

Our School Problem

Abbreviated Day In School Hurts Child's Training

(This is the second in a series of articles dealing with conditions in the Big Spring school system, presented in connection with the bond issue to be voted on Friday, March 25.)

The attempt of supporters of Big Spring schools to provide additional classroom space through a $200,000 bond issue aims at more than just a physical problem.

The physical angle is important because too many pupils for too few rooms has meant, simply, that more than half the ward-schoolers go to school only about half the proper time.

What may be worse, from the long-range point of view, is that lower-grades boys and girls are not getting the sound footing in the fundamentals of education that they must have to progress on through high school and college, or even to become average-intelligent citizens who make a living and contribute something to their community.

For the tots in the first grade, a schedule from 8 to 12:30, or from 1 to 5:30 may not be so bad, move up to fourth and fifth grades, the whole routine of learning is thrown off by the speed-up made necessary by half-day sessions.

Instructors are rushed to meet a nine-month course of study which the state demands, if schools are to retain their rating. There is no time for proper probing of subject matter, no time for decent study periods, no time for the adequate recess-breaks that the young mind and body require.

The learning process thus is crippled, and through no fault of teachers and administrators. The effects of this handicap may not show up immediately, but inevitably will show up as the learning level gets a little higher and a little tougher.

These conclusions are those reached by experts in the field of education. They are concurred in by teachers at primary levels, by principals and superintendents, by state leaders, by college educators.

If from 12 to 18 new classrooms are added to the Big Spring system, as trustees plan to accomplish with $200,000 in bonds approved at the polls Friday, a considerable segment of local children will benefit from sounder training which their parents want them to have, which their instructors want to give them, and which the state (as contributor to and guardian of educational standards) expects them to have.

Longview Attorney Special Prosecutor In Hester Trial

CLEBURNE, March 21. (AP)—Fred Erisman, Longview attorney and TCU graduate, will be special prosecutor against Arthur Clayton Hester, 18-year-old confessed slayer of Dr. John Lord, TCU graduate school dean.

The announcement was made this morning by John James, Jr., Johnson County district attorney who said Erisman would be of "invaluable assistance" in prosecuting the state's case against Hester.

Meanwhile, Hester, in his Johnson County jail cell, said he was seeking the aid of a Fort Worth lawyer in his defense.

Erisman, former district attorney for three terms at Longview, was president of the 1929 TCU graduating class and served for three years as student assistant to Dr. Lord.

Headquarters For Red Cross Roll Call Transferred

With approximately two thirds of the quota accounted for, headquarters for the Red Cross roll call were transferred this morning to the agency's regular office, located at Scurry and Fourth streets, where all future contributions will be tabulated.

Jack Y. Smith, general roll call chairman, said reports from Glasscock county, rural areas in Howard county and some residential canvass work in Big Spring still are outstanding. He urged volunteer workers in those divisions to submit reports as soon as possible, after which a general re-checking process will begin.

The total this morning stood at $6,135, which came from approximately 1,000 contributors. It is apparent that many prospective contributors have not yet been contacted, Smith said. There will be the object of the re-check.

However, the roll call chairman said he hoped that many persons who have not contributed would submit donations at the Red Cross office. Contributions may be mailed either to the office or directly to Smith.

Smith also reported that A. B. Dement Civic and Art Club is conducting a canvass among the Negro residents of the city.

Smith also reported that the A.

GILMER-AIKIN BACKERS WIN TEST VOTE

$15 Million Country Road Bill Goes To Jester For Signature

AUSTIN, March 21. (AP)—A bill providing $15 million dollars a year for building hard-surfaced country roads wheeled through the House and went to the governor for signature today.

The measure by Sen. Neville H. Colson of Navasota had been approved by the Senate. The House did not amend it. Final passage came on a vote of 132-5.

Gov. Beauford H. Jester's signature was regarded as a certainty.

AUSTIN, March 21. (AP)—Back-ers of the Gilmer-Aiken plan to reorganize the public schools won a test vote in the House today by a vote of 70 to 55.

Rep. Sam Hanna of Dallas moved to recommit Senate Bill 115, the measure by Sen. James Taylor reorganizing the state school administration, to the committee on state affairs.

Mrs. Rae Files Still, Waxahachie, chairman of the education committee which held a 10-hour hearing on the three bills in the Gilmer-Aiken plan last Wednesday, spoke against Hanna's motion.

The House then went along with Mrs. Still, 70-55, to kill Hanna's motion.

Calendar of both the House and Senate were loaded with dynamite as the 51st Legislature went into its eleventh week.

Any one of a dozen explosive-packed measures were ready for debate as soon as proponents felt they had enough votes to pull them up for consideration.

They included such stormy questions as the Gilmer-Aiken public school bills, in the House, and the basic science bill, in the Senate.

Further public airing of the new tax question was expected today before a House committee.

At 7:30 o'clock tonight, the House Committee on Revenue and Taxation will take up Rep. Davis Clifton's bill repealing the four-cent a gallon gasoline tax on fuels that will burn.

The revenue committee—which has virtual life-or-death powers over fund-raising bills that must originate in the house—also expected a subcommittee report on the bill by Rep. Deno Tufares of Wichita Falls, putting a cent and a half per 1,000 cubic foot tax on natural gas.

This committee meanwhile has already approved the bill by Rep. Charlie McLellan of Eagle Lake, taking natural gas at the rate of one cent per 1,000 cubic feet. Most of the revenue from it would go toward construction of rural feeder roads. This measure is ready for action in the House.

Senate Confirms Obie Bristow

AUSTIN, March 21. (AP)—The Senate today confirmed the appointments of Gov. Beauford H. Jester: Leonard E. Brown of Kerrville, chairman of the Liquor Control Board; J. Gordon (Obie) Bristow of Big Spring, Liquor Control Board; Dr. A. W. Rogers of Corsicana, Dr. T. C. Terrell of Fort Worth and Dr. John H. Mitchell of Tyler, State Board of Health; Sister Catherine Elizabeth of Fort Worth, Laura Cole of Temple and Maurine Bridwell of San Angelo, Board of Nurse Examiners; Dr. L. H. Denman of Lufkin, Board of Medical Examiners; Gene Howe of Amarillo and V. F. (Doc) Neuhaus of McAllen, Game Commission.

Endurance Fliers To Jacksonville

MERIDIAN, Miss., March 21. (AP)—Endurance fliers Bill Barris and Dick Riedel hovered over the airport here last night and planned to refuel today before leaving for Jacksonville, Fla.

They are attempting to break the flight endurance record of 726 hours set in 1939.

Their trial is in the form of a cross-country hop from California to Florida.

Yesterday they left Fort Worth where they spent a night.

Their four-place plane is refueled by cans of gasoline hoisted from speeding cars.

Commissioners Okay Purchase Of Grader

Purchase of a Caterpillar motor grader as a replacement in the county's machinery inventory was approved by the commissioners court in its session Monday morning.

The court closed a deal with the Central Texas Machinery company for delivery by April 15 of the 100-horsepower Diesel machine. The Central Texas bid price of $11,895 was the lowest of those submitted by five different firms.

Truman Denies Rift With Congressmen

Two Firms Granted Delays Eight Oil Companies File Answers In Price-Fixing

AUSTIN, March 21. (AP)—Eight of 10 major oil companies charged with fixing gasoline and crude oil prices in Texas filed answers today in 98th District court here.

Two companies, Sinclair Refining Co., and Magnolia Petroleum Co., were granted delays in replying to anti-trust charges filed by Atty. Gen. Price Daniel on Feb. 21.

The companies who filed answers today were Humble Oil and Refining Co., Gulf Oil Corp., Arkansas Fuel Co., Cities Service Oil Co., Continental Oil Co., Standard Oil Co. of Texas, the Texas Co.

All eight companies denied that at any time they had "combined, conspired or agreed with the other named defendants to fix, restrict or increase the prices of crude oil, gasoline, or other petroleum products."

The eight companies also asked that separate trials be held on charges to fix gasoline prices and charges to fix crude prices.

The state's original petition said that the 10 companies manufacture about 65 per cent of the gasoline refined in Texas and sell about 80 per cent of the gasoline sold through bulk stations.

The answers filed today contended that the state's petition is so "general, vague and indefinite" that it "wholly fails" to point out any violation of the anti-trust laws.

Humble, Gulf and Texas also contended that the alleged charges were settled in a suit filed by the state in 98th District Court in 1931 against the Standard Oil Co. and others.

"On Oct. 3, 1938, the court determined that defendants were not guilty of said alleged combinations and conspiracies and any other violations of the anti-trust laws," Humble's answer today said.

Officers Stumped By Novel Excuse

It was like 'taking coals to Newcastle,' Serapio Ornelas's alleged mission to Big Spring last weekend.

Apprehended on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants, Ornelas told the authorities he was taking the quart of whiskey he had in his possession to his brother in Big Spring.

The officers pondered over that excuse, since Big Spring is in a "wet" territory and whiskey is legally sold here. The accused lives in New Mexico.

Ornelas was released on $250 bond.

