DOWELL NO. 4 HAS SHOWING

Oil in McDowell Well 3800 Feet Has Centered in That Locality

McDowell Well No. 4

That a good oil showing was encountered in the General Company's McDowell well has aroused considerable interest among local people as well as the oil fraternity. This oil was shown to a greater depth than the oil in the Iatan-Westbrook section and is believed to be a different grade oil.

It is estimated that the well had nearly 3400 feet of oil when the oil showing was made. It is absolutely impossible to know at what it is going to show. One thing seems certain, however, and that is that it must be a commercial well since oil can be brought to the surface from the bottom of the well.

It is the opinion of the great present a column of water must be maintained at the point the oil was encountered. The oil in the Iatan-Westbrook section has been solved the reason for the well No. 1 continuing a flow through a small one—because the oil has been brought to the surface through crevices from the casing.

The showing there was conducted in leasing both the well and outside parties. The oil company secured approximately 2,400 acres of the General Petroleum Company's holding; paying a yearly bonus of $10,000 and a continuous drilling, with first test to start in ninety days.

It is believed that a similar company is making another tract in the Iatan-Westbrook section. The California Magnolia Company, Murphy has been drilling operations in the Iatan-Westbrook section, while drilling of eight wells is held up on a shortage of water for the Iatan-Westbrook section.

It has been determined in order to get to the head No. 1 of the Iatan-Westbrook section, the company encountered a number of obstructions which have delayed the work. The company is expecting oil to be encountered in this test at about 3800 feet.

The water gusher northwest of the well is to be put on a show of salt water becoming a show of oil. An effort will be made to show the well.

The well has penetrated beyond the Iatan-Westbrook section. The well still holds out and the company is making every effort to operate every bucket of slush in the well. The slush pit at times shows a show of oil on its surface. A lighted match applied to the bubbles will show that the bubbles are of a petroleum nature.

The rapid progress at the well around the 2700-foot mark. Oil is shown in the slush pit and several barrels of black slush are being carried to show to the Iatan-Westbrook section.

starting drilling operations on these lands in the near future.

At the Sparkman well everything is going nicely. K. K. Biglowe has charge of the drilling. At present only day shifts are being maintained.

Drilling at the George McEntire and Durham wells is suspended, but those who know say it is only for a short time.—Sterling City News-Record.

Big Spring Boy Won Eight Medals

John Quinn, eighteen years old, son of Mrs. Mabel Quinn of Big Spring, won eight medals at Camp Perry, Ohio, while a member of the National Champion C. M. T. C. Team of the 8th Corps area in the National Rifle Tournament.

Immediately after the close of the tournament Mr. Quinn left Berkeley, California, where he entered the University of California.

Our folks are indeed proud of the record John Quinn has made ever since he entered the Big Spring schools and it's assured that he is going to make his mark in the world.

Following is a list of the records he made at the National Rifle Tournament: One "Expert Rifle Marksmanship" for the 600-yard range, alone making 50 out of 50; One "Expert Rifle Marksmanship" for 50 out of 50 at two and three hundred rapid fire each; One for "Expert skill in Pistol Marksmanship" at 50 yards with the Colt 45. These three were awarded by the National Rifle Association. One "Expert Rifleman" off hand shooting; One "Expert Pistol" off hand shooting. These two were given by the War Department 6, 7, and 8th won all team medals. One for being a member of National Champion C. M. T. C. team; One for being one of the six men who won the Port Clinton Trophy, a bronze statue that will be sent to Fort Sam Houston. And a silver medal for being a member of the first team in B Class of all American teams.

Football Game Saturday October 7th

A big football game will be in order at the baseball park in Big Spring on Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

The Sweetwater High school team will battle against the Big Spring Jay Hawks.

There is a keen rivalry between these two teams and then too the Big Spring boys are out after the State championship. They defeated Lamesa 6 to 0, and defeated Owsen 26 to 0. They expect to add the Sweetwater scalp to their list and their chances will be greatly improved if the homefolks turn out in force to encourage them.

Let us show that we are going to back our home team to the limit in their efforts to win the State championship by attending every game of football in which our team is a contestant. This is the encouragement they need to insure victory. Be on hand Saturday and boost for them.

Stokes-Driver

J. V. Stokes Jr. and Miss Mayme Driver, both of Midland, Texas, were married here Friday, September 27th, the ceremony being performed at the home of the bride's brother, Ira Driver, by Rev. Ben Hardy, pastor of the Methodist church. The wedding was a quiet home affair, with only the immediate relatives attending. The mother and sister of the bride were here from Midland to attend the ceremony.

The bride is a charming and accomplished young lady and has a wide circle of friends in Midland. The groom is a popular and successful ranchman of Midland County and is respected and esteemed by all who know him.

Sunday Meetings of Shop Crafts

The first Sunday morning meeting was such a success that it was decided to meet regularly each Sunday at 10 a. m. The attendance at last Sunday's meeting was especially large and everyone present was given an opportunity to make a short talk. Business is speeded up so that all who so desire may attend church services at 11 a. m.

These meetings will be held in the W. O. W. Hall each Sunday morning so that the men who are now working in the harvest fields and elsewhere may come and learn what progress is being made as to the settlement of the railway strike, as it is not possible for them to attend the weekday meetings.

Buys Farm South of Town

John Marchbanks this week purchased of W. E. Pool one hundred and sixty acres of land, located six miles southwest of Big Spring. This is fine farming land and Mr. Marchbanks will improve it and make his home thereon.

HOME MAKING IS DISCUSSED

Mrs. Maggie Barry of Home Economics Division of A. & M. Address Members of City Fed. and Others

Through the efforts of Mrs. James T. Brooks our country chairman of Home Economics of the General Federation the people of Big Spring had the pleasure of hearing two splendid addresses given by Mrs. Maggie Barry, from the Extension Department of the A. & M. She is also general chairman of the Home Economics division of the General Federation.

The ladies were given an opportunity in the afternoon to meet Mrs. Barry at the "Y" after which she talked to the ladies about the City Federation. She told us what were the aims and purposes of the Federation, City, State and General; that it represented organization in that it organizes the forces, collects the machinery necessary to carry any and all kinds of work for the benefit of humanity.

Whereas other clubs had some definite line of work, used its forces to help some particular cause but the Federation was ready at any time to assist or take entire charge of any kind of work, as the community spirit was to work in any field but not just in certain fields. As the name Federation implies it is made up of the many different clubs.

She pointed out some of the many things the Federation had done and is doing, also some of the things we should do but are not doing.

While we are proud of our city, state, and General Federation, we have in the majority of cases left a gap. We have failed to organize the county. Mrs. Barry pointed out so plainly the necessity of filling this gap to make the chain complete we feel sure it will soon be closed.

Wednesday evening she gave a lecture at the Methodist church to an appreciative audience taking for her subject "Home Making." She took us back thru the years to the home around the camp fire when the man hunted for the food and the woman and child watched and waited, keeping the home fires burning; on up thru the different changes; up to the present time.

While she admired and praised the advancement and improvement that had been made in the means of production but deplored the fact that the home, the primary and most essential factor had failed to help us with this advancement.

While regretting some of the changes in the home life nevertheless she felt it was necessary for the home to adjust itself to the changed conditions.

One reason for this she gave was that the woman, the home maker had failed to attach the importance to her vocation that it was entitled to, that it remained for the women as homemakers to demand the same respect for our work as was accorded other callings.

Another thing she called our attention to was that while our population was increasing the number of homes were not increasing in the same proportion even amongst boys and girls trained along this line.

In closing she pictured what the homes mean to us as a nation, as well as individuals; what we were missing and about to lose unless we made a special effort to regain what was worth more to us than any thing else the "Home."

Freight Wreck at Roscoe

A freight wreck near Roscoe, last Friday night, tied up traffic on the Texas & Pacific some ten or twelve hours. Passenger train No. 1, due here at 1 a. m. did not reach our city until about 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Some thirteen or fourteen cars left the rails, and the work of picking up the wrecked cars was not completed until Monday; the wrecker returning to this city Tuesday morning.

This is the first wreck that has taken place on the Rio Grande division in quite a while.

The City Federation Notes

The City Federation met in regular session Tuesday October 3rd with fourteen members present.

The arrangement committee for the Rummage sale reported that they had completed their plans and the Rummage sale would be held October 27-28. J. & W. Fisher have kindly consented to let the Federation hold this sale in the north wing of their store.

This will be a Rummage sale, that is you can rummage thru and find most anything you want, but it will not be a sale of rubbish as every thing will be clean and can be used by someone.

Articles of clothing will be acceptable at this sale that would not be suitable to send in the Missionary boxes, such as discarded evening dresses, sheer waists, laces, ribbons, belts, collars, etc. As all young folks like to "dress up" to go to a party but could not buy this kind of clothing first handed.

You may have some curtains, lace or scrim that you are just tired of looking at that some one else could use to make curtains for their kitchen or bath room and do not feel like buying new material.

Some people have so many pictures that they cannot find room in their homes to display them while others cannot afford to buy even a cheap print. So why not give your surplus and give someone a chance to enjoy them! This may also be said of other small articles of a useful or decorative nature. It was also suggested that owing to the fact that braided and rag rug, as well as rag carpet was all the "go," that bundles of clean rags that could be used as carpet rags would be acceptable if they were put in bundles and marked carpet rags.

Please remember the time, October 27-28 in the north wing of J. & W. Fisher's store. Come out and help the cause. But first gather up every thing you want to give and take or send it to the store before hand and if unable to do this phone either 137, 452, 164, and they will see that the donations are called for.

