Rev. Manning Youth Council County Member

County Judge Don W. Cihak of Bailey County has appointed Rev. Ed Manning of Muleshoe chairman of the County Committee on Children and Youth.

Judge Cihak acted in response to a request by Walter Richter, chairman of Governor Preston Smith's statewide Steering Committee on Children and Youth.

The Bailey County Committee is intended to give both youth (up to age 24) and adults alike an opportunity to contribute their ideas on the problems of children and youth—and their suggestions for solving them.

These ideas on problems and proposed solutions may be expressed by County Committee delegates in writing to the Governor's Steering Committee in Austin, (Drawer P, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711) or voiced in person at the Governor's Conference on Children and Youth Nov. 2-4 in Austin, Richter said.

With an expected attendance of some 600 persons equally divided between youths and adults, the Governor's Conference is intended to develop "input" of information and ideas from Texas into two national conferences.

--The White House Conference on Children (0-13), scheduled December 13-18 in Washington.

--The White House Conference on Youth (age 14-24), now set for February, 1971, instead of next June as previously announced.

TSTA Explains New School Legislation

New legislation which has been proposed for the Texas Legislature next January, a welcome to new teachers and a challenge for the 'rookies' in their chosen occupation was the theme of the annual Texas State Teachers Association breakfast Friday morning.

Main item discussed was proposed legislation to maintain control and standards for private trade, technical and business schools in the State of Texas.

According to the proposed legislation, said A.H. Hooser, special guest speaker from the Austin TSTA office, it will not be necessary for a private trade school, vocational school or business college to be accredited but they must meet certain standards and be a registered school with either the Texas Education Agency or the Texas Board of Education.

Mrs. James Jennings, high school teacher, who is a member of the State Legislative Board for TSTA said, "At present, there are a number of private trade, technical and business schools operating in Texas which have no established standards and are not subject to any evaluation. Or, some of them are not required to meet accepted guidelines for instructing their students. Although many reputable private trade, technical and business schools do operate and do subject themselves voluntarily to meeting accreditation standards, there remains an outer fringe group of schools which exploit graduates of high schools and other Texas citizens enrolled in and paying for instructions.

"In order to protect Texas children and adults from such exploitation, it seems necessary that legislatures should enact a law which would provide for supervision of these schools and establish standards which they must maintain to continue to operate," added Mrs. Jennings.

She continued, "So, included in the TSTA legislation program would be a program which would provide standards for supervising and regulating private trade, technical and business schools."

Mrs. Jennings said the proposed legislation was drawn up and adopted at the last meeting of the house of delegates last fall.

Twenty Seven Jailed Here During Week

Several arrests have been logged during the past week at the Bailey County Law Enforcement Center.

The Muleshoe City Police Department has shown up with an extremely busy week with 22 arrests.

Highest on the list was five for drunk. This was followed by three runaways; one for illegal entry to country; two for contributing to the delinquency of a minor; one for drinking after hours; two for minor possession; one for no drivers' license; one alien; one for driving while intoxicated, resisting arrest and assault; one sleeper; two for drinking and two for the State of New Mexico.

The Texas Highway Patrol jailed three for drunk; one for speeding and one for vagrancy.

mittie will go back to Austin during the latter part of September to work on completion of the program to have it ready for the legislature in January.

Mrs. Jennings had given The Journal the information following a brief outline by Hooser at the Friday morning breakfast at Muleshoe High School cafeteria.

After Mrs. Benny Pena, president of the Muleshoe Unit of the TSTA opened the session at the breakfast, Superintendent Neal Dillman introduced the principal of each of the Muleshoe schools. The principals then introduced their new teachers and office personnel.

TSTA President-Elect Wayland Ethridge then introduced special speaker Hooser, who spoke to the more than 120 persons present.

Speaking from the rostrum, Hooser told the new 'rookies' they "needed direction and would get direction."

He emphatically told the group, "the future of America and the destiny of our country is in your hands, the classroom teacher."

