Improvement Is Completed At City Cab

City Cab Company's recently completed remodeling and enlargement program has paved the way for top-notch taxi service. Not only has the firm moved to a location near the center of the business district, but complete garage facilities for the cabs have been provided. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace C. Carr, owners and operators of the company, leased the Crawford Storage garage last week in order to keep the cabs in tip-top running condition. The Carrs stated that the garage will still be used to store and repair other cars as well as the cabs. Cabs will be washed, greased, cleaned and repaired periodically at the garage. Carr said he could keep all his cabs in the best of running order now that complete service facilities are available. Paul W. Guy, manager of the cab fleet, stated that the "most needed advantage of the new garage is the cleaning facilities. He said that cabs can easily be cleaned three or four times a day now. The main City Cab office is just across the street from the Crawford Storage, making for quick and efficient repair service. The office is at 208 Scurry, just off the corner of 3rd and Scurry intersection. The office was constructed in January and has been in use less than a month. It contains a dispatch room and a waiting room, especially designed for taxi operation.

LOOKS LIKE HE'S GOT AN OLD AIRPLANE

DENVER (AP)—Imagine Bett Jones' surprise yesterday when he looked out and spied a battered airplane parked at his front curb. Jones, stock car race driver, has some friends who drive weird jalopies but so far he can't place this one. Obviously the craft, a BT13 trainer with wing stubs spreading only eight feet and a big hole in the fuselage, didn't fly there. He was still pondering some dark suspicions when the police drove up and, disregarding Jones' protest that he never saw the thing before, wanted to know what he proposed to do about it. Until he can turn up a better idea, Jones parked the plane in his front yard.

Rotation Policy For Korean Duty Revealed

Rotation policy for servicemen in Korea was announced today by St. A. M. Burt, local recruiter. He stated that soldiers serving in the Korean theatre have a stepped-up credit time called "constructive service." The credit time depends on type of service performed. Those in close combat zones receive four constructive months service per month. Those in intermediate zones get three constructive months service for each actual month. Combat support zones rate two constructive months per actual month. Rotation to the United States of course depends on the amount of constructive service, he said. The amount required for rotation is announced each month—depending on replacements available, operational requirements, and authorized strength of command.

Pay Bill Better Than In Original Form, But Not Wise As Principle

The controversial five-year and policeman pay bill has been altered considerably by the Texas Senate's state affairs committee. The original proposal was for the Legislature to peg pay scales according to population brackets, and for the cities to comply.

The administration of those municipalities? It is not logical; it is not just; it is not wise. Where is the wisdom of divorcing a portion of municipal operations from the whole when in truth and in fact it is a key part of the whole?

Gliders Paved The Way For The Famed Exploits Of Helicopters

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

They're doing with helicopters in Korea what they tried to do with gliders in Europe during World War II. Hardly a week passes but what the story of some spectacular rescue-by-whirlybird comes out of Korea.

There was insufficient time to land a glider and crew and set up the "snatch" gear. The glider tow rope would have a big loop—about 20 feet in diameter—stretched between two upright poles. Other end would be fastened to the glider.

The helicopter is saving lives and talents of scores of such well-educated combatants as pilots, along with the ground troops whose lives and skills are as valuable as those who perform the headline-making feats.

The snatch was seldom utilized for anything except to retrieve a glider which had accidentally or mistakenly set down in some inaccessible spot, but it proved its value in saved time and equipment in this respect alone.

In World War II, I was a yardbird in an outfit that dreamed of doing the same things with gliders. The outfit was pretty hot, and carried out some assignments with the motorless craft that couldn't have been accomplished any other way.

As far as I know, only one attempt was ever made to pickup a glider in a combat zone. That was in the Remagen Bridgehead, shortly before the end of the war with Germany.

Wilson Works Hard To Master Complexities Of Defense Post

history would repeat, maybe he'd be in favor of knocking off the third carrier. Now a reporter wants to know if the Secretary intends to raise the pay of the armed forces.

