VOICES

The head of a college of music has got into the newspaper by announcing that the pitch of American girls' voices is getting lower, and attributing this to yelling at football games and smoking cigarettes.

It is much more probable that the American type is changing through the admixture of races, and that the average American girl has a better muscular development than her grand mother had. Physical training rather than cigarettes would tend to enlarge the breathing passages which affect the pitch of the voice.

If the change which this teacher has noticed is general, so much the better. The high-pitched American female voice, almost shrill, grates on sensitive ears. Women may admire sopranos, but most men prefer the deep-toned contralto voice.

JUNE

Nearly a year's experience with the plan, adopted by all of the large automobile makers, of offering a bonus to dealers for "junking" used cars, seems to have had a good effect, not only in stimulating the market for new cars but in removing dangerous vehicles from the roads.

Ford is paying $20 for each hopeless Ford car delivered at the factory. Other makers allow from $20 to $40 to dealers for each car junked in the presence of responsible witnesses or factory representatives. The dealer has to find his own "graveyard" for the wreck, and that is a difficult problem in some localities. Almost every abandoned quarry and mine has been filled to the top with old cars. On some of the undeveloped streets in the suburbs of New York ancient automobiles virtually line the roadway on both sides.

There is a fortune waiting for the man who will discover a cheap and speedy way of reducing ancient cars to their original raw steel.

NOISE

Hiram P. Maxim, son of one great inventor and nephew of another, and himself the inventor of the gumman's pet, the Maxim silencer for firearms, has found a way, he tells the world, to keep noise out of the house even with the windows open.

The principal use of such an invention will be, of course, in the large cities, where noise interferes not only with sleep but with the health of those who get no respite from it thru the twenty-four hours. But everywhere there will be a demand for a silencer of this sort, for hospitals and rooms from which all external sounds must be excluded, as well, as for places near railroads and other sources of noise.

TAXES

One of the things we are going to hear more about in the next two or three years is the proposal for a Federal Sales Tax on all merchandise, or on a good many items. At present the Government levies a sales tax on automobiles, corporation stock sales and some other things. A few states have tried the sales tax as a means of raising revenue. The gasoline sales tax is in general use, in almost all of the states, as everybody knows. New York levies a tax on the sale of stock.

Advocates of the sales tax contend that it is the fairest of all forms of taxation, being based upon definite transactions in which money changes hands. Since the war many European countries have adopted it, and it ranks second only to the income tax as a revenue producer. Germany gets 15 percent of her public funds from the sales tax, Belgium, France, Austria, and Czechoslovakia somewhat more. Whether our Federal Government ever tries it on a large scale or not, the effort to pass a sales bill is likely to be made in the next Congress.

Wool Growers Sell 300,000 Pounds Of Wool

The San Angelo Evening Standard reports that the Wool Growers Central Storage Company of this city yesterday sold 300,000 pounds of wool to Adams and Leland represented by John Allison of this city. The price was not announced.

The Wool Growers also consigned 600,000 pounds of their fall wool to Adams and Leland of Boston. The firm kept on hand about 100,000 pounds of Texas fall wool. That wool kept at home is the average quality of wool handled by the warehouse this fall.

clearest mind of any man in England introduced Professor Albert Einstein to a London audience the other night as "the man who has created a new universe." Eight men, each in his own time, had changed our conception of the universe, Shaw said. They are Pythagoras, Ptolemy, Kepler, Copernicus, Aristotle, Galileo, Newton and Einstein.

Each of those scientists gave the world a new conception of natural laws. Each in his turn proved that the others had been wrong, but each of them served the purpose of his times.

Over a period of two thousand years man is gradually learning the truth about the world he lives in. A few hundred years from now some scientist, equipped with better measuring instruments than are available today, may prove that Einstein is wrong in his theory that a straight line is not the shortest distance between two points and that light travels in curves instead of in straight lines. But his theory will stand until somebody finds an unescapable fact which contradicts it.

That is the way scientific knowledge grows. Man probably will never know all the facts about the universe, but we are learning faster now than ever

DOGS INVADE HEN ROOST

Wednesday night, some precocious town dogs invaded the hen roost of A. T. Wright and Sy McCartney, and killed 9 young hens for Wright and 6 for McCartney, we understand that other hen roosts have been visited by these night prowling chicken killing dogs. The dogs were not hungry for the only thing they did was to bite and kill the chickens and then catch another and kill it. Our gun was away from home but we ventured out in the cold and scared the night prowlers off. But poor old Sy slept on and his worry came the next morning when he visited the hen yard.

