me 35 cents. I inquired if he hadn't added too much profit. I told him just what the items cost. "My dear sir," he answered, "In this corner drug store we do not pay any attention to the cost of the chemicals in the drugs—that is the smallest part of our expense. We are selling you the high rental of a drug store on a convenient corner, electric light, furnace heat, free telephone service, stamps sold at cost, a meeting place for the neighborhood, a place where you can stand on a cold day and wait for your car, free seats, free newspapers. Not only that, but we are prepared to tell you what is good for dyspepsia, toothache, indigestion, lumbago; in fact, we prescribe, free of charge, for most human ills. It is for this class of service that we charge—the drugs that we dispose of are simply incidentals." Well, brother, don't you think this druggist was about right? At the same time, it is just like you and me to accept all these conveniences and accommodations, and then kick if a fly happens to light in our soda water.

day I meandered store and ordered meals which I had actually cost 11 druggist charged

Did it ever occur to you, when you happened to want anything and needed it in a hurry, what it costs to have this particular item all ready for your use at a store just around the corner.

I remember a case where a city took issue with an electric lighting plant on account of their charges for the service. The electric lighting plant showed, in cold figures, what it cost them to be prepared at all times to serve the city with electric light. It was a most interesting exhibit. When the sun was shining brightly and the days were long, that city did not want much electric juice. If, however, a storm blew up suddenly and darkness came upon the city, then everybody expected to turn on his electric light. When the storm was over and the sun came out again, he turned off the juice. "Now," said this lighting plant, "we have to have in reserve all the time enough power to take care of these sudden and unexpected demands; we have to be ready to serve every minute of the day and night. This readiness to serve costs money, and we can only get our money back by charging it in the price of the juice."

In my fashion, I am in this article making a plea for the retail merchant. He must be ready to serve you with anything you want in his line on a moment's notice. Isn't it really wonderful that you can walk into a retail hardware store, call for almost any item in hardware and always find it on hand? For instance, if you wish a pocket knife of a peculiar style, there it is—it has just been waiting for you to call for it. Then the merchant takes it out of the case and waits while you lean with your elbow on the glass counter and paw it all over. You smear your greasy hands all over its polished blades, you blow your breath on the blade to see if the steel is good or not. Probably you inspect fifteen or twenty knives before you decide to invest 50 cents. In the mean while the merchant patiently shows you his stock, and tells you the entire history of the manufacture of cutlery from the time of Pharaoh down to the present date.

Maybe after consuming thirty minutes of this merchant's time you smile sweetly and tell him that you will think it over and drop in again tomorrow. Maybe before leaving his store you go to the telephone and have a chat with your best girl, and also borrow a stamp to mail a letter. Or, perhaps, you ask if he wont loan you a pipe wrench for a while. Then if you are real smart the proper thing is to go home, send an order to a mail order house for a pocket knife, cash in advance, and take your chances on whether the steel is good or not, when the knife arrives.

Then let us reflect, that after all the hard work he does, after all the chances he takes, after all the impositions to which he patiently submits, after all the bad accounts he accumulates on his books, after all the knowledge of the business that is necessary to follow up fashions and fads and have the goods on hand when the consumers call for them, after all the abuse he receives as a middleman from the magazines and the daily press, it stands out as a fact in the commercial reports, that 95 out of every 100 retail merchants make a failure in business. This is a horrible record, but there it is. One reason retail merchants fail is because they do not realize what all these incidentals cost in doing business. They do not add these outside things to the cost of their goods. They are not like the drug store man referred to. They think that all they are selling is hardware. They do not realize that they are selling hardware plus service, and that one costs just as much as the other.

Notice.

My office hours are 9 to 12 a. m. and 2 to 6 p. m. I expect to try to be in my office during those hours unless out on a call. Parties wishing to phone me will confer a favor by calling 23 early in the morning or 22 during office hours. Don't wait until after supper or bed time (unless emergency) to call. A doctor needs rest. They are human. A little thought and care by the patron can lessen the night work a great deal, and I assure you it will be appreciated.

Play at Alanreed.

A company composed of local talent at Alanreed will render a play in the school auditorium in that city tomorrow (Saturday) night, at which admission will be 15c and 35c. The bill will be a comedy-drama of a high order entitled "A Daughter of the Desert," written by Charles Ulrich. The cast is chosen from the best local talent and those who have witnessed a rehearsal of the play predict for it a pleasing reception.

The auditorium of the handsome new $10,000 brick school building at Alanreed is one of the best and largest in this section of the Panhandle and has a seating capacity considerable larger than the McLean auditorium. On the south side is built a substantial and well-equipped stage, furnished with all necessary settings and other accessories.

It is understood that quite a few people from McLean contemplate attending the performance there tomorrow night.

Institute Here On April 9th

The following notice is self-explanatory and will no doubt be of interest to local farmers and others:

Under the direction of the state department of agriculture, farmers' institutes will be held at the following places:

Groom, April 7, 1:30 p. m.
Alanreed, April 8, 1:30 p. m.
McLean, April 9, 1:30 p. m.
Benonine, April 10, 1:30 p. m.
Shamrock, April 11, 1:30 p. m.

The place of meeting will be announced by the local committee at each point.

These institutes will be conducted by Wm. Connally and C. C. French, who will discuss diversification, rotation, seed selection and better cultural methods. Special attention will be given to stock raising and organizing Baby Beef and Hog clubs.

Officers of the institutes already organized will please assist in getting the farmers out to hear these important questions discussed.