At the start he twists and folds a bit of memo paper. Later, as he gains confidence, he throws this prop away, as a tight-rope walker might drop his umbrella.

Wilson is taken aback, then realizes the question doesn't call for a serious reply. His face wrinkles in one of his infrequent smiles and he says, I saw you back there.

Another reporter wants to know if the Secretary has read the flat charge in a newspaper column that U. S. air defenses are wide open to atomic attack.

Wilson can't remember the precise rate of defense spending in January, but he feels sure that he will be able to level off expenditures at that same rate from now on.

Wilson replies that if he could be sure

When he's asked if his predecessors hadn't been working on such economies and industrial timing, he says he still feels there's room for plenty of improvement.

He raises his two hands before him—about a foot and a half apart—and parts the air. He wouldn't train troops before their equipment is ready.

Wilson thinks of that

To me, the conference conveyed this image: Wilson working terribly, terribly hard to master his grave new responsibilities and still with homework to do.

Rough Battle Is On Over $600 Teachers Wage Hike

By BO BYERS
AUSTIN (U.S. Teachers' Association)—Texas teachers, industrialists and Gov. Shivers are waging a slim-bang propaganda battle for and against a $600 pay raise for teachers.
The teachers are for it; the industrialists and the governor are against it. Teachers say they are worth at least $3,000 a year as beginners. They now get $2,400. Shivers and the industrialists say a $600 increase is too much because it inevitably would mean more taxes. There is no disagreement that new or higher taxes would be needed to pay the extra $6 million dollars that such a salary boost would require the next two years.
You've seen or heard how the governor thinks school financing should be changed to increase the local district's share and decrease the state's share. Shivers thinks a cost-of-living increase of about 10 per cent would be enough for teachers.
Teachers, through the Texas State Teachers Assn., have been telling you that local districts can't carry any heavier load. There's another part of the battle the general public hears little about. You might call it the behind-the-scenes pressure put on the lawmakers by those who favor or oppose the pay increase.

A systematic campaign is being conducted by teachers to put pressure on the representatives and senators from their districts from every angle possible.
Charles H. Tennyson, TSTA executive secretary, is the guiding hand. Under his direction, and with approval of the TSTA's state president and legislative committee, many of the state's 54,000 teachers have been coming to Austin to "talk to" their legislators.
School people were told to divide their counties precinct by precinct, community by community and street by street for the circulation of petitions urging passage of the $3,000 minimum salary bill.
Tennyson, a former legislator, gave specific instructions to avoid making the petitions identical, and send them in one at a time, and preferably to have a layman sign them.

TSTA headquarters also suggested free radio time be secured where possible to explain the legislation and the need for its passage, based on increased cost of living and the need for more teachers to handle increasing enrollments.
Equally vigorous campaigning against the raise is being waged by the Texas Manufacturers Assn. under the direction of Executive Vice President Ed C. Burris.
Burris sent TMA members a letter Feb. 19 declaring the $600 pay-raise bills are "surrounded by emotional confusion."
"The fundamentals included in this bill are simply (A) who is going to run the public schools; the state or the local districts? (B) who is going to pay the bill?" commented Burris.
He took the stand, also voiced by Shivers, that an increased outlay of state funds for higher teacher salaries will mean a step in the direction of state control of schools.
"The agency that pays the bills will call the signals. But, remember, once the schools are run by the state, and local interest lost, it is but one step further to federal control—the road to statism," Burris wrote.
The amount of the minimum teachers' salary is not the real issue," he continued. "The real issue is one of jurisdiction; one of responsibility. The avoidance of state domination of our public schools is, or should be, of major concern to every Texas citizen."
Urging his 3,300 TMA members to let their state senators and representatives know their views, Burris attempted to put the backers of the $600 raise in the position of being for state control of schools.
"Some (not all) of these proponents of state control will use the tactics of the 'socializers' and the 'pinkos' by attempting to label those who are opposed to state control of public schools as being 'anti-teacher,' 'anti-school,' or 'anti-something else,'" Burris said.
Which side will win the fight is not as predictable as some think. Tennyson is claiming majority support of the House. But he concedes that time may run out before the teacher-backed bill can be passed.