Roger Gillis Elected President

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP)—Roger Gillis, of Del Rio, Texas, was elected president of the National Wool Marketing Association to succeed L. B. Palmer of Columbus, Ohio, at the annual meeting of the association stockholders today.

James A. Hooper of Salt Lake City was elected vice president to succeed Gillis, who served in that capacity the last year.

J. B. Wilson, McKinley, Wyo., was re-elected secretary and treasurer.

Several new men were elected to the board of directors. They included: C. C. Belcher, Del Rio, Texas; Fred Earwood, Sonora, Texas; Sol Meyer, San Angelo, Texas; Worth Lee, Mountain Home, Idaho; J. W. Hoech, The Dalles, Oregon; Kenneth Chambers, Hartsell, Colo.; and Fred Ellenwood, California.

The stockholders met behind closed doors to consider the general wool marketing situation. The report of the secretary was presented and adopted, but was not made public.

The stockholders will continue in session tomorrow. Whether they would confer with the Federal Farm Board then had not been decided.

Secretary J. B. Wilson, of McKinley, Wyo., said a conference with the Farm Board was in prospect.

The amount of wool handled by the association this year has been estimated by C. B. Denman, livestock member of the Farm Board at 4 to 5 times as much as last year.

Mr. Gillis presided at the meeting. —San Angelo Morning Times.

With this issue of The Success we have assumed the management again, having bought it back from L. T. Barber and Agnes Wright, and will appreciate the cooperation of the general public in helping me to get all news and community items worth while. The Success wants to give it to you. There is no use in telling you where we came from, because we have been here longer than most of you. We love this section of Texas and the country agrees with us, so we will tell you our troubles weenly from now on.

The Friends of Buck Bailey here are glad to learn Sunday or Saturday night, that Buck and his team won another game over University of Washington Saturday by kicking the ball from the 38 yard line through the goal, thus winning the game by three points. We imagine that it was some game and we could almost hear Buck laugh down here in Texas.

Of course the Navy hated to let those Methodists beat them but it could not be helped, they just over matched themselves. Our guess is that A. T. Jr. really enjoyed seeing a Texas team beat the Navy.

Fred Addington, salesman for the Shepperson Furniture Company, of San Angelo, was mingling with the Eldorado people Tuesday, he reports that the Shepperson Company has enjoyed a good business from this section during the year. And in spite of the depression the Company has enjoyed a good year so far.

W. A. Spencer was up from Kerrville this week looking after business here and visiting relatives and friends here. Archie has gone south to winter but we predict that spring will see his return.

clock at The Methodist church, as has been their custom for years in our city. The Service will be for the entire community as usual and all are urged and invited to come, lay aside your every day cares and meet in public Thanksgiving for one hour in our 365 days.

Just after this service the Ladies of The Methodist Church will serve their annual Thanksgiving dinner at a small cost to you if you wish to remain for their annual event. After the lunch you will be privileged to attend a football game between the Eldorado and Sonora boys at the Fair Park. So Thanksgiving in Eldorado has been planned for your enjoyment and rest from your daily duties. So lets use it from our own betterment and the betterment of man kind.

UNFAIR COMPETITION

In addressing the American Bankers Association in Cleveland recently, President Hoover said:

"I have never believed that our form of government could satisfactorily solve economic problems by direct action—could successfully conduct business institutions. The Government can and must cure abuses."

What a howl would go up from the business world if the Government of the United States, merely because it happens to have the necessary facilities in its navy yards, should go into the business of building merchant ships, in competition with the competition with the commercial ship builders. The United States Government owns an excellent airplane manufacturing plant in which it builds experimental planes for the navy. Suppose the Government should go into the air plane manufacturing business for the general public? It would be perfectly obvious to everybody that this was something which the Government has no business to do.

Printing of Government documents, maps, postage stamps and money, are a proper function for the Government printing establishments. But when the Government of the United States engages in the business of printing return envelopes for private citizens, it is unfairly competing with the job printers of the nation. It would be unfair competition even if a fair commercial rate were charged for the work; it is worse than unfair when this work is done for less than cost.

