

OUTLOOK IS IMPROVING

Forward on a Number of New Tests to be Run in Near Future
Mitchell County Oil Field
The oil companies will drill a new well at the Underwriters No. 1 at Mitchell County. This well is being drilled by the Mitchell County Oil Field.
Another Test Near Ender-Cushing Well
Work is going forward on the Ender-Cushing test on the Cushing ranch, twenty miles southeast of Big Spring. They are now drilling in line below 2375 feet.
Arrangements have been completed for starting another test well on the Sparkman ranch, about three miles southeast of the Ender-Cushing well. The timbers for the derrick were purchased from a lumber company in this city and will be transported to the location within the next few days.

FATHER AND SON BANQUET

HI-Y Club to Hold Big Event—L. A. Coulter, and E. W. Chadwick Y. M. C. A. Officials to be Here
Friday, November 25, the HI-Y club of Big Spring, Texas, will be sponsor for a Father-Son banquet at the Cole Hotel. The HI-Y club is an organization of High School boys under the supervision of the Y. M. C. A. This banquet is a part of the program of the Boys Work Division of the Y. M. C. A. all over the state, and such banquets as this are being given in all the more progressive Y. M. C. A.'s. Last week banquets of this kind were given at Fort Worth, Dallas, and El Paso. The purpose of the banquet is to encourage a closer relationship between Father and Son, and to foster a greater intimacy between them. A special effort is to be made to have the business men attend the banquet and if they have no son of their own to bring, then to bring another boy, who, perhaps has no father to take him to the banquet.
After a turkey dinner has been disposed of a few short talks will be given. Chief among the speakers for the evening will be L. A. Coulter, of Dallas, State Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and also E. W. Chadwick of St. Louis, International Committeeman of the Y. M. C. A. In addition to speaking to the fathers and sons at the banquet, these men will have a few remarks to address to the business men of the city, and their state-wide reputation is indicative of their ability to give their hearers something worth while. Consequently it is urged that as many business men as can possibly do so will find time to attend. Fathers, you owe this duty to your sons, and business men, you owe yourself this opportunity to hear these splendid speakers. Tickets will be placed on sale in a few days so that those desiring to do so can purchase them. As only a limited number can be accommodated at the banquet table, and therefore only a limited number of tickets will be placed on sale, reservations should be made immediately.

Letter From D. D. Parramore To Whom It May Concern:

This will introduce you to Mr. Axtell of the Hila Morgan Tent Theatre Company who have just finished a two weeks' engagement at Abilene. This company came to Abilene very highly recommended by some of our friends in the east, and while here entertained under the auspices of the Sunshine Nursery, a charitable organization of which Mrs. Parramore is president. We found them to be the finest kind of people to do business with, and their entertainments as a whole were much better than we usually get with the annual Chautauqua. We found them to be perfect ladies and gentlemen, and they played to the best in town and they will leave Abilene with the best regards of the Abilene people. This is no cheap tent show company. But as I would call it a nice family of people giving splendid entertainments of a high class order. Any courtesies you might show them will be appreciated by their friends here.
Yours truly,
D. D. Parramore.
This company comes to Big Spring next Monday for a week's engagement under the auspices of the Student Body of the Big Spring High School.

Main Street Business Property Deals.

That Big Spring business property is very much in demand is proved by the fact that two brick business buildings on Main street changed hands twice within the past ten days.
The two buildings are at 111 and 113 Main. The Palace Confectionery occupies the building at 111 Main and has a lease on the property until July, 1922. The other building, adjoining, is occupied by the Cook and Foley Produce Co. and the Royal Coffee Co., their leases expiring in January, 1922.
These buildings were purchased from E. W. Korn of Fort Worth by J. B. Hodges and S. A. Hatcock of this city.
Messrs Hodges and Hatcock this week sold the corner building at 111 Main, to Mrs. C. M. Estes, proprietress of the Big Spring Meat Market, who will move her market into the new location just as soon as the present lessee vacates, which will probably be July, 1922. The building at 113 Main was sold to Sam Fishman, proprietor of the New York Bargain House, who will move his dry goods store into its new home about January 1st.
This is especially desirable property and the new owners may consider themselves fortunate in securing the ownership thereof.

To Fight for West Texas A. & M. College

Thirty members of the Executive Board of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce met at Ballinger, Texas, Monday to hear reports from the chairmen of various branches of the work and transact other business. Cattle feeding, dairying and hog feeding in West Texas, senatorial redistricting and renewing of the fight for West Texas A. & M. College were subjects discussed before the board.
B. Reagan of Big Spring opened the session for the renewal of the fight for the West Texas A. & M. College, and the board adopted resolutions asking the Legislature at the next session to repeal the bill which the governor vetoed.—Dallas News.

Nance-Canterbury

Errot Nance and Miss Eliza Canterbury stole a march on everyone when they went to Colorado, Texas, Monday to be joined in the holy bonds of matrimony.
The contracting parties are two of the popular young people, both have been students of the Big Spring High School in the present term.
We join their many friends in extending best wishes for a happy and prosperous journey thru life.
Mrs. C. B. Gentry of Los Angeles, is here on a visit to her aunt Mrs. Frank Pool.

San Angelo Citizens Visitors Here

Mrs. W. W. Carson, secretary and Mrs. L. D. Murray, treasurer, of the San Angelo Business College, were visitors here last Friday and Saturday. The San Angelo Business College is one of the fastest growing business colleges in the state and its success is attributed to the fact that all the officers and instructors of the institution are women. Every instructor is experienced and an expert in her line and individual instruction is accorded. An academic department is maintained and a course in abstracting in addition to the regular business course. They came to Big Spring for the purpose of witnessing the football game between the San Angelo and Big Spring High Schools and Mrs. Carson was especially interested because her son filled the position of quarterback of the San Angelo team. Six automobiles were required to bring the San Angelo team and "rooters" here.
Among the San Angolites who accompanied the team here were Prof. Nunnally, Messrs Delaney, Cabanis, Higginbotham, coach; Ramsey, referee; Robinson; Mrs. L. D. Murray and Mrs. W. W. Carson. Hezelle Carson of Midland, last year quarterback of the team and four other students from Midland College were also here to root for the San Angelo team. Harold Carson, quarterback, is the son of Mrs. W. W. Carson, and brother of Hezelle Carson.

We Now Have Market for Wool

Some of our wool growers may not know it but we have a wool buyer now located in Big Spring who will pay you just as much for your wool as any buyer in the State. As he wants to buy all the wool he can get he proposes to make Big Spring a wool marketing center for this section of West Texas just as San Angelo is the marketing center for the Angelo territory.
A. Williams of the Williams Dry Goods Company, is the man and he is no novice in the wool business as he was located in San Angelo eleven years buying wool, furs, etc. Just remember that if you have wool to sell, it will pay you to see Mr. Williams instead of shipping or hauling your wool to the San Angelo market.

Union Thanksgiving Services

Union Thanksgiving Services will be held at the Methodist Church in this city at 10 o'clock Thursday, Nov. 24. Thanksgiving Day and a cordial invitation is extended to everyone in the county to attend.
Rev. J. Thomas Brown will preach the sermon on this occasion and he will bring us a timely message.
We have had a goodly harvest, have been spared the hardships and agony of the threatened strike, we no longer suffer from war such as held the world in bondage just a few short years ago, our section has been freed from destructive storms, fires, epidemics, etc. so we have real cause to offer thanksgiving.
Arrange to attend the Union Thanksgiving services next Thursday.
All members of the R. Y. P. U. please be on hand Sunday. There will be an interesting program and the report of the Convention.

ABUNDANT WATER SUPPLY ASSURED

Mayor Purser Announces That Big Well Uncompleted Produces 5,800 Gallons Per Hour
Plenty of Water Available
While the big shaft at the City Water works has not been completed, progress so far indicates that an inexhaustible supply of pure water has been secured.
The well is now 237 feet deep and the water is boiling up at the rate of 5800 gallons per hour according to Mayor W. R. Purser's statement.
The work of deepening this shaft is being continued though it is a slow and difficult task to keep the water lowered sufficiently to set the blasts of dynamite in the bottom of the shaft, which is about six by eleven feet.
The work of increasing the capacity of the reservoir from 600,000 to 1,500,000 gallons will be completed in the next few days.
The securing of an adequate supply of water just at this time when most every other city in Texas is suffering from a water shortage places Big Spring in a most fortunate position. The city is now letting the T. & P. railroad company here have 100,000 gallons of water daily to tide them over until they increase their water supply.

Why a Big Charity Fund is Needed.

To show the great need of having funds to handle charity cases that are constantly calling for action, we cite a case that was handled in Big Spring Thursday. A man driving a truck to Pecos had picked up a crippled man, his wife, and two children near Cosboma, who according to their statement, were trying to reach El Paso by walking as they had no money. The father and mother had been picking cotton but illness soon caused their funds to be exhausted. The truck driver stated he would give them a lift as far as Pecos if they had sufficient clothes to protect them, but he could not let them suffer on account of the cold weather, and especially so since he expected to be on the road all night. J. A. Bass, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., by devoting an hour or so to hustling around, secured a comfort and some clothing at the office of the Chamber of Commerce, and a new comfort was donated by the firm of J. & W. Fisher so it was possible to fit out this family so they could continue on their way.
This family would have become stranded in our city had it not been for Mr. Bass', whose timely efforts, not only secured them the clothing so badly needed but made it possible for them to reach a point 150 miles nearer their destination.
This case clearly stresses the need of a United Charity fund to handle similar cases.

Big Spring Defeats San Angelo 7-0.

Big Spring HI defeated San Angelo HI in a warmly contested game at the Ball park on Armistice day. The two teams were evenly matched as is evidenced by the low score.
San Angelo threatened the Big Spring goal line three times but Big Spring's line held and the ball went over each time. It was not until the last six minutes of play that Big Spring scored. Pistolet received a long pass from Pitman, carrying the ball fifty yards for a touchdown. Pistolet then kicked goal.
Each player played a good game. The outstanding stars for San Angelo were Carson and Edwards. For Big Spring Pistolet for his long kicks, Pitman, for line plunging; and Griffith and Lane for their hard tackling, were the stars. Final score Big Spring 7, San Angelo 0.

A Live Club

There are immense women's clubs in the cities and wee women's clubs in the country, but probably none of them has a better record pro rata than that of Wampler, Parker County, Texas. Composed of only eight members, "none of whom live very near each other, many of whom have small children, and some of whom have no other way to attend meetings than to walk," yet many of them have never missed a meeting, and a long list of good works stand to their credit. Among these are the providing of a phonograph and records for their school and the arranging of hot lunches for the school children.

