Street Lights Cut Off Saturday

The beautiful street lights that you have been enjoying for the past 21-2 years, was left in darkness Saturday night, it seems like the way of financing them has fallen down. The business people through the Lions Club have been paying the bills, and for the past several months the city was to have paid $20.00 per month, but were behind 3 months and by agreement the lights were to be discontinued until a better way of financing could be worked out.

Wilson-Clevenger

Last Thursday, Mr. Joe Clevenger and Miss Nettie Wilson eloped and went to Carlsbad, New Mexico, where they were united in the bonds of matrimony. They were accompanied by a brother of the groom.
The bride and groom returned to Ft. Stockton, Texas where they will make their home.
The groom has only been in our community a few months, and is almost a stranger to us.
The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Wilson, prominent stock-farming people, who own a beautiful home just south of town, and has been reared in our community.
The Success wishes these happy young people many happy years on the matrimonial sea.

MISS JESS ELLA JOHNSON HAS APPENDICITIS OPERATION

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Johnson carried their daughter Jess Ella, to San Angelo Thursday night and she was operated on Friday morning, the appendix showing to be in bad condition. Word from the hospital says that she is doing nicely and will be able to return home next week.

School Tuition Notice

Due to the recent change in the tuition law there has been some question as to whether or not the Eldorado Independent District would charge tuition for those pupils who come into school from another district during the coming school term. Senate Bill 41, passed by the special session of the 42nd Legislature held that a district can charge a reasonable tuition of pupils transferred into the school or those who come into the school and were not transferred. The Eldorado school board will charge the same tuition rate as it charged in the past. The rates are as follows: high school, $5.00 per month; grammar school, $3.00 per month; primary grades, $2.00 per month. The Eldorado District could charge as high as $7.50 per month, as has been approved by the State Superintendent of Public Education Instruction. The board of trustees at a recent meeting decided to continue the rates which have been charged in the past, as listed above.
Signed,
S. L. Stanford,
President of Eldorado School Board.

MUSIC CLUB MEETS

Meetings of The Pioneer Music Club are held in the basement of First Baptist Church, on the 1st and 3rd Thursdays in each month.

Quite an interesting program was rendered on the 26th, with a full attendance. Each number was well taken and proved both entertaining and instructive.

Mrs. O. R. Burden of Wichita Falls was a visitor.
Reporter.

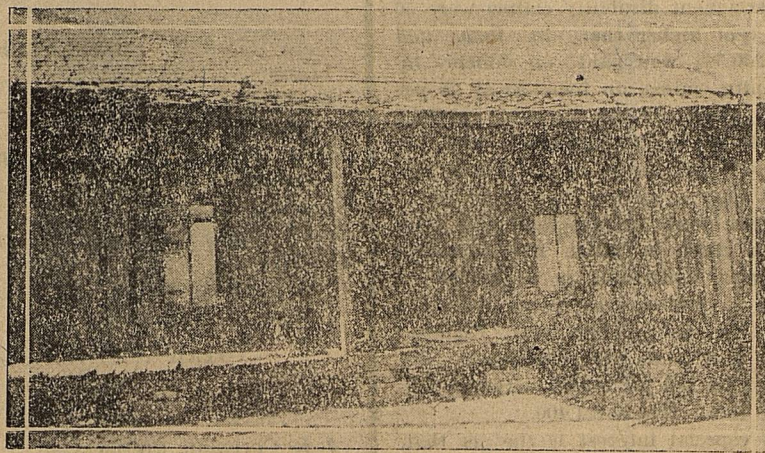

YOUNGSTERS HAD MEETING TUESDAY MORNING

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Doty had the following visitors last Tuesday morning: Mrs. Lizzie Hubble, 81; Mrs. J. B. Cherbino, 79; Mrs. E. C. Rice, 77; Mrs. B. W. Edens, 75; all sisters of Mrs. C. C. Doty; Mr. C. C. Doty, 74; Mrs. C. C. Doty, 73; Mr. T. C. (Toke) Sprout, 79. Most of these children have played together from 70 to 81 years ago. Mrs. W. B. Silliman of Ft. Stockton was also present.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Leaman returned Tuesday from St. Louis, where they went to buy their fall and winter merchandise. Their new goods will be arriving shortly and will be of the latest styles and colors.

Mr. Leaman says these goods were bought cheaper than for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Perry and Mrs. M. Ough of Beaumont, Texas, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Sprout, this week.

BUILDING 36 YEARS OLD BEING REMOVED

The first of this week, Mr. V. H. Humphrey put workmen to work in razing the old building shown above. This building was built by C. C. West in 1895, 36 years ago and became Eldorado's first hotel. For many years it has been used as a residence, but for the past few years has been unoccupied most of the time. This week it has been torn down and will be used in the erection of a new home for Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey, who will in a few days let the contract for a new home.
The older things of our city are passing away for newer things, likewise our older citizens are passing away giving their places to the younger generation. Our old streets have passed away, given place to paved streets, our old business houses have passed away giving place to modern buildings. Old business firms have come and gone in the 36 years. Our friend C. C. West now owns a modern home, one of the best tourist camps in West Texas and a fine farm and ranch. He has outgrown the old hotel life, out lived the old muddy roads, and horse and buggy, rides on paved roads and streets in autos and still meets his old friends with a smile. He remembers the past but lives in the present.

An interesting program was given after which ice cold watermelon was served and enjoyed by all.

Anthrax Found On Cleve Jones Ranch

H. E. Sharp, Live Stock inspector, reports that he was placing the Cleve Jones ranch in Sutton County under quarantine for Anthrax. Mr. Jones has lost several head of stock.

Institute Sept. 3 and 4

The teachers of Schleicher County are expected to attend institute in Eldorado at the school auditorium on September 3 and 4th. About thirty teachers will be present. The discussion will center around problems of the teachers in this section and will be more in the form of round table discussion. No speakers are to be brought in from the outside due to the expense. Many of the teachers have been attending school during the summer and are probably somewhat tired of lectures and it is considered that two days spent in practical discussion of real problems and in making plans for the year will not be time wasted. The general public is cordially invited to attend these meetings. The two-days program follows:

COL. ALVIN OWSLEY ATTACKS GOV. ROSS STERLING

Alvin Owsley, one time candidate for Gov. of Texas, is speaking against placing East Texas oil field under Martial Law. He spoke at Austin and Palestine and ridiculed the Governor for his Martial law declaration.