The National Editorial Association, and practically every other association of newspaper publishers and printers, have protested for years against this practice. This year a more determined effort than ever is being made to induce the Congress just elected, if not the one already in office, to take Uncle Sam out of this petty competition with his nephews.

THE BILLBOARD NUISANCE

Westchester County, New York, has set an example which every county in the United States might well follow. Poster and billboard advertising is absolutely controlled by the county authorities and is prohibited except under certain specified conditions where outdoor advertising is not an offense to the eye and a blot upon couple of times. I have had occasion the landscape. During the recent election campaign some of the politicians in Westchester County decided that the law was meant for ordinary folks and not for them. They had the shock of their lives when their campaign posters, tacked up on the customary manner on fences, trees and telegraph poles along the roadside were torn down by county officials of their own party. They blustered and protested, but to no avail. Some of them were wise enough to avoid antagonizing public sentiment and made no fuss about their inability to display their electioneering handbills.

Times have changed, indeed, when politicians cannot violate even a simple law like that with impunity. The history of politics in America is that the man in political office immediately regards himself, not as the servant of the people, but as their master. The worst of it is, he frequently gets away with it. But there are some things on which public sentiment is crystallizing so strongly that even the politicians do not dare to run counter to it. One of these things is offensive billboard advertising. Some day advertisers will also wake up to the fact that most people are offended rather than impressed by advertising matter forced upon their eyes when they are trying to enjoy the beauties of the out-of-doors.

GOOD MORNING DOCTOR

ONE day when I was working at my first job and was—needless to say—hard up, I developed a severe pain.

A stranger in New York, I had read in the newspapers the name of a diagnostician who was internationally famous. I went to his office, which was in his beautiful home, at eight o'clock in the morning. The waiting room was already full. There was a rich man who tugged impatiently at his watch. There was a haughty woman. And there were also half a dozen shabbily dressed folk, including a poor mother with a very sick baby.

Without favoritism, each was ushered into the consultation room in the order of his arrival.

Presently my turn came. I said to the doctor: "I can not afford to consult you, but my health is my entire business capital. Therefore, I feel that I simply must come to head quarters."

He gave me a careful examination, wrote a prescription, and told me that I would be all right again in a few days.

I pulled out my pocket book, which contained two weeks' salary.

"How much are you earning?" he asked.

I told him $25 a week.

"Well, if you'll promise not to tell anybody," he answered, "I'll charge absolutely controlled by the county authorities and is prohibited except under certain specified conditions where outdoor advertising is not an offense to the eye and a blot upon couple of times. I have had occasion to employ several physicians and three different surgeons. Some of the bills have amounted to hundreds of dollars. But I have never received a bill that seemed to me unreasonable or even adequate, considering the importance of the service rendered.

I have known several doctors who married rich wives, and some who made money in real estate or the stock market. I have met a number who gained modest fortunes from their practise, but none who became really rich.

And the amount of free work done by even the biggest men in the profession has always been a marvel to me.

As an advertising man and a former sales manager, I feel that the health business is still too much an old-fashioned one.

I should like to see dozens of big clinics in every city, each with a group of specialists. I should like to see them use newspaper advertising and draw most of their revenues from the healthy rather than from the seriously ill. I believe that if we Americans paid twice as much to good doctors every year it would be the best money we could possibly spend.

Some developments of this sort will come in the next generation. They are beginning already. Meanwhile, I feel a great sense of gratitude to the doctors. If my experience is typical, they are a swell group of men.

W. E. Baker, ranchman from west of Eldorado, was in the city Tuesday looking for pig chow to fatten his pigs, or rather stimulate the pig's appetite. The thing worthy of mentioning is the fact that our friend Baker has the pigs to fatten. Pigs in the pen, Hens in the Barnyard and old Jersey in the milk pen, keeps hunger away.

TEXAS AND TEXANS

"All Texans for all Texas"

Signs Of The Times

The best indication of the real condition of a country or a community is the advertising that is done. Measured by that standard most of this part of the world is fairly prosperous. An unusually large per cent of the advertising carried in publications of all kinds is of merchandise generally regarded as luxuries, such as automobiles and car supplies, radios, cigarettes, and what were once called "fancy groceries." Evidently the advertisers find that it pays to advertise these odds or they wouldn't keep it up. The people must have the money with which to buy them and must be buying them. All reports of statistical bureaus show this. Where local papers are not carrying a fair share of this "luxury" advertising for local merchants, there is something wrong with either the merchants, the town, or the local paper, and it is easy to make comparisons with other towns and locate the trouble. In 99 out of 100 cases it will be found that the local merchants have been put to sleep by the hard-time talk anaesthetic.

