Office in Panhandle

Effective November 22, 1986, the Panhandle Office of the Federal Land Bank Association of Amarillo will be closed. All operations will be handled out of the Ama-rillo Office located at 3615 South Georgia. The mailing address is P.O. Box 7785, Amarillo, TX 79114-7785. The announcement was The announcement was made by Jerry Moody, president. Moody stated that the decision made by the Board of Directors at a recent meeting was a difficult one. "Economic, personnel, and quality of service were the factors involved in the deci-sion. While it has been advantageous to the borrow-ers and the association to have the branch office in Panhandle, changing condi-tions make the closing tions make the closing necessary", said Moody. At the same time Moody announced the resignation of Jackie West, office assis-tant at the Panhandle office and the hiring of Celeste Duncan as office assistant at

Farm Bill Requires Conservation Measures

By Ed Blackwell

The provisions of the 1985 Farm Bill will effect produc-ers who farm highly erodible land. So that producers can make plans for compliance in the program, some information is now available to those producers whom this may effect. The Soil Conservation Service in each county has a list of those soil mapping units that have been designated as highly erodible due to either wind or water erosion.

Among the soils in Car-son County that are highly erodible are the Ulysses, Mansker, Zita and Dalhart series. There are others, but these are the ones that are being farmed substantially. A large majority of Carson County is made up of the Pullman series and it is not a highly erodible soil.

"This law means that, if the proper affidavit is on file, an older homeowner can't lose a homestead because of delinquent taxes,"

Patterson said. Patterson said.

Once a homeowner files an over-65 tax deferral affidavit with the appraisal dis-trict, no taxing unit can initiate or pursue a suit for delinquent taxes on the homestead as long as that person owns it and lives there. Patterson stressed,

Patterson stressed, though, that tax deferral for the elderly only postpones paying delinquent taxes on the homestead; it does not cancel them. "During the deferral period, taxes and delinquent persulties and delinquent penalties and interest continue to add up," he said. "When the up," he said. "When the elderly taxpayer no longer owns or lives in the home, those accrued amounts become due. Taxing units can then sue to collect all the deferred tax, penalty and interest."

Forms for filing a tax deferral affidavit are avail-able from the chief apprai-ser of the county in which the over-65 taxpayer lives.

when we invest, we're using money in the hope of making more money. I seldom receive any agrument over this. However, the money we use for invest-ing should be extra money money that represents surplus savings or income not needed for essentials.

We might choose to invest these funds in mortgages, real estate, life insurance or ecurities (stocks and bonds). They're all basically different, and no one fits the needs of every person.

Since we're discussing mainly securities, let's focus on some of the reasons why we might want to invest in stocks or bonds. Many people prefer them because they can readily be bought and sold. They represent variety and flexibility of interests, as well as absentee ownership or creditor ship. Securities are obtain able at varying prices, from very low to very high, and small sums of money can be invested at convenient inter-vals. With the help of a good broker, securities can be selected, sometimes with excellent results, by persons having limited investment having limited investment backgrounds.

When investing in a security, you can profit from it in two major ways. First, you may receive dividents or interests payments which, in theory, are paid to compensate you for the use of your money and any risk you assume. Since the market value of securities fluctuates, you also may value of securities fluctuates, you also may profit by buying or selling them.

Homeowners Paying Higher Percentage Of Tax Burden

Local property tax levies in Texas totaled $8.9 billion for 1985, according to the State Property Tax Board's (SPTB) annual report for the

1985 tax year.

"Overall, property taxes grew at a slower rate in 1985 than the year before," said Ron Patterson, SPTB's director. 'However,'' he added, "our figures show that he owners were paying an inowners were paying an in-creasingly larger share of property taxes while business owners were paying less.'' percent higher than in 1984, when the total levy was $8.1 billion. By comparison, 1984 property taxes were 12.1 percent higher than in 1983.

The statewide property tax levy for 1985 was 10.7

The report shows that the largest increases in property taxes occurred in school distaxes occurred in school districts and cities, whose levies each increased by close to 12 percent from 1984 to 1985. County property taxes grew the least-by 6.1 percent—while special district taxes increased by 9.5 percent. "The "The property tax remains the most important source of tax revenue for local governments in Texas," said Patterson. "It is the only source of taxes for school districts."

