DEVELOPMENT LOOKING GOOD

Number of Wells Nearing Interest-Depth and Several New Tests to Spud in Soon

Oil Activity East of Here

Four or five test wells rapidly down, and not many more hundred feet to go until they reach the level which oil was found in the well near Westbrook, big may happen in the Westbrook-section next anytime.

T. & P. well No. 2, an offset to Harrison No. 2, now producing 200 or more daily, is now drilling 2500 feet. The Murphy well is below 2200 feet; The Phelan drilling below 2000 and the Cole-Smith and LaSore wells are as deep. The Foster No. 2 is below 1900 feet with the Stew-one mile north of Iatan, spud the Magnolia to spud in next Maxwell and Johnson get-shaped up to start two wells. It begins to look as if the big pool of oil is to go steadily.

Wichita Falls oil men are week making an effort to lease men and geologists can make their appearance, so it's certain that there is liable to be big doing in the oil game the coming months.

Enders-Cushing Test

is going forward steadily on Cushing well No. 1 on the Cushing ranch and they are expected to reach a real oil bearing sand the drill goes much deeper.

is now ponding away in a formation alternating with brown lime and this formation has been in evidence during the hundred and fifty feet. This new 3500 feet deep.

are now running tower on the top of the Cushing Ranch Association and are drilling at a depth of 650 feet. As soon as they reach the cavity formation one crew released to resume drilling on Cushing test.

Work on McDowell No. 4

Leas and Eck Lovelace are on at McDowell well No. 4 of the Oil Company and are not losing time. They have not had much luck in this test as yet, but the drilling has been resumed owing to the fact that considerable water is encountered. After cutting off water when drilling was started, they drilled a short distance until water was struck and it was necessary to underream and again set pipe. This has happened several times. They hope to drill through water carrying formations and they can count on making some money on this well to a depth of 3500 feet or strike pay sand before they stop.

Magnolia Test To Spud in well to be drilled by the Oil Company on section 15, about four miles south of Iatan, will be spudded in within the next few days.

completion of the water line is necessary to permit drilling to go to under headway. It is expected that this well can be spudded later than next Monday.

Magnolia have a good outfit, experienced drillers on the job and expect this test down in quick order. They expect to drill to a depth of 3500 feet or strike pay sand before they stop.

Oil News

great activity among the oil men in the area. Most of the concerns are represented and the property they recently purchased at the corner of East Second and Benton streets and rapid time will be made in completing the building as they expect to have the gin completed and in running order by the time the cotton begins to be ready for picking.

C. E. Lytle will be the manager of this gin.

Gene Yates of Dawson County attended the celebration here July 4th.

The following took part in the wild cow milking contest wherein one rider was supposed to rope the cow and the other rider was to milk her, the team-mates doing this stunt in the shortest time being declared the winners. The following time was made: Ramsell brothers of Garden City, 33 seconds; W. C. F. M. Miller, 33 seconds—1st and second prizes divided between these: Alex Roberts and W. D. Coffee, 41 3-4 seconds; Slaughter and Miller, 53 1-2 seconds; Lee Parkinson (solo), 1 min. 10 1-2 sec. The following made no time—Dillard and Merrick, Pardue and Whitmore, Eubank and Merrick, Williamson and Siper.

JULY FOURTH CELEBRATION

American Legion Picnic and Barbecue a Huge Success—The Big Crowd Had a Jolly Time

The Fourth of July celebration given in this city under the auspices of the American Legion was a big success and everyone of the many visitors here for the occasion were well pleased with the entertainment provided and the treatment accorded them. It was impossible to estimate the number attending the various numbers on the program of the day, but some placed the figures as high as five thousand. It was real fourth of July weather, with the exception that we had a fine breeze all day to keep the heat from becoming oppressive. A finer or more orderly crowd could not have been gathered together and not a single disorder or accident of any kind took place to mar the pleasure of anyone.

Business in Big Spring was suspended for the day and the town decorated with flags and bunting in honor of the occasion. Main street was blocked to traffic between Second and Third St. and Third street was closed as a means of protecting folks against auto speeders and preventing accidents.

The program was carried out in a manner pleasing to all. The Sing Song and speaking in the morning were indeed enjoyed and the Rodeo Program went off in fine shape—everything was snappy, one event following another in quick succession and no firestone waits caused the crowd to become restless, the fine baseball game and big platform dance were indeed winners.

The program opened with a Community Sing Song under the leadership of W. R. Dawes on the courthouse lawn at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday morning wherein two thousand or more joined in or enjoyed in singing patriotic songs. After the singing Judge James T. Brooks made the address of the day, substituting for Hon. L. W. Sandusky of Colorado, who had promised the Legion that he would deliver the address. Mr. Sandusky or any other speaker could not have delivered a better or more appropriate talk than did Judge Brooks on this occasion. He gave a history of our great nation, what it stood for and told why good Americans believed in appropriately celebrating July 4th, Independence Day. He said that while some mistakes have been made in our government, the United States was what we made it and we had cause to be proud that ours was a land of hope and happiness whereas misery, despair and chaos reign in most parts of this old world. We are the favored people of the most favored land under the sun—the citizens of the best country on earth despite the pessimists. If we remember we have to have food and clothes, homes and comforts we know that the only way to get them is to earn them, not to take them away from some other fellow. We are all in the same boat, pulling for the same port and right is bound to prevail as long as we recognize the bonds of brotherhood and unity.

Mr. Brooks paid his respects to the horde of Europeans who would overrun our country if permitted so to do and urged that all foreigners be barred from coming here for years to come. He said he believed in America for Americans. Let them stay over there and pay their war debts and we would take care of ourselves.

He gave praise to the soldiers of all wars and told of the part they took in making our country what it is today. Citing the activities of the American Legion he pointed out that this was not a political party but an organization that desired to play a part in upholding good citizenship and everything worthy that America stands for.

Immediately after the speaking, dinner was spread on long tables arranged along Third street. Many from Big Spring as well as from Coahoma and other points in our county had prepared large quantities of good things to eat, but because of many—and we regret to say it was mostly young folks—rushing in and preventing those who had prepared the lunches from properly distributing same, many did not get anything to eat. Much food was absolutely wasted because of the action of those who should have stood back and allowed older folks and visitors to have been served first.