Spending Big Money

The Texas Highway Department, for the fiscal year ending August 31, spent $47,331,977, of which $32,950,357 was for construction, $12,158,553 for maintenance, the rest being for equipment and administration. This is a goodly sum of money to be administered by three men devoting only part time to their official labors. That it has been so well done at so light overhead expense is a credit to the Board. Texas is making wonderful progress in road building and maintenance—about as much as should be expected of any state.

Texas Turkey Money

The San Antonio Express thinks that the turkey crop that will be marketed this season in the "San Antonio territory," whatever that is, will reach a total valuation of $3,000,000. If the Express is correct, and too much territory is not claimed for San Antonio, the total Texas turkey crop will be not less than $10,000,000, possibly $15,000,000. Marketing the turkeys is a great help toward solving the unemployment situation.

How Much Unemployment?

Those who should know claim that Texas is able, with all the work under way, to handle its own unemployment situation, provided the unemployed from other States do not come here to spend the winter. The winter months always bring thousands of hoboes and hitch-hikers to Texas seeking a warm climate but not wanting work. They are listed among the "unemployed," but no power short of the law can make them work.

Laborers, like most other human beings, are inclined to think the opportunities for good wages are better elsewhere than at home, and flock in numbers to places where public work of any kind is under way, only to find preference given to local workers. This has given rise to much talk about unemployment. Most Texas communities are able to employ all home laborers, but they should not be expected to care for the drifters, whose numbers are constantly increasing.

Vagrancy A Menace

Most of the burglaries and hi-jacking is done by ex-convicts or vagrants, who prefer to take long chances rather than work. Every Texas town has its quota, some of them drifters from other states. They have become a menace. A traveling salesman recently reported that he was held up three times one night while making a trip of 60 miles on a well-travelled highway.

Abilene is using a good policy that could be made widely effective if adopted by all other Texas towns. It puts all vagrants to work and keeps them at hard labor until they are glad to agree to leave the town and stay away.

Let Railroads Build

If only the authorities at Washington would loosen up in the matter of railroad building and allow all the roads in Texas to construct lines they are anxious to build, employment would be given at once to thousands of day laborers. It is a shameful condition that the development of a State like Texas is retarded by a board of any kind sitting in Washington and that capital is not allowed to invest in competitive public utilities of a kind to bring better and cheaper transportation. Government owes a duty to the masses that is stronger than any obligation to protect monopolistic capital. "Turn Texas Loose" might be a good slogan for Texans to take up again.

Too Much Energy

Beavers have become too industrious in Presidio county. They have destroyed cottonwood trees, built a dam on the Rio Grande and have stopped irrigation ditches with fallen trees. The Department of Agriculture will have trapping done to stop damages by these energetic dam builders. In Guadalupe county much complaint is made that the deer are coming down from the hill country and destroying green vegetation, in some cases ruining overnight a farmer's labor of many weeks.

Use Texas Material

Much indignation has been expressed by various organizations because of the action of the Texas bar association in contracting for marble from out of Texas with which to erect a monument on the State Capitol ground as a memorial to the early judges of the supreme court. There is now talk of legislation prohibiting erection of monuments or memorials on public grounds in Texas that are not built of Texas material on the theory that Texas marble and stone are as beautiful and as permanent as any to be found in the world and that the use of any other is a reflection on the resources of the State.

High-Powered Drivers

The World War created a new profession—high-powered money drives. It has about gotten so that every time money is to be raised for any purpose professional drivers are engaged either at a high fee or a big commission. These driving professors are mostly from the North or East and have a mighty poor opinion of the ability of Texans to do anything with out outside help. Bond elections, legislation, chamber of commerce subscriptions, community chest funds, church budgets, charities of all kinds—all things conceivable—are within the range of their activities for a fancy fee or a commission, running in some cases as high as 50 per cent of the amount raised.

The bill-footers are getting tired of this, some of them believing that Texans have enough liberality and intelligence to raise money among themselves for their needs. They are getting tired of being driven by outside whips, at least. In accepting the chairmanships of the committee to have Texas represented at the Chicago World's Fair in 1933, Mr. J. C. Kennedy made it plain that it was on condition that no professional drivers should be employed to raise funds. He deserves the thanks of all Texans for this stand.

