Big Spring, Texas, Friday, October 13, 1922

DEVELOPMENT IN THIS TERRITORY

Operations are Moving Along Nicely

at all the Wells, With Good Prospects for Oil

At McDowell No. 4

to a little hard luck the work at McDowell well No. 4, General Oil Company, has been delayed. While the casing was being set the last three hundred feet wedged and so far all efforts to get it down have failed.

Additional fishing material to complete the fishing job is being secured at this time and it is thought the job will be successfully completed within the next few days.

Cushing Ranch Drilling Ass'n

Everything is moving along nicely at Cushing Ranch well No. 1 on the Cushing ranch in Glasscock County. The depth attained is 4105 feet, the formation is becoming darker and greener with black shale. The formation is becoming as well as softer and geologists are showing a favorable showing. An abundance of gas, and plenty of oil after the slush is poured. The pit is other favorable signs. The men on the job believe that the drilling is now past and that should go into a real oil formation within the next one hundred feet. This does not happen they can get the 128 foot of oil bearing formation that has been passed thru.

Sparkman well No. 1 is now in blue shale at 870 feet. Drilling has not yet been restarted at this well No. 1.

Itan-Westbrook Section

Due to the shortage of water for the purposes of the oil development the Itan-Westbrook section cannot be limited—only a few companies having water sufficient to conduct drilling operations.

Chal Daniel Le Sure No. 1

was given a 100-quart shot of dynamite last week is being cleaned and put on pump.

Itan-Westbrook Section

It is to be made by Sloan and about two miles northeast of Itan No. 2 is being rigged up.

California Company are drilling about 800 feet on their first test well south of Colorado.

They have drilled to a depth of 3550 feet at the Murphy well and are now casing for the purpose of giving a well a shot.

Magnolia Company are drilling

1200 feet on their test south of Colorado.

Yuster well No. 2 of the Colorado Oil Company is to be completed by contract, work to start as soon as water for drilling purposes is secured.

Western Petroleum Company's

well down to a depth of 3800 feet and have shut down, waiting for water.

Maxwell-Johnson Company have suspended on three tests waiting for water to be secured; the well at 2465 feet, the Capps well at 3235 feet and the Stewart well at 2800 feet.

Frankford Oil Company is fishing

ballers on the test well on the Cushing ranch.

Crescent Drilling Co. is fishing

ballers on the Smith No. 1, six miles south of Colorado.

Oil News

Drilling well, Thursday, Oct. 12, at 2045 feet in a mixed shale formation and it was decided to contract would be completed by the end of the week. The well of the Sterling Petroleum Co. will be decided whether or not it will be drilled deeper. It is expected that this prospect will be drilled to at least a depth of 4000 feet.

Cushing well is drilling at more than 4000 feet to a shale formation. The showing of gas is very good, and it is believed that oil is paying for the cost of the well.

Drilling of the Sparkman well will be continued. Slow progress has been made on this well on account of the cave in formation. It has been necessary to ream the hole in order to lower the 12-inch casing to a greater depth.

Work in the Itan-Westbrook field is being seriously hampered on account of the lack of water. The Magnolia Company's Foster No. 1 continues to drill, but other rigs at Itan are shut down.—Sterling News-Record.

Casing for Durham No. 1

A shipment of fifteen inch, twelve and one-half inch and ten inch casing for the Chicago-Texas Oil and Gas Association has arrived at Sterling City for use in the Durham well No. 1, southeast of Sterling City.

It is expected that work on this test will be resumed within a very short time.

Shooting at Itan

J. B. Hodges was shot four times at Itan, last Tuesday shortly after noon and A. C. Sullivan and son, Pat, have been released under $1,000 bonds. As near as we can learn the attack on Mr. Hodges came most unexpectedly, as he was eating a lunch in the store of Mr. Anderson; the two men entered and without any words or argument A. C. Sullivan shot at him, the bullet striking Hodges in the right hand. Mr. Hodges clinched with A. C. Sullivan and succeeded in wresting the pistol from his hand. When the pistol dropped to the floor, Pat Sullivan who was also armed, commanded Hodges to turn his father loose, and the order was complied with. The elder Mr. Sullivan again secured the pistol and as he began firing, Hodges again clinched with him, and was struck three more times, one bullet penetrating the left hand, one in the wrist and another cutting a trench in his shoulder. Five shots in all were fired by A. C. Sullivan, four of them striking Hodges.

After the shooting Mr. Hodges was ordered to leave, but not to go toward his automobile, and he requested the garage man to get his car and bring him to Big Spring, where his wounds were dressed.

Mrs. A. M. Evans Wins Six Prizes

If Mrs. Ada M. Evans of this city is not proud of the fact that of seven specimens of embroidery and fancy work entered in the Dallas Fair, she was awarded five first prizes and one third prize, her many friends in Big Spring are indeed proud of her.

She was awarded first prizes for the following in embroidery: Cut work; French specimen; English eyelet; English eyelet and centerpiece not less than thirty inches. The other was a third prize for an embroidery specimen.

4 More Railroads End Strike

Agreements with the management of the Gulf Coast lines, the Texas Midland, the Houston Belt Terminal and the Utah Railway Company, have been signed by representatives of the striking shop crafts, bringing the total number of roads in the strike settlement to approximately ninety.

Prospects for signing up the Rock Island system are bright, despite the fact that the road has authorized a new employees' body.

THE BIG SPRING FOOTBALL TEAM

In Race for State Championship the Big Spring Team Meets Abilene Today and S. A. Oct. 21

Football fans of the city are awaiting with considerable interest Friday of this week when the Abilene high school will stage its second at-home game of the season, and its third set to with high schools in this section. Big Spring high will meet the A. H. S. team here Friday at 4 o'clock at the West Texas League baseball park, the scene of the local high's smashing defeat of Haskell high last week, 65 to 0. Just exactly what A. H. S. is going up against when it meets Big Spring high is not known here, it being stated from one source that the Howard County warriors have a strong aggregation and are going to give A. H. S. a hard run for the money. Coach Shotwell has arranged for any emergency that may arise, such as a hard battle and so on. So far this season Abilene high has not had to extend herself at all. Sweetwater high, the first team, being very easy—40 to 0—and last week Haskell high even more so.

Should any exigency occur which would necessitate the substitution of several men, Coach Shotwell has them galore, there being a total of 75 youths reporting almost daily for football. He now has at least two good teams and maybe more, and since his eleven came out of the Haskell game in as good shape as when they went in, he therefore has his entire first string to start the game with.

Fans of the city are urged to come out and lend A. H. S. their support as the team certainly deserves backing. It is the plan and hope of the local high school to take the state championship this year, and it is stated that the manner in which the town backs them up will lend encouragement to the team in no small measure.—Abilene Reporter.

San Angelo vs. Big Spring

San Angelo and Big Spring, two of the fastest teams of section three of the University of Texas interscholastic football contests of 1922, will meet at the San Angelo Fair grounds Saturday, October 21, High School day at the San Angelo Fair.

San Angelo and Big Spring have fast high school teams this year and this game is expected to be one of the best staged in West Texas. High school students from all parts of West Texas who are planning to come to the Fair are making arrangements to go to San Angelo on that day in order not only to see the football game but also to see Brady and San Angelo to play their third polo match.

William Jackson King Dead

William Jackson King, aged sixty-seven years, six months, and three days died at his home at 202 Golland street in this city at eight o'clock Friday morning October 6th.

He had been ill but a short time and the announcement of his death came as a shock to many friends here.

He had moved to this city from Mitchell

County, where he had been engaged in the cattle business and invested in farming land in this county. During the two years he had made his home here he had won many warm friends. He was an honest and upright citizen, a good friend and neighbor, a faithful husband and a kind and affectionate father and the death of this good man is deeply mourned.

Funeral services were conducted at the family residence at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon and the remains were laid to rest in Mt. Olive cemetery.

To the wife, and two sons, Willis R.

and Roy King is extended the heartfelt sympathy of our entire citizenship in their hour of deep sorrow.

Big Spring Day at San Angelo Fair.

The officials of the San Angelo Fair Association have designated Saturday October 21st as Big Spring Day at the San Angelo Fair.

The Big Spring-San Angelo III football game is one of the big attractions for that date. A big parade will be held in the morning, in which Big Spring and San Angelo rooters for the football teams will be in line.

A big delegation of Big Spring folks are expected to attend the San Angelo Fair and especially so on Saturday October 21st, the date of the big football game.

The recent strike in the coal industry caused a total loss of $1,190,000,000 former president of the National Coal Association asserts and we will wager our summer savings that the coal barons are not losing a penny of the total amount.

Rev. and Mrs. F. E. Elison returned last Saturday from a month's visit in Portland, Oregon, where they attended the annual convention of the Y. M. C. A. of the Episcopal Church.

Get Together Meeting

The get together meeting for the members of the different crafts and their families given under the auspices of the Ladies Auxiliary to the I. A. of M. at the K. P. hall October 7th was a great success. Every one present seemed to be in good spirits and of one opinion, to stay out until we win.

Mrs. Capps, president of the Auxiliary, acting as chairman, called the meeting to order about eight o'clock. After singing the Ode and a prayer by the chaplain, Mrs. Capps gave an address of welcome. One that made every one feel welcome and glad they had come.