VALENTINE IS SHAKEN AGAIN

There must be a "Jona" in Valentine, three tremors were felt again there Wednesday, one at 3:30 a. m., 6:10 a. m. and 3:35 p. m. No damage was done but the citizens went to the streets again Wednesday morning, for fear of repeated occurrence.
Old mother earth is cutting up out that way. We would want a tent if we lived there.

ENTERTAIN WITH BARBECUE

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Jarvis, entertained quite a number of friends at the Shell Pipe Line Station, Wednesday night with a Chevon Barbecue. Honoring Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Trough, Mrs. Jarvis' parents; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Sheppard, all of Dade City, Florida. Mr. and Mrs. Foster Trough of Tulsa, Oklahoma and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Sanders of McCamey, all were out of town guests. Some 40 local citizens were present and the car's consist of chevon barbecue and its trimmings, after which a watermelon feast was enjoyed. The occasion was not intended to celebrate the reopening of the pump station but it fit the occasion as the station was put in operation Wednesday about 4:00 o'clock to run on full time.
Those present did not have to express their appreciation of the occasion as it was plainly written on the faces of all.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. McNeley, have been transferred from Austin to the Shell Pipe Station here, when the station was opened for steady work Wednesday. Most all of the men formerly connected with the work are back at work.

Mr. Gofford will publish his Theatre program from week to week and it behooves the Eldorado people to visit his place of entertainment as he is showing the equal of other towns in his pictures.

C. M. McWhorter and wife, returned from Valentine the first of the week, where they visited a sister-in-law of Mr. McWhorter and a nephew, Morris McWhorter, who suffered a considerable loss in the recent Quake. Mr. McWhorter reports that the school building alone would amount to a $35,000 loss.

3:25 The work of the State Teachers Association and its relation to the individual teacher—R. D. Holt.

3:35 Activities for all the schools in Schleicher County—Miss Lucile McWhorter, Adams School.

3:55 Organization of county Inter-scholastic League.

Oil Well News

The Standind Oil Co. No. 1 W. H. Williams, 18 miles northwest of Eldorado in Irion County has cemented again this week to stop caving. The hole was 6,085 feet deep, and has been caving since it was cemented before at 5,924 feet deep.

The Eastland Oil Co. No. 1 Joe Tisdale, has stood idle this week waiting on cement to set that was poured last Saturday to cement casing set at 3,065 feet in shale. They began drilling again Thursday.

W. R. Nicks No. 1 near Eldorado, was cemented last week, plug drilled out but failed to shut off water, and is being cemented again this week at 4,065 feet. The Halbarton Oil well Cementing Co., is doing the work, the cement will probably be drilled out the first of next week.

THE RITZ THEATRE TO SHOW SUNDAY MATINEES

G. S. Gofford, owner and Manager of the New Ritz Theatre, who opened for business some two weeks ago, and who has been showing some worthwhile pictures, says he will soon open a Sunday afternoon show and will be open from 2:00 o'clock until 6:30 p. m. Quite a few people go from here to the San Angelo and Sonora, Sunday afternoon shows, and Mr. Gofford says it would be cheaper and more economical to go at home.

Don McCormick is fattening some heifers on field feed this week. He has bought some 1 1/2 in the field and will pasture it out. The heifers were weighed when they were placed in the field and will be weighed out when the field is eaten out. Other ranchmen should fatten or finish fattening some of their surplus stock and get rid of the stock.

We note from the Concho Herald that Ed. Ratliff of our city has bought a fine registered stud buck from W. C. Fuller of Paint Rock.

Mrs. Georgia Cauble and daughter, were out from San Angelo Sunday visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Doty.

R. W. Sheppard and family of Christoval, visited at Corpus Christi last week, enjoying a dip in the briny deep.

Brice Dabney and daughter, Miss Cleone, were in from the ranch Saturday.

S. D. Harper was carried back to the hospital at Santa Anna last week for further treatment of the burns he received about 4 months ago.

W. E. Baker was shaking hands with friends in the city Saturday, from the ranch 7 miles northwest of town.

J. B. Sammons was in from the ranch Saturday, trying to dispose of his mule.

If the people of the world could live up to two verses found in Romans 13:8 and 9, the depression would have never been heard of.

A man at Ozona paid $550.00 for a stud ram at Salt Lake City, Monday. Those Crockett County ranchmen, haven't heard of the depression, or else think it is past and gone.

30 Million Chinese are homeless from high water over flood lands. No doubt some one will lay this disaster on Hoover.

The daily press announces that the 101 Ranch Circus has found its way back home financially stranded, probably to be set aside. The 101 Ranch Circus has entertained its millions, but the depression has hit it hard just like millions of others and it has found it necessary to take out. The show was pulled within 4 miles of the old ranch and the stock was unloaded and carried to the ranch. Some think the show is not doomed and will come back.

Why does the Governor or any legislature body send out a questionnaire to see if the farmers are going to hold their cotton. Not many of them are able to hold it if they wanted to, and as a general rule the one that sells it as it is ginned is the one that comes out ahead.

Supply and demand makes the price an storing it away until another crop is made will not bring up the price. What the government could do is to see that American made products sold at home for as low a price as they do in foreign countries, we have too much tariff protection for our manufactured products, when the same article can be shipped to a foreign country and sold for half of what it does at home. There is something wrong with the home situation.

J. N. Davis, City Mayor, reports that the Eldorado City Council will be represented at San Angelo Thursday, August 27. The different cities of West Texas are meeting to discuss utility prices, of every kind, as a good deal of complaint is coming from the people for reduced rates.

Burglars who broke into a store in Evanston, Ill., got three pennies from the cash drawer.

W. J. Pinkerton of Bethlehem, Pa., is to marry his mother-in-law, who nursed his wife during her last illness.

The will of Dr. Wm. L. Johnson, who died at Bridge, Mass., directs that his account books be burned so that no bills will be outstanding against his patients.