License Plate Sale Is Brisk; Deadline Apr. 1

Four lines were in operation at the Howard County Courthouse today as local citizens were purchasing 1953 license plates.

Clerks had issued through the number CB 6,040 this morning. Mrs. Viola Robinson, collector, believes about 8,500 passenger plates will be issued.

She said that $63,643.67 had gone to the county coffers as a result of license sales so far. Another $18,670.55 has gone to the state. All the money collected up to $30,000 goes to the county, Mrs. Robinson said. After the $30,000 mark, half goes to the state.

Mrs. Robinson expressed satisfaction with the way sales were going. She said they have been brisk at the sub-stations as well as the Courthouse.

Sub-stations are at Big Spring Motor Company and the Main Street Fire Station.

Car owners were warned by Mrs. Robinson that only five days remain to purchase the plates. Deadline is April 1. The purchasing places will be open Saturday afternoon, she said.

Changes In Long Term Pacts Is Aim Of Reuther

By GLENN ENGLE
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (U.S. Press)—The United Auto Workers convention stood ready today to pass President Walter P. Reuther some ammunition to use in his current unofficial negotiations with the auto industry.

The ammunition was in the form of a resolution which would threaten the industry with no more long-term contracts after 1955 unless it agreed promptly to some revisions in the five-year agreements now in force. Future contracts would be for no more than two years.

Reuther has contended that the pacts have become outdated because of inflation brought on by the Korean War, which was unforeseen when they were signed in 1950.

He has asked the auto industry to come up with voluntary revisions during negotiations on a conversion from the government's old to its new price index as a pay guide under the cost-of-living wage clause in the contracts.

General Motors already has agreed to make some changes, but not enough to suit the union. The other big companies reportedly have indicated they would prefer to delay action on the matter until they see what G.M. does.

The UAW has asked the car manufacturers to do this:

1. Put 20 of the 25 cents an hour gained under cost-of-living boosts since 1950 into the base rates to guard against losing it if prices should drop.
2. Raise the industry's pension benefits from the present average of $125 a month—including social security benefits—to about $145 to restore the pensioners' 1950 purchasing power.
3. Raise the so-called "annual improvement factor"—a guaranteed yearly raise to cover increased productivity—from 4 to 3 cents an hour.

Boost the wages of skilled workers to eliminate what the union calls inequities brought on by inflation.

Reuther claims the contracts, though they do not expire until mid-1955, should be interpreted as "living documents," with the companies voluntarily keeping abreast of changing times.

Wolcott Opposes Plan To Extend Rent Controls

By CHARLES F. BARRETTE
WASHINGTON (U.S. Press)—Chairman Wolcott (R-Mich.) of the House Banking Committee said today he opposes an Eisenhower administration plan to extend general rent controls to Oct. 1.

Wolcott, in an interview, said federal ceilings on some 4,300,000 housing units in nonrental areas in 32 states can be lifted earlier than Oct. 1—just how much earlier he wasn't sure.

The controls are scheduled to die April 30, unless extended. Acting Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Fleming, speaking for the administration, urged an extension to Oct. 1 in a hearing before the Senate Banking Committee yesterday.

A second administration witness, Deputy Secretary of Defense Roger M. Kyne, was called before the Senate group today to give further details of what the executive branch wants in the way of continued economic controls.

There were signs of strong opposition in the Senate and House to the proposal for a five-month extension of general rent curbs.

And another signals mixup between the White House and Congress appeared to have developed. Wolcott said there has been no agreement between President Eisenhower and congressional leaders on the issue. After a White House conference Monday, House Speaker Joseph Martin (R-Mass.) told newsmen an agreement on the Oct. 1 extension had been reached.

Wolcott, who attended the White House meeting, said this was a "misunderstanding." He added that the Oct. 1 date had been mentioned prominently but the question of whether there should be any extension at all—and if so, how long—had been left open for further consultation.