Mrs. Raleigh L. Davis Entertains

Mrs. Raleigh L. Davis entertained with an all-day party last Friday and a continual round of pleasure was enjoyed by her guests on this occasion.

In the morning she entertained eight tables of players at Bridge. The keenly contested games were indeed enjoyed; and to Miss Nell Phillips of Dallas went the honor of making the high score.

In the afternoon Mrs. Davis entertained eight tables of players at Rook and a jollier occasion could not have been possible. Mrs. S. D. Ford made high score of the afternoon. Delicious refreshments were an added pleasure.

Cotton Receipts Climbing

Cotton continues to roll in at the rate of about two hundred bales per day and is now approaching the 5,000-bale mark at Big Spring, and is around 2,000 at Coahoma.

If the present ideal weather continues in force, cotton picking is going to be completed at a much earlier date than has ever been known here.

DIVERSIFICATION THE BEST BET

Cows and Hens Aid When Crops Are Poor—They Are a Winning Combination at All Times

By J. I. McGregor

Agricultural Agent Southern Pacific. Crop conditions throughout the Brazos Valley are very discouraging at present with no relief in sight. Continued dry weather has caused the late corn crop to be almost a total failure and that condition, along with the ravages of the cotton leaf worm has reduced the estimated yield of cotton for this season to below 50 per cent normal crop. The entire Brazos Valley has been particularly hard hit this year by overflows and an unusually wet spring, delaying the planting season until the latter part of April and the first of May, and then an almost total absence of rain since that time. Such a condition offers mute testimony of the value of diversification in farm crops.

If each of these Brazos Valley farmers had a few good dairy cows, which always bring in a monthly income, together with a few good hens to supply the eggs, and eggs usually always have a good market, with hogs and beef cattle, even if conditions do cause a failure of corn and cotton, the farm is operated at a profit. We have a number of late dry weather feed crops, which marketed on the hoof nets a fair return. Cow peas are as pretty and growthy as one would want to see even on the hill lands, and both cattle and hogs will harvest the cow peas if given a chance; at the same time cow peas being a legume when plowed under will enrich the soil at no cost to the farmer. Then we have Spanish peanuts, soy beans, alfalfa, and alfalfa furnishes five and six cuttings a year, almost throughout the Brazos Valley when once started, feterita, milo maize, kaffir corn and numberless other profitable crops.

The real good, successful farmer is not the man who makes a big crop when all conditions, or rather the majority of conditions, are just right, but he is the man who makes his farm pay an interest on the investment, pay him for his labor, take care of depreciation on the farm, and then show a profit above expenses, regardless of conditions. It takes foresight, experience, knowledge, optimism and courage, but it can be done, as here and there over the State, we find men who have done it. As someone has so well said, "Life consists not in holding a good hand, but in playing a poor hand well." If more of our farmers would get that view point, and stop trusting to luck to help them out our Texas Agriculture would be revolutionized.

The Nine Endeavors

Who were in Lamesa from Friday evening until after the seven thirty service Sunday evening will be at the Christian Church in their regular places Sunday. If you doubt my word—there is one way to find out for yourself. Come. Fill your regular place.

It is a pity that others did not avail themselves of the opportunity—to meet with the sixty C. E. delegates from the Societies of this District; to become acquainted with the big-hearted Lamesa people, to enjoy the "feeds" and entertainment; to meet with Mr. Jack Huppertz in a "get-acquainted" meeting and a full two days conference; to see the sunset and perfect mirage; to meet with those twenty nine people for a sunrise prayer meeting; to worship Him on the great wide plain.

Two speakers went up with our delegation, the only field secretary for this large State of Texas, Mr. Jack Huppertz, who has developed our District to such a record in one year; and our own Sunday school teacher and friend, Mrs. Neldemeier, who is the Young People's Superintendent at Van Horn.

Then our delegation: Misses Helen Creath, Pearl Early, Lola and Mittie Owen, Oms Maxfield, and Messrs Mack Early, Charlie Dunn, Louis Owen and Elmo Ory.

Labor Unions—The Other Side

(By Dr. Frank Crane)

Some days ago I published a letter from a railway fireman in a western state. His attitude was somewhat critical of labor unions.

I have received a letter from Rose Golup Cohen of N. Y., who gives her opinion on the other side of the case, which I am glad to set forth. She says:

"That we all have our good and bad impulses, and should encourage the good and repress the bad. The fireman's impulse seemed to her to be twisted a bit; for while he does not find it in his heart to help the striking railway men through whose organization he has profited, he is fired with generosity to help the strike-breakers who is destroying the principles in which he, the fireman, believes as a union man.

She gives her own experience. "When I was a little child and worked fourteen hours a day in the sweatshops, and a man came and organized my shop, and our work day became twelve hours, it was very wonderful to have these extra two hours. I had long lost the habit of play. But it was wonderful to have the time to just go out into the street and stand watching other children play. From the age of 12 to 17 I worked at making fine coats, clothing the world. But when I would pick up a printed page all I could do was stare at it. Who can understand the pain, the humiliation of illiteracy. I felt like a dumb, blind beast. It was like a miracle, then, when again through the union my wages, which were $3 a week, for doing a woman's work, were raised to $5 a week. My hours were reduced 2 hours more, and I was able to run to night school decently dressed and 'learn' even if it were a word or two at a time.

"The union did this and more for me and for many thousand others. "So, if the unions are not perfect, I am hoping that some day they will be, when we ourselves are less selfish, more understanding, more just. If we break the union now, would we not have to put something else in its place? The time for single-handed dealing is passed because we are so many! And, too, some are too weak. Here and there there is someone who can stand by himself, and does not like to belong to a group. He better leave it, then, and work for himself, as you advise. Would it be right for him to interfere with the group, become a strikebreaker? One who does it, is either because he does not understand, is ignorant of the principles, the soul behind, or else he is a fool, or deliberately vicious. For a truly fine, brave man, even if he does not believe, would go and do other work, would not find it in his heart to break down what other men are building with their flesh and blood.

"This, my dear sir, is my personal angle on trade unionism."

So there are two sides to this and to all questions, which is a statement that we often forget.

Mitchell County Farmers Buy Land.

Two successful farmers of Mitchell County each purchased three hundred and twenty acres north of Big Spring and will move to Howard County. B. A. Donaldson and F. M. Smith are the men and they bought of J. C. Childress of Temple, six hundred and forty acres, 8 miles northwest of Big Spring. While unimproved, this is as fine agricultural land as is to be found and the purchasers have secured a bargain. The deal was made through the R. L. Cook & Co real estate firm.

Messrs Donaldson and Smith plan to build homes on this land and put same in cultivation the coming winter.

Stanton High School Burns

The High School building at Stanton, Texas, was destroyed by fire last Friday night about 11 o'clock. Only a small part of the books and furniture was saved. This was a brick structure. The loss is estimated to be well above $20,000, with insurance of $14,000. When first discovered the fire was burning slowly in the laboratory but there is no fire fighting equipment in Stanton, and soon the blaze was beyond control.

School will be conducted in the court house or a church until a new building can be erected.

Mrs. Jno. Clarke Entertains

Mrs. Jno. Clarke delightfully entertained a number of friends at rook, Tuesday and a delightful time was the report of everyone present. The six tables of players enjoyed every game and to Mrs. H. W. Leeper went the honor of making top score. The delicious refreshments served added to the pleasures of the guests.

Many Roads Sign Up With Workers
Representatives of Federated Shop Crafts whose members are on strike are in contact with officials of the railroads, and LABOR has advised that it will not be long until agreements based upon the Jewell-Warfield plan are reached.

Meanwhile railroad equipment is in the worst condition in its history. This fact is admitted by the Association of Railway Executives. In an inspired article from New York the Associated Press reports that more than half of the locomotives in the country are unfit for service and that the car surplus has been wiped out.

Without locomotives traffic can not be moved, which means that a congestion already of serious proportions is certain to increase until the roads are supplied with competent men. These will not be available until the roads come to terms with their striking employees.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Many railroads signed the Baltimore basis of settlement of the shopmen's strike during the past week and thousands of employees have returned to their old positions.

Conferences are on with other roads and each day adds to the list of carriers operating under agreement. These conferences will continue throughout this and next week with prospects of settlements being reached with a vast majority of the struck roads.

President Jewell of the Railway Employees' Department remained in the east after adjusting the misunderstandings on the New York Central lines under the terms of which 20,000 shopmen went back to their jobs. He is conferring with officials of other roads in that section.

Settlement was made with the Southern Railway lines at a conference held in Washington between operating officials and President Johnson of the International Association of Machinists.

Vice President J. F. McGrath of the Department is in St. Louis conferring with officials of the Missouri Pacific and the Frisco lines. Reports coming to national strike headquarters in Chicago indicate that a number of important agreements will be reached this week.

The bluff being put up by a few western lines of forming company unions is not worrying the strikers, for the reason that men mechanics can not be inveigled into such a snare.

The situation, from the standpoint of strike leaders, could scarcely be more favorable.

Those railroads which have not made terms with striking shopmen find themselves unable to handle traffic offered. There is serious congestion in the terminals, and this situation will become worse until the roads regain the competent men who are on strike.

Just how hard hit the railroads are is revealed in a statement recently issued by the Association of Railway Executives. It declares that the car surplus has disappeared and that there is an insistent demand for equipment to move bumper crops, replenish a depleted coal supply, and handle other kinds of traffic now being offered in great quantities.

The Associated Press, in an inspired story of the situation, says the demand upon the carriers has centered attention on depleted motive power equipment, "which has been affected by the shopmen's strike."

It states that the railway executives admitted that in August 30 per cent of locomotives were unfit for service, and that today railroad officials confess that more than half of the locomotives in the country are out of service awaiting repairs.