Mrs. Fred Cox Sr., Succumbs

Friends have been advised of the death, in Fort Worth Sunday night, of Mrs. Fred W. Cox, Sr., mother of Bill Cox of Big Spring.

Mrs. Cox had been critically ill since undergoing surgery last Tuesday, and death, it was reported, resulted from a heart involvement following the operation. The younger Mrs. Cox, who is commercial manager for radio station KBST, and Mrs. Cox had been at his mother's bedside for the past ten days.

Funeral services is to be held Tuesday at 10 a. m. at the Polytechnic Methodist church in Fort Worth.

Mrs. Cox is survived by her husband, and another son.

Economic Survey Of Howard County To Be Summarized

Representatives of local agencies and business establishments will hear a brief summary and report on an economic survey of Howard county at a special meeting in the Settles hotel Tuesday night.

The session is scheduled for 8 p. m.

The survey has been compiled by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research for the T&P Railroad, which is sponsoring a collection of economic data for points along its main line.

The bureau started compiling the information more than a year ago, and copies of the report will be made available at the Tuesday night meeting.

Letters of invitation to attend the meeting have been mailed by the chamber of commerce to several agencies and business concerns that previously indicated interest in the report. However, J. H. Greene, chamber manager, emphasized that attendance is by no means restricted, and all persons interested are urged to attend.

Scout Official To Conduct Special Training Session

Robert W. Perm, assistant to the National Director of Scouting Service, is due here Wednesday to conduct a special training session for adult Boy Scout leaders of the Big Spring district.

Perm will meet with local Scouters at 7:30 p. m. on the announced date at the High school cafeteria.

Perm is one of six men on the National Scouting Staff who work with local and area council training committees in setting up programs of instruction for volunteer leaders.

Real Estate Lobby Hit By President

WASHINGTON, March 21. (AP)— President Truman today denounced "trouble makers" who talk of a rift between him and Congress. He said he and Congress are "working together" for the good of the country.

In an address to the United States Conference of Mayors, the President also made a blistering new attack on the "real estate lobby." He said it is opposing his housing and rent control program, and is "the real enemy of the American home."

This "lobby" won't succeed, he declared, and predicted passage of his housing program, complete with public housing and slum clearance.

"It seems that whenever I make a recommendation to Congress, many newspapers and columnists set up a howl about the President trying to dictate to the Congress," Mr. Truman told the six hundred mayors of major cities.

"And then if the Congress makes any decision that varies at all from my recommendations, these same trouble-makers start a gleeful chorus about how the Congress has thrown the whole Democratic program overboard.

"Of course, I differ with the actions of the Congress on some points, and where these differences are important I shall continue to urge the course I think is right.

"But basically the Congress and the President are working together and will continue to work together for the good of the country.

"We are going to agree on a lot more things than we disagree on. And when the final score for this Congress is added up, some of the selfish pressure groups are going to be pretty badly disappointed."

Just before leaving the White House to address the mayors' meeting at the Statler Hotel, Mr. Truman had his usual Monday morning conference with Democratic leaders of Congress.

These leaders came out of the President's office with confident predictions that Congress will enact a major part of the White House legislative program.

House Speaker Rayburn of Texas said talk that the program is "bogging down" is "nonsense."

Sen. Lucas, the Senate Democratic floor leader, said he agreed with Rayburn.

Reach Terms In Rail Dispute

CHICAGO, March 21. (AP)— Final terms on a $640 million a year wage boost have been reached in the 11-month dispute between the nation's railroads and 16 non-operating unions.

The settlement, worked out on a formula recommended by a presidential fact-finding board, was described by a union spokesman as the "most momentous" wage and hour movement in the history of American industry.

It will extend the basic 40-hour week to the railroads for the first time and affects 1 million employees.

The 40-hour week at the same pay the workers received for 48 hours becomes effective next Sept. 1, but an additional wage boost of seven cents an hour is retroactive to last Oct. 1. Excepted from the general terms of the "third round" wage boost are the yardmasters who will continue on a six-day week with an increase of 10 cents a hour.

Rites For Coahoma Man Set For Today

Funeral services for Bill Brown, 72, of Coahoma, who died in a local hospital at 8:30 p. m. Saturday, were to be conducted in the Eberley chapel at 4 p. m. today. The remains were to be interred in the local cemetery.

Rev. Mark Reeves, pastor of the Coahoma Baptist church, will be in charge of the rites.

Brown, a farmer most of his life, lived in and around Coahoma for 31 years. He had been ill for some time.

Survivors include a sister, Susie Brown of Coahoma; and brothers, Jim Brown, Coahoma, and Ollie Brown, Skiatook, Okla.

YMCA Officials Optimistic Over Home Prospects

Local YMCA officials were optimistic today over prospects for completing a transaction that would provide a permanent home for the organization.

Members of the board who met Sunday at the K. H. McGibbon home authorized President W. L. Reed to appoint a special committee to work toward the purchase of the First Christian Church building. The YMCA already has an option to purchase the structure for $40,000.

Although no general campaign for funds is planned, several friends of the organization already have submitted gifts. It was reported Sunday. Reed plans to appoint the special committee early this week.

Attending the Sunday meeting were R. T. Piner, Otis Graff, Dr. R. B. G. Cowper, Dr. G. W. Wood, J. D. Jones, Dr. E. O. Ellington, H. W. Smith, Rev. Lloyd Thompson, Ann Houser, Agnes Currie, Lee Milling Reed and McGibbon.

DEATHLESS DAYS 465 In Big Spring Traffic

Good Investment In Future Seen In YMCA's Plant Appeal

Although no general solicitation is planned, the YMCA board is setting about an effort to secure support which would enable it to obtain the First Christian church property as its permanent home. With one-tenth of the total purchase price ($40,000) already raised, a good start has been made.

This is, nevertheless, a good way from the final goal. More and substantial support will be needed. The undertaking has possibilities because the amount raised thus far has come from a few members of the board or their families.

For those who look at it from a purely value-received point of view, the step is not without merit. On the basis of one offer hand offer for a portion of the ground, land value might be pegged at half the asked price. The building is in sound condition, being solid concrete to the first floor level.

For those who like convenience, it is adjacent to the downtown district, yet at the edge so as to provide ample parking space and remove it from disconcerting conditions.

For those who see the need of a community center, the plant offers potentialities. Many organizations and groups would doubtless find that it could be scheduled so as to answer the ever-present question of where to have meetings.

For those who are interested in our youth, the home would offer adequate physical facilities around which a wholesome Christian program could be more extensively presented to supplement the home and the schools. After all, this is the prime consideration. We commend this venture to people of means, modest or otherwise, who want to invest money where it has every hope of doing good long after they are gone. Why not call the YMCA and say you want to be in on this bold adventure?

Long And Hard Work Produces Proposed Budget On Schedule

When city commissioners get down to business this week, there is a strong probability that copies of the proposed budget for the fiscal year beginning April 1 will be on hand for study.

In the light of the record for the past decade, this is worthy of commendation. During the war shortage of personnel made it difficult to comply with the charter provision which calls for a proposed budget in advance of the beginning of the new fiscal year. Indeed, there were years when the City of Big Spring functioned without a budget as such.

Following the war, the press of catching up on improvements and expansion was such that the presentation of a budget lagged behind the fiscal marker by weeks. Another compounding factor was the shift of standardized budget forms, a voluminous undertaking which was almost breath-taking and vesome in its final fruit.

However, City Manager Herbert Whitney set about to correct his condition and has finished his recommended draft along with his budget message to the commission. Only a handful realize that it order to do this he has worked long after hours, on off days and holidays as well, to whip the document into shape. It has been a real effort and one that should not go unpraised.

Modern Man Seems To Have Lost Ability To Make A Decision

NEW YORK (AP)—THE MOST LONELY thing in America today is a decision. In the time when men were men decisions actually were made. Now they just happen.

The trouble is, right now, that a man, like a worm, doesn't know which way to turn. If he is going to be a papa, he is afraid to say out loud he wants a son, because fate may hand him a daughter. If he yearns for a girl, he hesitates to mention it, because the hospital may make sign for—junior. He usually leaves it up to his wife to settle the issue.

Everybody seems to be this way. All wait for something to happen to make up their minds.

The classic escape route is that phenomenon known as "passing the buck." This is easy in wartime because of a system known as the chain of command.

SHALL WE CROSS THE ENEMY-HELD river?

"Well," stalls the colonel.

"H-m-m-mmm," says the major.

"There are these possibilities," says the captain.

"So there are," replied the lieutenant.

"Should we?" asks the sergeant.

"Shouldn't we?" wonders the corporal.

Younger Generation Is Quick To Find Hero In 'Wizard Of Oz'

NEW YORK—Intelligent youngsters and not the mob of bobby soxers who hysterically hustle after a cruising crooner, have a new hero. He is Ray Bolger, elongated comedian and "Wizard of Oz" dancer in the musical version of Brandon Thomas' antique play, "Charley's Aunt."

Today, with a subtle and humorous book by George Abbott, it is flourishing as a musical under the title of "Where's Charley?" and the youngsters, like the oldsters, love it.