The big Rodeo opened at 1:30 o'clock and a crowd estimated at two thousand thoroughly enjoyed the fine program. Everything went off in fine shape and everybody seemed well pleased with the various stunts.

A meeting of officials and local managers of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company was held in this city last week. Those attending were W. S. Figg of Dallas, C. L. Stewart of Abilene, district manager; D. E. Daniel, manager of Big Spring office; J. H. Lee, manager of Lamesa office, and Mr. Harris, manager of Tahoka office.

Family Night at Lyric

As long as the members of the six railway shopcrafts are on strike the management will conduct Family Night Shows once each week at the R. & R. Lyric—making a low price so that men out of employment can afford to bring their entire families. A price of fifty cents for the entire family—it matters not whether there are just two or a dozen or more in your family. Regular prices will remain in force as to single admissions.

The first Family Night entertainment will be given at the R. & R. Lyric next Wednesday night. Treat the entire family to a dandy entertainment and let them know you like this plan.

Colorado Young Folks Attend Dance

A party of young people motored over from Colorado Tuesday evening to attend the big platform dance given by the American Legion. Mrs. Brooks Bell chaperoned the party of young folks which included Misses Elinor Thomas, Gertrude Hargraves, Elsie Lee Majors and Lillian Majors; Messrs John Gary, Joe Grant, Mel Beck, Fred Coaler, Robt. McIntyre.

BIG BASKET PICNIC JULY FIFTEENTH

Members of Farm Labor Union and Union Men of Big Spring Invite Everyone to Come.

One of those old fashioned Basket Picnics—one where everybody has a good time is going to be held at the Parrish grove just east of Big Spring on Saturday, July 15th under the auspices of the Farm Labor Union and the Union Men of Big Spring. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone in Howard and adjoining counties.

Pack that basket with good things to eat, enough so you can share with visitors who may come from a distance and come prepared to spend an ideal day, mingling with friends, making new friendships—in fact, enjoying a real old fashioned basket picnic.

No special program has yet been arranged but among the numbers you will be treated to fine talks by Geo. Slater, president of the State Federation of Labor and W. W. Fitzwater, president of the Farm Labor Union.

Parrish Grove is an ideal place for holding the picnic, plenty of shade is provided, so make your plans to bring all the folks and spend an enjoyable day.

Remember everyone is cordially invited to come and you will miss a jolly time if you fail to be present. Saturday, July 15th is the date, Parrish Grove, just east of Big Spring is the place. Keep these in mind and take part in the big community gathering.

Railway Shopmen on Strike

The members of the six shop craft at work at the T. & P. shops here, laid down their tools last Saturday at 10 a. m. and quietly left the shops in protest to the wage cut authorized by the Railway Labor Board. The Maintenance of Way Employees who were expected to quit work at the same time received a last minute order to remain on the job until the president and other officials conferred with the Labor Board pending a rehearing.

The men who are on strike here have made no attempt to interfere with the operation of trains, have remained entirely away from the railroad right of way and conducted themselves in an orderly and straightforward manner, and there has been no need of the special officers which we understand were employed to guard railroad property here.

The outlook for the settlement of the strike in the near future seems assured since the Labor Board has decided not to enforce the cut in wages of the Maintenance of Way Employees without a rehearing; and the chairman of the Board and Bert M. Jewell, head of the railway employee department of the American Federation of Labor have shown a tendency to get together and thresh out misunderstanding. It is to be hoped that an early settlement, satisfactory to both sides can soon be made.

Inland Beach Near Big Spring

Everybody is raving about the fine inland beach about twelve miles west of Big Spring. More than one hundred folks were in swimming in the fine salt lake at Wilkerson ranch Sunday where boating is also one of the enjoyments. The sailboat became unruly recently and got away from the cowboy who admitted he didn't quite have the knack of steering a sail boat with spurs. This trouble has been eliminated as the sailboat has been converted into a motor boat and some real sport will now be in order.

Quite a few of our folks spent July 4th at this fine swimming resort.

Banks Make Good Showing

The reports of the three banks in Big Spring made June 30th are fine indeed and indicate prosperous conditions in this section.

The following are the combined reports of the First National Bank, First State Bank and West Texas National of this city: Deposits, $1,518,968.63; Cash on hand, $463,830.75; Loans and Discounts, $1,353,792.44; Total Resources, $2,061,885.65.

Meeting Wednesday July 12th

A get-together meeting of the union men of Howard County will be held in W. O. W. hall in Big Spring Wednesday July 12th at 8 p. m.

Every union man in Big Spring and Howard County is cordially invited to come and take part in a roasting and enjoyable meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack King and children arrived Wednesday night from Phoenix Ariz., where they had been for a visit with Mr. King's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam King.

Meeting Last Friday Night

A mass meeting in the interest of good citizenship was held in the district court room last Friday and was attended by a reasonably large crowd of ladies and men.

The main purpose of the meeting was to discuss the organization of a League of Women Voters. Mrs. B. F. Willis, presiding, stated that all candidates had been tendered a cordial invitation to be present and all in the room would be given an opportunity to make a brief talk. Among those taking advantage of this invitation were W. D. Riser of San Angelo, candidate for Representative; James T. Brooks, county judge; J. I. Prichard, county and district clerk; J. W. McCutchan, L. S. Patterson, Andrew J. Merrick, H. T. Lane, M. W. Harwell, R. S. McDonald, candidates for sheriff and tax collector; G. E. McNew and Clifton T. Tucker, candidates for treasurer; Anderson Bailey, candidate for assessor; Joe B. Neel, candidate for hide and animal inspector; J. S. McCright, candidate for commissioner of precinct 2.