TWENTY-CENT PRICE IN THREE WEEKS OR BANKRUPTCY, SAYS LONG.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 24.—Twenty-cent cotton must prevail in the South in three weeks or bankruptcy will result to farmers and business, Gov. Huey P. Long said in a statement Saturday which he issued as chairman of the steering committee of the New Orleans cotton conference. "If the cotton growing States will act at once by absolutely prohibiting the planting of cotton for 1932 as recommended by the cotton conference held in New Orleans Friday," the Governor said, "the farmers will get the benefit of the best price for the biggest crop they have ever raised. If they will not do this, then we have nothing but calamity for the cotton farmer."

"Louisiana can be counted on as having as good as passed the law already. Prior to the adoption of the plan, a large majority of the members of the Louisiana House and Senate voluntarily indorsed the plan, and I am prepared to call the Legislature together within a few hours after the bill is written and looked over, and within four days secure the enactment of legislation prohibiting the planting of cotton in Louisiana for the year 1932, provided similar action is to be taken in a sufficient number of other States."

100 Per Cent Prohibition.
 "Any amendment or modification of the plan will be fatal. It must be an entire 100 per cent prohibition against cotton planting for 1932 or nothing. I urge every county in the cotton-growing States to immediately hold meetings and call upon their legislators and Governors to adopt this plan. . . . It is up to the Governors and legislators of the South, whether we shall have 20c cotton in three weeks or bankruptcy."—Dallas Farm News.

D. E. DeLong visited his mother Sunday afternoon at Christoval. He was accompanied by his daughter Mrs. Matthews. Mrs. DeLong is among the earliest settlers at Christoval, came there while the Indians still reigned the settlements, she enjoys good health and keeps house for herself.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Silliman and daughter, Miss Aynes, came over from Ft. Stockton Sunday. Mrs. Silliman and Agnes remained over to visit friends and relatives for the week, and be with Mrs. Doty through her illness. Judge Silliman returned to Ft. Stockton Sunday night, so as to be at District Court Monday morning.

Miss Madeline Sewell left this week for Austin, where she will be for some three months or more.

LIFE INSURANCE PAYMENTS INCREASE

In 1930 life insurance had, from the policyholder's standpoint, one of the most successful years in its history. During the twelvemonth those policyholders and beneficiaries in the United States and Canada received a grand total of $2,612,259,949—a 20 per cent gain over 1929. The usual annual gain is about six or seven per cent.

Permanent disability claims were 56 per cent higher than in 1929, and $25,240,561 was paid on double indemnity claims, an increase of 24 per cent. Payments for premium savings (dividends to policyholders) and for lapsed, surrendered or purchased policies made a total of $1,297,647,383.

There were 136 American and Canadian cities in which life insurance payments amounted to $1,000,000 or more in 1930, as compared with 124 cities in the previous year. Eighteen cities had totals over $10,000,000. New York City led all others with the gigantic total of $170,121,400.

Of especial interest is the fact that, though there were many gigantic single policies paid in 1930, more than 80 per cent of all payments went to small policyholders.

All in all, the record of life insurance in 1930 was a remarkable one. When it is reflected that that was a "poor" year, we may begin to realize how much these great life insurance payments did to relieve the public and to offset misery and want.

TO HOLD COMPLETE LIVESTOCK SHOW

In addition to being a dual livestock show, that State Fair this year will have a continuous showing of both beef cattle and dairy cattle this year, it has been announced by Frank P. Holland, Jr., director in charge of the livestock department.

Beef cattle exhibitors, who will show during the first week of the State Fair, will be permitted to leave their animals in their stalls throughout the duration of the exposition. They will be allowed to remove their cattle at the end of Beef Cattle Week if they wish, but can leave them throughout the fair.

Dairy cattle exhibitors, who will show their animals during the second week of the State Fair, will be allowed to bring their animals in and place them on exhibit at any time following the opening of the exposition on Oct. 10, Mr. Holland said.

IMPRACTICAL, SAYS MURRAY

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Aug. 24.—Governor Murray Saturday branded the proposal of the Louisiana cotton conference for an abandonment of all cotton planting in 1932 as "impractical."

"They don't know the cotton farmer," Governor Murray said. "It's wise to cut it down, but not to quit. There are many farmers who can't do anything but raise cotton."

Governor Murray declared the world should give more attention to providing new uses for cotton instead of attempting to curtail the size of crops. He said that South America alone, in his opinion, could handle all the cotton in the United States, if it were available.—Dallas Farm News.

THE RAILROADS IN 1930

The complete operating statistics for the American railroads during 1930 have just been issued. To even the casual reader, they vividly illustrate the plight in which our principal transport medium finds itself as the result of high taxes, unregulated competition and business conditions.

As compared with 1929, the number of tons of revenue freight handled by the lines last year decreased almost 400,000,000. Freight revenue went down $742,000,000 and passenger revenue $144,000,000. Car loadings were lower than in any year since 1922, number of passengers carried the least since 1903, and operating revenue the lowest since 1919.

The number of railway employees declined from 1,661,000 to 1,488,000. Total purchases for materials and supplies were $291,000,000 below 1929. Taxes were $48,000,000 under that year, due to lower earnings and the consequent decrease in income taxes. However, earnings declined relatively more than taxes, so that the percentage of revenue consumed by the tax collector was the highest in history.

The only bright spots are in the continued increase in operating efficiency. Several new speed and economy records were established and further progress was made in safety, both for passengers and employees.

In the interest of American progress and prosperity a way must be found to increase railroad revenue and thereby speed up activity of one of our greatest industrial employers and purchasers of supplies.

THE MALADY OF SOCIALISM

In his new book, "The End of Reparations," Hjalmar Schacht, former President of the German Reichsbank, says that "the fundamental malady of the socialist system is its tremendous over-valuation of the machinery of the state."

Discussing the cost of electricity in Germany, he says: "In 1929 state and municipal works were in control of 53 per cent of the water power, and private industry of only 47 per cent. The result is that electric light and power are dearer in Germany than elsewhere, and that, since they are monopolies, the provisions of light and power is used by many communities as an additional form of taxation. This happens also in connection with municipally operated street railways and with water and gas works. . . . In recent years there has been an increasing tendency in Germany to raise the rates for gas, water and electricity."