Bolger first was a serious dancer after he had quit his early career as a bank clerk in his home town of Boston. He got to be an eccentric, berseck, zany dancer because he is a serious thinker. "I lifted an eyebrow, did a bit of mugging and thought the whole thing out very seriously. Then people began to take notice," he says.

He takes delight in the number of youngsters who are coming to see the show. "In my previous Broadway shows like 'By Jupiter' and 'Three To Make Ready' it was necessary to stop some people at the stage door because you get so many eccentrics or people who want you to support them in a style to which they haven't been accustomed.

"But I quickly discovered that I had to make a different decision about 'Where's Charley?' because of the juveniles who see the show and want to come backstage. Just look at these letters."

The letters, piled high on his desk, were from groups of schools and juvenile clubs in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut who had journeyed by bus to Manhattan to see Bolger, as Charley Wykeham, the Oxford student who impersonates a visiting aunt to chaperon the young ladies who are visiting himself and his classmates.

The letters, mostly from 12 to 14 year old youngsters, were in chain fashion so that a separate letter was written by every student in each class. Many of the letters asked for advice about how to prepare for a stage or screen career.

"I tell them that I found the only way is good, out-and-out hard work and by learning to think for yourself. I never could have figured how to work out the dances and comedy of Charley's Aunt except by thinking it out myself. That is, myself—and my wife."

Once you hear Bolger sing "Once In Love With Amy" you'll understand what he means by "...and my wife."

Poles Have A Laugh On Their Government

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Poles are laughing openly at their Communist-led government.

They sit in a theater to do it because a young man named Jerzy Jurandot has turned out the nation's best post-war semi-musical comedy called "Nowe Proradki". It means "The New Order". It's now playing the newly-built "Syreca" theater in Warsaw.

Acting as his own master of ceremonies, Jurandot, with marionettes, portrays vividly the characteristics and statements of leading government personalities.

These include Premier Jozef Cyrankiewicz; Hilary Minc, minister of industry and trade; Konstanty Dabrowski, minister of finance; and Zygmunt Modzelewski, minister of foreign affairs.

Acheson Blasts 'Sour-Grapes' Attitude Of Dulles In Criticizing Atlantic Pact

WASHINGTON—Secretary of State Acheson is boiling mad at John Foster Dulles for making speeches criticizing the North Atlantic Pact.

Acheson blew up when he read Dulles' speech in Cleveland before the Federal Council of Churches lambasting the State Department for inviting Norway to join the pact while under Russian pressure. He warned that this might provoke Russia into attacking.

When Acheson read this he remarked: "Dulles just can't get over the fact that Dewey lost the election and he isn't now Secretary of State."

CAPITAL NEWS CAPSULES

Tempting Sen. Morse — The Democrats have tried to tempt independent Republican Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon to quit the Senate. The bait is a lifetime job as U. S. circuit judge on the West Coast. Sen. Magnuson of Washington was sent as emissary to Morse with the offer, but the forthright senator from Oregon refused to be kicked upstairs, telling Magnuson that the Democrats would have to beat him at the polls if they wanted to get him out of the Senate.

North Carolina Blood is thick—Sen. Clyde Hoey of North Carolina is on the Senate Expenditures Committee, now engaged in probing alleged political favoritism inside the RFC whereby ex-Congressman Frank Hancock of North Carolina used his brother-in-law, Ernest Howard, inside the RFC, to arrange government loans for clients. This has netted various fees for Mr. Hancock. Although Sen. Hoey is taking no part in the Senate investigation, his committee is. And during the investigation Sen. Hoey showed up as guest of honor at a luncheon given by Mrs. Ernest Howard, who is the wife of one man under investigation and the sister of the other—Frank Hancock.

Stronger Than Facts—There's been plenty of publicity attached to the fact that Norway has struck its new way out by rebuffing Russia and agreeing to a mutual-defense pact with the United States. Unpublicized, however, is the fact that Norway is also quietly building up friendship with the United States through exchange of students. . . . About 600 Norwegian students are now studying in the USA and, in reciprocity, the University of Oslo is conducting a summer course for American students. The Norwegian teachers instruct in English, and this summer student exchange is helping to create a friendship even stronger than treaties. . . . Interested Americans can get details from the Norwegian Embassy in Washington. They have until March 25 before the enrollment deadline closes.

Watch the Warships — The American Embassy has warned the Chinese nationalist government to keep a close eye on the American warships that were turned over to the Chinese Navy at the end of the war. Ambassador Stuart doesn't want any of our warships deserting to the Chinese Communists. A couple of weeks ago a British cruiser that London had transferred to the Chinese suddenly went over to the Communist side.

VS. COLLEGES

Frank W. Abrams, chairman of the far-flung Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, has spent 32 years in the refining business—highly successful, plodding years, not too exciting a measured by outside standards. Beginning as a junior engineer in Standard's Eagle refining plant, Abrams slowly worked his way up.

And having reached the very top of the world's largest oil corporation, he began to get ready to retire the other day, and began to realize how exciting life can be.

He got contaminated first of all by sitting down with some university students who were graduating from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. Then he met with teachers and students of other colleges, began to study their overcrowded conditions and their financial needs.

As a result, Frank Abrams has become a quiet, consistent crusader for education and in so doing has posed an important question to the nation: "can corporations contribute to colleges and universities?"

Under current court rulings, they can't. If they have a business interest in sending some of their men to a certain college, or if a college is working on a technical problem of value to a corporation, then a corporation can contribute. But the courts have held, thus far, that a corporation cannot help a college simply for the purpose of aiding general education.

However, Abrams, pointing to the fact that the enrollment of American colleges has recently increased 60 per cent, against a general population increase of only nine per cent, claims that corporations should be permitted to contribute to colleges.

"The peace, prosperity and security of this nation may depend as much on the way we treat our teachers and our religious leaders as it does on any other single influence," says Abrams. "We must offer them more than bread and butter and a chance to do good."

"The American people insist that the legal persons which we call corporations have responsibilities to society," he adds. "In our view, the American people are right."

At any rate, Abrams has decided to make a test case of his theory before the courts and see whether it is permissible for corporations to make contributions to general education—there being no strings attached to influence the university's way of teaching.

Whether Mr. Abrams is right or wrong on this point, we don't know. But certainly, in his general desire to help education, he is sincerely trying to do his part as a servant of brotherhood.

WITH COMMUNISTS

Gen. MacArthur has sent a long, secret report to the Army department urging the United States government to do business with the Chinese Communists. He recommends that the U. S. military government in Japan be permitted to buy coal and coke from the North China mines now in the hands of Chinese Communists.

MacArthur urges trade with the Communists because it will save the American government nearly $5 a ton on the price of coal for Japan. (It costs $50 a ton to ship the coal to Japan from the United States, while the Chinese will sell it for around $15 a ton.) Also MacArthur thinks U. S. trade would tend to keep Chinese Communist leaders from getting too chummy with Moscow.

'Inside-Outer' Publicity Campaign Goes To Town

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—When a reporter interviews a press agent, that should be news.

Lately Hollywood has been watching one of the most effective publicity campaigns since Jane Russell and the search for Scarlett O'Hara. It concerns a low-budget picture called "Champion."

It hasn't even been seen by the public, but already it has (1) become one of the most talked-about films in recent years; (2) won a million-dollar contract at Warners for its director, Mark Robson.

For insight into this important phase of the industry, I sought out the campaign's creator, stubby, balding George Glass, a Krupa among movie drum-beaters.

"This campaign was in 'inside-outer,'" he confided via the phone from New York.

"When I read the script and saw the first rushes, I stopped all publicity. I decided to try the 'inside-outer,' which I had done before introducing Bergman in 'Intermezzo.' The idea is to let people discover for themselves.

"When the picture was over, I arranged for private showings to important people. They like the film and enthused to their friends. This sort of thing is

Bill Of Fare In Islands, Despite Its Monotony, Wasn't Too Bad

Down in the islands during the days the submarines of the German navy were taking pot-shots at every thing that moved through the sea-lanes, the cooks in khaki had to make the most of what was being offered them, and oftimes that wasn't very much.

Taking into consideration the high mortality rate on ships and ships' cargoes, I suppose we were pretty lucky we didn't get C rations any more than we did, at that.

At any rate, we were fed powdered eggs for breakfast and canned beef as an entire most every other meal. There was a difference in opinion as to the exact contents of the containers identified as beef—many of us imagined it came from ground-up four-legged animals which foraged on hay and grass but the female of the species was not equipped to give milk.

What ever it was, there were those of us who gave the wide berth. The uncomplimentary things we said about it kept the chefs in a bad humor so much of the time that our rations in the commodity were eventually boosted, we thought for spite.

Certain we were being discriminated against when it came to food, we soothed our feelings with self pity, and the anointment in no small way helped us to bear up.

An incident that occurred during 'our blackest hour' had a much more powerful effect on the most of us, however.

It seems an enemy submarine which had been reconnoitering about our bastion was surprised by a couple of our air craft and the commander elected to submerge without notifying all of his personnel, two of whom were top side and had no chance to descend into the bowels of the vessel.

They immediately found themselves in the 'rink' and had no choice but to swim ashore, where they were immediately taken into custody by our troops.