Mrs. F. C. Niedermeier of Van Horn in an interesting talk explained the aims and objects of the League of Women Voters, pointing out that it was not a political party but an educational party with the object of informing the members as to the merits of measurers proposed for the welfare of city, state and nation, as well as to the qualifications of the various candidates seeking office. She stressed the point that now that the ballot had been given to women they should make use of it to make our country a better country in every way. She pointed out that bills such as the maternity bill recently passed by congress to help eradicate preventable death's among babies, child-labor bill, etc. could never be secured unless the good women of the country fight for them and with a united League of Women Voters many measures which will mean much to humanity can be more easily secured. Prison reform, education and other measures which need women's attention were pointed out and Mrs. Niedermeier explained that all these questions would be brought up in the county and community leagues so the women would be in a position to vote intelligently on every question. At the conclusion of her talk she requested that all who desired to enter into the organization of such a league in our county to remain after the meeting. It was explained that men would be admitted to the League upon the payment of the regular annual dues as honorary members but would not be permitted a vote in the affairs of the League.

No action was taken, we learn, except that it was decided to organize in a meeting to be held in the district court room Monday night July 10th.

Father of Mrs. A. M. Fisher Dead

The many friends of Mrs. A. M. Fisher will be grieved to learn of the death of her father, Louis Kaufman, which occurred at the family home in Chicago, Wednesday, July 5th. Mr. Kaufman who was aged seventy-two years was one of Chicago's well-known and successful business men, and was held in highest esteem by everyone who knew him. He made many friends in Big Spring while on a visit to his daughter and family.

He had been very ill the past six weeks, Mrs. Fisher being called to his bedside about two weeks ago. Funeral services will be held today.

The deep sympathy of friends is extended to Mrs. Fisher in her great bereavement.

Jumbo Cucumbers Brought In

E. A. Rowland is the first of our citizens to bring in some Howard County products to represent our county at Agricultural fairs this fall. On Wednesday he brought to the office of the Chamber of Commerce two monster cucumbers, each weighing two pounds. If others would follow Mr. Rowland's example it would be no trouble to secure an exhibit which would let them know that old Howard County can deliver the goods.

A few years ago the cattle man who added sheep to his ranges was considered of low character, but today those same men are among the richest of all, while all of the others are now raising sheep. For some reason or other the old problem today applies pretty much to cotton raising. Farmers raise cotton because it is a money crop, and one that pays big money. Other things do look small beside a cotton field. But an article in Sunday's newspapers shows different. In Gonzales County there is a man who six years ago had a capital of but $200. Today he has a small farm and is worth $25,000. He made a small fortune off of chickens. His success has seemed even more marvelous than it is because of that. But his monetary success has been the smallest part of it. He has taught Gonzales County farmers that while cotton might be a big crop, there are other things that will pay, too. That is what all South Texas is coming to, sooner or later.—Corpus Christi Caller.

Passing the Buck

Senator Borah has added one more to his many services to the country. In a public letter he has stated: "Year after year Congress is lashed into passing laws which are manifestly unconstitutional, and it has come to be a settled principle apparently that Congress should disregard the Constitution and leave the Supreme Court alone to protect it."

"To my mind such a rule is so utterly shameful, so utterly intolerable that it is startling that it should be even spasmodically urged."

"If the people of this country have made up their minds to deal with all these matters (anti-lynching, child labor, etc.) through Congress, then why not give Congress the power to do so rather than urge a course which involves the lowest form of constitutional immorality."

Americans honor no virtue above courage. Courage in any form makes a mighty appeal to the people whose whole existence, from the time of the pioneers to the present day has been founded upon courage; courage to dare, to do, to think, to stand up and call the truth aloud. The great national heroes, Washington, Lincoln, Roosevelt, are venerated first for their courage.

It is a non-courageous act to vote for a law which the voter knows is not constitutional merely to placate or win favor of "the folks back home." And it is insulting to the intelligence of these same folks back home—Americans all, intelligent, able to sift the wheat from the chaff—to suppose that they regard as courageous a man who votes for the law which conflicts with the Constitution merely because the intent of the law voted for is good.

Senator Borah hits the nail on the head when he calls the practice "shameless." Senator Borah has a moderation of speech which is admirable, but many will add "cowardly" to "shameless" and express their opinion freely—at the polls.

Absentees May Vote Through Notary.

Austin, June 24.—From the number of inquiries being received by the Attorney General's Department, it is apparent that many voters in Texas are not cognizant of the amendment passed at the regular session of the Thirty-seventh Legislature to the absentee voting law. This amendment permits an absentee voter to vote through the assistance of a notary public.

No more than 20 or less than 10 days before the date of an election the voter, according to this amendment, shall make his personal appearance before a notary public and deliver his poll tax receipt to that official, who shall send it to the county clerk in the county in which the elector resides. The county clerk after verification of the poll tax receipt, shall mail to the elector one ballot which is not to be opened by the elector except in the presence of a notary public.

When this is done the elector casts his vote and it is sent by the notary public back to the county clerk of the county in which the elector resides. The county clerk on the day of the election sends the ballot to the judge of the precinct for which it is intended.

It is expected that many absentee voters will take advantage of this new provision of the law. Assistant Attorney General L. C. Sutton said that the department has been receiving a number of inquiries relative to this new feature of the absentee voting law.—Fort Worth Star Telegram.

Why?

Why are so many people bitterly disappointed when, after years of struggling they get to the position in life which they had looked forward to as to their ideal, the position in which they felt sure they would be extremely happy. It is because they did something in their struggle on the way to power and fortune that fills them with remorse and unavailing regrets. Unbidden ghosts keep rising in the background to remind them of some perfidy toward a competitor, some treason against a trusted friend, some mean contemptible act, that stood in the way of another's success; the ghosts of those whose ambitions they trampled upon, whose advancement they hindered; the ghosts of dishonesty, of cruelty, of selfishness; the ghosts of all sorts of people whom they treated unfairly whose hopes and prospects they crushed, people whom they wronged in some way or other.—Orison Sweet Marden in Success.