Lady Hikers Pass Thru City

Misses Lucille Mack, Anna Burke, and Jerry Butler, "hiking" for their health were here Tuesday on their way to Florida. They sell pictures to defray their expenses along the route and as they are given a helping hand by most everyone, making their way is the least of their troubles. They were attired in Khaki clothes and good serviceable boots; and in addition to find-ink hiking most healthful exercise they say it is lots of fun. They stated that if they kept gaining in weight they will soon be ashamed to tell anyone they were walking in order to benefit their health.

To Settle Boundary Line

County Judge James T. Brooks and County Commissioners C. A. Merrick, J. C. McCright, L. S. Patterson and M. L. Musgrove spent Monday in Colorado where they met in conference with the Commissioners' Court in Mitchell County to arrive at an agreement relative to the boundary line between the counties of Mitchell and Howard sides.
As the members of both courts were anxious to have this matter settled it was agreed that the County Judge of both counties get in communication with the General Land Office to secure information relative to the corner of the two counties.
When this information has been received the County Judge and Commissioners of Mitchell County will come to Big Spring and arrange with the commissioners' court of Howard County to have the line surveyed by a competent and disinterested surveyor. It is desired that this work be completed as soon as possible and the two counties will share the expense of having the survey made.
Under the present status of affairs some land owners are paying tax on land to Howard County that should be going to Mitchell County and vice versa. Suits for tax on land along the eastern edge of Howard and western edge of Mitchell cannot be prosecuted because it is impossible to determine which county has jurisdiction and this will be the case until the boundary line has been definitely established.
It will be good news to the citizens of both counties to learn of the action to settle the boundary line dispute. It is especially desired that this line be established before a big oil field is developed in that territory.

Highwaymen Rob Jerry Shumake

We are informed that Jerry Shumake was held up by hi-jackers one evening last week when enroute from Big Spring to his home in Dawson County. The hold-up occurred about fifteen miles north of Big Spring when he stopped his car to ask if he could render any assistance when he encountered a car seemingly stalled in the road. The two men in the car were masked and demanded that he "shell out" his money. They seemed very much peeved when he produced only $10.00 and threatened to kill him because he didn't have more money on him. Mr. Shumake came near "getting in bad" from the start with the "hi-jackers" for he thought they were friends playing a prank on him and they had to get real hard-boiled before he really thought they meant it when they told him to throw up his hands and to shell out the coin. This is the first report we have had of highwaymen in this section. The men headed their car toward Big Spring after permitting Mr. Shumake to proceed on his way.

W. W. Parks Claimed by Death

William W. Parks, who died at the State Sanitarium at Carlsbad, Texas, Friday Nov. 11th, was buried in the I. O. O. F. cemetery in his city at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Mr. Parks who was aged thirty-five years, had been a sufferer from tuberculosis the past year and though he made a brave fight for health, the disease had secured too strong a foothold.
He was a former resident of Big Spring, leaving here some ten years ago to make his home in Oklahoma, but has been back here several times for short periods.
He went to the Carlsbad Sanitarium last Spring, his wife and children remaining here at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. McKinney.
To the wife, son and two daughters and other relatives who mourn for their loved one is extended the heartfelt sympathy of the many friends of the family in this county.

Fire Department Called Out Twice

Fire alarms Saturday night and Monday morning had folks out hunting for the blaze but fortunately both blazes were extinguished before any material damage resulted.
On Saturday night the alarm was sounded about eight o'clock and for some reason it was thought the fire was south of town and folks in automobiles made a race track of the streets for some time trying to get to the blaze. The blaze was at the home of A. F. Pegues at 406 Gregg St., caused by an oil stove in the bath room getting unruly.
The fire alarm was sounded about 10:30 o'clock Monday morning when the fence at the Ira Wasson home at 609 Bell street was found to be afire.

Buy's Tourist Garage

Pete King this week purchased of W. D. McDonald, the Tourist Garage business and also a half interest in the building on Main street in which the Tourist Garage is located. This is a profitable business and desirable property and Mr. King did not make a mistake in making this investment.

The Caveman's Dairy

The goat is one of the oldest animals of the creation. It was the companion and the dairy supply of the caveman. The first suit of clothes was the skin of a goat. In Abraham's time riches were counted by the number of goats kept. Jacob gained Isaac's blessing by the meat of a savory kid. Why not be wise in the knowledge of the ancients? Goat meat is considered the only pure meat by the Hindus. Goats are the healthiest of animals and thrive well in confinement. The goat is clean, intelligent, gentle, easily handled, takes little space. Six goats can be kept for the feed of one cow. They will produce twice as much of a richer and safer milk. * * * The milk of a healthy goat is white, rich and of fine flavor. Goat milk is best because it has more protein, fat, mineral and vitamins. It tastes like pure, fresh, rich cow's milk, only it has no cow taste. Under sanitary conditions, goat milk keeps longer than cow's milk. It has less water, more butterfat, albumen and solids than cow's milk. The fat globules are one-fifth smaller than a cow's milk. The walls of globules are one-fifth thinner, consequently break down easier. Are acted on quicker by the gastric juice in the stomach. * * * The curds of goat milk, like mother's milk, are soft, fluffy, very small. Cow's milk takes two and one-half hours to digest; goat milk half an hour.

It is the safest food because it is practically free from tubercle bacilli. In three years two goats only, among 500,000 were said to be infected with tubercle bacilli. * * * Being practically free from tubercle bacilli, goat milk can be taken raw. Cooked or pasteurized milk loses some of its most valuable properties. Raw milk is a live milk, has all the physiological properties needed. It is the only way nature intended it to be taken for the growing young. * * *

Forty per cent of the children die from want of proper food, or malnutrition. Milk is the only proper food for growth; it has no substitute. Don't let your child be one of the 40 per cent; goat milk will assure that. Goat milk is best of all—it is richer, purer, safer and costs less. It is baby's best food, next to mother's milk, and often better. It is retained by the weakest stomach, when all other foods fail. In countries where people live longest, they feed on goat products. Goat milk makes delicious butter, and the best of cheese. Goat meat is not surpassed by any other, for quality or flavor. A roasted kid is a dish for the most fastidious. It makes the finest of sausage and a large variety of potted meats. Goat milk makes the most delicious ice cream, delicate cakes and pastry. Cakes made with goat milk need no butter, and are of finer texture.

Buy a goat for your milk supply and beat the H. C. L. Give your children goat milk and save doctor bills. Goats be kept in the back yard as well as on the ranch. A goat will pay for itself in six months, a ready supply of milk at the back door. Goat milk saved many of our boys at the front; they helped win the war. Buy a goat and bring economy, health, and happiness to your home.—Dr. C. P. DeLangie, in Angora and Milk Goat Journal.

Card of Thanks

We take this method of offering our many thanks to our friends for their kindness and sympathy shown us in the death of our beloved son, brother, husband and father, J. V. Jennings. We thank the firemen of Big Spring for the noble part they took, also thank the Masonic Lodge of Ahilene for their willingness and eagerness to do what they could for the deceased brother and his family. Signed, Wife, Son, Father, Brothers, and Sisters.

R. S. McDonald arrived Tuesday from Pecos where he has been erecting a derrick at Bell well No. 1 to replace the one destroyed by fire some two weeks ago. 250 feet of oil is said to be standing in this well.

Bill Horn returned Sunday from an auto trip to Fisher County. His mother, Mrs. J. C. Horn and children accompanied him. Bill had the misfortune to break an axle on his Buick auto while on this trip.

R. S. McDonald recently returned from the Pecos oil field and gives it his opinion that they are going to make a big well out of the Toyab-Bell and he looks for an extensive development in that field from now on.

$10,000,000 AID FOR VETERANS

Red Cross Provides Friendly Service of Many Kinds to Army of Disabled.

BULK OF WORK BY CHAPTERS

2,397 of These Are Helping Ex-Service Men Obtain Benefits U. S. Provides.

One field of Red Cross service alone that of assisting disabled veterans of the World War, entails expenditures $4,000,000 greater than the aggregate receipts of the Annual Roll Call of 1920, the American Red Cross announces in a statement urging a wide spread increase in membership at the Annual Roll Call, November 11 to 24. At the present time National Headquarters and the nation-wide chain of Chapters of the Red Cross is spending approximately $10,000,000 annually for the relief of disabled ex-service men and their families, while the aggregate receipts from last year's Roll Call were approximately $6,000,000.

It is in the 2,289 of the 3,600 Red Cross Chapters which still are helping solve the veteran's problem of adjusting himself to a normal civilian status that the greater part of the cost of this service is borne. Of the total sum spent for veterans' relief last year, National Headquarters expended a total of more than $2,600,000, while the remaining disbursement of approximately $7,000,000 represents the contribution of Chapters in this country-wide effort to assist the Government in providing the aid sorely needed by these men and their families.

An Ever Expanding Problem That the problem of the disabled service man is ever-expanding and probably will not reach the peak before 1925, is the assertion of well-informed Government officials and that 2,397 Red Cross Chapters regard it as their most important work is evidence that the expansion is in nowise confined to a particular section but is on the contrary, nation-wide. At the end of the fiscal year, June 30, 1921, there were 26,300 disabled service men in the 1,692 United States Public Health Service, Contract and Government Hospitals and Soldiers Homes, and that number is increasing at a rate of 1,000 a month.

Thousands of these men receiving medical treatment, compensation and vocational training from the Government today, started their efforts to obtain them through the Red Cross Chapter. The Chapter, acting as the disabled man's agent in claims against the Government, informs the man as to the procedure necessary to gain for him that which is provided him by Federal statute. His applications for compensation, medical treatment and training are properly filed with the aid of the Red Cross Chapter.

Many Forms of Assistance If there is delay before the man's claim is acted upon, the Red Cross Chapter lends the man money to meet the imperative needs of himself and his dependents.

Most vital to the man's gaining full benefit from the Government's care is keeping his mind free from worry about his home. Keeping the veteran's family from hardship of every kind and informing him of its welfare is another province of the Chapter. Free from fear on this score, the man's recovery and advancement usually is rapid.

Every month during the last year, the American Red Cross has given service of one kind or another to an average of 129,215 former service men and their families. An indication of the extent of the faith reposed in the Red Cross Chapter is to be found in the fact that there were 356,544 requests for friendly aid in the solution of personal problems.