Martin agreed today that "there wasn't what you would call a fixed, ironclad agreement." He said in a separate interview that practically everyone at the conference agreed on some extension, and that Oct. 1 "appeared to be the consensus of opinion." Martin said he had pointed this out at the time.

Martin and Wolcott said Eisenhower's chief interest had been to give state legislatures time to pass rent control laws to supplant the federal law, if they want to.

Red China Due For More Soviet Help

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW (U.S. Press)—The Soviets today checked a big new aid program for Communist China to boost their Red ally's heavy industry. In return, the Peiping government will send raw materials to Russia.

Moscow papers announced that a new agreement and two protocols covering the program were signed here recently in the presence of Chinese Premier-Foreign Minister Chou En-lai. He came to Moscow early this month as head of the Chinese delegation to the funeral of the late Joseph Stalin.

Russia promised to help increase China's electric power capacity by expanding existing power plants and building new ones. Other assistance will be provided in equipping Chinese metallurgical, mining, machinery, chemical, transport and other industries.

The Soviet Union also will supply China with agricultural machinery, pedigreed cattle and seeds.

As her part of the bargain, China will ship her light metals, rice, vegetable oils, meat, oil seeds, tobacco, tea, fruit, wool, jute, raw silk, silk textiles, leather and other goods.

The documents—first such under the new regime of Prime Minister Georgi M. Malenkov—appeared to Western diplomatic observers here as an indication that the new Kremlin administration aims to do everything possible to assist Communist China. These sources noted also that Malenkov's first act after he became premier three weeks ago was to appoint one of the country's ranking diplomats, Vasili Kuznetsov, as new ambassador to Peiping.

Negotiations resulting in the new aid program were begun last August, when Chou arrived in Moscow with a big government delegation for talks with Stalin and other top leaders. The first resulting agreement, signed in September, prolonged Russia's expiring lease on Port Arthur in Manchuria until the two countries sign peace treaties with Japan.

Chou and most of his delegation returned to Peiping after the opening of negotiations last summer, leaving behind a group of economic experts to work out details of the pact announced today.

The program of expanded aid to China is considered especially significant by Moscow observers because it aims to increase Chinese production of steel, coal, oil, chemicals, engineering goods and other key items. In addition, it will assist a buildup of China's rail and automotive transport systems.

Drake's knee, injured in a game against Texas A & M last fall, is definitely through with football. The leg has failed to respond to treatment.

Shirley Povich, the Washington scribe who oftentimes writes as if his pen were dipped in acid, had this to say recently about the transfer of the Boston Braves to Milwaukee: "The first outbreak of mass unemployment under the Eisenhower administration has developed, ironically enough, in the ranks of baseball, America's national game. The switch of the Braves to Milwaukee did it. 'Jobs' now are the countless Boston baseball writers, photographers and radio men who were making a living covering the Braves. The Boston teams, both the Braves and the Red Sox, always were the most covered teams in the majors. In Boston, in Florida and on the road, the Braves always had in tow three waves of baseball journalists."

"In Boston, the archaic custom of letting the ball clubs pick up the check for traveling writers persists and as many as three reporters often covered the club for the same newspaper. They were on the cuff, feeding off the bounty of Lou Perini, Braves' owner. "Perhaps a factor in Perini's switch to Milwaukee was his realization that he no longer would have to feed, house and transport the Boston baseball reporting battalions. Out in Milwaukee, he has to underwrite the expenses of only two baseball writers, and one of them has ulcers and isn't much for the feed-bag."

Amateur Rules Strict In Golf

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (U.S.)—What is an amateur?

He's a tennis player who can accept $15 a day for expenses. But if, as a track man, he pays $3.25 for a meal he's a pro.

He's a golfer who must pay his own tournament freight—at all times except in rare instances when he's playing for Uncle Sam or the Walker Cup team or in an intercollegiate meet for his college.

He's a trapshooter who can accept an unlimited cash prize as an amateur, can't take anything if he's a professional.

