STRANGER THAN FICTION

The freakish ways in which criminals are sometimes brought to book can, occasionally, outdo the most far-fetched inventions of the novelist.

Consider, for example, the way in which the government was able to round up the Harvey Bailey gang in Texas.

Young Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma oil man, was kidnapped and held prisoner in a Texas farmhouse. He had no idea where he was but he noticed that every morning and every evening and airplane flew over the house. One morning it failed to show up. So when he was freed and had told his story, it was a simple matter for the detectives to find out what airplane line was involved, to discover just what deviation in the scheduled flight had taken place on that particular morning, and, in that way, to locate the neighborhood in which Urschel had been held prisoner.

A dangerous bandit gang rounded up because an airplane had to make a detour one day to avoid bad weather—would any novelist dare invent anything as far-fetched as that?

THOSE NAZI ZEALOTS

The Nazi zealots who are in power in Germany have found a number of ways to make themselves look ridiculous, but in nothing have they succeeded quite as completely as in their current desire to keep "Aryan" girls from having dates with Jewish boy friends.

A Nazi daily paper published at Bismarck, Baden, makes a practice of printing each day the names of girls who have dates with Jewish boys. The column is headed: "In the Pillory—Jews' Sweethearts." Just how these names are obtained is not quite clear, unless jealous Aryan lads are invited to squeal; but in any case the whole stunt seems to be about as petty and non-sensical as anything the Nazis have yet devised.

A national political party which descends to meddling with the dates a girl can have has got down to a pretty low level.

"Telegraph Communication Of Today" Subject Of B. J. Cooke, Local Western Union Manager, Before Rotary Club

Following is a report of speech given by B. J. Cooke, local manager of Western Union Telegraph company, before the Rotary club at its meeting Tuesday. Mr. Cooke was one of three Rotarians who took part in a Vocational Service program.

The telegraph has become a very important factor in the world of today. Growing from the time when it was merely an idea in a man's head, and later when the first message was sent over a wire for a short distance, to the mammoth system of telegraph communication of today, it is regrettable that the man who sent those first few words, "What hath God wrought?" could not be here to the end of time to see the progress that is a direct culmination of his experiment. Today it is an accepted factor of our everyday life.

practically a public utility, and we in the telegraph work regard it as such. A task complicated giving the uses of the telegraph in business lists 31. This is in business alone, and does not include the everyday use of greeting friends, keeping in touch with someone traveling, having money wired, thus eliminating the necessity of carrying large sums on trips, obtaining money quickly to close some business deal, sending it in Gift Order form when you are puzzled as to what to give, and numerous other uses where it is desired to get information and money from one point to another quickly and effectively.

"If you ever have the opportunity to visit the relay floor of the Western Union in the Western Union building in Dallas, which, incidentally, is one of the largest relay offices in the world, you will see something you will never forget; On a floor covering a good part of a city block you will see row after row of machines, simple, multiple, quadruple, concentration units and everything that goes with a relay office of that size. A maze of tubes overhead, belt conveyers, messenger boys and girls, all carrying messages from one circuit to another, all with one object, to speed up the handling and transmission of your message. In many of the large relay points these messenger boys and girls are on roller skates, and are certainly masters of the art. But the thing that catches your eye eventually is the touch of the past given by the tables of Morse operation on one side, and at these tables sit white haired gentlemen operating their Morse keys. Gentlemen of the "Old School." The scene is so symbolic of the passing of time, the advance, and progress of the ages.

"At this point I wish to explain why the Morse system is being replaced by the automatic telegraph typewriters. It is a natural step in the communication work, a result of the desire to place at the public disposal the most modern and efficient equipment possible. Next it is because of the desire to increase accuracy in the handling and transmission of your message. By use of the telegraph typewriter we can check back to the origin of any error that may occur, it also affords the operators a better opportunity to check their own work, as what the sending operator sends comes out of her machine on a tape, and she therefore has the chance to check what she has sent, a written proof, and if she sees an error in her tape she immediately corrects it. The receiving operator has the same, as a narrow strip of gummed yellow tape comes out of the receiving telegraph typewriter and on this is printed the message and the sending operator has sent, this tape is quickly gummed down on a message blank, and examination will readily reveal any mistakes which have been made. If one is noticed, the receiving operator immediately requests a correction of the error by the operator who originally sent the message. We do this rather than trust to a local correction by the receiving operator in order to guard against the possibility of incorrect judgment. You can see from the above that there is a minimum chance for any error to get through. In Morse operation you do not have this means of checking operation. A sending operator cannot prove that he sent a certain letter, or word, neither can the receiving operator prove that a distant letter, or word, came over the wire to him. From the way I have been speaking of errors in what I have said you might get the mistaken idea that there are many made. This is not true, as I have merely been showing you our methods of keeping these at the lowest figure possible. The Western Union has an excellent high standard required on operation. A sending operator must make a grade of 90%, or a maximum of 10 errors in 100 messages including errors she is conscious of and corrects herself, sending tape is constantly graded to see that this high standard is maintained. In receiving she must make a grade of 85% or better. The latter is graded on the appearance of the message when ready for release; the even margin, straight lines, indentations, loose tape, etc.