Public Pays The Price of Apathy

The steel kings are cautious, businesslike, and deeply interested in psycho-analysis. They always study the mental reaction of the people. The price of steel depends largely on fuel conditions, but the steel men know that despite the coal strike the present is not a propitious moment to ask for more money. Eventually, of course, the coal strike will result in an advance in steel prices. That is a foregone conclusion. But a tilt in prices now would react unfavorably, and so the great captains of the industry grit their teeth and await "der tag." Those whose business it is to watch industrial movements predict that July will see the end of the coal conflict. By that time the miners are likely to have reached the breaking point of endurance, and it is then the public may expect to read in those newspapers whose publishers are the constant and willing victims of the industrial press agents, the accepted propaganda preparing the public mind for a raid on the pocket book. Both coal and steel will advance in price unless the unforeseen takes place and there is likely to be a race for the first bid, with the chances in favor of the steel men. Certainly someone must pay the cost of stoppage of production, and of course the victim will be the good old patient public. If the people only realized how much their pocket books are stripped because they fail to interest themselves in anything that does not strike immediately into the home, we might see a revival of community activity and a unification of public opinion that would result in more harmonious conditions. Every day the coal strike—quite ignored by the public—is placing a heavier mortgage on the individual citizen, who still passes her days of life serenely and unmindful of the fact that he is continuously caught between the nether millstones. The Lord helps those who help themselves, and consequently good care is taken of the coal and steel barons.

Retail Grocers Not Profiters

Again the accused has been justified. This time it is the retail grocers of the country to receive vindication, which is accorded them in a report which the Joint Commission of Agricultural Inquiry submits to congress. There has been a lot of "loose talk," as well as considerable amount of "official" accusation to the effect that the retail grocers were opposed to taking the "inventory losses" which followed the great slump of 1920, and doubtless a great many people have honestly believed that they were being overcharged for their food supplies. All of these accusations are now found officially to be error.

Chairman Sydney Anderson of the Joint Commission, addressing the convention of the National Wholesale Grocers' Association, dwelt on the grocery figures contained in that report. He declared the cost of retail distribution, exclusive of profits, in 1921 was 16.8 cents for groceries, as compared with 24.03 cents for clothing, 24.9 cents for hardware and 26.88 cents for shoes in each dollar of sales. He said also that the gross profits of the retailer per dollar of sales were 2.5 cents for groceries, 1.13 for clothing, 1.52 cents for shoes and .82 cents loss for hardware in 1921. He gave the average turnover of retail grocery stocks as 7.7 as against 2.12 for hardware, 1.76 for shoes and 2.9 for dry goods.

Continuing his report, the chairman said: "A study of the charts and figures containing the information brought out by our inquiry indicates that during the period of rising prices which we have had under consideration, that is, 1913 to 1921, inclusive, the percentage of margin for operating expense and profit which the retailer took from the dollar paid by the consumer did not increase. In other words, if the proportion of the consumer's dollar the retailer paid for merchandise in 1913 was 70 cents, and operating expense and profit 30 cents, the same ratio was retained during the period of 1913 to 1921. In some instances the percentage of margin was reduced. However, the relation between operating expense and profit changed considerably during the period. As operating expenses advanced, profits reduced. "For 1913 the gross margin taken by the retailer out of the dollar received from the consumer was 29.1 cents, of which 6.8 cents was profit, while for 1921 the gross margin was 26.16 cents, of which 1.13 cent was profit. In 1913 expense exclusive of profit, was 22.36 cents, and in 1921 it was 25.03 cents, showing an average increase in operating cost of 2.67 cents and a reduction of profit of 5.67 cents.

Out of the profit indicated by these figures must be deducted such items as shrinkage in inventory value of merchandise, federal taxes and stock moving reductions in response to price declines or movement of stock accumulation."

How to Live on $69.50 a Month

We wonder whether the railway labor situation is as simple as it seems. It is announced, for example, that the Railroad Labor Board has ordered a reduction of forty cents a day in certain of the lower grades of employment wherein the pay is now $3.18 per day. If a man gets 300 working days in the year and is never sick and works every one of them he will get under the new scale $834 for his year's work. This is $69.50 a month. We have examined and studied a good many family budgets and analyzed them in comparison with prevailing costs, and we don't quite see where a man working for $69.50 a month gets off. If he has a family the sooner the family gets off the better.

Nevertheless we do not believe that any man who has brain and muscle enough to be employed by a railroad in any capacity should have to spend the leisure portion of the remaining days of June in figuring out how he is going to provide for his family the means of paying the butcher, the baker, the grocer, the milkman, the coal man, the furniture man, for clothes for his wife, his children and himself, the doctor, the landlord and perhaps the undertaker, to say nothing of books, papers, amusements, holidays or recreation of any kind, out of $69.50 a month.

We have read many articles on the award of the Railway Labor Board, but we have nowhere come across an analysis of the mental, moral or spiritual reaction of the man confronted with the necessity of solving the problem outlined in the preceding paragraph.—McCready Sykes in Commerce and Finance.

Notice to the Voters and Good Citizens of Howard County

It has been called to my attention that I was taking a stand against the Union. I wish to make it clear to you, my friends, just how I stand in my talk at Richland. I stated that I was as much interested in the welfare of organized labor and the welfare of this country as I was in my candidacy for Sheriff and Tax Collector, and that I believed they would agree with me that religion and politics, and organized labor should stand on its own foundation and that I was there to defend what I thought was to the best interest to organized labor and to condemn what I thought was against its future welfare. I stated that I was a one-hundred percent American, and a one-hundred percent Union man, and stand ready at all times to better our conditions and hold the Union on a broader plane than to let petty politics destroy it. If I thought anything meant its destruction, and did not try to prevent it, then I would be one-hundred percent against the Union. I said Organized Labor was traveling on a long and dangerous journey, and politics in it was its worst enemy and that I did not think the Union should stand for a school of secret politics with a guide as a hitch rack in it. That I didn't believe it should stand for politics that turns fathers, mothers, sisters and brothers against one another and that I did not believe it should stand for politics that hangs a millstone around its members necks, and demand of them their birthright and good name for someone to accomplish some selfish aim. That kind of politics will destroy Organized Labor, destroy our Government and bring grief to the doors of every mother in the United States, and some day our school boys will have to shoulder a gun and pay the price, for we have a sample of it in Russia today. The American people can be persuaded, but they cannot be driven. I stated at Richland that there was more than 350 Anarchists rounded up by the Federal Government and was waiting deportation. This is no place for anarchists, this is a Democracy and the Vote is the thing. Ship them home, put up the bars and prevent their return. This I read in the paper and merely stated that to show what the Government was doing.

If anybody adds more than I have stated in this, will add something that I have not said.