The state department of agriculture publishes, from time to time, valuable reports upon topics of vital interest to the farmers of the state. All institutes will receive copies of all bulletins issued by the department free of cost, and will be placed on the regular mailing list for future bulletins and reports.

These institutes are farmers' meetings devoted to the up-building of the best interests of the farmer. It is urged, therefore, that farmers bring their families and devote at least one day to a careful study and discussion of the agricultural questions which lie nearest their hearts.

FIRE PREVENTION.

Recently New York had a "fire prevention day." Officials and insurance companies co-operated to give demonstrations of the various methods of safeguarding property and particularly of avoiding fires by the observance of the laws and the exercise of care on the part of those in charge of property. This educational work should be continued without interruption. Every city should undertake to teach the people the truth that fire is a needless waste and if every one is careful there is no occasion whatever for these visitations. In the case of wires and pipes causing the ignition of woodwork, the blame is to be placed upon those who are responsible for the construction or the maintenance of the building. It is possible now to protect all electric wires so that they cannot cause the heating of adjacent materials and all forms of heating apparatus can be similarly covered so that they are innocuous. By keeping matches stored in tin boxes and out of the reach of children they are eliminated as a possible cause for fire. The fire loss in any city would be materially reduced if every person were careful in throwing away a match after lighting it or in casting aside burning cigar or cigarette stumps, says the Washington Star. Careful attention to greasy waste will prevent spontaneous combustion. Common sense in the kitchen will eliminate the danger of gasoline or oil explosions.

The Palestine exploration fund has made very interesting contributions to history. A press dispatch states that Messrs. Mackenzie and McAllister, working under the auspices of this organization, have unearthed the ancient city of Bethshemesh, about 30 miles from Jerusalem, which was the city of the tribe of Judah and allotted to the priests. Bethshemesh figured in early Jewish history in connection with the calamity that befell its inhabitants on account of their irreverent handling of the ark.

The number of deaths among aviators is larger than it was because the number of aviators and the number of trips are larger. Really the rate of mortality in aviation is undergoing steady reduction. European statisticians assert that last year's deaths of aviators averaged only one for each one hundred thousand miles of air flight, whereas the rate was one for each one thousand miles of flight as recently as three years ago.

Half a century ago the world was amazed by the discovery of spectrum analysis, which gave astronomers an opportunity to determine the physical composition of distant stars. Professor Wood of the department of experimental physics, has just discovered a new aid to investigations of this character—photographs taken by means of rays of light invisible to the human eye—the ultra-violet ray, the infra-red.

A cadet has been dropped from West Point and a student from Yale for getting married before graduation. The marrying instinct prevails sometimes over the higher education. But possibly the young benedicts will not be so strong for the connubial tendency after a few years' experience of marriage before education is completed.

An amateur hunter in Maine who killed a companion in mistake for a deer has been ordered to pay $500 as a fine to the orphan son of his victim. After a while amateur hunters will be complaining of the prohibitive fines which will put the chance of making such mistakes out of the reach of the deserving poor among hunters.

Despite reports of the continued killing of hunters and guides, under the impression that they were deer, an official statement from the Adirondacks is that 7,650 deer were killed in that region, and not a single guide or fellow hunter. Deduce as suits your taste whether this implies better aim or worse.

A college professor now declares that love of the romantic or clinging vine type is no good. Neither may suit college professors, but both have been in use long before college professors were thought of, and possibly will be found in the ring after the series of love have changed fashion.

A football star attempted to kidnap a Pennsylvania girl whom he had unsuccessfully courted and landed in jail. Probably he will have a chance now to compare the bars of the jail with those of a gridiron.

When Mr. Edison produces that talking moving picture will it get most of the silent charm of the movies disappear? How many have wished that "raters" were compelled to appear only in the movies?

Make Savings From Small Weekly Wages

By L. P. STEWART, London, Eng.

What self-help and thrift can do for a man is strikingly demonstrated by the case of John Morrison, a Yorkshire carpenter, who, although his wages had never exceeded $8.75 a week, had been able to leave behind him the substantial sum of $15,000, every penny of it the fruits of saving.

When he married, a little over forty years ago, he looked around to see what economies he could effect. He found that he had been spending at least $1.25 a week on beer and tobacco; these he could very well dispense with. That meant a saving of $65 a year. And this was the nucleus of his fortune.

A few weeks later his wages were raised from $7.50 a week to $8.75 weekly. He could rub along without the extra $1.25, and was thus able to put by $130 a year. When his savings had amounted to $500, he bought two cottages, borrowing three-fourths of the purchase money and paying off the loan out of the rents. He was a man of property now.

The appetite for thrift took full possession of him. He was fond of gardening, and he decided to turn his hobby and his spare time into money. He rented half an acre of land; his wife opened a shop for the sale of the produce, and the first year he was able to increase his savings to $5 a week, with which, in two years' time, he was able to buy two more houses.

And thus simply his fortune grew. House was added to house, each paying for its own purchase with its rent, until at sixty-nine he was able to retire on $750 a year, almost twice his highest wages as workman, and when he died to leave a good $15,000 behind him.

And what John Morrison could do, and did, others have done. Only a few weeks ago a workman confessed in a court of law that he had already saved $3,000 out of wages which had never exceeded $7.50 a week. "How did you do it?" asked the magistrate. "By a little self-denial, your worship," the man answered, and then proudly added: "And I've brought up four children, too; and now there's only me and the wife. I'm going to buy an annuity with it, which, they say, will come to more than $350 a year."