In Germany, as here, the municipal utility is tax-exempt, and is not required to keep books upon business principles. Losses are made up by taxation and, as a result, in 1930 at least 45 per cent of the entire German national income went into taxes and social expenditures by the governments.

Mr. Schacht's statements would probably be true, to some degree, of Australia, Austria and other countries which have gone in for socialization of industry. The Marxian theory, as a theory, has its good points—but in practice it seems to always fall short of promised advantages.

Nine catfish were found inside of an old automobile tire David Stevens hooked from a stream near Erwin, N. C., while fishing.

"THIS AND THAT"

By Jimmy

"Alfalfa Bill" Murray, Oklahoma's moustached, tobacco chewing governor continues his march to a new publicity record for governors. To date Governor Murray has received more columns of newspaper publicity for such a short time in office than any other governor in a decade or more.

He may not be so hot as an oil price fixer, but at least he's persistent—and he may win yet. We didn't take him seriously in Texas until he engaged Governor Sterling in that little bridge game, where Mr. Murray played the hand and Mr. Sterling played the dummy. Since then—well, he's more than an ordinary attraction, he's in demand. In Weatherford, Texas, last week people came for miles around to see and hear what this governor who has a way of his own had to say. People are funny that way.

But even the governor of Oklahoma had to take a back seat when Mr. Leg's mortgages and hopes that the farmer Diamond, the well known New York gangster, hoodlum or what have you, plowing theirs (the farmers) under.

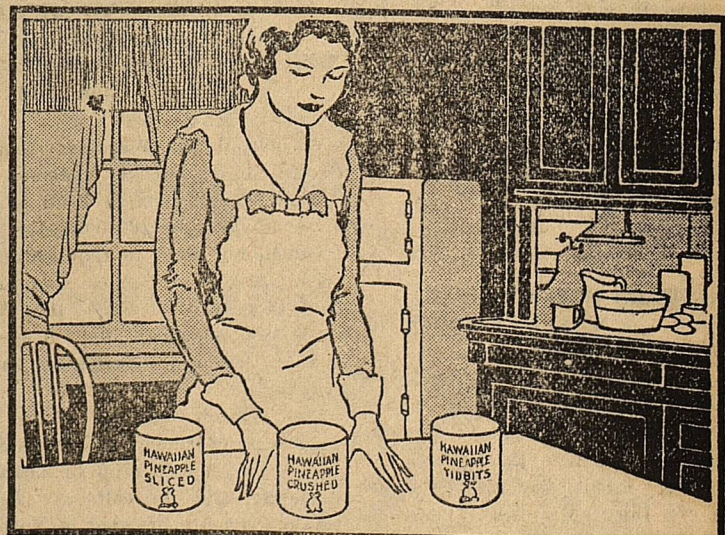

made a bid for page one.
 Mr. Diamond is going to move to Atlanta for a few years, upon invitation of the warden of the federal penitentiary of that city to "Come on down and be one of us."

Mr. Diamond has—or had—been playing the little game of "Pleased or Displeased?" with Uncle Sam, and Uncle Sam said he was displeased and ordered Mr. Diamond to Atlanta. Mr. Diamond, being an obliging sort of fellow, will play the game. Everybody will appreciate the kindness of this gangster—they can't be too good to the government.

With "Legs" Diamond apparently satisfied, the government now wants to embrace the cotton growers and week people came for miles around to shower them with bureaucratic affection and hear what this governor who has a way of his own had to say. People are funny that way.

but a few acres of land and plenty of had to take a back seat when Mr. Leg's mortgages and hopes that the farmer Diamond, the well known New York gangster, hoodlum or what have you, plowing theirs (the farmers) under.

SIMPLE TO USE

SOME foods require a lot of preparation and handling, and some seem simply to flow together under your hand. Among the simplest to serve, either by itself or in combination with other foods, is canned Hawaiian Pineapple. A large amount of this fruit, of course, is eaten just as it comes from the can. Much of it, however, is combined with other foods, and pineapple is put up in just the forms in which it can be used most easily in these combinations.

Sliced pineapple is best, for instance, for elaborate salads, decorative desserts and to serve with meats. Crushed pineapple is the most handy to use in sauces and simpler desserts. Pineapple tidbits are all ready for inclusion in fritters, fruit cups and cocktails, and in salads that call for that form. And now that production of pineapple is so large, the price of it is low.

Two Good Recipes
Apricot Melba Salad: Arrange a slice of pineapple in a bed of lettuce. Mix together chopped candied ginger, chopped pecans and cream cheese to taste. Pile this mixture in the center of the pineapple slice, and invert over it a canned apricot. Garnish around the base of the apricot with cream mayonnaise.
Sour Cream Fruit Filling for Cream Puffs: Mix together one-half cup sugar and one tablespoon cornstarch, and add to one cup thick sour cream. Cook in double boiler, stirring till thick, then cover and cook fifteen minutes longer. Cool, add one-half cup drained crushed pineapple, and use for filling cream puffs or between layers of cake. This recipe makes enough filling for eight cream puffs.*

A KILLER'S RELIGION

It is well known that the most hardened criminals sometimes have decidedly religious tendencies. Many stories are told of bandits praying for success before starting out on a robbing expedition, and the like. A story is told of "Two-Gun" Crowley, a New York youth of 19, who was recently shot five times by policemen before he was arrested for killing one of their number. In the hospital he was unrepentant and defiant. He said: "Of course I killed that cop. I don't like cops. No, I don't want a lawyer; get it over with. Repent, Hell no! My conscience was never so clear in my life. What I want is a square meal." When the district attorney asked if he would have a nice beefsteak, Crowley indignantly replied: "No, sir. No meat for me. Don't you know this is Friday?"

So, out of respect for Crowley's religious scruples he was served fish. Mr. and Mrs. George Joseph and son, of San Antonio came up last week end for a visit with Mrs. Joseph's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. White. Mr. Joseph returned home but Mrs. Joseph and son remained for an extended visit. Mrs. Van McCormick spent Saturday August 22 in San Angelo, shopping.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaylor Bettis and baby of Sweetwater, were here the first of this week, guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Holt. Mrs. Bettis being sister of Superintendent Holt. They left Tuesday for San Antonio where they will visit before returning to their home. Mr. and Mrs. James Hoover left Sunday for a few days visit with their parents who live in and around San Saba and Cherokee.

