CITY TO CLEAN UP PARK FOR JULY 4 SPORTS EVENTS

VISITORS SWIM FREE OF CHARGE

The city will concentrate its repair crew in the city park next week to build bleachers, platforms, repair the tennis courts and clean up the softball diamond in preparation for the July 4th sports and water carnival.

City Manager E. V. Spence also announced that visitors here on the 4th would be permitted to swim free of charge if they have their own suits. Swimming and diving contests are scheduled at the pool, but Miss Dorothy Poynton Hill, Olympic diving champion, will be unable to be here because of Olympic try-outs.

Sweetwater has promised to have entries here in practically every event. Water Valley will furnish two tennis entries in Sam Greer and Chester Beaver, and Lubbock has requested entry blanks for twelve netters.

Three courts are available in the park for use in the tennis tournament. Although only one court is in playing condition, the others will be put in shape before the 4th.

Yale Sending Team To Intercollegiate Meet

NEW HAVEN, June 22 (UP)—The Yale tennis, golf, polo, swimming and fencing teams, the yachtsmen and lacrosse players, all will send representatives to compete in intercollegiate and national championships this summer, giving Yale athletes little chance to rest.

Four members of the tennis team, led by Capt. George Stevens, will represent Yale at the intercollegiate tennis championships, which will be played out on the courts of Northwestern university at Evanston, starting today.

Six Ell golfers will travel to Glen View, Ill., to attempt to bring home another National Intercollegiate championship, which the Yale teams won in 1931, 1932, and 1933. Capt. H. Ebelman will lead the delegation to the competition, which will be held on the course of the North Shore golf club, starting today.

The Yale polo team competed in the Intercollegiate polo championship at Governors' Island, N. Y. Bob Kiphuth's swimmers will not be idle during the summer. From June 19 to 21 the National championships were held in Des Moines and four members of the Yale team were entered.

Yale was entered in the National Outdoor Fencing championship, which was held June 14 at Travers Island, N. Y. John W. Field and E. J. C. Townsend skipped the two Yale boats which sailed in the annual Eastern intercollegiate yachting championships at Marblehead, Mass.

Odessa, Midland Golfers To Be Here On Sunday

A number of Odessa and Midland golfers plan to be here Sunday to qualify for the first annual Munn course invitation golf tournament.

Jarrett Tops Back Stroke Swim Titles

NEW YORK, June 22 (UP)—For years now Eleanor Holm Jarrett has dominated the field in her swimming specialty, the backstroke, as no contemporary male athlete has been able to do. Since 1928, when she won a place on the Olympic team which competed in Holland, Mrs. Jarrett has ruled the backstroke roost.

Prior to the Olympic meeting at Los Angeles, Eleanor trooped around the country with team-mates of the New York Women's Swimming association. Since those days her competitive efforts have been infrequent—mostly confined to those rare occasions when she was called upon to defend her titles.

How many athletes can refrain from competing from one championship meet to another, often a year apart, and retain championship form? None to my knowledge, except the amazing little lady who returns to defend her laurels with increased speed and endurance.

George Eckert has been dreaming a dream for nearly 20 years. He's depending on daughter Claudia to make it come true this summer.

Eckert is swimming coach at Wilmette Shawnee country club, in the suburbs of Chicago. Claudia, 19, 1935 national A. U. indoor high board diving champion, is his star pupil.

It's not the oldtimers who are worrying Claudia this year as she goes about her daily Olympic preparations. She fears an almost unknown Detroit high school girl, Helena Tomasi.

Olympic Cinches Faded With Defeat Of Big Bill Eastman By Little Bill Carr Of Pennsylvania In Los Angeles Games

MANY DARK HORSES IN ENTRY LIST

By ALAN GOULD (Associated Press Sports Editor) NEW YORK, June 22 (UP)—It is never safe to count Olympic chances before they are hatched. Big Bill Eastman was a "sure shot" in the Olympic 400 in 1932, but they paid off on Little Bill Carr, the Arkansas traveler by way of Pennsylvania.

Away back in the halcyon days of 1908, the Yankees "sewed up" the same race but British officials ruled that was fouling, ordered the race re-run, and awarded the gold medal to Lieut. Wyndham Halsweller of His Majesty's army on a walk-over after the Americans refused to play a return engagement.

Typical of the Olympic 400, as well as the 800, have been the thrills or surprises of such events. Typical also of them is a long, punctuated by record-smashing feats as well as stirring finishes and arguments. World records have been broken three times in the Olympic 800, twice in the 400. The marks made by the 1932 winners at Los Angeles have withstood attack since then, although Eastman, now concentrating on the longer races, has equaled the record made by Britain's Tom Hampton.

This year the United States has an excellent chance to sweep both races, for the first time since 1912, when Syracuse's Charley Reidpath and James F. (Tod) Meredith, then a schoolboy, whipped the world's best in record-smashing time.

Ben Blases Away Since the last Olympics Eastman has proved himself the class of this country's half-milers. He set a world record of 1:49.8 at Princeton two years ago and lately was clocked in 1:50.5 to prove he is again on edge.

Old Chicago Trio Of Long Ago Is Scattered; Infield Line-Up Broken

CHICAGO, June 22 (UP)—From "Tinker to Evers to Chance"—the old infield trio of the Chicago Cubs, like scores of other famed combinations of past years, is scattered all over the nation.

After a fling at managing minor league clubs, Joe Tinker now operates a bar-room in Miami, Fla. Johnny Evers is general manager of the Albany International league club. Frank Chance lives in Tucson, Ariz.

Old Honus Wagner of the Pittsburgh Pirates, generally regarded as a class by himself among shortstops, is a Pirate coach and operates a sporting goods store in Pittsburgh.

