.

CHapel Hill, N. C.—Two individual duels for points are on the slate when North Carolina meets Duke in the south's big game Saturday. Elmore Hackney of Duke and Crowell Little of the Tar Heels are leading touchdown getters, the former leading 45 points to 30 as he has made nine extra points in addition to six touchdowns. Tom Burnett, Carolina halfback, has equaled Hackney's mark of nine conversions.

Race Still Open

CHICAGO, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Professional Golfers' association's 23rd annual meeting followed the committee report fairly toward the rough of an election contest today. George R. Jacobus of Ridgewood, N. J., president for four terms, was out for another year on the job in the face of strenuous opposition from the Illinois section. Shawnee-On-Delaware, Pa., was approved as the site for the 1938 P.G.A. title tournament, but the setting of dates was deferred.

College libraries in New York state contain more than 6,000,000 volumes.

COMING ARMISTICE

J. ELLIS. This 150-pound halfback is the lad who had to replace Harry Hays in the San Angelo secondary this season. Ellis plays safety and does a large part of the ball carrying.

E. FULLER. Tipping the scales at 141 pounds, Fuller is the lightest man in the Bobcat secondary. He barks signals, does his share of the passing and is a fair hand on defense.

M. DELANEY. Brought up to replace some of that heavy line backfield which was lost last season was Delaney, who plays half and who weighs 154 pounds. Delaney is a blocking back.

A. MILCH. This 172-pounder is the Kitten linebacker and linebacker. He's the heaviest man in the Angelo secondary and uses his weight to a good advantage.

H-S Cowboys Play Fresno Armistice

West Coast Eleven Yet To Suffer Defeat

ABILENE, Nov. 10—A point a minute team for a day, in Saturday's 66 to 6 win over the Kansas State Teachers, of Emporia, the undefeated and untied Hardin-Simmons Cowboys hopped off Tuesday for an inter-sectional Armistice Day battle with the Fresno State Bulldogs. The game is a holiday clash at Fresno.

Before entraining for their second invasion of the west coast this season, Coach Frank Kimbrough's Ranchers, who rang up their fourteenth win in a row in rolling over the Emporia Teachers, took their lone workout of the week.

In Fresno State, the Cowboys face an undefeated foe that may snap their winning streak. Coach James "Rabbit" Bradshaw's Battling Bulldogs, current leaders of the Far Western Conference, have won six in a row since an opening game tie with the U.S.C. Spartans, as the reserves of Coach Howard Jones' Trojans are known. Fresno defeated the University of Nevada, at Reno, last Saturday, 46 to 8.

On their first California journey this fall, the Cowboys defeated Tom Lieb's Loyola Lions, in Los Angeles, 7 to 0. Burns McKinley turned in a sensational 65-yard touchdown sprint to win that one, and Coach Kimbrough is counting on his ace "scouter," who has scored in every game this fall, to lead the Armistice Day assault against Fresno.

Burns Shines Again McKinley paced the Kimbrough display of gridiron hocus pocus against the Kansas, at Wichita Falls, where the day was officially "McKinley Day" to honor the Cowboy-co-captain in his home city. McKinley, despite the burden of being his home town's official No. 1 gridiron boy, displayed his usual versatility. He scored once, tossed two touchdowns passes to teammates, Bud Reeves and R. T. Boutwell, and completed six of nine aerials to bring his mark back to an even 500 for the entire season.

The "scouter" menace, who passes for variety's sake, has completed 21 of 42 pass attempts, for 323 yards. Five were direct scoring hits. The slender ex-invalid reeled off 59 yards in eight running plays against Kansas invaders, to boost his season's total to 319 in 42 ball carrying trips, for an average of 7.6 yards per try.

Against Emporia State, the Cowboy flash assumed one new role, being on the receiving end of a lateral for a 31-yard sprint. Luke Raley, with three touchdowns, Jack Hinrichs, with one and five extra

Bruins Look To Pony Tilt

Jennings Hope To Get Boys To Forget Loss To Longhorns

WACO, Nov. 10—Coach Morley Jennings began Monday morning taking stock on injuries and disabilities coming from the tough Texas Steers in their weekend invasion that sent the Baylor Golden Bruins to their first defeat of the 1937 season.

He took charge of the bruising effects of hustling Hugh Wolfe, the big bad wolf of Dana X. Bible's eleven that rose to great heights and left blood stains over Mundy stadium field Saturday afternoon. With a slightly dampened attitude on the mention of bowls the Bears began preparing for the trip, to Dallas for Southern Methodist Mustangs.