WOMEN

"I'm going to live my own life," she said. And then two years later, she learned that men may mix many things but want their women straight, wrote the editor of the Waxahachie Light, State Press, of the Dallas News, accused the Waxahachie editor of cribbing the lines from a recent motion picture, but concurred unreservedly in that broad interpretation of a universal, social philosophy.

No greater falsehood can issue from a woman's lips than "my life is mine, I'll live it as I please." Not for a single, solitary instant is a woman's life entrusted to her custody has been entrusted the hope, the integrity, the moral strength and the courage of the human race. Man may slip without use in creep feeders. Practically all doing society a permanent injury, but when woman slips the world slips with her.

With a trust so sacred, woman must walk circumspectly. She who makes herself too accessible, whose telephone number is in the possession of too many men of too many shades of respectability, invites suspicion; and she who flaunts the conventions society has laid down for her, commits a sort of social suicide.

It is a hard rule, but a fast one, from which have sprung a thousand corollaries. One of them is that traditional law of the sea: "Women and children first." Another is: "The woman pays." There seems to be no middle ground. Woman is either too good, or not good enough, for man. It is a dictum sounded with the accumulated authority of generation upon generation of men.

FIGHTING OIL WASTE

There seems to be renewed hope that the oil industry will solve its problem of over production.

There is growing support behind legislation that forbids oil waste—either through poor practices at the well, or in building up excessive supplies in storage.

The oil industry has been largely its own victim. The tremendous development made necessary by the war resulted in an expansion of facilities in a few years to a degree never attempted by any other great business. As a consequence, we are capable of producing infinitely more oil than we can possibly use. Fly-by night producers who come into a field, produce and move on, have made the efforts of the more responsible producers ineffective. They have been forced to drill to protect their own interest and to save their oil from being drained away in the next holding.

Only stringent methods can protect the interests of the nation as well as those of millions of oil workers, stockholders and customers. Producers and the oil states must cooperate to bring production down to where the demand can take care of it.

DICK'S HAT BAND

"All my life I have heard of things being as tight as Dick's hat band. How tight was Dick's hat band?" The quoted inquiry comes from the hardest town on the St. L. & S. W. Railway, the municipality of Flint, Texas must be pretty rocky at Flint, else our inquirer would be too busy to indulge his fancy in immaterial questions. Perhaps times of slack business are good things. They allow thoughtful people to do more concentrated thinking. This question as to the tightness of Dick's hat band would not have come up if everybody of the Eldorado Independent School had been busy. The fact that it has District, until 2:00 p. m. on September 7th, 1931, for the selection of a unemployment and that intellectual depository for the keeping of the funds belonging to the said Eldorado Independent savants have supposed. McCULLOCH COUNTY GRAIN AND HAY WILL GO TO MARKET IN LIVESTOCK GAINS

BRADY, August, 24.—With the largest feed crop of all kinds on record already assured McCulloch county farmers and ranchers are planning on feeding out at least 75,000 sheep and several thousand steers and calves this fall and winter. With a bumper crop of oats, barley and wheat already in the crib and a bumper crop of maize, hegarl, corn and hay already made McCulloch county will have a complete feeding ration with a little cottonseed meal as a supplement. Less than 10 per cent of all grain so far has been shipped to terminal markets. Ranchers are buying thousands of bushels of oats and other grains to use in creep feeders. Practically all farmers who expect to feed out extensively this fall either have power grinders or expect to get them before fall so that bundle feed can be ground up and mixed with the small grain in order to make a perfect ration. Bundle hegarl and maize will furnish the roughage.

Many farmers are expecting to get livestock the middle of August in order to take advantage of the second growth maize which will give cheap early gains. The stock will then be placed on green oats and barley grazing. Land is now being prepared so that sowing may be done next month.

WHO LIKES HIS JOB?

Several instances have come to notice recently which seem to discredit the old theory that in order to be a success one should follow a congenial line of work.

It is said that the late Joseph Conrad, the most famous of recent authors of the sea stories, hated the sea and detested writing.

O. O. McIntyre tells of a leading and successful New York theatrical producer who has a deep antipathy to actors and actresses and despises the theater; also of a man who has made a fortune as a florist, but who does not care for flowers and is nauseated by their perfume.

Now comes Irving S. Cobb, one of America's most famous writers and humorists, with the statement that he utterly dislikes writing, but keeps at it because he doesn't want to be a loafer, or words to that effect.

The average newspaper man will tell you that he loathes the eternal grind, but somehow you could not drive him out of it. Many musicians suffer mental torture when before an audience—and so it goes.

These may be exceptions to the rule, but the lesson to be drawn from the instances noted is that determination to do good work will develop ability and bring success, whether one likes his job or not.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Perner were called to Eldorado Saturday on account of the serious illness of Mrs. Perner's mother Mrs. C. C. Doty.

A letter from A. T. Wright, Jr. says he will arrive in Eldorado about the 1st or 2nd of September.

H. M. Wheeler and wife of Houston were in Eldorado the first of this week visiting Mr. and Mrs. Joe Williams, of our city, and Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Calcote on the ranch north of town.

C. O. Bruton was in from the stock farm Saturday looking after business and buying supplies.

Cutting feed is the order of the day just now, several binders are running daily.

After September 1st, all parties desiring to travel and sell must have a peddler's license. Six Nueces county communities cleaned up 95 per cent of the growing cotton in their fields by November 15th last, and a late June check-up by the county agent showed a boll weevil infestation of from 2 per cent to 5 per cent. Three other communities getting only a 50 per cent clean-up last fall were found to have an infestation ranging from 25 per cent to 60 per cent.

Corn fed to a litter of seven hogs brought $1.19 per bushel, according to George R. Reneau of Heald Community in Wheeler County. He supplied them plenty of sweet clover pasture but little milk. Helped by the county agent, 82 farmers have built self-feeders for hogs and plan to feed most of their wheat to hogs.