Hooser stated that a teacher in the State of Texas is required by law to teach patriotism in the school and read the law from a book. Not teaching patriotism, according to the book, can result in a fine for the teacher, removal of the teacher from the school system, and removal of their teaching certificate.

He spoke briefly on TSTA benefits and legislation which will be proposed next January. On the agenda to be considered will be new retirement benefits; the regulations and guidelines

Hospital Contestants File Motion Friday For New Trial

District Court Clerk Nelda Merriott received a motion for a new trial Friday in the Bailey County Hospital District and Bond Election Suit which was held in 154th District Court on July 28 and 29.

The original contestants in the suit filed the motion following District Judge Pat Boone's judgment on July 29 that the election of May 16 was legal in all respects.

In the motion for a new trial, unlike the previously filed documents and petitions in the contest, there was no mention of illegal voters.

Two Civil Cases Concluded In District Court

Two civil cases were concluded in four days of court this week.

A case consuming three days with testimony and conclusions occupied the jury Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The jurors, consisting of Roy T. Bratcher, Charles L. Saylor, Darrell Stephens, Linda Nowell, Houston Hart, W. E. Meyers, Eugene Howard, Ted Harrison, George E. Hicks, James Roy Jones, Curby Brantley and Lewis Wayne Shafer ruled for defendants Dee Clements, Joe Smallwood, Walter Rieckert and John Fried.

Charles L. Lasseter had filed suit against the quartet alleging that certain farm implements had been seized by the sheriff to satisfy a judgement execution which was filed in 1966. Lasseter alleged the property which was sold at auction to satisfy the judgement had been sold and a bill of sale issued three days before the property was taken for auction.

The suit asked for $14,000 actual damage and $28,000 exemplary damage, plus costs of suit.

The second suit completed was Enrique Sanchez versus Tracy Angeley. It was completed on Thursday, August 20. Shortly after lunch Angeley asked that the case be withdrawn from the jury and a judgment issued in favor of Angeley. Judge Pat Boone ruled for Angeley and assessed Sanchez the court costs.

The motion has been filed and it is the first step to affect an appeal to higher court which would be the Court of Civil Appeals in Amarillo.

According to the motion for a new trial, the contestants allege that the court failed to decide that House Bill 97, the bill authorizing the vote for Bailey County Hospital District should be void and invalid. The contestants state that the House Bill in question is contrary to the Constitution of the State of Texas.

Also declared unconstitutional by the contestants was the temporary board of directors and said they should not have been named permanently to a non-existing hospital district.

Also disputed was the polling, with the contestants alleging that voters should have had polling places in their own election precincts.

The contestants in the issue objected to the two polling places in the county, contending that they did not define geographical boundaries of the election precincts.

More than 190 persons had been subpoenaed by attorneys for the more than 300 contestants of the election for the July 28 suit before Judge Boone.

Of the subpoenaed witnesses, Judge Boone made his decision in the non-jury suit following Cont'd. on Page 3, Col. 3

Local Resident Gets Doctorate In Jurisprudence

Gordon Houston (Corky) Green received his degree as Doctor of Jurisprudence in ceremonies at the University of Houston last Saturday. His mother, Mrs. Ruby Green, brother Robbie and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Duncan were in Houston for the commencement exercises.

He was among 39 lawyers who graduated receiving Doctor of Jurisprudence degrees. He will take his bar examination the first week in October.

Green presently plans to practice law in Muleshoe. He is a former Bailey County deputy sheriff.

Moisture Deposits To Over Two Inches

Thursday night rains dumped from one-half to more than two inches of rain throughout Bailey County and southern Farmer County.

The official rain gauge in Muleshoe recorded .85 with some gauges in the northeastern section of the city reading slightly more than one inch. Dry Bula-Enochs farms went begging as only traces of moisture fell in that area. For the most part, the moisture received there was unmeasurable, with Roy Young of the Young Bros. Gin at Bula reporting only a light shower.