Bachelor Should Wear Tag of Some Kind

By Dorcas Galliano, San Francisco

And why should n't she? Women all have the same ideal! You may raise your voice loud and strong for "votes for women." I may coo in dulcet tones of "art for art's sake," but you know as well as I know that we are all dying to stay at home and be a slave for the "right man," and shower all the tenderness of our souls upon the little one.

But because youth is fleeting and Cupid a drone we get panicky the first pop into womanhood. We don't know who is who—and we blunder along dreaming dreams. Then nine times out of ten we get shoved into the jam jar with the news of: "Why, he's married and has six children."

At this crisis some of us fall for the "first chance." Others of us wait around in moody cynicism until the "last call for the altar" rouses us into action, and worst of all, there are some of us who never hear even the faintest echo of the "masculine want."

I am smiling as my pen runs along. I'm thinking of a nice fat old maid of my acquaintance who stands A No. 1 in "medicine." Incidentally she is frozen to the core:

I can hear her say: "Drat the men!!! And you, you hussey, you ought to be ashamed of yourself."

But nevertheless I know that we women are "the female of the species" first, last and always, and if we could be sure that (individually speaking) the man that "takes our eye" is a bachelor and that we are not treading on the private lawns of our sisters, we might arrive at the proper ways and means of turning "our ideal" into the right pasture where he could be kept corralled and happy for the rest of his three score and ten.

Improving Health by Taking Exercise

By E. R. RICKARD, Boston, Mass.

The remarkable results that have been obtained and are being obtained through nature's own methods in relieving men of their physical ailments and weaknesses.

Within a few months I have put on ten pounds in weight. This result in spite of the fact that for the past six years I have been under weight and never put on a pound, although I dieted and slept sufficiently at all times.

My late increase in weight and improvement in health were obtained through deep breathing, full relaxation and full contraction exercise, under competent direction, which is really the natural way for the body to get these things, and was the everyday way, before we were perverted through our sedentary habits and tense, fast living.

But my improvements were insignificant when compared to other men who were in worse condition than myself to start with. I know of a large number of men who have, through these same methods, been relieved of their nervousness, insomnia, obesity, constipation, headaches, rheumatism, anemia and almost every affliction in materia medica. I have often seen men who were run down to the verge of nervous prostration built up to robust health and strength.

If some physician were to procure such results by his prescription the achievement would be the talk of the town, but when nature works these wondrous results we accept them as a matter of fact and think nothing of it.

Helpful Little Facts About Catching Cold

By George F. Butler, A. M., M. D., Chicago

Taking cold is frequently the result of taking too much food. It is another name for foul air, an overloaded stomach and a disordered liver.

Lack of proper nourishment, indigestion, improper oxygenation and mental depression are by far the more direct and important causes than mere exposure.

The proper care of the skin is the best preventive.

The daily sponge bath with friction brush or with body to sun and air is simple and helps to prevent all other diseases.

What self-help and thrift can do for a man is strikingly demonstrated by the case of John Morrison, a Yorkshire carpenter, who, although his wages had never exceeded $8.75 a week, had been able to leave behind him the substantial sum of $15,000, every penny of it the fruits of saving.

BROOD SOW MANAGEMENT IS IMPORTANT

An Ideal Portable Hog House.

(By JOHN M. EVVARD, Iowa Experiment Station.)

To produce healthy litters it is not only necessary that the sows be fed correctly upon the feeds that furnish sufficient muscle, bone and energy making materials, but that they be handled wisely during the period of gestation.

The mother sow needs food for three important purposes: First, for her own maintenance; second, for growth on her own body, and, third, for the nourishment of the fetal pigs. Corn lacks muscle and bone formers, and, in addition, is too concentrated (not bulky enough for breeding swine). Tankage, meat meal, linseed oil meal, skim milk, buttermilk, bean, oats, middlings, shorts, soy beans, clover and alfalfa are the logical supplements to corn in the middle west.

At the Iowa station the most excellent rations for gilts carrying litters are:

1. Corn, 85 to 90 per cent.; meat meal or tankage containing 60 per cent. protein, 10 to 12 per cent.
2. Corn, 75 per cent.; finely cut clover or alfalfa, 25 per cent.
3. Corn, 80 per cent.; oats, chopped clover or alfalfa, 10 per cent.; meat meal or tankage, 10 per cent.

For old sows the proportion of meat meal or tankage can be cut down practically one-third to two-fifths and still get excellent results.

Stronger, healthier litters, having more hair, more color and more bone, have been the result whenever we added a suitable protein and ash supplement to corn. When we selected our supplements wisely we also got cheaper pigs. At present prices for purchased protein and ash supplements, meat meal and tankage are our cheapest sources.

Above all things, excepting the food supply only, an abundance of exercise is the most important. All classes of pregnant animals do well only when an abundant opportunity for exercise is allowed. The general tone and vigor of the mother is reflected in the offspring; the better the general health and condition of the dam, the stronger and more vigorous the young.