S. S. Bunday, Rambouillet sheep breeder in Kimble county, finds that double dwarf milo can be harvested at no expense and with no waste by turning it over to sheep. ONLY A CRISIS BRINGS TAX RELIEF

A stir of concern in governmental circles in Washington, has occurred over the suggestion that a logical way to reduce the cost of government is to cut federal, state, county and municipal salaries 10 to 20 per cent. Over five million persons are shown in a partial list of public employes. All are citizens and voters. It is not at all probable that any reduction in numbers or salaries will result except by the ultimate action of the people. Once boards, commissions and public payrolls are established, little help can be secured from public officials, who depend on votes to hold their positions, to reduce official overhead. An army of public employes is one of the greatest dangers that follow paternalism in government—tax-consumers can then control elections and in a large measure determine the income they shall receive from the taxpayers. Only when a crisis develops and the common citizen revolts against confiscatory taxation, is any relief secured.

ENCOURAGING LOCAL INDUSTRIES

Arizona is a state that believes in protecting and encouraging its major industries. When it recently let a contract for automobile license plates it specified that they were to be made of Arizona copper.

It may be said that a few thousand license plates won't make much of a dent in the copper surplus. But the principle behind the specification is a good one. Every state should do what it can to stimulate local industries and payrolls.

The whole west could with profit adopt policies which in many instances would tend to increase the use of silver, copper, lead and zinc with resulting increase in mining payrolls and purchases. Now is the time to do it.

GETTING BUSINESS GLOOM BEHIND US

By ROME C. STEPHENSON
 President American Bankers Association

THERE is such a thing as over-staying a depression just as there is of over-staying a boom. Over-confidence makes the great majority miss the turn in a boom, and under-confidence makes them miss it in a depression. A leading New York banker was asked recently when he could see that a turn for the better had come. "About three months after it has happened," he candidly replied.

There is more significance in that remark than appears on the surface. As more and more manufacturers and business men realize that the turn has already come and that they are over-staying the time to adopt constructive policies, they begin cautiously to press their selling campaigns, to speed up their production, to enlarge their working forces and increase their commitments for supplies. It is the gathering weight of their influences that finally raises the pressure of confidence to the dynamic power of recovery.

The surest way to bring the nation out of the business depression is to raise the pressure of public confidence to the point of becoming such a dynamic force. It has invariably been the push of that force which has started recovery in the past, and it is the gathering power of this force which will start recovery from this present depression.

It is a favorable sign of the times that there seems to be general agreement that the bottom of the depression has been reached and all eyes are peeled and looking ahead for the first indications that the turn for the better is in sight. Who knows but what the first thing we know we will find ourselves looking backward instead of forward as we realize that the turn has already come. It is a rough and rocky road that runs across the bottom of the valley of business depression, and most of us are too busy steering the old Ford from bump to bump to be able to take in all the scenery. So who knows but what some important changes in the landscape are already taking place.

BANKERS FAVOR GRADUAL CHANGE

National Commission Believes Local Sentiment Should Govern Evolution in Methods of Conducting Banking.

If substantial changes are to be brought about in branch banking in the United States they should originate within the states rather than from Washington on inter-state lines as proposed in "trade area" branch banking plans, a recent report of the Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association declares. Such changes, it adds, "should develop by evolutionary rather than revolutionary stages."

"The extension of branch banking through state action would mean that states not now permitting state banks to have branches or else closely restricting them, would individually liberalize their laws as an expression of changing local desires and conditions, and this doubtless would insure a deliberate, evolutionary process," the report says. "The other method, that is, through Federal action, would mean a sweeping change for the country as a whole, for legislation granting branch banking powers to national banks in all states, regardless of local sentiment, would, of course, induce equivalent branch banking enactments in every state in the Union not now permitting or really wanting state banks to have branches, in order to keep them on a competitive equality."

Upholds State Privileges
 "We find some bankers who feel that a proper stimulus to the development of branch banking would be given by the Federal Government taking the initiative through granting broader privileges within state lines to national banks than they now enjoy. It is argued that state governments could then follow suit as to state banks and that in this way a more progressive branch banking attitude might be promoted by the national banks taking the lead. While we do not deny that there may be some merit in this view as to some specific localities, we stand firm nevertheless on the principle that no such grant of powers to national banks should cross state lines, or exceed the privileges that state legislatures could and would grant to their state banks. "Moreover we believe that if the choice between these two possible courses of extending branch banking were put up to bankers they would be generally opposed to any forcible imposition of branch banking on the states bank system. We believe it would be preferable for any change to come about through the more gradual and democratic method of the states granting their banks branch banking powers state by state where, if, and as local conditions and sentiment might be ready for a change."

CHEVROLET 1931 PRODUCTION IS LARGER THAN 1930

Chevrolet production in July totaled 66,307 cars and trucks, W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager, announced today.

This represents a gain of thirteen percent over the 58,690 units built in July, 1930.

July is the third successive month in 1931 to show a gain over the corresponding month last year, and output for July brings the total for the first seven months of the year to 588,452 cars and trucks.

The company is continuing production into August at a seasonable rate, and with no summer shutdown planned, Mr. Knudsen said.

Current employment is around 33,000 men he stated.

During the first six months of the year Chevrolet continued to hold leadership among all manufacturers in domestic passenger car sales, Mr. Knudsen pointed out.

Today's Preparation Is Tomorrow's Progress

FORWARD-LOOKING towns must consider their power supply. Is it reliable? Is it ample? And can it be increased quickly when industrial growth calls for more power?

These requirements are met when a town is served by an inter-connected electric power system. New demands are met at once, because power is available from many different sources.

Making this elastic, dependable and ever-ready type of power supply available throughout West Texas, it is the privilege of the West Texas Utilities Company to serve 124 prosperous cities and towns in this "Land of Opportunity." Three major generating stations, nineteen auxiliary plants and over 2,500 miles of high tension transmission lines place inexpensive electric power at your command every minute of the day.

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule . . . and adds only a small amount to your total bill?

CHAIN, GROUP AND BRANCH BANKING

Bankers' Commission Describes Differences Among Various Kinds of Multi-Office Banks.

THE Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association has made the following statement on various types of banking systems operating through more than one office:

"We find that there are recognized in the banking world three types of multiple banking organizations, namely, chain bank systems, group bank systems and branch bank systems. They are alike solely in respect to the fact that each embraces under some form of common control or influence two or more banking places, but here the similarity stops since there are essential differences in organization and administration, especially as between branch banking and the chain and group forms.