He told The Journal that crops in the Bula area look better than they should, and added that with a rain they could make a little crop yet. According to Young, the bugs are under good control with their biggest problem weather, or the lack of rain.

Young said many farmers lost cotton in the wind and sandstorms in May and some have replanted. Although most of the replanted cotton is fair, he concluded, it looks thin in places.

Mrs. D.S. Fowler at Maple Butane said there "wasn't very much" rain in the Maple area and Mrs. Abbe at State Line Butane at Maple reported a sprinkle in Maple, although Bill Dolle, seven miles north of Maple received .6 rain.

Around Needmore, James Dobbins commented that a light .4 was recorded at the Needmore Co-op Gin, but from Ballyboro west and north the moisture was heavier. Jesse Ray Carter of the Longview Community recorded an inch of moisture.

East of Needmore, Circleback recorded a trace and the Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge 25 miles south of Muleshoe, received .13 said Wildlife Refuge Manager Bert Blair.

M.C. Street Jr., one mile south of Coyote Lake near the New Mexico line had .4 and B.H. Black, six miles northwest of Muleshoe said he received three-fourths of an inch.

Six miles northeast of Muleshoe, one and one half inches Cont'd. on Page 3, Col. 6

Vegetables Move Out Of Field To Market

Vegetable harvest has been underway in the area with fair to good yields being noted among vegetable producers.

Among the first vegetables to be gleaned from fields were onions, followed by potatoes and cucumbers.

Both Barrett Produce in Muleshoe and Gregory Produce in Lariat are beginning to wind up the 1970 potato harvest. The produce companies reported moderate yields and fair quality this year. Some potatoes toward the end of the season this year have proven to be skinny. The producers have attributed this to the dry, cloddy ground prevalent when growers stop the irrigation process.

V.T. Tanner at Progress reports a good cucumber harvest for this year. He expected something like six million pounds of cucumbers to be processed through his operation before the end of the season.

According to several vegetable growers in the area, the lack of field hands is hampering the harvest which, for the most part, is done by manual labor.

One grower reported that members of the Border Patrol had picked up all his hands from the field for deportation to Mexico. The workers had evidently come into the country to work without securing papers. It was reported that a local resident, who had become disgruntled at the field workers, had reported them.

Another vegetable producer said it was almost impossible to get workers to harvest his crops, which include several varieties of vegetables. He commented that a recent group acquired to work came to the field and asked for a raise before they ever started working.

Pepper harvest is getting underway, and a few tomatoes are being processed through the fields and shops. Watermelons and cantaloupe are being shipped out to warehouses and grocers, with very good yields noted in most areas.

Other vegetables being grown commercially in the area include, blackeye peas, beans, okra, squash, pumpkins, cabbage, carrots, corn and small acreages of turnips.

Bailey county farmers have shown a great trend during the past few years to turn more toward vegetable producing. Huge trucks move in and out of the vicinity with their loads of fresh vegetables and move them into markets in all directions.

CANTALOUPE, ANYONE?--Ben Roming took time out Thursday afternoon to show off some of his top cantaloupe from an acreage west of Progress. Cantaloupe is just one of the varied vegetable crops on the Roming farm.

A Message From Muleshoe

Even before the new postal reform begins, one problem that it will face is crystal clear: It will have to consider the local pride of the many hundreds of communities it will serve around the land.

The new postal service presumably will try to reorganize operations in numerous ways, always with the hope of becoming more efficient. In the process it's likely that more mail will be sorted in central distribution centers, instead of local offices, and it's quite possible that some communities will lose their postmark.

That sort of change, in fact, is already going on. One step along that line recently brought an angry letter from the chamber of commerce of Muleshoe, a community of 5,000 in West Texas.

According to Texas Senator Ralph Yarborough, who received the letter, postal service in Muleshoe has degenerated since the Post Office stopped processing mail there. "In addition," he said on the floor of the Senate, "this community has also lost its postmark which is just another step toward losing its complete identity as a city."