Endorsing Hon. W. J. Carson

That the citizens of Big Spring and Howard County may know just what kind of a man his friends think he is we publish herewith letters from friends and acquaintances and messages from the officers of the Central Labor Union of San Angelo.

San Angelo, Texas, July 1st, 1922.
To Whom It May Concern:

This is to state to my many friends in Howard County, that I am personally acquainted with the bearer of this letter, the Hon. W. J. Carson of San Angelo, who is visiting Howard County for the purpose of getting acquainted with the voters in connection with his candidacy for representative, the State Legislature of the 91st District, and assure you, one and all, that it is a pleasure for me to testify to the uprightness of my good friend, Carson, and trust that he may make many friends and votes by his trip to my old home county.

Assuring one and all of my very pleasant memories of the days spent in Howard County, and believing that Mr. Carson is the man whom one and all could well afford to vote for, I am Very respectfully,
J. A. Halley.

To the Voters of Howard County:
This will introduce Mr. W. J. Carson, of San Angelo, candidate for the Legislature from this, the 91st District. I have known Mr. Carson since 1906, and know him to be a broad-gauged, practical man of affairs. He is an old-time "cowpuncher," knows what West Texas has and knows what West Texas needs. He stands A1 for the advancement of all West Texas, whether it be schools, irrigation, farming or stock raising, and if elected as your representative, I can assure you fully that he will be found fighting for our interests without fear or favor. A consideration of his candidacy by my old Howard County friends I will appreciate as a very great personal favor.
Very truly yours,
C. D. Ambrose.

Sterling City, Texas, June 3, 1922.
Mr. W. J. Carson, San Angelo, Texas,
My Dear Friend:

I was very sorry that I was not here when you came up, but will say that I am with you for representative until the last ditch is crossed. If you run elsewhere like I think you will run here you will have nothing to fear. My best wishes to you for success.
Yours truly,
W. L. Foster.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Williams and three children were enroute to Big Spring from their home in Dallas when the sad accident which cost the life of their son Lee Williams, took place in Midland County, Thursday, June 29th. They were traveling by auto and though every possible effort was made to catch them they were not notified of the sad tragedy until they reached Colorado City, late Friday night and not until after their son had been buried. The shock to them was indeed great. It was found impossible to delay the funeral until Saturday morning as at first planned.

Mrs. K. S. Beckett Jr., arrived from El Paso on Wednesday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. K. S. Beckett Sr. From here she will go to Merkel for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Warren.

T. A. Bunker and family returned Tuesday from an auto trip to Beaumont and points on the Gulf Coast. They had a jolly good time during their month's visit in South Texas.

Miss Nell Phillips of Dallas after a few days' visit with her brother, Gordon Phillips, left Wednesday evening for her home.

Mrs. F. L. Bell arrived the first of the week from San Angelo to spend the summer with her daughter, Mrs. C. W. Cunningham.

The Railroad Owned Press

The Jacksonville, Florida, Journal has openly raised the question as to the right of a public service corporation to own a newspaper. "The newspaper that is owned by any public utility corporation is not a free press," says the Journal. "It cannot represent the people, it represents the special privilege it is owned to foster."

Presumably the question is being agitated because of the growing grip of the railroads on the newspapers of the South.

That railroad owned newspapers are a dangerous influence in any community, there seems to be no doubt. It is quite out of the question for newspapers owned by railroads to present to the public fair and impartial facts and editorial opinion on such vital questions as freight rates for example, yet upon an intelligent understanding of the freight rate situation on the part of the public depends the prosperity of the great farming population that feeds the nation and the cost of living for the public that must depend on the tiller of the soil. There are thousands of newspaper readers in the cities who never know the ownership of the publications they look to for information. The editors are unknown to them. The city newspaper publishers and his readers have not that close contact that exists between the publisher of a weekly newspaper and his readers. Of course, the natural assumption is that the newspaper is the friend of the public, the national policeman watching the interest of the people, and so people are turned into an army of Little Red Riding Hoods and led to destruction by the railroad wolf without ever a suspicion of their danger.

It would be a beneficial service if legislation were enacted prohibiting the ownership of newspapers by public service corporations, and it is quite within range of possibility that this much to be desired restriction can be brought about if the country press unites in insisting upon it. Reputable newspaper publishers have a right to protect the honor of their profession. The integrity of the whole press suffers in reputation from this handful of prostituted publications whose policies of buncombe and deception are shaped by public service corporations whose sole aim is to disarm and exploit the people.

Cost of Road Building

Villages and counties contemplating road building should get in touch with The Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture, if they would save taxpayers from exploitation at the hands of unconscionable contractors. It appears from information at hand, there has been a sudden and heavy decrease in the cost of road building material. Figures given cover a wide stretch of territory, embracing practically all parts of the United States. They run in brief as follows: earth excavation, common, 33 cents a cubic yard; rock excavation, $1.26 a cubic yard; gravel, $1.44 a cubic yard; sand clay, 45 cents a cubic yard; crushed stone, $3.42 a cubic yard. Structural concrete of various classes ranges from $14 to $21.20 a cubic yard.

For surfacing, the following are the figures by the square yard: gravel, 40 cents; surface treated macadam, 50 cents; bituminous macadam, $1.00; bituminous concrete, $1.97; plain cement concrete, $2.17; reinforced cement concrete, $2.54. Cement has been furnished by the following states at prices given by the barrel: New York, $1.73; Wisconsin, $1.94; Arkansas $2.70.

For the most part village boards are supremely ignorant in matters of road building as might be expected, but they can operate along business lines. Some of them may be able now to take advantage of their college courses which, if they taught anything, showed the lanes down which to travel quickly to obtain accurate information. If our village fathers have never seen a college, then a little horse sense will guide them along lines that will save the public a great deal of money. Road building is going on in every state of the nation and the more we have of it the better, but the poor old brow-beaten taxpayer ought to be considered once in a while, and road contractors can scarcely be regarded as special pleaders for the preservation of the public purse.

R. D. Matthews and G. B. Cunningham recently purchased the abstracting plant formerly owned by S. D. Bainbridge and are having the books brought down to date. When this work has been completed they will be prepared to prepare abstracts for the property owners of our county and they can be depended upon for satisfactory service.

