

Moody, Cullen Endorse Peddy In Senate Race

Lawyer Supports Preparedness At DeLeon Meet

George Peddy, bolstered by approving nods from a former governor and a multimillionaire oil man, plugged peace and preparedness at DeLeon today.

The candidate for the U. S. Senate told crowds at a watermelon festival: "The future peace of the world depends on our standing firm against Russian aggression. If Russia wants to fight us, we had best have the fight now."

Peddy received endorsements last night from former Gov. Dan Moody and from H. R. Cullen, Houston oil man and philanthropist.

"Peddy would be the senator for all the people—not the tool or servant of any group," said Moody.

In a letter to Peddy, Cullen stated: "I have come to the conclusion that the voters of this state would show good judgment if they would cast their votes for you."

Peddy Tuesday had received the endorsement of Myron C. Blacklock of Marshall, former Texas National Democratic Committee chairman.

Opponent London Johnson rode his helicopter today from San Antonio to Houston and Coke Stevenson, also a candidate for the Senate, shook hands with voters at Stephenville, Hico, Meridian, Clifton and Valley Mills.

Johnson spent last night in San Antonio and Stevenson and Peddy were in Dallas.

Johnson told a crowd, estimated by police at 900, at San Antonio that "This city is the future West Point of the world to fly them, and will be spent to train our boys."

He suggested that San Antonio should create an organization called "Air Power, Air Supremacy, Air Leadership, Incorporated," or whatever you want to call it. Such a group should lead a citizen movement to build the best planes in the world, train the best men in the world to fly them, and be prepared to protect our skies.

During the day, Johnson landed twice in San Antonio. "Texas wants a young man," he told one audience. "Texas wants an experienced man to take the seat in the United States Senate."

Stevenson told radio listeners today he believes "No runoff will be necessary in the Senate race."

Last night he told reporters he figures on getting 55 per cent of the votes in Saturday's primary.

N' Carolina Polio Mounts

RALEIGH, N. C., July 22. (AP)—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis today moved medical shock troops into North Carolina to battle the state's mounting polio epidemic.

An orthopedic surgeon and three nurses, specially trained in fighting the disease, came here to begin a tour of the state's medical centers. They will train doctors and nurses in the latest methods of caring for acute cases.

The aid team joined Dr. Kenneth Landauer, medical director of the National Foundation who came here this week to assist in the fight against the epidemic which steadily is approaching record proportions in the state.

Forty-seven new cases were reported yesterday, jumping the total for the year to 783—only 95 cases short of the 878 for 1944, North Carolina's record polio year.

Paralyzed Actress Seeking Divorce

LOS ANGELES, July 22. (AP)—Actress Susan Peters, who is paralyzed from the waist down as a result of a hunting accident three years ago, has sued for divorce from Film Producer Richard H. Quine. The charge is extreme cruelty.

The plucky actress, who resumed her career despite her infirmity, filed suit yesterday. She asked custody and support of their adopted son, Timothy, 2, but requested only $1 monthly alimony for herself. A property settlement has been agreed upon.

Miss Peters, 27, and Quine, 28, separated last March. They were married here in 1943.

DICTATOR DOESN'T BACK DOWN

Tito Says Cominform Sought To Start Yugoslav Civil War

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, July 22. (AP)—Premier Marshal Tito says the Russian-led Cominform conspired to foment civil war in Yugoslavia and almost succeeded. Two Yugoslav Communist leaders he purged formed the spearhead of the move by "anti-party persons," Tito said last night. He identified them as Sreten Zujovic, former finance minister, and Andrija Hebrang, former minister of light industry and one-time president of the nation's planning commission.

Tito implied that he now has full control of the situation. In an eight-hour speech to 2,300 wildly cheering Yugoslav Communist delegates attending a party congress, Tito also: 1. Rejected again the Cominform's "slanders" against the Yugoslav Communist party. 2. Pledged the party will continue to follow the Marxist pattern. 3. Said he wants the friendship of the Russian Communist Party and promised to work toward improving relations with Moscow. 4. Reiterated that Yugoslavia stands on all her policies, including cooperation for peace with countries outside the Russian bloc. 5. Hurling bitter comment at the five Cominform countries whose representatives signed the attack on Yugoslavia.

In the attack, the Cominform (Communist International Information Bureau) denounced Yugoslav Communist leaders as being nationalistic and anti-Russian. Throughout his entire speech, Tito did not back down an inch from the position he has held since the Cominform assailed him. He pledged that the party will continue to follow the line he and his partisan leaders have set for the complete socialization of Yugoslavia.

Truman Says Peace Chances Excellent

WASHINGTON, July 22. (AP)—President Truman said today he thinks the chances for world peace are excellent. He endorsed fully Secretary of State Marshall's declaration that the United States intends to exhaust every resource of diplomacy to get a peaceful solution of the Berlin crisis.

The chief executive also told a news conference that he expects to confer later in the day with Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American commander in Germany, and with Marshall.

Mr. Truman said flatly he will not discuss the Berlin situation nor any other aspect of foreign affairs in his message to Congress next week.

He first responded with a no comment reply when asked "What do you make of the Berlin situation?"

But later on, a reporter reminded him that from time to time he had given his idea of the prospects for attaining world peace. The reporter asked "What is your estimate of the chances for world peace now?"

Mr. Truman replied at once—he thinks the chances for world peace are good. In fact, he hastened to add, he thinks they're excellent.

Secretary Marshall made a statement on that yesterday, Mr. Truman said, adding he is in complete agreement.

He was then asked whether he meant Marshall's statement that the United States intends to do everything possible to work out a peaceful settlement at Berlin. Mr. Truman answered yes.

WALLACE LASHES RED INDICTMENTS

ADA Assails Third Party As Red Tool

PHILADELPHIA, July 22. (AP)—Americans for Democratic Action today assailed Henry Wallace's third party as a tool of the Communists.

Even as Wallace lashed out at the indictment of 12 Communists by a federal grand jury in New York, the ADA said through James Loeb Jr., its executive secretary, that:

"Mr. Wallace's candidacy (for president) does not obscure the fact that the Communists and their

Hatch Admits Politics Angle In Solons' Call

WASHINGTON, July 22. (AP)—Sen. Hatch (D-NM) said today that of course politics entered into President Truman's call for Monday's special session of Congress.

But Hatch, long-time friend of the chief executive, added that is no reason why the lawmakers should confine themselves to electioneering.

"In a measure, party politics itself will be on trial," the New Mexico senator told a reporter. "This session develops into political sniping and seeking for party advantage. I think both parties and the prestige of Congress will be impaired."

Hatch noted that Congress already has done some work on cost of living, housing, civil rights and the other legislation Mr. Truman mentioned in announcing that he was summoning the lawmakers back into session.

"If Congress meets in the proper spirit to finish its uncompleted work there is no reason why the session should consist of merely political bickering," Hatch insisted.

Sure, he said, "politics did enter into the call, and we might as well face that right now."

Blum May Take Bidault Post

PARIS, July 22. (AP)—Socialist Leader Leon Blum was mentioned today as a possible successor to Foreign Minister Georges Bidault who has directed French foreign policy almost continuously since the liberation.

Colleagues of Andre Marie, who is attempting to form a new cabinet, said he wanted Blum to head the foreign ministry and wanted former Premier Paul Reynaud, a rightist, as finance minister. Both have accepted, the informants added.

Marie, a Radical Socialist (conservative), awaited a decision today from the Socialists and Popular Republicans on his plan for a new cabinet.

President Vincent Auriol yesterday gave Marie the job of forming a government to succeed Robert Schuman's cabinet which quit Monday night when the Socialists insisted on cutting the defense budget. Bidault and Schuman are Popular Republicans.

Marie was the justice minister in Schuman's cabinet which will continue in office until a new regime can take over. Frenchmen were eager for a quick end to the crisis.

Senate Probes Story Of Red Spies In U. N.

Officials Say U. S. Security Is Undermined

WASHINGTON, July 22. (AP)—Senate investigators dug deeper today into the story of two State Department officials that Communist employes of the United Nations are undermining U. S. security.

Subcommittee staff members called for more information from Robert C. Alexander, assistant chief of the department's visa division, who first made the charges last week.

Alexander was recalled to testify this morning after Secretary of State Marshall told a news conference he knows of no threat to American security by foreign agents who might be employed by UN.

Sen. Revercomb (R-WVA), chairman of the Judiciary subcommittee, did not share Marshall's view.

He told reporters by telephone from his home in Charleston, W. Va.: "This investigation is revealing a very serious situation. We will follow through until there is a complete revelation of the facts."

Later he said in a personal interview at Charleston that Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett was responsible for the admission of "many undesirable citizens into this country." The senator declared that Lovett overruled the visa department in refusing entry to "certain persons."

Lovett's refusal comment last night on Revercomb's statements. Revercomb meanwhile ordered Richard Arens, subcommittee staff director, to push the inquiry. Arens said he expects the subcommittee itself to take over if the staff does not finish the job before the special session of Congress opens Monday.

The surprise charges about activities of UN's foreign employes came from Alexander and William Harlow, chief of the State Department's diplomatic visa section. They had been called to testify at a general hearing into the immigration and naturalization laws.

Chaplain Walks Out On Marriage

FORT MYERS, Fla., July 22. (AP)—An army chaplain took a walk yesterday in a transatlantic telephone marriage, but the bride was ready today to try again to say "I do."

Nancy Carol Hinson, 19 and pretty, of Landis, N. C., was ready for the ceremony being conducted from this side by County Judge Hiram Bryant.

The first balk came yesterday when her fiancé, 23-year-old Staff Sergeant Harlee Waylon Odum, Jr., of Wilmington, N. C., couldn't be found in Munich, Germany.

Odum put in his appearance and the ceremony was about to start when the chaplain in Munich walked out. He said he didn't know how to marry anyone over a telephone. Anyway, he didn't think it was legal.

Judge Bryant says telephonic marriage rites are all right and are perfectly valid.

Excess Tax Refund Voted

BUSINESS BOOMS ON THE ENLISTMENT FRONT—A lineup of 18-year-old youths is shown outside a downtown army recruiting office in Philadelphia as they took advantage of the armed forces special one-year enlistment program under which they would skip the two-year draft service. (AP Wirephoto.)

Solons May Study 18 Year-Old Case

WASHINGTON, July 22. (AP)—Complaints from many 18-year-olds that they are being squeezed out of a chance to volunteer for military service seemed likely today to get attention at the special session of Congress.

Staff aides of Chairman Gurney (R-SD) of the Senate Armed Service Committee said he already has asked Secretary of Defense For- restal for a report on possible changes in the selective service act.

Thousands of the teen-agers jammed recruiting stations yesterday to sign up for a one-year term in the armed forces, thus avoiding a draft call for 21 months service when they turn 19. However, Congress said only 161,000 may be accepted during the next year—and there are an estimated 1,200,000 in this age bracket now.

Gurney earlier opposed the Army plan of taking the volunteers on an equal monthly basis on the grounds this will cause many to lose two years of schooling. He suggested instead that most of the 18-year-olds be accepted during the summer vacation period.

Gurney's committee aides gave these reasons for the 161,000 ceiling on the teen-age volunteers: 1. Only $500 million was approved by Congress for the one-year training program and unless an extra amount is appropriated at the special session further expansion is barred.

2. A larger number of 18-year-olds would require more regulars to train them, thus reducing the combat strength of the armed forces.

3. The one-year volunteers cannot be sent outside this country, except for brief training cruises or flights by train in the Navy and Air Force. But draftees can be dispatched on any overseas assignment.

Charge Draws Lewis' Distain

WASHINGTON, July 22. (AP)—John L. Lewis today labelled as "trivial and without merit" a government charge that he negotiated an illegal contract provision for his coal miners.

A motion filed by lawyers for the United Mine Workers president asked dismissal of the charge just before a hearing was due to start before the National Labor Relations Board.

The case grew out of the recent coal contract negotiations. Lewis is pushing it to test the validity of the union shop section of the labor act.

In the negotiations Lewis insisted on retaining a union shop clause which compels mine owners to fire any worker who fails to join the union within 30 days after taking a job in the mines.

Ford Strike Threat Ended

DETROIT, July 22. (AP)—A 13-cent an hour wage increase for 116,000 CIO production workers today erased a national strike threat against the Ford Motor Company.

Climaxing more than 21 hours of nearly continuous negotiation, the CIO United Auto Workers also won increases in premium pay, vacation improvements, and a group insurance plan revision.

The union estimated these "fringe" benefits would total an additional 3 1/2 to 4 cents an hour. The UAW-CIO also estimated the annual increased cost to Ford of the new contract at $32 million. The firm made no estimate.

School Board Gives Teachers Reassurances

Minimum Salary Schedule Will Be Met Here

Taxpayers and teachers alike received assurances from the board of the Big Spring Independent School District Wednesday evening.

The board voted an out-and-out refund on excess tax collections, and at the same time gave assurances to its teachers that they "will be paid at least the state minimum salary schedule, that the affiliation of our schools will not be impaired and we shall continue to work toward the improvement and betterment of our school systems."

A total of $39,921.84 will be refunded to 2,646 tax accounts as rapidly as checks can be prepared and signed.