We have no way of knowing whether the Muleshoe change was wise or otherwise. It does seem understandable, however, that any major revision of procedure would cause dislocations at least for a while. If the change continues to be for the worse, probably it should be rescinded.

As the new postal service gets under way, it is certain to make mistakes. The test of its performance will be whether it can recognize its errors and correct them--and in time make fewer of them. The service won't be helped at all by heavy political pressure to keep on doing everything the same old way.

Gas Rate Increase Asked By Pioneer

Pioneer Natural Gas Company today made application to the city officials of the cities on its West Texas system, including Muleshoe, for an adjustment in the company's general service rate charged for gas delivered to domestic and commercial customers in those cities. The application stated that, if the cities acted affirmatively within the sixty-day period provided by law, the company would accept a rate increase of 16.2 per cent rather than the 19.4 per cent requested.

In announcing the rate request, K.B. Watson, Executive Vice President of Pioneer said, "With the rising costs the company has sustained, it is in immediate need of additional revenue. To avoid any further delay and expense, an increase of 16.2 per cent would be acceptable although a rate increase of 19.4 per cent would yield less than a 7-3/8 per cent return on the fair value of the company's investment. As an indication of the problem," Watson continued, "the company was forced to pay an interest rate of 9-1/2 per cent on its recent borrowing of $20 million."

It was further pointed out that the Texas Railroad Commission had determined the proper charge for gas at the

Texas Ranked First In Swine, Cattle Exports

AUSTIN--Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has announced that not only is Texas number one in exports of breeding cattle but now is also number one in exports of breeding swine.

Figures released by the U. S. Department of Agriculture confirm that Texas leads the nation in exporting breeding swine, the Texas Department of Agriculture chief said.

The figures show that 48% of U.S. breeding swine exports were provided by Texas producers. Total U.S. exports were 23,724 and Texas provided 11,399 of those. Indiana ranked second with exports of 1,540 head of hogs.

Commissioner White said Texas swine producers deserve considerable credit for achieving a high level of quality in their breeding stock, and he praised swine breeders for the cooperation they have given the Texas Department of Agriculture's Marketing Division in carrying out programs to promote increased sales both domestically and abroad.

The swine industry currently is one of the most rapidly growing segments of Texas agriculture, Commissioner White said, and export sales of breeding swine will stimulate even greater growth.

Six July Accidents in County Presbyterians

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated six accidents on rural highways in Bailey County during the month of July, according to Sergeant Keffer, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in two persons killed, five persons injured and an estimated property damage of $7,005.00.

nearly two days of testimony by more than 20 witnesses. At noon, on the second day of the suit, most of the subpoenaed witnesses had been released, and testimony concluded at mid-afternoon.

Judge Boone recessed the court for 15 minutes, then heard a motion by Cecil Kuhne, attorney for the Bailey County Hospital District Board members asking that the judgment be for the hospital district. Judge Boone immediately ruled for the hospital district and the suit was ended.

Following the filing of the judge's ruling in the suit on August 13, the contestants had 10 days in which to file a motion for a new trial. The motion was filed on the final day allowed, Friday, August 21.

Hoozer said there are 128,000 TSTA members in Texas of the 130,000 teachers in the state. He added that most of the 2,000 teachers not enrolled in TSTA are from the Houston and San Antonio Independent School Districts.

Using colorful verbal illustrations, the TSTA representative urged the "rookies" and the established teachers to be examples and exhibit "love of God, love of country, love of patriotism and love of human individualism."

"School days" are here again. The familiar yellow school buses are back on the highways. The Sergeant reminds all motorists of the state law regulating traffic in regard to school buses. "The driver of a vehicle upon a highway outside of the limits of any incorporated city or town upon meeting or overtaking from either direction any school bus which has stopped on the highway for the purpose of receiving or discharging any school children shall stop the vehicle immediately before passing the school bus, but may then proceed past such school bus at a speed which is prudent, not exceeding ten (10) miles per hour, and with due caution for the safety of such children."