That Hitler was at that time scraping the bottom of the manpower barrel was evidenced by the two motley, youthful mariners who surrendered to our forces. They were ill-clothed, ill-kept and all but starved.

Eventually they wound up at our base and in our chow-hall. They seemed worried not at all by capture—far fact, seemed relieved by the fact that they had been forced into retirement.

They sat down beside us after filling their plates with the canned beef and we watched in awe to see if they could get it down. They not only devoured it with as much relish as if they were eating breast of pheasant, they went back for seconds. They gulped that down until it was suggested they stop a while, for fear they'd overwork their inner mechanism.

I don't think they would have gone back to their ship if they had been afforded a chance, after that. As for us, we decided our lot wasn't so bad.—TOMMY HART

North Atlantic Alliance Members Should Stress Peaceful Aims

WORLD REACTION TO THE TERMS of the projected North Atlantic defense alliance is clearly defined, pro and con, as one would expect.

On the one hand we have the claim by the western participants that the pact is purely defensive and is designed as insurance against war.

On the other side Russia and her satellites charge in violent terms that the treaty is an aggressive move by the United States to lay the groundwork for a third world conflict. The Communists of all countries echo this.

We of the West of course know that neither the United States nor her allies have aggressive designs. It is difficult to believe that the leading statesmen of the Soviet bloc actually think the western nations are impelled by ulterior motives.

However, I for one am prepared to admit that the Communist states may indeed be suspicious. After all, there's a very nasty cold war going on and at times it doesn't lack much to make it "hot." Therefore any important concerted move by either side is a matter for grave consideration—and perhaps of suspicion.

MAYBE THE MORAL OF THIS OBSERVATION is that it behooves the members of the alliance to emphasize at every opportunity the truth of their peaceful intentions. That is, they are prepared to defend themselves against any aggression but have no aggressive designs themselves.

This is a historic moment for the United States. It is the first time she has joined in a peacetime alliance with European nations—a fact which recalls President Washington's farewell address in which he warned against European alliances.

Still, in its essence this proposed alliance isn't such a far reach from previous American commitments. Twice we have been part of an allied fighting machine in world wars. In both cases we were forced in without previous commitment, and from those experiences it has become clear that we must be involved in any world war, whether we like it or not. The Atlantic alliance is a tacit admission of this fact.

One hastens to add, however, that the pact doesn't commit any of the signatories to go to war. The 20-year alliance pledges the allied nations to resist automatically any "armed attack" against any one of them. But it's left for each nation to decide how it shall resist and whether armed resistance is necessary.

SO THE UNITED STATES ISN'T COMMITTED to war before the event.

There is one other salient point which this treaty has brought to the surface. Communist leaders in non-Communist countries have declared in effect that if a conflict comes with Russia they will stand with the Soviet Union. President Truman, when asked by newsmen for comment regarding a statement by American Red leaders, replied:

"I have no comment to make on a statement made by traitors."

Atlantic Treaty Is Straight-Out Military Alliance Against Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)—PRETTY SOON we'll be like a man watching, through a slit in a tank, another man watching him, through a slit in a tank.

The details of the Atlantic pact were announced yesterday. In another month or so we'll be a member of it—if the Senate approves, and it's expected to.

Our partners will be Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, Luxembourg, and the Netherlands. The seven have invited Norway, Iceland, Portugal and Italy to come in, too.

The purpose? It's a straight-out military alliance. The pact says:

1. That the signers of the pact will by "means of continuous and effective self-help and mutual aid . . . maintain and develop their individual and collective capacity to resist armed attack."

That's the diplomatic way of saying they'll start arming so they'll be ready in case Russia starts pushing them around.

2. . . . An armed attack against one . . . shall be considered an attack against them all; and . . . they agree . . . each . . . will assist the party . . . so attacked by taking . . . such action as it deems necessary, including the use of armed force . . .

THAT MEANS THEY'LL GO TO WAR against anyone who attacks one of the pact signers. Although Russia isn't mentioned in the pact, Russia is the only one with enough strength to tackle the seven allies.

All this getting ready "just in case" is going to cost money. The Truman administration shortly is going to ask Congress for about one billion dollars to help our new allies get armed.

If that goes through, and you add that to whatever our allies can do for themselves, it will make Western Europe pretty much an armed camp starting watchfully eastward toward Russia and her allies.

And, in the meantime, what will Russia and her allies be doing? Apparently, they'll be turning Eastern Europe into a kind of armed camp that will be looking watchfully westward toward the other armed camp.

By coincidence, maybe, that's what this country plans to spend on its own armed forces. Russia made its announcement with full knowledge that the Atlantic Pact, or western military alliance, was getting set up.

EUROPEAN COMMUNISTS ALREADY are protesting that this western alliance is just the first step toward an attack on Russia. And one U. S. senator who doesn't like the pact, said:

"I wonder how the United States would feel if Russia made an alliance with Mexico, right next door to us, and helped get it armed."

But this government's officials deny the Atlantic Pact has any aggressive intentions at all. It's purely defensive, they say. Is it necessary? They just point to the record:

The conduct of Russia since the war, the steady push of communism, and the countries of Eastern Europe gobbled up by Russia—although local Communists still run them, but under Russia's orders.

And our government officials point out that unless we backed up our friends in Western Europe, they'd be a pushover for Russia, too. And that would leave us just about alone in the world.

You Can Dance If You Can Walk Says Expert

You can dance if you can walk. So why not dance?
Maybe you can. Perhaps you are a rumba fan or a jitterbug expert. Or perhaps your taste veers to the dated Lambeth walk or the fun-making square dance... swing your partner, swing your gal... always hilarious roof-razers.
Someday, however, you'll want to climb into your best Sunday go-to-meetin' bib and tucker and dance a waltz. Then what? Schools of the dance are crowded these days with anxious ex-jivers who are trying to learn to beat their feet in socially correct cadence. It is easy to learn ballroom dancing. If you've never danced before, and feel as if you drag two left feet behind, Fred Astaire recommends ballroom dancing as the key to your problem.

He suggests the Viennese waltz pattern as a starter because it teaches movement in all four directions, and this simple beginning can lead to correct dance patterns, he says.
If you don't want to be a wall-flower standing around on the edge of the dance floor, get some of your club or canteen group together and glide, kids, glide.
Here's Mr. Astaire's prescription as, taught in his own schools, for turning a tangled-footed beginner into a sugar foot...
Girls—take one step back on the right foot, bring back the left foot, mark time right and left two beats; one step forward on the left, bring up the right foot, mark time left and right two beats. Later, for both boys and girls, the marking time changes to a step to the side and close.
When the pupil has these movements mastered, turns begin. These principals are taught: Toe out (exaggerate it) stepping forward; toe in (exaggerate it) stepping back. Practice this the same way as the forward and back movements; toe out, bring up the other foot, mark time; toe in, bring up the other foot, mark time.
Now then—when the boy turns to the left, the left foot must go forward, turning out; a girl goes back on the right foot toeing out; the girls back on the left foot toeing in. These movements also can be combined in an exercise to be practiced for easier movement.
Try it: forward, bring up the other foot, mark time; back, bring back the other foot, mark time.
Though tap and ballet are fun for children, Mr. Astaire believes that even young children will benefit more from ballroom dancing. It will help them to overcome self-consciousness, teach them balance, coordination, rhythm and poise.
The fact that the head must be lifted, the shoulders straightened, the diaphragm raised and flattened to assume a correct dancing position will help achieve better posture. It is particularly good relaxation for teen-agers who get in the habit of slouching from studying in slumped positions.
Ribbons are so gay and feminine, wear them whenever you have an opportunity. One hair-dresser suggests a glamor coiffure in the new Empire style, brushing the short hair up to give an up-

RIBBON RAMBLINGS

By MILDRED YOUNG

Saw something in a club publication last week which seemed unusual and at the same time worth mentioning.
In a current issue of the Business and Professional Women's news sheet entitled "Fash," there is a report on the new club project which is the support of the Negro Women's Civic Club's campaign for a civic park to be used by Negroes in building a playground and club house. At the close of the article, the statement is made that Betty Canning, project chairman, seems to be ideal president material.
Election for the B and PW club will be later in the spring, but we thought the informal nomination worthwhile regardless of whether or not Mrs. Canning would even consider the office. Too many times, local organizations of all types fail to even think about their officers until the voting begins. We have known of a few groups which choose president-elects each year. The president-elect in such a set-up automatically becomes the president after a year of service, would make for better clubs. Discussion of official possibilities for another year should be very helpful even if the group does not wish to go any further.

Speaking of elections, we have noticed a number of advance stories and carried some ourselves, concerning various conventions to be held within the next few months. Representatives from Big Spring will be on hand at a number of these meetings. Most of the sessions will include the election of officers and it seems to us that some of our local delegates should make good candidate material. At the moment, we do not have any official report as to any organizational officers Big Spring claims in territory outside of our city limits. It seems highly possible that we could have a number. We'd like to recommend that if you are a delegate to any district, state or national convention that you make a careful check of those from your home town and from this community who will accompany you. There is a lot of good leadership material in Big Spring and it could be used over a much larger area.