School districts account-ed for almost $4.7 billion— or 52 percent—of all proor 52 percent—of all property taxes levied in 1985. Cities and towns levied another $1.8 billion in property taxes while counties levied $1.4 billion. Special districts such as water districts such as water, utility, hospital, junior college, and navigation districts levied the remaining

"Property taxes amount-ed to $493.35 for each Texas resident in the 1985 fiscal year, compared to $450.47 the year before," said Pat-terson. "After our staff adjusted these figures to 1970 dollars to account for inflation," he added, "the per capita tax levy was $178.08 in 1985, an increasef of $10 from 1984 and $49 from 1970."

Local property taxes made up 41 percent of all state and local taxes during the 1985 fiscal year, and have remained at this level since 1983.

Patterson pointed out that the report's figures represent total property taxes levied and not the amount of taxes actually collected. Taxing units rarely collect every dollar of their tax levy, although some of the shortfall may be made up through collection of delinquent taxes from previous years. SPTB's annual report uses data reported by school districts to estimate how the 1985 property tax burden was distributed among the various kinds of property in the school tax base.

These numbers illustrate shifts in the property tax burden that have been going burden that have been going on since at least 1981." said Patterson. "Urban real estate, and single-family residential property in particu-lar, took on a progressively greater share of property taxes in this period. Pn the other hand, business proper-

As a whole, residential and commercial real estate generated close to 64 percent of school taxes in 1985, compared to 62 percent in 1984 and 54 percent in 1981. in 1981.

Business properties of all kinds, including real estate, accounted for 50.2 percent of the school tax levy in 1985. These properties produced 51.6 percent of the total levy in 1984 and 56 percent in 1981.

Patterson sees several factors at work in this shift of the tax burden. "The growth in our state's population sti-mulated economic growth and demand for residential property, which in turn drove up real estate values. keep in mind that the 1985 tax levy was based on property values as of January 1, 1985.

"In addition," he observ-"In addition," he observ-ed, "Studies done by our agnecy show that residential real estate was typically undervalued on the tax rolls of earlier years. Recently, however, appraisal districts have done a better job of appraising these properties and their taxes are likely to be based on values that are closer to true market value."

Properties such as utility companies, industries, and oil and gas reserves, on the other hand, have historically been taxed at close to their full market value, according to Patterson. "The shift of property taxes away from these properties represents a more equitable distribution of the tax burden. In other words, "he explained, "there has been a shift in tax burden because of more accurate appraisals of perperty that used to be undertaxed, combined with a decline in the value of property that used to be overtaxed."

In the case of oil and gas, Patterson said several other factors helped reduce its share of the tax levy, which was 15.3 percent in 1981 but only 11.3 percent in 1985. "Both the prices for oil and gas and the size of the exist-ing reserves have steadily declined in this five-year period," he pointed out. These figures don't reflect the more drastic drops in oil and gas prices that began in early 1986. Rural acreage, including farm and ranch lands, gen-erated 6.2 percent of school taxes in 1985. Its share of the tax levy hasn't changed much since 1981.

Interesting Document Uncovered At City Hall

City Secretary Pat Ashford recently did some re-organizing in her office at City Hall to make room for a new computer. In the shuffle she discovered a letter from the State Health Dept. written to the City in May of 1929. A recent inspection by a Health Officer had been made of the City water well and construction of a second well. As an added bonus, the health officer sent along the specifications of the state approved pit privy adopted by quite a number of Texas cities that, like Groom, were without sanitary facilities.

You might wish to take You might wish to take look at the specifications and determine if indeed your privy was of sound construction back in 1929.

said. "Many people need extra sources of income to help them hold onto the family farm. If they can produce one or more of the currently prohibited items in their homes, why should they be denied the right to do so?" True said.

True urged citizens to write to Paula V. Smith, administrator, Wage and Hour Division, U.S. Dept. of Labor, Room S-3502, 200 Constitution Ave., NW, Washington, D.C., 20210.
The letters must be postmarked no later than Dec. 4.