The Few Rule the Many
 A friend of ours said to us the other day: Dick, us little devils don't have much chance in the world today, the big guys get all the cream, and we have to survive on the skimmed milk. That's a truth and that friend of ours didn't know just how true a saying he had coined. Man was made to serve, and take orders from a boss higher up, and ninety-nine one-hundredths of the folks in this world are standing around waiting for orders to move on, do this or that, be quick about it, and here's your daily wage, and if it don't suit you, hike for another job. That's self determination, you can work or starve, steal or beg, less you have guts and gumption to rule a kingdom of your own. The trend of all our education today is for the finished product out of which a slave is moulded—just common, ordinary job hunters, each striving to please the boss and to get a raise, and the one ideal of this life of servitude is promotion, so that you can kick and cuff the weakling below you—wear a crown and wield a sceptre. The ant hill out there is ruled by a boss, so is the bee-gum, the game cock rules the barn yard and the stiffest necked bull has the largest herd and best water holes—the many serve the few, we can't all be rich and live on easy street, so most of us have to be poor and led around by the other fellow, otherwise, if we were all well fixed, who in the thunder would toll down there in the coal mines, who would clear the land, plow and hoe, weave and spin, pull the throttle on the steam engine, dig ditches, and go out there on the battle line and shoot and kill? No if we were all smart and well educated, and born rulers, we wouldn't have any commerce, hence we would all starve to death. About the only incentive that any of us have to work is that we may get the bosses job and rule the mob. The little old country preacher out there in the sticks is working like fighting fire to get a city church and wear the bell. The country editor down there in that dingy office half fed and half clothed, is striving day and night for the city editor's job, that he may sit in a gilded office like State Press, talk to the millions, mould public sentiment, dictate the policy of parties and shape the destinies of nations. Now that's the reason there are so many country editors working on starvation wages—trying to get the boss's job higher up and rule the ignorant rabble. Now this application will fit all other jobs. The American Colonist decided that man was capable of self government, so the Declaration of Independence was born and they kicked royal robes, crowns into the scrap-heap, and the first real democracy on earth was born, but in doing so, we swapped a crown for a political boss who has always dictated the policy of the party and wrote its platforms, and us little folks just walk up to the hay rack and get our rations, and do the shouting and digging up. Of course we would rather obey a political boss than to do obedience to a crown, for the reason that if we have the stuff in us, out of which God makes big men, we can climb up and take his job, but on the other hand, the plebeian can not rule by the right divine, his blood is tainted therefore, us little devils down here in the valley of toll, strive and dig and work, and dream and aspire to be boss of the gang, and name and family and pedigree, thanks to the gods of democracy does not count in the game of life. We said that the few rule the many. Up there in congress of the United States, twenty-five or thirty men run the machinery of the government, the rest of them are just political stool pigeons and take their orders from the men who are born to rule. There is Uncle Jos Cannon, and by the way, we have always admired Uncle Joe in many ways. First he is ultra republican, not a half breed, but a stalwart, and Old Uncle Joe while speaker of the House ruled it with an iron hand, enforced the cloture rule, and made them lick salt from his hand. And we remember one time he used the party lash, made 'em walk up and toe the mark, and one poor weakling said: Well Uncle Joe, I'll vote for it, but I'm going home and go to plowing, and sure enough he did. Yes, cut out the bosses in politics, religion, commerce, community life or what not, and we would just be a wrangling mob, never get anywhere. In an average political election, us little guys do not make a choice or announce our preference until we hear from headquarters.—Waiting for orders.—Albany News.

Bell Well Spouts Gas
 Spouts of gas which break through the crown blocks and are easily visible thirty and forty feet above the eighty-four foot crown blocks are coming from the Bell No. 1, from time to time, while at other times only a cloudy formation arises from the well as the gas pressure forces parts of the cement plug and parts of other formations up in the hole and causes the well to bridge over. These bridges have been easily knocked out, and a close study of the situation at the well has convinced Ira J. Bell that the lower part of the plug, which was placed in the cavity caused by the gas at below 2700 feet is acting as a valve and that the force of the gas flow at times draws this plug to the bottom of the casing and nearly seals the hole, and that the heavy heads are not resumed until this plug drops back when the pressure behind it is evened up.

Close observation of the conditions at the well for the past week have convinced the management that in order to properly handle the casing it will be necessary to place another plug in the hole, and this was to be done late this week. Then the casing will be re-set and the plug drilled through with precautions learned as a result of the difficulty with the first hole when the plug gave way before the drillers expected it to.

Samples of the gas from the well are being sent away this week to determine its casing head quality. These samples when cooled in the air show a considerable quantity of gasoline, and Mr. Bell is confident that the gas is of such a quantity and quality that should the company desire to do so the gas could be used in a casing head plant with commercial profit.

THE LAURA WELL
 M. A. Heller, manager of the Federal Service interests stated this week that he anticipated that drilling on the company's well, eight miles north of Pecos, known as the Laura well would be resumed about the fifteenth of July when a rotary rig would probably be placed on the location and an effort made to drill through the covey formation at 2400 feet.

THE TOYAH BELL WELL
 The string of casing appears to be tightly stuck in the Toyah-Bell well, and during the last week the casing has parted twice during efforts to pull the string from the hole. These breaks have been repaired and pulling resumed.—Pecos Enterprise.

There is a notable lack in the Washington administration of the teamwork which President Harding so eloquently advocates and for which he strives as the faithful party harmonizer. Thus, while the Republicans of congress are working overtime to pass the highest tariff law by which the people of the United States were ever victimized, the President himself being so wedded to that project that he goes far beyond his platform in urging it. Controller of the currency Crissinger, the President's own appointee from "back home," slips off to Maine and makes an address to the bankers of that state in which he warns against any such increase on the necessities of life as the Forney-McCumber bill would effect. "I do not believe," says the controller of the currency, that a public that finds itself unable to buy at a lower price is likely to be able to buy at a higher level unless its income goes up at least a little faster than prices advance. We are not going to restore a feeling of confidence among the people by presenting them, day by day, pages of wage reductions, with announcements of advancing prices. Where is the teamwork between the President, who is boasting of returning prosperity and boosting a tariff that will increase prices, and his controller of the currency, protesting that confidence cannot be restored by increasing prices?—Louisville Courier-Journal.