Talks were made by Mesdames Carrrike, Menger and O'Keefe, and Messrs Tamsitt, Clarke, Davies, Palnter, Towler, Hathway and Wheeler.

It would take too much space to tell all the good things the different ones said but it was to the point and from the applause accorded the speakers the talks were all enjoyed. After another song and the closing prayer by the chaplain a short time was spent in handshaking and general conversation.

Two Roads Face Federal Suits

Pigs is pigs and they have to be treated like pigs, even if they're going to market. Uncle Sam says so.

And now, because the T. & P. and

Fort Worth Belt railroads didn't treat a shipment of pigs like Uncle Sam says they should be treated, they're in trouble.

Assistant U. S. District Attorney

Arterberry filed charges against them this morning because two of them failed to change the pigs' quarters and serve their meals on time.

Uncle Sam says no railroad or any other carrier can treat pigs like that and get away with it. The law in the case provides that railroads or other common carriers shall unload and feed livestock every 28 hours at least.

The railroads brought the shipment of pigs from Boyce, La., to Fort Worth and didn't unload and feed them for about 32 hours. They are subject to a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500.—Fort Worth Press.

Charge Rail Equipment is Defective.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Charges that mechanical conditions on the railroads of the country are now such as to constitute "a menace to the traveling public" were laid before President Harding today by general counsel for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

President Harding was informed by Oscar J. Horn and Thomas Stevenson, counsel for the brotherhoods, that many railroads are disregarding safety laws and are using defective equipment to a far greater extent than the public knows. They asked the president to take steps to compel the railroads to observe the law and protect the public.

President Harding indicated, according to Horn, that he would ask Congress for additional locomotive inspectors when it reconvened.

Cotton and Cottonseed

Tuesday's market closed with New York December at 21.70 to 21.72 and January 21.56 to 21.57. In New Orleans December closed a $2.13 bid, and January 21.15 to 21.18. Spot markets for the day were closed as follows: New York 21.65; New Orleans 21.13; Galveston 21.20; Houston 21.10; Dallas 20.45; Fort Worth 20.45; Austin 20.50; and Waco 20.45.

The past week, Texas cotton seed markets took further advances which they are holding at the present date. An average of 25 points reporting to Texas Radio Market News Service for the week give the State's average price for less than carlots to be $30 a ton, with straight carlots on an f. o. b. basis bringing $34 to $35.

Fine Samples of Cotton Plants

Howard County is going to be represented at the San Angelo Fair as a cotton producer in a round about way. A San Angelo booster who visited the local Chamber of Commerce Wednesday noting two monster stalks of cotton, with from 174 to 200 bolls thereon, begged that he be allowed to take them to San Angelo to be placed on display at the San Angelo Fair to show visitors what fine cotton is produced in West Texas. It is hardly to be expected that said booster will give our county credit for this cotton but just so West Texas gets the credit it will be O. K.

HOME AND SCHOOL CLUB LYCEUM

The Lyceum Course of Four Numbers to be Presented—First Number Oct. 21 at M. E. Church

The members of the Home and School Club have arranged for a four number Lyceum course to be held in Big Spring during the fall and winter, the first number to be presented at the Methodist Church Saturday, October 21.

Season tickets are now on sale, a charge of two dollars being made for the course and any member of the Home and School club will be pleased to supply you with season tickets.

Emma Dee Randle, monodramatic entertainer will give the opening entertainment.

Miss Randle is a favorite daughter of the Southland, whose charm of manner, sweetness of voice, gracious presence are but the alphabet of a soul that has stood for nothing but the noblest and best in her chosen profession. Her repertoire is so varied, so unlimited, that her audience never becomes tired, but is always kept expectant of some greater pleasure as she voices the sweet songs of the poet or brings into life some of the dramatic masterpieces of the world. The miscellaneous program usually contains a few humorous sketches, rendered in costume, to add amusement, while still other numbers are produced with musical settings, to give variety and to satisfy the imaginative longing for the combining of the two arts. The effect is most charming, instructive and entertaining.

Remember these lyceum numbers are being secured for your pleasure and entertainment and the Home and School club should have your whole hearted cooperation in arranging for same.

Secure a season ticket for this

Lyceum course and show the members of the Home and School club that you appreciate their efforts to provide high class entertainment for our citizenship. Remember the first number will be presented at the Methodist Church, Saturday night, October 21st.

Reception for New Pastor.

On Friday evening October 6th the members of the Baptist Church held a reception in the basement of the church for the new pastor and his wife.

Mrs. Gary, as chairman of the reception committee presided in her usual sweet manner. Mrs. Stokes, also of the reception committee, met the members at the door and made them acquainted with Rev. and Mrs. Strother. The other members of the committee, Mesdames Hatcher, Beckett and Buchanan helped to make each one feel at home and have an enjoyable evening.

After the opening song, Mrs. Gary called on C. S. Holmes to welcome the pastor; which he did with a hearty wish that Brother Strother remain with us until his hair became as white as the speaker's. Mrs. Harry Hurt rendered a beautiful and much appreciated piano solo; after which Miss Doris Menger pleased us with a delightful reading. As a fitting close to the program Mrs. J. C. Yates gave two lovely solos.

Brother Strother was then called upon and his talk was short and straight to the point. He not only echoed Mr. Holmes' wish that he be here until his hair was as white as Mr. Holmes' but he also wished he had as much hair as Mr. Holmes. He whispered to us that he being a married man was enough said in regard to his baldness.

Everyone thoroughly enjoyed the social hour at the close of the program; at which time we shook hands with each other and met the visitors who were with us.

The entertainment committee, Mesdames Travis Reed, J. R. Copeland, Wm. Menger and R. L. Davis, served delicious refreshments. Reporter.

Tea at High School

The young ladies of the Domestic Science departments of the High School were hostesses to their mothers at an informal tea last Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. These departments are in charge of Misses Wolf and Eubank and show efficiency in every detail. Miss Eubank in her own charming manner explained that the chief object of the occasion was that she might meet the mothers of her girls and by explaining briefly some of their plans, secure the cooperation of the mothers, thus creating a better understanding and greater accomplishments. This large class of bright faced young women would be a credit to any High school, and at present are laying the foundations of that noblest work of women—that splendid vocation of home-making.

Mrs. J. W. Foster Claimed by

It was with deep sorrow friends in this city received the announcement of the death of Mrs. S. Anna Williams Foster, wife of J. W. Foster. She passed away at the family home on East Third street at 8:00 o'clock Monday morning, October 9th.

Her death was due to heart and kidney trouble and she had been very ill the past seven months.

Deceased was aged sixty-eight years, ten months and twenty days, had made her home in Big Spring the past twenty years and was respected and esteemed by every one who knew her.

She bore her suffering thruout her long illness patiently and it was so thruout her life that her first thought was of others as is attested by her kindly acts and aid accorded to her fellowman. She was a faithful wife, a fond and loving mother and a true friend, and many hearts are saddened as a result of her death.

Funeral services were conducted at the family home at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday morning by Rev. Green and interment took place in Mt. Olive cemetery.

She is survived by a husband, two sons and three daughters, Dee Foster of this city and Martin Brower of Canada; Mrs. Forrest Mott of this county; Mrs. Will Aldridge of Ada, Okla., and Mrs. M. M. Boyer of Hollywood, Calif., and to these who mourn for one deeply beloved is tendered the sincere sympathy of the many friends here.

Lose Lives in Flames

Mrs. R. S. Duvall this week received the sad intelligence of the death of two nieces and the serious injury to a third, when the family home at Gatesville was destroyed by fire. We print the following account of this terrible tragedy which appeared in the daily papers:

Gatesville, Oct. 10.—Two children,

Eugenia and Viola Brown, aged 11 and 9 respectively, were burned to death last night in a fire that destroyed the home of their father, Dr. Reb Brown, seven miles southeast of Gatesville. Pearl Brown, aged 13, was so badly burned that it may be necessary to amputate both of her feet, physicians say.

The fire was discovered by members of the family at 9 o'clock last night and the flames spread so rapidly that it was impossible for the two children to make their escape. Other members of the family made frantic efforts to rescue them, but Pearl was the only one that they could save. Those who attempted to reach the children were slightly burned.

The origin of the fire is undetermined.

The loss will reach approximately $6,000, partly covered by insurance.

"Jimmie" Charlton, Scout and Umpire

The following complimentary tribute to J. M. "Jimmie" Charlton appears in the Oil Weekly, published at Houston, Texas, in the issue of Oct. 7: J. M. "Jimmie" Charlton, scout for the Gulf Production Company in the wild cat section of West Texas, with headquarters at Sweetwater, needs no introduction to the drillers and roustabouts endeavoring to open up new oil fields on the western plains and enjoys an enviable acquaintance with nearly all the rascals in his territory. Although Jimmie is rather small in stature he always manages to have the photographer make his pictures enlarged and then too, he has the voice of a full grown man. Jimmie recently made a tremendous hit with the oil field men and old settlers of Mitchell County during a ball game in the town of Colorado when serving as an umpire along with the sheriff of the county by defying the sheriff and declaring a base runner safe for making such a good attempt to steal home.