Truck Acreage Increased

Success of truck growers in many parts of Texas is resulting in a largely increased acreage. In Jefferson county there will be 1,000 acres in truck this year as against 200 acres last season. In other counties the increase is almost as great. There is evident a danger of overplanting unless it is backed by good sales organization supplemented by ample canning facilities.

Find No Competition

The Texas Board of Control found so little difference in prices bid for automobile tires as to indicate that in some magical way competition was eliminated, so it turned down all bids and asked for new offers. There is little wonder that some Texans favor having the State manufacture product that the State departments and institutions require for their use.

TWELFTH INSTALLMENT WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Giles Chittenham sets out to make Julie Farrow love him, intending to throw her over in revenge for the suicide of his brother Rodney, whom Julie had cast off. He succeeds, but finds that he has fallen desperately in love with her himself. Then he discovers that it was not this Julie Farrow, but her cousin of the same name, who had driven his brother to death. But Giles is married to an American girl named Sadie Barrow, with whom he has not lived for a long time. Sadie unexpectedly turns up in London, at a party at Giles' mother's house, but both keep silent about their marriage.

Julie, disillusioned, enters into the wild night life of London to try to drown her anguish. Lawrence Schofield wants to marry her. Lombard, who had first introduced her to Chittenham, demands money from Giles with the threat that if he is not paid he will tell Schofield that Chittenham and Julie spent the night together on the St. Bernard Pass. Later Julie confesses to Chittenham that she loves him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

The two men made no attempt at a greeting. Chittenham merely said: "You're in rather a hurry, aren't you? However, you've saved me the trouble of sending it to you. You can have your two hundred."

Lombard smiled an unpleasant smile.

"I want five hundred."

"You agreed for two."

"The price has gone up since last night."

There was an eloquent silence, and Lombard said calmly:

"Five hundred is not a high price to pay, surely—I cannot imagine that Schofield would crap at it in return for the favour you received last night. He shrugged his shoulders as he saw the passionate rage in Chittenham's face.

"It was you outside Miss Farrow's flat last night?"

"I waited three hours—very patiently, you will admit."

With an effort Chittenham controlled himself.

"I give you just five seconds to get out of here," he said.

"Very well. You know what I intend to do. I shall tell Schofield what happened in Switzerland and again last night."

"Tell him and I'll break every bone in your body."

Lombard went on evenly, not heeding the violent outburst.

"And I shall tell Miss Farrow that the woman she has been making her friend is your wife."

Chittenham was white to the lips, but he laughed.

"You can spare yourself the trouble. I have already told her myself."

For a moment the two men gazed at one another, and it took all Chittenham's will power to maintain his self-control, then Lombard said hoarsely:

"I'll make you sorry for this before I've done!"

"Get out, or I'll make you sorry for it now."

The door closed between them.

For some moments after Lombard had gone, Chittenham stood staring at the closed door.

He would see Julie at once and tell her the whole truth. But Fate was against him. He went to Julie's flat only to find that she had gone out to lunch. He went to several restaurants where he thought she might be but could not find her. There was nothing for it but to wait till the afternoon when they would meet at his mother's house.

He purposely arrived rather late. Mrs. Ardron, who was near the door, crept to him and whispered that he must be very quiet.

"It's so wonderful!" she breathed; she squeezed his hand excitedly.

Giles stood besides her, angry and silent.

Now he was more accustomed to the darkness he could see that there were about a dozen people in the room sitting in a ring, and apparently holding hands. There was a queer aromatic scent in the air, and a curious feeling of nervous tension.

He saw now that the light from the shaded lamp was falling on the face and figure of a man whom he supposed must be the great Chrysler. A strange-looking man with a pale ascetic face and long dark hair, who lay back in the chair, his eyes closed and his hands clasped against his breast. Presently he began to speak in a sing-song dreamy sort of voice.

"Two women and one man—one man and two women—they stand before me in the darkness not knowing of the tragedy that divides and will still divide their lives—" He drew a quick breath and there followed a little silence, broken again almost at once by the same sing-song voice—"Two women and one man—in the the darkness all of them, and two of them will come out into the light, but the third will never see the sunshine again. Darkness—blindness! The blindness of the eyes—here, close beside me—" other, and moved forward in a curiously groping fashion as if seeking to find something. Giles did not know whether to be amused or angry. What fools women were, to be taken in by such a charlatan! He had moved back a step to find the switch of the light when suddenly those groping hands swooped down with a curious pouncing movement and fastened on something or some one in the silent ring of listeners.