He's a tennis player who can be equipped with a half-dozen racquets and a drawer full of strings—all at free—by a sporting goods firm. But if he goes the same as a golfer the USGA throws him out on his ear.

He's a track man who can't spend more than $10 a day for room and board but if he happens to be adept at hitting a tennis ball he can go $5 higher.

By our puzzling modern standards, court men who wear white pants are supposed to have great appetites. Then their thin-lined contemporaries who run and jump over things.

An amateur is a crack football halfback who can accept a college scholarship plus a grant-in-aid—side money for books and board—without jeopardizing his simon-pure standing.

Track men can take scholarships, too, without incurring anybody's ire but just let a golfer or tennis player try it and—boom—he automatically becomes a professional.

An amateur is a tennis player who can travel around the lush play spots of the world on an unlimited expense account but, if he tries it in golf, he gets the back of the USGA's hand.

The inconsistency of America's amateur code was emphasized this week when Billy Maxwell, 1951 National Amateur champion, and seven members of the North Texas State College golf team at Denton were stripped of their amateur standing—some for taking expense money for a venture to Mexico City, others for accepting fees for teaching fellow students.

The golf code is by far the strictest of American sports. A player can't accept expense money, can't receive equipment and can't receive a scholarship for golf ability alone. Once there was a law that a man who taught any sport—a football coach, for instance—was a pro in golf. This has been changed.

Tennis restrictions are a vague rule and getting lighter. Players are allowed first class air travel and $15 a day for an unlimited number of tournaments but they ask and get more. In Europe, especially, top flight players, such as Jaroslav Drobny, can demand high appearance fees to enter a tournament.

The Wimbledon champion is said to be able to get $500 extra for every tournament in which he shows up.

The Amateur Athletic Union puts a ceiling of first class rail ticket and $10 a day expenses on its track and swim stars and specifies that no more than $3 shall be paid for any one meal.

The National Collegiate Athletic Assn.—after fumbling around with the sanity code—has a vague rule on college scholarships which permits grants-in-aid. The only limit is institutional control.

Trapshooters have the unique arrangement which permits only amateurs to accept prize money—such as the $5,000 to Grand American Champion at Vandalia, O.—but the pros, who work for shotgun concerns, aren't permitted to take a penny.

But the most realistic attitude is held by the ice hockey people in Canada, who pay their simon-pure athletes $500 a year and up. Highest paid performer in Canada probably is Jean Paul Bellevue of the Quebec Senior Hockey League team, who is reported to draw $20,000 a year.

Bellevue has to turn pro this year or be drafted by Montreal in the pro National Hockey League. Tough luck. It'll mean a 50 per cent cut in salary.

BY ACADEMIC GROUP

Bradley And Sooner Aggies Are Scored

CHICAGO (U.S.)—Oklahoma A&M and Bradley have become targets in an athletic cleanup campaign of a powerful accrediting-academic agency, and an official of the group today warned that "it's just the beginning."

The North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools has acted to drop the Stillwater, Okla., school from academic accreditation and place the Peoria, Ill., university on a one-year probation.

The recommendation for such a move was made at the association's annual week-long meeting yesterday by its Commission on Colleges and Universities. The Association's Executive Committee immediately approved it.

Officials said the matter will be placed before the NCA's entire delegation tomorrow and ratification by that body was more or less a formality.

The NCA is a 19-state group of 368 colleges and universities. Last year 90 per cent of membership voted for an athletic reform program.

Gov. Johnston Murray of Oklahoma, when he heard of the discrediting, notified the NCA that "the whole state is shocked." He asked for a public hearing on the matter.

In the educational world, academic approval is vital to prestige. Loss of accreditation is one of the worst blows that can be landed. It would handicap enrollment potential as well as efforts of faculty members seeking transfer to accredited schools.

Oklahoma A&M, king-pin of the Missouri Valley Conference, is a perennial national basketball power. Bradley, former Valley member and now an independent, is fighting back to athletic stability after being jolted by the widespread basketball scandals.