Miss Otwell, Lackey Exchange Vows

Miss Narssia Ann Otwell became the bride of Randy Mack Lackey in an impressive candlelight ceremony Friday, August 14, at eight p.m. in the Trinity Baptist Church of Muleshoe. Rev. V.L. Huggins performed the double ring ceremony. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Otwell, Muleshoe and Mr. and Mrs. O.M. Lackey of the Longview Community. An arch of 24 cathedral candies, surrounded by Killion daisies and emerald formed the background for the altar. A nine-branch spiral candle-labra stood on either side of the arch. A five candle arrangement in greenery stood on each choir rail. The family pews were marked with candelabras. Single candles, set in greenery, banked the windows of the church. The memory candle stood on a pedestal before the recessional aisle and as the couple departed the church they lit the candle together.

Mrs. Charles Bratcher of Muleshoe, organist, accompanied Miss Rebecca Phelps of Muleshoe, as she sang "Walk Hand in Hand" and "The Twelfth of Never". As the couple knelt at a white wrought iron perideliu with velvet cushion, Miss Phelps sang "The Wedding Prayer".

The bride, given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, wore a formal gown of white organza over bridal taffeta. The Victorian gown featured Venice lace bands with single lace daisies trimming the high neckline, the Bishop sleeves with deep cuffs, and extending in vertical rows on the bodice, encircling the A-line skirt and accenting the cathedral train which was attached to the empire waist with a bow and ribbon streamers. The veil of tulle was in chapel and cathedral lengths. The cathedral length veil was edged with single daisies, rembroided with pearls, that completely encircled the long veil. The chapel length veil formed a bouffant effect and was held in place by a crystal tiara accented with daisies and pearls. Her cascading bouquet was of cambidum orchids surrounded by white daisies. Streamers and love knots of white satin and lace and lillies of the valley flowed from the bouquet.

The bride's traditional something old was a pearl ring belonging to her paternal great grandmother which was given the bride on her sixteenth birthday. Something new was her bridal gown, something blue was her garter and something borrowed was a handkerchief belonging to the groom's mother that his father had sent her from Germany while stationed there during World War II.

During the processional, the bride paused and presented her mother with a red rose. The bride gave her new mother-in-law an identical red rose during the recessional.

Mrs. Jimmy Bruton, Canyon, was matron of honor. Miss Debra Rudd was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Debbie Sain, Miss Becky Sain and Miss Carolyn Wedel all of Muleshoe.

They were dressed identically in floor length yellow dotted swiss empire dresses featuring short puffed sleeves and princess skirts. A wide white-lace-on-yellow-satin ribbon encircled the empire waist. This lace was the same as was on the bride's dress. They wore short white gloves and white shoes. Their headpieces were petals of white satin-covered wire holding white daisies and short yellow tulle veils. The attendants carried white wicker baskets filled with trailing yellow daisies and greenery. Yellow and mint green streamers in love knots fell from the baskets.

Flower girl, Tracey Lackey, cousin of the groom, Olton, wore a dress identical to the older attendants and a head band entwined with ribbons and daisies. She carried a basket containing white, yellow and mint green loveknots which she scattered down the aisle in front of the bride.

Candlelighters were Miss Becky Lackey and Miss Johnna Lackey, nieces of the groom from Socorro, New Mexico.

Terry Lackey, nephew of the groom from Socorro, was ring bearer.

Best man was Richard Echols, Lubbock. Groomsmen were Dean Lackey, brother of the groom, Socorro, New Mexico; Gary Strahan, Gary Ethridge and Lewis Wayne Morris all of Muleshoe. Ushers were Randy Marcus, Tucumcari, New Mexico, Jerrell Otwell, brother of the bride, Robert Otwell, brother of the bride and Jimmy Harvey all of Muleshoe.