448 Workers in Hospitals While the man prior to entering Government care deals largely with the Chapter, afterward he comes into contact with the service provided by National Headquarters. There are 448 Red Cross workers in the United States Public Health Service and contract hospitals and other institutions in which these men are being cared for, whose duty is to provide for his recreation, help him with his compensation claims, keep him in touch with his family; in short, meeting his every need outside of that provided by the Government. While these are a few of the responsibilities of the National Organization, they are by no means all. Among other Red Cross accomplishments for the year are:

It handled 70,732 allotment and allowance claims.

It delivered through its Chapter organization 63,955 allotment checks to veterans who had moved from the addresses furnished to the Bureau of War Risk Insurance.

It provided a special fund of $10,000 for medical assistance to men under vocational training.

It made $2,465 loans totaling $450,000 to men taking vocational training, of which 86 per cent has been repaid.

RED CROSS WORKING FOR HEALTHIER U. S.

Thousands Aided by Instruction in Care of the Sick, Food Selection and First Aid.

How the American Red Cross guides thousands of persons to health is shown in a summary of the society's activities in the health field based upon the annual report for the last fiscal year. Through its Nursing Service, its Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick courses, nutrition classes, First Aid classes, Life-Saving classes and Health Centers and in numerous other ways designed to acquaint masses of citizens with proper methods of living, the Red Cross carried its message of health into all parts of the country.

The work of the Red Cross during the war in its traditional field of nursing, furnishing the military and naval establishments of the nation with 19,877 nurses, is well known. And there are today 37,787 nurses registered with the American Red Cross and subject to call in emergency. During the fiscal year, 1,551 Red Cross nurses were accepted for assignment to Government service, 888 by the Army and Navy and 1,168 by the United States Public Health Service.

In addition to the nurses enrolled by the Red Cross for Government service, the Red Cross itself employed a total of 1,548 public health nurses in the United States and Europe. By far the greatest number was employed in the United States, 1,287, while 51 were in foreign service.

Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick classes, giving thorough instruction in the proper care of the sick in instances where the illness is not so serious as to require professional nursing care, during the fiscal year numbered 5,179. A statistical picture of the Red Cross operations in this field follows:

New classes formed during year 5,179
Classes completed during year. 6,290
New students enrolled 101,068
Students completing course.... 78,482

What the Red Cross accomplished in giving proper instruction through its Nutrition Service is indicated by the following table:

New classes formed during year 142
Classes completed during year.. 186
New students enrolled 2,341
Students completing course.... 2,013

In addition to the above, a total of 22,008 children were given instruction in the proper selection and preparation of foods.

Through its 290 Health Centers, the Red Cross reached 90,252 persons. In these Health Centers, 4,015 health lectures were given and 780 health exhibits held.

In the United States last year, 75,432 persons were killed and 3,500,000 injured in industrial accidents. To prevent this enormous waste the Red Cross held 5,100 first aid classes with a total of 104,000 students enrolled.

RED CROSS RESCUED 600,000 FROM DEATH

Spent $1,200,000 for Relief of Famine Sufferers in China Last Year.

To help overcome conditions of acute distress in five famine stricken provinces of Northern China, where millions of persons were affected by an unprecedented shortage of food, the American Red Cross during the last fiscal year spent more than $1,200,000, $1,000,000 of which was contributed directly by National Headquarters and the remainder by various groups interested in the welfare of China.

Through the wide relief operations thus made possible it is estimated that more than 600,000 famine sufferers were saved from starvation.

To the end that similar prompt relief measures by the organization may always be possible the Red Cross is asking continued support by the American people by universal renewal of membership at the Annual Red Cross Roll Call, November 11 to 24.

The method of relief employed by the American Red Cross in its operations in China was particularly effective, for in addition to saving hundreds of thousands of lives it provided China with more than 900 miles of permanent roads that are sorely needed to prevent a recurrence of famine. At one time the Red Cross employed 74,000 Chinese workmen, paying them in food for themselves and dependents, this food being brought in from Manchuria and elsewhere.

Tariff Walls

The dominant party in congress has apparently abandoned hope of enacting the Fordney tariff bill during the present session. They plan to extend the emergency tariff to Feb. 1, a month longer than Mr. Fordney considered necessary. It would have been the part of wisdom to give a longer delay, for the signs multiply throughout the country that any merit in the Fordney measure, because of protection to agricultural interests, is completely overshadowed by the tax it would inevitably place to consumers on many necessities. The main consideration holding back tariff advocates in congress is not an increase of prices of American-made goods to American consumers, however, but the effect of the "valuation plan" upon foreign trade. The largest manufacturers doing an export business are fearful that a tariff wall on this side will bring reprisals in Europe and elsewhere. Foreign markets are needed for the excess production of this country and if the countries purchasing raw and manufactured materials from the United States find an embargo against the return of their commodities, it is reasonable to expect that they will retaliate in kind. Assurance that the tariff measure is in the nature of an experiment and subject to revision as the necessity arises, do not seem to have convinced the most thoughtful Republican leaders and there will be little surprise if it emerges from the senate in a very different form from that by which it left the house. The decision to postpone final action until the bill has been given more careful study must be welcome to many Republican representatives who were beginning to worry about the effect of the tariff bill in the elections next year.—Montgomery Advertiser.

When it becomes cheaper for any country to burn coal or any other fuel than coal or regular fuel there is something economically wrong with the country. There are thousands of men, women, and children in the United States who are unable to get enough corn meal or any other food to properly live. And there are in the earth thousands of tons of coal and thousands of people needing it to keep warm during these biting winter days. Yet the price of coal is so high and the price of corn so low that it is cheaper to burn corn in many sections than to sell it and buy coal.—Pecos Enterprise.

Did He, or Didn't He?

Ford enjoys a sensation with his chief and central sensation. If he didn't there wouldn't be any Ford peace ship and probably wouldn't have been any campaign for the Senate. Grant correctness of assuming the trait in the Detroit can be no doubt about his discussion which continues with regard to his operation of the D. T. & I. road. In fact, Mr. Ford consented to give a revised answer to the Nation's Business for the following question: "If you owned a railroad such as the New York Central, would you proceed?" In the end, Mr. Ford's answer to the question is entirely fair the same as follows Mr. Ford's answer to the question with an examination by the management of the D. T. & I. road.

Mr. Ford says that railroad management is a big scale call for four or five of these is the result of the non-productive stock. Mr. Ford believes the workers should own the stock, instead of bankers, investors and "widow-makers." Secondly, "overhead rolling stock," he says, "is a mistake on the mechanical side." Mr. Ford admits that about this theory proves that he will shortly be able to do it with accomplishments, the old D. T. & I. cars and engines lighter ones as fast as the old ones. This will be a re-design of the whole mechanism. The third necessity of expediting the journey is to get rid of the waste of idle cars and equally sources of waste of them to be tolerated. Mr. Ford's fourth point is to get rid of surplus and inefficient employees with the strict law. Mr. Ford considers, are a matter of spirit, and all but a complete success.

Mr. Ford's work on the D. T. & I. road says his staff make no progress as yet achieved anything in railroad. They have tightened up the ordinary links and railroad practice, with a few changes in accounting policy. At this point the railroad president on that becomes interesting. The article claims that Mr. Ford really made good because he has over his road his own freight cars and his small labor forces as he pleased, and that a road would have neither of advantages.

It is true that the Ford road made a profit for the year and his acquisition than it did for before he bought it. Despite the road made a profit for the year and his acquisition than it did for before he bought it. Water Use of Water to 300,000 Gallons Daily.

Nov. 14.—From a daily consumption of over 2,000,000 gallons, Athens water users induced by official appeal to conserve water during the winter months. The city council has ordered that the consumption to something less than 300,000 gallons, in the interest of the city. It is estimated that the water in Athens has an immense amount of water in it, and as an emergency measure a temporary pipe line has been laid to keep the city supplied with an absolute minimum. The permanent pipe line to be laid is not looked for before next month. —Dallas News.

"Joker" in Tariff Bill.

"A condition not a theory confronts us," said Grover Cleveland, and this applies to the "joker" in the Fordney tariff bill, pending before congress, the "joker" being the American valuation clause. This provides that all imported merchandise without reference to the purchase price abroad, shall pay duty on the wholesale price of that merchandise in the United States, including the wholesaler's cost of doing business, profit, etc.

This will result, according to figures compiled by the Fair Tariff League of Racine, Wis., in increasing living costs to American people, decreased possibilities of world trade and for the United States treasury less than one-hundredth part of what the consumer will pay the domestic producer.

The American valuation plan provides for payment of duty on the wholesale price of the commodity in this country. Presumably a just tariff is for the protection of American industry and labor. Many American products are sold under price-fixing agreements, so in effect it is proposed that the government surrender the making of rates of duty on competing articles to these price-fixing aggregations, for when any combination sets its domestic prices they become automatically the basis of the importer's duty.

The Fordney tariff bill with the American valuation clause makes the bill defeatful. Apparently it cuts the duty one-third or more, but in fact it makes an enormous increase. This would not be so bad if the government was the real beneficiary, but the government is not. The government gets its duty on the amount imported, but the domestic price-fixing producers are enabled to increase their prices on the total consumption, and, as the increased cost of foreign-made goods when the duty had been added is likely to lessen the demand for them and consequently reduce the imports, the domestic price-fixing producers will reap an enormous profit at the expense of the American consumer. The living costs in America, in so far as respects articles that might be imported, will be double and more the living costs in Europe. The Fair cents per pound abroad; the plate glass interests to double their domestic price; certain chemicals to bring in the United States three times their export price; screws made in New England to bring twice their export price; files 83 per cent more than their export price. Now, and through the Fordney bill, which is higher than the Payne, such producers as elect to join in price-fixing are invited by the house of representatives to make such prices as these the basis of their competitor's customs charges upon entrance to the markets of our "free and independent" commonwealth—a farming out of the taxing power, pouring many billions of dollars annually of the consumers' money, not into the treasury, but into private pockets.

Theoretically, the new rates with American valuation might be very low, but the possibility of fair equalization, with countless price-fixing combinations in the country, is too insignificant to be considered. The purpose of the Fordney tariff bill is to increase the customs charges and the purpose of the American valuation plan is to further increase the customs charges and at the same time cover the exploitations of its creators and advocates into a realm of high prices that will push living costs to a new high level and shut off our opportunities for exports. Beyond the requirements of domestic consumption there will be no demand for factory products of the United States and the cost of those to consumers will necessitate a limited home demand so that factories are likely to be closed, unemployment to increase and wages to go lower. Twice in the past the Democratic party has been placed in charge of the government because of tariffs that operated too much in favor of privileged interests, and the people are likely to act similarly again if they are not fairly dealt with.—Fort Worth Record.