"With more motive power available," says the Associated Press, "officials say they could easily secure a turnover of freight and coal cars that would tend to nullify the car shortage, or at least prevent it from assuming larger proportions."

The Federated Shop Crafts leaders are entirely cognizant of the situation and are confident that it will compel the railroad executives to fall into line. Without the trained men members of the unions the railroads can not possibly, in the opinion of the strikers' leaders, get their equipment in condition to meet the nation's transportation needs.

With exception of a few men who returned to work at Nashville in the shops of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, there have been no defections in the ranks of the strikers anywhere. "Sign the agreement or we stay out" is their retort to all invitations to break ranks and return to the shops as individual employees. The greatest strike in the history of the railroad industry is still a great success in its twelfth week.

Following is an official list of the roads and subsidiaries which have thus far signed the Baltimore agreement and where the men have returned to work, constituting over one-fourth of the mileage in the United States:

A Woman Senator

For the first time in the nation's history a woman has been named to serve in the U. S. Senate. Governor Hardwick of Georgia has named Mrs. W. H. Felton, aged 82 years to succeed the late Senator Thos. E. Watson.

Mrs. Felton, however will never actually occupy the seat in the senate chamber, as a senator to succeed Watson was chosen in a primary held in Macon this week.

We were in too big a hurry to get Sam Little off to the Dallas Fair for we stated he left Wednesday of last week when as a matter of fact he didn't leave until Wednesday of this week. With fine weather, such as we have been enjoying, holding forth for the two or three weeks more and practically all the cotton will be gathered in our county. With not a single day in which picking has been interfered with this has certainly been an ideal fall for gathering cotton.

Aliens Not Fit for Citizenship Barred

Chairman Johnson, of the Immigration Committee of the House of Representatives, is urging a reduction in quota and stricter tests for incoming aliens. Mr. Johnson has just stated: "The country seems to want complete suspension of immigration. That is impossible. It seems to me, for we should leave an opening for the admission of immediate relatives of citizens of the United States and permanently domiciled aliens; for their fathers, mothers, and children, but not for their uncles, cousins, and aunts."

The chairman's recommendations are to the effect that the present quota of three per cent of nationals of any country already in the United States, as the number to be admitted in a year, be reduced to two or even one and one-half per cent. He also advises that authority be provided for the exclusion of the mentally inferior and emotionally unstable, and wants a stricter physical as well as mental examination. To prevent injustice, Mr. Johnson proposes that certain classes, such as students, actors, and members of certain professions, be admitted beyond the quota number, but for temporary stay only.

Keep a Goin'

Taint no use to sit and whine
When the fish ain't on your line,
Bait your hook and keep a tryin'
Keep a goin'
S'pose you're out o' every dime
Gettin' broke ain't any crime,
Tell the world you're feelin' fine,
Keep a goin'
Keep a pushin', keep a goin'
Work with smile and not with frown,
It takes live fish to go up stream,
Any dead one can float down.
Keep a goin', keep a pushin'
It's all the same in prose or rhyme,
Life's too short to be a grumbler,
"Do it now" and save the time.

Grand Jury Charged to Investigate Morals

Making a plea for strict surveillance of the morals of the young people of Dallas, and declaring that "perjury has become the national amusement," Judge R. B. Seay delivered his charge to the new Dallas County Grand Jury Monday morning when it was sworn in for the October term of court.

"I believe in suppressing crime in its incipency," Judge Seay declared in charging the jurors. "I have reference to the complaints made regarding the moral habits of our boys and girls. Their parents apparently won't assume the responsibility or are ignorant of what they are doing. If their parents won't control them, it's up to you. I tell you now that you can indict juveniles, and if they are juveniles the cases can be transferred to the juvenile court later."—Dallas News.

Electric Plants Abandoned in Four Towns

Four towns in eastern Kansas have the small individual city plant producing electric light and heat. It is probable that they will do it again.

Several months ago Howard, Moline, and Longton, with populations of 1,200; 800; 800; and 700, respectively, voted by overwhelming majorities not only to give to a private station plant company a franchise in each of their cities, but as an inducement they also donated substantial cash bonuses to the company.

Individual plants, notwithstanding the high rates charged—the rates in these towns were for the most part per kilowatt hour—were unable to meet the growing demands for electricity. Leading business men, city officials and others from each of these towns therefore called a joint meeting to discuss ways and means for providing electricity and to see if they could combine and establish a central plant to serve them. At this meeting someone suggested that instead of better service at lower rates could be obtained by connection with a large privately-operated central plant which served adjacent territory.

Representatives were the officials in these towns to be relieved from the operation of their respective plants and offered to rehabilitate at their expense their distribution lines connecting plants and then to give absolutely free to the central plant company, to pass such laws as that company might require, in addition, to give a cash bonus to apply on the necessary investment to be made by the central station company in new lines, substations.

New Tariff a Coffin for Corps of Prosperity

Washington—The Fordney-McCumber Profiteers' Tariff bill, which is estimated to double the taxation of the American people; that is to say, to add another $4,000,000,000 in the way of taxes, but of which only a few hundred millions will go into the Treasury, the balance into the pockets of the special privilege class, has been signed by the President and is now a law.

This Tariff bill, aptly termed "the coffin for the corpse of prosperity," will fall heaviest upon farmers and working men, by reason of the fact that it will still further curtail the farmers foreign markets, and by destroying what little is left of our foreign trade will greatly reduce production in manufacturing lines as well as in natural industries.

In a speech just prior to the passage of the bill Senator Underwood, the Democratic leader of the Senate, called attention to some of the outrageous rates of the bill, particularly to the wool schedule, in which he showed that the tax levied on raw wool would collect out of the pockets of the American people $200,000,000, only $20,000,000 of which would go into the treasury of the United States and the balance into the pockets of the special interests.

Senator Underwood excoriated that feature of the bill which transfers the taxing power from Congress to the President, and said:

"I do not think it will last long as a law. If it should last long, if the terms of the bill were to stay on the statute books for two decades, I would predict the rottenest filth and corruption that could grow out of such a bureaucracy, that would be a stench in the nostrils of all good people. But I do not think it will last. I think before that day comes the American people will take the size of what this Congress has done, will realize that the Congress has laid down a great responsibility that was given to them, which the Constitution of the United States has placed in their hands, that they have surrendered a great trust, and the American people will rebuke any party and any set of men who have been guilty of abandoning a trust like this given to their safe-keeping!"

Farmer Simpson, member of the force at The Record office, was among those to carry off prizes at the Mitchell County Fair. Simpson is proprietor of Leesdale Poultry Farm, south of Big Spring, and was awarded first prize on a pen of English White Leghorns and one pullet of the same breed.—Colorado Record.

Near Faith Healing

Following the heels of near beer we are now to have near Christian Science. Evidently both medicine and the church have failed to withstand the inroads made by the advocates of faith and mind healing.

It is only a handful of years since Mrs. Eddy's pronouncement caused the world to ridicule, but from the tree thus brought to blossom there soon sprang innumerable offshoots and gradually the theory of "mind over matter" began to force its way.

Charlatans there were aplenty, but bit by bit the barriers of medical conservatism were broken down, and now there are signs of modification on the part of the churches.

The latest concessions to the newer thought comes in the establishing in New York City of a psycho-medical hospital to be headed by Dr. Edward S. Cowles, expert psycho-therapy and psychopathology just appointed to the Episcopal Church Commission on the Mission of Healing.

The institution is to be backed by some of the most eminent ministers, physicians and sociologists in the United States. It will permit simultaneous treatment of physical and mental ailments.

Through medical experts and mind-istrial faith healers, Dr. Cowles says the hospital will be the means of breaking up the work of "half baked religious enthusiasts and faith healing pretenders."

There will be wards for philosophers, clergymen, medical experts, psychoanalysts, metaphysicians, sociologists, Christian Scientists, Emanuelists and every denomination of healers.

When the doctors find patients who fail to respond to treatment for physical ailments, they will collaborate their curative theories.

Perhaps out of the compromise or amalgamation may come a greater longevity for humanity which has been so battered from pillar to post by conflicting theories of religion and treatment of human ills.

Advertising a Health Preservative

Milk contests conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture have been highly beneficial in a number of western states, sufficiently so to give the cue to local authorities where communities are interested in the character of their milk supply.

The movement is so simple it can be put into operation by the local health boards or the authorized health doctor of any village.

Samples of milk supplied by different dealers are taken occasionally without warning, bacterial counts are taken, and the milk scores are then made public in the columns of the home town newspaper.

It is found milk dealers do not like to be surprised and dirty milk found on their wagons, particularly when they know the results are to be published.

We learn that in Long Beach, Calif., the average bacterial count in the first contest was 118,238. In the last contest it was down to 11,238. The milk sold figured 71.56 and after the last contest the scale was raised to 90.67. It was the same in Los Angeles and Riverside.

It is quite evident that as soon as the surprise milk contests become a recognized factor milk dealers invariably improve their milk supply.

This means much to the child life of the nation.

The country generally would be better off if more government money were spent in work of this character and less in political log rolling.

This newspaper has persistently stood for the expenditure of government monies both locally and in the state and nation aimed at lowering the death rate.

The people's monies should be spent for their good. Advertising is the answer.

The Ice Have It

In an age in which we specialize—or are lost—the following should be noted:

When business is sick and in need of a remedy, we normalise.

If there are wounded veterans to be cared for, we hospitalize.

When a worthy cause needs to have new life put into it, we revitalize.

If we have goods to sell, we merchandize.