Next I wish to give you a few facts concerning the telegraph systems of today: There are 25,289 telegraph offices, of these 22,487 are Western Union. There are 87,281 telegraph employees of which 58,204 are Western Union. There are 249,592 miles of poles carrying

Two Hostesses Give Shower For Bride

Mrs. Harvey Shackelford and Miss Imogene Runyan entertained Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Leslie Thomas complimenting Mrs. Charles Frost, nee Morrison, a recent bride, with a pretty miscellaneous shower.

Bride was the diversion of the afternoon. Miss Northington made high score and received a deck of cards which she presented to the honoree. Mrs. Frost won high cut and was given a manicure set.

After the games the gifts were presented to the bride who opened the packages and passed them to the guests to see.

The pink motif of the party was carried out in the desert course of

Simmons Football Training To Begin

ABILENE—Under the direction of Coach Leslie Cranfill and Line-coach Charles Anderson, the Simmons University Cowboys will open training here on Monday, September 11, for a busy season of eleven games, which includes four of the strongest teams in the Southwest.

Twenty-three men, the smallest squad in recent years, will furnish the material from which Coach Cranfill will attempt to build a winning combination. To balance this lack of reserve, the Cowboy mentor is depending heavily on eleven letter men, ten of whom are playing their fourth year of college football.

Letter men who will report are: Jimmy Neely, G. L. Huestia, and Odell Winters, ends; Carr Sprabery, J. B. Neely, and Jake Bentley, guards; Lloyd Cope, center; Will Edwards, Toul, quarter; Eugene McCollum and Guy Creighton, half-backs; Carl Pee, fullback.

Members of the 1932 squad returning are: William Ramsey and

"I should like to go into the mechanical and electrical means by which messages are transmitted today by the telegraph typewriter, as it is very interesting, but time does not permit. I shall be only too glad, however, to have any of you come to the office where I will show you how it is done."

Mr. Kelly, of the Southern Ice and Utilities related an interesting incident of a message a party wished delivered in the mountains. The Western Union at the point of destination organized a pack train and sent a man into the mountains to find the address. The pack train was gone a week and then returned with the answer. This was done on the strength of special messenger fee being guaranteed, what was wanted was an answer, and it was obtained.

FORD

There are not three cars of equal importance in the low priced field. There are two cars that compare favorably together, but there is ONE CAR OF SUCH OUTSTANDING VALUE that were it not for the fact that HENRY FORD created the low price field this car would be selling for three or four hundred dollars more money. The only lucky thing for you is that Ford decided to keep it in the low priced field. The Ford V-8 has definite features of superiority over our opposition. It is placed in COMPETITION with far more expensive cars. It has features only found in high priced cars. Drive it. You will like it.

Late Summer Meals are Best of All

The School Child's Lunch Should Be Of Nutritious Food

Now that vacation days are practically over it's important to bend every energy toward preserving the bubbling vitality the holidays bring. Plenty of sleep, exercise, and most of all good food—will achieve this end. If the child carries his lunch to school the mother should see to it that his box is packed with simple, nutritious food. She should see to it that some provision is made at school for a hot drink at noon. Soup, hot cocoa or milk are desirable. Many modern schools are equipped with cafeterias—nearly all in charge of competent dietitians. If the child is fortunate enough to attend one of these institutions the mother has little cause for worry. If however, her child must take his lunch the following suggestions may be helpful.

A recent survey showed that school children prefer the following foods:

- Sandwiches of tuna or salmon.
- Hard cooked eggs.
- Bread and butter.
- Milk.
- Fresh fruits.

The boxed lunch should contain sandwiches of meat, cheese, peanut butter or jam. A small cake may be added but rich heavy sweets are not advisable at noon time. Fresh fruit—an apple, pear, peach, orange or banana are better.