Aqua Pura

Lubbock Avalanche: We notice in a dispatch from Paris, Texas, that the people of that section are hauling water for their livestock. This editor before he was 12 years of age had hauled enough water to overflow the Yellow Horse Canyon before our father discovered there was a greater and better country in the West. Sounds peculiar to the younger people who have been raised on the great South Plains to hear of a fellow hauling water for any purpose at all. In this great South Plains section the water question is the easiest of all. A well fifty feet deep with a good windmill will supply all the cattle that an average fellow would ever have, with clear, cool sparkling water, and no matter which way the wind blows, the supply is never reduced. Come to the great South Plains, where you select the place where you want your well and drill down to the everlasting fountain of water and you are fixed for the balance of your natural born days. Doesn't that sound good to the fellow who has been hauling water all his life several miles to supply the needs of the milk cows and the work team?

Early geographers used to make maps which carried the Lubbock locale under the label of "Great American Desert." It was supposed to be no nearer water than oases is to a blizzard. How absurd that idea was may be gauged by the thousands of windmills which decorate the Texas Plains. Truth to tell, there is yet no great sight of rain in certain portions of Texas, but underneath the surface there is fresh water, sweet water, well water. Also there is good soil, soil that responds to seeding and cultivation with an enthusiasm which is youthful in its zest. To live in West Texas, to dwell placidly under one's own vine and fig tree and see them watered by a windmill which demands no wages and scorns union hours, is probably an experience ever more delicious than that of the poet who, after thinking about it poetically, exclaimed, "See Naples and die!" What the poet meant was not that seeing Naples was fatal, but that seeing it unfitted a person for coarser sights. So, living in West Texas, poetically speaking, unfits

Resolutions of Respect

Whereas Almighty God in his infinite wisdom has seen fit to remove from our midst brothers Remus Edwards and J. V. Jennings, we the members of Signal Mount Lodge No. 372, B. of L. F. & E. bow in humble submission to the Divine will, knowing that the Heavenly Father does all things for the best; and ask His blessings on the wife and children of those who mourn for their best beloved.

Whereas in the death of brothers Edwards and Jennings our lodge has lost loyal and faithful brothers and our members have lost comrades and friends true as steel and beloved for their real manhood, we deeply deplore their untimely deaths and extend to the bereaved families our sincere and heartfelt sympathy in this, their time of deepest sorrow.

Therefore be it resolved: That in addition to our proffer of human sympathy, which seems so inadequate in the face of so overwhelmingly a sorrow, we beseech the Father of All to sustain and comfort them in their hour of deepest need.

Be it further resolved that a copy of these resolutions be presented to each of the families of our departed brothers, a copy be spread on the minutes of our lodge and a copy presented to the Big Spring Herald for publication. Respectfully submitted,

Proposal for Lasting Peace

Party lines were forgotten in the praise given by Democrats and Republicans alike to Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes in presenting to the nations of the world at the Peace Conference the proposition for a ten-year holiday in the world's navy building program. If any discordant note has been sounded, it has been by one who is in favor of the plan outlined by Mr. Hughes but who lacks the faith and vision to believe it entirely practicable.

Texas congressmen were free in their expressions of approval. "I think it a very practical proposal and it ought to serve as a basis for helpful deliberations," said Mr. Lanham.

"If the plan is finally agreed to in substance, very great results will have been accomplished," said Mr. Connally of Fall County.

"I am in favor of my country becoming a party to an agreement along the lines laid down by Secretary Hughes if the other nations are, and I am also in favor of including in the agreement a clause stipulating that each nation bind itself to enforcing the terms of the agreement against any attempt at withdrawal," said Mr. Summers of Dallas.

"I approve of the proposal and hope it will be adopted," said Senator Shepperd.

Each congressman from Texas is for the plan outlined by Secretary Hughes. Representative Wurzbach of San Antonio, Republican, was entirely in harmony with his Democratic colleagues on the proposition, and said he hoped the peoples of the earth would bring pressure to bear to bring about its acceptance.

The United States not only has entered the conference with its cards on the table, but its proposition shows on its face that there is no wish or intent to serve any selfish purpose. In fact, Great Britain and Japanese interests would be better served by the acceptance of the proposition than would the interests of the United States.

It is not the purpose of the United States to put any nation forward or back in preparedness but to enable all to go forward along lines of constructive development of their own resources and trade with less thought of war. It is intended to take a heavy and what should be a useless burden off the people of all nations.

The surprise sprung on the nation's own lawmakers as well as on all the people by Secretary Hughes' proposal for a war preparedness holiday and the loyal acceptance of it in the United States should be gratifying to the

and also that the people of the United States are for the peace of the world at all times and a peace that shall be maintained by harmonious arbitration and agreement rather than by force of arms and the right declared by might.—Fort Worth Record.

And why should not both Democrats and Republicans endorse Secretary Hughes' peace plan, are not both Americans and is not that what this conference was called for? If it had not been for Senator Lodge and his followers in the Republican Senate the League of Nations would have been signed and the world would now be at peace and there would have been a foreign market for the products of this country. But neither Democrats nor disarmament conference is worth amounts to anything in the way of peace it will be in essence the same as the League and we will still be in the entanglement alliance with the world that we would have been had the League been signed.

 The Herald is glad to see the Democrats lining up for Mr. Hughes' conference and it shows that the eyes of that party are a little more at heart than their Republican friends.

Sufficient progress has been made on tax bill by congress to give a fairly good idea what the bill will finally be. When finally enacted it appears that some of the so-called nuisance taxes will be eliminated from our tax system, that a more generous allowance will be made for dependent children in the personal income tax section, that there will be a slight lowering of the rate of personal income tax, that the transportation and excess profits taxes will be repealed effective Jan. 1, 1922, and that there will be an increase in the rate on corporation incomes. The new tax bill isn't going to satisfy anybody. But it must be admitted that the Republican congress has done the best it could considering the tax problem as a whole. The bill, when finally enacted, will probably provide rates for the big incomes so high that it will continue to drive capital of such owners into tax paying securities. No real relief will be given the tax payers on small incomes. The increased allowance for dependents, the repeal of the nuisance taxes and the repeal of the transportation and excess profits taxes, when effective, will be welcome relief. But any will be dissatisfied because they were led to expect so much from the new administration. But the administration can't do much. The greater part of our taxes result from the costs of war. We've got to pay the bill and the only way to raise the money is through taxation. Of course, congress ought to have had this tax question out of the way months ago so that all interests would have known what to expect. That's about the only real criticism there is to offer. Little sympathy will be felt for the fellows who believed that the Democrats were responsible for the taxes and that when a change was made in the administration taxes would automatically be greatly reduced.—Wichita Falls Times.

Y. M. C. A. Notes

L. A. Coulter of Dallas, State Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. and E. W. Chadwick of St. Louis, International Committeeman of the Y. M. C. A., will be in Big Spring, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, November 25, 26, and 27. In addition to speaking to the Fathers and Sons' Banquet Friday evening, these men will probably conduct services at some of the churches in this city Sunday. Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock a big Mens' mass meeting will be held at the Y. M. C. A., and Mr. Coulter will speak there after the usual song service. All men are urged to attend.

Let us not forget to offer prayer at all of our meetings for the Disarmament Conference now in session in Washington. Our splendid statesmen are taking advanced ground in the way of disarmament, and it becomes us as a people who love peace, rather than war, to stand solidly behind our government in its great leadership. President Harding has made a great appeal to the churches of America to go forward with their great task, saying that our civilization depends upon it, and while we have many slackers, yet the loyal ones will carry the lines forward and win a triumphant victory in the end. J. W. Harrison, Chairman.

A one dollar donation to aid local charities thru the coming year is not a very generous donation when a fellow is able to give more. It might be enough if everyone in the county was able to contribute a dollar, but as some are not able to give one dollar while others far more able to give one hundred dollars give only one dollar, the effort to raise a fund for the Salvation Army and United Charities has been rather discouraging. Some folks, too, are so selfish they even turned the committee down cold. Quite a few folks seemed to be under the impression that they were donating for the benefit of the members of the soliciting committee.

Most everyone in the business district is aware of the need for a United Charities association in our city. Every day men appeal for the price of a meal; big able bodied men, who would gladly work if they were given a job but the unemployment situation discloses that there are several million more workers than jobs due to the industrial slump. Not only are appeals made for something to eat but many need clothing; and as the winter weather becomes more severe the number of men appealing for food, clothing and shelter will continue to increase. We must all lend a hand to take care of the present situation.

Cities in many parts of Texas—and not alone in West Texas—that depend on surface takes for a water supply, are facing a serious situation on account of the protracted spell of dry weather. It has been five months since rains of any consequence have fallen in Texas and the water supply of a number of cities is reported dangerously low.

Presbyterian Church Notes

There has been quite a noticeable improvement in our Sunday School since Rally Day, the first Sunday in October. The attendance was increased nineteen last Sunday over the Sunday before. We have a splendid young people's class, both young women and young men in it, but there is room for quite a few more, and a cordial invitation is given to a few other young people of our church, and others who are not lined up with any church or Sunday School, to come and join this class. Mrs. Willis' class of girls will organize this week, and we urge all the girls of our church who have been members of this class to line up at the organization. All of the classes are doing good work. Quite a good many of our older folks are on the sick list, and not able to get out to our service often, but we are thinking of them, our prayers go up for them every day. Next week will be observed as Home Mission week by the good women of our Auxiliary, and the program will begin with the evening service next Sunday, and will run thru Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. A splendid program is being arranged for the Sunday evening service, with various ones taking part on the program. At this service a special offering will be taken for the cause of Home Missions, and we urge all of our people to keep this in mind, and come prepared to assist in this vital work of the Church. Most churches have their beginning as Home Mission churches, our Assembly's Committee has worked out a fine program for the future Home Mission task of our church, but the funds are not coming in fast enough to keep the work moving as planned, and the church at large is urged not to allow the work to go backward. A cordial invitation is given to our church and its services.

J. W. Harrison, Pastor.

Etiquette of the Flag

Some of the men folks of Big Spring failed to stand with uncovered head while the Star Spangled Banner was being played, and others failed to uncover when the U. S. flag was passing in parade, in this city on Armistice Day.

That those who desire to be advised so they may not make these errors we reprint here a few of the thirteen rules of Etiquette of the U. S. flag.