Furthermore—

Government bureaucracies are never broken up. They are decentralized. Large institutions no longer divide their labors. They are departmentalized. New York is not misgoverned, only Hylandized. And as for our own precious selves, we have given up indulging in periodic moments of soul-searching reflection. We go and get ourselves psychoanalyzed.

Not even the spirit of the departed can escape. No longer do they appear. They materialize.

Truly, the ice seem to have it, here and hereafter.—From Life.

Miss Verbena Barnes Entertains

On Friday afternoon September 29th the friends of Miss Verbena Barnes were entertained in her lovely home in a most delightful fashion. This was one of the largest parties of the season, fourteen tables of Rook players participating.

On the arrival of the guests Miss Barnes met each one in her usual cordial, gracious manner and presented her with a unique score card. These cards, with Western scenes and old missions, harmonized in a very artistic way with the touches of the west that met the eye on entering the pretty decorated rooms. One felt as if she had been ushered into one of Gene Stratton Porter's beautiful scenes with all the profusion of birds, butterflies and flowers. A hint of autumn in the air and the spirit of the west that prevailed the joyous throng were so exhilarating and stimulating, and all were so deeply engrossed in the enjoyment of the whole, that orders for the last game came before it was realized that all good things really had an end—but not before the guests were served the most delicious refreshments, the kind that "go to the spot" after fighting hard to win and the kind that made the losers forget their defeat.

Miss Barnes was ably assisted in this beautiful party by her sister, Mrs. Buskirk, who wielded the score punch with the skill of an artist and in a sweet, liberal way, but when the final reckoning came it was found that she had been a little more generous to Mrs. Birdwell, as she had registered high score.

Strikers Advised to "Sit Steady"

A representative of the railway employees department of the American Federation of Labor, from president B. M. Jewell's department in Chicago addressed a conference of labor chiefs and members of the striking shop-crafts at Texarkana, Monday. The advice given the strikers was to "sit steady in the boat," be patient, obey the law and carefully refrain from any and all acts that might lead to disturbances or violence. The strikers were told that in this way the chances for winning the strike are yet good.

Fred Roe at Philadelphia Country Club

Fred Roe, Coke county rancher and polo pony breeder and trainer and one of the best polo players in this country, will head the San Angelo Polo team that will play on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at the San Angelo Fair against a team from Brady headed by Lee Dowd. Mr. Dowd schooled polo ponies in San Angelo in 1911 for Frank Conover and Dick Waring. He is also a fine horseman and one of the best polo players in this part of the country.

The San Angelo team will consist of Fred Roe, Captain and No. 3, Dick Waring, No. 4, back; Len Mertz, No. 1; and Major Alex Jones in charge of the Government stations in Texas, No. 2.

On alternate days local players, or horsemen who have never played polo but who would like to get a chance to learn the game will be given an opportunity to play. Joe Devellin, who is in charge of the polo at the fair, is anxious for young men in this part of the country who would like to play to get in communication with him at once so that some matches can be arranged for Wednesday and Friday.

Mallets and balls will be furnished players who will bring in their horses and experienced polo players will be on hand to coach novices and give them instruction in the game. San Angelo is the center of the polo horse market of Texas and should have more polo players. The sport is one of the finest in the world and no country is any better adapted to its playing than West Texas.

The polo games are attracting the most attention of any sport that will be seen at the Fair this year. Mr. Roe and Mr. Waring are both experienced players and have taken part in some of the best games in this country. Len Mertz was a member of the team of the 7th Cavalry when he was stationed at Bliss.

Secret Teapot Dome Deal May Come Up Soon

Investigation of the secret "deal" by which a private interest has acquired leases to the Teapot Dome oil fields of Wyoming—the last of the sources of oil reserved for the United States Navy—is promised in the next session of the present Congress. Senator La Follette (Rep.) is expected to force the inquiry. The Republican pseudo-leaders of the Senate doubtless will try to dodge this investigation, but they will have difficulty in preventing additional speeches on the subject and a further advertisement of the clandestine methods by which the public domain was passed into the hands of a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company without opportunity for competitive bidding.

Senator Kendrick of Wyoming has contributed largely to the expose of Secretary of the Interior Fall's part in this transaction, which a Republican newspaper has called "a scandal of the first magnitude." Senator Kendrick and other Democrats of the Senate, with the help of some western Progressive Republicans, are expected to second and support Senator La Follette's attack on the "deal."

In a recent speech Senator Kendrick showed that the secret leases were executed by Secretary Fall following inquiries from constituents of western Senators regarding the intentions of the Department of the Interior with respect to these oil lands. The Mammoth Oil Company, chartered under laws of Delaware by Harry F. Sinclair and others, is generally regarded as another name for the Standard Oil Company.

It is expected that the investigation, when it comes, will question whether the secret lease of these naval oil resources was made while Harry F. Sinclair was a guest at Secretary Fall's ranch near Three Rivers, New Mexico, at a time when the negotiations between the Mammoth Oil Company and the head of the Interior Department were in progress.

Independent oil interests, which are complaining against what they allege is unfair competition, especially since the Mammoth Oil Company acquired control of the Teapot Dome deposits, are pressing for an investigation. Senator Kendrick has shown that the royalties which the Mammoth Company is paying under the terms of its leases are very much lower than those paid by independent concerns in adjacent fields.

In his latest speech on this "deal" Senator Kendrick said: "There is every reason to believe that the government threw away from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 in leasing the Wyoming naval reserve in the manner it did. Five per cent of this amount in a royalty to the state, as provided by my bill, would have amounted to at least several hundred thousand dollars to the school children of Wyoming."

Katy Charged With Use of "Check-Off System"

Parsons, Kan., Oct. 2.—Charges that the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad is using the "check-off system" with its new shops were made today by the federated shop crafts publicity committee.

The application blank for employment in the Katy shops is alleged to contain the following clause: "It is understood in accepting employment with the Missouri, Kansas & Texas lines, I automatically become a member of the M. K. & T. Association of Metal Craft and Car Department Employees and hereby authorize deduction by the railway of initiation fee and monthly dues in favor of said association."

It means that the Katy no longer tolerates the open shop but has elected to enforce the closed shop, the statement said. "Before a man can pick up his tools he must join the new Katy union."—Fort Worth Record

Presbyterian Sunday School

Sunday, October 1st was observed as Rally and Promotion day at the Presbyterian church. Eighty five were present and took part in the readings and songs which composed the program. The church was beautifully decorated with autumn flowers.

The resignation of Mrs. J. B. Littler who has been our efficient superintendent for some time, was accepted with regret, and W. Carroll Barnett was elected to succeed her. Mr. Barnett has grown up in our S. S. and is the first one of our boys to fill this responsible position. He is full of pep and zeal in the work which promises to bring increased enthusiasm.

We have a splendid new secretary in Miss Ruth Miller and Miss Lillian Tamsitt is our efficient organist.

Mrs. C. W. Cunningham is in charge of the Cradle Roll and has a good number of these tiny tots under her supervision, who are growing so rapidly that they are constantly being advanced to Miss Lena Richardson's charming bunch of little ones, who are taught song and story over the sand table by their devoted teacher. Mrs. J. O. Tamsitt gets these dear little people for the Primary department when they begin to get "big" and go to school, and they love her so much that they refuse to go to S. S. if they find she is not to be present.

Next in line is Miss Mand Carter's class of Junior boys and girls. This is a live bunch, overflowing with energy. Mrs. W. C. Barnett has the Intermediate girls and Miss Corinne Flanken the Intermediate boys. These are two of the best classes in Sunday school, both from point of number and good work done. The Seniors with Mrs. T. S. Currie for the young ladies and Mrs. J. B. Littler for the young men are classes of unusual interest and promise.

The last class to be mentioned and perhaps the largest is the Bible Class with Mrs. H. W. Caylor as teacher. They are doing some real Bible study and developing a splendid class spirit and loyalty.

There is also a Home Department of 25 members with Mrs. J. G. Carter superintendent. We feel justly proud of this department, and it is doing good work, and is one of the very few in our Presbytery.

If you are a stranger in our town come around at 9:45 on Sunday morning, and take part in the services. A cordial welcome will be yours.

A Severe Winter is now Predicted

A Mexican, 90 years old, who has all his life resided in Texas, on the Lower Rio Grande River, predicts that the approaching winter will be severe, and that heavy frosts will reach to the coast. His predictions are based upon the early arrival in that section of the state, of wild geese and other water fowls, which are already beginning to appear in large numbers. He says that only once before in the ninety years of his life, have the fowls appeared so early in the season as this year, and that the winter following was the severest in South Texas ever known—that heavy snows fell in that section and hard frosts reached to the gulf.—Burnet Bulletin.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Football

The Big Spring High football team won its second game of the season, on the local gridiron Friday afternoon, by the score of 25-0. The game was accompanied by few thrills, being a walk over for the local gridironers. A large crowd was out to see the black and gold defeat the Odessa regulars.

The Odessa team was light but fast, giving a good account of itself against the more heavy black and gold team. Only once did they threaten to score on Big Spring, the ball being kept in the visitors' territory during the whole game.

The first touch down was made in the first quarter by Cardwell on an end run around the right end, a distance of ten yards. The quarter ended with the ball in the possession of Big Spring, on the visitor's thirty yard line. In the second quarter Odessa opened up with a number of forward passes, after returning the ball for about twenty yards on the kickoff that brought them to within fifteen yards of Big Spring's goal line before being stopped. The Big Spring defense stiffened with their goal in danger and their opponents within striking distance of a touchdown, holding the visitors for downs. By a number of line bucks, end runs together with a long pass, Cardwell to Nail, which brought them again with striking distance of the opponent's goal, Big Spring scored her second touch down, an end run by Stovall. Hoover added an extra point by end run around the left end. At the end of the first half the score stood, Big Spring 13, Odessa 0.