This will be money which had been earmarked for repairs, which the board earlier had anticipated would run about $50,000 to meet needs of the present plant.

The remaining 106 accounts will be serviced with script or credit memos for future payment as the district is able. Total on this portion will be $43,466.81.

"This money was spent for teachers," said Marvin Miller, board president. "The board gave consideration to paying equally on all tax accounts, but it was the consensus of business men who advised last with the board that the 106 taxpayers with refunds of $100 and more were able and would be willing to wait on their refunds. This will enable us to save an enormous amount of bookkeeping on the smaller accounts."

He expressed hope that the entire excess account of $83,388.65 could be cleared quickly, but this he linked with the re-submission of a $1.50 rate. Miller pointed out that he felt this was imperative since a levy of approximately 15 cents would be required for at least two years to meet refund requirements; about the same amount for regular bond and interest demands; and the remaining $1.20 for absolute operation and possibly a few urgent repairs.

By the time repairs are made and refunds completed, the district will be in equal need of funds, he continued. "There will be 34 classes on one-half day sessions during the coming school year, and our total enrollment probably will exceed 4,000 this autumn. Two new elementary schools of at least six classrooms each and 12 classrooms added to present buildings are necessary," said Miller. In addition to this, he said the system was short by two dozen teachers.

The board had levied a $1.50 rate last year on the strength of an election contest. Subsequently the supreme court reversed and rendered the trial and appellate court decisions and by so doing held that the rate authorization had failed to carry.

"Your school board has given a lot of thought and made many inquiries as to the best procedure in handling this situation," declared Miller. "Many people have indicated a desire to waive their claims on the extra 50 cents, but in a meeting with several business men and other taxpayers, it was concluded that the wisest route is to make proper remittances to every taxpayer for the extra 50 cents."

Greater part of the $83,388 excess collections went toward teacher salaries, he said. The district is tightening its financial belt to make restitution of $30,090.76 to 2,506 tax accounts with refunds up to $50, $9,831.08 to 140 accounts from $50 to $100. This money was partly carry-over balance from last year and partly from the excess collections.

Some taxpayers have indicated they might endorse their refund checks and turn them over to the district, but Miller and other members of the board made it plain that the board was not begging. "We want to clear this up in a business like manner in keeping with our means," said Miller.

Berry Named State Director Of Draft

AUSTIN, July 22. (AP)—State Adjutant General K. L. Berry today was notified by telegram from Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director of selective service, of his appointment as Texas State Director of selective service.

The appointment had been recommended by Gov. Beauford H. Jester.

TEXAS POLL Men Voters Outnumber Fair Sex In State By 3 To 2 Ratio

By JOE BELDEN
AUSTIN, July 22—Unlike the nation as a whole, Texas has more men than women eligible to vote this year, a study by The Texas Poll reveals.

The study, conducted as basis for The Texas Poll's scientific surveys of the voting public, shows men outnumber women by a ratio of 3 to 2 on the poll tax records in this state. Nationwide estimates of both the Democratic and the Republican parties show women outnumber men voters by a slight margin.

The Texas Poll study also discloses:

1. Eligible voters in cities of over 50,000 population account for more than one-third of the Texas electorate. One-fourth live on farms and ranches; the rest in small and medium-size towns.
2. Five per cent of the eligible voters are Negroes. The majority of these live in the big cities.
3. Proportionately more women than men are found among the young voters of the 21-29 age group.

The Texas Poll sampled the poll tax rolls of every county in the state in order to design its scientific cross section of the electorate. The results of this sampling, supplemented by official census estimates and returns from the poll's continuous surveys of the adult population, show this is how the Texas electorate is made up:

By age groups:

Age Group	Men	Women
21-29 yrs.	18%	23%
30-39 yrs.	24%	27%
40-49 yrs.	25%	23%
50-59 yrs.	19%	17%
60 Up	14%	16%
Total	100%	100%

By race:

Race	Men	Women
Negro	5%	5%
White	95%	95%
Total	100%	100%

By sex:

Sex	Men	Women
Men	60%	40%
Women	40%	60%
Total	100%	100%

By place of residence:

Place of Residence	Men	Women
Cities of 50,000 or more	35%	35%
Towns 10,000 to 50,000	12%	12%
Towns 2,500 to 10,000	18%	18%

HEAR Judge Morrison give a report of the County Judge's Office over KBST, FRIDAY, July 23rd at 9:15 p. m.

(Pd. Pol. Adv.)

When I first got an opponent in this election I was in the Hospital recovering from a major operation and it was a period of weeks before I was able to campaign at all, and since such time I have been trying to campaign and perform my duties as County Attorney at the same time, and therefore if I have not seen you personally, it is simply because I have not been able to do so.

You elected me your County Attorney in 1942 and I served approximately one half of that term and went into the Army. You were kind enough to re-elect me again 2 years ago, and I am now serving my first full term. I have worked hard to make you a good County Attorney and will appreciate being allowed to serve you for a second full term.

Thank you,

Drug Apparently Aids Treatment Of Polio Victims

HOUSTON, July 22. (AP)—Polio patients treated with a new sulfa-type drug, thiazolyl, are up and walking around, but doctors warned against over-optimism.

One doctor pointed out that many patients recover spontaneously from polio.

Some 70 patients were estimated to have been treated with thiazolyl, but Houston doctors said yesterday only about 35 cases were being used for study and evaluation. The remainder of the cases were "thrown out" because of errors in diagnosis and dosage, they said.

"We feel that the drug is doing some good," one doctor said at the city-county Jefferson Davis Hospital, "but we just want to be sure before we make any claims."

Thiazolyl, along with another new drug, aureomycin, is being used here as part of a cooperative polio research program involving the University of Texas Medical School, Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons and the Neurological Institute of New York.

Dr. Chauncey Leake, dean of the Texas Medical School, confirmed reports of the studies but said "It is too early to give any opinion on the value of the drug."

Doctors here declined to be quoted by name. But they said local tests have shown good results if the drug thiazolyl is administered in the early part of the second stage of polio. This stage was described as including fever, headaches, neck stiffness and muscular soreness and stiffness.

Hardy Refugees Sail Atlantic In Own Ketch

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., July 22. (AP)—A hardy band of 29 Baltic natives who landed at this colonial port after 43 days aboard a small ketch on the Atlantic held hopes today they will be allowed to "live in freedom" in the United States.

The seven-family party of 15 men, seven women and seven children were headed for Boston, but turned in here yesterday when they ran out of fuel for the vessel's auxiliary engine and became short of food.

Food and other supplies were given to the refugees by residents of this town which is only a short distance from where the first pilgrims landed.

The refugees, headed by Capt. John Rosenberg, 63-year-old master of the 64-foot ketch named the "Gundel," will sail today for Boston, where a U.S. immigration official said his office probably would make an investigation.

Capt. Rosenberg said his party had sailed from Dover, England, with only a wrist watch and sextant to guide them.

They originally had fled Soviet-controlled Latvia to Sweden, where they lived for four years and pooled their resources to acquire the ketch for $12,000.

Who Asks To Serve You As COUNTY JUDGE

To The Voters of Howard County:

In regards to my candidacy for the office of County Judge of this county, I wish to tell you a few of the many reasons why I want to be your next County Judge.

First, I want to be a public servant and treat every individual honestly and fairly.

Second, I want to cast aside all other duties and devote my entire time and effort toward the betterment of Howard County.

Third, I want to use my past experience as County Commissioner in dealing wisely and efficiently with the many problems that arise, which this office must take care of.

I fully understand how to form and establish a working budget which the law requires and I am also aware of where the revenue comes from in making this budget, thus making wise spending necessary.

The County Judge's duty is set out by the statute formed by the law making body of this state and it should not deviate from this.

The Judge's office is to be an administrative office. The Judge presides over the governing body of the county which is the Commissioners Court. This court deals with the tax matters and a board of equalization is held annually to take up individual tax problems.

I think that I have a working knowledge of how to handle this equalization board.

I do not have a law degree and this office does not require one. The County Attorney handles all legal matters for the Commissioners Court, therefore making a law degree unnecessary. However the office does require common knowledge and sound judgment, which I believe I can supply.

As you all know, men of my age did not serve in the Armed Forces in the last war unless they were military men, however I had one son that served overseas in the Navy and another in the Army. A nephew in the Army Air Force did not return.

I was serving as County Commissioner at that time and as the roadwork was handicapped by lack of materials and men, I feel that the other members of the Commissioners Court and I did our utmost toward the war effort. It was at this time that we took the step that resulted in founding our Howard County Free Library and laid foundations for other projects.

I believe in dealing out punishment where punishment is due and I firmly believe in showing no partiality to the guilty party whoever it may be. Regardless if a person is a prominent citizen or someone of a lower class, the same degree of treatment will be assessed according to the offense.

Some of you may not be acquainted with me or my family. I have resided in this county some 34 years. I am a Christian and a church member and have reared six children in a Christian home. I am a home owner and taxpayer.

In appealing for your support in the election next Saturday, I wish to say that if I am elected to the office of County Judge I will serve you to the best of my ability in all matters that concern this office.

Citizens and voters of Howard County... I want to be your next County Judge. Please give my candidacy your sincere consideration and vote for me Saturday July 24th.

In doing so you will give me the opportunity to show you just what kind of a Judge I will make you.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

Fort Worth Man Crosses Up Writers Of His Obituary

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON, July 22. (AP)—Sixty-seven year old Clifford Beckham of Fort Worth, an attorney here with the Bureau of Internal Revenue, has the laugh on reporters who cover the Texas news front in the nation's capital.

Ten years ago, when he was president of the Texas State Society of Washington, he had a heart attack while at a social gathering of the organization. He was so near death that the newsmen wrote up his obituary.

Last week he passed a physical examination with flying colors so he can take lessons to be a plane pilot.

The Hatch Act forbids government employees from taking an active role in politics, but it didn't diminish the interest of several Texans here who wanted to look in on the Democratic National convention in Philadelphia.

Among those who went up for the big show was John Mayfield of Tyler, assistant deputy War Assets Administrator. Mayfield has general supervision of budget, personnel and advertising matters in the agency. He is a son of Earl B. Mayfield, former U. S. Senator from Texas.

Only Senator Tom Connally of Marlin and House Minority Leader Sam Rayburn of Bonham among the Texas Lawmakers here were present at the convention as delegates. However, Reps. Olin Teague of College Station, Ed Gossett of Wichita Falls and Gene Worley of Shamrock arranged to get in as spectators.

Lacy Sharp of Waco, secretary to Rep. Bob Poage, went to the convention as a sergeant-at-arms. John Holton, who came up from Rayburn's district to work in the capitol, served as an assistant doorman and had the task of keeping a lot of disappointed people out of the place.

The Gold Star Wives of America met in Detroit July 4 and presented to Congressman Teague their first annual award for outstanding service to veterans and their dependents.

A six-times wounded veteran of fighting in France and Germany in World War Two, Teague serves on the House Veterans Affairs committee. He was particularly interested in pressing legislation to aid those women whose husbands were killed in the service of their country.

Teague plans to attend a reunion of his outfit which he served as a colonel, the 79th Infantry Division, in Philadelphia Aug. 6-8. He intends to head back to his south-central Texas district after it is over.

Wichita Falls Congressman Gossett was amazed the other day when he looked up as his office door creaked open and saw his 7-year old son Glenn peeping sheepishly inside.

The youngster, with his 6-year-old playmate Bryan Milner, had walked four miles from the apartment village where they live in southeast Washington. And without permission of course.

After considering whether to rejoice at their safe arrival or to scold them, Gossett took the boys for a ride on the electric monorail subway car that connects the capitol with the Senate office building.

Both lads had to stay indoors the rest of the day when they got home.

A Texas A & M College Administration official is being mentioned as a likely appointee to head the Marshall Plan program in Ireland.

He is E. N. Holmgren of Bryan, a 1922 graduate of the college.

Dixiecrats Will Meet At Atlanta

JACKSON, Miss., July 22. (AP)—Strategists for the South's rebellious Democrats plan to meet in Atlanta Saturday to map their campaign against President Truman and his stand on civil rights.

Gov. Fielding L. Wright of Mississippi announced the meeting late yesterday and said that Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, named by the rebel Democrats as their choice for president, would attend.

Wright was chosen as Thurmond's vice presidential running mate at a meeting of the states' rights group at Birmingham Saturday.

He told a news conference yesterday he did not look upon Thurmond and himself as "candidates" because they had not been nominated by any political party, but merely had been recommended to the various states "in accord with the principles of the states' rights movement."

TOKYO, July 22. (AP)—Three persons were killed and 10 injured today when a passenger train struck a standing freight at Kurosawajiri.

Reading Links Show Underway

READING, Pa., July 22. (AP)—Ben Hogan and Lloyd Mangrum brought their duel for golf's money winning honors down to the Berkshire Country Club's long fairways and well trapped greens today in the first round of the $15,000 Reading Open tournament.

Nearly 150 other top ranking pros and amateurs also have entered the four-day tourney but Hogan, U. S. Open and PGA titlist, and the long-hitting Mangrum are favored.

Mangrum went into the tournament setting the pace financially. He has won $20,421.99, passing the former Texas mite from nearby Hershey, Pa. in last week's Dapper Dan play at Pittsburgh. Hogan's earnings total $20,197.56.