PIANOS FOR SALE—We have in the vicinity of your city one Upright Piano, Player Piano and Grand Piano that will be sold at greatly reduced prices if bought at once. Terms can be arranged to suit. Honey Philosophy for 1922
 Don't it seem fine to get into your boat, lie face up in the sunlight and drift down the stream of life without a care in the world? You pass hundreds of rocks, the eddies switch the boat from side to side and get you by safely, maybe with here and there a little scratch, but not enough to set you worryin'. An' then you get it. Bump, an' over the falls you go. Boy, what a smash! If you have any thinkin' apparatus left you see where you tried to beat the game an' it didn't work out. Old Cap Nature says you've got to take hold of the oars an' row up stream if you want to land safely. Sometime's you've got to row mighty hard to make headway but you might as well tackle the job, because, there's no room for argument. Every river ends on the rocks or in the mudbanks and that's where the fellow lands who drifts down the stream.

The Master Key

The Science of CHIROPRACTIC MASSAGE can truly be called the "MASTER KEY" that unlocks the door to Health. After centuries of unwavering search on the part of Humanitarians in an endeavor to find a Drugless Method that will unlock the door of Health, it has been proven beyond a reasonable doubt that in CHIROPRACTIC MASSAGE a Master Key has been discovered. PURE CHIROPRACTIC MASSAGE is no longer an untried theory. It has been tried and weighed in the balances and found to be full weight, i. e. One Hundred per cent. Knowing this, why are you not when by using the Master Key, CHIROPRACTIC MASSAGE you can unlock the door to Health and become a useful, strong, red blooded citizen? Because you have no pain in your back is no sign that your vertebrae are in perfect condition. If a nerve leading to your liver is impinged (pinched) where it emerges from the spine, the disease will be in the liver not in the back. If the nerves leading to the tissues of the back are impinged then the disease will be in the tissues of the back. The subluxation (displacement) may not be great enough for your family physician to detect. REMEMBER, his fingers are not trained for such work, while the Chiropactor's are. The teaching of CHIROPRACTIC MASSAGE is radically different from all other methods, both drugs and drugless, yet in perfect harmony with Anatomy and Physiology. It teaches that Disease is caused by occlusion of nerve force caused by pressure on spinal nerves by slight displacement of the small bones of the spine, and that to relieve these diseased conditions, these slight displacements must be adjusted, thus relieving the nerve force to the diseased tissues. If you are anxious to enjoy HEALTH and wish to know what CHIROPRACTIC MASSAGE will do for you, call and see your CHIROPRACTIC MASSEUR at your first opportunity.

BIG SPRING HERALD

BY JORDAN & HAYDEN

$2.00 A YEAR IN HOWARD COUNTY
$2.50 A YEAR OUTSIDE COUNTY

Entered as second class matter at the Postoffice, Big Spring, Texas, under Act of Congress, March 8th, 1897.

Big Spring, Friday, July 7, 1922.

You, and that means every man, woman, boy, and girl in Howard county, are cordially invited to attend the old fashioned Basket Picnic to be given by the Union men of Howard county at Parrish Grove, just east of Big Spring, Saturday, July 15th. Come and bring all the folks.

"The Harding administration was elected because of unrest resulting from grievances. Today the unrest is caused by general disgust with Republican management of affairs at Washington. There is even more unrest in the United States now than there was immediately after the World war."—James M. Cox, former governor of Ohio and Democratic presidential nominee in 1920.

The government's estimate of an 11,065,000 bale cotton crop for this year caused the price of cotton to advance eight dollars per bale, Monday. Many boll weevils are reported and if they become as numerous as they were last year the cotton crop for 1922 will fall below the government estimate. In the southeast the damage to the crop by boll weevils is reported serious. On account of the lateness of the crop it is difficult to estimate the exact damage.

"There are no accurate world statistics of cotton tenderable under the law—in fact, we have no reliable statistics for the United States. The boll weevil is so destructive of the cotton crop at this time that the amount produced this year, even with last year's holdover, will not be sufficient to supply the demand for next year. We must stop gambling in cotton. The farmers are the ones that suffer most."—Senator William J. Harris of Georgia.

"If the selfish Wall street interests, which, behind the scenes, have been delaying and misrepresenting our proposition, will come out in the open and make the government a better offer than mine, I'll fall right in and cooperate and help them and the government in any way I can. And if they think they can get over a less worthy private offer I notify them now that the fight for Muscle Shoals so far has been but a skirmish."—Henry Ford, quoted in New York Times.

The indications are that this year is going to prove a big one in business lines. Not only have the northern and southern factories started up with increased activities, but foreign factories are opening up. This means greater demands for American raw materials, cotton especially. Foreign trade is several millions of dollars better in our favor than before the war. We are confidently looking for a period of great prosperity in the United States for the next few years. Texas will get its share of the business.—Foard County News.

Just ten years ago yesterday Woodrow Wilson was nominated as the Democratic candidate for the presidency. At that time he was governor of New Jersey, and in the prime of his physical manhood. During the next eight years he sacrificed his very life for his country, made history that will live forever, and demonstrated the greatness to which an American may arise. Then he was repudiated, abused, condemned and literally executed, and retired into private life under conditions which had never before been imposed upon an American President. Such are the rewards of public service, such is the history of a great public servant.—Brownwood Bulletin.

