planned around her favorite hobby—painting. She called it a "Picasso Party" and used giant paintbrushes cut from construction paper for a cen-terpiece. Scott placemats and cups and Oneida stainless completed the setting.

Third place winner was Deborah Luben of Bristol, Con-necticut. Deborah received a $500 scholarship for her supper party, "Deadline Delight." Planned to entertain the coeditors of her high school newspaper, the party decorations were made from newsprint roses, placecards - even Deborah's party apron. To add color to the newsprint decor, Deborah chose Scott placemats in a blue and green design, tapered candles, Libbey glassware and stainless cutlery.

All fifty Junior Misses participated in the Hostess Event sponsored for the past three years by Scott Paper Company. Each Junior Miss began back in her home town where she planned her party "on paper" in a special workbook provided by the America's Junior Miss Pageant. These books were judged at the state and local levels. In Mobile, the contestants actually set their tables and submitted their menus to the judges.

Judging was based on ORIC INALITY, including theme and suitability to the age group being entertained by the Junior Miss; ETIQUETTE, including correct table setting, color coordination and suitability of the centerpiece to the type of party and time of day; MENU, including suitability to theme and time of day, balance from a standpoint of nutrition, color, texture, flavor and accuracy of

Wood's 'Notebook' In Second Printing

Do you have, or did you ever have, a favorite uncle who always seemed to have a story or a quip up his sleve that left you grinning? Do you sometimes like to browse through an almanac? Do you like the sound of a choir singing old, familiar hymns in a small town white church with background music of bees buzzing in lilac bushes outside flung open stained glass windows?

If "yes" is the answer, then chances are you will like "Notebook of Uncle Zeb," by Carl C. Wood of Claude.

Recently published, the little volume of 47 pages went into its second printing last week. Previous writings of "Uncle Zeb" include "Plowin' Out the Corners" and "Along the Trails With Uncle Zeb in Red River."

"Notebook" is as much every day America as whistling Yankee Doodle, seeing the Star Spangled Banner waving on top of the post office, or relishing the taste of the sound sweet heart of a rosy ripe watermelon o'clock in the McLean Methodist in July-along about the 4th!

JANE CAROL FOSHEE displays her "Riverboat Party" at the America's Junior Miss Pageant, Mobile, Alabama. The judges awarded Jane first prize-a $1000 scholarship donated by Scott Paper Company, sponsor of the Hostess Event.

Top honors went to Mississippi's Junior Miss, Jane Foshee of Hattiesburg, at the Hostess Event sponsored by Scott Paper Company. This is the second consecutive year in which that state took top honors.

Jane caught the judges eyes with her "Riverboat Party" centerpiece - an authentic Mississippi paddlewheel constructed from cardboard boxes. Bright red and white checked Scott paper placemats and

Third place winner was Deborah Luben of Bristol, Connecticut. Deborah received a $500 scholarship for her supper party, "Deadline Delight." Planned to entertain the coeditors of her high school newspaper, the party decorations were made from newsprint roses, placecards - even Deborah's party apron. To add color to the newsprint decor, Deborah chose Scott placemats in a blue and green design, tapered candles, Libbey glassware and stainless cutlery.

All fifty Junior Misses participated in the Hostess Event sponsored for the past three years by Scott Paper Company. Each Junior Miss began back in her home town where she planned her party "on paper" in a special workbook provided by the America's Junior Miss Pageant. Speed Greatest Highway Hazard

"The driver who breaks every rule of the road May very well reap just about what he sowed."

Excessive speed is blamed for more than 41 per cent of the highway deaths in 1966. It i s the largest single factor in all latal accidents resulting from driver error.

Other major factors involving actions of drivers resulting in deaths and injuries include driving on the wrong side of the road, reckless driving and not having the right-of-way.

Drivers in 1966 were blamed for more than 80 per cent of all fatal accidents while pedestrians, or a combination of pedestrian and driver, were found at fault in the remaining 20 per cent.

To help prevent accidents, drivers should update driving skills by taking a driver retresher course; practice 'de- proved driver licensing. fensive driving: ' limit driving when tired; adjust adjust speed to highway weather, traffic and other conditions; and don't drive for the cards and visits I rewhile under the influence of ceived during my stay in the alcohol and radiating joy?

Think again!

A study of 35 obese - that's real fat - women at Michael Reese Hospital in Chicago, indicated that only some of them were jolly and extroverted-what the psychologists call "outgoing." Dr. William Shipman reported to the Midwestern Psychological Institute recently that many were depressed, others were depend. manding."

Do you dig the common con- hips and back. It is a handicap cept of fat people as happy, to the heart and circulation, pre-cheerful souls, full of gladness disposing to heart diseases. It increases the hazard of becoming diabetic, adds to the likelihood of complications in a pregnancy, and renders surgery more difficult for the surgeon and more dangerous for the patient. Perhaps the greatest disadvantage of being overweight is the psychological factor. Fat people are expected to be the life of the party, even when they couldn't care less. They are the butt of a great deal of thoughtlessly unent, and some were "greedily de- kind humor, because as one of my heavy friends expressed it, "They can neither fight, run, nor switch!" Emotional Problems

Overweight is frequently an indication of emotional problems. True, the immediate cause is eating too much, or a poorly selected diet, or too little exercise, or all three combined. But underneath there may lie the emotional problems for which relief is uncontailored. Some real strength is about to be seen in the finished cattle market. About all we have had is bad news since Jan. 1, 1967. The 32-state report that showed three per cent more cattle on feed created some pessimistic reaction. The most encouraging thing as you see it was the ment as a game warden trainee were reported in the weight category weighing over 1,100 lbs. Slaughter has been heavy during April and up to this date. This means we should begin to clean out all the heavy cattle.

The corn belt boys are beginning to clear their fed cattle in preparation for field work. One observer whom I talked with today seems to think the futures market market will make a substantial advance. He remarked. The price of replacement feed lot cattle is so high that hedgers will not be on the selling end to depress the market back state game warden. unless a substantial rise is made.

In other words, it is next to impossible to hedge a profit in a feeding operation based on the going price for feeder cattle at the present time and the live beef cattle futures market. We believe you will see some very unstable price conditions that will develop over the next several months on all agricultural commodities.

You are going to see wheat prices run up and down the ladder like you haven't seen it since the later 1920's. Feed grains are in for the same thing. The futures market on live beef cattle will help hold cattle on a more stable course but we are in for some surprises and more shocks within the next

It all boils down to the fact that we are crossing into another era in agriculture in the U. S. We are moving from an era of over supply to one of shortages. At the present we still have the capacity to over produce. However, because of m rate and the big population increase, big surpluses soon diminish.

We personally think wheat is in for a substantial price rise. When the county is in, all think the 1967 wheat crop will be so much below average. You will see wheat jump the limit for several days in a row. The Santa Fe report shows a potential of only three-fourths that forecast by the government. Hold on to your hat the next 18 months will be exciting.