Jimmie's decision held good, despite the fact that the sheriff wore two guns.

Record Price for Wool

Sixty seven and one-half cents a pound for fall mohair has been received by Oscar Appell of San Angelo, who owns ranches in Sutton and Edwards Counties. This is the highest price so far paid this year in Texas.

Appell sold 10,000 pounds shorn from 3,000 goats.

Fall wool in the San Angelo section is bringing 35 cents a pound.

Women Must Pay City Poll Tax

In the future women will be on the same footing as men in regard to paying city poll tax and it will be necessary for women to have a poll tax receipt if they vote in any city election. A poll tax will be assessed against every woman of voting age within the city and a tax of one dollar will be collected.

Three Signs of Normalcy

Suspenders are coming back. Dresses are worn longer—at one end. The Secretary of Labor says: "Retailers, stock up your shelves; jobbers, get your orders in at once; we will soon be in a period with every wheel turning."

Obstinate rail executives are the only obstacle to a resumption of good times. If the rail strike was satisfactorily settled you would soon notice a big improvement throughout the land.

Residence Property For Sale

Now is the time to purchase residence property in Big Spring. Can sell you some choice lots. See me J. F. HAIR.

We should all keep fire prevention in mind and do all in our power to eliminate fire hazards. The flames can eat up the work of a life time in a very short time. It's easier to prevent fires than it is to make up the loss that can be charged mainly to carelessness.

It's Dollars to Doughnuts

The annual campaign for funds for the Salvation Army again is at hand. It will succeed because it deserves to succeed. The fine body of men and women which endeared itself to the nation by its unselfish devotion during the war will not be hampered by lack of funds for its work.

Our soldiers, sailors and marines never will forget the Salvation Army—and its doughnuts.

Our non-combatant population never will forget what the Salvation Army, by its human and humane touches, did during those anxious days.

Nor will the ever active, never obtrusive, kindly helpful army ever be handicapped for long in its work.

All will be glad to give generously to this worthy cause.

The Salvation Army Drive is on October 16 to 23.

New York Giants World Champions.

The New York Giants upset all the dope the experts had dug up as to how and why the New York Yankees were going to walk away with the world championship when they took four straight games from the Yanks. The experts couldn't see that the Giants had a look in but the said experts failed to consider John McGraw and the fighting spirit of the Giant players. The Yankee stars did not shine very brightly in the world series and when it came to team work they were not gully.

How to Remove Soot

The Federal Fuel Administration Board's suggestion for removing soot deposited on heating surfaces by soft coal, was referred to yesterday by Mr. Homer McNew, local agent of the Hartford Fire Insurance Company. The board suggests the following method:

The fire is put into good condition with a substantial body of hot fuel. Common salt, thoroughly dried, is then thrown or sprinkled onto the incandescent fuel bed in a quantity depending entirely on the size of the furnace. In the case of a house-heating furnace, one pound at a time is ample; in the case of a large power plant boiler, four or five scoops full may be required. The dampers are kept open so as to maintain the furnace temperature and the salt is allowed to remain until the fumes have entirely disappeared.

Immediately upon charging the salt, the furnace becomes filled with dense white fumes which may require as much as half an hour to entirely disappear. If results are not secured on the first application, it should be repeated as many times as necessary.

Once the heating surface is thoroughly cleaned, a small application every few days is usually sufficient to keep it so.

Everyone using soft coal is urged by the administration to use this remarkably simple and cheap process for getting rid of the soot, cleaning and heating surfaces of boilers, thus saving large amounts of coal, preventing fires from chimneys, and generally conserving all along the line of heating and the production of power.

Do You Do More Than Your Duty?

How long is it since you have carried out a really generous impulse?

How long since you have done a kind and helpful deed?

Some time, isn't it?

Giving your family the time and attention you think they need, you feel, is about all that should be expected of you.

But this is merely a duty—expected of every man.

There is not much to commend when a man merely takes care of his own.

But what have you done outside your duty to make some one happier and more full of courage to live?

Have you made any attempt to shed sunshine on the unfortunate, the ill or bedridden, the crippled and twisted soul which cannot hope for any happiness on this earth, except as it is passed along by their fellow travelers?

Preventing Halloween Losses

Plans should be made now to prevent some of the destruction to property that our people are taxed with each year on Halloween. City and County officials should cooperate with the Rangers and see to it that the Halloween crowds confine their activities to harmless sports. Tearing up bridges and fences and otherwise destroying property is a poor form of entertainment and should be discouraged.

The Studebaker Light-Six Roadster and Coupe-Roadster were primarily built for business use. In meeting the urgent demands of business, they naturally have fulfilled the needs of the small family.

Each is built for hard usage, day in and day out. And as they are completely Studebaker built—you know they will stand up under hard going.

The bodies are attractive, roomy and thoroughly comfortable for all-day travel. Ample luggage space is provided under the rear decks.

There's an internal hot-spot to reduce gasoline consumption to a minimum. Valves are inclined at a 20 degree angle to give a new measure of power, greater flexibility and better acceleration. Crank shaft and connecting rods are machined on all surfaces, thus eliminating vibration and insuring longer life to the motor.

Studebaker low prices are made possible by great volume and complete manufacture. Studebaker quality is traditional.

The Studebaker Light-Six Coupe-Roadster seats two passengers; has side coach lamps; rain visor and windshield wiper; eight-day clock. The three-passenger Roadster has cow lights; storm curtains opening with the doors; large plate-glass window in rear curtain, and inside and outside door handles. Both models are upholstered in genuine leather; have ample space under the rear deck for luggage; ignition and third-speed transmission locks, and cow ventilator.

The human body is often compared to an electrical machine, its nerves receiving the "power" to do their work from the "dynamo" in the brain.

As in all electrical machines, the two wires, one carrying the current, and the other completing the circuit; so in the human machine, are two kinds of nerves, one carrying impulses (power) to the brain, and the other carrying vibrations from the brain, and completing the circuit.

Break the circuit in the machine, and the machinery stops. Increase the amount of power passing over the circuit, and the work is done. Break the circuit in the human machine, and the organs stop. Increase the amount of power passing over the circuit, and the organs themselves become diseased.

As Chiropractors we are concerned with keeping all parts of the machine supplied with full power for their work. If you are not getting your work done, let us examine your system. We will show you just how the power is shut off or decreased by the vertebrae. Consultation and analysis free.

Testing the Path

Gov. Allen of Kansas came before the Bankers' Convention yesterday with a vigorous defense of his Industrial Relations Court.

He declared that with the help of its Industrial Court Kansas, at the height of the coal strike, produced 50 per cent. of its normal coal output and kept down the price. The court, he said, has rendered forty-five important decisions in labor disputes and forty-three of those decisions were accepted by both sides. Ninety per cent of cases so far before the court have been brought by employes.

When Gov. Allen pleads for the Industrial Court he pleads, of course, as a doting father for a favorite child.

But neither the failures of the Kansas Industrial Court nor its fundamental weakness in lacking the permanent background and support of a code of industrial law can alter the fact that here is experiment feeling in the right direction for relief from labor troubles.

Every time labor learns that courts or commissions can be fair and just to labor a solid step is achieved toward a new and better method of fighting out industrial conflicts.

It is the unfortunate truth that in industrial sections where labor has most need of courts organized labor's distrust of courts has been—sometimes within reason—deepest.

There are parts of the country that need industrial courts a hundred times more than Kansas where the difficulty of establishing such courts would be a hundred times greater.

Nevertheless no lesson or encouragement in the Kansas experiment need be lost. Its defects can be turned to good account in seeking to avoid them elsewhere.

Said Gov. Allen to the bankers: "I contend that it is the duty of government to provide justice for the men who labor, at a smaller cost to them and to their industries than is now paid to carry on an ineffectual war which punishes the public and does not help the laborers."

Not a justice that professes to say men shall or shall not work.

What labor needs, as The Evening World has long maintained, is a new arena in which of its own free will it can put up rousing and conspicuous fights for a small fraction of the money it now wastes on strikes.

That new arena will be a High Court of Labor.

The first thing to do is to convince workers that in such an arena they can get a full, fair fight—with results that will last longer than precarious gains won at disproportionate cost by older methods.

Toward such a court of labor Gov. Allen and his Kansas Industrial Court are testing the path.—New York World

Seeing is Believing
Among the numerous "Doubting Thomases" who form a part of the population, there are some, here and there, who think that the number of automobile drivers killed or injured at railroad crossings is exaggerated.

To all such we make the suggestion that they might keep a record for a month or so and see what the figures will show.

Of course, outside of some big disasters, the accounts of crossing accidents are not published far from the place where they happen. So you would miss a majority of the cases all over the country.

Through the newspaper that you read you will get a lot of information, quite enough to start a record.

There are clipping bureaus in the large cities that could furnish you a flood of such items. Seeing is believing, so make a record and study it.

Statistics show that 3,000 automobiles were struck at grade crossings in this country last year. In these accidents, over 2,000 men, women and children, were killed and over 3,000 others were injured. In dozens of instances whole families, numbering from four to six were wiped out as completely as though a cyclone had struck them.