At the beginning of the third quarter the local team came back strong, scoring a touch down within three minutes. A line buck by Stovall thru the left side, making the necessary distance of twenty yards. The fourth touch down came at the end of the third quarter, a forward pass, Cardwell to Hefley, who ran ten yards for touchdown.

The last quarter neither side scored. The second team was sent in to relieve the first team. The second team showed good work, holding back the Odessa team, and making repeated gains.

The team showed much improvement since the Lamesa game the week before. The team has been handicapped by their not having regular backfield due to sickness and injuries to some of the men.

In the backfield Cardwell, Stovall, Bailey, and O'Barr are showing strong. They are a combination that it is going to be hard to beat. It is O'Barr's first year but he gives promises of developing into a fast, hard hitting back field man. In his first game, Elday, he showed up to advantage, never failing to make the necessary gain when called upon to carry the ball.

Much hard training is being gone thru this week to overcome the faults that appeared in Friday's game. A stiff game with Sweetwater, on the local gridiron Saturday afternoon is expected. Team work, defense, and offense, is being drilled into the team in preparation for the game Saturday.

The schedule is becoming harder as the season advances. On October 13, the team goes to Abilene to get revenge for the defeats of previous years. October 21, the team will meet the strong San Angelo team at San Angelo. Support the good old black and gold team with your presence at the game Saturday afternoon. Don't miss the chance of seeing one of the best games of the year.

Pep Squad Notes

After the football game Friday, the Pep Squad of the High School entertained the Odessa and Big Spring teams at the home of Willie Belle Williamson. Refreshments of iced tea, sandwiches and olives were served to one hundred young people. Music and dancing were enjoyed for a short while. About seven o'clock the crowd assembled once more to dance until the Odessa team left.

In order that the town people may know just exactly what the Pep Squad organization is and something about its work. We want to tell you that we are 42 in number and that our purpose is to stay behind the team and give them all the encouragement that is within our power and to create a good name for the rooters of B. S. H. S. in other towns, and to entertain the football boys of Big Spring and all visitors. Our last meeting was held Tuesday afternoon and it was decided to entertain the B. S. H. S. and the Sweetwater football teams at the home of Alice Ann Rix Saturday after the game. The Pep Squad is also going to help the Athletic association put over the financial part of the games and we wish all of the people of the town would come out to our game Saturday and boost our team. The game is called for 3:30 Saturday. Come and stand by our team.

Basketball Notes

All of the girls have started practicing Basketball this week, and we expect to have a good strong team that captain will be elected before the first game. Miss Wolfe is the coach.

Reports

All reports of the four weeks work will be handed out Wednesday. The parents are requested to examine these reports carefully and sign them.

Westbrook Items

A water supply system would be quite a help to our town. In fact, we can't expect to have much town without water.

Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Wilson and daughter came in from Big Spring Friday and visited their nephew, Tom Robinson and family until Sunday afternoon then they returned to their home.

The Rio Grande Oil Co. of El Paso shipped three cars of oil to the refinery at El Paso this week. This company gets about 40 per cent of the oil produced in the Westbrook field, the other being used for fuel by the drillers and cotton gins. The production of oil has been curtailed the past two weeks on account of T. & P. well No. 1 being shut down.

The Badgett well, nine miles north-east of Westbrook, which is down about 1100 feet and blew out considerable gas last week, broke loose with the gas or air Monday and blew water and muck about 30 feet above the top of the derrick. The gas from this well is not inflammable. It was thought at first to be helium gas which is very valuable but we have not learned if such is a fact.—Westbrook Banner.

Editor Will Fight Contempt Sentence of "Dollar and Day"

Des Moines, Iowa.—Appeal will be taken by Austin Haines, editor of the Des Moines News, from the fine of $1 and jail sentence of one day imposed on him by District Judge Hume on a charge of contempt of court.

The charge was based on an editorial in Haines' newspaper.

In the editorial Haines declared the opinions of Judge Hume remind him "of labored efforts of a village smart alek." He accused the judge of being "intoxicated by the exuberance of his own verbosity."

The defense argued Haines' article did not criticize the legal merits of Judge Hume's decision nor his methods in arriving at them, but merely the language used.

"There are limits even in America beyond which newspaper editors are not allowed to go," Judge Hume declared in his decision finding Haines guilty.—Fort Worth Press.

Resolutions of Respect

Whereas in the death of Leonard Fisher, Frontier Lodge No. 43, Knights of Pythias, has lost a most worthy and esteemed member, therefore be it resolved

That in his death our membership suffers a keen loss—both as to losing one of our most worthy brothers and officers and a friend tried and true, and no one can take his place.

Be it further resolved that we tender to the parents and sisters who mourn for one deeply beloved, our deepest and sincere sympathy, and may the Supreme Ruler aid them to realize that the Master's calling His loved ones home, is for the best.

Be it further resolved that a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes of our lodge, and a copy sent to the family of our beloved brother.

"Well! Strong!"
 Mrs. Anna Clover, of R. F. D. 5, Winfield, Kans., says: "I began to suffer some months ago with womanly troubles, and I was afraid I was going to get in bed. Each month I suffered with my head, back and sides—a weak, aching, nervous feeling. I began to try medicines as I knew I was getting worse. I did not seem to find the right remedy until someone told me of CARDUI The Woman's Tonic. I used two bottles before I could see any great change, but after that it was remarkable how much better I got. I am now well and strong. I can recommend Cardui, for it certainly benefited me."
 If you have been experimenting on yourself with all kinds of different remedies, better get back to good, old, reliable Cardui, the medicine for women, about which you have always heard, which has helped many thousands of others, and which should help you, too. Ask your neighbor about it; she has probably used it.

Sentenced to Reformatory for Firing Sweetwater Building

Sweetwater, Sept. 28.—Fred Dixon, 14 year old Sweetwater boy, was sentenced to the Gatesville Reformatory until he is twenty-one by Judge Mauzey in juvenile court late Tuesday afternoon.

He was charged with setting on fire the East Ward school house which endangered the lives of over three hundred school children Monday morning, September 11, and with the setting on fire a day or so later of a shed belonging to B. J. Edison, filled with hay. According to the authorities, the lad confessed to both crimes. In the case of the East Ward school. The boy in company with another boy was sent on an errand to the unused third floor of the building shortly after school opened. Fire was discovered shortly afterward.

The lad assigned no reasons for his acts.

It is thought that this action on the part of the authorities clears up many unexplained fires that have puzzled the Sweetwater Fire Department for many months. Twice the Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber yard was found to be on fire shortly after the lad was seen on the premises, and he was in the Sweetwater high school building the night that flames damaged it to the extent of $35,000 in December of 1921. The Fire Department have answered so many alarms to the Dixon premises that insurance companies have refused insurance on them.

If he's wealthy and prominent and you stand in awe of him, call him "Father." If he sits in his shirt sleeves and suspenders at ball games and picnics, call him "Pop." If he tills the land or teaches Sunday school, call him "Pa." If he wheels the baby carriage and carries bundles meekly, call him "Papa," with the accent on the first syllable.

If he belongs to a literary circle and writes cultured papers, or if he is a reformer in politics and forgets to vote, call him "Papa," with the accent on the last syllable.

If, however, he makes a pal of you when you're good, and is too wise to let you pull the wool over his loving eyes when you're not; if, moreover, you're sure no other fellow you know has quite so fine a father, you may call him "Dad"—but not otherwise.—From "The Buzz Saw," Kansas City, Mo.

Following the receipt of analytical reports from his chemists, on samples of alleged "bonded whisky" taken by his agents recently near Huron, S. Dak., Federal Prohibition Director W. O. Knight declares that buyers of illicit "hooch" may be easily deceived by the various mixtures offered for sale as real whisky, because of the art of bottling, coloring and otherwise substituting which bootleggers have developed. The chemists reported that less than five per cent of the liquor seized was real whisky, the other ninety five per cent being a concoction of various poisons and health-destroying poisons.

The Democratic National Committee is making a strong appeal for funds for use in campaigning in the doubtful states. Miss Verbena Barnes was named as chairman for collecting a fund in Howard County but refused to accept the appointment. "The Democratic National Committee commanding your services appoints you county chairman to collect funds to be used in doubtful states. The time is short and the need of funds great. Please lay upon the conscience of every man and woman voter the importance of contributing to cause of Democracy. Popular subscriptions of from one to ten dollars called for immediately." Ship Trainload of Cattle
George Cauble of San Angelo and W. Tol Cawley of Fort Worth will load twenty four cars of steers here Saturday for shipment over the Orient to Kansas City.
There will be 475 head of four, five and six year old steers, which were recently purchased from George A. Dodd of Denver, Colo., at $55 each. These are the Max Marchall and Frank Wilhelm cattle. In addition there will be one of thirty five yearlings and two year olds, bought from J. W. Westbrook and Mrs. Will Mayes, both of this city.
Cauble & Cawley have orders for 117 stock cars to be delivered by the Orient at points West of San Angelo for the movement of cattle during October.—San Angelo Standard.

That's Different
Postmaster General Work recently said:
"The annual turnover, the in and out of business, which measures any business is almost $3,000,000,000. Incidentally it earns and pays into the Treasury of the United States $485,000,000, and is the only earning department of the government."
Goodness! What a profit!
But wait a minute. The postoffice department does pay $485,000,000 into the treasury every year, or about that amount, but— It draws it out again—for salaries, expenses and things. In other words, they aim to break even. Which is something different.