A piercing scream rang through the silence of the room, a scream in the frightened voice of a woman, and then the cry of his own name: "Giles!"

It seemed an eternity until his fingers came into contact with the switch and still that cry went on: "Giles! Giles!"

It was Sadie's voice, he knew, and when at last the room was flooded with light he saw that she was standing up, her hands covering her face, her childish body swaying to and fro as if in great pain or terror, while the wailing repetition of his name came from her lips monotonously again and again.

It was like a scene in a dream—the ring of half-frightened women—and the strange figure of the man Chrysler as he rose slowly to his feet, a shocked, awakened look in his somnolent eyes. Then Mrs. Ardron began to cry hysterically, and the whining sound seemed to break the spell which was upon every one.

Giles took a quick stride forward: "Sadie!"

She turned swiftly at the sound of her name, her hands outstretched and when he took them in his, she clung to him, sobbing and shaking like a frightened child.

He kept protecting arms round his wife's slim figure as he glared round the room with furious eyes.

His mother, Doris and half a dozen other women whom he knew slightly and —Julie!

Julie was standing up, very stiff and straight, looking at him across the room, a pitiful, wondering question in her pretty eyes, her face quite colourless, her hands gripping a chair back.

And then for a moment nobody moved or spoke, but Chittenham's arm fell from his wife and he took an involuntary step away from her.

She looked up, her face white and distorted.

"Giles!" and then before any one could move to help her she fell fainting at his feet.

Chittenham was very pale and his voice was rough and uneven as kind hands carried Sadie from the room.

He was conscious of impending disaster.

"We've sent for a doctor," his mother said. "Julie is staying with her."

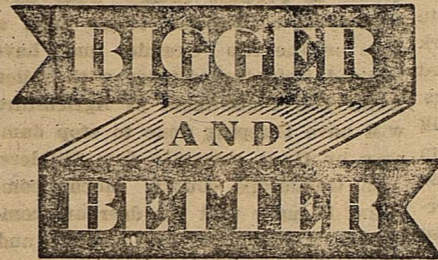

"It's only an ordinary faint," Doris said contemptuously. "I'm surprised at Sadie being such a fool."

The others had all gone and Chittenham stood with an elbow on the mantel-shelf staring down at the grate which was filled with flowers and ferns. He could think of nothing but that pitiful, wondering question in Julie's eyes.

What was she thinking? What had she guessed?

What a fool he had been not to tell her the truth last night; she would have understood and forgiven him then. Would she understand or forgive him now?

PRESENTING THE NEW CHEVROLET SIX

Today the Chevrolet Motor Company presents the Bigger and Better Chevrolet Six, a new model of the six-cylinder car which has enjoyed such wide popularity.

In both the chassis and body of this new six-cylinder Chevrolet you will find expressed, as never before, Chevrolet's well-known policy of progress through constant improvement.

For—without departing from the basic features which have won the enthusiastic approval of over 2,000,000 buyers—Chevrolet has produced a six-cylinder car which represents an entirely new standard of quality, value and refinement in the low-price field.

Your first impression of the new Chevrolet will be one of striking fleetness, grace and beauty. The car is longer, lower and modernly smart. The radiator has been deepened and its appearance enhanced by a curving tie-bar and chrome-plated parabolic headlamps. The long hood lines sweep back unbroken to blend gracefully into the new Fisher bodies. And never was Fisher's fine craftsmanship more evident than in the bodies of the new Chevrolet Six!

Not only are the smart, graceful, new bodies roomier and more comfortable, but as you study them you will discover many gratifying new features and pleasing refinements—many examples of that painstaking attention to detail which is the basis of true quality.

Mechanically, too, the new Chevrolet Six is a better automobile. The wheelbase is longer. The frame is stronger. The steering is easier. The clutch is more durable. There is a smoother, quieter, easier shifting transmission. In fact, wherever finer materials and more advanced design could add to Chevrolet quality or increase Chevrolet's traditional economy of ownership—improvement has been made. See the new Chevrolet Six—and you will agree that here is the Great American Value!

BOOK WEEK NOVEMBER 16 TO 22

A book in the hand is worth ten on the shelf.
You make what you read in it part of yourself.