The field numbers just about every name golfer in the country with all of the sport's 10 leading money winners matching drives, chips and putts in the same tournament for the first time this year.

In addition to Hogan and Mangrum, they include Bobby Locke, Skip Alexander, Jimmy Demaret, Johnny Palmer, Dutch Harrison, Cary Middlecott, Clayton Heafner and Chick Harbert. First prize will be $2,500.

Harrison won last year with a seven under par 277. Frankie Stranahan, leading amateur from Toledo, Ohio, Demaret and Ed Oliver tied for runner-up honors with 280s.

Since then the course has been lengthened and par increased from 71 to 72. The net nine measures 3,080 yards, the in nine 3,359.

SHOULDN'T HAVE IGNORED BULGES

LOS ANGELES, July 22. (AP)—John Wilson, 47, overlooked bulges made by badges, handcuffs and revolvers last night as he stalked Plain Clothes Officers R. G. Church and G. L. Glenn.

In an alley, the officers said, Wilson came up behind them, simulated a gun and demanded: "Give me what you've got!"

He got it—two real guns in the ribs, handcuffs on his wrists and a booking on suspicion of robbery.

Needs Population

CANBERRA (AP)—A warning that Australia could not survive another war unless she increased her population was given by Minister of Immigration Arthur A. Calwell. He said that if Japan was permitted to rise again in strength he did not think Australia would come through.

Texan Is The Cattle King Of Paraguay

ASUNCION, Paraguay, July 22. (AP)—There's a government warrant out for the arrest of George Lohman, but that's nothing to worry a man who's been reported dead twice.

Lohman, a lanky Texan who came here in 1912, is a legendary figure on the lonely Paraguayan chaco. He lives 95 miles from the nearest town. He is rich.

He thinks he has about 80,000 head of cattle and his friends say there are a quarter million acres of land in his home ranch. The Indians, Nomads who kill their old people, call him "The White Chief."

Right now, Lohman is charged with aiding the rebels who maintained a seven-month civil war last year. Specifically, the Government says he supplied cattle to feed the rebel troops. Lohman's friends say that if he did, it was only to keep the rebels from taking them by force.

Anyway, neither they nor his family are much concerned. The part of his family which lives here says "He'll be in pretty soon to fix this thing up."

The fabulous cattlemen came here with Tex Rickard in 1912 to find a fortune. Rickard soon went back to New York and found his as a boxing promoter. Lohman stayed on and never has been back to the States. With Robert Stewart, another Texan, helping him, he started out with 12 head of cattle on a few acres of rented land.

Stewart died last year, but Lohman is still active. He has been reported dead twice. Once during the Chaco War, Indians brought in word that he had been killed. They said they had seen his body. It turned out to be the body of somebody else. Just last year word spread again that he was dead.

This time it turned out to be Stewart.

Lohman married twice, both times to Paraguayans. Two daughters of the first marriage—one of them herself married—live in Asuncion. The second wife was a girl from Concepcion, the nearest town—95 miles due east of the ranch, Red Spring. They and their four children live on the ranch.

When Lohman's cattle are ready for market, he has a choice of transportation. He can drive them overland to Concepcion and send them down the river by steamer. Or he can drive them all the way to Asuncion—about 350 miles.

The ranch is not bothered with traffic congestion. To get there from Asuncion there is first a 250-mile trip by river steamer to Concepcion. This may take two days, or more if the steamer runs aground on a sandbar. Then there is the overland trip 95 miles due west to Red Spring ranch—where the road ends.

In the dry season a truck might or might not make it. In the wet season an oxcart is the best bet. Since the war, Lohman has bought a jeep. He says it is all right on any road good enough for an oxcart.

Nose Out Oysters

BALTIMORE (AP)—Maryland's economic fame lies in its oysters, but this is an injustice to muskrats. The State Game and Inland Fish Commission observed in an annual report that the yearly muskrat fur catch often equals or exceeds in value a season's oyster output. In fact, the agency added, the Free State is second only to Louisiana as a producer of valuable fur.

Midwest Gets Relief From Hot Weather

CHICAGO, July 22. (AP)—Most of the Midwest got relief from the hot, humid weather today but the muggy conditions continued from the Gulf states northward to the Middle Atlantic states and the Ohio Valley.

A drop in temperatures was reported from the New England states westward through the Great Lakes region into the Northern Plains states. The mercury stayed around seasonal levels west of the Rocky Mountains.

Junior GA'S Have Visitation Day

The Blanche Groves Junior Girls Auxiliary convened at the First Baptist church for a sing-song preceding a visitation period Wednesday morning.

Several families were visited and a number of magazines were distributed along with the food.

Jackie Bramwell, and members of the Intermediate Girls Auxiliary accompanied the group and Miss Bramwell gave the devotional from Psalms 51, and directed the singing and led in prayer.

The group had lunch in the park which was followed by a program from "World Comrades" about Traveling Families—Or Migrant Workers. The question and answer method was used in teaching the girls about the migrant workers, the conditions under which they live and their great spiritual need. A poster was used to show pictures of Migrants and the various crops that they help harvest.

The group decided to contribute $5.00 to the Ministerial Relief fund and $6.50 to the American Bible society. The Junior GA's also gave $2.00 to the Intermediate GA's, a newly organized group.

SHOVEL and HOE

A Garden Column by Virginia Scott. Presented by the Big Spring Garden Club.

If individual gardeners, garden magazines and organizations had given one-fourth as much attention and publicity to beautifying the home grounds as they have given to flower arrangement, interior decoration and the like, there would be few unplanted, or misplaced, places.

Perhaps one reason for this neglect is the mistaken idea that only large estates are supposed to be "landscaped" that the small place can be treated any old way, and that it is too expensive to have someone design the garden. Nothing could be farther from the truth. Small and medium sized properties are most important and should be considered worthy of the best planting possible. It also saves money to have competent advice. But any home owner can learn the basic principles of design, if she is willing to study a bit.

Put this one in your note books for fall—One of the nicest climbing Roses you could hope to meet is Gold Rush. It blooms on the new wood, plants set in the fall have a few blooms the following spring. The buds are almost copper colored, opening to soft yellow, gradually fading to cream. Good foliage.

If you are looking for a beautiful evergreen, that can withstand severe winter conditions and also endure heat and drought, you may well investigate the Concolor, or Write Fir. There are several types of the Concolor Fir, the best is said to be native to Colorado. There may be some variation in color of individual trees, some bluish, some green. All are lovely. Slow growing, but eventually will attain a height of fifth feet. Use as specimen plant. Small trees are sometimes irregular, but will straighten out as they grow. Thrive best when planted in sheltered, but sunny, locations. Not particular as to soil. Northern hillside or slope good position.

Albizia (often called "Mimosa") with its graceful, fern-like foliage is the ideal tree for a tropical effect. It is not quite hardy enough for some of the colder sections, but does well in the Upper South except, when below-zero weather cuts it back to the ground. It usually recovers, however, and makes rapid growth in one year. Give plenty of room, not good for small gardens.

Another tropical looking tree is the Sumac, hardy over a wide area. Under-planted with Ornamental Grass and Daylilies, this plant fills up large spaces quickly and makes a dense, almost jungle appearance. Very effective. The Kentucky Cardinal is quite fond of sitting among the Sumac branches where he makes a pretty spot of color.

EAT PLENTY AND TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Many people have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for a ounce of liquid Barcoztrin. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough crushed salt to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the results, easy way to lose belly fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves. If noticeable pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic, from neck, chin, arms, back, abdomen, hip, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

Lost 47 Pounds

"When I commenced to take Barcoztrin, I weighed 111 pounds. I now weigh 64. I feel so much better after losing that weight. I think it is a wonderful medicine and thanks to Barcoztrin."—Mrs. George Great, Chisholm Courts 4, Apt. 1, Austin, Texas.

Lost 20 Pounds

"I lost 20 pounds taking four bottles of Barcoztrin and I feel fine."—M. M. Gates, 213 24th Street, Corsica Church, Texas.

Clothes Make The Man, So, Keep Them Drab

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

About this time each year, some smart men's tailor shouts from the housetops that come fall everything is going to be different. Men, he says, will overcome their color inhibitions and bust out in wild, wild hues.

He invariably follows with references to the gay plumage of the male bird—and the natural drab coat of the female. He winds up with an exhortation: "Men, revert to nature."

Well, kids, the human male ain't a-gonna do anything like that. And he won't do it because a few million little women won't let him.

The human female, in the first place, does not resemble the female bird in many ways. She wasn't born wearing a mandatory costume which willy-nilly, must be hers for life.

Secondly, the female works through a combination of intuition and reason. And the combination of the two tell her that life has been a lot simpler and easier since the men in her life started wearing uncomfortable collars, conservative suits and useless neckties. If there's any danger of all men going overboard for gay plumage all the girls are going to pull in the reins tighter.

Sir Walter Raleigh, the perfect cavalier and a gay bird in Elizabethan plumage, once tossed his ornate cape into a mud puddle.

It was a grand gesture. But the ladies of his time were not much more than chattels, bound to their lords and masters, and without authority to do much more than swoon from time to time.

As long as the raiment of the gents of the world rivaled the sun in all its glory, the ladies place was distinctly in the shade. Even today, there are a few places in the world where the men are pretty colorfully gotten up—and you usually find those men sitting on the donkey's back while their better halves walk respectfully a few paces behind, carrying a load of firewood on their heads and the youngest child on their back.

Ever since Papa climbed into dark blue serge and a dull necktie, things have been getting progressively better for the girls. Now we can vote, answer back, hold down jobs, run our own bank accounts and help decide whether the family will buy a new car or have the leak in the roof fixed. Just incidentally, we are also the people who buy most of the clothes the gentlemen in our lives wear.

And if you think we're going to let go of all this just because peacocks are prettier than peahens, you've underestimated the girls.

Miss June Hamill Is Gift Shower Honoree

Miss June Hamill, bride-elect of Hank McDaniel, was complimented with a gift tea shower Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Buel Fox.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Palma Hamill, mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. C. H. McDaniel, mother of the bridegroom to be, Miss Hamill, Mrs. Lonnie Coker, and Mrs. Fox, who composed the receiving line; Betty Stuteville, Mrs. Joe Fowler Brooks, Mrs. J. D. Jones, Mrs. E. J. Brooks and Mrs. Leonard Coker.

The honoree was dressed in a light blue frock with black accessories and her corsage was of yellow carnations.

Miss Stuteville presided at the register; Mrs. Joe Fowler Brooks and Mrs. Jones served refreshments and Mrs. E. J. Brooks and Mrs. Leonard Coker displayed the gifts.

The refreshment table was laid with an Irish linen cloth and appointed with a crystal punch service. An arrangement of white daisies and fern was in the center of the table. Green and white was the color scheme.

Souvenirs of sinias, gladioli, roses, and other summer flowers were placed at vantage points throughout the party rooms.

Approximately 50 guests called during the afternoon.

Record Thwarts Popular Issues

At the approach of the concluding gusts from the first primary tempest, which has been mild in its outward reactions in comparison to many previous seasons, some races are more or less submerged in the din. One such is that of governor.

Extravagant claims have been made to two of the opposition candidates, among them the familiar "ain't gonna be no run-off" graveyard whistling. In this case observers are agreed that the prognostication is correct, but that there won't be any turn-over. Gov. Jester has excellent prospects of going back with plenty of votes to spare.

Tranquility has hardly been the keynote for his first term, and yet in spite of all the post-war upheavals, matters have held enough of an even keel that few issues have gained any degree of popular attention. There have been disagreements, yet out of some of these have come steps looking to lasting solutions. Such is the Gilmer-Alken committee, built upon the ashes of strife over the school bill. Some far-sighted steps have been taken, not the least of which is the series of water conferences which led off with the historic one in Big Spring. Many appointments have been of unusually high quality such as young Bill Murray and Fred Wemple. These and other things stack up so that slogans and unhappy phrases will hardly accomplish an upheaval.

Time For Chest Not Far Away

October is just around the corner. The calendar says it is little more than two months, and when it comes to planning a major undertaking, two months is hardly a long time.

Such is the case for early action on the Community Chest. Last year the Chest fell short of its $36,000 goal by $8,500. It wasn't that the money was not to be had or that the objective was too high. The real reason was that little more than 800 people of the county carried the burden and somewhere between 5,000 and 10,000 others ignored their responsibility. Had these given even so much as one little dollar, the quota could have been met.

The big and special gift groups did excellent work last year, but the drive broke down on the general solicitation. It is here that most of the planning needs to be done—planning so that the appeal will be carried to every man, woman and child in Howard county so that they will understand the need for the Community Chest and be given an opportunity to give or pledge toward meeting that need.

It is probable that the general Chest committee will meet soon; it is to be hoped that this is the case. Perhaps the advisability of affiliating with the national chest will be considered, for this might well be a rich source of know-how.

U.S. FEMALES' FROZEN FACE HURTS CHIVALRY

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK, July 23 — There must be something that can be done about the great American female face.

The map of Europe is always changing. Why can't women change their maps, too?

They're always promising you they will. They get up and say roughly:

"Excuse me, I want to go and change my face."