Making it Easy for Big Four
The members of the Big Four Brotherhoods can thank the members of the striking shop crafts for their ability to renew their contracts with the railroads at the same rate of pay as heretofore. The Shop Crafts are not only fighting for their own rights but are fighting for the best interests of every union man in the United States.
That the Railroad Labor Board must have been in error when they ordered the pay of the Shop Crafts slashed is very evident or else the railroads would insist on the Big Four taking a cut also.
Most anyone wise to the situation knows that the big plan is to smash the shop craft unions and if this can be accomplished the railroad chiefs will attend to the other railroad organizations in short order. That the wage question has no bearing on the case can be noted when none of the railroad companies are asking the men to accept the cut ordered by the Railroad Labor Board; but are offering board and lodging and in many cases an increase over the wages set by the board.

Two Tom Watsons
With the going of Tom Watson of Georgia, not one, but two men—an ordinary man and a genius—took passage to the beyond.
To most of us Tom Watson was only a United States senator, iconoclast, politician; passionate, hair-triggered opponent of all "regulars," in politics and out; a man of violent speech and threatening gesture; socialistically inclined and "agin" most all that's orthodox.
That, indeed, was one Tom Watson. The other was the scholar, the litterateur, author of "The Story of France" and "The Life of Napoleon"—two wonderful books—and other works. He was one of the very first men of English letters to take bone-dry history and make it sing; a writer who could take sleep-producing fact and weave it into a history as fascinating as a novel and as difficult to lay aside in the small hours of the morning.
Watson, the writer, will go down in history. Watson, the statesman, will soon be forgotten.—Fort Worth Press.

Car Shortage Holds Illinois Mines Back

P. H. Greenlaw of the Coal Operators' Association, Fifth and Ninth Districts of Illinois, says that the mines in these districts could have produced five times as much coal in the past two weeks if cars had been available.

Greenlaw yesterday gave the production figures and the comparative amounts of time when the mines were working and idle. The greatest number of hours worked by any mine in his district, which was located on one of the trunk line railroads was twenty-two and one-half he said.

"The mine which worked twenty-two and one-half hours during the last two weeks was situated on the L. & N. Railroad," he said. "It produced 6580 tons of coal. At the same rate of production it could have produced 21,053 tons during the seventy-two hours it has waited for railroad cars. Other mines on the same line of railroad worked but fifteen three-quarters, fifteen, twelve, eight, seven and one-half and no hours respectively. Nine mines on this line worked a total of eighty-five and three-quarter hours and stood idle on account of carriers to provide cars a total of 775 3-4 hours. These mines produced 13,224 tons of coal, they could have produced 77,214 tons more."

Calculating by the same method Greenlaw found that the mines in his district along the B. & O., Illinois Central and the Southern railroads, lost during the period, 77,985, 76,808, and 63,864 tons production respectively.

"It is possible," Greenlaw concluded, "that Mr. Ultimate Consumer is waiting and trusting his Uncle Sam to provide a desired brand of coal for him as needed. If he has figured that way and decided this is the best policy for him to pursue, then there is an argument. The fact remains that the carriers are finding it impossible to supply equipment even during this fine fall weather."

Radio at San Angelo Fair

Maintaining its reputation of presenting the "first and best in all the West," the San Angelo Fair, October 17-21, inclusive, will conduct a radio show in connection with which daily concerts will be given at the fair grounds. Market reports, the cream of the world's news, addresses on current topics and music broadcasted from stations even in distant states will be "picked up" at the fair.

The San Angelo Radio Club will conduct this department and will exhibit both manufactured and home-made receiving sets, ranging in price from $50 to several thousand dollars. An expert will be in charge and will explain how the resident in the city, town or remote rural district may be bought into closer touch with the world's affairs through this modern application of wireless.

24 Roads Have Signed With Shopmen

Chicago, Sept. 29.—Seventy-four railroads have now signed the Baltimore peace agreement, which was ratified by the Federated Shop Crafts Unions here September 13, according to an announcement today by John W. Scott, secretary of the Railway Employees' Department of the American Federation of Labor.

This number included the 19 roads which, with their subsidiaries, were the first to sign, Scott said.

Scott declared that President B. M. Jewell of the shopmen is now in the East conferring with executives of other railroads, and that President Daniel Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad is siding him in the conferences.

Fire Prevention Week

This has been Fire Prevention week but we doubt if many of our folks gave the question a thought. We follow the wasteful plan—not to worry until after the fire—instead of using our "bean" to prevent a loss.

It might be well for us to adopt the European plan—wherein the property owner is held responsible for damage done to adjoining property by fire. The per capita loss in the U. S. is just nineteen times greater than in Europe.

Here are a few causes of fires that can be eliminated.

Dirty, sooty flues, carelessness with gasoline, bridging of fuses, and wiring by amateurs, children playing around rubbish with matches, defective wiring that proper inspection would reveal—leaving the current turned on an electric iron while you go visiting, carelessness in handling oil stoves, allowing inflammable material to accumulate near or in buildings.

These are the causes of most of the fires, mostly just pure negligence, say the officials.

Think it over this week, fire officials urge, and see if a fire hazard can't be removed and thus lower the insurance rate, stimulate business, and prevent destruction of happy homes.

Tribute

Washington experts figure that the new tariff act will raise the cost of living $50 to $150 per family annually.

When a fellow pays ordinary taxes, he knows that the money is for governmental expenditures—schools, police, fire, courts, etc. He knows that much of his money may be wasted but he does get some return that he can see and feel.

The $50 or $150 additional which the head of a family will now have to pay out under this tariff act, is only tribute. There's no visible, tangible return for his money. Simply, the Swifts, Schwab's, Garys, Mellons, Morgans, Du Ponts and such get more private yachts and their women folks nicer limousines, jewelry and other luxuries.

In the good old-fashioned tariff fights, many of the geese submitted to plucking without squawking, under the obsession that the higher the tariff the higher the wages. Today the very concerns getting most "protection" are the ones hottest for wage reduction. The protection of high wages idea is effete. There is a rather frank, honest admission that the feathers plucked from the geese are just a tribute to the money powers that be.—Fort Worth Press.

The Backbone of the Town

The farmer is the backbone of this town—in fact, he is the mainstay of the nation. We cannot place too much emphasis upon this fact. As the American farmer prospers, so it is with the country in general, and so will it always be. If the farmer has a bad year, then the stores, and the shops, and the business community as a whole suffer. Everybody feels the pinch of a close season. That's one of the reasons why we of the town should work in harmony with the farmer for a better and more prosperous community. As he encourages us with his patronage and his cheerful smile when he comes to us, so should we return courtesy for courtesy by giving him the best that is in us, and by fostering a feeling of brotherly love and comradeship. It will not hurt the farmer, and will not harm us, and it will do all of us a world of good.—Wills Point Chronicle.

Gossip Stitch Club

On last Thursday afternoon at four o'clock a few young ladies met at the home of Miss Florence Vangilder to organize a sewing club. And so we did successfully organize with ten members, who are: Florence Vangilder, Mary Rogers, Fannie Gilmer, Pauline Schubert, Jewell Green, Jewell Hendrick, Esther Leach, Lillie Ragdale, Louise Weeg, and Ara Leach.

Everyone sewed for one hour after which we were asked to lay aside our work and we were served delicious refreshments. We all enjoyed them very much.

This club will meet each Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. We expect to accomplish good results and all be excellent needle workers. Reporter.

A Car Shortage Continues in W. Texas

Stamford, Oct. 4.—The perplexing stock car shortage on the plains and just below the caprock which has been of grave concern to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce traffic department has not yet been relieved, but the State Railway Commission, the Interstate Commerce Commission and the railroads themselves are doing their utmost to relieve the pressure. It was reported in letters and telegrams which have been received by the organizations here.

In the Floydada territory where the situation was really alarming the state railway commission has begun to make a definite investigation. The following is an excerpt from a telegram received by the organization today from the state railway commission:

"The commission late yesterday afternoon received your wire with respect to the stock car situation at Floydada on the Panhandle and Santa Fe railway and it at once took the matter up with the management of the company, calling for a full report on the situation and for advice as to what steps could be expected towards affording the earliest possible relief."

Hon. Morris Sheppard to whom appeal was made by the organization has been in touch with the Interstate Commerce Commission relative to furnishing stock cars in wholesale quantities for the Southwest, where the situation is very embarrassing to railroads and stockmen.

According to press reports and special information from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Washington bureau the car situation over the entire country is alarming at the present time. This was caused by the long strike during which the usual number of dilapidated and bad-order cars were side tracked for locomotive repair work, the resumption of industry in the steel centers, and the general getting back of the country to a state of "normalcy."

In Central West Texas the box car situation is the most serious in three years. Some of the smaller towns, especially along the Orient lines, are heavy sufferers. Cotton buyers are leaving in some instances because it is impossible for them to secure bills of lading from station agents for cotton consignments. It has become so serious that trucking of cotton to the larger markets where cars seem to be available has been carried on extensively. Many small stations are calling for from 20 to 200 cars each.

A Pledge That's Ignored

There is a lot of fiction to this talk about the sanctity of the pledge on the Democratic ballot. It is ignored by two-thirds of the Democratic voters every year and no one thinks much of the fact. The pledge reads:

"I am a white Democrat and agree to support the nominees of this party"

That makes the obligation as binding on a Democrat participating in the primaries to vote for the nominees of the party in November as to refrain from voting for the opponents of the party.

But, usually, two out of every three, often four out of five, ignore the pledge by not even going to the polls in the general election.

The pledge is an evil of party expediency, to get around a bad situation. It is designed to keep persons not members of the party from helping dictate its nominees and party policies.

As a matter of fact, in Texas it paralyzes healthy political competition. It destroys the freedom of action and choice of the voter.