Slowly they trudged to the athletic building for duty in the afternoon Monday to receive skull practice while the rain beat down. They appeared to be in a reflective mood. They wondered, if the Ted Husing jinx had been poured down upon them—or, if the lockdown was bound to come anyway. Soon, however, they were limbering up and the Texas game was cast into the background to serve only as a reminder that they can be whipped.

No Serious Damage Only bruises were sustained and the Bears, noted this year for excellent training and conditioning, were back at work without much serious damage as result of the disastrous try against the hard-fighting Longhorns. Texas played their greatest game of the year. The boys were charging through the line and getting to Bullet Bill Patterson before he could cock his usually accurate right arm for many passes.

For about the first time of this hectic Baylor season, the Bruins led with 17 first downs to 15 for Texas, although long dashes by Wolfe and Acheson accounted for most of the Bible gains. Only nine of Patterson's passes were completed out of the 31 attempts, five being intercepted. Six of the Texas

Deviils Leave For Lubbock

Ben Daniel's Devils will leave early Thursday morning for Lubbock where they will clash with the junior-high school team of that city at 11 o'clock.

About 20 players will make the trip, according to Coach Daniel. The team will not return until after the Texas Tech-Duquesne football game which will be played at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Beacons To Span Canada

OTTAWA, Ont. (UP)—A network of 32 radio beacons stretching across Canada will guide trans-Canadian Airline aviators on their coast to coast mail and passenger carrying flights.

The Bruins were also taking stock. Their chances for a South-west conference crown, although dimmed because of the loss to the Steers, was uppermost in their minds. They were mindful of the fact that in Southern Methodist's next weekend, they will have a worthy opponent, a foe that will be out to swat the Bears at every corner. A victory over the Mustangs and over the Rice Owls on Saturday following Thanksgiving would give the Jenningsmen a cinch for a tie for the title, even though the rough and ready Kittens in Houston win every other tilt.

SANDIE - PAMPA GAME TO ATTRACT 12,000

Abilene-Breck Tilt Due To Be Close

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT
DALLAS, Nov. 10 (AP)—Three years the iron-fisted ruler of Texas schoolboy football, Amarillo's Golden Sandstorm invades the wheat country tomorrow to meet one of the most unruly of all its rebellious subjects—the Pampa Harvesters. Important games come in profusion from Armistice Day through Saturday, but this attempt of the Harvesters to assassinate the monarch even before the bi-district battles is tops.

Some 12,000, a record crowd for the Pampa region, will fill the stadium to witness the scrap between two of District One's three leaders. Berger, in the triple tie, plays off-beaten Plainview. Amarillo has taken but one defeat this year, a 33-0 licking from the disputed Port Arthur team. Pampa did a better job of "holding" the South Texans, giving up by a 0-14 score.

Out in the same section another game on Armistice Day has the West Texans' Vernon, leader of the potent District Two, plays an Olney team that has been sed but not defeated in eight games. Down south the Port Arthur Yellowjackets, who have taken the fight to an appellate court to prove their right to remain in the league despite protests that their use of twelfth graders is illegal, bump

1936 Grid Leaders Are Having Ill Fate

Northwestern, Washington Are Among Teams To Drop From Conference Running

By BILL BONI
NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP)—The football champions of a year ago are finding out it's a tough assignment to stay on top of the heap.

As the 1937 campaign draws to a close in the nation's seven major football conferences, only Duke, defending its Southern Conference title, is in a favorable position to repeat.

With Eric (The Red) Tipton and Elmore (Honey) Hackney as holdovers from the 1936 outfit, the Blue Devils have won all seven of their conference games, but they face their biggest hurdle this week in North Carolina.

Nebraska, no longer power-housed by Sam Francis and Lloyd Cardwell, is scrapping stubbornly to keep its Big Six crown properly poised. But the Huskers may be eliminated by too many ties—two too many. They have been held even twice, won two and have one more to play. Kansas, with two to go, has won twice and been tied only once.

Arkansas Razorbacks, who won their first Southwest Conference title a year ago, may yet emerge as repeaters. But only a complete collapse by Rice and Baylor could bring that about.

Washington, Northwestern, Utah State and Louisiana State also are pretty much behind the eight-ball as far as repeating is concerned.