Do not hoist the flag before sunrise nor allow it to remain hoisted after sunset.

During the ceremony of hoisting or lowering the flag, or when passing in parade or review, it is customary for all to remain standing in silence. Men's headgear should be removed and held in the right hand level with the left shoulder. If in uniform they should salute with the right hand salute.

In raising other flags with ours, the American flag must be above the others—never below.

The flag must never be draped, but always arranged to hang in straight lines. It must not be used as a cover for desk, table, or box. Nothing must ever be placed on the flag.

It is unlawful to trample upon, mutilate, or otherwise treat the flag with insult or contempt, or attach it to any emblem or inscription whatever. When old or soiled it should be decently burned. Do not drive tacks in the flag.

When the "Star Spangled Banner" is being played, or sung, all persons within hearing should rise and stand, head uncovered. The playing of it as part of a medley is prohibited and it should never be played—as an exit march.

Ablene Will Play Big Spring at Sweetwater

Ablene High and Big Spring High football eleven's will meet at Sweetwater Saturday of this week at three o'clock for the purpose of settling the winner of Sections 1 and 2 of the University Interscholastic League. Ablene High defeating Comanche High last Saturday became the champion of Section 2 and the game with Big Spring Saturday will be the first inter-sectional game to be played by Ablene High this season.

Ablene High by its defeat of Comanche last week became the champion football team of the following counties: Brown, Callahan, Coke, Coleman, Comanche, Concho, Crockett, Eastland, Erath, Fisher, Haskell, Irion, Jones, Kent, Kimble, Lampasas, Mason, McCullough, Menard, Miles, Nolan, Reagan, Runnels, San Saba, Schleicher, Shackelford, Stephens, Sterling, Stone-wall, Sutton, Taylor, Tom Green and Upton. Big Spring High is champion of these counties: Andrew, Brewster, Crane, Culberson, Ector, El Paso, Glasscock, Howard, Hudspeth, Jeff Davis, Loving, Martin, Midland, Mitchell, Pecos, Presidio, Reeves, Terrell, Ward, and Winkler.

The game at Sweetwater is therefore the most important that Ablene High has played so far this season, and it is expected to draw a large crowd of football fans from this entire section. It was announced Tuesday morning that Big Spring had chartered a special train for Saturday's game, and that they are going to turn out en masse to give their team support.

Ablene High students will make the trip to Sweetwater in automobiles. A large crowd of local fans also is expected to attend.

Coach Shotwell's men came out of the Comanche game without any very serious injuries. Bounds received a fractured rib, it is stated, this being the only injury. Coach Kirtpatrick of the Big Spring game, and if A. H. S. wins this game, it will only have two or possibly three more games to play for the State title. Coach Kirtpatrick of Howard Payne College, Brownwood, will be referee of Saturday's game.

The throwing out of the Ablene-Haskell game, played at Haskell, will affect the standing of the local eleven. It was announced Tuesday morning, Haskell has been defeated by Comford who in turn was defeated by Ablene, so the local eleven's lead is still maintained.—Ablene Reporter.

Methodist Notes

Ten more than even the large attendance last week at Sunday School. Every teacher present but one. The adult classes increase in leaps and bounds. Mrs. Morris had 18 in her Bible class of women, Mrs. Talbot nearly that many in her's. The Young People of Mrs. Hardy and Mrs. Fiewellen numbered about 50. Mrs. Davis had 18 boys present. Mrs. Neel and Miss Annie Ward having fine attendance also. Mrs. Thomas' class, that meets in the study, is outgrowing its quarters. The girls sold candy Saturday and netted a neat sum for class activity. Mrs. Crocker and Miss Lillie Sue Settles have splendid attendance all the time. Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Davis, Miss Schull, Miss White, and Mrs. Cordell have steady interest and attendance. Mrs. Hughes' department runs from 60 to 60 beginners each week. The men's Bible class has grown wonderfully since fall, tho a decrease was evident the past week.

Next Sunday week, Nov. 27, is the day for our Baby Baptismal service. Don't forget it, Methodist parents, please. Bring the young children at 10 o'clock. After the lesson at 10:30 the Baptismal service begins. It is a perfectly beautiful ordinance to which every baby is entitled. Don't cheat your little ones of something so vital, that no amount of regret will ever make possible when the years slip by. It is not necessary that the parents, either or both, be church members. Start the baby right—it will help you also to get that way.

Last Friday the W. M. Auxiliary held its all day session at the church in observance of our annual week of prayer. Quite a large number were present, and enjoyed a "feast of reason and a flow of soul," at the morning and afternoon sessions. During the noon intermission a most beautiful lunch of true Methodist dimensions was served. Our offering ($13.50) will go to the Lambuth Memorial, Japan, and Holding Institute, Laredo. Monday the 21st is the day we pack our box for the Wesley House at Thurber. Don't forget to bring or send the things you can spare. Clothing of all sorts, for men, women, and children will be appreciated. The box will be packed at the church at 3 o'clock Monday.

Everyone was very much surprised Tuesday evening when a shower of a few seconds duration put in an appearance about 8 o'clock. The cloud came from the east and after putting on the show backed off in the same direction.

Paying the Liquor Tax

Those who complain because of the cost of law enforcement may be consoled by knowing the law violators pay the bill and then give the government added penalties to help meet other bills. "There is light ahead," says Arthur Folwell, in Leslie's Weekly, and points the way. He says:

"Figures given out by the prohibition authorities show that the return in fines and penalties for dry law violations has been nearly ten times the cost of enforcement. This means that prohibition enforcement made a profit for the government of at least 900 per cent, which is cheering news indeed, for here may lie the solution of all the government's money troubles. If enough people can be persuaded to violate the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act, the return in fines and penalties may in time make possible the reduction in taxes which the country so anxiously awaits. Lawbreaking may even become a test of patriotism; no man being accounted a good citizen who has not 'done his bit' with a bootlegger."

There is this difference in levying and collecting the so-called liquor tax; those who spent their money for much they did not want because it was easy to obtain and the sale legalized, and because others bought and they did not wish to appear different from the others, and also because of the "treating" habit, but not the fines-tax is paid by those who knowingly engage in law violations and those who buy what only a few really want, some to quench an unnatural thirst and others because the traffic has been made illegal and they cherish the notion they are asserting their independence by violating the law.

In other words, the tax formerly was paid by the great "common people" of the nation and now it is paid by a "select few."

Without doubt, the mass of former patrons of the liquor saloon are now the most earnest advocates of prohibition. Ask the man who seldom went home sober Saturday night and carried to his wife only a small part, if any, of his weekly wages upon which she was dependent to pay the rent and buy food and clothing; ask the former bartender who is now engaging in an occupation which enables him to hold up his head and whose wife and children no longer need to bow their heads in shame because of his employment; ask the mothers and wives who used to dread the coming home of the men of the household and who had reason to curse the traffic which robbed them of their protectors and of the support of which they were entitled. There are thousands who once opposed prohibition in theory that never have been won over to it in practice and now are earnest supporters of it.

One argument advanced against prohibition was that the government needed the revenue from licensing the sale of liquor. But it appears the government receives a large revenue from those who violate the prohibition laws, and those who cry out against prohibition and claim its enforcement is ineffective are really those who are protesting in this way against the tax they have to pay and seeking to have it spread again over the mass of the people.—Fort Worth Record.

During the campaign last fall we were told that one of the great crimes of the Democratic administration was the continued occupancy of German territory by American troops, and we were led to believe that the first thing President Harding would do after he warmed the presidential seat would be to issue an order recalling the American troops. Many months have elapsed without the promised order being forthcoming and now it is intimated that the occupancy by the American troops of German territory is to be indefinite. One of the reasons for keeping the American troops in Germany is their splendid service there and another is that to keep them there will be an insurance to France against aggression by Germany and an assurance to France of our sympathy and support. These appear to be good and satisfactory reasons, but they were just as good and forceful a year ago as they are now. The changed attitude of Mr. Harding illustrates that campaign promises are not always to be assessed at their face value and show that Mr. Harding has, when faced with the actual responsibility, seen the matter differently than when he went about the country as a candidate.—Wichita Daily Times.

So far all the soldier bonus measures have been defeated. The United States government can find money for everything but the soldiers who made it possible for the government to remain intact. These men bared their breasts to the bullets of the enemy, dying, torn to pieces, wounded, maimed, living like cattle, or like beasts, sleeping in the slush and the mud, braving the terrors of shrapnel, the bombs from the sky, fighting in the dark, and suffering the horrors of a cruel war that our property might remain intact, but now that it is all over, it seems impossible to give them just a little bit of the money they were deprived of while away from home, business, and loved ones. Gratitude seems a lost quality in the United States.—Cleburne Enterprise.

Texas' cotton crop this year will be about 1,820,000 bales, according to estimate by Charles E. Baughman, commissioner of markets and warehouse department in Austin. He bases his estimate on data collected from ginners throughout the state, in conjunction with government ginning reports which embrace the entire cotton area; and doubtless with little or no regard to private estimates, which are more "bearish" and which are said to have influenced the market unfavorably at the end of the past week. Estimates of the entire American crop based on official ginning reports, have varied from month to month; from as low as 6,537,000 bales—which is about the figure indicated by the National Ginners' association as the total number ginned to Nov. 1—to as high as 7,500,000, which is the forecast now prompted by that figure. The high-percentage record of the crop gained thus early in the season, reputedly is due to the unusually favorable fall conditions; and persistent reports from all sections of the cotton belt indicate that picking is about completed. The sentiment of the trade, resultant of latest returns, seems to lean towards a final yield of about 7,500,000 bales; and the general opinion of cotton goods merchants and mill owners is that fairly high prices for raw material will be maintained. This opinion is founded on the increased production of domestic mills and the business revival in British cotton manufacturing centers as constructive trade features that practically insure a "steady demand for the South's leading staple. On realization of this forecast will depend the area planted to cotton for next year's growth. The same influences, operating to increase or decrease such acreage, will obtain in Texas as in other states of the cotton belt; and any forecast on this line now is premature, though Commissioner Baughman gathers from estimates of ginners throughout Texas, that next year's acreage will be decreased. It is needless to speculate on a matter which of course will be governed by conditions when the planting season is at hand; not by present conditions, however favorable or unfavorable they appear. Texas farmers certainly will be so directed in planting operations.—San Antonio Express.