But, as we say, most Democratic voters never paid any attention anyhow, to at least one phase of the so-called pledge.—Fort Worth Press.

Donating to the Salvation Army

Remember the Salvation Army Drive is scheduled for Oct. 16 to 23. Pitt Gardner, commander of the American Legion, who is to have charge of the drive states that it seems impossible to plan a house to house canvass for funds as it is impossible to secure anyone to volunteer to make a canvass.

In view of this fact, he urges that all who wish to make donations to please leave such amounts with him. You can either leave cash or checks at the post office or mail him your check.

The Salvation Army is doing a great work and it deserves our hearty support and everyone who is able to contribute to its support should cheerfully do so.

Remember next week is the time for the drive but you can leave your donation today while you think of it.

Help the Salvation Army if you possibly can.

THE OLD RELIABLE

Rap Daugherty Strike Order

Attorney General Daugherty's rail strike injunction came in for hot condemnation at a mass meeting Sunday in the Labor Temple.

George Baird was called to preside, and R. W. Walker acted as secretary. The following resolution was adopted:

"Whereas, The injunction against the railroad shophmen, now known the country over as the Daugherty Injunction, sets aside a specific section of the constitution of the United States, defies an act of congress and sets at naught a decision of the United States supreme court—in all depriving the citizens of this country the right of free speech, a free press and free assembly, establishing a precedent if left unrebuked that may lead to the concentration of such power as would be intolerable to a liberty loving people, be it

"Resolved, by a mass meeting of citizens of the city of Fort Worth, Texas, that we are alarmed at this attempt to throttle a free people, and call upon congress to take such action as will make such an injunction a future impossibility."—Fort Worth Press.

Why Mince Your Words?

What would you say to a man who showed complete willingness to risk the loss of his life? Suppose, for instance, he were one of those misguided folks who think it sportsmanlike to attempt to beat a train over a railroad crossing.

Well, it is possible he might think you were interfering with his personal affairs when you criticized him; but at the same time he could not fail to realize that you had an axe to grind and that you were acting for his benefit.

Now let's suppose another case. If you were out riding with that same person and he took chances at a crossing, you would be strictly within your rights in telling him your opinion of him.

Here is a little suggestion of what you might say provided you didn't think of something better:

"Now, Mr. Soandso, I have heard you spoken of as a man who takes big risks at railroad crossings. I noticed you one day running a chance that I wouldn't take for a thousand dollars. I didn't remonstrate with you for I thought you might retort that it was your own life you risked. You told another man so one day.

"Now things are different. You asked me to ride in your car. Very kind of you. I accepted with thanks.

"When we drove near the crossing, I touched your arm and said, 'Wait till that train passes before you try to cross.' You made no reply but stepped on the gas. More by luck than anything else, you got across just in time to save our two lives from destruction.

"The engineer was leaning out of his window and the fireman was in the gangway. Evidently both thought it a likely case for the coroner.

"You are foolish to do such things, when alone, but when you have a helpless passenger in the car with you, I call the act a criminal one.

"I mean what I say and I won't mince my words just for the sake of being polite.

"Politeness! Nix, no siree! I'd rather be pushed into a deep river with my overcoat on than to be hustled across a railroad track right in the face of an approaching train.

"Watch your step or the grave-digger will be taking some measurements in your cemetery lot.

Inspecting Rolling Stock

"Mr. Chairman, there are approximately 2,500,000 railroad cars in the United States. Our inspectors inspect approximately 100,000 cars per month, or a little less than that, or approximately 1,000,000 cars per year, so that it would take them two and a half years to inspect all the cars in the United States if they were continually employed on that work."—W. J. Patterson, acting chief inspector of safety, Interstate Commerce Commission, before house committee on appropriations.

Text of Note Sent by Kemal Pasha to General Harington

Constantinople, Sept. 30.—Mustapha Kemal Pasha's note in reply to the second request from Gen. Harington, the British commander, for the withdrawal of the Kemalist troops from the Chanak zone, in which the Turkish Nationalist leader said his forces would be withdrawn "slightly" if the British were prepared to withdraw their forces also, read as follows:

"You can easily appreciate the extent to which we have been moved by the atrocities and acts of violence which continue in Thrace.

"On the other hand, with regard to the sending away of the Greek fleet from Constantinople, which will influence the military situation, we desire proof that it will not be allowed to return.

"We would also like to hope that you will give up the measures of extraordinary coercion adopted by the forces of occupation towards the inhabitants of Constantinople, as well as the prohibition upon shipping to all ports in Anatolia.

"So far as the proposed acts of dissatisfaction in Constantinople as well as in Chanak are concerned, it is illegal to destroy property while the arms and ammunition also belong to us.

"Notwithstanding the Unilateral decisions taken without our consent, as a new measure, in order to avoid misunderstandings we have given orders to the officer commanding our troops at Chanak for our troops to remain in the localities wherein they now are and to avoid given rise to incidents.

"Should you be prepared to withdraw your forces from the Asiatic Coast, in the same way as the French and Italians, we are prepared to give forth orders to our forces which are on the coast of the straits to withdraw slightly and to content themselves with re-establishing the civil administration and the police.

"Although I am returning to Angora in order to get in touch with the Assembly, I will take advantage of the first occasion which presents itself in order to have the honor of meeting you. (Signed) KEMAL."

National Budget on Trial

The new director of the budget, General Lord, has before him a standard of accomplishment the administration points to with an excusable feeling of pride.

The books for the fiscal year 1922 recently closed show the year began with a prospective deficit of $24,468,703 and ended with a surplus of receipts over expenditures of $313,801,051.

The national debt has been reduced $1,041,908,844, and a balance of $272,405,512 remains in the general fund.

It is only fair to say, however, that Secretary Mellon clearly pointed out some months ago that much of the reduction of expenditure is merely a postponement of payments due to a shift in the government's financial operations.

Calm analysis of the results of the budget system do not warrant more than an indication in its favor, though certainly nothing can be said against it. The system has not yet been put to the test, proof of its efficacy being impossible to date.

With a more complete knowledge of the resources of the government now known and a closer tabulation on expenditures that are elastic, the likelihood is that the new budget which is now in hand will be much more accurate than its predecessor.

When General Lord is ready to report, the public will be in a better position to judge the system and its workings and perhaps to appreciate the groundwork laid by General Dawes.

On its face the budget appears to be working in favor of the American pocketbook.

Equality

Thirty aristocratic members of the Doakal, organized by Count Yoriyasu Amida, in Tokio, in support of human equality, hired themselves out as day laborers to clean Hibiyu-pk. They worked from 7 a. m. to 5 p. m. for 85 cents, the regulation wage, and finished their experiment in a single day.

Japanese newspapers say the Doakal has proved nothing not even the endurance of the members. That is true. Equality doesn't mean pulling the rich down to the level of the poor. It means raising the poor until there are no longer any poor to raise. Equality in a democracy concerns matters of opportunity and protection against predatory interests. It would be a short sighted democracy that used its university graduates for street cleaning work.

Before the World War, Frans Josef, the Hapsburg emperor, washed the feet of Vienna beggars each year as a token of equality. But even in its ghastly significance the act was a ghastly commentary upon human hypocrisy.

Not by sweeping public parks nor by washing the feet of the poor can those in possession of the world's goods still the discontent of the masses. The human spirit demands fair play and a fair share. When fair play and a fair share rule the world those who contribute most to the general welfare will get the larger return. But the smallest return will be sufficient to provide a decent living and an independent old age.—Fort Worth Press.

Let 'em Laugh, Darn It!

In a communication from our friend, Reverend Atticus Webb, head of the Anti Saloon League, he asks up to write an editorial on a resolution of the League which urges all newspapers to discontinue and discourage all jokes and funny sayings about prohibition and its enforcement. Brother Webb intimates that if people are allowed to laugh at and make fun of the Volstead Act and the efforts made to enforce it, a contempt for the law will be created.

While we expect to help Brother Webb and his League to enforce the law against booze and hooch by putting the hoochbonds on the trail of the bootleggers, yet we shall refuse to deny anyone a laugh if he sees the funny side of the question. Brother Webb's idea about this is the funniest joke that has ever been cracked since the Anti Saloon League began its efforts to stop people from smiling at funny things. It appeals to one as real childish and make one suspect that Brother Webb and his colleagues are reaching an age where life is solemn and gloomy.

Let 'em laugh, Brother Webb, let 'em have their fun. When Henry Ford began building Fords, there were more Ford jokes than any kind of jokes put together. People laughed until their sides ached at the jokes about the "Tin Henries," "Tin Ladies," "Roll and Battlers," and "Restless Rebecas," but Henry Ford kept right on building and selling Fords until today there are more than six million Fords in use and still folks are telling and laughing at Ford jokes.

If Henry Ford had resented the fun which people poked at his doughty little car he would have injured both himself and his car. But Henry knew he had made good things when he had made a Ford so he let them have their fun while he made and sold Fords. This brings to memory what Ike Gronsky the "sheep drifter," said when they were kicking him for trespassing.

Ike Gronsky was an early day "sheep drifter" in these parts. He drifted his sheep from Colorado to the Rio Grande twice a year. When he drove his flock into a pasture Ike stayed there until the range was eaten off or he was ousted by the owner. One day he got into the wrong pasture and the irate owner kicked Ike's pants off as well as put him and his flock over the fence.

In relating the incident Ike said: "Well, vile he was kicking my pants off, my sheep was eating his tam weeds." It would be vastly better for Brother Webb and the prohibition cause if he would adopt the Gronsky philosophy and let them laugh while the hoochbonds are chewing the pants of the bootleggers. Let the folks have their fun, but in the mean time keep the booze puppies barking on the trail until they tree the bootleggers.