Range of pasture is perhaps the best of all. Allow the sows to follow cattle for a while, but be sure to remove them when they tend to become clumsy and heavy. Scatter the feed over the ground, such as sheep oats, soy bean hay, etc., and let the sows gather it. Feed on the side of the field opposite the sleeping bunks. Allow hay in racks, the eating of which is conducive to light exercise. Shut the sows from the houses in the middle of the day, rather than allow to huddle up and snore peacefully. Schemes to induce exercise cost little, yet the returns are considerable. Warmth, dryness, ventilation and sunlight are essentials of an ideal hoghouse. Such conducive conditions can be secured with a little forethought. Good, dry bedding is needed, and to be kept dry must be changed regularly. Arrange the houses so as to avoid draughts and heavy winds, preferably placing them in sheltered nooks. Although the hog can stand considerable cold, yet the breeding hog does not have the fat which ordinarily keep the fat hog warm; neither does the breeding sow have a warm coat, as the horse, for instance, roughs it. We have found in our experience that sensible shelter saves many cents.

We hog men cannot afford to feed our hard-earned corn and other grains to lice and worms. Crude oil is cheap, costs not more than $4 a barrel, is easily applied, and does the lice up brown and black—hence, you hesitate. It kills the nits at one application, and can be used in winter, because it is an oil, and does not evaporate. An old broom or sprinkling can, and a couple of hurdles, handled by two active men, is sufficient equipment for ridding the farm of hog lice.

Worms are a serious drawback. I know of no better remedy than san-tonin, six grains; calomel, four grains to a hundred pounds of hog, given once on an empty (twelve hours off feed) stomach, and repeated in ten days if necessary. It is not well to use any worm medicine upon sows within a couple of months from farrow, because all pregnant animals have some tendency to abort when given a strong laxative. The thing to do is to tend to the worms in time.

Laxativeness of the bowels is highly desirable, as constiveness is a menace. Plenty of exercise, combined with laxative feeds, such as tankage, oil meal, bran, alfalfa hay, etc., will largely solve the problem. However, if it does not, a week before farrowing an emergency remedy of an ounce of Epsom salts per hundred pounds of hog will help considerably.

FARM LIFE BEST FOR FAMILY MAN

Cost of Living in City Is So Much Higher Than Ordinary Man Saves Little.

(By J. C. CUMMINGS.)

To the Editor: I am glad to note the considerable interest being taken in small farms by those who have been bent on living in the city.

I am glad to state that I feel there is much more enjoyment and happiness on the small farm than there is in city life, and this I know through personal experience.

I am a carpenter by trade, learning the trade while living on a farm after a year or two. I thought I could make more money in the city, as wages were better, so I went to the city to work, getting wages ranging from 25 to 30 cents per hour.

I did not stop to figure the cost of living in the city, but I found that it was so much higher than in the country that at the end of each month I was where I started.

Finally in despair I decided to move back to the country on a small farm. We got some chickens, a cow and a hog, and soon found our living came much easier and I also find I have all the work I can do at my trade.

While wages are less per day than in the city, we get our board in connection, which lessens the expense. Farm life is more healthful and pleasant than city life.

What, for instance, is more enjoyable than to go out and see a nice flock of chickens and at the end of a day gather a few dozen eggs; at night and morning milk a good cow and have your own good sweet butter and pure milk for use, and then at the end of the summer put your winter supply of produce in the cellar?

This is all possible on the small farm, and I am certain that if many of our city brothers knew the advantages of the small farm, they would only cry "back to the farm," but would go.

ANSWERS GIVEN TO POULTRY QUESTIONS

Few Problems Regarding Incubators and Hatching Eggs Treated by Expert.

(By M. BOYER.)

W. E. R.—The dryer the air in the incubator, the more rapid the evaporation.

E. R. T.—The little eggs in the incubator throw off very little heat for about the first two weeks.

R. T. Y.—A high temperature during the early part of the hatch is apt to prove fatal.

T. Y. U.—A rise of temperature to 110 degrees on the eleventh day, if not too prolonged, will not necessarily prove fatal.

I. O. P.—After removing the infertile eggs from the machine, spread out the fertile ones so that they occupy the same relative position to one another.

A. S. D.—The White Holland turkey variety are among the heaviest layers.

S. D. F.—Inbreeding, lice, dampness and improper food are causes of great mortality among turkeys.

D. F. G.—Never breed from the same gobbler more than one year, unless the same breeding hens are also retained for another season.

F. G. H.—Maryland and Philadelphia dry-picked turkeys command the highest market prices, not only for the reason that the turkeys are fat and usually of a fine grade, but that they are well bled in killing, which naturally gives the skin a bleached, white appearance.

H. N. M.—A quick growth and development, with nearly maturity, must come from food.

Attention to the Cockerels.

Instead of keeping half a dozen cockerels that are deformed and otherwise unfit for duty, sell them all off and get one or two good ones. One cock can care for fifteen or twenty pullets. Better have blood than scrub.

Few Trees Planted.

On last Saturday a few faithful boosters responded to the call for park improvement and in the consequence something like two hundred trees were planted out. 100 of these were purchased and the balance were donated. W. T. Wilson, Walter and Wheeler Foster and A. A. Callahan gave those latter. D. B. Veatch, who has had years of experience with all kinds of trees in this section, superintended the setting of the trees and a few other citizens assisted with the work.

This last campaign resulted in the setting of one more block of the park to trees, which finished the west half. The east half has not a single tree and it is a lamentable fact that the majority of the people of town are not in the least interested in this worthy cause. The town-site owners gave the plot of ground and enclosed it with a splendid fence. One block on the west side has been planted to trees at different times by public spirited men.

There now remains the east half to be beautified. Let us bear this in mind and not lose an opportunity to lend aid to this worthy effort to improve a plot that will some day be the pride of the community.

At a recent meeting of the town council the use of the park was again awarded to F. L. Cooke, who has cared for it the past few years, and it is safe to say that it will be well cared for and the trees properly cultivated.