If the child is fortunate enough to live within walking distance of home the mother should always plan to have at least one hot dish at noon. Even though the lunch period is limited this rule should be observed. If time permits some

Only One Hot Food Is Essential For Hot Summer Day Dinners

Meals of chilled foods and beverages make a greater appeal to warm summer, if we have one hot dish—a soup, vegetable or beverage—the remainder of the meal may be cold. One hot food is essential for health. Meatless dinners should be featured during warm weather. Below are menus for easily-prepared warm weather dinners which will mean delightful meals and cool kitchens on the days you serve them:

Chilled Tomato Juice Cold Ham Loaf*
Buttered Carrots or Green Beans Molded Supper Salad*
Preserved Sweet Gherkins Refrigerator Jelly Roll Iced Tea

(Vegetarian Dinner)
Cream of Pea Soup (Use a ready-to-serve soup)
Crackers
Tomato Surprise Salad*
Spinach with Hard-cooked Eggs Parkerhouse Rolls
Fruit Preserves
Apple Butter Custard Tart*

(* Indicates that recipes are given below.)
Cold Ham Loaf: Mix 1 lb. cured ham, raw and 1-2 lb. fresh pork ground together twice with 2 cups Rice Flakes, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce, 1 egg, 3-4 cup milk, and pepper. Pat into a loaf and bake in roaster with a little water around it for about 1 hour, in a moderate oven (400 degrees F.). Chill and slice.

Molded Supper Salad: Soak one tablespoon gelatin in 1-4 cup cold water five minutes and dissolve in 1-3 cup boiling water. Add 3 tablespoons Pure Vinegar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1-3 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 3-4 cup diced celery, 1 cup shredded cabbage, 1 cup cooked peas and mix thoroughly. Turn into individual molds which have been dipped in cold water. Chill, and serve in nests of crisp lettuce with Mayonnaise Dressing.

Weary Summer Appetites Whetted By Plate Meals; Save Steps, Too

Plate meals interest every woman who wishes to reduce the labor of summer meal preparation. All the food for the main course is placed on the luncheon or dinner plate before taking it to the table, thus saving many steps and reducing the number of dishes used. Plate meals, attractively arranged, have a greater appeal to weary summer appetites than large serving dishes of food. The luncheon menu suggested below is most attractive and practical for a summer guest luncheon. All the preparation except assembling, may be done in advance of the guests' arrival.

Luncheon Plate*
Hot Biscuit or Buttered Rolls
Date Fluff with Whipped Cream*
 (* Indicates that recipes are given below.)
Luncheon Plate: On each luncheon plate arrange five crisp lettuce leaves of uniform size. Place leaves so that stem ends meet in the center so as to resemble petals. In one lettuce leaf arrange a serving of meat or fish salad. In another a chilled deviled egg. In the third a mound of Preserved Sweet Gherkins. In the next chilled quarters of tomato and slices of cucumber topped with a spoonful Roquefort cheese dressing and in the final one a mound of Spanish Queen or Ripe Mission Olives.

Tuna Fish Salad: Place 1 7 oz. can white tuna fish in a sieve and pour hot water over it to remove oil. Chill and flake, being careful to leave in good sized pieces. Add 1 cup diced celery, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon sugar, pepper to taste, and Mayonnaise Salad Dressing to moisten. Chill before serving.

Deviled Egg Salad: Cut 4 hard cooked eggs in half lengthwise. Mash yolks, season with salt, pepper, butter, Prepared Mustard and Pure Vinegar. Mince potted ham may be added if desired. Refill the whites, sprinkle lightly with paprika, and serve two halves in a nest of crisp lettuce.

Roquefort Cheese Dressing: Cream 1 package (1 1/2 oz.) Roquefort cheese with 1-2 package (1 1/2 oz.) soft white cream cheese, and blend with 4 tablespoons Mayonnaise. Chill and serve. Serves 4.

Salmon Proves An Inexpensive, Delicious Food

If you are trying to cut down on your budget or if you are merely seeking something extra good to serve—try salmon. It is always available and if you keep a supply on hand you will be prepared for unexpected guests—if you utilize this rich, pink skinned fish according to these recipes.

Salmon Souffle
 2 tablespoons butter.
 1 cup milk.
 4 eggs.
 1 cup salmon.
 1-2 teaspoon salt.

Make a white sauce of the butter, flour, milk and salt. Add the salmon, minced, with the bones and skin removed. Remove from the fire and add the well beaten egg yolks. Cool and fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Pour into a buttered baking dish or into custard cups. Set in a moderate oven for 20 minutes—a little longer if a larger dish is used.

Salmon Cakes
 1 pound can salmon.
 1 cup soft bread crumbs.
 1 teaspoon chopped parsley.
 1 teaspoon chopped onion.
 2 teaspoons lemon juice.
 1 egg, beaten.
 Salt, pepper.

Remove the bones and flake the salmon. Do not pour off the oil. Add the remaining ingredients, mix well and shape into flat cakes. Roll in flour and brown on both sides in a little hot fat. This recipe serves 4 persons.

Salmon Pie
 Heat 2 tablespoons of fat, add 4 tablespoons flour; teaspoon salt and 1-4 teaspoon pepper and mix until smooth. Add 2 cups milk gradually, stirring constantly, and cook over hot water 5 minutes. Put 2 cups flaked red salmon and 1-2 cups cooked green peas in greased casserole and pour sauce over them. Mix lightly. Cover top with creamy mashed potatoes, using a pastry bag to give an attractive appearance. Brown in moderate oven.