A book in the home is worth several score
That you can just look at while down in the store.

A book that is borrowed is not half so nice
As the one that you own and can read over twice.

A book that you buy with your own hard-earned cash
Is not at all likely to be silly trash.

A home without books is no place for our youth,
Whose minds are expanding and seeking for truth.

A truly good book is the very best friend,
If read from the title-page through to the end.

A home full of books is the best place to be,
No matter how old you are—ninety, or three.

Good books should surround us, be kept within reach,
For no one can measure their power to reach.

In books we find folk-lore, mythology hoary,
The marvels of science, and mankind's own story.

In books we may find food for laughter and mirth;
In books we may speedily girdle the earth;

In books men have stored all the learning of sages;
In books lies imbedded the wealth of the ages.

EAGLES ARE VICTORIOUS AT OZONA

When the Eldorado boys arrived at Ozona they found the Lions in a very confident mood. It seems that they had had an easy victory over us the other game and were certain of an easier one this time. However, there talk didn't seem to effect the boys much and so they went to battle with the same intentions they had carried over there.

In the first quarter it became evident who the task had effected. Ozona had to keep on their toes from the the total score; Eldorado 7, and Ozona 0.

This is the eighth game of the season and the Eagles have won four and lost four, but the total points of the Eagles are 50, and those of their opponents are 44.

The next two games are to be played here. Menard here tomorrow and Sonora here Thanksgiving.

Lets all come out and see the two best games of the season.

MEMBERS OF THE 1930-31 HISTORY III CLASS TO CONTINUE WORK ON SCHOOL MUSEUM

In 1928 the History III Class of the Eldorado High School started a school museum. This was continued by the History III students in 1929 and is to be continued this year by the History III class. Committees are to be assigned to different phases of the work such as a publicity committee, and a committee to collect relics. There are already many interesting relics and articles on display at the High School and more will be coming in all along. These articles are donated or loaned to the Museum and a tag is put on each one showing who the owner is.

This Museum is becoming very valuable as more and more cherished keepsakes of the people of Schleicher County come in and great care is being taken with the collection.

If you have any old manuscripts, letters, Civil War articles, a spinning wheel, World War articles or things brought over from Europe, Indian implements, old dresses, guns and swords or anything else of interest, around your home it would be very much appreciated if you would get in touch with some of the History III students and let them bring such to the school museum where it can be seen.

Every one is invited to come look over the collection from time to time as it increases. Boost the only museum in Eldorado.

CELEBRATED VICTORY OVER OZONA

With a victory over the heavy weight Ozona Football Team of 7-0 Mr. and Mrs. George Williams decided that it was time to celebrate. This might have been because Mrs. Williams once lived in Ozona and has some relatives living there now.

On the road from Ozona, Mr. and Mrs. Williams planned a surprise for the boys and gave them a party after reaching their home. All of the football boys were present and a number of Pep Squad Girls. A total number of twenty-six were present including Mr. and Mrs. Doc Kerr, Mr. Moore, and Mr. Williamson the coach.

The time was spent by telling the experiences of the day, some of which were: how Eli and Albert assisted in getting Mr. Pruitt's ford over the road; how James made the touch-down and extra point; how the Ozona boys cried, and why the Pep Squad girls were so long about getting home.

Mrs. Williams made a large supply of candy which suited the crowd very well and the party broke about ten thirty with each person reporting a good time and expressing an appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Williams.

ELDORADO EXES

Every week during the nine months of school an article will appear in the "Hi-Divide" on an ex student of the Eldorado High School.

The purpose of this is to boost the Eldorado School and to let you know who these students are and what they are doing now.

The eighth of these articles appears below.

ARCHIE TAYLOR WRIGHT, JR. By Bell Sample

Taylor Wright, the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Wright was born November 20, 1911 in Eldorado, Texas. His father being Editor of the Eldorado Success, Taylor was drafted early in life to assist around the Printing office. He kept this job all through school and was a great help to his father.

He entered the Eldorado school in 1918 at the age of six and graduated from the high school at the age of fifteen, having made 191-2 credits and lettered in Baseball and Football and went to the district meet in Tennis. He won the Scholarships offered by the various colleges for making the highest grades among the boy student for the year. He was president of his class the four years he was in high school.