Anniversary Dinner Held At Douglass Hotel

Many flowers were presented to the couple during the informal evening of visiting. No program was planned, but Shine Phillips made a few impromptu remarks concerning the contributions which the Douglasses have made to the community through social, church and civic organizations. Three copies of the Big Spring Weekly published at the time of the opening were viewed by the guests.
Table decorations included a large centerpiece of mixed spring flowers and a white cloth.
Those present were: Nell Hatch, Mrs. Robert T. Piner, Mrs. R. M. Parks, Mr. and Mrs. Travis Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Green, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Play Is Tuesday

Climax of the story comes when the bachelor's father, who is furnishing the money for the support of the bachelor's family, decides to make a visit to his son's home. Before the play is completed, the audience will find themselves witnessing a laugh-filled play with a number of surprises.

Texas Steers Look Capable Of Winning Track Crown

Unheralded Lads Help Beat Ags

FT. WORTH, March 21.—The University of Texas has demonstrated that it is back in the groove in southwestern track and field and should return to its championship ways after a two-year lull.

In two meets the Longhorns have defeated Texas A&M. Southwest Conference titlists of 1947 and 1948, and in the last one showed conclusively that they are the team to beat this season.

Texas won the university division title of the Southwestern Track and field meet there the past week-end 59 1-2 points to 57 1-2 for A&M but the score does not indicate Texas' superiority.

The Longhorns are world famous or their 440-yard relay team. Few can remember when that quartette lost a race. Saturday, the Orange haton-carriers didn't even finish because O. B. Chessier, the third lap man, fell out with a pulled muscle while well ahead. A&M won the event and the fans figured that meant Texas would lose the meet.

But some unheralded youngsters came through with points in the crucial places—Glenn Watkins, who was a last-minute addition to the team and whose name didn't even appear in the program, tied for second in the high jump; Vincente Taveres took an unexpected third in the low hurdles and Lowell Hawkinson switched to the half-mile from the quarter, won another third.

A&M lost some points in the low hurdles when Don Cardon took a tumble but if Texas could win over the Aggies without even placing in its specialty, the 440-yard relay, then the Longhorns would appear to have the all-around strength to take the conference title. Texas placed in every event except the high hurdles and the 400-yard relay.

It was one of the greatest meets in the 26 years that the Fort Worth recreation board has put on the cinder path carnival, with an all-time record for entries and with 12 records falling while two others were tied.

The outstanding records set were a 20.9 220-yard dash by Charley Parker of Texas, a 48.3 quarter-mile by Ray Holbrook of Texas and a 23.3 220-yard low hurdles by Bob Hall of Texas A&M. These were not only new marks in the university division but were new meet records.

Some of the brightest new track prospects noted included Javier Montes, the former El Paso schoolboy star who now is running for Texas Mines. He turned in a 4:28.4 mile with ease while competing in the college freshman class.

Paul Leming, the great Beaumont schoolboy hurdler of last season, showed class in racing the 120-yard high hurdles in 14.9 and winning the low hurdles in 24.2. He participated as a member of the Texas A&M freshman team.

Reed Quinn, Texas freshman, pitched the 16-pound shot 45 feet 2 inches and Ray Womack, Texas freshman, high jumped 6 feet 3 1-4 inches in other good showings by newcomers.

The management of the Big Spring baseball professionals takes its first look at its rookie crop at Steer park today when a 13-day clinic opens.

Skipper Pat Stasey expects to have around 15 boys, some from as far away as Brooklyn. N. Y. Youngsters are coming in from Winters, Millisap and Denver City and the Irishman hopes to have a few register from here.

The boys were to gather with Stasey at Steer park this morning. Real work will get underway Tuesday, 10:30 p. m., when a four-hour session will be held.

The school will continue until Stasey and Club President Al Aton leave to pick up the contingent of Cubans which will play here. They will meet the Havana lads in Miami, Fla., around April 3.

McMurry college and Sul Ross play football in Monahans next fall. One of those who helped complete arrangements for the game was Lefty Wells, former Big Spring resident and now president of the Monahans Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Harold Colyer, who played about 40 games in the Longhorn league during the 1947 season, is trying out with the Temple club in the Big State league. Colyer hit .267 for Midland and Vernon two seasons ago but couldn't cut the butter as a pressure clouter.

Forsan Winds Up Third In Meet

WATER VALLEY, March 21.—Forsan finished third in a track and field meet won here Saturday by a Robert Lee team.

Sparked by Prater, Huestis and Bennett, the Buffaloes from Howard county scored 25 1/2 points to 4 1/2 for Robert Lee and 29 for second place Eldorado. Mertzon finished behind Forsan with 21. Coahoma had 15 1/2, Sterling City 8, Bronie 6, Water Valley 3, Rankin 3 and the San Angelo reserves 1. San Angelo won the junior division with Water Valley second. Robert Lee third, Big Spring fourth and Garden City fifth.

Calumet Horses May Be Matched

MIAMI, Fla., March 21. (AP) — A match race between Citation and Coaltown, greatest turf natural possible, probably could be staged if conditions are suitable. Calumet General Manager Ben Jones said today—adding that he still rates Citation the better horse.

Citation, deemed by many veteran experts the equal if not superior of immortal Man O' War, beat his amazingly fast stablemate—a colt fresh from tying the world marks from none and 10 furlongs? Said Ben Jones today: "Coaltown ran a wonderful race Saturday, I'll admit. (Calumet's) jet job seven lengths under wraps in 1:59 4/5. But I think Citation could win the Gulfstream Park 'Cap by stay close enough to his pace to wear him down. Coaltown is mighty hard to get to," though.

Webb's Control Is Impressive In Two Ways

By The Associated Press
SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., March 21. — One of New York Giant rookie righthander Sam Webb's chief assets is control. Webb also is very adept at controlling pin balls. He's champion of the club when it comes to pinball machines.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Pitcher Frank Shea's sore neck and Lefty Joe Page's lame arm is beginning to cause some concern in the camp the New York Yankees.

VERO BEACH, Fla. — Practice of the "pick off" play is beginning to bear fruit for the Brooklyn Dodgers. They pulled it twice yesterday in their 6-0 loss to the Philadelphia Athletics.

CLEARWATER, Fla. — Manager Eddie Sawyer plans to send his rookies against the Kansas City Blues of the American Association in today's game at the Philadelphia Phillies' spring training base.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — Bill McCahan gets his initial 1949 pitching test tonight against the Miami Beach Flamings of the Florida International League in the Philadelphia Athletics' first spring training floodlight game.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. — The Pittsburgh Pirates were back at their home base today for a game with the New York Giants and Manger Billy Meyer was disappointed at the showing of Pitcher Bob Chessner.

CHESNES, who went five innings as the Buc defeated San Francisco 8-4, yesterday, was just a little too wild to suit the boss.

BRADENTON, Fla. — From Orlando comes word the much traveled, now unemployed, Bob Newsom is maneuvering for an opportunity to bid for a job on the Boston Braves' pitching staff.

RECREATION here was negative, a few grins, no words.
SARASOTA, Fla. — Boston's Red Sox will enjoy a rarity of baseball's spring training season today—a day off.

ILLINOIS BIG HURDLE

Kentucky Gets Acid Test In NCAA Cage Tourney

NEW YORK, March 21. (AP)—Kentucky's try-again boys make another stab at baseball glory here tonight in the opening round of the NCAA playoffs.

Once figured almost a shoo-in for both the National Invitation and NCAA titles the Kentuckians now will have to prove they can win under fire.

They've been beaten only twice in 31 games this season, but the two they lost were the big ones. St. Louis whipped the Wildcats by two points in the final of the Sugar Bowl Holiday Tournament and Loyola of Chicago trounced them, 62-47, in the quarterfinal round of the National Invitation a week ago today.

Almost nobody doubts that the Lexington Wildcats can get past the Villanova Wildcats (23-3) tonight. But the road ahead certainly doesn't look as smooth as it did a short week ago.

The immediate stumbling block seems to be the University of Illinois, Big Nine champion with a 19-3 record. The Illini are favored to brush aside Yale (22-6) in the first game of tonight's doubleheader.

The first round winners meet tomorrow night for the right to oppose Oklahoma A&M in the national finals at Seattle, Wash., Saturday. The second place team here also will travel West for a consolation engagement with Oregon State, which lost to A&M at Kansas City Saturday night, 55-30, in the western final.

Underdogs Yale and Villanova will feature the nation's two highest individual scorers among major colleges. Tony Lavelli, ace of the New Haven Blues, has averaged 22.7 points in 28 games. Paul Arizin of Villanova has hit at the rate of 21.7 for 25 games.

AC DUEL MATCHES WEBBER, FENTON

Stout-hearted Vic Webber, whose appearance here two weeks ago served to bring an old grapple fan who had gotten away from that 'Monday night habit' and who since has managed to win several new converts for the kind of entertainment Promoter Pat O'Dowdy dishes up, returns to the local Sportatorium tonight to take on Rod Fenton of Montreal, Canada.

The German veteran spotted Dory Funk some 12 to 14 pounds last time out and beat the Hoosier at his own game. Funk attempted to get riotous. Webber went him one better, without straying from the straight and narrow, and came up with a victory.