California though tied by the coast champion huskies last Saturday, seems bound to finish on top of the pile this season and jump from the into the Rose Bowl.

Northwestern is virtually out of the Big Ten race now, and is in for a further mess of trouble Saturday against Minnesota's conference leaders. The Gophers, tough at any time, have been aiming for a year at revenge for the Northwestern victory last season. Utah State and Louisiana State also are laboring in the shadows of better-like rivals. The Utes, who shared the Rocky Mountain title with Colorado in 1935 and won it outright in 1936, have found Colorado's all-winning pace too fast this year. Alabama is top dog in the Southeastern circuit and should add to its stature at the expense of Georgia Tech.

Unofficial sectional pace-setters are having easier going. Pittsburgh, the Rose Bowl winner; Yale, Penn and Dartmouth led the East a year ago although all were beaten. All but Penn, replaced by Fordham, are up there again. Santa Clara, non-conference ace of the West Coast last year, still is riding high as one of the few major all-winning elevenes.

HOOSIER FOULS Fans Asked To Buy Tickets Today

Out Johnson won his brawl with Buck Lipscomb the easy way in the main event of the Big Spring Athletic club Tuesday night when Referee Ollie Erickson refused to sanction the Indian's very undignified methods used following the second fall and raised the Swede's hand and body in token of victory.

The body was raised as well as the hand because Gust was in no condition to realize that he had won the August. He was down and out and didn't especially care whether his hand was pointing ceilingward or not. He probably would have traded all that for a one way ticket to Iraq.

Reason for his wretched feeling at that moment was because Lipscomb persistently refused to believe that Johnson was out and went about his business in a very businesslike way to determine whether August was playing possum or not.

He probably would have completed his research to his utmost satisfaction had not Erickson awakened and tossed him aside. The falls, incidentally, were even at that stage. Gust had captured the first one after he had spent half the time chasing his opponent around the ring with a ringlike stool and the Hoosier evaded matters on the return with a Japanese toe hold.

Sailor Moran huffed and puffed with Don Rainey in the semi-go and had to go the limit because the Alabamian wouldn't retreat an inch. The draw was the second in a row for the newcomer.

Jack Hagen returned to form in the opener with an easy flip of Acc Abbott. He used the Japanese toe hold effectively.

Ralph Sasse Quits

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Nov. 10 (UP)—Ill health has compelled Lieut.-Col. Ralph Sasse, who coached three successful Army elevenes, to relinquish his duties as head football coach of Mississippi State college.

It was assumed that Capt. John into Galveston, also undefeated in the district, at the resort city. Beaumont, also undefeated in conference play, meets a meek Gospel Creek team Saturday.

Abilene, leader of the District Stephensville's under team, puts its newly gained lead right back into circulation against Breckenridge, while Thomas Jefferson, the San Antonio powerhouse on top in the District 12 fight, can't make any mistakes if it hopes to get by Kerrville in another headliner.

Eight teams remained undefeated and untied, including Abilene, Austin of El Paso, Highland Park of Dallas, Longview, Lufkin, Temple, Conroe and Corpus Christi. Of these, Temple faced a faded power of the league in Corsicana, a team that has slipped but may be able to pull just one upset out of the bag.

AGGIES FIGHT TO BLEMISH OWLS' RECORD

Giant Killing Act Aim Of Farmers

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 10—Two-thirds through both their Southwest conference and full-season schedules, Coach Homer Norton's Texas Aggies will essay the "giant killing" act against the conference-leading Rice Owls Saturday, November 13, at Houston.

At full strength, with no casualties emerging from the past Saturday's 14-0 victory over Southern Methodist, the Cadets have turned to this week to revamp their attack along lines based on Freshman Coach Hub McQuillan's scout dope on the Owls.

The Aggies' Dick Todd, Owens Rogers and Bill Audish; and the Owls' Ernie Lains, Ollie Cordill and "Seat" Sullivan are expected to combine in what may be the greatest display of running power the conference has offered to date this year.

BILL AUDISH Potent Runner

passing attack both at long and short ranges. The Aggies set something of a modern dryfield Southwest conference record by tossing only seven passes against the Mustangs, but they pack passing ability in reserve and probably will bring their offensive play to a more even balance for the Owl game.

Saturday's game will be the last chance for the Aggies, who have only an outside chance to tie for the conference championship, to battle one of the leading conference teams. Their only other circuit appearance will be against the University of Texas Longhorns, who are completely out of the race. Despite this fact, however, the Aggie cadets have obtained permission from the faculty to make the game a corps trip, and more than 2,000 of the khaki-clad cadets are expected to parade through the business section of Houston Saturday morning.