A cyclone comes without warning, from an unexpected quarter. A train of cars always comes along a permanent track, so you will know where to find it.

Ever since we were children we were have known the fatal result of being struck by a locomotive. Nobody can plead ignorance of consequences.

And yet, this very day, more than one driver, somewhere, will heedlessly drive onto the tracks, without looking or listening, and then a rushing train will demolish his car. In company with wife and children he will meet sudden death.

A little thought—a little of the serious attention you give to your business affairs, would save you from such a fate.

Are you doing anything to assist in the Careful Crossing Campaign? Don't trust to luck. Use common sense if you want to live long.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Football

The Big Spring Jayhawks defeated Sweetwater on the local gridiron by the large score of 37 to 0. Sweetwater was expected to put up a strong game but was not there when the Jayhawks team got into action.

Sweetwater chose to defend the north goal, Big Spring kicking off. Stovall kicks to fifteen yard line and Sweetwater returns ball ten yards. Sweetwater's ball on twenty-yard line. Failing to gain first down Sweetwater is first to punt. Bailey receives punt on mid field. Big Spring begins her offensive by a line plunge thru left side, making 5 yards. An end run around right end for 6 yards and first down. By a number of end runs and line plunges making first downs one after the other the Jayhawks approached to within 5 yards of Sweetwater goal. An end run by Cardwell making the first touch down.

Big Spring again kicks off to fifteen yard line. Sweetwater falls to make first down and punts to Big Spring's 46 yard line. Big Spring brings the ball down the field to Sweetwater's 20 yard line on several end runs and a forward pass. The quarter ends with the ball in possession of Big Spring.

The second quarter begins with Big Spring failing to make first down. Ball goes over. Sweetwater punts out of danger to the 30 yard line. Bailey returns punt 5 yards before being downed. Big Spring advances ball back down the field, making 5 and 6 yards each down. Bailey putting the ball over for the third touch down. Pitman falls to kick goal.

Sweetwater receives kick off and returns the ball to their 30 yard line. A forward pass nets them 20 yards more. A second attempt at a pass fails. Nall intercepting. Big Spring was forced to punt. Sweetwater fumbles ball and is recovered by Gallemore. Cardwell passes to Jack Nall for 15 yards, who runs for fourth touchdown. Pitman kicks goal. The first half ends with score 25 to 0.

In the third quarter Sweetwater comes back strong with a number of fresh players. Big Spring kicks. Sweetwater receiving the ball, they make two first downs but are held by the strong B. S. defense. Big Spring returns the ball, Cardwell making the fifth touchdown by a line plunge thru left side. Sweetwater receives ball on kick off and punts back to mid field. The ball is kept in mid field the rest of the quarter neither side being able to advance.

At the beginning of the fourth quarter Sweetwater begins an overhead attack. A pass over center makes ten yards. Two other passes are intercepted; a fourth pass also falls. B. S. ball in mid-field; a pass, Cardwell to Nall, nets 20 yards. Hoover substitutes for O'Barr at left half and Pike, for Cardwell at right half. Big Spring fumbles and Sweetwater recovers. Big Spring is penalized 15 yards for interfering with Sweetwater man attempting to catch pass. Porter goes in to relieve Bailey at quarter and Griffith for Nall at tackle. B. S. made her sixth and last touch down by an end run around right end. Stovall carrying the ball twenty-five yards. Pitman fails to kick goal. Sweetwater begins desperately to gain by forward passes the last few minutes of the game but failed to complete three or four. The passes being wild or being knocked down by B. S. The fourth quarter ended with the ball on Big Spring 20 yard line. Final score 37 to 0.

The Sweetwater team failed to penetrate the B. S. line, but twice got away for end runs of about 20 yards before being stopped. Big Spring was able to gain at will. As far as weight B. S. was the heavier team but the back field not quite as fast as Sweetwater.

The team goes to Abilene Friday to play the strongest team in this district.

To Campaign for George Paddy

With the campaign now thoroughly organized to elect George Paddy United States Senator, Col. Henry D. Lindsay, campaign manager, announces that he wishes to get into communication with every speaker in Texas who plans to speak in behalf of Mr. Paddy or who is available to make speeches.

Mr. Paddy, himself, will make at least seven speeches each week until election day, November 7, as he has been doing since he took the stump. This calls for one speech a day except Saturdays when he makes two, resting only on Sundays.

Col. Lindsay is now organizing the speakers' bureau which will be in direct touch with all of the speakers who go out on Mr. Paddy's behalf. Many requests for speakers are coming to campaign headquarters in Dallas, and all that are received will be given prompt attention. It is also the plan of this bureau to know just how much time each volunteer speaker can give and where he wishes to serve.

The speakers' bureau, it is planned, will be directing speakers in every part of Texas by October 10th.

Statement of the Ownership, Management, Circulation, Etc., Required by the Act of Congress August 24, 1912.

Of Big Spring Herald published weekly at Big Spring, Texas, on October 1, 1922

STATE OF TEXAS
County of Howard.

Before me, a Notary Public in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared W. G. Hayden, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the Editor of The Big Spring Herald and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management, etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of Congress of August 24, 1912, embodied in section 443, Postal Laws and Regulations printed on the reverse of this form to-wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publishers, editor, managing editor, and business managers are:

Publisher, Jordan & Hayden, Big Spring, Texas.

Editor, W. G. Hayden, Big Spring, Texas.

Managing Editor, T. E. Jordan, Big Spring, Texas.

2. That the owners are: (Give names and address of individual owners, or, if a corporation, give its name and the names and addresses of stockholders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of the total amount of stock.)

W. G. Hayden, Big Spring, Texas.

T. E. Jordan, Big Spring, Texas.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: NONE.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company but also, in cases where the stockholder or security-holder appears upon the books as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

W. G. HAYDEN, Editor.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 29th day of September, 1922.

Dad's Boy

(By William L. Brownell.)

About nine times out of ten the thing what starts trouble up at our house, is the money question.

I don't think ma really does it to be mean, but every little while she kinda side swipes dad by callin' his attention to some of their friends who are goin' to California or Florida for the winter or up north for the summer, or they're buyin' a new car or fixin' up their house or doin' somethin' that costs quite a lot of money and after she gets through tellin' about it, she sighs and says, "O well, every man can't be smart and make money, I suppose, any more than every woman can cook and bake and wash and mend and economize the way I have to do."

When ma gets on one of these spells which seems to come quite a little bit more frequent lately, dad sometimes gets mad and talks back and they have a regular squabble and then other times when she bears down the hardest he'll act kinda broke up and say, "Well, I'm sorry Mary; mebbe if you hadn't married me, you'd hooked up with a Rockefeller or any way a regular feller and then you could have galavanted and raced back and forth across the country and played bridge for money Sunday afternoons just like the rest of the wild, wild, women you envy so much" and so it goes and so it goes.

Last night after supper dad was readin' his paper as peaceful as could be, when all at once ma spoke up and said, "Henry, I want to have a good long talk with you, because there are certain matters I want cleared up and you needn't try to dodge it, because I've made up my mind to find out some things and I'm going to pin you right down to facts. In the first place," says ma, "I want to know just exactly what your income is, I want to know just how much money you make out of your business every year and then I want to know to a penny just where that money goes. I listened to a woman at our noonday Club today and she certainly gave us some things to think about. She said, and she was right about it, that the average wife did not have enough to say, that she did not in a large enough way control the family finances and I made up my mind right then and there that there was one family I know of where the wife would have more to say in the future than she has in the past and so this meeting has been called" says ma, "with that purpose in view."

When ma stopped talkin', dad kept right on readin' just as though he hadn't heard a word and that of course made her madder'n fury. "You needn't try to ignore me" says ma, "cause that day is past. As our speaker said today, 'for many, many ages, woman has been a slave to man, but that day is past. She has had to beg for every cent of money he grudgingly gave her, she never knew what his income was or how much she was entitled to, but—I say to you today my sisters, that we are entitled to all of it.' That is what our noble leader tells us and she is right about it, hence and therefore my man, the time has come in this home when we are going to have an accounting, have it quick and have it straight, or there will be a receiver appointed and you can tell the Court what you refuse to tell me."

Them was some words ma spilled, the worst I ever heard her utter and I was all of a shiver to see how dad would take it. I expected of course that he would fly off the handle and we'd have an all night session, but there you are, you never can tell what either one of 'em will do when it comes to a pinch. When ma stopped talkin' once more for the time bein', dad glowily folded up his paper and said, "Well, I think you are right about it, Mary; this is a matter you and I are unable to settle by ourselves, hence the only thing to do is to take it into the courts and thresh it out. I am perfectly willing to give up my share of anything and everything we have to you and the boy and then I will go away somewhere and start all over again. There isn't really any necessity of hiring lawyers," said dad, "because when I give up all I have that's all there is to it. I'll go down to the hotel and stay tonight and in the morning I'll make everything over to you."

When dad started to go ma grabbed him around the neck and cried and she said she wished outside women would mind their own business and she was perfectly satisfied and he shouldn't go and then goewhilkins, the makin' up time they had made me kinda sick and so it goes, and so it goes.—Quilla.