Died.

At five o'clock on Monday afternoon of this week, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Mabry in the south part of town, Blanche, two year old daughter of Mr and Mrs. Ed Mabry of Ramsdell, departed this life after an illness lasting over a period of six weeks. Funeral services were conducted at the local cemetery on Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock by Rev. J. T. Bryant, pastor of the Presbyterian church, and the little form laid tenderly to rest.

Blanche was born on the 10th of June, 1911, and died the 31st of March, 1913, being twenty-one months and three days old.

The parents had been here for two weeks, having brought the little one to be nearer medical aid and everything that human ingenuity and tender affection could accomplish was done.

The grief stricken parents have the sympathy of hosts of friends in this sad loss.

Mortuary.

Mrs. Sarah Gaston Walling departed this life March 29, 1913, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. P. J. Spencer, in McLean, Texas.

Mrs. Wallings was born in Lawrenceville, Ill., on the 19th of August, 1840. She became a christian in early girlhood and united with the Christian church, and has lived a devoted member all these years. She lived an untiring, unselfish, exemplary christian life. Her devoted husband preceded her a little over a year to his eternal home.

The daughter left on the east-bound train Sunday with the body of her dear mother to place it by the side of her father in the old family cemetery at Bedford, Okla.

Mrs. Walling leaves a daughter, son and one grandson, with a host of other relatives and friends to mourn her departure.

A sad separation, but a glorious reunion up yonder with her husband and three children who had preceded her. And better still, to be with her Lord and forever be at peace and rest from all her labors.

She was a member of the Eastern Star and was tenderly cared for by members of that fraternity here. As her light shone while here as a noble member and faithful character and a true and affectionate mother, so will she shine throughout eternity in the mansion prepared for her where there will be no need of sun nor moon to give light. Her works will follow her. Her influence shall be felt long after her body has returned to dust which gave it. Her life shall live in the lives of her children and those she mingled with while here.

Her last six weeks were spent in suffering, but it was borne without a murmur—borne with a marked degree of patience and courage. Much of this time was spent in singing and prayer. Her favorite songs were "Nearer My God, to Thee" and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere." Her last words were: "The Lord will answer prayer." And soon she fell asleep in Jesus.

Weep not, dear ones, for she is at rest and you shall meet her in the sweet by and bye.

J. T. BRYANT.

Spelling Match Tonight.

According to arrangements made through Prof. S. R. Loftin, superintendent of the Alameda schools, members of the spelling corps of that little city will tackle the champions of the art in this city tonight at the school auditorium under the auspices of the local Mothers' Club.

There will be probably a dozen of the visiting spellers here and they have been drilling themselves for the fray for the past several weeks. It is a safe prediction that those of the locals who go against them will find in them a foe worthy of their steel. Commander-in-Chief J. H. Horton of this city is marshalling his forces with care and precision and in consequence both sides are strong in the hope of victory.

An admission charge of ten cents will be made to all persons attending the match and the funds will be used in forwarding the work of the Mothers' Club.

Election Slow.

While very little interest was manifested in the city election, which was held at the J. L. Crabtree real estate office Tuesday of this week, it might be truthfully said that the forty-two game developed considerable enthusiasm and some very high scores were made.

A total of twenty-eight votes were cast and through their instrumentality the following officers were elected to serve the city in their respective capacities for the next twelve months: Mayor, J. T. Foster.

Marshall, W. J. Pennington. Councilmen: W. T. Wilson, T. A. Cooke, A. A. Callahan, W. C. Cheney and D. B. Veatch. The personal of a new board is the same as the one now serving, every member being re-elected. The mayor and city marshal were also re-elected.

Laymen Organized.

The laymen of the different churches in this city held a meeting at 2 o'clock on last Saturday afternoon and organized a "Layman's Movement" for the purpose of taking up a course of study. The first book that will demand the attention of the society will be "The Church and the Open Country." Officers were elected as follows:

W. E. O'Neal, teacher. Geo. Weaver, assistant. Rev. J. C. Carpenter, secretary-treasurer.

A committee composed of J.

Arts and Crafts Club.

The meeting of the Arts and Crafts Club for the last term of the work for the year was held in the auditorium Friday afternoon, March 28th. The newly elected officers presided with grace and dignity. The program was one of the best that has been rendered during the entire term. The club began its work in sculpture, architecture and crafts work.

The table talk was one of the most entertaining features of the program. Mary Erwin very intelligently introduced the discussion on the subject. "We should do the things that need to be made as beautifully as possible," and she discussed the subject in a very interesting manner.

For the past two terms the club has discussed painting, music and crafts work. It is the purpose of directors to give, during this remaining term, the origin of sculpture and of architecture, which is said to be the unit of all art, and to discuss the importance of each and its place in the world of art.

Much enthusiasm was manifested by the girls during the entire afternoon. It is pleasant to note that the interest does not lag as the last term draws near, but that each girl was eager to do what was assigned her on the program. All shall strive to make this the most interesting and the most profitable term of the two years' work.

Following are the officers elected for the remaining term of school:

President—Vita Heasley. Vice president—Maude Gardenhire. Secretary—Susie Beall. Treasurer—Ellen Anderson. Press Reporter—Grace Hamilton.

The office of critic was not filled as one of the directors always serves in that capacity.

GRACE HAMILTON,

Press Reporter.

Fire Destroys Home.