SLAIDE KERR
NEW YORK (AP)—Business girls can get the smartest fall clothes for the least amount of money by following these rules:
1. Think your wardrobe through before you buy.
2. Choose simple, classic clothes that do your fashion tricks with accessories.
3. Have your clothes altered to fit well even if you have to do it yourself.

STRICTLY BUSINESS
This was voted the perfect dress for business at the Business Girls' Fashion Show presented recently by John Wanamaker's in New York. It is made of black alpaca, designed with close-fitting bodice blousing at the front and is finished with plique collar and cuffs. Tucks give a slight fullness to the skirt. All three of these costumes were assembled by Wanamaker's.

from coat to handkerchiefs and choose each thing to fill a definite place.
"The smartest fashion effects come from classic clothes (which aren't dated after one wearing), coupled with smart accessories which can change the costume's appearance. This year, for instance, a wide suede belt, a colored jacket or gold jeweled accents can make one simple frock look like three different outfits."
The things a business girl's fall wardrobe should include, in Mrs. Anderson's opinion, are a winter coat, two dresses (one wool and the other a simple crepe which can be worn evenings), a black tailored suit, two blouses, and two accessory sets of hat, bag, gloves and shoes (one for every day and the other for dressing up). Mrs. Anderson believes one hat should be in some such smart accessory color as rust, paprika or duck green.

The crepe frocks which have fashion "it" are black or in deep-toned colors, cut on the season's favorite body-molding lines and given a fashion fillip with piping of gold kid or a shimmering metal clip and buckle.
Hats are small and generally worn off the face. Veils smarten those for cocktail wear.

Payment On A Debt

Most appropriate is the coincidence of Armistice Day and the beginning of the annual Red Cross Roll Call, for the greatest work of the Red Cross was its service to the men in our forces overseas and in camps during the world war, greater only than the work it has been doing since in caring for the interests of those soldiers and their families, when there is need of care.

Red Cross membership denotes that the member is one of those who remember the service of the soldiers and sailors and marines in a material way. Words alone will not meet the needs of Red Cross activities—it takes money, and the needed money should be given with a liberal hand and an appreciative heart.

The men and women who will be soliciting, beginning tomorrow, money for the Red Cross are themselves contributors of money, and as added good measure they are giving time and effort to the organization. They are representing something different from the ordinary charity appeal, for contributions to the Red Cross must not be thought of as charity, but rather as part payment of a debt, a portion of which each citizen owes. It is distressing that in some cases the Red Cross solicitation is met with refusal and sometimes downright discourtesy, when the contribution should be a very voluntary one.

The blaze of patriotism which inspired us during the days of actual conflict has died down to embers, but we should be able to blow into those embers enough life to lead us to realize the need and impel us to do our part in the work of the greatest of all relief agencies.

The Red Cross turned, after the war was over, to new fields of humanitarian work. It has grown in service through the years since 1917-18, until today it makes itself felt by the average citizen even to a greater extent than during the war days. Every reader of newspapers knows how quickly the Red Cross is on the scene when disaster strikes. On innumerable occasions, it was the first relief service on hand, the last to go, and the freest with its successor.

Continued growth of the Red Cross and expansion of its great work depend upon the support of people like the citizens of Big Spring. Let us remember, during the Roll Call which opens tomorrow, our debt to our less fortunate neighbor.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Tales of the wretched traffic conditions in New York are not always believed by outsiders, but here is a mishap, featuring Sheila Barrett, which really illustrates how hopeless things have become.

Miss Barrett was thoughtless enough to enter a cab on a recent evening and give an address on the other side of the island. Now everybody should know that taxis are no way to make speed while crossing the island. The traffic is so slow that one could easily walk twice the distance in half the time.

But Miss Barrett still had several hours to keep her appointment and, optimistic that she is, thought that she would reach there in time.

Finally, after the cab had made only five blocks, in 40 minutes, she became bored. "Had I known we were going to be here this long," Miss Barrett said archly, "I'd have gone into that restaurant for something to eat."

"You've still got plenty of time," cried the driver encouragingly. "If we get started before you get back, I'll yell."