Presbyterian Church Notes

The annual meeting of the synod of Texas, Southern Presbyterian Church, is being held in the First Presbyterian Church, Marlin, beginning Tuesday evening, October 10, at 7:30 p. m., with the opening sermon delivered by the Moderator, Dr. Thos. W. Currie, president of Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Austin, Texas. Dr. Currie's text on this occasion is Luke 17:20-21, and his theme, "Life in the Kingdom of God." Some vital and practical lessons are drawn from his text and theme in such a manner that makes his message very appropriate for those attending a court of the church. He emphasizes the redeeming power of God as translated into terms of a practical application to individual life, to community life and to the life of the church. The power of God that can so change men that God's will be done on earth even as it is done in heaven. His portrayal of such a life, a life in the Kingdom: the life that brings in the Kingdom is as follows:

1. It is a Life of Faithful Stewardship in the things of this world.
2. It is a Life of Forgiveness and Humility.

3. It is a Life of Faith and Gratitude
Dr. Currie is one of the prominent teachers and preachers of the church, and his most timely message is heard with interest and profit. Observance of Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock.

In connection with the report of committee on stewardship, Dr. Henry H. Sweets, executive secretary, Christian education is to address the synod on the assembly's causes and the Progressive Program.

The synod of Texas now has on its roll 227 ministers, 401 churches and 41,314 members. The sessions of synod will continue through Thursday evening October 12. Rev. J. D. Leslie, D. D., Dallas, is the stated clerk.

It is customary for the woman's auxiliary synodical to meet at the same place and time as the synod of Texas and to hold joint sessions with the synod. Important features of the program are:

Conference on stewardship, led by Dr. Brooks I. Dickey, Corpus Christi. Bible studies, led by Mrs. W. D. Hart, Austin.

Address by Rev. C. N. Ivy, Chairman of Synod's Committee on woman's work.

Address by Miss Edna Jackson on "Life Enlistment."
Plans for a "Greater Kerrville" is a subject of much interest.

Dr. Henry H. Sweets, executive secretary is to address the synodical on Christian education and ministerial relief.

We Lack the Boosting Spirit

We certainly lack that get up and get spirit which is in evidence in other West Texas counties. Several counties in the Panhandle section walked away with the leading prizes for the best agricultural exhibit at the Dallas Fair. Our folks were too busy to collect an exhibit and too poor to put up the coin to send an exhibit to Dallas. It is a safe bet that Howard County could have produced an exhibit that would have surpassed these prize winners.

We cannot but admire the spirit of the citizenship of the West Texas counties who are go-getters. Perhaps our folks will awaken some day and come to the conclusion that it pays to let others know we have a real agricultural section.

Character in Conservatism

The conservative man is not necessarily an unprogressive, cautious or timid man. The conservative man usually is thoughtful and intelligent, refusing to follow will-o'-wisp ideas of foolish or scheming leaders.

Summed up, the character of conservatism is caution without timidity and a sincere respect for the world's experiences.

This bank reflects an individuality of conservatism. It is a safe, sane and serviceable institution for you to profit through. Whether it be deposits, checking, investments or loans, you will be glad of making this bank your bank.

A Modern Version of Jonah's Gourd.

During one of the idle hours of Springtime when a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of the beautiful, and in this case to a combination of the material also, our county judge was seized with the desire to plant a few seeds which had been presented him. Selecting a sunny spot under his office window at the court house, he planted them carefully and then awaited results. Even the judge was astonished for the plants produced soon showed a tendency to so embower the county's capital as to conceal it from view, being discouraged in this attempt they were permitted to roam at will over the court house lawn bearing immense long edible fruit. We feel that the high cost of living has been solved. The uninitiated might call this wonderful plant a gourd, as it bears a remarkable resemblance to this family, but the judge insists that it is a butter bean, but by whatever name it is called, it is just as sweet, and properly served, makes a dish fit for the gods.

The fire department was called out Wednesday afternoon by an alarm turned in from Price Bros. new gin. The blaze was confined to the cotton that was in process of being ginned. About the same time a fire started in the Planters gin, located just north of Price Bros. gin, and both fires were extinguished before any serious damage resulted.

Lack of cars to transport cattle from portions of New Mexico and the Panhandle where pasturage is not to be had on account of the continued drought means that the cattlemen of those sections must stand a heavy loss. The railroad companies are unable, or unwilling, to furnish anything like the number of cars ordered.

Folks riding on wagons loaded with cotton should use extra care in handling matches. The increasing number of fires at cotton gins causes one to imagine that such carelessness is in evidence along this line. Of course mere man must enjoy his smoke but he at least could afford to be careful in handling matches.

Of course we are not a prophet but we are inclined to believe that it is going to rain at the breaking up of the present dry spell.

The Case of Peddy

They say Peddy is an honorable man. Peddy and I entered into a solemn compact to nominate a man for United States Senator. Peddy by his action said: "Uncle Bill I am going to put a man named Jim Ferguson on the track against your man Earle B. Mayfield. If Jim Ferguson beats Mayfield will you support Jim Ferguson?" "You bet I will and if Mayfield beats Jim Ferguson will you support him?" "Sure I will," agreed Peddy, so we both went into the primary and whooped up our men and when the election was held, in order that all men might see that we had entered into a fair and square deal, we each filed a pledge made and provided by law: "I am a Democrat. I will support the nominee of the primary." Both of these pledges now repose in the ballot boxes of our respective voting places as mute witnesses to our agreements.

When the votes were counted Jim Ferguson came tearing way behind. Peddy said it was not fair. Mayfield was a Ku Klux and he was not going to do what he said he would. Peddy knew that Mayfield was a Ku Klux before he made the deal. Now Peddy has gone back on me because his man got beat. Not only this but Peddy has thrown in with the colored man's party and is doing all he can to beat Mayfield, the man he pledged to support. And some say Peddy is an honorable man.

If I were running a soap factory after Peddy has double crossed me he has I would not trust him as he greases for me, because I would not let him to swallow the grease as my back was turned. Peddy was trusted. He forfeited his word to me. He won't do what he says he will do, and yet, some say Peddy is an honorable man. If going back on his solemn obligation makes Peddy an honorable man, Peddy is indeed an honorable man.—Sterling News-Record.

Ford as a Prophet

Henry Ford says that in the new order which is coming the big successes in business will be scored by those who raise wages, improve service and reduce prices.

Inasmuch as Henry has done all three, he can justly argue that what he predicts is not impossible.

Certainly, as an ideal, Henry's notion is greatly preferable to the trust building and public utility manipulation of the old order, which aimed in exactly the opposite direction.

We were always told that the economics of combination in place of the wastes of competition would produce benefits enough to go around.

They might have been enough to go around had they been passed around. But about all that the average citizen got was the sting of higher prices or the recoil from labor wars due to oppressive working conditions and low wages.

As we look back upon the curious punishments of bygone days and wonder that folks should ever be so foolishly cruel, so our descendants may in retrospect marvel at the stupidity of our predatory system.

The work of remodeling the residence at the corner of W. Fifth and Scurry, recently purchased by J. Clifford Hurt, is now underway and when the improvements have been completed he will have an ideal little home.

Better Markets Near Home

The towns of the Southwest are far more important to farmers than most of them realize. Our greatest needs as farmers are for more and better markets for our products. Without consumers within easy reach of the farms and ranches, marketing is a very difficult and a very expensive part of farming. With cities and towns within easy reach of the farms and ranches, marketing is simplified and less expensive, making farming more profitable.

The time has come for farmers to take interest in the towns. They may do this by speaking a good word for their neighbors in the town, and on every occasion, compliment the desirable factors of the town to newcomers or prospective citizens. Furthermore, every unkind word or untrue statement about the business men of the town, or the town's commercial rating, should be contradicted. Farmers should be fair to the towns just as the towns should be fair to farmers who contribute largely to making the towns.

Another way to encourage the town and thus make it a better buying factor for farm products, is to become better acquainted with the business men, the professional men, and, so far as possible, the consumers of farm products. People who buy and consume farm products want to know the producer; they prefer to deal with the farmers of business standing and intelligence.

It is not a very difficult matter to build up a business in farming, by building up friendship with the business men and other consumers of the town.

Then before the farmers can sell to advantage, they must buy. Merchants buy farm products from those who buy from them; bankers extend credit to those who have deposits at their banks; professional people prefer to buy from those who assist them in their profession. This is logical and reasonable, and it is good business.

More towns and better towns mean more prosperity for all towns with industrial plants; give employment to laborers, and labor consumes farm products; thus a dollar put in circulation in the towns is a dollar for farm products, for business men, for banks, and for common labor. And the way to build the country, and have more money for education and other needs of intelligent citizens, is to reduce costs of marketing by consuming more products at or near the farms.—Farm and Ranch.

"And He Never Smiled Again!" —Editor McCarty

Editor Dick McCarty, of the Albany News, says that he received a letter from Brother Atticus Webb recently, with a mild mandate that he refrain from poking fun at the prohibition enforcement officers, who are traveling up and down the earth on the trail of bootleggers and spying out wildcat stills in divers places. He seems to think it is not good policy, and in violation of the ethics of good government and law and order, to call them rum sleuths and hooch-hounds and the like. Therefore, he requested that we be grave and staid and look on; don't spin a funny yarn about this business of putting down rum, and to stop our smiling and snickering at the minions of the law in their chase after evil doers.

