Coal Work Stoppage On Palestine Consultation

Pennsylvania Area Spearhead Of Walk-Out

Steel Companies Expect A Drop In Pit Output

PITTSBURGH, March 15. (AP)-A soft coal work stoppage supporting John L. Lewis' demand for miner pensions got under way today. Spearhead of the move was western Pennsylvania, where early surveys indicated nearly one-half of 56,000 miners walked out.

The U. S. Steel Corp. reported nine of its 14 western Pennsylvania pits were closed, with 7,000 miners idle. The corporation expected its coal output would drop today to about 20,000 tons, or one-third of

The Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. reported all its Pennsylvania and West Virginia mines were closed, and 4,600 miners idle.

Commercial mines, too, whose roduction is sold on the open markets, began to shut. The giant Pittsburgh Coal company reported at least nine of its mines closed. Owners of some independent mines expected the movement to spread. Walkouts started in other leading coal states-West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky and Illinois. An early check showed at least 5,500 of Illinois' estimated 23,000 United Mine Workers idle. Their rival Progressive Mine Workers, estimated at 10,000, were reported Miners said the Walkouts backed up demand of Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, for $100 monthly pensions for miners.

VASSALBORO, Me., March 15. P An airplane carrying Republican presidential aspirant Robert A. Taft and Senator Owen Brewster (R-Me) plunged today into the Kennebec river but Brewster and neither he, Taft nor the pilot was hurt.

Brewster said John T. Clark, pilot of the Maine Aeronautics commission plane, "did a great job" setting the craft down when it developed engine trouble enroute from Augusta to Bangor. The plane was slightly damaged.

Taft, Brewster and Clark made their way with some difficulty, Brewster said, to the snowy river bank and telephoned to the statehouse where Gov. Horace A. Hildreth dispatched his official car to help Taft keep Bangor speaking appointments.

immediate operation. The Administration wants particularly to have the program going by the time the Italian election campaign gets well underway. The communists are determined to make a show of strength in the voting there April 18.

There is general agreement in the House that the foreign aid bill can be passed with time to spare before the deadline in Italy. Yet there are possibilities for delay. Both in the Foreign Affairs committee and in the House itself attempts probably will be made to cut the amount of aid and to set up a different system than the Senate proposes for managing it. These attempts may not succeed but they can bring on some hot fights. Moreover, the committee and house leaders are pretty well committed to adding military aid for Greece and Turkey and both military and economic help for China to the recovery bill. But most democrats and some republicans on the committee are against putting all the programs into one bundle. In addition to the European readditional military assistance for pean aid bill, however, on the grounds it would change the entire character of the program.

Now, it seems to us, something of the same sort ought to be applied to sidewalk building. Next to paving, sidewalks constitute about our most pressing civic need from the point of appearance.

Not many pepole walk these days, not alone for the reason that automobiles and buses are handy, but also because there is not much place for them to walk. Existing sidewalks are spotted. The pattern is irregular and some of the old walk, put down at the time Moses parted the Red Sea, is breaking apart or heaving under the invisible but irresistible power of elm roots. Theer can be little doubt that our walk situation is in need of attention. ..

With modern equipment available, sidewalks ought to be put down at reasoanble figures. About all a contractor would need would be a few forms and something to do minor excavation and fills. Ready mix concrete could be ordered and the job buttoned up in nothing flat with no fuss and feathers. It's something to think about.

There Is So A Spring In Big Spring

It may be that someone stationed here back in the days of the Big Spring Bombardier School furnished the idea, but at any rate an excerpt out of John Gunther's "Inside USA" will be of interest to local

Speaking of the lack of humility among Texans, Gunther quotes a passage from an editorial in the Baltimore Sun, towit: "Most (states) have been called upon to examine, in the scientific spirit, the bases of their local pride . . . Texas, so far as we have heard, has never gone through this wholesome experience. In all history, no Texan has ever challenged the utter perfection of the Lone Star State, its climate, its geography, its history, its civilization. "The only statement ever approaching such objective appraisal we ever heard of was of the man who confessed, in his cups, that there is no spring in Big Spring. There is no record of what happened to that bibulant and perhaps it would be better not to inquire. But it would be pleasant, nevertheless, to learn from authoritative sources that Texas was populated by human beings and not by supermen."