In a sentimental gesture which should be applauded by all who enjoy an occasional nod to the past, the "Hotel Roosevelt has introduced "Betsy Flanagan" to New York. Betsy was a lady who kept an inn near Yonkers during the Revolutionary period, and her tap room was a favorite rendezvous for British and French officers whose commands were stationed in that vicinity.

One day an American officer arrived with several cock pheasants which he had stolen from a British commissary, and asked that they be roasted. In preparing the feast, Betsy also prepared some potent drinks and decorated each glass with one of the gawdy feathers from the cock pheasant's tails.

This was a great success and caused one gallant to spring to his feet: "Here's to Betsy and her marvelous drink," he cried. "It offers the same delightful sensations as the cock's tail feathers offer to the eye."

Whereupon one of the French officers exclaimed: "Vive le cocktail!" And that was how the cocktail obtained its name.

Betsy, bless her soul, is resting in her grave in an old cemetery at Lewiston now, but her memory is being saluted in a right proper fashion on Madison avenue. By diligent research, the hotel authorities have succeeded in obtaining the ingredients Betsy used in the first cocktail, and are featuring it now in all their bars. So, the next time you feel like tipping your hat to history, call for a Betsy Flanagan.

WASHINGTON—One of the most solemn spots in America is the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Behind the scenes not all is solemn.

Many a soldier marching patiently up and down before that historic granite block has preserved his monotone calm while his feet tortured him unmercifully and flies and mosquitoes pestered him. The job of keeping guard over that tomb is a sacred job in the army, but it is no Sunday school picnic.

Here is how it is done. Nine men and three non-commissioned officers, a sergeant and two corporals, take over the job for 15-day turns. In a quiet, cathedral atmosphere they march hundreds of miles back and forth in those 15 days. One man at a time marches over a 30-yard course. He marches two hours and is off four hours. That parading goes on from sunrise until Arlington cemetery closes at night.

During his two hours on guard the soldier may speak to no one. He avoids meeting the eyes of anyone. He learns to look right through people. He never smiles.

Girls Bother Guards
The annoying part of it is that spectators try to get the soldiers to smile. "Girls are the worst," said one soldier who had finished one 15-day stint and was glad to be through with it.

"Girls," he said, "stand right beside the path and smile and try to catch your eye. The corporal is right over there watching you. Sometimes so is the officer of the day. If they catch a guy smiling, they burn him up."

The watch is maintained on a 24-hour basis, but after the crowds leave the soldiers don't march back and forth. They sit around near the tomb and smoke.

For the first few years the soldiers marched along the bare granite. Then a rubber carpet was laid for them to walk on so it wouldn't be so hard on the feet. The rubber helps some, our soldier said.

But two hours of pounding over the same short course makes a soldier's foot bones creak. He has to carry a gun on his shoulder. He can change the gun from one shoulder to another, but he can't carry it along in his hand, even for a rest.

Queen Catherine's Violet
Queen on the granite tomb and the white marble amphitheatre creates a blinding glare and, especially in summer, the heat is terrific. Soldiers can wear soaked glasses if they wish, but if they start the two-hour march wearing them, they can't take them off. In summer sweat covers the glasses and they are worse than useless. There is a hedge near one end of the patch, however, and sometimes, when the corporal is not looking, a guard can snatch off his glasses quickly and toss them in the hedge.

How long the march will go on no one can guess. The legislation providing for it says "perpetually." It recalls a story of Queen Catherine of Russia. While walking in the garden of the palace she saw a violet blossoming through a fresh blanket of snow. She had a guard posted to protect it, then forgot about it. For years a guard was maintained over the spot—although the violet had long been gone and the reason for the guard forgotten.

The Unknown Soldier's tomb is not likely to be forgotten, however. The number of persons visiting it increases every year. It has been there since 1921.

HOLLYWOOD—Strange it may be, but the person most vitally concerned in a movie love scene is neither of the principals but the director.

Your stars, unless they're very new at the business, may be quite blasé about exchanging osculations and embraces for the camera, but your director never is. His realization of the importance of sincere and beautiful love scenes to his picture makes him, for the time, a Gothar without portfolio. He knows so thoroughly the mood he wants that you are sure watching his sideline excitement, he could give a better performance than his stars.

Sometimes he does, too—better and funnier. That is when he undertakes to "show them how." Archie Mayo frequently acts out scenes to demonstrate the effects he wants. Archie weighs around 200, unless his reduced some more. He did not take Gary Cooper's place with Sigrid Gurie in the "Marco Polo" rehearsal, but he would recite the love lines to himself, and the replies, emphasizing the desired inflection. Archie thinks inflection is the big thing in movie love passages.