About four o'clock yesterday morning W. R. Wise, who is farming the Van Decar place four miles north of town, was awakened by the smell of smoke and upon investigation found that a shed room to the house, which had been used as a kind of plunder room, was afire. He awakened the rest of the family, who made a hasty toilet and rushed out with what things they could carry in their hands, escaping just as the flames were spreading to the entire building. Some bedding, a dresser and sewing machine was all that they could save before entrance to the building was cut off. The balance of the household goods and clothing was destroyed, as well as the smoke house and other outbuildings. Included in the loss was all the meat and lard that Mr. Wise had put up for his year's supply. There was no insurance.

Just how the fire started at that unheard of hour is a mystery, as the room in which it started had not been entered in weeks and was only used to stow away plunder. It is barely possible that rats and matches could have caused the fire and with nothing better to go on this is the conclusion reached.

Mr. Wise has been here about two years and was making for himself a nice little stat when this sudden blow wiped out practically everything he had accumulated. Many friends have proffered assistance and a subscription list passed by Bob Harlan was readily responded to, something like $100 being the result.

Delightful Entertainment.

On Thursday afternoon of this week from three until six o'clock, a party of friends enjoyed a delightful entertainment at the home of Mrs. Earl S. Hurst. Progressive forty-two was the principal feature of the afternoon's enjoyment. During the afternoon delicious refreshments consisting of pimiento sandwiches, olives, salad, tea and nabiscos was served. Mrs. Hurst was assisted in administering to the enjoyment of her guests by Mrs. W. M. Massay. Those present were:

Mesdames J. L. Crabtree, S. E. Boyett, S. O. Cook, T. M. Wolfe, J. H. Horton, C. A. Watkins, Fred O'Dell, J. W. Kibler, A. G. Richardson, D. B. Veatch, Emma LeFors, Chas. Hedrick and W. M. Massay and Misses Nora Beall and Alma Watkins.

TO MEET MAIL ORDER PRICES

Did you know that it is not entirely our fault that we do not meet the mail order house prices? Had you ever considered the many little items of expense that go to make our profits smaller?
For instance we are carrying about $4,000.00 on our books that represent the accommodation we extend to our customers. This costs us about $40.00 per month on the money and about $60.00 per month to take care of it and keep it in shape, to say nothing of the amount we lose entirely.
You could help us to this extent by giving us the same "pay in advance" treatment you extend to the mail order house.
Another thing. We pay taxes on our stock to help defray the expenses of local government. The mail order house pays no taxes here. We pay a license to do business in town. The mail order house pays no license.
There are many other little items of expense to which the mail order house is not subject, and yet are essential in order that we may be ready to serve our customers at all times with just what they want when they want it.
Will you meet us on half way ground in the matter of meeting mail order competition? We are anxious to please you and serve with the best goods at the very lowest prices and at the same time do ourselves justice.

VERY CURIOUS FRYING PAN

Interesting Relic in the Cluny Museum in Paris—Its Remarkable History.

At the Cluny museum in Paris a very interesting relic, of which the history is very curious, is on display. It appears that one day, a year or so ago, the curator of the museum happened to visit a small restaurant in the suburb of Saint Denis, in which the same room served for dining room and kitchen.

While waiting to be served, the proprietor's eye was caught by a frying pan of most unusual appearance that hung upon the wall. He took it down, carefully removed some of the soot with which it was covered, and made out part of an inscription. What he found interested him so much that he bought the old pan.

When it was properly cleaned, it was found to bear the arms of France and Navarre, surrounded by the chain of St. Louis and the cord of the Order of Saint Esprit, and this inscription as well:

"Here lies the magnificent prince King Louis XIV., king of France and Navarre. Requiescat in pace."

It was the plate that had been fastened to the coffin of Louis XIV. When the burial vaults of the royal family in the populace in 1793, it had been wrenched from the coffin, fitted with a handle, and turned into a frying pan. The relic may now be seen in the Cluny museum. The handle has been removed, but three holes show where it was attached.

Eggsactly.
 "Eggs are getting so expensive that fried eggs will be used next for frying women's hats."

STRENGTH
 Without Overloading The Stomach.

The business man, especially, needs food in the morning that will not overload the stomach, but give most vigor for the day.

"For years I was unable to find breakfast food that had nutriment enough to sustain a business man without overloading his stomach, causing indigestion and kindred ailments."

"Since that morning I have been a new man; can work without tiring, my head is clear and my nerves strong and quiet."

"I find four teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts with one of sugar and a small quantity of cold milk, is delicious on the cereal part of the morning meal and invigorates me for the day's work."

Never read the above letter? A copy will be sent to you free of charge. The name is Grape-Nuts, and full of benefits.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 178 West Jackson boulevard, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose two-cent stamp for reply.

For an average-sized family of moderate means, the house design here illustrated offers many suggestions well worthy of careful study.

In order to have both front and back stairs, it is necessary to build a little larger, because no one likes to encroach on the bedrooms or closets, and stairways take up room which much be provided in some way. Some housekeepers lay great stress on the advantages of both front and back stairways, while others care but little whether they have one stairway or two. If a person has $2,500 or $3,000 to invest in a home, I think it advisable to build large enough so that the house may contain every modern convenience.

In this plan attention is given to everything that a family of four or six persons would need. There are four good bedrooms, each having a clothes closet, and there also is a linen closet in the hall. Three wash basins are provided, with hot and cold running water, one of these being between the reception hall and dining room, which makes a very convenient wash room for a hurried toilet just before dinner and to teach the children clean table habits. This little wash stand is not in a dark cubby-hole, such as we often see, but is directly opposite a small window that lights not only the washstand but the mirror over it. This little convenience takes no room, being placed in a nook which otherwise would be of no practical benefit. It is the planning of such conveniences that makes the difference between a modern, up-to-date house and one that just answers for a shelter.