That's all from the Sun. Gunther adds mischieviously that "no Texas reply to this churlish attack from Maryland has been recorded."

And although this is a belated and feeble attempt, we feel that reply is merited. There is so a spring in Big Spring. Only trouble is that the durn thing is dry.

Clayton Gives Success Secrets

He didn't come back to Texas to give this advice. He flew from Washington Thursday to address 700 North Texas leaders at Dallas on the problems of the world. Afterwards, we cornered him for a five-minute private interview.

Clayton, Tupelo, Miss., boy, became the world's foremost cotton buyer; secretary of commerce and undersecretary of state. Now at 68, he is speical advisor to Secretary of State George Mar-

(He took shorthand notes at the luncheon yesterday.) Clayton was forever learning things on his own hook. To learn French, which he considered necessary in the cotton business, he boarded with a French family.

Jerome Hill, St. Louis cotton man, came to Jackson, availed himself of Clayton's shorthand and, as a result, took the boy back to St. Louis and put him in the cotton business.

"Pretend you are speaking to a youth of 18," we told Clayton. What is your advice?" Here it is:

"1. Take off your coat and go work. Choose some useful work. It is not too important that you know at first what you are eventually going to do. There is nothing wrong with the system of trial and error.

"2. When you work, really work. Do more than is expected of you. The man who gets ahead works harder and to better purpose than his associates. "3. If a better opportunity comes your way, seize it. Above all, don't remain with a job that is distasteful to you. Don't be a square peg in a round hole.

"4. Take note of the variety of opportunities in the world today. A fellow has less chance, now, than when I was young, to go into business for himself. But there is vastly greater opportunity to work for other people. Big business and governments of the world search constantly for young men of character, ability and good newspapers and articles from good magazines. "8. Keep abreast of current events. Also, read hitsory. "9. Go to college if you can. It wears the rough edges off a fellow's character and demeanor. In these days human contacts are more important than ever before. When I started out in the business world, I was shy, self conscious and unable to handle myself properaly. I was a long time getting over these things. It was hard work. A college education would have made it easier.

Marshall Sees Possibility Of War

WASHINGTON.-Harassed Secretary of State Marshall recently telephoned South Dakota's Senator Chan Gurney, chairman of the Armed Services committee, asked him to bring his committee to the state department for a conference. Gurney did so.

ORIGINAL WASHINGTON POST OF

Marshall seemed jittery and upset. He told senators the world was more explosive than at any time since Pearl Harbor. War could break out any time. Though the Russians weren't ready pick a fight yet; nevertheless the Balkans or Italy might furnish the spark. The uncontrollable Yugoslavs might decide to boil over their borders into Italy, Marshall said. In fact, anything could happen. One senator asked why the United States didn't send an ultimatum to Russia warning against any further advances. Marshall replied that he didn't want to be responsible for bringing the United States into another war. Such an ultimatum, he felt, would mean war.

The secretary of state was burdened down with the weight of his responsibility, seemed anvious to share his worries with senatorial advisers.

MARSHALL WORRIES Here are some of the things that worry Marshall: 1. The Red army in Russia alone is now 170 divisions strong (about 1,700,000 men) plus 25 artillery divisions, plus 50 NKVD divisions, the latter used for internal security. Approximate total: 2,450,000 men. 2. Increasing Red army concentrations have appeared in Germany, including fast-moving armored divisions. It looks as if Russia was massing these troops in Germany with a view either to pushing U. S. and British forces out of Germany or scaring us out. 3. Especially selected Yugoslav combat troops are near the Italian border.

4. Sweden is in a bad state of fitters over a possible Russian squeeze play against Scandinavia: refuses to have anything to do with the western European

The Russians are reported to have 100,000 guided missiles, similar to the buzz-bombs that terorized England, only more accurate. These are the missiles that have appeared over Sweden. 6. The Russians have been stockpiling wheat, are now reported to have about three years' supply. Meat and butter have been more plentiful since the ruble was devaluated, but not bread. It is still scarce because of the stockpiling. TIME AGAINST SOVIET What all this adds up to is that either the Russians mean serious business or are determined to take all they can in Europe immediately. Best diplomatic intelligence, is that Moscow has decided to take advantage of three important developments: A. The Italian elections. These would go against communism without a strong Russian show of force in Europe. A wave of terrorism among Italian voters. however, can switch the vote to communistic majority. B. The Mahshall plan. If it starts working successfully, Russia will lose ground in Europe. The time to act, therefore, is now-before the Marshall plan gets going.