But when they bring it back, there it is again—the same old deadpan they took out with them. Is that a change? Or is it just a case of the map being short-changed?

Let me preach this plea for a change in the great American female face by saying I am no crabbled misogynist, suffering from a lifelong case of frustrated puppy love.

I like women. Some of my wife's best friends are women. I have hit the sawdust trail for the gentler sex many times, admitting they are kinder and more intelligent than men. And more dependable in the pinch, too.

But, hey, thrice why — do they cloak their shining personalities, and their wondrous hidden ways, under the mask of the great American female face?

This is the face they wear in public—chin tilted, eyes glazed, mouth frosted in faint disdain, nose held high as if it were being pulled from behind by an invisible fishhook.

The native American male has become so accustomed to meeting this face on the streets and byways of his land that he unconsciously has come to assume this is the natural expression for a woman to wear. It might be a Caribbean lady zombie, but for a nice American woman—never.

This great, glacial, expressionless female face sometimes appalls visiting men from other countries. I asked one wise European what he thought of the women here.

"Will what I say cause any further cuts in the European Recovery Program funds?" he asked. Assured it wouldn't, he said:

"Frankly, they puzzle me. They try extremely hard to dress differently and individually—but they also seem to go to any length to make all their faces look alike. I have difficulty telling them apart except by their clothes."

The gentleman hit his head exactly on the nail, so to speak. Two women who would die rather than be caught wearing the same style hat don't mind at all going through life wearing the same face.

The great American female face can't be blamed on universal imitation of Hollywood's impersonal glamor. It goes deeper than mere identical patterns of rouge and lipstick. Some critics believe it comes from watching store mannequins. This theory holds that a woman who buys a dress she saw on a window dummy unconsciously feels she has to do the wooden expression the dummy wore.

Affairs Of The World—

Reds Taking Grave Risk

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
The greatest danger of war between Russia and the democracies lies in the fact that Russia's European conquest has bogged down and she is taking risks in desperate efforts to get the Red machine rolling again.

The inhuman food blockade of Western Berlin is one of those risks. The blockade must be broken by the allies—but the consensus is that this isn't the time to use force, as some rather impetuous folk are advocating. It is encouraging to hear General Lucius D. Clay, U. S. Military Governor in Germany, deny published reports that his headquarters had recommended forcing an armed convoy through the blockade.

Such allied action surely would result in armed conflict. Obviously there is danger of war, but as things stand there seem to be ways of dealing with the situation without resorting to arms. Concerted action by the democracies in clamping politico-economic sanctions on Russia should turn the trick.

The strategy of the Western Allies seems to be developing along the line of applying sanctions and then holding firmly on the front which the Bolsheviks have reached through Central Europe.

The Soviet Union has great resources, but a global politico-economic blockade by the democracies would hit her so hard she wouldn't be able to contemplate making world war. Moreover such a blockade would give time for development of the disaffection which long has been at work among the red slave-states of Eastern Europe.

What the Muscovites are aiming at now is to drive the democracies out of Germany and Austria and make these important countries part of the Red empire. Since Germany in normal times is the economic keystone of Continental Europe, her inclusion among the Soviet satellites would lend vast strength to the Communist world revolution.

Certainly there is no place at all for appeasement. And if it comes to a showdown where the use of force is necessary, the democracies will use it!

Swope Has Some Backhanded Advice For Demo Electors Considering Bolt

By DREW PEARSON
WASHINGTON.—Herbert Bayard Swope, editor of the old New York World, has some backhanded advice for Dixie Democrats who consider bolting Truman in the electoral college.

Swope, chosen for the Electoral College from New York in 1936, tells how the electors met in a lavishly draped room, reminiscent of early Grecian meeting places. Each elector had an embossed and engraved ballot to be deposited in a Grecian urn. An air of great solemnity pervaded the gathering.

In the middle of this impressive ceremony, Swope suddenly turned to Democratic Governor Herbert Lehman.

"I think I'll use this opportunity to go down in history," he remarked. "I'll cast my vote for Herbert Hoover. It has never happened before. If I do it here, my place will be secure in the history books."

The humorless Lehman nearly fainted. Beckoning to Ed Flynn, then secretary of state of New York electors, he warned: "Ed, Swope here is about to do something terrible. You have got to prevent it at all costs. He is going to cast his vote for Hoover."

"Who is to say that I can't?" replied Swope, basking gayly in the pleasure of the prospect of making history. "What law will I be defying? Am I not a duly elected elector? It is my right as a duly elected elector to vote as I see fit."

"Relax, Herbert," Flynn told Governor Lehman. "He can vote any way he wants. But don't worry. If he votes for Hoover, I won't count it."

MERRY-GO-ROUND
The big, bold state of Texas is in the throes of a hot primary battle including, among other things, the question of who will replace that noted flour salesman, Senator "Pappy" O'Daniel. Congressman Lyndon Johnson, the ex-Navy veteran, is making a strong bid.

He's the man who put Truman right on the spot when he discovered that the government was serenely selling its war plants at the very same time it was worrying about another war. A lot of outside money has been flooding Congressman Wright Patman's district to try to defeat him—most of it put up by the real-estate interests in Houston. Patman is the Texan who fought hardest for public housing. . . . Housing is a hot subject in various congressional districts, including Dallas, where Bill Cooper, a decorated campaign veteran who enlisted in the Army at $21 a month, is exposing the anti-housing record of Congressman Frank Wilson. Wilson calls the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill "socialistic"—perhaps because it isn't a veteran. . . .

Once again the power lobby is trying to defeat pillar-of-the-party Sam Rayburn—revenge against his fight for rural electrification and the holding company act. . . . Despite being fairly busy at Philadelphia, Sam has found time to help get 25 Democratic congressmen on the "discharge petition" to housing bill out of its pigeon-hole. Sam says he's made it a practice never to sign a discharge petition, but he's been working back-stage to get housing over the hump. The Republicans may be surprised when they come back next Monday. . . . Another vet congressional candidate who has been plugging housing is live-wire Creekmore Faith of Austin who studied the housing shortage under war mobilizer Jimmie Byrnes in

Washington. FOSTER FATHER WANTS HELP
Attorney General Tom Clark is looking for 300 part-time fathers to help take care of his wayward boys.

No ordinary job of baby sitting, Clark's idea is to give each kid at the federal reformatory a sponsor, thus help to guide the boys back on the straight-and-narrow. Clark has some 350 kids under his wing—all convicted of federal offenses and serving time at Washington's National Training School for Boys. He has taken a personal interest in their cases, but can't give individual attention to each boy—although he will listen to anyone complaining of a "bum rap."

For a closer, heart-to-heart approach, Clark is trying to recruit individual sponsors. Since he worked out the idea two months ago, he has already rounded up 70 foster fathers through civic organizations. Each is responsible for one boy, must visit the boy at least twice a month and take him on an outing once a month. It is up to the sponsor to bring his charge back into society, first, by teaching; then by working for his parole; and finally, by finding him a job in a proper environment.

The attorney general also has appealed to several exclusive boys' schools to take in boys from the reformatory on scholarships. The plan is to withhold their identity, but give them the same break as boys who came from more fortunate environments. The first youngster to enter such a school under this plan is now receiving private tutoring at the reformatory, and will be quietly admitted to the school this autumn.

NOTE: Largely because of improper training at reformatories, three-fourths of America's criminals started out as juvenile delinquents and stuck to crime.

HOT-WEATHER POLITICS
Virginia's Senator Byrd and Governor William Tuck walked out on the Democratic convention—but only to get a breath of fresh air. But, forgetting to bring along their coats which contained their convention badges and credentials, the delegation headed by the two prominent Virginians was left leaderless throughout the nominations for vice president while Byrd and Tuck argued with convention doormen. . . . Maryland's Senator Millard Tydings pulled wires against President Truman at the Philadelphia convention—after Truman's press-conference statement that Eleanor Roosevelt would be acceptable for the vice presidency. Tydings, visiting Les Biffle's office when he heard the news, hit the ceiling, said he would work for Eisenhower. . . . New Jersey's powerful boss Frank Hague tangled with a CIO Negro, Arthur Chapin of Newark, over the civil-rights issue—and lost. Hague favored the watered-down, compromise version at Philadelphia. But Chapin argued for a strong civil-rights platform, got the support of Archie Alexander of Bernardsville, Democratic candidate for the Senate, and defeated Hague in a New Jersey caucus.

In Hollywood—

'Samson And Delilah' Will Be DeMille Epic

HOLLYWOOD (U.P.)—Cecil B. DeMille, long a pacemaker in the movie industry, will upset the present economy trend with his next picture. It will be a costly epic.

In these days when most producers are cutting costs to the bone, DeMille plans to make "Samson and Delilah" in his usual lavish style. The current budget of the Biblical epic is $4,500,000 and it may shoot over that. He already has considerable expense in the film, having planned it since 1933. It will start in October, starring Victor Mature and Healy Larratt.

DeMille is probably the only producer who could spend so much money on one picture in these perilous times. Despite what his detractors may say about the artistic value of his films, they always make a lot of money. And after all, he took his next opus from the world's best seller.

Thoughts while pacing a maternity room—why do these things have to take so long? . . . Better think about the movies instead. . . . Looks as though MGM is set to regain its number one position now that Dore Schary is at the helm. He's what that listless lot needed. . . . No recent star has risen so fast as Burt Lancaster. I hope he does not burn himself out, as some fast risers are doing. . . .

Wonder why RKO is the only studio that doesn't make musicals. Guess it won't be making much of anything from now on. . . . Good to see Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers hooting together again. She's carrying on for alling Judy Garland the same way Fred subbed

Texas Today—

HOW YOU GET NEWS OF TEXAS PRIMARY RACE

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff
Here's the way you get your news of the Texas primary campaign, now heating up like a Philadelphia delegate.

First of all, please remember that each newspaper covers the news in its own way. Space for politics, business, sports, oil, crime, society, personals and all other kinds of news is decided on by the newspaper itself, its editors and its publisher.

Political news comes mainly from:

1. Candidates themselves.
2. The candidates' press agents (public relations departments).
3. The candidates' friends and supporters.
4. Reporters accompanying the candidates.

These reporters may be members of the newspaper's own staff or staff correspondents of a news association or agency. The reporters write what they see and hear and telephone or wire it to their editors.

This week a dozen experienced political reporters, representing newspapers and news organizations, are with the major candidates, winding up the campaign.

Here are the campaign setups for the major candidates in the U. S. Senate race:

Lyndon Johnson's state headquarters is an 18-room, two-story white house in Austin three blocks west of Congress Avenue. John Connally heads the Johnson campaign with Claude C. Wild and Charles Herring his assistants. Roy Wade is head press agent, Paul Bolton helps write speeches. Horace Busby accompanies the candidate to handle press matters. Busby telegraphs spot stories to news centers. Mrs. Johnson is at campaign headquarters most of the time. Mrs. R. M. Brooks heads the women's division. Total permanent personnel, seven men and a couple of part-time messenger boys, 10 women (seven of whom are stenographers, typists and file clerks). Advance publicity in mimeograph form goes out by mail. This publicity includes features, news stories, speech advances, releases to radio stations and pictures.

Coke Stevenson's headquarters is in two rooms at the Driskill Hotel in Austin. Office manager is Amelia Mallory Buchanan. Two other women stenographers work in the headquarters. Several typists are used, as occasion requires. Morris Roberts, editor of the Victoria Advocate, is Stevenson's campaign manager. The Dallas firm of Mooney and Collins handle the publicity with Booth Mooney looking after the publicity at Austin. Byron Utech, long a Texas newspaperman, travels with Stevenson, wiring stories to news centers and to the Austin headquarters. A boy works in the Austin headquarters, doing general errands. Total personnel: three women, two men and a boy.

George Pedy's headquarters is a four-room frame building, 20 blocks from downtown Houston. Mrs. Gertrude Pedy, wife of the candidate, is the campaign manager. The office staff varies from seven to 12. More than half are volunteers. The volunteers include Mrs. Frances Burson Berber, Pedy's secretary for 15 years, and Mrs. Reva Leverton of West, Tex. Most of the paid workers are office boys. Houston headquarters has a teletype connection with a Dallas headquarters at the Baker Hotel. The office at the Baker is directed by Roy C. Goffe. Pedy's publicity is handled by George Kirksey, head of a public relations firm, Larry Blieden, a professional radio man, travels with Pedy and introduces him on most broadcasts.

The Nation Today—
The Congress belongs to the white people, not to a party, and it is an abuse of the Constitutional power of the President to convene it in extraordinary session under these circumstances and for these purposes. Mr. Truman cannot even pretend that the public interest compelled him to call the special session. For if his main concern were inflation and housing, he would have told Congress when it adjourned that he would call it back as soon as the conventions were over. He would never have waited to announce that decision until he could use it to give a kick and a punch to his own personal campaign for election.

Were his interest in the measures he mentioned sincere in the sense that he wants them enacted, he would have told the Republican and Democratic leaders of Congress weeks ago that they must stay in Washington all summer to deal with them. He did not do that. He did not even stay in Washington himself during the crucial weeks at the end of the session, working as the President can and should to lead his own party and to bring about agreement with the other party. Mr. Truman's actions are not those of a man who wants Congress to legislate but of a man who wants to fight Congress because he has figured it out that he can do better against Martin, Taber, Allen, and Halleck than against Dewey and Warren.