"Chain banking is recognized as probably the least definite form of multiple banking organization. Generally speaking, this term refers to merely a string of individual separately chartered banks owned or controlled through stock holdings by one or more common individuals, sometimes without public knowledge of the common ownership. Frequently the controlled banks are not administered as a coherent whole under the guidance of a central, publicly known head office, but rather each bank is run as a separate unit bank in accord with the wishes of the dominant interest. In some cases, however, there is a central, publicly known control with a head office that formally supervises the operations of all the banks controlled, and this is perhaps the more desirable arrangement. It lacks, however, the definite legal responsibility that a corporate head organization would have. Each bank in a chain system operates under its own capital and there is ordinarily no binding relation among members of the string.

Group Responsibility

"Group banking, on the other hand, is a system in which, while the member banks are separately chartered and operate as individual units with their own capital, control is exercised through a publicly known corporate organization under the direction of a responsible head office. It openly holds stock control of the member banks and is morally and legally responsible as the chief stockholder for their administration and the statutory share of their liabilities. An essential feature is the fact that an organization of this kind is publicly known, which creates a large degree of responsibility to public opinion. This is true because anything of an undesirable nature developing in one member of the group would create public distrust of the whole group. Therefore its sense of self-preservation as a group, if nothing else, tends to make it enforce standards of conduct throughout the members of the group and to assume responsibilities for them beyond what mere legal responsibilities would bring about.

"Branch banking is completely distinct from the two foregoing forms of multiple organization in that it does not consist of a string, chain or group of independent banks, for there is only one chartered bank in a branch organization and the extensions from it are all in the form of sub-offices without separate capital or corporate existence. For everything that is done through these offices the bank itself is just as responsible legally and in every other sense of the word as though it were done over its own counters in its head office."

Bankers Help

In a report on banker-farmer work, H. Lane Young, Chairman Agricultural Commission, American Bankers Association, shows that during the past year there were 409 meetings reported in 38 states, with a total attendance of 33,578. County key bankers numbering 2,541 were appointed in 39 states. Thirty-four states reported an expenditure by banks of $105,926 for developing better agricultural practices.

Special banker-farmer activities engaged in by banks in 27 states numbered 8,493, while 7,140 projects or farm programs were carried on by rural people through the influence of bankers.

For three years the Agricultural Commission has given special recognition to the state reporting the highest record of accomplishments and this year Georgia achieved first place with its banker-farmer agricultural program. Representatives of the Georgia State College and officials of the Georgia Bankers Association developed the methods and policies which made it possible for Georgia to carry out an effective program which emphasized "directed credit from banks for producing crops on the live-at-home basis."

Appreciation for the cooperation received from local bankers was recently expressed by County Agent R. E. Bodley of Gallatin County, Montana, who said: "My personal experience has been that the average banker will go more than half way with the county agent, providing the latter has demonstrated that his work is constructive and conservative, that he is a man capable of handling confidential information and treating it as such, and one who can 'keep his feet on the ground.'"

SOME DEPRESSIONS WORSE THAN THIS

By ROME C. STEPHENSON
President American Bankers Association

ONE of the most significant aspects of the present business period is that, while we had a speculative panic and while we have had a general economic breakdown yet we have not had any semblance of a financial panic, such as occurred in 1907, and in other years when the credit and monetary machinery broke down and we had money panics, suspension of specie payments and kindred disasters.

None of these elements of a true financial panic has been present in this depression of the 1930's. At no time was the banking structure as a whole shaken, despite the unprecedented rate of small bank failures that it had to absorb. At no time was the banking and credit machinery unable to extend support to the panic-stricken and broken stock markets and cooperation to all kinds of business and manufacturing. Anyone would have been a wise prophet who could have foretold that our banking and credit structure would stand up so well under conditions so bad.

Finance Taking Cuts

And banking and corporate finance in this period of depression are unflinchingly taking their portions of short rations and enforced self-denial that the nation's need for readjustment demands. Interest rates on money, yields on securities and dividends on corporate investment have all dropped to levels that constitute drastic reductions in the compensation of capital. These are but part of the necessary economic realignments that all phases of the country's working life must go through before a general revival of business activity can start.

It is my belief—indeed it is my hope—that the tempo of the next cycle of prosperity will be somewhat more moderate than the mad whirl of jazz that brought the last one to a close. I think it will be agreed that the worst aspect of the collapse of that period of false prosperity is the condition of insecurity for employment which it caused. Unemployment is our greatest public problem today.

Unemployment is the worst wage cut that the worker can suffer. It is the worst cause of stagnation that business has to strive against. The sooner we can get our masses of workers back into jobs on almost any terms the better it will be both for capital and labor.

TRUST BANKING SPREADING FAST

Government Official Shows
That This Type of Financial Service Is Enlarging
Its Field

SPECTACULAR growth of trust service in the banking field is reflected in the national banking system, Aubrey B. Carter, in charge of Trust department supervision in the office of Comptroller of the Currency, Washington, D. C., brings out in an article in the American Bankers Association Journal.

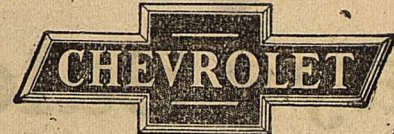

"At the close of the 1930 fiscal year there were 2,472 national banks with trust powers," he says. "Their banking resources aggregated $23,529,100,000, which represented 34 per cent of the number of banks and 80 per cent of the total banking resources of the 7,252 national banks. Trust departments had been established by 1,829 of these banks which were administering 79,900 individual trusts with trust assets aggregating $4,473,000,000, and in addition were administering 11,500 corporate trusts and acting as trustees for outstanding note and bond issues aggregating $11,803,700,000.

"These figures represent an increase during a four-year period of 446, or 22 per cent, in the number of national banks authorized to exercise trust powers; an increase of 725, or 66 per cent, in the number of banks actively administering trusts; an increase of 85,270, or 250 per cent, in the number of trusts being administered; an increase of $3,500,000,000, or 285 per cent, in the volume of individual trust assets under administration, and an increase of $9,340,000,000, or 379 per cent, in the volume of bond issues outstanding for which these institutions were acting as trustees."