C. The western European alliance. Present Soviet big-stickwaving is aimed at both scaring some nations, such as Sweden, from joining the alliance and at embracing as much of Europe as possible before the western bloc can do the embracing.

Finally, Moscow realizes that an election year in the U.S.A. is the psychological time to harass Europe - especially when the United States is under weak leadership. A year from now, the U.S.A. may be under a strong leader and Moscow strategy will be more difficult.

TERRORISM IN ITALY Uncensored diplomatic dispatches from Italy are pessimistic in the extreme. The Italian people were under fascist dictatorship for so many years that they now lack courage at election time. They are accustomed to intimidation.

Therefore when communist strong-arm groups tell Italian peasants that if they don't vote communist they will be put on the purge list, the peasants believe it. They also are dazzled by promises that if they do vote communist, the big landlord's land will be divided up and they will be on the list to get their share. Czechoslovakia also has had its effect upon Italy. Knowing what happened there, people figure the same thing will happen in Italy. Therefore, they want to get on the right bandwagon and get on

If the coming Italian election was free from terrorism, all reports indicate the communists would make no gains. But the dilemma facing the United States is that in what will appear on the surface as a fair election, the communists will win. This will make it extremely difficult for the U. S. fleet to intervene. GOP CROSSFIRE

Yet he kept up his hot-tempered comments, exploding them at random no matter who was talking. When Carlton Skinner, informa-

With only a few exceptions, the road to stardom is a long and rocky one, with many detours. Let me illustrate with the career of an ambitious 24 - year - old named Peter Lawford: Stage one-The bit player. Having played small roles in English films, Peter came here and had a minor part in "Lord Jeff" in 1938. Hollywood didn't exactly fall at his feet. In fact, for three years he was out of movies and even served as a parking lot attendant in Palm Beach, Fla. Back in California, he was ushering at the Westwood Village theater when an agent landed him a bit in "Eagle Squadron" in 1941. He got a contract at MGM, where he was handed a few minute roles. Up for the role of Irene Dunne's son in "White Cliffs of Dover" (with a meaty death scene), he studied voluntarily for three weeks with MGM coach Lillian Burns. He got the role and that brings us to-

Stage two-The featured player. Lawford was tabbed for the bobbysox trade. "I rode the wake of the same wave that swept Sinatra and Johnson to popularity," he recalls. The studio started to toss some publicity his way and he began to have himself photographed at nightspots with photogenic starlets.

His roles were small but important, in such films as "Mrs. Parkington" and "Dorian Gray." Finally, the studio decided he Around The Rim—By The Herald Staff

Voodooism In Haiti

The Western Hemisphere's counter-part to Darkest Africa is the island of Haiti, an Island of the Greater Antilles situated between Cuba and Puerto Rico, a land of mystery, where voo-dooism is still practiced. I was there briefly in 1942, would some day like to go back and explore both Haiti, which occupies the western third of the mountainous country, and Santo Domingo, which the autocratic Trutillo rules with an iron hand. The land was discovered by

Columbus in 1492. At that time, it was populated largely by Indians, most of whom were imported in the 16th Century and the country's population is now predominantly colored. Port Au'Prince, chief city of Haiti, is like something out of another century. Very few automobiles can be found on the city's streets. Though it boasts about 175,000 persons, there is no sewage system to speak of. A lack of street lights lend the city proper an enigmatic air when night descends Voodoo has long been outlawed but the decree is about as popular as prohibition was in this country. From my temporary quarters on the edge of the city. I could hear the beat of drums in the hinterlands. In 1942, the country boasted

Fancy Dog Kennels

NEW YORK, A - The Rockefellers have been in the oil business for some time.

But did you know they sell dogs, too? This minor phase of the Rockefeller financial empire was dis-

$125 after a five minute's recess, bringing the total up to $675. Under the leadership of H. A. Tillet, a secretary, the Progressive Committee of Taylor County was organized. So definite was their adver-

In 1947, a softball league in Colorado City which functioned under the auspices of the Junior Chamber of Commerce cleared something like $10,000 though the admission fee was only ten cents. The JCC circuit is making plans for a bigger and better organization this year, expects to play to an even bigger audience.