The reception honoring the couple was held at the Fellowship Hall of the Church. Registering guests was Miss Joyce Raney. Serving were Miss Rickie Stockard, Miss Lee Ann Yerby, Miss Martha Jane Chapman and Miss Barbara Wilhite. Others of the house party were Mrs. T.W. Berry, Mrs. Harold DeLoach, Mrs. Ance Ashford, Mrs. O.W. Rudd, Mrs. L.L. Kitchens and Mrs. Homer Lackey.

During the reception, music was provided by Brent Blackman at the piano. The piano was decorated with the baskets of the bridal party.

All the tables were covered with white net edged with white lace over yellow satin. The bride's table was decorated with the white four tiered cake with three extended tiers decorated with daisies and figurines depicting the bridal party, the groomsmen on one side and the bridesmaids on the other, on spiral staircases descending down each side of the cake. A five-branch silver candelabra, holding white tapers centered the table. Mint green punch was served from a crystal punch bowl. Mint green bell mints and nuts were also served from crystal.

The groom's table was centered with a five-branch candelabra. Coffee, from a silver coffee service, and a double-ring chocolate cake were served. The mints and nuts were served from silver appointments.

Rice bags, containing yellow rice, were made of white bells covered with mint green net and tied with white ribbon and were on silver trays placed on the register's table.

For a wedding trip to El Paso, Juarez, Mexico and other points of interest in the south the bride wore a yellow crepe double knit dress with white accessories and the orchids from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will be at home after August 21 at the Creek Village Apartment in Okmugsee, Oklahoma, where they plan to enter Oklahoma State Tech. The groom plans to major in electronics and the bride will major in secretarial studies.

The bride is a 1970 graduate of Muleshoe High School, a member of the Mighty M Band for four years, a member of FHA for four years and a member of FTA.

The groom graduated from Muleshoe High School in 1970. He was a member of VICA and was also president. He was a member of FFA for four years and played football for three years.

The double-ring ceremony was solemnized by the father of the bride in the First United Methodist Church in Canyon. Escorted to the altar by her brother she wore a gown fashioned by her mother of white crepe that featured short sleeves and a full skirt gathered to a basque-paneled bodice. The scooped neckline was outlined with a rose point lace yoke. Attached to the chapel-length train at the waistline was a rosette and bud spray of the dress fabric. Her veil of imported illusion fell from a five-petal point lace tiara encrusted with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of lavender cattelaya orchids on a background of baby bride's white roses accented with stephanotis, pearl and shower streamers with love knots, atop her mother's wedding testament.

Miss Stephanie Marie Peery, sister of the bride was maid of honor; and Miss Fawnell Price of Canyon was bridesmaid. The attendants wore floor-length empire styled dresses of flocked multi-colored print cloque accented in back with velvet ribbon and bow. Miss Deborah Wagon T.R. White Tour Europe

"A whole new world" was opened to Deborah Wagon when she toured Europe recently with her grandfather, T.R. White. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pat Wagon of Muleshoe and will be a senior at Muleshoe High School. She and her grandfather left July 8 for London, via Dallas and Chicago, and returned August 12.

Arriving in London, they toured by motor coach to Amsterdam, Holland; took a short cruise down the Rhine River and went to Heidelberg, Germany where they visited the University, then traveled on to Lucerne, Switzerland.

In Germany, they spent two nights in Garmish where Mr. White celebrated his birthday. This German town is where some of the Olympic Games are held.

The two toured the Castle of Crazy King Ludwig and then went on to Venice. This city proved interesting because of the lack of cars and bicycles. The city consists of 200 islands and 400 bridges. It is composed of five different styles of architecture. All of the travel is done by water. Last year the gondoliers went on strike at the peak of the tourist season to protest against the boats used in the canals. The gondoliers say the motor boats stir up the water so much it rocks the gondolas and interferes with the tourists. Cars can't be used because there aren't any streets and bicycles can't be used because the bridges are made of steps.