Fenton hasn't visited the local club for some time now but was a regular here last fall. His figure takes on the appearance of a beer barrel but his looks are deceiving. He'll be all over you like a spring shower, unless you're careful. Even when he looks very good, very hard to be can be very, very good.

O'Dowdy, let it be said, isn't feeding Webber any setups. Vic will be spotting the foe more than ten pounds again, which is nothing new for the transplanted New Yorker. If Webber becomes the uncrowned champion of the local spread, he'll do it the hard way.

Stasey Greets Baseball Frosh

The management of the Big Spring baseball professionals takes its first look at its rookie crop at Steer park today when a 13-day clinic opens.

Skipper Pat Stasey expects to have around 15 boys, some from as far away as Brooklyn. N. Y. Youngsters are coming in from Winters, Millisap and Denver City and the Irishman hopes to have a few register from here.

The boys were to gather with Stasey at Steer park this morning. Real work will get underway Tuesday, 10:30 p. m., when a four-hour session will be held.

The school will continue until Stasey and Club President Al Aton leave to pick up the contingent of Cubans which will play here. They will meet the Havana lads in Miami, Fla., around April 3.

Looking 'Em Over

by Tommy Hart

The Harold Webb story, which has been told and retold in several news organs, including the baseball bible, The Sporting News, was kicked about by an East Texas journal the other day and the things repeated about the hero were flattering, to say the least.

The articles pictured The Little King as the Mahatma of the Longhorn league, a sort of Pied Piper who lures fans where-ever he goes. It paid special tribute to him for making Midland a "baseball crazy town."

Regrettably, the attendance figures reported by the Midland club do not bear out all the appellations. For some time now Midland has prided itself on having as many or more people than Big Spring—an argument which, of course, will not be settled until the 1950 season is taken.

In those two years, the Big Springers have played to nearly 17,000 more paying customers at home than have the Midlands. As a matter of fact, the Indians rank third in aggregate draw for the 1947 and '48 seasons. Big Spring leads the parade with 102,656 (exclusive of the playoffs) with Odessa's 99,608 a close second. Midland has reported 85,878 attendance for the period. Vernon comes in for 81,000. Ballinger 77,075 and Sweetwater 67,056. Those are the only teams who have been doing business in the loop over two seasons.

Let it be added Midland apparently hasn't learned to appreciate him Cubans on the Big Spring team, he's the best gate lure in the circuit. Let it be added Midland's apparently hasn't learned to appreciate him yet.

WEBB GIVEN FLAG POLE BY CITY
Incidentally, Cleddie Shelburne, Midland's new sport scribe, reports that the City of Midland has made the gift of a flag pole to Webb, from which Harold plans to fly the Longhorn league pennant his club won last year. It's going to prove quite an engineering trick to get it into the park, adds Shelburne, because it weighs something like ten tons.

LONGHORN LEAGUE MAY BE "HITTERS' LOOP"
Such gifted stick men as Jim Prince, Cotton McCaskey and George Caloia have departed the Longhorn league but the Class D circuit apparently will be a stronger circuit than ever this season.

Charley English, once one of the best AA ball players in the game, will be a playing manager for Ballinger. Bob Crues, one of the great long distance hitters in the minors, takes over as pilot of the Roswell club. Pat Stasey will be back to harness the pitchers again and Stu Williams will probably wear Ballinger spangles again.

The circuit was known as a pitcher's league last year because the balance of power was on the mound. Now, it bids fair to do an 'about-face' and give the fans a taste of wide-open baseball.

McMurry college and Sul Ross play football in Monahans next fall. One of those who helped complete arrangements for the game was Lefty Wells, former Big Spring resident and now president of the Monahans Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Harold Colyer, who played about 40 games in the Longhorn league during the 1947 season, is trying out with the Temple club in the Big State league. Colyer hit .267 for Midland and Vernon two seasons ago but couldn't cut the butter as a pressure clouter.

West Powers Outlaw Soviet East Mark In Berlin Sectors

BERLIN, March 21. (AP) — The Western Powers have outlawed the Russian east mark in their sectors of Berlin, splitting the city's economy completely. The new allied order yesterday declaring that the Russian currency no longer would be accepted as legal tender, had been expected for some time. It means that Western Berlin now has one currency—the West mark; and eastern Berlin has another—the Soviet East mark. The West mark has been worth about four times as much as the East mark. The Russians earlier made it a crime to possess West marks in their area. The United States, Britain and France did not go that far. They just said the eastern currency no longer need be accepted in their part of the city. Although the order is effective immediately, the East mark will still be good in western sectors for rationed foods this month and will be accepted in April for rent and taxes. There were reports the Russians would retaliate promptly against the latest western move in the currency battle. The East mark tumbled to rate of six to 10 for one West mark today, as western Berliners rushed to dump their remaining holdings of East marks. That was the black market figure. But even in legal exchange offices the east mark dropped to 5.2 for one. The chief Russian reaction so far was a charge in the Russian-controlled press this morning that the action by the Western Powers was a fraud against the population. Big headlines in the Communist press predicted mass bankruptcies in western Berlin. The only concrete Russian reaction was an effort by the Soviet-controlled German police to prevent western Berliners from entering the Russian sector's ration-free stores on buying spree with surplus East marks. The currency question has been one of the main issues in the Soviet blockade of Berlin. Several international discussions, both inside and outside of the United Nations have failed to solve it. A UN committee reported recently it had failed to reach a solution.

Seize $1,950,000 In Pure Cocaine

NEW YORK, March 21. (AP) — Police have seized pure cocaine valued at $1,950,000 at underworld retail prices and arrested three alleged members of a national narcotics ring.

A woman police detective, posing as a chambermaid, was credited with gathering information that led to the arrests. The detective, Mrs. Mabel Leonard, took the job as a domestic last January in a rooming house where the three men used a room kept her eye on the men, and often entered their quarters on the pretext of doing her chores. Co-operation by a janitor also helped break the case. Those held on narcotics charges are Ralph Lopez, 32; his brother, John Lopez, 38, and Jose Gonzales, 28. Arraigned yesterday, they were held on charges of illegal possession. Detectives said the three men offered to pay $15,000 for their freedom when arrested. Police had been watching the trio since information was received last January that they might be involved in selling narcotics smuggled here from Venezuela, Peru, and Chile. Detective John P. Cottone said the prisoners were "the clearing house for merchant seamen who smuggle narcotics into this country." He said they recently returned from Chicago and Detroit. The first arrested was Ralph Lopez, seized early yesterday as he stepped into an automobile near his home. Police said he was carrying a suitcase containing 30 ounces of pure cocaine, and that he had $2,500 in his pockets. The other two were arrested a short time later at their homes. Sixty ounces of pure cocaine was found later in the furnished room used as headquarters, police said.

Biggest Gas Pipe Line To Be Constructed

HOUSTON, March 21. (AP) — Ground breaking ceremonies for construction of the world's largest gas pipe line in May, officials of the Transcontinental Gas Pipeline Company said Saturday. Transcontinental is completing plans for construction of the 1840 mile line between the Rio Grande Valley and New York Harbor. A company spokesman said the first ground probably will be broken in the vicinity of McComb, Miss., where 30-inch pipe from a California mill is being stockpiled. Main headquarters of the company were opened in Houston in February. Approximately 900 employees are to be assigned to the Houston office, with another 1,100 scattered along the route once construction is under way. The $190 million line is scheduled for completion in 1951, with an initial maximum daily capacity of 349 million cubic feet. With compressor station additions and expansions it later will be possible to boost the figure to 568 million cubic feet daily. The company spokesman said details of the route's location across Southern States will be announced later. He said Mississippi headquarters will be at McComb, Ala. and Alabama headquarters probably will be opened at Selma, Ala.

Hester's Mother Visits Him In Jail

FORT WORTH, March 21. (AP) — Arthur Clayton Hester, 18, confessed slayer of Dr. John Lord of TCU, greeted his mother with a "hello" yesterday when she visited him for the first time since 1945. Mrs. Robert Hamm of Arp, arrived at Hester's cell in the county jail at Cleburne about noon, said Johnson County Deputy Sheriff Alf Bowers. Mrs. Hamm, accompanied by her husband, stayed about an hour, the deputy added.

Tanks Now Can Be Carried With Ease In Air Force Planes

NEW YORK, March 21. (AP) — The New York Herald Tribune says Army tanks, weighing up to 25 tons, now can be carried "with ease" ready for combat, inside U. S. Air Force cargo planes. The newspaper says the tanks can be carried inside planes of types now on quantity order by the air force. This new development was learned, the Herald Tribune said, from First Army headquarters sources. The Sherman tank of World War II, the newspaper said, weighed about 35 tons and the Pershing tank, introduced late in the war, weighed 45 tons.