The most serious aspect of the matter is the disclosure of how thin and fragile are the safeguards and restraints of his own conception of the public interest, how secondary and subordinate they are likely to be in the strategy and tactics of his campaign. The Truman platform on the subject of foreign affairs is alarming. For just as the calling of the special session is a reckless and frantic effort to exploit domestic issues for partisan ends, so in this section of the platform there are all the indications that the international crisis may also be exploited for partisan ends.

Look Here, Jeremiah

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, July 22 (U.P.)—Peace, peace, there shall be no peace. The prophet Jeremiah said that about 2,500 years ago.

It is almost three years now since Japan surrendered and World War II ended. The enemy then was Nazi Germany and Japan. Russia was still our ally. Communism still was pretty much dammed up inside Russia.

And where are we now, three years later? Quiet, are we? Are we comfortable now, in the rock-in-chair of peace?

Communism has spilled over the Russian frontier, leaked through the cracks of Eastern Europe, is lapping hungrily at the borders of Western Europe.

The story that follows is made up entirely of paragraphs from Associated Press stories picked off the front pages of Washington newspapers Wednesday:

The shy, tender, nervous Jeremiah would have understood them well. Here they are:

Washington—President Truman today issued a proclamation calling for the draft registration to start Aug. 30. On that date persons born in 1922 after Aug. 30 will register. . . . Berlin—British authorities sent a "very strong protest" today to the Soviet military administration of Berlin against the flight of a formation of Russian Yak fighters yesterday over Gatow Airport. . . . The Hague—Leaders of the five Western European nations have viewed the Berlin crisis as "extremely grave" and advised utmost caution in dealing with the Russians. . . .

Around The Rim—By The Herald Staff

Two Of Three Drivers Unsafe

A million Texans who have no legal right to climb behind the wheel of a vehicle are loose on the state's streets and highways.

That's a third of Texas motorists and includes only those who have no driver's license at all, according to Capt. J. C. Owsby of the department of public safety's driver's license division.

No one knows how many more operators of autos there are in Texas who are not qualified even though there is no such apparent legal exposure.

Owsby's survey shows that of Texas two million licensed drivers only one million have proved their ability by passing a driver's license test.

All that a qualified motorist has to do under present statutes to get his permit renewed is to swear at the local highway patrol office that he is capable of driving and pay 50 cents for a license renewal.

It's not surprising that more people are killed on our highways in a year's time than perished in a comparable time during World War II. I can remember only two times since last November that traffic fatalities haven't been the chief cause for Texas violent deaths in the AP report.

If the state's figures are correct, two out of three cars that you will pass the next time you drive will be incompetently handled.

Owsby and his department are to be congratulated on the work they are doing to make Texans realize the reasons behind a much of the carnage that results on our highways.

Faced with the facts, I believe Texans will push for periodic tests of all drivers and for stiffer penalties for not possessing a license.

With population in the Southwest growing and traffic increasing correspondingly we must revamp our driving laws that have lain dormant so long.—ADRIAN VAUGHAN

Today And Tomorrow—

Congress Call Extraordinary

By WALTER LIPPMAN
In the annals of the American government the scene enacted by Mr. Truman in the middle of the night at the close of the Democratic convention is unique in its disregard for the dignity of his office and the properties of the Constitution. It was not pretty to think of the President of the United States hanging around backstage for hours, waiting to accept a nomination which had not yet been tendered to him. Even though he knew that the convention had no alternative but to nominate him, a decent respect for the forms of democracy would have told him that until the delegates had voted, they were in principle free to make another choice, and that, like Governor Dewey, who waited in his hotel, he must not enter the hall.

But his action when he appeared before the delegates was an even more flagrant departure from the standards of conduct which the President of the United States is honor bound to observe. In the early hours of partisan meeting, Mr. Truman announced that he was convening the Congress for the purpose of promoting his own election.

The President, says the Constitution, "may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses."

A more extraordinarily extraordinary occasion than this one it would be difficult to imagine: a deliberate avowed effort to make the voters believe that they must choose, not between a Truman administration and a Dewey administration, but between Truman's legislative proposals and the legislative record of the Eightieth Congress; that because Harry S. Truman cannot lead this Congress, Mr. Dewey will not want to lead and will not be able to lead the next Congress.

The Congress belongs to the white people, not to a party, and it is an abuse of the Constitutional power of the President to convene it in extraordinary session under these circumstances and for these purposes. Mr. Truman cannot even pretend that the public interest compelled him to call the special session. For if his main concern were inflation and housing, he would have told Congress when it adjourned that he would call it back as soon as the conventions were over. He would never have waited to announce that decision until he could use it to give a kick and a punch to his own personal campaign for election.

Were his interest in the measures he mentioned sincere in the sense that he wants them enacted, he would have told the Republican and Democratic leaders of Congress weeks ago that they must stay in Washington all summer to deal with them. He did not do that. He did not even stay in Washington himself during the crucial weeks at the end of the session, working as the President can and should to lead his own party and to bring about agreement with the other party. Mr. Truman's actions are not those of a man who wants Congress to legislate but of a man who wants to fight Congress because he has figured it out that he can do better against Martin, Taber, Allen, and Halleck than against Dewey and Warren.

The most serious aspect of the matter is the disclosure of how thin and fragile are the safeguards and restraints of his own conception of the public interest, how secondary and subordinate they are likely to be in the strategy and tactics of his campaign. Chocolate Coconut Mounds
 1 square (1 ounce) unsweetened chocolate, melted
 2-3 cup condensed milk
 1 1/2 cup shredded coconut
 Melt chocolate in a saucepan over hot water; remove from range. Add condensed milk and blend together well. Add coconut and mix well. Drop from teaspoon onto greased baking sheet so that cookies are rounded. Bake in moderate (350 F.) oven for about 20 minutes, or until firm and well baked. Makes about 20 cookies.

The mounds became fashionable in England in Queen Anne's time.

It Is Time For Limes

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
 Associated Press Food Editor
 Once upon a time we had to depend on the Indies for our imports of cool-tasting, refreshing limes but now they're coming in abundance from Florida, at their greenest, largest, juiciest best.
 Limes are just as nutritious as the other members of the citrus family—oranges, grapefruit, lemons. And they're just as versatile. Here are some tried-and-true lime recipes.

FLORIDA LIMEADE
 1 1/2 cups lime juice
 1/2 cup sugar
 3 cups water
 1 lime, sliced thinly
 Crushed ice or ice cubes
 Put lime juice and sugar in a large pitcher; stir until sugar is completely dissolved. Add water and stir well. Fill 6 tall glasses one-half full of crushed ice or ice cubes, and put a lime slice in each. Arrange pitcher of lime juice mixture, along with glasses, on tray. To serve pour lime juice mixture over ice and lime slices in glasses. If desired, a plate of extra lime wedges, cherries and mint leaves may be served with the drink.

LIME CHIFFON PIE
 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
 1/4 cup cold water
 4 eggs, separated
 2 teaspoons grated lime rind
 1/2 cup lime juice
 1 cup sugar
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped
 One 9-inch baked pastry or cookie shell
 Soften gelatin in cold water. Combine slightly beaten egg yolks with lime rind and juice, one-half cup of the sugar and salt; cook in top of double boiler about 10 minutes or until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. If desired, tint pale green with food coloring. Allow mixture to cool until almost firm. Beat egg whites stiff, but not dry; add remaining one-half cup sugar slowly, beating after each addition. Beat gelatin, then fold into beaten egg whites and whipped cream. Turn into pastry or cookie shell and chill until firm.

LIME MERINGUETTES
 2 eggs, separated
 1 cup sugar
 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 4 tablespoons lime juice
 1 1/2 teaspoons lime rind
 1 cup heavy cream, whipped
 Beat egg whites until foamy. Add cream of tartar and salt; beat until stiff but not dry. Add three quarter cup of the sugar gradually, beating until very stiff. Cover baking sheet with heavy brown paper. Pipe meringue into 6 rounds about 3 inches in diameter. Make a 2-inch depression in the center. Bake in a very slow (275 F.) oven for 1 hour.
 For the filling, beat the egg yolks; add remaining one-quarter cup sugar and the lime juice. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly until thickened. Add grated lime rind. Remove from heat; chill. Fold into whipped cream. Fill meringue shells. Chill 6 to 12 hours in the refrigerator. Makes 6 servings.

Mackerel With Tomato Sauce

Mackerel with Tomato Sauce
 4 pounds of mackerel, dressed
 3 tablespoons butter, margarine or salad oil
 3 tablespoons finely chopped onion
 3 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
 1 6-ounce can tomato paste
 2 cups water
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 1/4 bay leaf
 Cut mackerel in serving-size pieces. Melt fat in medium sized skillet over moderate heat, add onion and cook until lightly browned, stirring constantly—about 5 minutes. Add parsley, tomato paste, water, salt, pepper and bay leaf; mix well. Add mackerel. (If skillet is not type that can be put in oven, transfer contents to baking dish.) Bake in a moderate (350 F.) oven, basting if necessary, for 30 to 35 minutes, or until fish is thoroughly cooked. Cover skillet or baking dish for whole or part of cooking time if desired. Serve immediately. Makes 4 to 6 servings.
 Note: Dressed fish means the entrails, tail and scales have been removed. The head may or may not be removed, as requested. Fins should be completely removed or trimmed along the outer edge. They should not be sheared off next to the body.

Apple Auf Lauf
 2 tablespoons butter of fortified margarine
 1/4 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
 4 medium-sized red apples (about 1 1/2-3 pounds)
 2 eggs, separated
 1/2 cup sugar
 4 1/2 teaspoons water
 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
 1/2 cup sifted cake flour
 1/2 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 Melt butter or margarine in layer cake pan, 8 inches wide and 2 inches deep; sprinkle with brown sugar. Wash and peel apples; quarter, core and slice very thinly into baking pan. Bake in moderate (350 F.) oven about 20 minutes, or until quite soft. Beat egg whites until stiff enough to hold a point when beater is withdrawn. Without washing beater, beat egg yolks slightly; add sugar 2 tablespoons at a time, and beat until very thick and light-colored. Beat in water and vanilla. Put cake flour, baking powder and salt into sifter and sift into egg yolk mixture gradually, stirring in each time. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour over apples and return to moderate (350 F.) oven for about 20 to 30 minutes or until cake topping is done and batter will not adhere to toothpick inserted in center. Allow to cool in pan or serve hot, cut in pie-shaped wedges, with sweetened whipped cream. 6 servings.

Valley Cotton Farmer Wants To Stand Trial In Mexico On Hiring Charges

RAYMONDVILLE, July 22. —H. Edwin Harris was back on his Lyford, Tex., farm today, free after 48 hours in a Mexican jail and under a $1,000 bond on charges of attempting to hire Mexican cotton pickers.

Harris said last night after he was released from the Reynosa, Mexico, jail:

"I fully expect to stand trial in Mexico on the charges against me."

He said he would report back each Saturday to Judge Heriberto de la Garza's court until his trial on Aug. 5.

Harris, 31-year-old Texas A & M. graduate and former State Department employe, was snatched by immigration officers at Reynosa Monday. He was accused of trying to hire Mexican cotton pickers for his farm.

The Texan was held in a community cell with 150 other prisoners until bond was set yesterday.

The 5,000 pesos bond is approximately $1,000. It was cut from 8,000 pesos by Judge De la Garza when U. S. Consul Henry Krause intervened. Governor C. Harris, Raymondville, a brother, provided the bail.

Harris said "I had not entered into any negotiations to hire cotton pickers and will say so at my trial. I only hope my case might result in some action that might solve the cotton picker shortage here in the Valley. We very badly need labor from Mexico and it has been my experience that Mexican laborers like to work in the Rio Grande Valley."

"We farmers would like to hire cotton pickers on a contract basis from the Mexican government. That is the way it should be handled. The present situation is bad both for Mexico and Texas."

Mexico refuses to allow contract laborers to come into Texas, charging there is discrimination in Texas against Mexican workers.

Labor To Boycott Ships Of Panama

OSLO, Norway, July 22. —Union leaders have announced that seafarers and dock workers the world over will soon observe an international labor boycott of ships sailing under the flags of Panama and Honduras.

Opening date for the boycott will be set by the seafarer's section of the International Transport Workers Federation. The federation is holding an international congress in Oslo.

Delegates said it is the consensus that many ship owners have placed their vessels under Panamanian or Honduran registry to dodge taxation or to avoid complying with other countries' standards of wages and working conditions.

One of the first large blast furnaces in America was completed in 1872. It was named "Lucy" for Andrew Carnegie's sister-in-law.

THE NEIGHBORS COULDN'T 'BEAR' IT — Bruno, a bear, gives her master, Steve Savage, a kiss, but Steve's granddaughter, Donna Simack (right) doesn't seem to be enjoying it. Savage, a tavern keeper, entertained patrons and children of the neighborhood with wrestling and acrobatics, but last week police informed Steve some neighbor had complained that Bruno was a nuisance. Summons ordered Steve into court. (AP Wirephoto).

Mountains Are Mixed Up, Checkup Reveals

SANTA FE, N. M., July 22. —A fellow who is on speaking terms with mountains has played heck with maps of New Mexico.