Well, Brother Atticus, to some extent and with considerable reluctance, we have schooled ourself to abstain from wine when it's red and sparkles in the glass, notwithstanding God planted it in the grape and in the juice that oozes from the peach. Yes! He put this Divine essence in the grain of corn and in the luscious red apple, and for fear that the cider will ferment and engender a kick of joy, we drink it while it's sweet.

Of course God did not know what he was doing when he created the vegetable kingdom or else he would have left the nasty (?) stuff out of the vine and the grain of corn, and if the Creator did not know, He ought to have known, that the Devil would unravel the riddle of fermentation, and unearth the key to Nature's distillery, and that the nations of the earth would wallow in the mire of rum.

Now, as we said above, we have given up booze and we are getting kinder used to it, and besides, we have always been a great stickler for the observance of our organic laws etc. But now, we want it distinctly and expressly understood that the right to laugh and smile and be pleasant and shake hands, jolly and joke the other fellow, poke fun at him and spin yarns, spill some humor, and to gouge him once in a while with the javelin of sarcasm, shall not be abridged, and we are going to take our stand and fight you to the last ditch for that right.

Of course, Brother Atticus, we understand that it is a serious matter with you—this awful thing Rum! It's your business, and you have thought about it, dreamed about it, wrote about it, prayed 'bout it and preached about it, until you have wheels in your head and, we expect that if your brains were dissected, it would reveal the fact that all the joy wells had "swiveled up" and perished away—but, nevertheless, we want you to understand that we are going to laugh. Yes, God, no! the fountains of laughter in our soul shall never go dry.

Yes! For when a man loses the sense of humor he's in a bad fix—hangs the smoked glasses of fanaticism on his nose, looks at the world through a dark veil, and shakes and frowns when the world smiles at him. Better be in the midst of a desert, or in a cave.

Why, God bless your soul! The Yanks, Over There on the battle line, went down to death and glory, laughing, smiling, cracking jokes and smoking cigarettes, and their hilarity took all the morale out of the Boches. Hence, they turned their faces toward the Rhine and victory perched on the American flag.

Oh, yes! When we get so we cannot laugh—see the funny side of serious problems—we want God to come and get us. "And he never smiled again!" That's what the poet said of David when his favorite son was slain on the battlefield and, because he never smiled he lost his grip just that much quicker and went the way of all his fathers.

Yes! Laughter, fun and wit are the Elixirs of Life, and the world would go mad if it could not laugh. So, we are just going to keep on smiling, whether or no. Humor knocks the edge off the other fellow's sword and turns the patchin' off his minnie balls, takes the dynamite out of his powder and converts the steel-nosed bullets into velvet balls. Humor is a great weapon, and this old earth would be a dull habitation without it.

SERMON ON THE MOUNT

Delivered by Jesus The Christ, Anno Domini 31. The only solution for the turmoil, social unrest and kindred evils which torment the world today, is found in the practical application of the teachings of the Master in the "Sermon on the Mount."

What the Constitution is to the Federal Government, "The Sermon on the Mount" is to the kingdom of righteousness which Christ came to establish in the world.

Section 3.—Matthew 5:17-20

GENERAL PRINCIPLES OF THE LAW OF THE KINGDOM

17 Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil.

18 For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled.

19 Whosoever therefore shall break one of these least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven: but whosoever shall do and teach them, the same shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven.

20 For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Attention Ford Owners!

Ford parts, like almost everything else worth while, are counterfeited. Imitation parts are manufactured to SELL at the highest possible rate of profit and the grades of steel used are consequently not the same high quality, specially heat-treated alloy steels specified in Ford formulas for the manufacture of GENUINE FORD PARTS.

Don't be misled—insist upon GENUINE FORD PARTS made by the Ford Motor Company. By so doing you will get from 35 to 100 per cent more wear from them, and you will pay the lowest possible cost—the same everywhere.

Indifference

A great many of us know what we should do, in our work, in our lodges and clubs, in our communities—but we just don't do it. Call it carelessness, call it indifference, call it anything you want, and the fact remains that we fall far short of what we might do to make this a better world in which to live.

When I see people stumbling along, stepping on flowers and stumbling over rocks, I'm reminded of the story of the negro mule trade.

Sam sold Eph a mule, guaranteeing the animal to be thoroughly sound and well. Three days later Eph brought the mule back.

"Sam," said the purchaser, "you told me that mule was sound and well."

"Yes, 'at's what I told ye!"

"That mule ain't no good; he's as blind as a bat."

"How come you say he's blind?"

"Well, when I took him home and turned him in the pasture, he ran right square into a tree. Jes bumped his bald square agin that tree."

"Ah, Eph, that mule ain't blind, he jes' naturally don't give a damn."

Far too many of us are like the mule. Too many of us know better but we won't take the trouble to do better. Many a word of approbation has been withheld, the speaking of which wouldn't have cost us anything, and the hearing of which might have made glorious the destiny of an individual. There are times in the life of every individual when he needs a cheerful word, a hearty handshake, or a friendly pat on the back. These things are as the sunshine, the fresh air and the water to growing plants.

Indifference is a frightful blight. Thoughtfulness, kindness, consideration, earnestness, diligence; these are the things that make a better world, and what is more important, a full man of him who cherishes and practices them.—W. D. Trotter.

Endeavor Program for October 15th.

Topic—True Patriotism: What it is and does.

Leader—Dorothy Brown.

Song—America.

Prayer—For the church and nation

Carmen Barclay.

Scripture Reading—Isiah 1:16-20—Leader.

Talk—Our Constitution: Marian Purser.

Song—Oh Beautiful far Spacious Skies.

Talk—Our Flag: Its history and significance—Oma Maxfield.

Sentence Prayer.

Talk—Realism of the constitution of church and nation—Era Leece.

Song—Onward Christian Soldiers. Benediction.

The time of the Endeavor meeting has been changed from 7:15 p. m. to 6:30 p. m. on account of the church hour. Old members, new members and prospective members come and help us build our society to be the best in the state of Texas. We can if we will but try. We can't do it however if you stay at home on Sunday evenings. Nor can we do it if you shirk your duty when you are on the program or it is your time to lead a meeting. Don't be a drone, but a worker for Christ. We would like to see every one of you there next Sunday evening at 6:30 p. m. sharp. Come, we need you and you need us. Now don't forget.

If you can sing, if you ever could, or if you ever expect to, come and help us, for you're the very person we have been looking for. We have choir practice every Friday evening at 7:30 p. m. Suppose you come next Friday and help us sing. Mr. Dubberly is our director and Miss Lula Jenkins is pianist. With such a splendid team and your help we can set the echoes ringing in Big Spring. Be sure and come. Reporter.

White House Plays Rails' Strike Policy

Washington, Oct. 6.—The transportation system has proved wholly inadequate to meet the freight-carrying needs of the country, the White House announced today.

Rail officials were severely scored for their policy in the recent strike and 95 per cent of the responsibility for present conditions placed at their door. The administration said that strike settlements were proceeding rapidly on all of the lines and pointed out that it followed the basis first proposed by the President and rejected by the executives.

Seniority was said to be a bugaboo about which there was much misrepresentation. It was pointed out that on one line, which had employed 2,400 new shopmen and tried to induce them to remain, 2,200 quit their posts. The administration felt, it was intimated, that the railroads knew at the time that these employees were temporary and would not remain at work.

Many of the lines misrepresented the conditions of their rolling stock and issued statements that were misleading, it was intimated. As a result of this, it was said, the railroads are unable to move essential commodities and have clamped on embargoes.

James Charlton of the Gulf Production Company was looking them over Tuesday.

Charlie and the Dirty Platter

Once upon a time, for you know that is the way all good stories begin, there was a little boy named Charlie Dunn. This little boy was a wee bit taller than the other boys in the Endeavor Society to which he belonged. Oh, yes, Charlie was a good little boy even if he was—but wait that's my story. Charlie had light brown hair, blue eyes and a cute little lip.

There was also a little girl named Helen Creath who belonged to this Society. One Sunday evening Helen brought some candy to the Endeavor. It was her first candy. While she was proud of it the folks at home wouldn't eat it so she brought it to the Endeavorers thinking they would endeavor to eat it. Don't let her know I told you for she told me not to tell.

"Oh just look what I brought you, all some candy I made this afternoon," said Helen, her face beaming.

"Give me thome," Charlie said as he took a generous piece.

"Now, Charlie, don't eat it all up," and Helen hastily drew it away.

After every one had eaten as much as they could, there was quite a good deal of candy left.

They debated what they should do with it. Finally Charlie said, "I tell you, I'll take it home and give thome of it to my thister."

"But, Charlie," Helen said, "how will I get my platter again?"

"Oh I'll bring it to you real thoon," About a month or so later, Charlie having never returned the platter Helen called for it. Charlie blushed, but got the platter.

"I'm thorry Helen, I washed it but I uttred it and it's dirty again."

But Helen said chocolate fudge was sticking on the side after all his washing.

Moral: Whether your name be Charlie or not be sure and wash your platter especially if it is a borrowed one.