Cheese and Salmon Loaf
 Flake the contents of one tall can of salmon and add one cup grated cheese. Add 2 slightly beaten eggs, one tablespoon melted butter, one-fourth cup milk, one-half cup bread crumbs, one-half teaspoon salt and few grains of pepper. Put in a buttered loaf pan and bake in moderate oven 40 to 45 minutes.

Salmon Salad
 Remove bones and skin and mince one can salmon. Mix with equal amount finely chopped celery and one tablespoon minced onion. Blend with mayonnaise and serve on lettuce.

OKLAHOMA CITY (UP)—The wounded girl companion who saw James Glenn Justice Jr., shot to death, was to listen to voices of a father and son in an effort to identify them in connection with the slaying.

Justice, 23-year-old official of a state life insurance company, was killed Tuesday night while sitting on an auto cushion in "Lover's Lane" with 17-year-old Ruth Terry, formerly of Longview, Texas. Miss Terry was wounded in the arm.

She claimed she could identify at least one of the two bandits who robbed her and her escort of a ring and about $50 before shooting Justice.

Meanwhile, questioning of Justice's 21-year-old bride, Imogene Young Justice, whom he secretly married five weeks ago at Bristol, failed to reveal any details in the investigation.

For Love of Eve by Lucy Walling

BEGIN HERE TODAY
 EVE BAYLESS, pretty assistant to EARLE BARNES, advertising manager of Bibb's department store, secretly marries DICK HADEN, a construction superintendent. Dick opposes her continued employment and pleads for a home but Eve is determined to go on working.

MARYA VLAD, fashion artist, and ARLINE SMITH, stenographer in the advertising office, notice Eve's excitement but do not suspect her secret. Two hours after her marriage Eve learns that she must make a trip to New York for the store and that she must leave that night.

She waits until she and Dick are at dinner before telling him this news. Dick takes her to the station and sees her aboard her train. From the window she sees him join a gay party of young people.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER III

Eve awakes with the dawn and lay for a long while watching the wintry Hudson river as the train sped by. She wondered about Dick—what he was doing at this hour, whether he was asleep and dreaming of her or on his way to work. She reached under her pillow for the emerald bag. It was there and the little gold wedding ring was safe. She tried the ring on and decided to wear it until she arrived at the hotel.

Over her black pajamas she slipped a black silk robe with a great golden dragon heavily embroidered on the back. A pair of golden mules completed her Pullman ensemble and she picked up her dressing case and made for the dressing room.

"Good morning," an uncertain voice greeted Eve as she entered. "Good morning," Eve answered with a swift appraisal of the young creature before her. An extremely plain face but one which was rapidly being transformed by the expert use of cosmetics. The other girl drew a blue wool frock over her head in one quick motion. Then she stood before the long mirror and pulled the dress tightly over her hips, turning right and left.

"There! All ready for the big adventure," she announced pertly. Eve lifted her eyebrows inquiringly. The girl lit a cigaret and confided, "I'm nervous as a cat. This is my first trip to New York. Married girl friend lives right across the river in New Jersey but she doesn't expect me. You see, I've taken my life in my own hands. I want to find a husband before the bells ring. There's a new crop of girls springing up every year and there certainly aren't enough eligibles to go around at our four corners. My sister discovered it too late, so I'm hitting for new pastures before I'm past the age."

Eve stuffed her hair with a little jade and gold comb. The girl watched her.

"That's a pretty wedding ring," she said. "Well, you're one of the lucky ones—to have a husband in these days of competition!"

The girl's hand was on the door knob when she turned back. "My name's Corinne Devore," she said, and paused. "Not that we're likely to meet again, of course," she hurried on when Eve remained silent debating whether or not to return the confidence by telling her own name. "I know what you're thinking," she went on defiantly. "That it sounds made up. Well, it is! My real name is Cora Dilly. I've always hated it and didn't see any reason for dragging it along to New York!"

With that Corinne Devore was gone, leaving Eve with the guilty feeling that she had been a trifle snobbish.

"She may not be so lovely, but she's wise," Eve said to her own reflection in the mirror. "She'll make people notice her. She'll probably get her man, too, and when she does she'll know enough to hang on to him. Oh, how could I leave Dick as I did!"

However, Eve was pleasantly excited as the train drew into Grand Central station. A redcap took her bags and led the way to a taxi. She reached the hotel in a flutter of anticipation. She wrote "Miss Eve Bayless" on the register and inquired if there were any messages for her. She held her breath while the clerk looked. Yes, there was a telegram.

Eve clutched it tightly as she followed the bell boy to the elevator. She looked attractive but was entirely oblivious to the appraising glances that followed her. Her suitcase unstrapped, she dismissed the boy with a tip, turned the key in the lock and, with fingers that shook, tore open the thin yellow envelope.