It would be the sign of a poor law if its makers were to get their backs up when people laugh at it. Some of the provisions of the Volstead law are real funny. There are some things about it that would make a wooden Indian laugh if he could realize how the loafer who once stood in front of the bar had become wealthy through the Volstead act by selling bootleg whiskey while the diamond studded barkeeper behind the bar is earning his beans carrying the hod. But let it be funny and absurd, it is the law, and we are with those who try to enforce it.—Sterling News-Record.

If the officials of the Texas and Pacific railway would see fit to follow the many railroads that are making settlements with the men on strike it would be better for the T. & P. and everyone concerned. We notice that other railroads in making agreements with their so-called company unions are granting the increase in pay which was asked by the men who came out on strike.

The Plan of Company Unions

Some of Texas rail executives still seem determined to follow the Atterbury plan to the bitter end. They still think that they can intimidate their former employes, break the morale and crush into utter subservience to their will the shopmen of their roads who are on strike. These domineering executives are blind to the new day that has dawned in American industry. If they won't open their eyes, the only course left is to fight them till they are cast out of places of power.

They have planned their faith to the "Company Union" of the Atterbury type. It is too late in the day for that. Their old employes learned long ago that independent labor organizations were the only means of securing adequate adjustment of grievances. The legitimate labor union has been a success. This new-fangled "Company Union" which was started by the Pennsylvania a few months ago is a harlot dressed in the robes of a virgin. The so-called men who loaf, eat, sleep and are petted in the struck shops fall for any bait the Company dangles. But the hidden hook is there and nobody but a fool will be caught.

Daughterly champions the "Open Shop." Here is how a "Company Union" works. A man hires into the shop, joins the "Company Union" pledges not to join any other association and to drop all previous membership under penalty of discharge, gives the company the right to deduct "Company dues" from his pay, puts his "secret" vote into the hands of the Master mechanic. When the Master mechanic gets ready to discharge him, out he goes and nothing said. If he mentions former sacred promises of the company, he is told that his discharge renders them null and void. Moreover his discharge severs him from the "Company Union." He is once more friendless and alone out in the cold, cold world of unemployment, an unorganized atom in the sea of humanity, tossed hither and thither until perchance he can make application to some other "Company Union." Before he is accepted he is put through a regulation army physical examination, and his past history is investigated. If he has always been meek as a lamb, if he has a good slave physique, if he appears to be good stuff for a machine cog, then—his former discharge is investigated. That usually suffices as an impassable bar to membership in the second "Company Union." But if perchance, workmen are wanted very badly, and if the penalty of former discharge has wrought severely enough to cause the applicant to mend his ways and manners, the second Master mechanic may not cast the lone black ball against him and once more he gets a chance to work at his trade.

They call that "Open Shop" and they expect self-respecting skilled workmen to fall for it. We call it "Company Slavery." We are not yet ready to sell our souls.—Shopmen's Bulletin.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By S. E. Kiser

The Striker's Wife

"You've shown your courage, now, three months and more; You're looking thinner than you did before;

You don't appear to have the snap you had; It seems to me that things are going bad;

I try my best to keep from feeling blue.

But what's the use ignoring what is true?

"The principle? Oh, yes, I know that's fine;

It hasn't helped your temper, though, nor mine,

And even if you get a raise, I fear Those lines around your eyes won't disappear;

Three idle months, and more, forever gone,

And what about the pay you might have drawn?

"You say there's much that I don't understand;

I know there is. The little home we planned;

You haven't mentioned that at all of late;

The men with bills don't seem to want to wait;

I tell them how it is; they look at me With pity I've begun to hate to see.

"Why couldn't they let well enough alone

It always happens so—they might have known.

Three years ago, you know, it was the same;

We'd just got started new; It seems a shame

That all we worked so hard to have . . . it lost;

I wish the bosses had to pay the cost.

"Don't think that I am weakening —I'm not!

You're right, I guess; the battle must be fought;

But 'round your eyes the lines have grown so deep,

And lately you've been mumbling in your sleep;

The days we have are all such gloomy days,

And all the time I wonder if it pays."

Hunting Accidents

While out with a few friends near Midland last week hunting doves Mrs. Ben Dublin had the misfortune to be struck by some bird shot. One of the pellets struck her in the eye, and though she was rushed to an eye specialist in Dallas, she is to lose the sight of that eye. A second hunting accident took place just the day previous when Addison Wadley caught a glancing bird shot in the arm.

In commenting on these accidents Editor C. C. Watson of the Midland Reporter says: "We rectify these accidents in a spirit of utmost sympathy, and in the hope of promoting greater caution on the part of hunters.

"Persons who fired the shots above mentioned were probably not overly careless, and the mental anguish of one has probably been ten times the physical suffering of the wounded. "There'll not be need, ever again, to caution any of the above parties, but it seems that some, especially among the young can never be made to realize the eminent danger, ever present, in the use of firearms."

Editors Fear Everywhere!

A visitor to a small country town lost his dog, an animal which he prized very much.

Rushing to the office of the local newspaper, he handed in an advertisement offering five shillings for the return of the dog.

Half an hour later he thought he would add to his advertisement the words: "No questions asked." So he hurried off to the office again.

When he got there the place was empty save for a small boy who looked very sulky.

"Where's the staff?" asked the tourist, glancing round the deserted room. "Out looking for your dog!" was the retort.—London Tit-Bits.

Uninspected Locomotives

"During the month of July there were 17,982 locomotives on which no inspections were made, or at least on which no reports were filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission. In addition to that, there were 1,100 more locomotives on which the railroads had filed reports, but on which they admitted that no inspections had been made, due to lack of force or for other reasons. Therefore, approximately 20,000 locomotives during the month of July the condition of safety of which is unknown."—Arthur A. Lovell vice president Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, before house committee on appropriations.

America Strike Struck

In today's cartoon Winsor McCay has focused the whole industrial situation into a glance. For more than five months the country has seen a serious interference with the production of coal.

We face increased prices, curtailed industries, shortened school sessions and half-heated homes this Winter. With all the aid we can get from public bodies, regulating prices and distributing coal, we shall have misery enough.

For more than two months 400,000 railroad shopmen were on strike. In the meantime the quality and quantity of railroad service has dropped steadily as equipment deteriorated. In another week the dammed-up flood of coal shipments will be in full flow, added to a heavy traffic of the country's crops, now ready to move.

Never were the railroads confronted with so gigantic a task. Never were they so poorly prepared to perform it. Today only their fatal unreadiness delays a period of great prosperity in this country, escaping from the dead hand of Europe and adjusting its production to its home markets.

Shall it be again? In all likelihood. These are patched-up truces.

Coal and railroads are our most important national public service industries. As long as they are exploited for private profit, just so long capital and labor will fight over the division of the profits of exploitation. And the prostrate body of the public will continue to be their battleground.

There are honest, clear-thinking men who realize that, in the end, the public must own and control its public utilities. But they believe the time is not yet come. Public servants would likely operate with less efficiency and economy than private managers of these industries—so the doubters say.

Perhaps. But the initial losses of public operation for many and many a year to come would be less than the incalculable national loss during this one year of interrupted private operation of railroads and coal mines.

Patience. The people are feeling and thinking it out.—San Francisco Examiner.

Richest in What?

The Wall Street Journal, financial organ, says "Henry Ford has in the Ford Motor Company the largest income and, if capitalized, the largest fortune in the world."

Twenty-five years ago Henry Ford was practically penniless. His wealth consisted of an invention at which men laughed, his industry, and integrity.

Twenty-five years ago Wall street was intrenched, as it is now, as the financial power of this country. Bankers refused to lend Ford capital. Ford borrowed from fellow laborers, and soon was producing wealth on a scale which makes men gasp.

He has fought Wall street and has beat it. His success makes Wall street envious. "The richest man in the world!" says Wall street, turning a jealous green.

Richest in what? Money, says Wall street.

Ford laughs at that. He doesn't want money. He is richer now than all Wall street's money can make him. Henry Ford is rich not in dollars but in good will and confidence of men, rendered in payment for real service to mankind.—Fort Worth Press.

An Epitaph

"Mr. President, this congress ends with a record of increased taxes on the already burdened masses. It ends with increased costs of living to the consumers. It ends with a failure to carry our pledges to the valiant soldiers of the late war. It ends with the assurance to the laboring man that the Republican party will continue to favor the employer against him and to disregard his every interest with respect to reasonable hours, fair wages, and humane consideration. It ends as the most reactionary congress since the time of Aldrich, and the most subservient to executive dictation since the days of Roosevelt. It has proven itself to be spineless, leaderless, without courage, program, or purpose."—Senator Harrison (D.) Mississippi.

Successful Men Ask Questions!

The mere asking of questions does not insure success. We must learn, then ACT. Don't mistake us. Fools and knaves can often make reasonable replies. However, the man who investigates thoroughly before making a business move asks neither of these. Instead, he goes to the institution or person qualified through experience to know—and therein is the secret of his success.

SERMON ON THE MOUNT

Delivered by Jesus The Christ, Anno Domini 31. The only solution for the turmoil, social unrest and kindred evils which torment the world today, is found in the practical application of the teachings of the Master in the "Sermon on the Mount."

What the Constitution is to the Federal Government, "The Sermon on the Mount" is to the kingdom of righteousness which Christ came to establish in the world.

Section 2.—Matthew 5:13-16
BELIEVERS IN RELATION TO THE WORLD

13 Ye are the salt of the earth; but if the salt have lost his savour, wherewith shall it be salted? it is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men.

14 Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on a hill cannot be hid. Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick; and it giveth light unto all that are in the house.

16 Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven.