The American Legion which represents 4,000,000 young men who were willing to die for their country, went on record at their convention in Kansas City last week as absolutely and completely repudiating our ambassador to England, Colonel George Harvey. They condemned him in the strongest language and demanded his recall. No such rebuke we believe has ever before been administered to an American. Of course he will not be recalled and he will not resign. But he has notice from men who bared their bosoms in defense of their country that he doesn't represent them.—Marshall Morning News.

Joe and Bernard Fisher made a record run to their ranch on the Elbow, seven miles south of town, Tuesday morning, when a telephone message was received stating that the barn at the ranch was on fire. Mrs. Asbury, who was at the ranch house extinguished the blaze and prevented the destruction of the barn. Only a small section of the corral fence was destroyed.

Bazaar December 15-16
The Catholic ladies have decided to conduct a big bazaar in Big Spring, December 15 and 16th, and are now working on plans to make this one of the biggest events of the kind ever held in Big Spring.
Watch for further announcements relative to the bazaar and make your plans to attend for you are going to enjoy this occasion.
Many articles suitable for Christmas giving will be on sale at the bazaar.

Another Near Fire
The gasoline burner used to keep the coffee urn bubbling at the T. & P. Dining Hall at the T. & P. depot, flared up Wednesday afternoon, causing the fire alarm to be turned in. The force employed at the restaurant succeeded in controlling the blaze before the fire department arrived. The ceiling being scorched was about the only damage resulting.

Stores Closed Next Thursday
The business houses of this city will be closed next Thursday, Nov. 24th—this being Thanksgiving, a national holiday.
Attend to business affairs and secure supplies the day previous and avoid any inconvenience.

Two government inspectors were here this week to inspect the boilers of T. & P. engines in service. We learn that they came from Baird where they ordered several engines out of service until proper repairs had been made, but they did not take any engines out of service here.

First Baptist Notes
Quite a nice sum was added to the carpet fund as a result of the recent "Rummage Sale". Over $80.00 was realized from the sale of used clothing, pies and candy. It will not be long now until our beautiful church building will be adorned with a bright, new carpet.

The Sunday School is taking on new life and enthusiasm, due to the untiring efforts of our splendid Supt. Prof. J. T. Reid. There were 219 present on last Sunday to be in the picture Mr. Reid took of the entire membership of the Sunday School. On Friday evening Nov. 11th the Junior Dept. of which Mrs. Gary is superintendent, was entertained in the basement of the church, with a delightful party. About 65 children participated in the games dear to childish hearts, after which refreshments of sandwiches, cake and hot chocolate were served. Mr. and Mrs. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Shick, Mr. and Mrs. Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Gary, Bro. and Mrs. Bass, Mrs. Wm. Menger, Mrs. D. Martin, Mrs. W. C. Henley, Miss Lena Price, and Miss Mabel Ricker did their part toward making this an event long to be remembered by the kiddies.

On Thursday Nov. 11th Mrs. B. Reagan entertained with a tea, complimentary to Mrs. Ray of Troupe, Texas, and Mrs. Russell of Belton, Texas, who is being so pleasantly greeted by friends in this, her old home. During her residence here, in years gone by, she was prominently identified with the First Baptist church, being at one time president of the W. M. U. and taking an active part in all church affairs. Mr. Ray has been in our midst long enough to make many friends, who admire her for those sterling qualities of the true Christian type. She is indeed a charming woman of the old school so seldom met with these days.

A delicious salad course with tea was served by the hostess to the officers of the W. M. U. and District Association Officers who were the invited guests.

Our new pastor and his family are rapidly becoming acquainted with the church membership. We are so glad to have for our pastor a gentleman of Bro. Bass' qualifications and feel sure that he will lead us to higher ideals and Christian standards. Mrs. Bass is a very lovable, charming woman, who is endearing herself to everybody. We have been greatly benefited by all of "Bro. Bass' highly instructive sermons. His messages carry power and conviction and his subjects are always well chosen.

We had the honor to have with us Dr. L. J. Mims, president of Howard-Payne College, Brownwood, Texas, last Sunday, his two eloquent sermons on "The Test of Characters," and "Judgment," were intensely interesting and instructive to a large audience both morning and evening.

Miss Mabel Ricker, our beloved choir leader, delights us frequently with special selections. Her exquisite mezzo-soprano voice grows more beautiful all the time and we are indeed fortunate to have so gifted a leader.

The first number of our new magazine "Home Tidings," which will be issued quarterly, has been completed, and forwarded to Miss Lucile Reagan, our Missionary in far away Africa. Mrs. K. S. Beckett as editor and Mrs. P. G. Stokes, whose inspiration it was to do this, are to be commended for their admirable work, which will be such a pleasant Xmas surprise for Miss Lucile. Pictures of the "Study Class," "The Homemakers," Bros. and Mrs. Bass and the Cradle Roll graced some of its pages.

Missionary Society
The Woman's Missionary Society of the Christian Church met in the home of our president, Mrs. J. R. Parks, November 7th.

Song—"Sweet Hour of Prayer."
Thirteen members present, three visitors, one becoming a member.

A motion carried to have a special missionary program Dec. 4th.

Committee on arrangements, Mesdames Hall, Bainbridge, and Cowan.

Mrs. Ervin, our delegate to the district convention, gave us a splendid report.

Lesson Subject—"India Converted."
Leader—Mrs. F. M. Purser.

Prayer—Mrs. I. D. Eddins.
Bible Study—Mrs. E. W. Brown.

"The Missionary"—Mrs. H. C. Read.
"Echoes from Everywhere"—Mrs. Hall.

Quis—Mrs. Kennedy.
Benediction.

Subscriptions were renewed for "The World Call."

We are glad to know that our faithful member Mrs. W. O. Miller of Baird, is regaining her health. We are always glad to receive her loving messages, and look forward to her visits.

Mrs. Ben McDermott of Mineral Wells meeting with us seemed like old times.

After this splendid session our hostess served a dainty salad course.

Farmer Displacing Cowboy in Big Spring's Streets

The following splendid write-up of our city illustrated with six big photos of scenes, in and near Big Spring, occupied more than a page in the magazine section of the Fort Worth Record, Sunday, November 13.

In 1881 when the Texas & Pacific railroad was laying its steel strands across the shimmering "wilderness" of West Texas, it came upon real water gushing from the "desert" ground where for several years had been established a little tent town known to the cowboys for miles about as "Big Spring." Big Spring was then one and a half miles south of the present bustling city. Like many an other town which had its beginning earlier than the advent of the railroad, it had to move to the railroad.

In 1882 the railroad selected Big Spring as a division headquarters and because of the excellent water it decided to locate its large shops, roundhouse and other adjuncts here. From 1882 to 1905 it appeared that Big Spring was destined to remain a railroad town without any appreciable increase in population. For twenty-three years it looked at the same old shop buildings, business houses and scenery. The hills were bare and agriculture was a nonentity. A few straggling cowboys coming to town, frequently puncturing the clear sky with blasts from their guns, this was all the excitement noticeable in Big Spring.

But in 1905 some of the pioneers of the Big Spring's country came to the conclusion that something besides peas would sprout in the rich sandy land thereabouts. When they began to till the soil and announce by their labors that they were really going to experiment, they were cursed, called fools and generally ridiculed. But, like Fulton and his first steamboat, they showed by their tremendous agricultural harvest that those who scoffed would come to praise. And from that hour agriculture began to get in its work and the town of Big Spring began to expand. From a population of 1,225 to 4,120 in 1910 was the tremendous growth brought about by agriculture in the Big Spring country. The many wooden shacks serving as business establishments were torn down during this period and in their places pretty brick and rock business houses built.

Big Spring is 271 miles west of Fort Worth and 357 miles east of El Paso, on the Texas & Pacific railroad. It has also a large number of important highways, such as the Bankhead, the Puget-Sound to Gulf and others. Tourists' camping grounds have been installed. Big Spring has become a trysting place for many travelers, both by rail and highway.

It is situated in the center of a rich stock farming section, with an immense trade territory that lacks intensive development. The Texas & Pacific monthly pays out over $75,000 in its payrolls.

The Chamber of Commerce of Big Spring points out with pride that the Big Spring country has three distinct advantages over the cotton belt section. First, it is being recognized that the boll weevil and other destructive agencies are less liable to attack cotton here, as the lack of moisture is more fatal to cotton pests than to cotton. Second, it is possible for one man to cultivate three or four times as much cotton here as in the humid regions. Third, the climate and healthfulness. There is no pellagra, hookworm, malaria, hot nights to waste the energy of our man power.

Among the other products raised here to perfection are the sorghum grains. Dairying and poultry raising have taken on an impetus of recent years. The country has two oil wells still producing on the pump with big development in the future.

Big Spring has a splendid hospital—Mercy Hospital—that receives patronage from many points between Fort Worth and El Paso. For six years the city has had free mail delivery. The Y. M. C. A. here has a fine home with large reading and game rooms, bath rooms and auditorium. J. A. Bass, secretary, is making this the most popular place in the city for men and young railroaders. When "hubby" is a bit late for his meals, his good wife is in the habit of phoning to the "Y" to find out how long before the game will be over.

Big Spring is known far and near for its many churches that are performing splendid religious services for the railroad men and the people. Comfortable and adequate quarters and competent pastors are maintained by the following denominations: Methodist, Baptist, Episcopal, Christian, Presbyterian, Catholic, Church of God, Evangelical Baptist, Church of Christ.

Big Spring school ranks with the best in the state, being among the first 10 per cent. It is one of the three schools on the all-Southern list of accredited high schools, graduates of such institutions being entitled to enter any college or university of the South without examination. The system has four buildings, including a high school building built five years ago at a cost of $40,000. Twenty-five teachers are employed. The schools now have 24 1-2 credits of affiliation with the University of Texas, and further credits will be secured by the addition of special courses this year among which are shorthand, typewriting, bookkeeping and business courses. The Sisters of Mercy conduct a private school and several kindergarten schools are found. The excellent schools have brought a large number of families to this city as permanent residents.

The value of highways is appreciated here. The Bankhead national highway has been a great stimulus to business here. Thousands of tourists annually come through this city over the highways, many of whom, stop here several days, spending money and helping every branch of business. Appreciation of good roads was never better exemplified than when the voters of the county recently authorized the issuance of $500,000 in bonds for the construction of good roads in the county. This work is now under way. The construction of the Bankhead national highway through the county will cost about $250,000, the government paying one half of the expense. The contract for this work will be let in conjunction with the contract for its being constructed through three counties west of Big Spring—Martin, Midland, and Ector.