She stared at the message a long moment. It read: "Interview Phoebe, Inc. She knows what Lake City is wearing before we know it—Earle Barnes."

Eve sank weakly into a deep cushioned chair. She was more than hurt. She was even a little frightened. Would this thing she had done always stand between her and Dick? He couldn't leave his work to come with her on a honeymoon trip. Why should he expect her to give up her big opportunity to spend a honeymoon at home? Oh, why had this whole miserable situation come about?

Later however as she rode to the style advisory bureau of Phoebe, Inc. Eve's trained mind concentrated on the business of the day. Freda Carter was to meet her there. They had made the appointment in a hurried telephone conversation. Freda seldom stopped at a hotel when in New York, as she had a sister living in Brooklyn.

With Freda who was just back from Paris, her head full of fashion news and her trunks packed with French gowns, Eve made the rounds of New York's smartest shops. They spent a leisurely noon period with some advertising woman over a meal served in peasant style in a quaint French restaurant.

That evening Eve dressed for dinner in a new gown of pale gold lace. It represented the measure of her yielding to the temptation to purchase every lovely thing she beheld.

She found herself warming to Freda Carter. With her Eve felt none of the barrier of formality that often exists between women who are brought together by professional interests. They dined pleasantly at Eve's hotel.

"About tonight," Freda said over the coffee cups. "I thought you'd like to see a musical comedy so I arranged it. I met an interesting man on the ship. Ernest Franks is his name. He's going to call for us at eight o'clock."

Eve said she would enjoy going to the theatre. She was surprised when two men instead of one met them as she and Freda left the elevator.

"I brought this lone wolf along," Franks explained after introducing Theron Reece, "because he needed company. I hope you'll like him." "He looks likable," Freda said as she and her escort led the way to a taxicab. Eve followed with Reece whose charms easily overshadowed those of Franks.

Judging from the applause the musical show was a great success. Eve followed its theme vaguely. She permitted herself to lapse into lethargy, rousing occasionally to smile brightly at her companions. She was conscious of pleasing music and then the final curtain.

Theron Reece hummed one of the song hits as he guided her through the lobby. As they joined the throng waiting for cabs outside he suggested a night club.

Reece was disappointed when the head waiter was unable to seat them at a table in the inner circle. A smart chorus of young girls was dancing vivaciously, beautifully. The applause was hearty and long.

Then the dancing space was cleared for the show. Franks did not dance but Reece apparently wanted to be on the floor all the time. Again and again he managed so that he and Eve were on the floor and the center of attention before the other dancers left their tables. Eve was not quite sure she liked this. The lights turned to a rosy glow and the orchestra played a waltz that made Eve think of Dick. Reece held her closely but Eve drew away.

When they returned to their table Freda was displaying a new cigarette case she had purchased in Paris. She passed it around. Eve glanced at the other tables, then hesitatingly took a cigaret. Franks closed his hand over it.

"Don't," he said. "It spoils the illusion." Then he added, "With apologies to Miss Carter!" Freda smiled. She did not mind.

"And don't drink either," Reece added, as he poured the contents of a silver flask into three glasses of ginger ale. "We want you to keep that 'little girl' look. It's a rare thing in a place like this."

As they left the night club Ernest Franks suggested walking a few blocks before he escorted Freda to her sister's home in Brooklyn. "Fifth Avenue is right around the corner," he said. "It's a glorious night and the windows after midnight are always worth looking at."

Freda agreed to walk with him. The sidewalks were dry and her long fur coat protected her against the cold. But Reece protested that Eve's wrap was inadequate, so they separated. Reece signaled a taxicab and he and Eve drove to her hotel.

"Are you so absurdly young as you look," he said. Then, without waiting for an answer, he deliberately took her hand. He held it tightly and Eve did not try to withdraw it. After all, it was but a few blocks to the hotel.

Suddenly the man took her in his arms and, before she could free herself, pressed his lips to hers. They arrived at the hotel and Eve, without so much as a good-night, hurried to the elevator.

Two Men Make Good Salvage Sunken Logs To Eke Out Living;

BEAUMONT, (UP)—Bill Martin and Collin LaBlue, who are otherwise unemployed, have managed to eke out a fair living recently by salvaging sunken logs from the mud of the Neches river.

The logs, which have been kept for years in a perfect state of preservation by the water, are sold for $8 per thousand board feet. They have recovered about 200 logs and expect to get about 400 more.

Some of the recovered logs are estimated by Martin to be about 65 years old, dating back to the earliest days in the lumber industry of the Sabine district. The manner of cutting indicates their age.

Martin and LaBlue carry on all their salvaging operations by hand labor. The logs are located by the use of "sinker flats" or frame works built across two rowboats. A line is strung across the river and the "sinker flat" moves along the line while the men aboard probe the bottom of the stream with long poles.