Opening off the largest bedroom is another little wash room. In a house as large as this, there may be several men in the family, and one bathroom the defects of another. The trouble is most people do not understand grates and their peculiarities. Everybody loves a grate fire; but some women have an exaggerated dread of the care of a grate, because they have never learned how to manage one. Old maids also are afraid of men, because they can't manage them. They have never had the experience. In both cases it would pay the women to spend a little time in investigations along proper lines. There are great possibilities to be worked out.

It would be difficult to find a more convenient kitchen than this plan provides. The kitchen is the center of activity in a house. In this case the arrangement is about as nearly perfect as it could be. The sink is in a well-lighted corner next to the pantry door. There is a great deal of running between the sink and the pantry at dish-washing time. Every step saved means less miles of travel for the housekeeper.

The pantry is part of the kitchen, and it is part of the dining room—it belongs to both. It has a window to light it, as all pantries should have; and it has two doors to shut out the odors of cooking from the rest of the house. The pantry has shelves for dishes on one side and cupboards for other things on the other side, that are well lighted, being opposite the window. The china cupboard, while it comes out of the pantry, really belongs to the dining room. There is a kitchen pot cupboard, which is a great convenience every day in the year. It provides a place for stewpans, griddles, preserving kettles, laundry tools, empty fruit jars and a great many other things that a housekeeper wants in the pantry or exposed in the kitchen proper.

There is another kitchen convenience in the shelves at the top of the cellar stairs. There are many things which may be kept on these shelves, that otherwise would have to go in the cellar because they do not belong in the kitchen.

From this kitchen it is easy to go upstairs, and it is easy to go down to the cellar. In the course of a day there are a good many trips made both ways. The great value of this kitchen is its accessibility in both directions. You can go downstairs for a pan of potatoes, or you can go upstairs to sweep and make the beds without being obliged to take very many unnecessary steps. A modern house is just as much of an invention as a new machine in a manufacturing establishment. It saves time and labor.

RECALLS LITERARY MYSTERY

A literary mystery of a hundred years ago is recalled by the special centenary number, recently issued, of the Newry Telegraph, an Ulster tri-weekly. In its pages April 19, 1817, under the simple heading of "Poetry," appeared what Byron called "the most perfect ode in the language"—"The Burial of Sir John Moore." Byron or Campbell or any of the others to whom this poem was variously ascribed would doubtless have been proud to claim it. But the author was the obscure curate of Hallyclog, in Tyrone, Rev. Charles Wolfe, and the fame of the piece was but a posthumous fame for him. Not until his death, of consumption, in 1823, at the early age of thirty-two, did the authorship become known to the world. And Wolfe, who wrote much other verse of merit, is remembered only by that one poem which sprang from the columns of a provincial newspaper to universal recognition in the big world.

New Grand Central Terminal

A wonderful city, within a city, built for the comfort and convenience of the traveling public.

The main Grand Central Terminal Building in New York is now open to the public. This vast improvement is more than a great railway Terminal—it is a Terminal City, complete in itself, providing every detail essential to comfort and convenience.

It will embrace convention, amusement and exhibition halls, hotels, clubs and restaurants; post office, express offices, modern apartment and office buildings, and numerous stores and specialty shops.

Grand Central Terminal is the heart of New York. At Forty-second St. and Park Ave. (Fourth Ave.), one block from Fifth Ave. and convenient to Broadway.

It is the only Terminal on all lines of local traffic—subway, surface and elevated. More than 7,000 cars pass its doors every day, affording easy transit facilities to any part of Greater New York. Around it, and within a radius of a few blocks, are forty-nine hotels, fifty-eight clubs and thirty-five theatres.

Three new lines of underground transportation are now building to Grand Central Terminal, and soon there will be six levels for human traffic in Forty-second Street.

Underneath the Terminal City and its streets are 33 miles of railway tracks on two separate levels, the upper for Through Service, the lower for Suburban Service.

Each level forms a complete terminal in itself, separate entrances and exits, with equal facilities for the comfort of passengers.

Both levels are reached by gently inclined walks. No stair climbing, and no confusion, since incoming and outgoing traffic is separated.

Ticket, Pullman, Baggage and other facilities are progressively arranged from waiting room to train, no step need be retraced.

Plan your trip East over the New York Central Lines; enjoy restful sleep on the "Water Level Route," three hours of picturesque grandeur along the historic Hudson and enter

Open Your Sack

It's a health and a 60 change is telling the story of a boy who went to town to sell his rabbits to sell. He strolled about the streets all day when dark overtook him trudged wearily home without having made a sale. When his mother asked him why he did not sell his rabbits he said that no one had asked him what he had in the sack.

There merchants and business men who virtually do the same thing. They have the goods to sell but wait calmly for someone to ask them what they have in the sack. "Everybody knows we are here," they will tell the advertising solicitor. Everybody knew the boy was in town, but no one knew that he wanted to sell them rabbits. They all know you are in business of some kind, but they are apt to forget just what particular line of merchandise you are handling.

Mail order houses keep their sack open and are continually buying public that they have everything they can buy—and the citizen is patronizing them. You are in business and the world knows it. You are in business and the world knows it. You are in business and the world knows it.

A Remarkable Find.