Because of his insistence, the Department of Interior's Geological Survey has admitted that what used to be considered the highest peak in the state isn't the highest peak at all. And what's more, a mountain formerly not even in the running now has become New Mexico's loftiest.

Harold D. Walter, assistant purchasing agent for the state and the man responsible for all the fuss, started fooling around with New Mexico mountains in 1933 as a photography hobby.

He climbed, rode horseback and slid all over the three Truchas Peaks north of Santa Fe, plus others, and took pictures from every angle. On one such trip, a borrowed altimeter indicated to him that the three peaks were not 13,306, 13,275 and 13,240 as they were supposed to be.

State officials started checking. A little embarrassed, Geological Survey officials admitted the only authority they had for the figures was a pencilled notation on a survey made in 1888-89.

Walter then took George Forney, engineer in charge of the U. S. G. S. office at Los Alamos, N. M., all over Northern New Mexico, climbing mountains. After checks and rechecks, Walter became confident Wheeler Peak, northeast of Taos, N. M., was the state's highest at 13,151 feet, roughly.

The Geological Survey agreed. The division engineer wrote: "I feel that it would be safe to make the statement that the elevation of South Truchas does not exceed 13,110 feet, leaving Wheeler Peak as the highest peak in the State of New Mexico."

Robert O. Davis, Rocky Mountain division engineer for the U. S. G. S., cautioned, however, that "it is somewhat risky to say that an elevation is exactly so and so until numerous determinations have been made." He added his office hopes to make soon a "complete topographic survey" of the area to iron the whole thing out properly.

Meanwhile, Walter—who spent more than 10 years close to the bosom of the three Truchas—has changed loves. Now he's photographing Wheeler Peak from every angle.

He's climbed the peak twice and shot his pictures from such intriguing places as Bull of the Woods Mountain, Old Mike Peak and one he can't find a name for in any of the books or on any map.

Next, Walter's statehouse buddies predict, he'll be forcing someone to give that poor nameless mountain a monicker.

Scientist Key Man In Oil Prospecting

PITTSBURGH, July 22. (AP)—If you're a hardy soul who loves adventure and life in the raw you might look into oil prospecting—it's one of the few remaining possibilities.

And even that has a strong flavor of science.

The world-wide rush to boost oil production has spurred efforts to find new wells. Some 400 crews now operate in the United States and others are busy in the woods, swamps and jungles of South America and Canada.

A scientist is top man in each crew but instead of being the usual smock-bedecked laboratory worker, he's a rugged individual in boots and slouch hat with a couple of days whisker growth bristling on his chin.

The scientist is key man because oil wells no longer are drilled at random locations. Instead, seismograph crews first "sound" for oil over wide areas, using dynamite charges to send out vibrations which are recorded on a seismograph.

Crews employed by oil companies or by independent contracting outfits spend long periods of time in the field with a "geophysical interpreter" as leader. He's the fellow who tells the others what the wavy lines on the seismograph mean.

The crews numbering about 15 men often take to such unconventional transportation as marsh buggies or wide-wheeled swamp buggies—especially in the marsh areas near the Gulf of Mexico. Standard equipment includes a portable drilling rig, seismograph, wire supplies, dynamite and shot hole casing. Their work often resembles that of sabotage demolition squads in World War II.

At the scene, surveyors determine best spots for drilling shot holes and stationing seismograph detectors. Drillers rig their portable equipment and sink several holes, 30 to 300 feet deep, over the area to be explored.

Next short casing is inserted and a charge of dynamite lowered into a hole. The charge is exploded setting off a miniature earthquake to send shock waves rippling through the ground. As many as 10 dynamite charges may be set off in one hole to secure sufficient data.

The gathered information is mapped and recorded so that the geologists can determine the prospects for finding oil. A favorable test means that part of the country is in for some bustling development—and that the United States will probably be a little farther ahead in its efforts to find more oil to power the wheels of industry and defense.

Texas Polio Envelops 75 New Victims

AUSTIN, July 22. (AP)—Polio's surge through Texas enveloped 75 new victims last week.

That total was announced by the State Health Department yesterday. The new cases occurred in 30 counties.

The incidence, 14 fewer cases than in the week previous, boosted the year's total cases to date to 811 in 83 counties. This compares with 452 cases in 81 counties for the comparable period in 1946, the last bad polio year.

Suggestions For Low Cost Menus During This Hot Summer Weather

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

If you've been watching your food bills soar and you know that it's usually your main dishes that cost the most—those main dishes that supply your family with a good portion of the proteins they need for body-building and tissue repair. How can you give your family an adequate supply of the necessary protein and yet keep food costs down?

When our national diet was looked at recently by government experts they found that last year more than two-fifths, 41 per cent. of our protein came from meat, poultry, fish, eggs, dry beans, peas, and nuts. One-fourth, 25 per cent. came from bread and other cereal foods. Milk, cheese and ice cream provided another fourth.

With these three food groups to call upon you can see that we need not have protein-deficient diets even when it is necessary to economize. Here is how a mother of a family with both eyes on the budget can make main dishes add up so that they save money and yet supply plenty of nutrition.

Take meat. The first thing to do, if your meat bill is too high, is to use thrifter cuts. Swiss steak, one of the most delicious of beef dishes, is made from either round steak or chuck. With 2 1/2 pounds and the following recipe you can make a main dish that will serve four hearty appetites at two meals. Beef brisket, beef short ribs, ox joints, liver and kidneys, fresh or smoked tongue, shoulder of lamb or veal, are some of the other thrifter cuts that offer the same protein, the same B vitamins and the same minerals as more expensive roasts steaks and chops.

When it comes to poultry, stewing chickens or fowls are usually a more economical buy than broilers, fryers or roasting chickens. As a rule, they cost less per pound and have a higher proportion of meat to bone than broilers or fryers. From a 5-pound dressed fowl—dressed weight means that the bird has been bled and plucked but not drawn—you get about 2 pounds of waste, including viscera, head, feet and bones, and about 3 pounds of chicken meat, including giblets. This makes enough meat for the main dish for several meals for a family of four if one of the chicken dishes is extended.

Fish are a boon to budget watchers because there are so many varieties and some of these varieties—whether fresh, frozen, canned, or salted—can always be found at a reasonable price.

Because eggs are an important source of protein it often is economical to use them for a main dish as well as to supplement other proteins in a meal.

Dry beans and peas are economical sources of protein—but their proteins are not complete by themselves. When a meal features split pea soup or a pot of baked beans it is a good practice to serve a cheese salad or a dessert containing cheese, milk or eggs to round out the food value. Or use the beans with a limited amount of meat, as in chili con carne.

Bread and cereal foods may be used in dozens of ways to make a protein dollar go further. They are economical extenders for meat, fish, eggs, cheese.

Method: Dissolve 3 beef bouillon cubes in 2 cups boiling water; add 1 1/2 cups fresh peas, 1 cup thinly sliced carrots, 1/2 cup celery crescents, 3 tablespoons butter or vitaminized margarine, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, and cook until tender. Blend 4 tablespoons flour with 1/2 cup cold water until entirely smooth and add to vegetables; cook until thickened and bubbly, stirring constantly. Makes 6 servings.

Zucchini Squash with Cheese Sauce
Ingredients Needed: Zucchini squash, butter or vitaminized margarine, flour, milk, salt, Worcestershire sauce, cayenne, grated Cheddar cheese.
Method: Wash 3 medium-sized zucchini squash but do not pare; cut in one-quarter inch slices. Cook in a very small amount of boiling salted water until tender. Melt 4 tablespoons of butter of vitaminized margarine, add 4 tablespoons of flour and blend well. Add 2 cups milk gradually and stir until thickened and bubbly. Season with 1 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce and a dash of cayenne. Add 2 cups grated Cheddar cheese (1/2 pound) and stir over very low heat until melted. Serve sauce over cooked zucchini.

Luncheon Meat Kabobs
Ingredients Needed: One 12-ounce can luncheon meat, tomatoes, onions, green peppers.
Method: Remove both ends from a 12-ounce can of luncheon meat; push out. Cut loaf in thirds lengthwise, then in half again lengthwise to make six fingerlength pieces. Cut each piece in three cubes. Cut in 6 small tomatoes in half crosswise, 3 medium-sized onions in 1/4 inch slices and 2 green peppers in 1/4 inch rings. Alternate cubes of meat on skewer with tomato half, onion slice and green pepper ring; repeat, then end with meat cube. Place kabobs on grill or broiler and cook moderately for about 20 minutes, turning once. Makes 6 servings.

Two-Meal Swiss Steak
Ingredients Needed: 2 1/2 pounds round or chuck steak, flour, dry mustard, salt, pepper, canned tomatoes or tomato juice, onions, fat.
Method: Mix 1/4 cup flour, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, and 1/4 teaspoon pepper together well. Using a meat pounder or the edge of a heavy saucer pound the mixture into the steak until all the flour is absorbed. Heat a little fat in a heavy kettle and brown the meat thoroughly and slowly in it on both sides. Add 1 cup canned tomatoes or tomato juice and put 1 1/2 cups onion strips on top of the meat. Cover and simmer gently for 2 1/2 to 3 hours, or until tender. This will provide four people with main-dish servings for two meals.

Economical Meat Muffins
Ingredients Needed: Flour, baking powder, salt, 1/2 pound raw chopped beef, salt and pepper, onion, bouillon cubes, 1 egg, butter or vitaminized margarine.
Method: Sift 1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder and 1/2 teaspoon salt together. Blend 1/2 pound chopped raw beef with a sprinkling of salt and

July Rains Prove Soil Building Value

Observations made following the rains of July 5th and 6th show the need for improving soil condition in the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District. A. T. Jordan, Work Unit Conservationist at Big Spring, stated this week.

As an example, Ed Carpenter, cooper with the district at Vincent, had a section of new ground which soaked up all of the four inch rain that fell on the field. Willis Winters Jr., who is farming the place, says the soil had so much organic matter in it from grass roots and grass that all the water went in the ground and none stood in the terraces. Although the rains fell just right to soak into the ground on soil in good condition, many fields which were low in organic matter lost soil and water as shown by flood water that went down the draws and creeks and filled bar ditches with good soil washed off the fields, Jordan pointed out.

Pasture land which had a poor cover of grass lost lots of water and soil, while pastures with a good cover soaked up the rain. Even where water ran off a pasture with a good cover of grass, the water was clear and little soil was lost.

Soil which is in good condition not only soaks up more rain, Jordan said, but it holds the moisture longer. M. A. Cates, district cooper at Vincent, observed that part of his field with lots of organic matter built up on the land from Johnson grass residues stayed wet longer than the rest of his land. H. G. Talbot stated that soil in good condition was still too wet to plow when he was planting his other land.

Many farmers and ranchers recognize the need for more cover and organic matter in the soil before maximum use can be made of rains when they do come.

Revision of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District plan of work to include more adequate treatment of irrigation planning was started this week. The supervisors of the district have requested assistance from the Soil Conservation Service in gathering technical information relative to land use and water application.

The growth of irrigation in the Tarzan, Courtney, and Midland areas has been rapid during recent months, and promises to continue with the discovery of irrigation water in sizable areas. In the final analysis, the revised plan of work for the district will be compiled by the board of land-owner supervisors after carefully studying the problems that will effect wise use of both water and soil.

Willis Winters Jr., district cooper in the Vincent Soil Conservation group, enlarged a stock tank last week, adding 1000 cubic yards to the old dam. He built the tank larger to hold more water and provide a new spillway for the tank.

Terraces on the farm of O. H. McAllister at Coshoma held so much water that his field was too wet to plow a week after the July rains, McAllister reports. He terraced his farm as a part of his coordinated soil conservation program in cooperation with the district.

E. A. Merrick, district cooper in the Ackerley Soil Conservation group, reports his fields held every drop of rain that fell on it this year. Merrick built up the terraces

Mexico Will Cut Value Of Peso

MEXICO CITY, July 22. (AP)—Mexico decided today to cheapen the peso. She has lost a long fight to keep it at 4.85 to the U.S. dollar where it has been pegged since 1940.

The new exchange rate will be set after consultation with the international monetary fund. The Bank of Mexico, effective this morning, stopped all buying and selling of foreign currencies until the new rate is set.

Announcing this action, Secretary of the Treasury Ramon Beteta called it a drastic step forced by "the critical economic situation through which the world is passing."

Mexico is an exporter and hopes to increase her sales abroad. A cheapened peso will help her to compete in the world market. More pesos for the dollar also may attract more U.S. tourists—if the government can keep prices at their present levels. Postwar tourists have complained that prices here are too high. Many prospective travelers have stayed away.

So far Mexico has succeeded only in slowing down, but not stopping, the rise in the cost of living.

Bengals Boast One .400 Hitter

Only Tom Fierro has managed to keep his batting average above .400 among members of the Big Spring Latin-American baseball Tigers through the first 15 games of the season.

Fierro has collected 20 hits in 49 trips to the plate for a .408 average, according to records released Wednesday by the team's statistician, Charley Fierro.

Eight members of the team are hitting over .300. Elias Gamboa, third sacker, is setting the pace in runs scored with 22 while Tony Arista has the most hits, 24.