Miss Strong Says Atlantic Treaty 'Step Toward War'

BOON, Marc 21. (AP) — Miss Anna Louise Strong, recently expelled from Russia on espionage charges, says the North Atlantic Pact is "a step toward war." In her first public speech returning to this country, Miss Strong last night proposed the drafting of a pact embodying "disarmament proposals and the abandonment of atomic bombs." She contended Russia deported her because she was "a journalist seeking facts" and that "was considered espionage by the Russians." The 63-year-old author and former editor declared she "would defend this country" should it be attacked by the Soviet Union. She has appealed to Premier Stalin, through the State Department, for a review of her deportation. O. John Rogge, her attorney, said he sent a letter claiming Miss Strong's arrest was "due to grave errors of certain lower officials" of the Russian government. Rogge said he has not heard whether the letter was forwarded to Stalin.

Victoria 4-H Club Boy Sells Top Steer

VICTORIA, March 21. (AP) — Clifford Hayes of Bloomington, Victoria County 4-H Club boy, received $5 cents a pound for his grand champion steer of the Victoria livestock show. The animal is an 870-pound Hereford. It was the second year in succession Hayes showed the champion. The show closed Saturday. Raymond Hiller, also a 4-H Clubber, showed the reserve champion for the second straight year.

Air Force Mechanics School To Be Moved To Sheppard Field

WICHITA FALLS, March 21. (AP) — The Air Force and mechanics school will move to Sheppard Air Base near here by July 1. Brig. Gen. John H. McCormick, commanding general at Sheppard, said the school will be transferred from Keester Air Base, Miss. The transfer will mean an additional some 3,800 Air Force students, 750 officers and 250 civilian employees to Sheppard base strength.

Yale Head Says He Would Fire Reds

DALLAS, March 21. (AP) — Dr. Charles Seymour, president of Yale University last night said he would fire any member of his faculty who was a Communist. "As far as I know, none of our present faculty is Communist. But if I should find that one of them were a Communist, I should certainly request his resignation," he said. Dr. Seymour was speaking before the Dallas Yale alumni. "I do not believe a Communist is allowed freedom of opinion and conscience. I want my professors to be free-thinking," he added.

Mexico Celebrates

MEXICO CITY, March 21. (AP) — Mexico today is celebrating "Juarez Day" as a national holiday, the fifth on her calendar.

Manuscripts of Old Testament Discovered in Dead Sea Cave

JERUSALEM, March 21. (AP) — Dr. Oliver Sellers, director of the American School of Oriental Research here, says that ancient scrolls found in a cave near the Dead Sea apparently are the oldest known manuscripts of the Old Testament. Sellers said that excavation work around the cave "practically removes any doubt as to the genuineness of the manuscripts." He said pottery found in the same cave would indicate the scrolls were placed there in the first or second century before Christ. The leather-bound scrolls were discovered in August, 1947. Syrian scholars called them to the attention of the American school a year ago. The documents contain a commentary on the Book of Habakkuk, the complete text of the Book of Isaiah and a manual of discipline for a Judean sect. The present whereabouts of the scrolls is not known here.

Atwell Awards $2 Damages In Million Dollar Libel Suit

DALLAS, March 21. (AP) — Federal Judge W. H. Atwell has awarded Harry M. Hoxsey two dollars damages in his million dollar libel suit against the Hearst Newspapers and The American Weekly, Hearst Sunday supplement. Hoxsey is operator of a Dallas cancer clinic. Of the judgment, one dollar was awarded on behalf of Hoxsey's late father, John C. Hoxsey. Judge Atwell said it was "for the linking of his dead father with the activities of the plaintiff." Hoxsey's suit was based on an article in the American Weekly supplement to the San Antonio Light.

LOWER PRICES INDICATE DOWNTURN IN BUSINESS, DECLARES UT EXPERT

AUSTIN, March 21. (AP) — Texas last week bought more with the dollar than three months ago. They welcomed the lowered grocery bill and the cheap prices on some other items, but they wondered "what does it mean?" Dr. Robert W. French, director of the University of Texas' Bureau of Business Research, saw it as "an unmistakable downturn" in business. The trend, he said, has been three months in the making. He sees it continuing the next three months. How low it will go and for how long, he says, depends on income and employment. Farmers, at least, already had less to spend. There was also a slight employment dip but quick recovery was forecast. The United States Department of Agriculture reported that lowered prices received by Texas farmers coupled with smaller production in some crops has cut into the farmers' spending money this year. USDA Statistician V. C. Childs noted, however, that two of Texas' biggest crops, wheat and cotton, are still in the making with conditions presently good for both. The Texas Employment Commission said February non-agricultural employment was down 15,800 below January's but is expected to recover that loss and gain 26,000 more within the next six weeks.

Insurance Board To Hold Meeting

AUSTIN, March 21. (AP) — The Board of Insurance Commissioners will hold a public hearing here March 29 at 9:30 a.m. The hearing will be in the Texas Highway Department hearing room. Among other matters to be considered will be the rates on automobile, bodily injury and property damage liability policies.

Milk Cows Suffer From Hard Winter

GREEN RIVER, Wyo., March 21. (AP) — Rancher Frank Johnson who lives 10 miles west of Green River has ample evidence of what a severe winter can do to cattle. One of Johnson's milk cows had all four of its milking tests frozen. They later dropped off. The same unfortunate cow also lost its tail. A second cow lost two of its teats because of their having been frozen. The cows were saved, but they'll never give any more milk, Johnson said.

W. J. Murray Will Address API Meet

MIDLAND, March 21. — W. J. (Bill) Murray, Jr., chairman of the at Austin, will address the April 1 meeting of the Permian Basin Chapter of the American Petroleum Institute to be held in the Ector County Auditorium at Odessa. Subject of Murray's discussion has not been announced. A barbecue dinner at the County Barn will follow the talk, which will begin at 6:30 p. m. Full details of other features of the program will be announced later, W. D. Lane, chapter chairman, said.

Rent Control Bill In Race Against Time

WASHINGTON, March 21. (AP)—A modified extension of federal rent controls began a race against time in the Senate today with several big hurdles in its path. The present law fixing maximum rents for several million homes and apartments expires March 31, just 10 days away. Sen. Maybank (D-S.C.) told a reporter he wants the Senate to pass a 12 to 15-month extension that would allow some rents to increase 10 per cent "sometime late today or at least tomorrow."

Maybank is chairman of the Senate Banking Committee which sharply revised a rent extension passed by the House. He conceded he faces "powerful Senate support for major changes in our bill." Maybank predicted the major Senate battles will come on these points:

1. A substitute proposal by Republican Sen. Cain (Wash) and Bricker (Ohio) calling for a six-month extension of actual rent controls plus another six months of supervision and the Senate committee bill calls for a 12-month extension plus three months of supervision.
2. A "step-by-step" decontrol of rents proposed by Sen. Capehart (R-Ind). He wants to end controls on all units renting for $150 or more monthly on Sept. 30 with similar action at $100 and above Dec. 31, $50 and above next March 31, and all rents next June 30.
3. A house-approved "local option" system of decontrols that would allow towns, cities, counties or states to lift rent ceilings or take them over. The Senate bill would limit this authority to states.

MARKETS

WALL STREET
NEW YORK, March 21. (AP)—The interest in the stock market settled on individual issues today but over-all trading was quiet. Price changes were narrow and within a fractional range among the leading stocks. Trading was virtually a continuation of the dull short session of Saturday when gains and losses offset each other almost exactly. The opening rush to fill weekend orders dwindled off in a matter of a few minutes. The pace thereafter was slow. Only a couple of blocks of stock were traded in early phases—1,000 shares of Pennsylvania railroad unchanged and 1,000 shares of radio off 1-4.

McGrath Says Truman Won't Stump Nation

PROVIDENCE, R. I. March 21. (AP)—Sen. J. Howard McGrath, Democratic chairman, said here last night that President Truman "has no immediate intention" of stumping the nation for support of his legislative program. Sen. McGrath described as "a chance remark" the President's assertion at a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner in Washington Feb. 24 that he might "even get on a train again and make another tour around the country to tell the people how their country is getting on. Although the 81st Congress since has defeated the administration first bid for civil rights legislation, Truman has dodged inquiries about the possibilities of the tour, and Sen. McGrath indicated here tonight that the American Press had taken his Feb. 24 remark more seriously than the President intended. The Democratic chairman, interviewed here as he awaited a midnight train back to Washington after being honored at an Elks testimonial dinner in Pawtucket, left no doubt that he believed Truman will remain in Washington.

He is speaking on a radio program broadcast over the Texas State Network. The program, the Texas Forum of the Air, is conducted by Rep. Wright Patman of Texarkana. Fisher said the B-36, made in Fort Worth, is "the world's best long range bomber." He said it could fly 10,000 miles at 40,000 feet altitude with 21 tons of bombs. "That means that operating from bases in Alaska, Maine or Labrador, the B-36s could fly to as many as 68 targets in Russia and return to their bases without refueling," he added.