First Baptist Church Notes

"He isn't a large man, but he certainly can preach" is what was said on Monday by some who had heard the Baptist pastor last Sunday. We will be glad for all to come and hear and for each one to judge for himself.

The morning sermon was on "Christian Stewardship" and set forth clearly the fact that a Christian is simply the steward in charge of whatever time, talents, or means he may have and as such is responsible to God for the use made of these.

In the evening sermon we were shown a man honorable and honored, but afflicted with the loathsome disease, leprosy. In various instances in the Bible leprosy represents sin, and 'twas pointed out that many splendid men in business and in high callings today are afflicted with this deadly disease sin, and are being implored to seek the one and only remedy, Christ Jesus.

The services are helpful indeed to all. Sunday School teachers, remember to be on hand early next Sunday. The superintendent, Mr. Holmes, wishes to have a teacher's meeting at 9:30.

The Sunbeams, with Miss Cromwell as leader, are having some fine meetings. The different officers are learning to fill their places as nicely as grownfolks could do, and the programmes are interesting and instructive. They meet each Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, in the church basement. They are always glad to have new members or visitors.

On next Sunday afternoon Bro. Strother and his wife are to meet the boys and girls of eleven to fourteen years inclusive, for the purpose of organizing an Intermediate B. Y. P. U. A number met last Sunday to prepare for this organization, and all these are asked to bring others with them and be at the church at 3 next Sunday.

The mission study class meets next Monday at the church. The new books "Stewardship and Mission" are expected to be here by that time.

Costly Fire at Sweetwater

Sweetwater seems to be having more than her share of costly conflagrations, two big fires visiting that city within the past week. The seed house of the Sweetwater Cotton Oil Company was destroyed last Saturday by a fire of undetermined origin. The flames started in the south end of the warehouse. A concrete firewall, recently constructed, proved futile against the flames and a new structure nearing completion, to replace the building burned last spring, went up in flames. Approximately three thousand tons of cotton seed were in the building. The loss is estimated at $50,000.

On Monday morning at 3:30 o'clock the Nolan Hotel was damaged to the extent of $10,000.00 by fire. Several guests had narrow escapes.

Labor Ignored in Republican Campaign Literature

Conspicuous by its omission from the batch of campaign literature thus far issued by the Republican National organization is any record of Republican performance in behalf of labor.

In the series of pamphlets and screeds being sent broadcast by the Republican National Committee and its auxiliaries there are special pleas to the votes of different groups, but none is addressed directly and specifically to the workman.

Spokesmen for the workers of the country have noted this Republican silence on its labor record. They know it was not modesty that restrained the Republicans from making claims of "achievements" for the working people if there had been any to make. The leaders of labor have put the correct construction on this Republican silence. The administration's attitude has been not only not helpful but actively hostile to the workers of the country. The authors of its campaign appeals have therefore regarded reticence on the subject of labor the way of caution and discretion.

R. C. Montgomery accepted a position with the Rix Furniture and Undertaking Company and will be identified with their store at Lamesa. Mr. Montgomery left Monday for Lamesa to begin upon his new duties.

The Hyphenated Christian
 Mr. Editor:
 Thru your News Agency, may I discuss briefly the "Hyphenated Christian?"
 We can understand how and why there could be three divisions in the Christian religion, but after three great and fundamental divisions, I cannot see why there are any more.
 Protestantism is divided, abstracted and subdivided until it tries one's patience, even a believer's patience. In olden times, when God saw idolatry, foreign religions of the mixed breeds,
 the scriptures say "at such ignorance, God winked." After all there is little difference in the tenets of their faith, doctrine, dogma or creed, so, why, all these divisions?
 Nearly every denomination tries to maintain a publishing plant, schools, hospitals and organizations aside from their church; besides a church and a pastor. Now, can one wonder that church pews are largely empty, preachers are underpaid and that the churches have a great financial struggle?
 Just imagine a government, an army, a corporation, trying to operate under such conditions. These many denominations are the outgrowth of stubbornness, egotism and misunderstanding.
 Rather than give in a minor point or two, Christians will face all of this impotency, humiliation and weakness.
 After all, a cold theological mind is stubborn!
 Over against this, we have a modern breed of religionist, that are so liberal that they stand for everything and stand for nothing. The doctrine of standing for the faith once delivered to the saints is good. But this great pack of nonsense was never delivered to the saints.
 Christians! Where is your faith, your reason? When one sees a little town of one to two thousand people with from six to ten dead, pastorless churches, it makes them feel like hanging their heads in regret.
 A great many people keep out of churches both as members and visitors because of the financial burdens, which arise from light attendance and light membership, due largely to the financial strain.
 I wrote some few years ago on the unity of the Republican party. I insisted that the first step toward unity was to drop the newly acquired name.
 The late Mr. Roosevelt wrote me a letter of commendation on that. We would call a devotee of Bryan, a Bryanite; of Wilson, a Wilsonite; and of Roosevelt, a Rooseveltian. We usually wear the name of our idol, hero or teacher, so why not Christ? Does the name comprehend too much? Has it an odium attached to it? Is there any greater?
 When our Christians abandon their "hyphenated" names, we will lose sight of our little pet differences and become one. Then they will go forth in one great body, a solid front with no confusion, no apologies, no financial difficulties.
 After all, we are all a little nervous about that matchless, un-hyphenated name—Christian. We would rather be asked if we are a church member than if we are a Christian.
 The greatest advance step from penticost until now will be when Christians drop the "hyphenated" and be known as Christians. A truthful, honest Christian will admit that they feel nearer their denominational brother than they do one of another denomination.
 Mrs. McPherson's and Billy Sunday's great success rests in this principle of dropping the hyphen and co-operating.
 They also court the favor of the copywriter, fireman and the press.
 There was a political party in this country at one time, which had quite a head and tail. Its name was Republican-Democrat. They cut themselves in two and one faction ran away with the head and the other with the tail.
 It was a shake, heads or tails.
 I see in some future time, the religious folks in a great national convention. They are there to perfect unity.
 They examine the creeds and find that after all, there is no better rule of faith than the Bible; that there is no better code or example of church government than the Bible. They further find that there is no other name under heaven whereby we may be saved, than the matchless name—Christ; that a follower and learner of Him must be a Christian, and that this term is sufficient to designate him such so far as names are concerned.
 We have to give it to our Roman Catholic brethren, that they have shown the world an example of unity, harmony, cooperation and success.
 Without consulting an encyclopedia or exhausting our memory, let us mention just a few religious labels people wear. We will cover only a few denominations.
 There is the Baptist; my English brother says Baptist; Pedro Baptist-Christian. Hard-shell, Free-will, Missionary, Calvary and many other varieties unmentioned. We have the Southern Methodist-Christian and the Northern, the Southern Presbyterian-Christian and the Northern. The Presbyterians of Denver are a little different from the Presbyterians of San Francisco. There is the denomination known as Disciples of the Christian Church, who want to be known simply as Christians and they have divided over instrumental music in the church.

 Then we have the Jumpers, Holiness people, several brands of Pentecostal-Christians, two branches of the Salvation Army and many others I could mention.
 We cannot deny the solemn fact that the great Leader and Founder of the Christian religion prayed that His people be one. Slight individual differences do no particular harm, but when it runs into organizations and organized difference, then it does do harm.
 Oh! Ye of little faith!
 J. A. S.
The Bankers are at Loggerheads
 And now the bankers are at loggerheads. It is the old fight, the little fellows against the big fellows—country against city.
 The great financiers would cover the several states with branches of the great banking concerns so that the banking system might be brought into "a more harmonious organization that would be able to function with greater elasticity."
 The small town bankers see in such a suggestion their elimination. They sense the fact, too, that the branch bank would mean the presence of the man in the community who is not of the community and that consequently local credits would soon be in a topsy turvey condition.
 It seems a fact that even the most astute financiers may find worthy of consideration that an intimate knowledge of resources and character which is the basis of credit, form a strong bulwark of financial security in the country where more than 60,000,000 of the American people live and have their being.
 Eugene Meyer, Jr., undoubtedly a candidate for the Governorship of the Federal Reserve, indirectly makes the plea for the branch system on the ground that a more unified organization would be able to work out a better system of financing the farmer.
 There is a need he contends for more gradual marketing of the farmer's product, which is true. This, of course, spells longer term credits to accommodate the slower process of selling.
 "Paper, based upon the security of non-perishable commodities," Meyer states, "should be made eligible for rediscount for the length of time necessary to market a season's product before the next harvest." To which the little fellows reply "Wall Street" has its eye on the profits of agriculture, and would like to concentrate the wealth of the nation in one spot.
 It is a bitter fight, and it will prove an unfortunate conflict if the farmer is to be caught between the nether millstones.
 The world of finance has produced some remarkable brains. Perhaps they can now be applied to the solution of the farmer's problem in which they appear to be so concerned, without finding it necessary to put to the sword the thousands of local banks of which each community is so justly proud.
 Earnest study surely can find a way to strengthen and use the local banks, rather than to annihilate them.
Oh! Beautiful Banking Generosity
 Nothing is more pleasing than generosity, when it comes from the heart.
 When it breaks out at a meeting of bankers, supposed, by the ignorant, to be cold, the thing is the more beautiful.
 Behold Mr. Lamont of J. Pierpont Morgan & Co., urging upon bankers to forgive the debts of the allies, amounting now to ten thousand million dollars.
 There was an idea that such forgiving should be done by Congress and the ordinary little people, but that seems a mistake.
 The public will be interested in the bankers' decision on the question.
 While the war was on Mr. Lamont's firm, Morgan & Co., made tens of millions out of the war. In fact, that war did the firm a great deal of good, at a rather critical moment.
 Many of the millions that Europe owes the United States passed through the hands of Morgan & Co. buying goods here, and Morgan & Co. didn't lose anything on the transactions! The money lent to Europe was supplied by little people that bought Liberty Bonds and sold them at a loss. If the debts are now forgiven those same little people will have to be taxed over again or buy more bonds, to be sold at a loss, in order to make up the ten thousand millions.
 You can't help admiring the generous impulse expressed by Mr. Lamont.
 Nor can you help wondering what he would say if some demagogue leading a crowd of little people asked them seriously to consider the advisability of returning to Europe the profits that Morgan & Co. took out of the war,
 "because we want to show kindness to our dear allies and brothers."—Chicago American.