From Venice to Florence, Miss Wagon said she had never seen so many tunnels on one highway. There were no hills on the road because the tunnels went through them.

In Florence, the watermarks of the flood of 1966 were still visible. The buildings were discolored below the watermarks and she said she could not visualize water getting that high. Also in Florence, they saw Michelangelo's "David". This statue stands 17 feet high and it took 24 months to complete. During the riot of 1539, a table fell from a window and broke the left arm of the statue, fortunately, Michelangelo was still alive to repair it.

Next on the agenda was Rome. This is where art abounds in many forms. Miss Wagon revealed that if you did not appreciate art before you went there you would when you returned.

On their "Rome By Night" tour, they visited the Trivia Fountain, the most famous in Rome because of the legend that throwing coins into the fountain will make wishes come true and bring you back to Rome. The next day they saw the Palace of William I, the coliseum, which had fascinated her because she always wondered where the animals were kept until they were brought into the arena. Once there, she saw that there was a maze under the floor of the coliseum and a large pit for the larger animals. Also, the coliseum had the gates numbered in Roman numerals and the people of ancient times had tickets, made of ivory, that had a specific gate number carved on it--much like the present day tickets we have.

They visited the pantheon, St. Peter's Church, the Vatican Museum, and the Sixtine Chapel. The chapel interior was painted by Michelangelo on orders from Julius II in 1508. It took 24 years to paint this. The ceiling is three dimensional and one side is the mural "The Last Judgement". This huge mural was originally painted by Michelangelo with the people in the nude, but because a secretary did not approve of it, Julius II commissioned another artist to paint clothes on the figures. When Michelangelo saw this he painted a nude picure at the bottom of the mural of the secretary with a serpent choking him. It is still there today.

Michelangelo's painting always had brilliant colors in them because he put egg yolks in the paint, because of this, his painting are now beginning to deteriorate.

As an optional tour, the travelers boarded a hydrofold and went to the Isle of Capri. While there they visited the Blue Grotto cave.

In the remaining days of their tour, they visited the Leaning Tower of Piza, the Italian Riviera, Monte Carol, Monaco, Nice, France, Grenoble and Paris, where they took a local sightseeing tour to Versailles. From there they flew to Frankfurt, Germany where they spent two weeks visiting with Mr. White's son Captain and Mrs. Clifford White and their son Patrick.

From Frankfurt they flew to London, New York, Dallas and home.

Miss Wagon summed up her trip by saying "there is so much ancient history there and not near enough time to see it all."

BIRTHDAY IN EUROPE . . . Miss Deborah Wagon and her grandfather, T.R. White celebrated his birthday in Garmish, Germany while they were touring Europe last month. This picture was taken at the hotel in which they stayed.

New Legislation Would Boost Doctor Supply

Washington -- Congressman George Bush today introduced legislation to allow graduating physicians, dentists, and optometrists who have borrowed money for their education to begin debt free practice if they agree to practice for three years in a medically deprived area.

Bush said, "The passage and implementation of this Community Health Act of 1970 is of critical importance as it gives incentives to young medical graduates to practice in our rural areas. In Texas, as in the rest of the country, our medical men are clustered in the urban centers, leaving rural areas with tremendous shortages of doctors, dentists, and optometrists.

"This misallocation of available medical personnel is a serious threat to the health and well-being of rural citizens, and we must take positive action to draw young men and women of the medical profession into our small communities."

The Bush bill defines a medically deprived area as one in which the appropriate state health authority certifies there is a shortage of essential medical personnel. The measure allows expansion of the Act to other medical personnel as other shortages develop, as determined by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare. The bill authorizes HEW to pay the principal and interest on any outstanding educational loan incurred by a physician, dentist, or optometrist during his professional-level training, provided a person agrees to practice in a medically deprived area for at least three years.

Bush said, "This step is only a partial answer to the problem of improving medical service for rural areas, but I believe it is an important first step that we must take."