Michael Curtiz, excitable Hungarian, does not "act out" movie romances. His comments, criticisms, suggests. "That kiss—she would not melt better. Don't hold her like she was a hot potato. Crush her. Maybe you break a rib. That is all right if we get a good scene!" DeMille, hawk-eyed on every

He smiled at that...but not his usual gay smile. Chapter 36
THE $5-A-DAY BUSINESS
After a while, Nina looked back on that listless, standstill period, as one of extreme happiness...not as happy as the earlier part of the spring and summer, when she had discovered she could get along without Richard...but happy, just the same. The next step was a step downward.

Things like this happened: David developed an impacted wisdom tooth, and ran up a large dentist bill. Whenever he made more than $50 a week, that went toward the doctor; so did the absurd "emergency" money; and whatever they could eke out of the day's stipend.

Three nights running David telephoned that he had to demonstrate cars, and wouldn't be home...after she had prepared the dinner. Twice in one week, Gracie turned up, unexpectedly, with him. "I'm hanging round the office, to see if I can't get my old job back...." and Nina found herself wondering about those night demonstrations.

The party at Coney Island had been one long series of Gracie's grabbing David and going on the Red Mill with him, the roller coaster, the merry-go-round... Nina had never lost a beau, whom she hadn't meant to, deliberately; but she knew, for a certainty, that if she had, she never would have run after him the way Gracie was running after David now.

Perhaps the girl really did love him, poor soul; and very probably she did think she could make him a better wife than Nina...but this pursuing business! It was quite beyond her ken.

It was in only her most miserable moments that she was annoyed with David...she knew that he was just encouraging a girl, but she was getting pretty fed up with Gracie's her apparent friendliness, and her underhand methods.

David's Accusation
One evening, in the first part of September, David came home, and after greeting Nina with his customary, dear enthusiasm...and Button, too...he went over to the strong box.

He took up two $1 bills that still lay in the day's compartment. He looked at them and then at Nina. After a minute, he put them back and closed the box.

He said: "Nina, I haven't been spying on you, but lately, with this dentist bill hanging over me, I've been watching the budget pretty closely..." He looked away from her, out through the window. He said: "Nina, you've been using your own money for household expenses."

He said it quietly enough, but as though he had just announced that she was a murderer...and Nina felt quite as guilty.

"Just—ever so little, David... Just to help out." "Have you been doing it right along?" You have, haven't you, from the first?"

"Well, I don't remember exactly how it started, darling...Really, truly, it hasn't amounted to a thing..." He said, gravely: "It amounts to the fact that you've gone back on our agreement, Nina. That's quite a lot, the way I figure things."

He was right, of course, but Nina began to get angry, just the same. "I'm sorry, David. She couldn't seem to say any more.

He appeared to be waiting. Then: "How much has it been? I'll pay you back...How much, five, ten dollars a week?"

"Oh, David! I haven't kept track! Don't be...don't be stupid about this thing, darling. You said I could spend my money on clothes and personal things, well, I haven't needed anything at all, practically...So what's the difference if I spend a few cents for it for a melon, now and then...or the movies in the evening?"

He smiled at that...but not his usual gay smile. "I dare say you have reasoned out what seems to you a perfectly good excuse, dear; but the thing is, I happen to feel very strongly on the subject, and we agreed about it at the beginning...You'll stop, now that I ask you, won't you, Nina?"

"Yes." That was all she could seem to bring herself to say. And David had finished, too, apparently. Fear Grips Nina
But things have a way of going in pairs...and the next disagreement about money was much more serious.

Every day, it seemed, the fears were coming out with headlines: hottest September such and such, in ten years; so many deaths; so many people prostrated. Nina began to wonder how long it could be before her name joined the list.

She looked at the picture of naked little boys enjoying their two weeks at some charity beach. Air farm, and envied the... Nina...the former Nina Stord of East 74th street, Junior Leaver, ex-debutante par excellence, enjoying a lot of little unadorned new boys! She had to laugh.

The $5-a-day business "No foul" this time, Nina? "No gin, David!" was going very bad. "Was it possible that 10 or 12 dollars a week could make such a difference...or had she taken care?"