The NCA commended the school for "moving vigorously in the direction of correcting unsatisfactory conditions."

In Stillwater, Aggie Coach Hank Iba expressed astonishment at the action said he was at a loss to explain it until a meeting with Dr. Oliver S. Willham, school president.

William left the NCA meeting last night for home after saying the school would appeal the charge. The commission was unable to secure any assurance that the institution was moving in the direction of bringing its program into conformity with association policy," Norman Burns, commission secretary, said.

The charge alleged that A&M stressed athletics "as a means for securing public support," and that "it lacked faculty control of athletic policy and athletes were subsidized."

Bradley was said to be conducting an unsatisfactory athletic program and having educational weaknesses.

Further official elaboration in the cases of both schools was not given by the NCA.

Garner Moves Into Q'finals

SAN ANTONIO (U.S.)—Pat Garner scored a 1-up victory over Mrs. Opal Riedel yesterday to reach the quarterfinals of the 32nd annual Texas Women's Golf Association tournament.

The Midland, Tex., girl—four down after six holes—played terrific golf to gain the victory over the defending champ from Dallas.

She toured the San Antonio Country Club course in men's par in being the woman who beat her in last year's tournament finals.

Four San Antonio golfers, and one each from Fort Worth, El Paso and Houston, joined Miss Garner in the quarterfinals round as three Houstonians fell out of competition.

Home-town linkswomen who survived into the field of eight were Mrs. Harold Weibacher, many-time city champ; Mrs. R. C. Lipscomb, S. A. C. C. titleholder; former Wisconsin state amateur champion, Mrs. Phillip Kirschner, and Lesbia Lobo, Texas Public Links bearer for 1952.

Miss Lobo pushed Mrs. Charles Duenkel, Pampa, out of the meet, 8 and 7 as she equalled women's par for the distance she had to go over the par-75 layout.

Mrs. W. K. Stripling, Fort Worth, goes against Mrs. Lipscomb and Miss Garner faces Mrs. Weibacher in the top bracket.

HUTCHINSON, Kansas—HCJC's Jayhawks of Big Spring, Texas, are to return to action in the second round of the National Junior College Basketball Tournament here at 9:30 o'clock, meeting Eastern Arizona's Monsters of Thatcher.

A victory there would send the Texans into the semi-finals of the tourney and assure them of playing at least two more games. The Hawks moved up Tuesday evening by vanquishing the Eastern Oklahoma A&M, 80-78, in a thrilling - packed, double-overtime game.

Thatcher stilled Falbury, Neb., 63-57, in the first round of play.

Brooklyn Dodgers Blessed With Excellent Pitching

By BEN PHLEGAR Associated Press Sports Writer

Last year the one thing the Brooklyn Dodgers lacked was good pitching. This spring they're wallowing in it.

In their last four games Brooklyn pitchers have put together 30 consecutive scoreless innings during which they yielded only 14 hits—amazing figures for a team that won the 1952 pennant by clubbing the opposition to death.

All the more impressive is the fact that more than half of these scoreless frames have come from rookies not even on the Brooklyn roster.

Glenn Mickens, a 22-year-old right-hander with less than two seasons of organized ball under his belt, started the string last Saturday as he shut out the Boston Red Sox in the final three innings of an 8-4 victory.

Carl Erskine, the No. 1 starter, shut out the Philadelphia Athletics on two scrawny hits as he went all the way on Monday.

Left-hander Johnny Podres, a 20-year-old from the Montreal Royals, mowed down Montreal for seven scoreless stanzas Tuesday and Ron Negray, who came up from St. Paul late last season, continued the goose eggs in the final two.

Yesterday it was Bob Milliken, just out of the Army, for six and a half scoreless frames as he led the Dodgers, edged the Milwaukee Braves, 1-0.

Mickens, Podres and Milliken still are minor league chaffers and Mickens, regardless of his brilliant spring form, won't be available until at least May because he has to finish his two-year Army hitch. He used a furlough to go to training camp in an effort to land a Triple A job although his previous experience is limited to a season at seven games at Ft. Worth (Class AA).

