SAMPSON FEATURED IN FOURwere promised MAN FINAL AT RASSLE CLUB

Dick Sampson may win no 4-H awards for his farming, but he can be sepected to plow a straight furrow tenight—win, lose or draw—when he teams with Gene Blakely in a four-man wrestling event at the Big Spring Athletic club.

He's a four-star hit with the bleacherites even though he's never won anything here other than that "Battle of Waterloo" he fought with Tex Watkins as a partner and Bill Cazzell and Bob Cummings as the opposition.

There was nothing significant about that battle other than that it gained respect for the onion-headed Dallasite.

Over on the other side of the fence tonight firing signals at one another will be Cummings and Andy Tremaine and that combination may mould a duet that Richard and Blakely find hard to out-crow.

Tremaine will be showing here for the first time. He's a leg artist and they say his pedal extremities are so good it's difficult to tell that he isn't cheating and using a quartet of arms.

Still, Watkins claims Sampson was the other four-man show with his brains and with someone in there to think for him Dicky may go places. Blakely is not a champion but he uses his head some times for other things healdest a prop.

Benny Wilson and Ace Abbott get together for a special event billed at 20 minutes or less, a bout which opens the show at 8 p. m.