Beside the food, there was so many stupid extras, every... things that didn't show, razor blades, soap, the window cleaner when the glass got so dirty you could hardly see through. Though she tried her best to press David's suits, every other time, there went the freest 50-cent pieces that she could lay her hands on. In spite of washing out her own stockings and silk underthings, the laundries were alarmingly high.

It was on one of her last days, a close, muggy Tuesday that McDuff called with a pair of newlyweds.

As luck would have it, the party had never looked after. Everything was in order. David—having been taken to dinner the night before—had brought her some white roses, and a few sprays of blue delphinium. They looked too lovely in the blue and white living-room. To cap the climax, Nina had just made herself some lemonade, and it stood in a silver pitcher beside a tall glass, on one of the walnut coffee tables.

It was probably the leaden monotony, as much as anything, that completely broke down the bride and groom, when they entered. To them, hot and weary from apartment hunting, Nina and her frosted pitcher, and the blue walls seemed heaven indeed.

"It's perfect, that's all there is to it, Jim. Perfect." Nina and McDuff exchanged forlorn glances.

The faithful superintender began getting in sly pokes about the dinner, and the noisy ally. "The bride and groom loved dim light. They adored noise."

McDuff then remarked that of course the rent was pretty high, perhaps, on the first of October, he would have a cheaper one. Money meant absolutely nothing to the bride...but fortunately it did the groom.

"Ninety a month, you say?" "The worse—the best I can do," said McDuff gravely. "Well, we'll think it over, oh, darling."

They went out, leaving Nina in a paralysis of fear. Oh, God! Supposing they took it! If the place had never looked better, it had certainly never seemed dearer to Nina, either. In her new fright, she realized how lucky she had been to have a cool spare place like this, to come to. She grew frantic at the thought of having to move away.

She confided her fears to David that night, who became quite alarmed as she. (Copyright, 1937, Margaret Herzog)

Baptists Told Of Progress In Schools

Increased Enrollment Reported by Denominational Institutions

EL PASO, Nov. 10 (AP)—Increased enrollment and progress in all directions were reported to the Baptist General Convention of Texas today by Texas Baptist schools.

President J. D. Sandefer of Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene told convention messengers that they should take a renewed interest in the special inducement offered their children in church-controlled institutions. He reported a substantial increase in enrollment.

"More of our people should see their sons and daughters fighting life more easily through the benefit of training in Baptist schools where work offered is on the same scholastic level with other institutions, and where at the same time there is an enrichment of those Christian elements that must be a part of every life if it is to bear its highest fruition," he said.

Howard Payne College at Brownwood has increased salaries of its teachers by 25 per cent, President Thomas H. Taylor reported.

"Howard Payne has moved forward in the improvement of its physical plant," he said. "Additions have been made to the library, to the museum and to the main building. A home economics laboratory building and a demonstration cottage have been built."

Mary Hardin-Baylor College at Belton has inaugurated a vocational placement service to augment its teacher placement department, President Gordon Singleton told the messengers.

"For years Mary Hardin-Baylor college has maintained a teacher placement service in the department of education," he reported. "This service has been greatly extended to include placement of other students not only in teaching but in all types of positions occupied by women."

"Particularly is this service needed in the fields of secretarial science and journalism."

He listed greatest needs of the college as increased endowment, a library building and a physical education building. The board of trustees invited delegates to attend Dr. Singleton's formal inauguration Nov. 24. He was named last year to succeed Dr. J. C. Hardy, who retired to become president emeritus.

LABOR PARLEY ENDS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—Pressure of other business, peace delegates of the American Federation of Labor and the C.I.O. said today, caused a decision to recess their negotiations until Nov. 15. They still were discussing the craft-versus-industrial union issue when the adjournment was ordered late yesterday.

City Collecting On Traffic Fines

The police department means business when it issues those traffic tickets.

A report on department activities for October, submitted to the city commission Tuesday night by Chief J. T. Thornton, shows that all fines were collected on 20 traffic violations; on eight speeding violations, six fines were collected in full, and part payment collected on the other two.

The department reported 82 arrests during the month, with pleas of guilty and fines assessed in all but 15 cases, which were dismissed and three in which the defendants were transferred.

Sixty-five were arrested for drunkenness, eight for investigation, six for disturbance, two for affray and one for petty theft.

The New York, Chicago and Los Angeles public libraries all circulate more than 10,000,000 books a year.

Grange Members In Convention, Hear Leader Speak

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 10 (AP)—Louis J. Taber of Columbus, O., master of the National Grange, urged American farmers today to "preserve their independence."