Another fine pitching job yesterday came from veteran Jim Konstanty of the Philadelphia Phils. He blanked Detroit, 7-0, on seven hits as the Tigers fell before a National League team for the first time this spring.

Bob Porterfield and Julio Moreno of Washington shut out the Red Sox for 10 innings. The Senators

13 TO 7

Steers Beaten By Westerners

LUBBOCK — Ten errors proved costly to Big Spring High School as the steers dropped a 13-7 baseball verdict to the Lubbock West-erners in a practice tilt here Wednesday afternoon.

The Westerners could get only seven hits off Charlie Rose but ganged up on him with a six-run third inning to salt away the decision.

The win was the third straight for Lubbock over Big Spring.

Lubbock counted three times in the leadoff panel when Frankie Wright reached second on a boof and came home on a single by Gil Garcia. Jimmy Crawford and Wally Wilson walked to load the bases and Rose walked Don Powers and Tommy Meirs.

Lee Hanson's and Dairy Maid have each won 45 and lost 35 games. Seagram's won-lost record is 45-35, West Texas Roofers 42-39, the Eagles Club 39 1/2-41 1/2, Sinclair 38 1/2-39 1/2, Big Spring Herald 37-41 and Mathis 27-54.

Senators Batter Park Hill, 12-3

Washington Place bruised past Park Hill, 12-3, in a Ward School softball game played Tuesday at Park Hill.

Jerry Graham was clubbed for 14 hits. Chubby Moser pitched and batted his team to victory, collecting three hits while holding the opposition to seven. Terry Stanley hit a home run for the Senators.

Bill French collected three hits for the losers while Jimmy Whitefield had three for Washington Place.

won, 4-0. The first run in the 10th came on a wide throw by shortstop Johnny Lipon and later Ken Wood homered with two on base.

The St. Louis Cardinals won their fifth game in 17 spring starts, 7-1, against the New York Yankees.

The first two St. Louis runs came off Johnny Sain, who worked the opening six innings, but most of the blasting was against Ewell Blackwell.

Three runs in the eighth inning off Frank Hiller gave the Chicago White Sox a 6-3 verdict over the New York Giants.

The St. Louis Browns evened their spring series with the Chicago Cubs at 2-2 as Don Larsen and Virgil Trucks set the Cubs down, 4-1, at Tucson.

Minor league outfits mopped up on the Philadelphia Athletics and Cleveland Indians. The A's bowed, 8-3, to Baltimore of the International League and Cleveland lost, 6-2, to San Diego of the Pacific Coast circuit.

Seagram's fell a game off the pace in Men's Bowling League standings this week by losing a 2-1 decision to one of the three co-leaders, Dairy Maid.

Lee Hanson's remained in a tie for the top spot by nudging Mathis Studio, 2-1.

In other matches, West Texas Roofers edged the Eagles Club, 2-1. The Big Spring Herald-Sinclair Oil match was postponed until Friday night.

E. B. Dozier, Jr., Seagram's set a new aggregate scoring record with a 224-613. He held the old mark, 612.

Dr. C. W. Deffen had second high single game with a 208. Bruce Broussard hoisted the next best total with a 203-540. Deats bowls for the Eagles Club, Broussard for the West Texas Roofers.

Jim Engstrom, Hanson's and T. W. Campbell, Dairy Maid, each had a 203, only other keglers to climb to the 200-mark in single games.

Lee Hanson's led team scoring with 840-2387. Hanson's also had an 839 while Dairy Maid held second high total with 2377.

Roy Osborne, West Texas Roofers, converted a 7-10 split and qualified for an ABC patch, as a result it was probably the first time such a feat had been accomplished on local alleys.

Lee Hanson's and Dairy Maid have each won 45 and lost 35 games. Seagram's won-lost record is 45-35, West Texas Roofers 42-39, the Eagles Club 39 1/2-41 1/2, Sinclair 38 1/2-39 1/2, Big Spring Herald 37-41 and Mathis 27-54.