Last Sunday, the writer, accompanied by his brother, T. J. Kellis, while rambling in the mountains near town, came upon a partially exposed human skull, in a small cave in the side of a mountain. On removing some of the earth, it was found that the skull had been wrapped in a beautiful beaded mantle, which had so decayed that it fell apart on being removed. The beads are of all colors, sizes and shapes. Some are glass, porcelain and hand painted china. About two quarts of these beads were gathered and carried away by the finders.

The next things unearthed were a bracelet and four finger rings, made of some metal resembling an alloy of gold, silver and copper. These trinkets are of crude workmanship and are, no doubt, of Indian manufacture.

Then came a tribal totem, made of the sacred red pipestone, in the image of a crouching bear. It is of exquisite workmanship, and shows that its maker must have spent much time and pains in its making. A part of it is highly polished and must have been a great value to its owner during his lifetime.

Among the debris, was found an old conical bullet, which was used in the old Colt's navy six-shooters in use fifty or sixty years ago, and may have been the messenger which summoned this brave to his Happy Hunting Ground in the days when this country was being disputed by the red men.

But the most remarkable find in this cave sepulchre, was a sterling silver cup, about the size and shape of an ordinary, pint dinner goblet, and from its position with the skull it must have served as a cap piece for the beaded war bonnet of the defunct brave. A part of this cup was perfectly bright, while that part which lay next to the decaying body was coated with a foulsmelling, greasy canker, which had to be treated with chemicals before it could be deodorized. The cup is of exquisite workmanship and beauty. On the rim of the pedestal is stamped in roman letters, "I Warner." Then follows the figure of a horse's head, and again the Roman letters, "Ster." On the opposite side of these, in script, is engraved, "For the best Carlisle Colt—1830." This cup is in perfect condition, and can be seen, along with the other things in the show window of Butler Drug Company, Sterling City, Texas.

The finders of this cup are anxious to know its history, and should the rightful owner prove up his claim they will take pleasure in restoring it to him. Who knows of a "Carlisle" breed of horses, and where was a fair held at which prizes were given "For the best Carlisle Colt—1830?"—for, indeed, this cup must have been given as a prize.

If this cup could speak, what a thrilling tale it could tell. Of the joy it gave the recipient on the occasion of his triumph over his competitors! Of what was said when it was presented in 1830, of how it was treasured with other precious things; of how the owner emigrated to the west, filled with the buoyant hopes in the future of the land of the setting sun. Oh how he was surprised, murdered amid the hideous yells of the red men, and his treasures taken by the exultant savages. Of how it became the cap piece of a chieftain's war bonnet, and how it glittered in the sun light. Of how this chieftain met the white man with his deadly sixshooter, and how valiantly he fought and died. Of how his good friends crept over the battle ground at night and laid the body in the cave where it was found last Sunday. What a tale it could tell.

We would consider it a special favor if other papers would copy this, in hope that it might meet the eyes of someone who could tell the story of this relic. —Sterling City News-Record.

Citation.

The State of Texas, To the Sheriff or any Constable of Gray County GREETING:

You are hereby commended to summon C. E. Pettit by making publication of this citation each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in the McLean News, a weekly newspaper published at McLean, Gray County, Texas; to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Gray County, Texas, to be holden at the court house thereof in LeFors, Texas, on the fourth Monday in March, A. D. 1913, the same being the 31st day of March, A. D. 1913; then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 5th day of March, A. D. 1913, in a suit numbered on the civil docket of said court No. 159, wherein D. N. Massay is plaintiff and J. W. Davidson, A. B. Gardenhire, William Farren, V. B. Farren, S. A. Biggers and C. E. Pettit are defendants; said petition alleging that on October 1st 1906, Davidson and Gardenhire bought of Thomas R. White, Jr., Section No. 13, in Block 24, Certificate No. 12-2476, H. & G. N. Ry. Co., in Wheeler County, Texas, Original Grantee; and gave in part payment for said land and premises their five promissory notes all in the sum of $282.00, with interest from date at eight per cent per annum maturing October first 1907, 1908, 1909, 1910 and 1911, and providing for ten per cent on past due amounts and ten per cent attorneys fees. August the 10th, 1907, Davidson and Gardenhire sold this land to William Farren, who assumed the payment of the above notes as a part of the consideration for said land, and in addition executed six of his promissory notes aggregating $3490.00 and bearing interest at eight per cent and providing for ten per cent attorneys fees. Plaintiff alleges that in the above deeds a lien was retained against said land and premises to secure the payment of all the notes. That he is the owner and holder of all the notes. That on the 11th of July, 1912, Farren sold said land and premises to C. E. Pettit who assumed the payment of said notes. Plaintiff sues on both sets of notes and to have his lien foreclosed reserved to secure the payment of said notes as one lien and for a personal judgment for such amount as said sale of land shall leave remaining unpaid. Plaintiff alleges that he is owner and holder of the first series of notes from the assignees of Thomas R. White, Jr., and the second set from S. A. Biggers an assignee of Davidson and Gardenhire, who is sued as an indorser to plaintiff, also for general and special relief both legal and equitable, interest, attorneys fees and costs of suit.

Herein fail not, but have before said court on the said first day of the next term thereof, this writ, with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same.

Witness C. L. Upham Clerk of the District Court of Gray County, Texas. Given under my hand and the seal of said court in LeFors, Texas, this 5th day of March, A. D. 1913. C. L. UPHAM, Clerk of the District Court of Gray County, Texas. I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of the original.