Life Sentence for a Reckless Motorist

An Oklahoma jury has just returned a verdict of first degree murder and the court has passed a life sentence upon a young man found guilty of driving his motor car into another car, resulting in the death of two young women and serious injury to two other persons.

The severity of the sentence, it is said in the news dispatches, surprised even the state attorneys who prosecuted the case.

It is possible, however, that the jury had in mind when it assessed the extreme penalty something more than this particular case. It may be that the jury was attempting to pioneer in finding a remedy for the rapidly increasing number of speed maniacs who have no regard for the convenience, safety, life or property of others. Drunk or sober these motor morons are a menace to any community in which they live or through which they drive.

It doesn't so much matter whether a man is a gunman or speed maniac so far as results are concerned. Such men kill and maim and terrorize. Perhaps the Oklahoma jury believed that they should be placed on the same grounds legally. And it may be unless some other effective method to curb the mania is found, juries everywhere will begin to adopt the Oklahoma idea. Certainly it will come to that if educational campaigns through reasonable and liberal traffic ordinances and rules fail to make a dent in the intellect of this class of drivers.

The country is not ready yet for the extreme penalty of first degree murder in cases where death ensues from reckless driving. Murder is a serious charge and a repulsive one. But, on the other hand, the killing of men and women by wanton disregard for the rights of others, such as the speed maniacs display, is also a serious and a repulsive thing. The terms may come to be synonymous in other courts, if once the public patience reaches the limit of endurance.—Kansas City Times.

Building Citizens

All of us know the invaluable training which boys get in the Boy Scout troops.

But few of us realize that most of the work of directing these lads is volunteer work, done by men who are so keenly interested in our future citizens that they devote much time and effort to conducting the work of Scout troops.

There is need for a hundred and fifty such workers to direct some sixteen hundred new members of the Scouts in San Francisco.

They must be men interested in boys. They must be men who have a clear vision of what team work and close association among growing lads can be made to mean in training their character. They must want very much to help in such a movement.

It would seem that no labor could win greater enthusiasm from the right type of men.

One hopes there will be many more than the needed one hundred fifty who will volunteer for it. For men anxious to help in building citizens, here lies a great opportunity.—San Francisco Examiner.

A Test of Imagination

If you wish distinction from the cares of earth, think of this:

Before a recent meeting of astronomers in Santa Fe, N. M., pictures were screened of floating masses of incandescent gas containing matter enough to condense into 10,000 suns, each the possible center of a universe as large as our own.

Their distance was reckoned at one million light years. A light year means the time required for a ray of light traveling at 186,324 miles per second to speed for 31,558,149 seconds.

Figure that, multiply by a million then try to imagine a space so far distant where world like our own may be forming beyond our power to count.

Of course you can't do it. But the effort may temporarily reduce your feeling of self-importance.—San Francisco Examiner.

Open Shop Body Sued for Libel

A libel suit for $1,000,000 against the American Plan Association has been filed in the common pleas court of Cleveland, Ohio, by Local No. 218 of the Molders' Union. The union's petition declares that the open shop body has circulated this statement:

"The activity of the Molders' Union during the last two weeks has differed from the actions of the miners of Herin, Ill., only in actual demonstration. The same purpose to maim and kill has been shown by Local No. 218 of the Molders' Union of Cleveland.

The molders have been on strike since July 15 and have been bitterly attacked by the American Plan Association.

The Road to Normalcy

Says Senator Reed Smoot, new high tariff prophet: "The price of clothing should come down."

Says Congressman Joe Fordney, daddy of the bill: "There will be no increase in prices."

Echo from the other high tariff boys: "The new high tariff will have no effect whatsoever on the cost of living."

So much for the bunk and pitfall side. Now let's consider the facts:

Says a New York dispatch to the Washington Star, a paper friendly to the administration:

"The advance in prices of all fancy worsteds and staple woolsens by the American Woolen Company was the most important factor of today's business situation. There can be no question but these advances, ranging from 2 1-2 to 37 1-2 cents a yard, will be followed by other woolen manufacturers.

"Corresponding increases in the prices of silks, cottons and apparel are equally imminent, according to reports from manufacturing and jobbing centers received by wire within the last 24 hours. There is every indication that the advances to ultimate consumers will be gradual, however."

The well-known horse-laugh sinks to a faint snicker under the booming ha-ha thus handed the alleged statement who, for the benefit of a handful of the already rich, saddle upon the rest of us a new tax to be added to our every day cost of living—then try to tell us it won't hurt: Their prophecies are branded as false even before their tepid mouthings grow cold.

Whether as statesmen or as prophets they do shine.—Fort Worth Press.

Democratic National Committeewoman Sounds Warning

Dallas—"The Democratic party represents the general interests and has no powerful special interests to which it could appeal or from which it could 'fry the fat' for political contributions," said Mrs. Cone Johnson of Tyler, Democratic National Committeewoman from Texas, on her return to the state from Colorado, where she spent the last month. "It has lost more than one national election for lack of sufficient funds with which to prosecute its legitimate activities, while the enormous sums, expended by our opponents have produced national scandals.

"The Republican administration has forfeited the confidence of thousands upon thousands of those who elevated it to power in the nation, and nothing but lethargy upon the part of Democrats will prevent its repudiation in the next national election.

"The party managers, Miss Margie E. Neal of Carthage and John C. Harris of Dallas, with headquarters at 319 Western Indemnity Bldg., Dallas, now appeal to the Democrats of the country for general contributions with which to prosecute our cause. The small sum of $50,000 which has been allotted to Texas, which is only five cents per capita for the one million Democrats of our state, ought to be raised with no great effort, and I have every confidence that the factional differences which now threaten locally will not thwart the efforts of those who have this undertaking in hand and in behalf of the National Committee, I appeal to all loyal Democrats to promptly respond to this call."

IMPORTANT NOTICE

At the regular session of the City Council of the City of Big Spring, Texas, Tuesday night, October 10, 1922, it was ordered that all water rentals both the minimum rate and excess now due or past due be collected by the tenth day of November, water service to be discontinued if not paid by that date.

We do not wish to work a hardship on anyone but to enable the water works to operate and pay its bills this action has become necessary. If you are in arrears please call at the office and make settlement in full before that date.

The above order of the Council will be strictly enforced.

Shop Strike Causes Heavy Loss

Washington.—A sharp drop in railroad income was caused by the shopmen's strike, according to figures made public Tuesday by the Association of Railway Executives.

Reports filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission show the income for August was but 2.65 per cent of the class one railroad's tentative valuations, the lowest return since May, 1921.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Long of Edgewood, Texas, have been visiting old time friends here this week. Mr. Long formerly resided here, serving as deputy sheriff of our county and his present visit is for the benefit of his health. Mr. Long has been troubled with asthma and he finds that a stay in West Texas generally affords relief.

Another Job for Daugherty

There has been a flurry of crime following the great strikes. In Washington, and in many other places, the police have found that most of this crime has been committed by former strikebreakers.

It is inevitable that this should be so. The great and small strikes are now fought by professional strikebreakers. They are furnished by organizations which keep them enlisted and ship them from city to city to take the place of strikers. Many of them are gunmen rather than workers. This is a sinister development of the labor war.

If the enlistment of strikebreakers tends to collect criminal and disorderly characters at the scene of the strike; if such gatherings in the interests of the employers tend to holdups, robberies, housebreaking, receiving stolen goods, theft, selling loot, window-smashing, purse-snatching and the like—to name the crimes committed by ex-strikebreakers in one city alone—the case against the strikebreakers is quite as dark as that ex-parte showing made by Daugherty when he got his Wilkerson injunction against the striking labor unions.

It is darker; for not one of the crimes listed by Daugherty was even claimed to have been committed by the men against whom Wilkerson granted the injunction.

Therefore, Daugherty's course is clear, if he wants to be consistent. When next there is a great strike, he must at once get an injunction against employers forbidding them filling the strikers' places with strikebreakers.

Absurd, do you say? Not a jot more than the injunction he got—Fort Worth Press.