When a log is located tongs are lowered to grasp it. It is then raised with a windlass and hauled ashore for the trip to the mill.

LANDING WHEELS TURN EVEN WHILE PLANE IS IN FLIGHT

CHICAGO—A curious phenomenon that has aroused the curiosity of many American Airways' passengers is the fact that the wheels of Stinson Model "U" planes revolve while the plane is in flight, although they are in no way connected with the motors.

This is due to the fact that steamline "pants" which cover the upper part of the wheel, leave the lower part exposed to the air stream. Catching the tread on the tires, the air stream has much the same effect as a streak of water on a paddle wheel—causing the wheels to revolve continuously while the plane is in flight.

KNITTING IS POPULAR WITH WOMEN PLANE PASSENGERS

DETROIT—Knitting as a travel pastime is undergoing a revival, according to American Airways' stewardesses, who report that an increasing number of women passengers pass the time with knitting, crocheting, and other needlework.

Explanation of the popularity of needlework among feminine air line passengers is found in the fact that the smoothness of air travel makes even the most delicate work possible.

Memphis Woman Markets Seven Tons Butter In 7 Years

MEMPHIS, (UP)—Seven tons of butter, 14,000 pounds, represents a lot of milking and churning when it is produced in the ordinary farm home. It also represents a substantial monthly income, according to Mrs. T. J. Hampton, who lives near here.

Mrs. Hampton during the past seven years has sold approximately 14,000 pounds of butter to local grocers. The average price paid over the period was 35 cents per pound, a gross income of more than $5,000, or an average of $75 a month.

He said a few weeks after the theft models of stone "began to appear all over the cemetery."

Home Run In Ninth With Bases Full Thrills Fans And Gives Dallas 6-4 Victory Over Galveston In Playoff

STEER STADIUM, Dallas—Joe Vance's mighty home run wallop into the left field bleachers with the bases full turned almost certain defeat into victory for the Dallas Steers here Thursday night in the second game of the Shaughter play-off series with the Galveston Buccaneers. The score was 6-4.

Vance's wallop came off George Larrow, veteran southpaw, who was lashed in to relieve Ira Hutchinson and pitch to Fred Koster, a left-handed hitter, with two out and two on in the ninth. Koster strove to fill the bases and Vance connected for his blow with the count two balls and one strike to send a

Man Charged With Death Of Man He Believed Had Part In Girl's Elopement

GIDDINGS (UP)—Homer Jones, 46, was freed under $2,500 bond, charged with murder in connection with a shooting said by officers to have involved the elopement of his daughter, a Rice Institute co-ed, with a fugitive bank official.

Theodore Mitchell, cafe operator, was shot to death last night. Jones surrendered to officers and was charged with murder.

Several weeks ago Jones told officers he received a letter saying his daughter, Miss Helen Jones, had eloped with Gus Jaehne, assistant cashier of the First National Bank here. A few days later Jaehne was charged with embezzlement of $11,500 of the bank's funds. Jaehne has been the object of a wide search and several times ran-

Giant's Lead Reduced As Pirates Win

Pittsburgh Climbs In National League Race: 5 1-2 Games Behind

PITTSBURGH—The Pirates enjoyed themselves thoroughly at the expense of four New York pitchers Thursday and slammed out a 14-2 victory that made it three out of four for the series so far and reduced the Giants' lead to 5 1-2 games.

From the first inning, when the Corsairs sent Roy Parmlee to the showers and rapped Dolf Luque unjustly to score five runs the issue never was in doubt. The Giants, who had been playing as if they could do nothing wrong until they invaded Pittsburgh, just couldn't get started right Thursday.

WHIRLIGIG—

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) man can iron out what he calls the "rough spots" in pay-per-hour schedules there are many workers quite willing to forego the Blue Eagle and work a longer week.

Eastman— The Brotherhoods are now working an eight-hour day. Whitney would like to see it reduced to six. Eastman says eight hours should be the maximum but thinks it unwise to set a lower work-day yet.

Some of the old-timers in railway labor circles are saying privately the Brotherhoods should string along with Eastman. The roads aren't in any too good condition, and it might be rather hard to force an agreement for a shorter day for the same pay. Better get hourly rates up where needed and let the men work longer.

Eastman has promised he will limit the spread-of-employment and put more reasonable schedules in where needed. He also is demanding that the roads spend more on new equipment which would diffuse employment elsewhere.

Donald Richberg, general counsel for NRA, who has held that same position for the railway labor activities, may well be a deciding factor in this situation.

Suckers— The Reconstruction Finance Corporation is sitting back with a grin all set to finance American exports to Russia at the drop of a hat.

There is only one catch. Jesse Jones and his R. F. C. board don't want the Soviet Government for a creditor.