Gus Fierro and John Aguilar have each won three pitching victories.

The Bengals have lost but twice in 15 games to date.

Lamesan Beaten In Senior Meet

AMARILLO, July 22. (AP)—Tournament medalist Roy Allen of Oklahoma City and a three-time champion, Re Gober of Austin, paced the Tri-State Senior golf tournament into semi-final play today.

Allen is matched against B. F. Holmes of Shamrock and Gober is to play Frank Day of Plainview.

Yesterday Allen ousted S. W. Crenshaw, P. Smith, Ark. 3 and J. Holmes beat Sid Barton, Oklahoma City, 1 up; Gober downed Bill White, Lamesa, 1 up in 19 holes, and Day defeated Art Smith, Albuquerque, 2 up.

F. Perez Gets 14th Victory

DEL RIO, July 22.—The Big Spring Broncs won their tenth game in 11 starts from the Del Rio Cowboys by clipping the home club, 14-3, behind the steady twirling of Frank Perez here Wednesday night.

The triumph was Perez's 14th of the season and enabled the Hooses to retain their 3-1-3 game edge over the second place Midland Indians.

Fourteen base hits, including triples by Jake McClain and Justo Asplund and a double by Bobby Fernandez, sent two Del Rio pitchers to the showers.

The Hooses picked up eight big runs in the second canto, the Waddies' starting hurler, Bill Blake, retiring before he could register a putout.

Orlando Echeverria collected three singles in the Big Spring attack. Only Ace Mendez went hitless in the Bronc offense.

Jimmy Perez, with a won-lost record of 9-1, may go to the hill for the Cayuses tonight. The Big Springers play in Del Rio through Friday, then depart for San Angelo and a two-game set there.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

THESE ARE THE TIMES THAT TRY MEN'S SOULS. Take Howard L. Green's case. Green, as most everyone knows, is the president of the Longhorn baseball league and, as far as we know, is turning in a capable job. That's a secondary occupation with the Abilene man, though. Mainly, he is concerned with the job of running the business end of the Abilene Blue Sox of the WT-NM league.

Sometimes matters crop up within a league where one faction takes sides against another. Then, it's Hades if you do rule one way and a like position if you don't.

Such an incident came up in a Midland-Odessa game a while back when pesky Harold Webb broke his leash, charged an umpire and made himself as obnoxious as he possibly could to the opposition.

Odessa batters began to demand that Webb be set down with a suspension for such uncomplimentary conduct. When Green, taking cognizance of the fact that Webb was the heart and soul of the Midland baseball machine and the situation there would deteriorate without his presence, Green drew up his reins and fined Howard Webb $100 and put him on probation for the remainder of the season. (The truth of the matter is, all players in Organized baseball are on probation. If they do anything unbecoming to baseball, they can be set down without first being placed on the 'good behavior' list).

BOTH CAMPS AGITATE FOR NEW PRESIDENT. The Odessa backers immediately began to berate Green for his inability to cope with such a situation and accused him of trying to appease the Midland throng. They went so far as to suggest the league might function better with a new president in 1949.

On that point, the Odessa factions were in common agreement with a certain group in Midland, who had insisted that they had long been discriminated against by the circuit's chief executive.

So what's a man in Green's position to do? For certain, he can't please everybody.

GREEN'S WORRIES DON'T STOP THERE. Howard's worries don't stop there, not by any means. Baseball is a worrisome game, especially for those who run the show behind the scenes. Even if you're in first place, you're working about what you'd do in event your club would hit a slump. You wonder why more people aren't showing up for your games. You concern yourself about transportation for the team, the weather and a thousand other little things.

Green's Abilene club has been wallowing in the second division of the WT-NM league all year and nothing he can do seems to help the Sox's fortunes. The crowds are naturally off. The future remains grey. Green has already announced plans to sell his end of the business next winter but it is doubtful that he'll step out of the game entirely. Baseball is a deadly fever that doesn't let go easily.

As for his problems, they're not peculiar to Green alone. They happen to most everyone in his capacity. A man has to have a sense of humor or he doesn't last long in the trade.

WEBB READY FOR STRETCH PITCH FOLLOWING TRADE. Webb, incidentally, isn't letting grass grow under his feet. He made a trip to East Texas last week and swung a trade for Ernie (Lefty) Nelson, who was poison to the local club in 1947.

Next to Jose Cindan of Big Spring, Nelson won more games than any other pitcher in the Longhorn league last year and boasted the lowest earned run average. He is what Webb has been looking for in the way of another starting pitcher.

Other clubs, and that includes Big Spring, are going to have to strengthen if they hope to keep pace with the Indians from here on out.

Nelson had won less than half his starts with Greenville when purchased by Webb. But don't let that fool you. He's a capable, crafty slabster who'll be tough to beat every time he goes out to the rubber.

Shipment Of War Supplies Explained

SALINA, Kas., July 22. (AP)—The Air Force has clarified the status of war material loaded aboard freight cars at Camp Phillips for movement to the East Coast.

The supplies will be shipped to England for use by B-29 bombers now on training missions there.

Col. Leslie G. Muzler, commander of the 301st Very Heavy Bombardment Squadron at the nearby Smoky Hill Air Force Base, said in a statement yesterday the material had been in storage at his base.

A report Tuesday that the large amount of equipment was being loaded aboard 240 flat cars and 80 box cars had aroused speculation on why it was being transported. Camp Phillips, used during the war as a training post, is now deactivated.

Surging Red Sox Slip Into Tie With NY For Third Place In AL

By The Associated Press. Joe McCarthy finally has caught the New York Yankees, the club his Boston Red Sox consider "the team to beat" for the American League flag.

By winning a day-night doubleheader from lowly Chicago while New York and Cleveland were splitting a pair, the Red Sox last night moved into a third-place tie with the world champs.

While the Yanks and Indians wrestle on the Yankee Stadium turf for two more days, Boston has a golden chance to gain more ground in its continued series with the White Sox. Only 3½ games back today, Boston can be in a position to challenge for the lead Saturday when Lou Boudreau's Indians move into Fenway Park.

McCarthy must have been encouraged, too, by the relief win of Tex Hughson, the tall Texan who has been lost to the team most of the season.

Hughson came in to pitch the ninth inning of last night's game with Chicago, picking up the verdict when the Red Sox rallied for three runs in the last of the ninth to take a 10-9 edge. They had won the afternoon half by a 3-1 score for Joe Dobson's 12th success.

Sam Mele kept the Sox in the night game with a two-run homer in the third after Bobby Doerr doubled with the bases loaded. Mele doubled in the ninth inning and scored the winning run on a fly ball.

Perkowski Wins 17th Decision For Tulsa, 14-6

Harry Perkowski is practically a cinch to become the first Texas League pitcher to win 20 games this season.

The Tulsa ace won his 17th game against four defeats by spacing nine Shreveport hits last night in the Oilers' 14-6 victory.

Another who might reach 20 victories this year is Bob Austin, who pitched the Fort Worth Cats to a 3-2, 10-inning decision over San Antonio. It was his 14th win of the year.

In the other games, Beaumont swept its series with Oklahoma City on a 4-3 decision and Houston rallied for a 7-2 victory over Dallas.

Tulsa scored 12 runs in the last four innings to run away with the game, though Shreveport managed to push over five tallies over the same distance.

Al Mazur of Shreveport tied a Texas League record when he handled 15 chances at second base. He was credited with seven putouts and eight assists.

Solly Hemus connected for a double with the bases loaded in the eighth inning to rout Dallas. Hemus drove in five of the Buffs' runs.

All three of Fort Worth's runs were unearned, with the winning tally coming in the tenth. George Schmees' double scored Wally Fila in this frame.

Al Mazur of Shreveport hit a two-run double after one out in the ninth frame to give Beaumont the nod over the Indians. Oklahoma City had gone ahead the top half of the inning with a single tally.

The teams shift sites tonight, Fort Worth going to Houston; Dallas to San Antonio; Oklahoma City to Shreveport and Tulsa to Beaumont.

CESAR MORETTI (above), formerly of Italy but now of New York, is training in Europe for what he hopes will be a rebirth of the six-day bicycle sport in Madison Square Garden this fall. He's 33 years of age.

Such an incident came up in a Midland-Odessa game a while back when pesky Harold Webb broke his leash, charged an umpire and made himself as obnoxious as he possibly could to the opposition.

Odessa batters began to demand that Webb be set down with a suspension for such uncomplimentary conduct. (The truth of the matter is, all players in Organized baseball are on probation. If they do anything unbecoming to baseball, they can be set down without first being placed on the 'good behavior' list).

BOTH CAMPS AGITATE FOR NEW PRESIDENT. The Odessa backers immediately began to berate Green for his inability to cope with such a situation and accused him of trying to appease the Midland throng. They went so far as to suggest the league might function better with a new president in 1949.

On that point, the Odessa factions were in common agreement with a certain group in Midland, who had insisted that they had long been discriminated against by the circuit's chief executive.

So what's a man in Green's position to do? For certain, he can't please everybody.

School Victim Of 8-5 Upset

McKee's Construction remained in the scrap for first place in the Muni softball league title by trouncing the T & P Shops, 11-6, at the city park Tuesday night.

The Contractors made the most of eight hits, five bases on balls and an outbreak of errors to put the Railroaders to flight.

Neal hit a round tripper for McKee's, the blow coming with two aboard in the fifth inning.

In the other game, T & P Motor Transport won its first game of the season by upsetting Big Spring Vocational school, 6-5.

C. Walker and Pitts clouted circuit smashes for the winners.

First game: T & P Shops 010 500 0-6 4 McKee's 500 132 x-11 8 D. Stewart and Moore; Robertson and Calvin.

Second game: BS Voc School 100 030 1-5 5 TP Mot Trans 023 130 x-8 9 Bradley and N. Newton; Crittendon and Walker.

OLYMPIC HOPES GO DOWN, UP

22.—Wally Ris' left knee was dislocated Sunday as the University of Iowa's Olympic swimmer was riding in a bus to a practice pool.

Four days of treatment failed to help.

Today, as Ris came to attention during flag raising ceremonies at this Olympic village, the knee popped back into place.

Goliad Texans Win

The Goliad Texans rolled over the Junior Broncs, 10-2, in a V softball league game played at the city park Monday afternoon. The game went eight innings.

Tobacco was so precious to the American Indians they frequently burned it as part of their devotions to the Great Spirit.

AT STEER PARK

LeRoy Modkins' Black Sluggers Play Tonight

LeRoy Modkins and his Big Spring Colored Sluggers ankle onto the turf of Steer park this evening to try and even an old score with the Midland Skyscrapers. Game time is 8:15 o'clock.

Modkins' baseball team has been very successful to date, having measured the opposition in eight of ten outings. However, in its only start against Midland, the Sluggers came out second best.

The Big Spring skipper will have all his heavy artillery ready to fire away at the opposition and Steer park fences may talk a battering.

Win, lose or draw, Modkins promises action and lots of it. Modkins says there is as much rivalry between the Sluggers and the Skyscrapers as there is between Pat Stacey's Broncs and Harold Webb's Indians.

A special section will be reserved at the park for the white patrons, Modkins says.

JESS SLAUGHTER SHERIFF

Will Appreciate Your Vote And Influence FOR SHERIFF

Jess Slaughter has lived most of his life in Howard county. He has had years of experience as a peace officer. He knows the duties of the office, he knows the problems of law enforcement in this county. We has the ability and the initiative to see that they are enforced.

PICK A MAN YOU KNOW CAN GET THE JOB DONE FAIRLY WITHOUT FEAR OR FAVOR!

On Saturday Please Vote For JESS SLAUGHTER (Pd. Pol. Adv.)

MEN! FEEL YOUNG AGAIN! Have the passing years left you tired and uninterested in the joys of life? Do you feel old at 40, 50 or more? Don't let the feeling of advancing years make you dissatisfied. You may once more enjoy the zest of living as you did in former years. Reclaim the pleasure of youth. Go to your druggist and ask for a bottle of Coltron tablets. Take as long as you feel you need them. You will be amazed at the difference it will make in your entire outlook on life. Women too find Coltron beneficial. Get Coltron from your druggist at the new reduced price.

Brown Named To FHA Group

Appointment of Bence O. Brown, Vincent, to a three-year term on the Farmers Home Administration county committee for Howard County was announced today by L. J. Cappelman, State Director. Brown succeeds Mr. Edmond J. Carpenter, Vincent, whose term expired June 30. Also on the committee are Earn S. Conway, Ackerly, and Johnnie Johansen of Big Spring. A committee of three serves in each agricultural county throughout the Nation in which the agency makes farm ownership and operating loans. Appointments are scheduled so that a committee always has two experienced members. The Howard County Committee has an important place in making supervised credit available to local farmers, according to Gus N. Long, county supervisor. Before any money can be borrowed through the agency, an applicant must have the approval of the county committee. In the case of farm ownership loans, the farm to be purchased, enlarged, or improved must also be approved by the committee. "The members know agricultural conditions in the county, are often familiar with the farm the applicant plans to operate," Mr. Long explained. In addition to approving loans, the committee cooperates with the county supervisor in overall administration of the program in the county. Periodically it reviews the progress of borrowers to determine whether they have reached a financial position that would enable them to refinance their loans through private lenders. A farmer who is eligible for credit from regular lending sources is not eligible for a loan from the Farmers Home Administration.