Big Spring gets its water from deep wells located just west of the big spring from which the town was named. The Texas & Pacific railway company has a water system nearby, consisting of deep wells and a large artificial lake—known as Hughes Lake. The lowering of the water in the wells has caused the spring to quit flowing. The town is conceded to have the best and purest water of all towns in West Texas, according to the Chamber of Commerce. The water system is owned by the city, which is now making extensive improvements. A shaft, six feet square, is being sunk to a depth of 250 feet, so a larger supply of water will be available and cost of pumping can be reduced. New pumping machinery has been installed. It is planned to increase the capacity of the reservoir from 600,000 gallons to 1,500,000 gallons. Looking to the future, the possibility of securing an inexhaustible supply of water at Moss Springs, ten miles southeast of Big Spring, is at times proposed. In addition to the natural flow of water, it is possible to impound an immense body of water there with the construction of a dam less than 300 feet long.

There are many points of interest and many beautiful scenic drives in Big Spring country. Attractive scenery abounds; for the staked plains and the hilly country have their meeting place here. Moss Springs, southeast of town, is one of the most attractive spots in this region. It is a favorable place for picnics.

In addition to railway and highway connections Big Spring has daily auto connection with the Santa Fe railroad at Lamesa on the north and Sterling City on the south, and daily auto mail lines between Big Spring and Garden City and Big Spring and Gail.

Big Spring has three strong financial banking institutions, two being national and one a state bank. The statements made to the comptroller for Sept. 6, 1921, indicate the healthy condition of these banks, as follows:

Combined deposits.....	$1,626,044.58
Combined cash.....	638,460.66
Loans	1,249,563.28
Total resources.....	2,138,715.55

Organizations of ladies doing beneficial work in the city are the City Federation and the Home and School Club.

A catalog of industries that have been established in Big Spring includes the following:

Texas & Pacific railroad shops; three cotton gins; one ice plant; one ice cream factory and bottling works; electric light and power plant; ten automobile repair shops and garages; one mattress factory; one machine shop; three blacksmith shops; one bakery; one weekly newspaper; one job printing establishments; one steam laundry; one auto tire and top company; local telephone system operated by Southwestern Bell Telephone company and long distance connections of same company; one motion picture theater; two millinery establishments; two wholesale grocery stores.

Business institutions include: Two national and one state bank; two general merchandise establishments; five dry goods stores; ten grocery stores; two furniture stores; two jewelry stores; three drug stores; three variety stores; three produce houses; four automobile sales rooms; three confectioneries; three tailoring establishments; three meat markets; two wood and coal dealers; five barber shops; one saddle shop; four shoe repair shops; four restaurants; four hotels; two lumber yards; two grain dealers; two undertaking establishments; two hardware stores.

Fraternal organizations holding memberships and holding regular weekly meetings at Big Spring are the Masons, Eastern Stars, K. of P., I. O. O. F., W. O. W., B. P. O. E., K. O. T. M., Royal Neighbors, Pythian Sisters, Woodman Circle.

Unions which have locals at Big Spring are B. of L. E. B. of L. F. & B., O. R. C., All Shop Crafts, Maintenance of Ways Employees, Railway Clerks, Order of Railway Telegraphers, Retail Clerks Protective association, Typographical Union, Farm Labor Union, G. I. A. L. S. to B. of I. F. & E., Ladies Auxiliary to O. R. C., and Ladies Auxiliary to B. of R. T.

Big Spring has a conspicuous Chamber of Commerce. It has been identified with the growth of Big Spring from the moment of its inception. Business men have begun to realize that without a Chamber of Commerce that the town cannot proceed. For that reason it has employed one of the best known commercial secretaries in the state. And by the way, the secretary is a lady, Miss Nell Hatch, who knows probably more about the town and country than any other person in Howard County, has won a place in the sun for her great work. She is a very efficient, hard-working secretary, always accommodating, pleasing in manner and constantly going after the really worthwhile things for the city. W. W. Rix is president. Big Spring had an agricultural exhibit at the West Texas fair at Abilene, and State fair at Dallas, which were helpful in advertising to the world what Big Spring is in the way of a city and what its territory has to promise the energetic person looking for a new primal country, good climate and good people.

Big Spring has always been a consistent supporter of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. It holds a large membership and work in unison with all other West Texas in the development of the West on a grand scale.

Situated at Big Spring is a government experiment station under the capable supervision of J. E. Mundell. This experiment station is one of the most complete in the United States, and the work it has carried on has been such a type and nature as to bring about some splendid results that are lifting the West from out of the lurch and making it the most responsive country in the world to the touch of the plow in the hands of experienced Western farmers. However, since the experiment station and its work are so great in design and utility, the writer has reserved space for an exclusive story about it in a subsequent number of The Record Magazine.

A Portentous Decision

Public interest in the conference at Washington focuses upon disarmament, and is expressed in the hope that a degree of disarmament can be agreed upon that will relieve the nations of some of their burden of taxation.

A degree of disarmament, some at least, is likely to result, and whatever the amount of it, will be reckoned a benefit. Never since the day of national armaments dawned have the people been so little able to support their burden. Even the United States, which can finance an immense naval construction if it elects to do so, will find any degree of disarmament grateful, considering the national debt of twenty-four billion dollars.

However, disarmament is a feature which has more than one face. It is possible for the conference to bring about disarmament of considerable proportions and yet settle nothing in the Pacific Ocean. The nations may lay aside somewhat of their martial equipment, without having altered for the better their essential attitudes toward one another. In other words, they may for their own temporary ease agree to disarm in part, without having effected anything substantial in the way of removing or diminishing the causes of war.

While even temporary relief would justify convening the conference, it alone would not touch the real issues between the Far East and the Western world.

Japan is said to be at the parting of the ways. Events compel her to make a choice. She can go on the road of military imperialism and perhaps invite the fate of Germany, or she can choose an industrial career and become the Asiatic England. We think we know which road she ought to choose, for the sake of both her own and the world's welfare. But the Japanese may be less farsighted, or more farsighted, than we are—a query to be answered thirty years hence, perhaps.

But the United States stands at a parting. We will elect at Washington this month to assert the doctrine of the open door in China, or we will virtually abandon that policy, disguise the abandonment as we may even to ourselves. Japan at Washington may evince her choice, however she may seek to conceal it. Our negotiators are likely to be convinced concerning Japan's election before the conference is through. But likewise their negotiators will discover whether behind our advocacy of the open door there is determination to enforce it, or whether support of it is academic.

We believe the open door would benefit Japan in the long run tenfold more than the rest of the world. It would make Japan the main manufacturer for what is potentially the greatest market in the world. The point is, can the Japanese statesmen be induced to see eye to eye with ours, or will they return home resolved still more sullenly upon imperialism? If they are made to realize that the American people are in earnest about the open door, the Japanese will have stronger inducements for preferring industrialism to imperialism. If they find that our support of that policy is but a gesture, they may be confirmed in their imperialism and readily agree to sign a disarmament agreement that will give their taxpayers a needed rest, while leaving their martial superiority in the Far East relatively unchanged.

Thus the United States as well as Japan is confronted by necessity for a portentous decision. — Minneapolis Journal.

Borrowed Money Must Be Returned

Borrowed money must be returned plus interest. Unless the farmer and stock raiser can sell what he produces at a price equal to cost plus a sufficient profit to pay principal and interest he is making rapid strides towards bankruptcy.

It is a sad commentary on our financial system that those who produce the only commodities that people cannot exist without, must, on bended knees, figuratively speaking, beg assistance of those who produce not at all, or only the luxuries of life. The order of our economic system should be reversed, and it will when producers use their brains as well as their brawn.

Until the time arrives when the producers of the necessities of life are given their proper place in our economic system, or until they themselves, through organized effort in control of production and marketing, force their importance upon the attention of the public, they will serve long hard hours at a minimum compensation.

Borrowing money unnecessarily and without a reasonable expectation of being able to pay the loan without undue sacrifice, will delay the day of independence for the producer. A man who owes money is always at a disadvantage. Even the psychological effect of being in debt is detrimental to the average man's best efforts. It is better to make sacrifices to stay out of debt than it is to make them to pay debts unnecessarily contracted.—Farm and Ranch.

Jack Dempsey says he doesn't expect to again get $500,000 for a bout as he did in the case of the Carpenter combat. Dempsey is a very modest man. He is ready to adjust his fighting price to existing conditions. Think of a bruiser taking down $500,000 for an hour's work and a college president forced to work twelve months for $3,500. There should be an adjustment of labor prices in this country.—Wichita Falls Record-News.

"Made in Texas"

"Instead of shoveling raw material into a freight car and getting a few dollars a ton for it, we should be carrying on those higher processes of manufacture that add hundreds of thousands of dollars to the value of a ton of raw material." Declaring that the South should get more out of its resources, the Arkansas Gazette of Little Rock says that failure to make the fullest use of its resources and the large measure in which the South does the shoveling and the North and East the higher manufacturing should touch the pride as it does the purse of the South; by shipping the raw products, the South is playing hired man to the rest of the world.

Hydro-electric development is urged wherever possible, because it makes much cheaper development of various lines of industry, some of which depend on electric current that is abundant in quality and cheap in price. As an instance a company that has great bauxite fields in Arkansas maintains its plant for the production of aluminum at Marysville, Tenn., because electric current, generated by water power, is available there.

Texas has abundant facilities in her extensive coal mines for the manufacture of electric energy in quantity and at a price which might well encourage industry. Yet industrial development has been slow and nowhere appears to have passed beyond the experimental stage. Texas is one of the worst offenders in the matter of shipping raw material to factories in distant points, sending away the low-priced commodity and bringing back the high-priced manufactured goods, paying two freight tributes in addition to the wages of the mill workers and profits to manufacturers and middlemen.

There is abundant raw material in Texas to supply the manufacturers in the North and East with their needs, but for their markets for the manufactured products they should look elsewhere than here. Sufficiently raw material should be retained and manufactured in Texas to provide for the needs of the state and more, for once industries are established here in sufficient number to supply Texas' needs it will be a natural advance to increase the manufactures so as to consume more and more of the raw material and the Texas factory products could be shipped to all parts of the world in competition with those who do all the manufacturing.

Hydro-electric development is possible in some parts of Texas, not on so large a scale as in other states, but efficiently to encourage the establishment of many new factories that would use the great variety of raw material being produced and now being shipped away. Efforts along this line have been begun, but seldom carried to conclusion. In a notable instance, at Marble Falls, a large sum of money was spent in perfecting the natural falls at that point and constructing an immense factory, even installing some machinery but there the project stopped. The water runs over the falls without turning a wheel, the doors of the factory are closed and locked and not one pound of raw material has ever been taken there for manufacture.