These facts, he concludes are "a striking testimonial of the growing public recognition of the desirability of the corporate fiduciary in the settlement of estates and the administration of trusts."

"No corn—no credit" was a slogan adopted by bankers of Saluda, South Carolina, last year. "The proposition was kept before our people by a display advertisement in the county paper several weeks prior to corn planting time. As a result we have more corn raised in the county this year than ever previously, regardless of the need of rain in many sections," said one of the bankers in reviewing the results. Home gardens was another project advocated with like results.

THE PRORATION BILL

The compromise proration bill, as it finally came from the legislature, is a commission order upon the must have been a bitter disappointment to the administration despite the governor's simulated satisfaction and must go into court. But that will not prove to be much deterrent, because the courts have already evidenced a disposition to consider the matter strictly. Proration ordered to effect wanted a separate and distinct commission in charge of oil conservation—a commission appointive by him. He is entrusted to the railway commission is not a considerable fault, if it be fault at all.

In the first place, the governor's mission in charge of oil conservation is a commission appointive by him. He is entrusted to the railway commission is not a considerable fault, if it be fault at all.

So far as the administration is concerned, dissatisfaction with the bill for it. Upon the other hand, there is every probability that the operators specifically forbids proration to avoid themselves—realizing, now, the futility of looking to the legislature for help—will voluntarily do what the law one of the legislative hearings to the effect that "if oil were selling at a dollar the barrel, you would not be here." In other words, had oil commanded a decent price, all of the physical waste incurred in exploitation of the East Texas fields would have been overlooked and actually condoned.

There is no law against voluntary shutdowns to enforce a higher price.

THE PRORATION BILL

Of course, any operator who may finally come from the legislature, will a commission order upon the ground that it is issued to prevent the administration despite the economist rather than physical waste, must go into court. But that will not prove to be much deterrent, because the courts have already evidenced a disposition to consider the matter strictly. Proration ordered to effect wanted a separate and distinct commission in charge of oil conservation to masquerade as proration ordered to prevent physical waste.

It is doubtful that the proration legislation enacted in the recent special session will accomplish what its proponents and the administration hopes for it. Upon the other hand, there is every probability that the operators themselves—realizing, now, the futility of looking to the legislature for help—will voluntarily do what the law can not make them do.

There is no law against voluntary shutdowns to enforce a higher price.

RICHARD ARLEN HAS
NEW STARRING ROLE

Handsome Youth Seen Again In Western; "Caught" Coming to Kialto

Richard Arlen adds, to his ever-growing fame as a portrayer of Western classic roles in "Caught," the Paramount talkie of life in the mining "boom" towns of the 80's which comes to the Ritz Theatre for Friday and Saturday.

This popular star, who was seen as the secret service agent in "The Conquering Horde," as "Steve" in "The Virginian" and as the mustang-hunter in "Gun Smoke," here plays the part of Lieut. Colton, the leader of a detachment of cavalry which is sent to the outlaw country to preserve order.

At the outset they run into difficulty with a gang of rustlers who are led by one of the most desperate women of that day — "Calamity." Gun-toting, stogey-smoking and more ruthless than any of the killers in her gang, this female terror runs things her way. She is the proprietress of the leading dance and gambling hall.

For a time it appears that the cavalrymen will have the upper hand, but before long the tables turn and Arlen finds himself a captive of "Calamity's" gang and due to be hanged in the morning.

Meanwhile he has fallen in love with Frances Dee, beautiful young Eastern girl who has taken a job as a dancer in "Calamity's" place in order to keep from starving to death.

A series of exciting events, attended by stirring gun-play and tense action sweeps down upon the lovers—but the picture ends happily.

Louise Dresser plays the part of "Calamity" with amazing and entertaining gusto.

CARE OF FRUIT TREES PAYS IN QUALITY AND CASH

ANGLETON—Selling all the peaches he produced at $3 per bushel was proof enough to Judge J. S. Sproles of the Edmons community in Brazoria county, that the care of the trees paid well for the labor expended. Judge Sproles followed the Extension Service spraying calendar furnished him by county farm agent J. H. Sandlin and pruned his trees regularly to give them a good open head allowing the sun to ripen the fruit uniformly. In addition to this, to insure first quality fruit he pruned off some of the fruit on branches that were too heavily loaded and all the illshaped fruit as soon as it was formed. From his 200 peach and plum trees he sold all the fruit that he could spare from home use, for prices above the average market price because of its quality.

STERLING'S COURAGE TO BE ADMIRER

Texas newspapers are fairly well agreed that the governor exceeded any and every lawful authority when he sent troops into the East Texas oil fields. The Dallas Morning News referred to the action as an assumption of dictatorship which could be justified only by results. Newspapers habitually opposed to Mr. Sterling's policies were less conservative in their estimates of the act. Even the Houston Chronicle—the newspaper that drafted Mr. Sterling into the gubernatorial race—warned him against martial law the Chronicle editor concluding a long editorial with the admonition: "In the situation that confronts us now, government by soldiers is out of the question. Let us not have prorogation by martial law." Only in isolated instances did newspapers endorse the legal reasoning wherewith the governor justified his proclamation establishing martial law in the East Texas oil fields.

Granting, for the sake of argument, that the governor acted illegally in putting four East Texas counties under martial law, what would be his position should the act eventuate unhappily?

Obviously, he would be severely criticized; and there is the possibility that he might be impeached.

Against these risks what does he stand to gain? Were the happiest results to crown the shutdown and military rule of these East Texas oil fields, his action would be condoned. But he would be credited with nothing more than walking in the footsteps of his Oklahoma contemporary, Governor Murray. Credit for dollar oil would accrue, not to Governor Sterling, but to the Oklahoman who blazed the trail.

In shutting down the East Texas oil fields and imposing upon the State of Texas an expense it could ill-afford to bear, Governor Sterling risked everything and stood to gain nothing. So, whatever one may think of his political sagacity and economic reasoning, he must admire the magnificent courage manifested in the governor's audacious move.

Ready to ride ruthlessly over any obstacles that stand between him and his objectives, Governor Sterling has proved that fear is not in him.