Fisher Says B-36 Bomber Best In World

WASHINGTON, March 21. (AP)—The Air Force B-36 bomber is the best in the world, Rep. O. C. Fisher of San Angelo said last night. He was speaking on a radio program broadcast over the Texas State Network. The program, the Texas Forum of the Air, is conducted by Rep. Wright Patman of Texarkana. Fisher said the B-36, made in Fort Worth, is "the world's best long range bomber." He said it could fly 10,000 miles at 40,000 feet altitude with 21 tons of bombs. "That means that operating from bases in Alaska, Maine or Labrador, the B-36s could fly to as many as 68 targets in Russia and return to their bases without refueling," he added. Fisher serves on the House Armed Services Committee, which studies all measures directly affecting the Air Force, the Navy or Army. Rep. Gene Worley of Shamrock also appeared on the program. A member of the House Agriculture Committee, he discussed the work of that group.

Italian Senate Opens Atlantic Pact Debate

ATLANTIC PACT DEBATE 14
ROME, March 21. (AP)—The Italian Senate opens debate today on Italian adherence to the North Atlantic Defense Treaty. The lower house—the chamber of deputies—approved government support of the pact after a three-day Communist filibuster last week. Senate approval also is expected. A number of Communists in the Senate were lined up, however, to speak against the treaty.

PAIR OF STEERS IN BANK LOBBY

VICTORIA, March 21. (AP)—Two Hereford steers, grand reserve champions of the Victoria Livestock Show, occupied a corner of the lobby of the Victoria National Bank today. Two 4-H boys, Clifford Hayes, exhibitor of the top steer, and Raymond Hiller, were also guests of the bank, which paid $528.50 to the former and $1,447.32 to the latter at the show's auction sale. A part of the lobby, for business and conversational use, has for many years been designated in fun by a sign reading "bull pen." "But this is the nearest thing to a real bull we've had in the lobby," W. B. Callan, executive vice-president, said. Callan and other officers acted as hosts to the stream of visitors dropping in.

Some dated back four months, he said.

Dogwood Group Asking Public To Stay Away

PALESTINE, March 21. (AP)—Palestine's Dogwood Trails Assn. today found itself in the paradoxical position of sponsoring a flower show but asking everyone not to come. The dogwood trails open here Wednesday, but there won't be enough blossoms in sight to make a trip to Palestine worthwhile. "In other words," said K. A. Anderson, president of the association, "the latch string is out but the dogwood is not. We advise dogwood lovers to wait until next year." Last year more than 100,000 toured the dogwood paths.

Hoover Group Calls For New Department

WASHINGTON, March 21. (AP)—A new cabinet-rank department of public welfare and education and a controversial merger of federal medical care under one agency were recommended today by the Hoover commission. The proposed establishment of an independent "united medical administration" was expected to raise a storm of criticism. The American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars already have condemned this plan, which would strip from the armed forces and the Veterans Administration their continent-wide networks of hospital facilities. But the Hoover group declared the present scattering of medical services among 40 federal offices makes for high cost, duplication and in the case of the military, "inadequate" care. It noted that the government is responsible wholly or in part for treating 24 million persons. Actually, the commission split sharply on the medical plan. It mustered unqualified support from only half the members of the 12-man government reform group, including the chairman, former President Herbert Hoover. Retiring Defense Secretary Forrestal abstained from voting because of his official position. Five others filed dissents but differed among themselves as to a proper solution. The commission suggested no name for the cabinet-rank department of welfare and education, but that's the title it is generally expected to get if it is created. The new department, the commission proposed, should embrace federal social security activities, the office of education and most other services now lodged in the Federal Security Administration.

Herd Relay Team Aims For Record

AUSTIN, March 21. (AP)—The University of Texas 440-yard relay team needs only three good batons passes here April 2 in the Texas Relays to claim nation-wide domination of the record in this event. Texas holds the record at three of the four major track carnivals in the nation, the Penn, Drake and Los Angeles Coliseum Relays, but only shares the Texas Relays record with Rice. The Longhorns have two of the four men back from the 1947 team that tied the Rice record at 41.4 seconds, set 10 years earlier. They are Charlie Parker and Perry Samuels, and John Robertson assures a swift first leg. For the fourth man, Texas Coach Clyde Littlefield has two candidates, Robert Reedy and O. B. Chesbair, and which he will use in the record-breaking attempt will be dependent on improvement in the interim. Early season races indicate that the Longhorn team is easily capable of snuffing out the Texas Relays record if it gets good track condition and properly-timed baton touch-offs. The 1947 team composed of Parker, Samuels, Robertson and Allen Lawler, came within one-tenth of a second of the world's record when it set the Coliseum record of 40.6 seconds.

ONE OUT OF THREE — Every third patient in Texas mental hospitals is a senile whose only malady is feebleness of mind, which comes with old age. If these aged persons, who rarely can be benefited by mental treatment, could be placed in homes more suited to their needs, thousands of hospital beds would be released for younger patients who might be cured. TEXAS MENTAL INSTITUTIONS

Large Proportion Of Hospital Inmates Must Be Cared For Because Of Senility

By J. P. PORTER
(Second In A Series)

Every third person in Texas mental institutions is an incurable senile, and the oppressive numbers have turned the state hospital system into modified concentration camps.

There are 5,000 of these patients whose only crime against society is that medical science has prolonged life expectancy but found no cure for senility. One may escape the more spectacular afflictions which cause sudden death. But old age and mental deterioration often go hand-in-hand.

The patients are not card-indexed as seniles. The figure varies from 30 to 80 per cent in each Texas institution. The mental deterioration also varies. Any number know where they are and can recall the grim courtroom scene that sent them on their way.

Consider this case study. John Doe is in his mid-seventies and growing senile. He is feeble and frail, sometimes dropping lighted matches around the premises. Because of these memory lapses, John Doe can't be trusted alone or with children.

His personal habits have also degenerated, and he must be watched like a baby. He may start disrobing in the front yard. His eating habits are a constant source of embarrassment. As deterioration advances, he becomes furtive and suspicious, and may even suspect that members of his own family are plotting against him. To put him away in a private home or hospital is more than the average family can afford. As frustration and worry increase, the Doe family makes a decision based on desperation. They take the old man before a county judge and a jury picked at random. And John Doe is sent off to an institution.

In numbers, the alcoholics present the least problem in overcrowding. There are seldom ever more than a dozen in any of the six mental hospitals. But they require constant care and specialized attention, which can't be given where there is one doctor for every 400 patients.

Let this case study be Joe Doakes. He has been hitting the bottle for 15 years and is now a chronic alcoholic, a source of annoyance to everyone, and of deep concern of his family.

One day Joe Doakes begins seeing things that really aren't there. The family physician puts it bluntly: Joe has had his first bout with DT's, a forerunner of insanity. No permanent damage has been done if he will take the cure.

The savings account is gone into and Joe is put in a private institution which costs $100 per week. Three weeks later Joe Doakes steps forth with a spring in his step and a vow to do right. But three weeks' treatment pitted against 15 years of bottle fighting isn't much. A month later he falls hard off the wagon and ends up in the county jail.

This time the family throws a second mortgage on the home to extend the treatments. If that fails, there is only one road left. The family, unable to meet the high cost of private treatment, puts Joe Doakes in a state institution.

Can an alcoholic be salvaged? Says Dr. A. T. Hanretta of The Austin State Hospital:

"Where the cure once was around four per cent, medicine and psychiatry working with Alcoholics Anonymous have made some amazing advances."

Dr. Hanretta doesn't know just what the percentage is, but it is about 50 per cent.

FFA Meeting Set

HUNTSVILLE, March 21. (AP)—More than 800 Texas students will meet here next Saturday for the annual state invitational Future Farmers of American leadership contests.

erally those who have been adjudged guilty of a serious crime but whose actions were regarded by the court as the result of mental illness. Medical science is agreed that they are sick and need treatment, not punishment. But to place the criminally insane in the same hospitals with patients who have no criminal background is in itself a crime.

In many respects it actually reduces the treatment of all patients to the same level because of the potential danger in the very sick minds of the criminally insane. Yet the current legislature has before it a bill which would allow one group of insane prisoners now in the state penitentiary to be removed to mental hospitals. These persons are sick, need humane treatment, but not in hospitals devoted to the general practice of mental hygiene.

Remarked one West Texas doctor: "The view we take lies somewhere between apprehension and terror. Certainly, we realize that a mentally sick man must have treatment. But the criminally insane should be segregated for their own good, and for the good of others."

Dr. Ozra Woods, president of the Texas Society for Mental Hygiene and a prominent Dallas surgeon, recently condemned the "courtroom trials where mentally ill persons are committed like criminals."

"The manner in which our mentally ill people are treated often injure their already sick minds, and may even permanently impair their recovery," Dr. Woods said.

The Austin State hospital houses about 100 criminally insane. San Antonio, Terrell and Rusk each has fewer. Opinion among medical experts is unanimous that one relatively small hospital unit, especially designed for these patients, could serve the entire state and possibly effect some cures.

When the last of the Civil War Veterans in the Texas Confederate Home at Austin died, the home was opened to 600 senile patients. Here the aged live in surroundings especially adapted to their needs.

It was a step forward, but one already nullified by the onrush of new patients.

Dr. Hanretta who has seen the system work in Austin, says: "It took an act of God to provide one small corner of refuge for an unfortunate handful of seniles. The problem is now in the lap of Texans. That problem is to correct the wretched conditions caused by overcrowding. Otherwise the entire system is surely headed for disaster."