The grange should today devote its attention to the strengthening of the organization's seventy-first annual convention.

Referring to regimentation as a "sinister influence," Taber said, "agriculture must be the last of all institutions in our land to surrender to the philosophy that individual initiative, ability and freedom of choice are things of the past. The grange should today devote its future not only to fight for cooperative purposes, but fight against unnecessary regimentation in every form."

"We all rejoice in the revival of world trade, but when we bring the matter back to agriculture and confine it strictly to farm schedules, we find the startling fact that in the first six months of 1937, our trade deficit is serious."

Taber recommended increase of the farmer's share of the nation's income to give to agriculture parity of income; loans for crop storage on farms and increased funds for the surplus commodity corporation, with definite strengthening of marketing agreements and provision for the storage of periodical, local and seasonal surpluses, with sufficient carry-over to prevent drought or shortage from penalizing both producer and consumer.

The Abraham Lincoln national monument, near Hodgenville, Ky., contains the log cabin and part of the farm where Lincoln was born.

cial answer to advocates of heavy federal expenditures to offset any slowing in the business pace. Mr. Roosevelt himself may touch on business conditions when he speaks over the radio Sunday night in an appeal that the unemployed register in next week's special census. He continued, meanwhile, his study of economic developments, with conferences on taxes, spending, relief and allied topics. Into these he dropped a hint that the public utility industry might win some federal assistance, if it would change its system of evaluating property. At the capitol there also was a house of interest to business. A house tax subcommittee tentatively proposed that the present capital gains levy be eased by permitting a carryover of losses from one year to the next. Members estimated this might reduce receipts by $19,000,000 a year, but they offered various suggestions to make up this deficiency. Mr. Roosevelt apparently has ruled out reduction of social security taxes, saying yesterday that several years' experience with the huge pension system would be necessary before determining how much of a reserve should be built up for future payments.

Russia, Britain Want Closer Cooperation On Affairs

By the Associated Press

Appeals came from two major powers today, seeking to bring the United States more closely into the complicated international situation. One of the bids came from Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain; the other, from the communist party organ, Pravda, in Moscow.

Chamberlain, apparently encouraged by President Roosevelt's Oct. 5 Chicago peace address and by United States participation in the Brussels conference, called for further British-American collaboration last night in a speech at Guildhall.

Pravda asserted that the real purpose of the Italian-German-Japanese agreement against communism was to obtain territory in a new world war, and urged collective action by the United States, Britain and France against the three powers.

Meanwhile, the foreign area of Shanghai was plunged into the midst of hostilities again when Japanese airplanes and artillery bombarded Nantao, Chinese quarter adjacent to the French concession. Numerous bombs fell along the Whangpoo river waterfront within a few hundred yards of American and foreign war vessels at anchor in the river.

In the Spanish civil war, insurgent dispatches from the north-eastern front said the insurgents held important positions in the Gallego river valley which would be used as starting points for an attack against government forces east of the river.

Swapping Due At Meeting

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 10 (AP)—Bargain hunters in the baseball fly market, from all indications today, are prepared to do a large amount of early Christmas shopping when they assemble in Milwaukee December 1 for the three-day minor league meeting.

The meeting is primarily for the "little fellows," but as usual the big brothers in the major leagues may be expected to steal the show.

Several trades rumored to be in the making have fastballing Van Lingle Mungo of Brooklyn ticketed for the Chicago Cubs, pitcher Jack Wilson of the Boston Red Sox headed for the New York Yankee fold, and Zeke Bonura going to Washington and Joey Kuhel to the Chicago White Sox in a swap of first basemen.

Not a few newly-appointed minor league managers also will be looking for talent.

He ended his last speech with: "Down with Washington!"

(Karayan, angered because he had not received permission from Mariner to re-enter the United States, killed the American diplomat Oct. 12.)

Centenary rules a heavy favorite to brush aside the Lions, coming here heralded as a big, clever team.

LAMB FEEDING DUE TO INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—Federal economists forecast today an increase, principally in the corn belt, in the number of lambs fed this winter compared with a year ago.

The bureau of agricultural economics annual outlook report said marketings of fed lambs would increase accordingly from December through April. Marketings from sources other than feed lots probably would be less, the bureau said.

Little change was anticipated in sheep numbers over the country. The bureau said there should be "less weakening" in prices of lambs than in prices of hogs and cattle.