The Federal lending agency is holding out to loan the money to some reputable American house that will underwrite Russian purchases.

Private figures show Russia has Germany, England and Italy on the cuff already. Jones et al figure the Soviet may just possibly be looking for a new sucker.

Meat— The only people willing to deal direct with Russia are the packers. They have a surplus of meat they couldn't give away anywhere else. Consequently they have been working out a direct credit deal with the bearded boys on the Steppes.

It seems to be a question of loss anyway or possibly collect later.

News— Just before leaving Hyde Park the last time President and Mrs. Roosevelt were hosts at a tea party at which their own special band of newspaper correspondents were guests. Postmaster General Jim Farley also was present.

The news men entertained with a collection of songs concocted on the spur of the moment. Here's the chorus of one they sang to Chief Patronage Dispenser Jim to the tune of "A Bicycle Built For Two":

"Jimmy, Jimmy, give me your answer, do
"I'm half crazy just for a job from you.
"You won't get a chance to lay off
"Until you make the pay off—
"Oh, I'll look sweet in a cushioned seat.
"In a well-paying berth from you."

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

Banks— Francis Sisson's keynote for the American Bankers' Association convention was far from the usual boloney and appeasement. It was frank and meaty and mirrored almost perfectly the views and aims of the big city banks. Two points especially deserve more than casual attention because we shall hear a lot more of them.

First was the clear inference of a frontal attack by the banks on three aspects of the new deal that they don't exactly cherish—deposit insurance, the Securities Act, and the abolition of affiliates. Banks aren't going to pussy-foot on these any longer. Publicity and every other available weapon will be pressed into service in a drive to get "legislative atrocities" amended.

A bank reform program designed and sponsored by bankers themselves was foreshadowed in this column recently. It will be a Big Bertha in the campaign.

Second—and mark this well—was Sisson's comment about "fewer banks, more adequately capitalized." That will be the cornerstone of big bank policy in relation with the government. They hope the state will be two birds, eliminate the weak sister banks for keeps and increase big bank influence in the long run.

Note also that these ideas primarily represent New York and Chicago views. The little fellows, and there are lots of them in the A.B.A., may not take so kindly to gradual self-elimination. Very few care about affiliates. Many want deposit insurance and want it a lot. There's plenty of opportunity for fireworks and it's a pretty safe bet you'll see some.

Moreover publicity is a risky weapon for amateurs. It's apt to backfire. Neutral New York observers are skeptical about the bankers' ability to gauge public sentiment correctly. "So far they have been as in tune with the public as a Hottentot at the North Pole." So the publicity campaign to sell big bank ideas may bring curious results. It will be worth watching.

Supervision— Meanwhile Federal authorities are quietly but firmly asserting their authority over the banks in various important directions.

For one thing they are exerting effective pressure to compel certain banks to strengthen their capital structure. If the banks in question are unwilling or unable to do this through the R. F. C. it becomes a question of assessments on stock holders. This has not been tried in New York because

Southern Methodist Grid
Fortunes Lie In Sophomores

DALLAS—Southern Methodist's hopes in the coming Southwest conference pennant chase will depend upon the ability of its sophomores to deliver. There are twenty-eight of them on the squad roster against thirteen juniors and a lone senior pair of seniors.

"It's the greenest squad I've ever had, yet I believe it's one of the best," Ray Morrison, veteran Mustang mentor, declares. "Those kids haven't had much experience, but they've got spirit and hustle. And they can throw that leather around. They showed me plenty in spring practice last year. They're just the type of players it takes for a wide-open aerial attack, and we're going to give the public a lot of passes."

"As for the Mustang's chances for the championship—well, I'd say they're just as good as the chances of the Texas Longhorns and the Texas Aggies, and they both look good to me."

A duo of juniors are "in" for the first-string wing positions. Raymond Fuqua and Louie Smith are classed by Morrison as a pair of ends comparable to any ever produced by the Red and Blue. For reserves there are Maco Stewart, Corsicana; Cecil Colville, Hillsboro; there is no need for it here but it is working in some sections even though there is doubt as to the government's legal position in demanding such action.

The idea is to fortify the national banking structure against any possible risks that might develop when deposit insurance goes into effect. All national banks now in operation must emulate Caesar's wife. Non-member state banks are a different breed of cats and whether they can qualify for insurance is up to them. If they can't make the grade it's their hard luck.

The net result will be to hasten the trend toward a unified banking system under Federal Reserve control. New York understand high Treasury officials regard this as the only safe and sound solution. The aim is to work it out with a minimum of political excitement by making it a process of natural selection.

The Federal government is also showing a lively if unpublished interest in the personnel selected to run re-organized banks. Officials not up to their jobs are being weeded out. Insiders say that the days when the butcher, baker or candlestick maker could set up a bank as a side line are gone for ever.