In this time of much unemployment, it would be well if capital in Texas would turn its attention to industrial development within the state, open up new avenues of trade and provide a more certain market for her large variety of raw materials.—Fort Worth Record.

Everybody knows that there is a fund or common sense among the farm women of America too seldom sought in solving the country's problems. The Woman's National Foundation purposes to remedy matters by a deliberate campaign to put the farm wife more completely in touch with civic betterment and welfare work. Working in connection with the extension work of the department of agriculture, the foundation will attempt to make the farm women an active force in the club life of the nation. Advice from the department of agriculture keep the country women informed as to modern methods and machinery for doing all branches of her work, so that she may have spare time for development along other lines. The foundation, in its turn, will help her to fill that spare time by leading her to active participation in public matters. She will be kept in touch, through regular bulletins, with all legislation of special interest to her sex, and with the current news on important topics. Through the foundation she will be given a forum in which she will be encouraged to air her opinions. In every general referendum her advice will be sought as earnestly as that of her city sisters on all questions pertaining to public advancement. The farm women themselves will benefit by any agency which brings them out of their shyness and isolation; but the nation will benefit even more by frequent contact with these clear-thinking, plain speaking women.—Cleburne Enterprise.

After making his inopportune speech at Birmingham—which unfortunately created the impression in quarters of an attempt to revive time agitation—President Harding finally came around to more practical topics. At Atlanta his gospel was of mutual understanding among different portions of this country, of all the nations and peoples of world. There was really little to be objected to in the Birmingham address—unless perchance it was its delivery at all. Everything of importance which he suggests is ready in process of being worked out. But former experience of southern people with the race issue makes them sensitive toward the dwelling upon those who once harried them with it. Presidential utterances regarding world unity, though they were pleasing as well as somewhat surprising, Mr. Harding is perhaps unconscious of the fact that he has considered the apostle and spokesman of those who would isolate this country from all organized efforts to combat a troubled world. Evidently, however, glimpses of the light occasionally came in upon him.—Chattanooga News.

The Disarmament Proposal

It is safe to say that the disarmament proposal Secretary Hughes had made to the Washington conference in the name of the United States greatly exceeds in magnitude what the country had expected. Hoping for much, and yet made skeptical by the recollection of its disappointments, the country had come to feel that the first step toward the far-distant goal of disarmament would be much shorter and more cautious than that which Great Britain and Japan have been invited to take in company with the United States. One would probably need information possessed only by those who are versed in the technology of naval science to make anything like an exact measurement of this proposal. But the proposal to scrap sixty-six capital ships in process of building, the ultimate cost of which would be not much short of two billion dollars; to cancel the plans for others not yet out on the ways and, for ten years to refrain from building of capital ships, except to replace such as may become twenty years of age within that term—here is a proposition the magnitude of which can be appreciated by the ordinary mind even if its proportions can not be measured. And in magnitude, there can be no doubt that it far exceeds what was expected in this country and all countries, and not only what had been expected, but what had been hoped for. But if it surpasses the popular expectation and the popular hope, it does not propose more than public opinion in this country will approve. It was not a mere cautious experiment in disarmament that the country had come to demand; a kindergarten training that was to end in graduation in disarmament only after many years. It was such a beginning as would afford instantly a perceptible relief from the intolerable and ruinous tax burden which the country is now made to sustain. That robust demand gets a generously obedient response in the proposal which Secretary Hughes has made to the conference, and it will have all the support which an approving and elated public opinion can give to it.

Hardly less surprising than the magnitude of this proposal is the manner in which it was made. With whatever warrant, the country had somehow come to think that the problem would be approached more cautiously. It has been the custom for a nation having a proposal to make to veil its own ideas of what should be done in vague language to avoid a definite commitment until the ideas of the other Nations had been ascertained. Secretary Hughes and his colleagues of the American delegation have scorned this custom of diplomacy. With a promptness, simplicity and candor which must have taken the breath away from some of the sophisticated diplomats who were gathered about him, he presented to them a scheme brought down to almost the last possibility of detail. We have heard much about the virtue of laying the cards face up on the table, but never before has that virtue been practiced to anything like the degree that it was when, seizing the first available moment, Secretary Hughes informed the world precisely what the United States was prepared, willing and eager to do.

It is a proposal worthy of the occasion and for its fate there is an encouraging augury in the direct and candid manner of its making. The country will support it and the more earnestly because it fulfills its hope so much more largely than it had the courage to expect.—Dallas News.

HOUSEWORK IS A BURDEN

Woman's lot is a weary one at best. But with a backache and other distressing kidney ills life indeed becomes a burden. Doan's Kidney Pills have made life brighter for many Big Spring women. Ask your neighbor!

Red Cross Helpfulness

Locating persons for whom unclaimed mail is being held in post offices near chapter headquarters is a new line of service recently undertaken by the Red Cross chapters in the Southwestern Division, it was announced at the local Red Cross chapter today. Some very valuable service to recipients of apparently lost mail has been given already. It is stated at Division Headquarters, although the work is still very new. This is especially true in regard to former service men who have changed their locations several times since being discharged from the army. This work is under the jurisdiction of the Home Service section of the Red Cross, and will be extended as the need arises.

Preaching at Soash

The Sunday school for November 27 will begin at 11 o'clock in the morning. In connection with the Sunday school there will also be preaching by the Lutheran pastor. He will base his sermon on Rom. 8, 28: "Therefore we conclude that a man is justified by faith, without the deeds of the Law." Let us all be there at the appointed time and get the benefit of the whole service. Be sure and come.

Armistice Day Observance

Armistice Day was most appropriately observed in Big Spring for the reason that the members of the American Legion were in charge and had planned a day during which there was something doing all day long.

The day's activities started with the meeting of the members of the American Legion at the court house from which place they formed in line shortly before eleven o'clock to march to the First Baptist Church where the exercises for the day were to be held.

They had arrived in front of the church when the fire siren gave the signal for all to face the west, remove their hats and say a silent prayer for our soldiers who gave their lives in the Great War.

The following program was carried out when the member of the Legion and their friends had assembled in the First Baptist Church.

Song—America—by congregation.
Invocation—Rev. J. W. Harrison.

Solo—Miss Mabel Ricker.
Announcement of the program of the day by the chairman, Carroll Barnett.

Address—"Lest We Forget"—Judge James T. Brooks.
Song—Star Spangled Banner—by congregation.

Closing prayer—Rev. Ben Hardy.
At 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon the Big Spring Band gave an open air band concert in the band stand, just east of the City Hall which was much enjoyed.

At 3:00 o'clock the W. O. W. Lodge conducted Unveiling Ceremonies at the graveside of Fern Allen in Mt. Olive cemetery. Mr. Allen was an ex-service man who died overseas.

At 4:30 o'clock the red hot football game between the Big Spring and San Angelo High School teams was the big attraction.

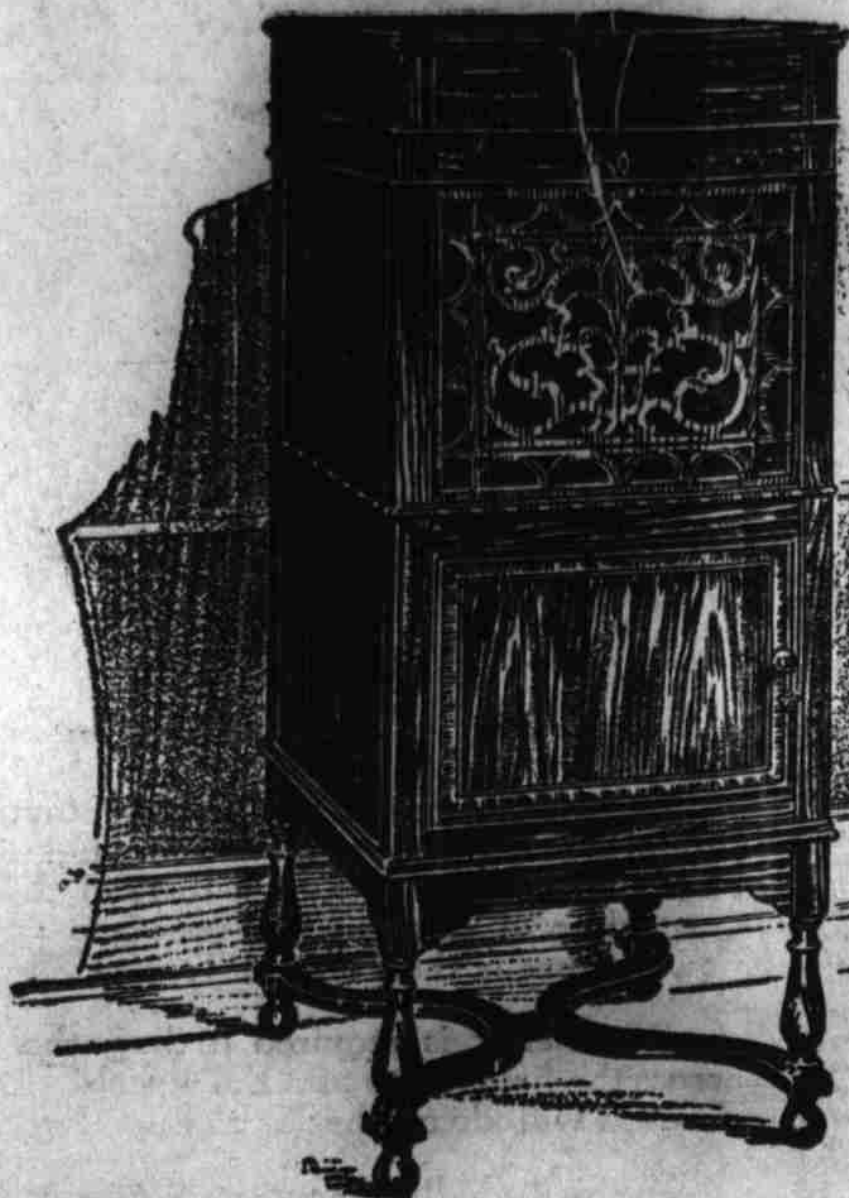

The big dance at Lester Fisher Hall Friday night completed the day's program. The hall was tastily decorated in the national colors and several hundred folks were in attendance. The Olympic orchestra furnished music for the occasion and a jolly good time was in order until 12:30 a. m. when Home Sweet Home announced the end of a perfect day to the large company of dancers.