IN MIDST OF FINANCIAL WOE

School Board Is Given $1000 By Lions For Band Uniforms

In the midst of financial troubles, the school board had a welcome ray of sunshine Wednesday evening. Dan Conley, member of the board and secretary of the Lions club, made formal presentation of $1,000 to Marvin Miller, president of the board, while other members of the board, administrators and J. W. King, Jr., director of instrumental music, looked on. The funds were the major portion of profits from the Lions club minstrel in May and will go toward liquidating a $1,200 account for new uniforms for the high school band. The Lions club had guaranteed $1,200 to the school for the uniforms, and Conley said that the club intended to make good with another $200 gift as soon as possible. Slightly more than $1,100 was cleared on the minstrel, but the club retained $100 at this time for its sight conservation work. At the meeting, the board approved an adjustment in the high school curriculum to require two years of math for graduation. Heretofore, a specification of two years of algebra or one year of algebra and plane geometry was made, but now general math may be used as one of the two units. Walter L. Reed, principal, told the board that guidance teachers were being urged to counsel with students who intend to go to college so that their math courses could be arranged accordingly, particularly young men contemplating engineering. In answer to a question from the board as to whether the high school had lost an affiliation last year, Reed replied that actually the high school had gained three and a half units. "In addition to retaining all our affiliated credits," he said, "we had affiliation granted on a unit and a half for vocational agriculture, one for mechanical drawing and one for a capella choir." The board accepted the resignations of Mrs. Opal Pitts and Georgia Mae Evans from the faculty and elected Pauline Morris, Odessa, and Mrs. Dora Saenz Mendosa Edenburg, subject to assignment. Both are former faculty members here. Gladys Hammond Jackson, formerly of Odessa, was named one of the Lakeview (colored) teachers. Dean Bennett, elementary supervisor, said that the elementary shortage of teachers now numbered 18. In high school, according to Reed, faculty strength is six below normal. W. C. Blankenship, superintendent, said that work would begin soon, under direction of Miller, for preparation of the proposed 1948-49 school budget. The board talked about the possibility of a business manager and may give more serious consideration to it at the next session.

Band School Registration Begins Monday

Registration begins Monday for the second annual summer band school, J. W. King, director, announced Thursday. All students who have had previous experience, either in the high school or the grade school bands, will be registered from 8:30 a. m. to 10 a. m., said King, and from the latter hour until 12 noon all new students will register. Classes begin Tuesday morning. Beginners meet from 7:35 to 8:15 a. m., Monday through Friday, he said, and the experienced band members from 8:30 a. m. to 12 noon on the same days. Grant Sharran, Duman, a graduate of Texas Tech and who holds an additional music degree from the University of Arizona, will assist in conduct of the school, said King. He will teach brass classes and deal with arrangements. King will work with the woodwinds, percussion and will direct the bands. If additional talent is available, another instructor may be brought in to conduct special classes before the school ends on Aug. 27, said King.

Construction Is Authorized For T&P Houses

First construction work for the new housing corporation formed here this week has been authorized, spokesmen for the organization announced this morning. The Big Spring Lumber Co. has been instructed to proceed with work on five houses to be located east of Highland Park. Louis Thompson, manager of the lumber company, said work probably would begin Monday on the five living units. Thompson said his company already had FHA commitments for several houses at that location, and the work is expected to proceed without delay. The commitments are on plans for five-room dwellings, ranging in size from 790 square feet to 950 square feet. Lots are on the north side of Martha street and on the south side of Wood street. Thompson said he would give personal supervision to the units contracted by his firm. He constructed 54 residences here during a three-year period before he became associated with the lumber company a few months ago. Since that time the lumber company has constructed several others. The local corporation plans to let contracts for a total of approximately 30 living units within the near future. They are to be rented or sold to employees of the T&P Railroad who are to be transferred to Big Spring when division headquarters are returned here.

G. B. Walters Funeral Set

Funeral for G. B. Walters, a former minister of the Main Street Church of God, will be held at 2 p. m. Friday in the Eberly chapel. Rev. John E. Kolar, pastor of the church, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. George Herrington, Bradenton, Fla., the Rev. C. H. Johnson, Littlefield, and the Rev. T. N. Mimix, Louise, Texas. Burial will be in the family lot of the city cemetery beside the grave of a brother, Louis Dixon Walters, who died March 17, 1938. Mr. Walters died Monday evening from the effects of a stroke. In recent years he had been watching after his farm and urban interests. His wife is his only immediate survivor. Pallbearers will be Andrew Dixon and Carol Herrington, Coahoma, J. W. Jackson, S. W. Windham, and H. T. Walton, Big Spring, Terry Adcock, Laurel, Miss., William Herrington, Odessa, and Harry Pascal, Ballinger.

Police Holding Burglary Suspect

City police were holding a suspect this morning for questioning in connection with a burglary at the Burton-Lingo Lumber Co. last night. Officers said the lumber company's office was entered through a side door and a small amount of cash in small coins was listed as missing.

Life Saving Class To Be Started Here

A life saving class for junior and senior swimmers will be launched Monday at the City park pool under joint sponsorship of the Red Cross and the YMCA, it was announced this morning. First session has been set for 6 p. m. Monday. Although the staff of instructors has not been named, the course will be supervised by a qualified Red Cross senior instructor. Red Cross certificates will be issued to all students who complete the course successfully.

NOTICE

In reply to numerous inquiries, I wish to make the following statement: I am not dissatisfied with my present job as juvenile officer of this county, but due to the low salary, which is regulated by statutes, and the many expenses necessary to do the job, I definitely do not intend to ask re-appointment at the completion of this year.

STARTS TONITE JAP'S NEUROSIS IS CONVENIENT

TOKYO, July 22. (AP)—If, say Japanese psychiatrists, Rikizo Kirano is forced to stand trial he might get terribly depressed.

Hirano, onetime cabinet member, is accused of falsifying his political past to the allied purge board.

The allied court took a chance on his neurosis—it subpoenaed him for trial, yesterday. But Hirano ignored the subpoena. Under Japanese law he cannot be arrested until he has ignored two. Another awaits him tomorrow.

Prof. Sukeyuchi Uchimura of Tokyo University told the court Hirano is able to give correct answers to questions unless they take a trend he does not like.

FAMILY OF THREE KILLED

Police Are Hunting Brutal Kidnappers

MANSFIELD, O., July 22. (AP)—Police studied autopsy reports and fingerprint gleanings today in a search for clues to the brutal kidnap-slayings of a Mansfield reformatory executive, his wife and 21-year-old daughter.

Bodies of the three, John E. Niebel, 50, superintendent of the reformatory farm for 20 years; his wife, 52, and their daughter, Phyllis, were found yesterday in a cornfield, eight hours after they were kidnaped.

Oil Workers Strike Looms

KINGSVILLE, July 22. (AP)—A strike of about 700 CIO Oil Workers International Union workers at the huge celanese corporation plant here loomed for midnight tomorrow.

Luther B. Owens, president of Local 553, said he expected to receive official permission for the strike from National President O. A. Knight today.

Wage negotiations between the company and union have been in progress since mid-June.

Owens said the union is asking an overall increase of 30 cents per hour along with other considerations.

The company has offered a 13 cent per hour wage boost.

Owens said some 400 officer workers at the plant would not be affected by the strike.

Port Bolivar Will Get Electricity

PORT BOLIVAR, Tex., July 22. (AP)—The lights of Port Bolivar are scheduled to wink in the Gulf Coast gloom tonight.

Gulf States Utilities Company officials today were to start electric service for this little community of 200 persons.

Established some 80 years ago, Port Bolivar has never had electric service. It has no telephone service now.

Man Found Guilty Of Murder Charge

TEMPLE, Tex., July 22. (AP)—Zara Modgling faced a 99-year prison sentence after a jury yesterday found him guilty of murder with malice.

Modgling was charged in the slaying of Ray Roberts, who was shot at a tavern near Temple June 19.

Honeymoon Deferred For Prison Inmate

LOS ANGELES, July 22. (AP)—It was honeymoon deferred today for Paul Richard Judd, 21, and his bride, Mary Lee Davis, 20.

They were married yesterday in Superior Judge Walter S. Gates' chambers.

The bride was nattily attired in a shakskin ensemble. The groom wore handcuffs. He's going to San Quentin Prison to serve five years to life for burglary.

"I'll wait for him," said the new Mrs. Judd. She plans to continue working as a waitress while waiting.

Technicolor Founder Is Sued For Divorce

LOS ANGELES, July 22. (AP)—Cruelty, desertion and infidelity are charged by his wife in a divorce suit filed against Herbert T. Kalmus, 67, millionaire founder of Technicolor Company.

Mrs. Natalie M. Kalmus, 66, in her suit filed yesterday, demanded $3,000 monthly alimony, $250,000 attorneys' fees and $30,000 for court costs.

Mrs. Kalmus stated they were married in Massachusetts in 1902 and separated four years ago.

Steel Price Hikes Following Pattern

PITTSBURGH, July 22. (AP)—The nation's steel industry is following the pattern of the U. S. Steel Corp.—boosting wages and the prices of its products.

The developments are coming just as fast as the industry's statisticians can figure what prices they feel the steelmakers must get for their products.

Just how soon the public will learn how much more it will have to pay for the hundreds of items produced from steel is problematical. One thing is certain: Price advances will follow—

Dulles May Be Delegate To U. N. Meet

LAKE SUCCESS, July 22. (AP)—John Foster Dulles, foreign affairs advisor to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, will be a delegate to the United Nations assembly in Paris, informed sources said today.

Disclosure that Dulles had decided to accept an invitation from President Truman to be a member of the United States delegation made it certain the bi-partisan foreign policy would be continued in the UN.

If Gov. Dewey is elected President in November, Dulles is widely regarded as his choice for Secretary of State. Dulles conferred with Dewey about going to Paris and the Republican presidential candidate gave his approval, it was said.

Mr. Truman is expected to appoint the U. S. delegation during the special session of Congress. Secretary of State Marshall is slated to head the delegation.

It was reported here that other top delegates would be Warren R. Austin, chief U. S. delegate to the UN and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. Mrs. Roosevelt was a delegate to the first UN assembly in London and to the two regular assembly meetings held in New York. Each UN nation may have five delegates and five alternates.

Dulles was attacked last September by Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign minister, as a warmonger. There is a possibility that the two will meet again in Paris since Vishinsky is the No. 1 assistant to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and is expected to accompany Molotov to head the delegation to the assembly.

HUNTING SIGN IS UNDERSTOOD

TOKYO, July 22. (AP)—"Hunting prohibited" signs bristled today from the banks of the imperial palace.

Police explained that the "hunting prohibited" signs actually meant: "No fishing allowed."

But, they added, "no fishing allowed" signs lacked force—but "hunting prohibited" signs meant just what they said to Japanese carp fishermen, who have been bagging a few in the once sacred stream.

Socialists Split With Italian Reds

ROME, July 22. (AP)—Socialist Secretary - General Alberto Iacometti says that as far as his party is concerned Italy's Popular Front alliance of Communists and Socialists "no longer exists."

Iacometti's statement yesterday left no doubt that the Socialists, bitter over their defeat at the polls in the April election and still more unhappy over Communist-led strikes and riots last week, have decided that the moment has arrived for a final break.

A Socialist national congress in Genoa last month decided to dissolve the front but continue cooperation with the Communists.

The front was formed for the April election which was won by Premier Alcide de Gasperi's Christian Democrats. Apparently it will carry on in name only with Communist domination of a few small left-wing parties.

AMAZING RESULTS WITH MERTOXTONIC

Mrs. Ben Grossman of Houston writes us as follows:

"For a long time I have had occasional bilious spells. My head would hurt and I would vomit my food. My last spell was very severe and I just thought I would die. My appetite was poor and I couldn't sleep at night. I was so troubled with my limbs stiffening just before I would have a spell of gas and bloating. I would be dizzy and I would have a severe headache. My food soured and it just seemed as if everything was wrong with me. To anyone suffering like I was, I recommend Mertoxtonic highly."

This splendid medicine, containing 25 ingredients, works fast to eliminate poisonous matter from your system. Helps to build rich, red blood. Believes constipation within a few hours and helps to create a more rhythmic bowel action. Get Mertoxtonic today from any Texas drugist at the new REDUCED price.

ELECT B. E. (Bernie) FREEMAN Tax Assessor-Collector

This business of making a living has made it impossible to see personally all the voters of Howard county.

I want to assure everyone of you that it has not been my intention to slight anyone. I earnestly solicit your vote Saturday.

Shortly afterwards Republic Steel at Cleveland said it was increasing its prices an average of approximately $9 a ton.

In 1947, natural gas was sold to more than 10,000,000 customers by gas utility customers.

Consider, if you will, that I served five years as chief deputy in the office I now seek. In addition I have had 15 years of tax accounting experience — important because the duties of the assessor-collector are a lot more varied than merely collecting taxes.

My experience will enable me to serve you effectively from the very first day of the term you give me. I sincerely ask your consideration on the basis of my qualifications. I'll express appreciation in good service. (Pd. Pol. Adv.)