Affiliates— There is more to the desire of certain banks to keep their security affiliates alive than meets the eye. The argument advanced is that they are needed to assist in government financing. The real motive is to maintain a skeleton which rapidly take on profitable flesh if the "new deal fever" passes and the good old days return. The informed believe it's a mighty long shot hope.

The point to bear in mind is that a lot of bankers can still visualize a return to their former glory.

City— Did you ever "have a tiger by the tail."

If so you can sympathize with the New York banks in their relations with Tammany. They hold New York City obligations to the tune of more than $200,000,000 an investment exceeded only by their commitments in Federal securities. If they lose the city more money they may be throwing good after bad. If they don't they may face a default on what they already own. One way they give tacit approval to Tammany's broken pledges of new revenues and economies. The other way they are open to the charge of playing politics and will Tammany make the most of it?

It's a tough life. But the banks are more disposed to be hard-boiled than they ever have been before and spectacular developments in City finance are likely before the majority election.

Phil Tipton, Cameron; Jim Kelly, Dallas; and "Smookey" Zachary, Nocona. All except Zachary are sophomores.

Nine men are out for the tackle berths. They are: Clyde Carter, Denton; Goodwin Bray, Dallas; Truman Spain, Breckenridge; Raymond Kilgore, Goose Creek; Maurice Orr, Hillsboro; Paul Briggs, Paris; Wayne Hassell, San Antonio; and John Stoffelbemo, Grand Prairie.

Billy Stamps, Corsicana, and J. C. (Iron-Man) Wetsel, Dallas, a most promising pair of sophomores, are two reasons why Morrison isn't worrying about the guard positions. Other candidates are: Glenn Lairmore, Tulsa, Okla.; Rosser Laughlin, Durant, Okla.; Rollin Dixon, Wichita Falls, and Tommy Field, Cleburne. Another rough-and-tough youngster, Charles Baker, of Chireno, listed at present as a blocking back, may be sent to a guard berth.

A great battle for the center position looms between Arthur Johnson, Tyler, and Buster Raborn, Edwado, Ark. Both sophomores, and James Bradford, San Antonio junior, Johnson's speed may give him a slight edge on his rivals.

The Pony backfield is a problem. There are so many candidates of near-equal calibre that Morrison is having difficulty in even guessing at a starting combination. J. R. Smith, Dallas; Jack Little, Dallas; Shelly Burt, Hillsboro; and Bob Turner, Weatherford, all triple-threat performers, will fight it out with Harry Shuford, Tyler, and Jack McNutt, Corsicana, for the signal-calling responsibility. All except McNutt, a senior, are sophomores.

Haskell Ross, a senior, looks like the best bet for the important blocking back job. Other backfield candidates include: Robert Wilson, Corsicana; Jack Seagraves, Teague; James Russell, Dallas; Jackie Gore, Dallas; Charles Chinn, Waco; and Whitey Baccau, Estel.

The Ponies will open their twelve-game schedule in Dallas Sept. 23, in a tussle with Jack Sisco's North Texas Teachers. The complete schedule follows: Sept. 23—North Texas Teachers, at Dallas. Sept. 30—Texas Tech, at Lubbock. Oct. 7—Texas College of Mines, at Dallas.

at Dallas. Oct. 14—Rice Institute, at Houston. Oct. 21—Oklahoma A. & M., at Dallas. Oct. 28—University of Arkansas, at Fayetteville. Nov. 4—University of Texas, at Dallas. Nov. 11—Texas A. & M., at College Station. Nov. 18—Centenary College, at Shreveport. Nov. 25—Baylor University, at Dallas. Dec. 2—Texas Christian University, at Ft. Worth. Dec. 9—St. Mary's College, at San Francisco.

Hartman Hurls For Winning Giants In Pitchers' Battle

Hook Arm Hartman, Giant port side chucker, and "Moreno" mixed it in a twirling duel for eight innings Thursday before Hartman's mates came to his aid with timely hitting.

After two were out in order in the eighth, four consecutive Giant hits erased a Tiger 2-1 lead and provided a winning margin. But then the Tiger infield blew sky high and donated three more tallies to give the Giants their 7-2 advantage.

Tigers broke the ice in the fourth when a hit sent Pilo scampering home. Giants retaliated in the fifth when Whittington and Jackson hit safely and Hartman's drive got loose from the infield. Whittington scored by Jackson was out by ten yards at the plate.

Tigers took kwhat looked like a substantial lead in the sixth when Skipper Vega tripled and came home on Galindo's short lob to right center.

Moreno let the Giants down in order in the seventh and mowed two more in the eighth, before the barrage began. Pickie doubled down the left foul line, Morgan drove one for two base, and Madison lined a home run down the right foul line. Marlin's hot grounder was too much for Chicito Arista and Jackson's roller to second base got away. Whittington's tap was mis-