Taylor entered the A. & M. College of Texas in September 1927 and as a distinguished student there, received an appointment through Congressman Hudspeth to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. He entered that institution in July 1928, lettered in Baseball and Boxing the first year and toured Europe in the summer of 1930. The countries he visited are: France, Germany, Norway, Sweden, Scotland and England.

Taylor will complete his work at Annapolis in June 1932.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS FIND DOLLAR EARNING NOT SO EASY Below is an article written by a Camp Fire Girl entitled: HOW I EARNED MY DOLLAR FOR CAMP FIRE

"Henry Ford had as hard a time earning each of his dollars as I did my one. I certainly offer him my sympathy. You know, when we are sending dollars, we do not realize how hard it was to earn them but when you start earning your like I did, you will stop and think about a thing or two.

First, roll up two big long rugs in the aisles, grab a broom and sweep out the Auditorium and three Sunday School rooms. When the last bit of dirt goes out the door and the steps and sidewalks are clean as well, just go get a mop and mop everything you have swept, except under the rugs if by chance you have any energy left. get a dust cloth and dust all those seats and chairs. If you feel tired, just sit down and slide from one end of the bench to the other but be sure to leave no dust.

After that is done, I think you will be ready to agree that you have earned a dollar and are not quite so ready to blow it in.

FOOTBALL STUFF By Syde Lyner

Ozona thought they had a walk-over in Saturdays game but seemingly they lacked the stuff it takes to win a game.

Ozona was both beaten and whipped. From the looks of the team they couldn't have held out for six minutes more play.

The Lions had pep to begin with but after the touch down they lost it. That'll lose a game any day and every time.

Menard invades the local grid Saturday. Come see your home town boys do some real fighting in the game tomorrow.

IN THE RACK By "Maggie" Zine

For the person who is interested in bugs, snakes, and birds, there is a magazine in the rack that would hold him spell bound. It would interest a person who had never before thought so much of nature. This magazines name is "Nature." Most of its pictures and illustrations are in colors. If you don't believe "Nature" will interest you, try reading a copy. The class that is so fortunate as to have assignments in this magazine is the biology class.

Along with nature comes travel. "Asia" takes one through deserts, jungles, uncivilized countries, and gives a person an idea of what queer countries are. Besides being interesting "Asia" is useful. It is used in history classes to understand more of the country being studied.

To live and enjoy life in Schleicher is not possible for all, but some of us are more fortunate than others and are enjoying that privilege.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Martin were in Eldorado from the ranch in the Rudd neighborhood Tuesday shopping and visiting.

There must be something wrong in the community as far as we know A. K. Bailey has not lost his pipe in several moons.

Paul Goodyear, has returned to work in the Leaman's Department Store in Eldorado.

H. Leaman and son Mack made a business trip to San Angelo Tuesday.

H. Mund and wife were trading in the city Monday from Bailey Ranch.

Charlie Mund was a business visitor to Eldorado Monday.

MINISTER SAYS DAUGHTER NOW HEALTHY

Suffered Night and Day All of Life—
Like Different Child Now
Father Praises Argotane

"My little daughter, Mary Ann, has gained wonderfully on Argotane and now she's getting to be the very picture of health," said Reverend C. L. Nicholson, well known Methodist minister at Water Valley, Texas, while in the Schwab Drug Co. San Angelo, a few days ago.

"She was troubled with something like nervous indigestion almost ever since she was born," continued Rev. Nicholson, "and there wasn't a day nor night she didn't suffer until we got Argotane for her and she's now three years old. Her stomach was in such a bad condition we had to feed her on malted milk and things like that and she couldn't eat any kind of meats or vegetables. She would have pains in her stomach all the time and her bowels were in very bad condition. She was nervous all the time and would toss and roll all night for she couldn't sleep well at all. She looked pale and sickly although we gave her most every kind of medicine and tried doctor's treatments but nothing seemed to help her."

"After hearing of some of the good work Argotane was doing we got some for Mary Ann and it has done wonders for her. She actually looks and acts like a different child and she has taken only one bottle of the medicine. She commenced picking up as soon as she started Argotane. Her indigestion is much better now and she can eat more substantial food than formerly. She's not nervous nor bilious now and sleeps much better at night and we never hear anything out of her from the time she goes to bed until she gets up in the morning. Her skin is clearing up and her cheeks look fresh and rosy. You can just look at her and tell she's being helped by Argotane."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Eldorado at the L. M. Hoover Drug Store.