There has always been one main issue in campaigns in Texas. It used to be the liquor question. This year it is the schools. Every candidate from constable to United States senator has jumped on the school question. Of course the school question is an important one, and it would be out of style if he advocated anything else save better schools. There has not been a suggestion as to how they would remedy the situation. We western folks are voting the extra tax. Why don't you East Texas people vote your own tax? Why don't some candidate advocate doing away with the state ad valorem school tax and fix the law where every community would have to do its own educating and pay for it? Where is the man with sufficient nerve running for state office who would go into East Texas and offer this kind of suggestion? There is no such animal. East Texas gets its education—at western

That Wasn't the Point

Senator James E. Watson, who was on the floor of the Senate the other day accusing the New York Times of not printing the truth about the tariff because department stores wouldn't let the Times do it, seems to have been pretty roughly handled both in and out of the Senate. Mr. Watson was only trying to help the Republicans out of what he felt was a bad hole. He felt that it would help some if the opposition of some of the most respectable journals in the country could be explained on the ground of virtual bribery. He didn't call it that, but any newspaper that suppresses important news under threat of loss of advertising is being either bribed or blackmailed. As for the Times, it had this to say:

"We do not know, nor do we care, whether Jim Watson believes what he said yesterday in the Senate, that the New York Times does not tell the truth about the tariff because its retail merchants will not let it. Senator Watson, like some of his colleagues, seems to regard the immunity of legislative halls as a license to utter any libel. If he will be obliging enough to repeat this statement outside the Senate chamber, sheltered by no privileges but those of the citizen held responsible for his words, we shall make a reply to which he will be compelled to pay attention."

Discomfiting as that sort of language may have been to the Senator, the objections and cross-questionings interposed in his speech while he was delivering it must have been still more discouraging. Senator Watson was arguing that the retailers of New York were making such tremendous profits on imported articles that a tariff should be put on the imported articles. The dialogue ran thus:

Mr. Hitchcock—Will the Senator advise us whether comparable articles are made in this country?

Mr. Watson—They are; yes.

Mr. Hitchcock—They are sold in competition with the American product?

Mr. Watson—Why, certainly.

Mr. Hitchcock—And what the Senator is complaining of is that they do not reduce the price so as to destroy the American production.

Mr. Watson—My contention is that without a protective duty they would destroy the American production. There is not any doubt in the world about it.

Mr. Hitchcock—By charging a high price?

Mr. Watson—Does anybody pretend to say that if we do not put on a protective duty these imports will not destroy American production?

Mr. Hitchcock—These outrageous profits which are made by charging high prices tend to injure American industry do they?

Mr. Watson—That is not the point at all.

Mr. Hitchcock—Does the Senator want prices reduced so as to wipe out American production?

Mr. Watson—No, that is not the point I have made at all.

Then Senator Smoot came to the rescue with the suggestion that the Treasury ought to get part of the outrageous profits, even if American industry wasn't being hurt by high prices on imported articles. "What becomes of the argument the Senator has made here so frequently and eloquently that under the present tariff law these foreign imports of goods made by pauper labor are flooding the country and tending to destroy American industry?" persisted Mr. Hitchcock. But Mr. Watson said that would take a whole speech to answer, and he didn't have time. Evidently that wasn't the point he was trying to make, either.—Dallas News.

Don't Start Anything New.

"Is this a private fight, or can any wan git in?" asked Pat.
"Shure, it's anywan's fight! Stan' by an' hit the first head ye see!" answered Mike.

There are a lot of persons who hover around waiting to hit the first head they see. If it's a new head, and they can make it really sore, they are sure of a little advertising from having hit it.

Let some one start an expedition into Patagonia to find an "extinct" animal, and some S. P. C. A. person objects. Let some one propose the Amalgamated Society of Short-Haired Girls, or the League of Knee-Length Tresses, and a reformer will try to throw a monkey wrench into the machinery!

So it is only what is to be expected, when the papers begin to give accounts of surgery which is new, that some "legislators" (heaven save the mark!) begin to propose laws which will make it illegal to do "gland surgery!"

It is only what is expected when some educator, who ought to know better than to consider that his knowledge qualifies him to speak on the "morals" of a question which is not a matter of morals but of medicine, rushes into print to read into the ten commandments a prohibition of the use of a part of one man's body to repair another man's, or even the use of an animal body to repair a human frame! Skin grafting, blood transfusion, bone transplanting, are they, too, as well as gland transplanting, "wrong" oh, learned doctor?

If you want a head hit in this delightful country of ours—which is truly delightful because it has so many kinds of people in it—all you have to do is start something new. You will find it no private fight; anyone who wants a name in the newspapers will use his inalienable right of free speech to tell the world what an atrocity you are to think that doing something which never was done before can be anything else but evil.

Grand Old Texas

What is the matter with Texas?

The sun is shining.
No one is whining.
But all are dining.
The crops are growing.
The oil is flowing.
The breezes are blowing.
The factories are running.
The banks are loaning.
The peaches are ripening.
The cattle are fattening.
The railroads are thriving.
Business is reviving.

There is nothing the matter with Texas that isn't the matter with every other part of the country to-wit. Failure to realize on the promise made by the Democratic party in national platform, to-wit: "We demand a return to that simplicity and economy which benefits a democratic government and a reduction in the number of useless offices, the salaries of which drain the substance of the people." But take it all in all, Texas is in fine shape and going on to yet greater triumphs.—Waco Times Herald.

Rid Your Place of Red Ants

If the big red ants are taking possession of your premises you can soon eliminate them if you care to go to a little trouble.

T. H. Johnson has been successfully thinning them out at his home and he gives the public the benefit of his method.

Secure a quart bottle, one with a long narrow neck preferred, and when you catch the red ants quiet, dig out a hole in center of their nest deep enough to bury the bottle so the opening will be even with the ground. The ants will soon dig out and will soon be tumbling down the neck of the bottle in bunches. A little water can be placed in the bottle to drown the ants.

He caught a full pint of ants out of one nest in a little more than a day and the few remaining could have been caught had he left the bottle buried a short while longer. This method is certainly effective, and as it is inexpensive and does not require much labor, should be tried out by every home owner who has a nest of ants on his premises.

Lewin Croft, manager of the H. H. Hardin Lumber Company returned the first of the week from a business trip to Stephenville, also visiting his and his wife's parents while there.

Mighty Good at Arithmetic

We're mighty good at arithmetic, if solving car problems be classed as such. We don't have to "toot our own horn" in people whose cars have undergone treatment here. They told us. But you who have wasted $11 worth of clothes and $96 worth of disposition trying to fix your own car, when we could do it for a dollar or two, you are the fellows we are talking to.

There is nothing so good but what it could be better—and we are trying to improve our methods right along. Bring the old car in and let us diagnose the case. The operation may be a matter of whom you think she is about ready to croak.