Chief Bender, who won fame as a hurler for the Philadelphia Athletics, is a department store salesman in Philadelphia. Eddie Cicotte, whose pitching career with the Chicago White Sox was cut short when he was outlawed from baseball for his connection with the "Black Sox" scandal of 1919, works for a Detroit motor company.

One Became Governor A former president of the National league, John K. Tener, is a Pittsburgh business man. Tener, star on the old Chicago White Stockings, was once governor of Pennsylvania. The three-fingered wonder pitcher, Mordecai Brown, runs a filling station in Terre Haute, Ind. And Shoeless Joe Jackson, one of the greatest natural hitters the game has ever known, lives in Georgia.

When great infielders are mentioned, Larry Lajoie's name always comes up. Larry divides his time between Cleveland and Florida. He works for a brass company. Grover Cleveland Alexander, the hurrying hero of many major battles who wound up with the House of David team lives in St. Paul, Neb. One of the employes of Allegheny (Pittsburgh) county is Ed Morris, a roommate of Billy Sunday in the 80's when both were Pittsburgh Pirates.

Kid Eberfeld, peppery shortstop of the 90's lives in Gadsden, Ala. The Kid has opened several baseball "schools" for youngsters of the south.

Bill Lange, one of the speediest of outfielders in the 90's, is in the

Canadian In For Wild Mat Battle

Ernie Arthur, battle-scarred Canadian mat warrior, gets his big chance tonight when he meets flashy Matsuda Matsuda in the main event at the athletic club. Gonna sounds for the main show promptly at 8:30.

Arthur, on the down-grade after wild and woolly exhibitions here last year, is fighting his way up the wrestling ladder. For several weeks Arthur was ill in a hospital in Mexico City, and after he recuperated he found that he had lost some of the zip and snap. But Ernie has been fighting hard and has earned several draws here this year. His Japanese opponent tonight will be his toughest foe of the season.

The Jap is plenty classy, and is known around the circuit as one of the better scientific showmen, but he can get rowdy when the occasion demands. Arthur is a shy old fellow, and delights in hidden punches. He's always a problem for the referee.

On the supporting card, Buck Lipscomb, billed as the Hoosier hot-shot, will tangle with Dick Trout. Lipscomb is said to be rough but popular wherever he goes. Trout is not very mean but knows the fancy holds.

Wanted: Curve-Ball Artists LONDON, June 22 (AP)—The next logical step in the growth of baseball here will be the importation of diamond stars from Canada and America. Many Yankee players are said to have applied for jobs.

schoolboy, R. Scott, is touted as another Meredith by London experts.

LaValle Looks Up America's Carr likewise is out of this year's picture but there is no lack of class among the replacements. Expectations, until lately, were centered around the black-thatch of the latest quarter-mile developed by Tom Keane, veteran Syracuse coach. His pride and joy, Eddie O'Brien, was unbeaten until June 18, when Jimmy LaValle, dusky U. C. L. A. star, returned to the Eastern tracks to give Eddie a trouncing at Princeton in a 473-quarter-mile. On the same day, at Fair Alto, equally dusky Archie Williams, University of California sophomore, flew the 400 meters in 46.3 seconds, only a shade off Carr's world record.

Start Plans For Tourney To Organize Junior League

Teams Entering District Meet Must Join Amateur Softball Association With appointment of Howard Thomas of Big Spring as district softball commissioner, plans have already been launched toward making the district tourney here in August a large affair.

State Commissioner H. B. Whit of Wichita Falls notified Thomas that all teams entering the tournament here would be required to join the Amateur Softball Association. Membership fees in the A. S. A. are $1.50 per team where the team is a member of a sanctioned league. August 1 is the deadline for joining the association.

Thomas will have a free hand in the management of the tournament, and expects to have the backing of the chamber of commerce and American Business club in making the tournament a success. The winning team and runner-up will be accepted in the state meet at Fort Worth, and Thomas will be responsible for seeing that both teams compete in the state event. Gate receipts may be used to help defray expenses to the state meet. White informed Thomas.

Teams from this district will not play in the state meet until Sept. 5. Arrangements are being made to quarter the teams in dormitories at T. C. U. with a minimum of expense. The state champion team will leave Sept. 10 for Chicago to compete in the national meet.

Fifteen medals will be furnished the district champions by the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. Awards for runners-up must be furnished by the tournament sponsors.

The state commissioner will make rules and regulations to prevent teams from drafting too many players from other clubs.

COAHOMA WINS FROM TRENT, 4-3 TRENT, June 23 (Sp1)—In one of their toughest battles of the season, the Coahoma Bulldogs defeated Trent here Sunday, 4 to 3.

Hardy hurried his first game for the Coahomans. Harlow and Brown tallied for the Bulldogs in the second stanza and White and Reid scored in the fourth.

Trent's first marker came in the second on a home run, and a home run in the seventh with a man on base scored the other two runs.

COAHOMA plays at Big Spring on July 5.

CHANGE DATES Weiker Cochran, present world 152 ballpins billiards champion, will appear tonight at the Union club here Thursday to demonstrate the different variations of draw shots.

Cochran was originally booked to appear here on June 28.

WOPS DEFEAT TIGERS, 7 TO 6 Jack Hopper hooked up in a pitcher's duel with Marty Martinez that went ten innings as the Luther Wops defeated the Mexican Tigers, 7-6, Sunday afternoon on the T&P diamond.

The Wops are scheduled to play Vainoer next Sunday. Batteries—Luther, Hopper and Underwood; Tigers, Martinez and Vega, Pierra.

LIQUOR CANNOT STAND THE LIGHT OF TRUTH

MODERATION
 The problem is not drunkenness, but drinking, constant drinking is a much greater evil than intermittent drunkenness. The regular drinker who is never drunk is a much worse case than the drunkard who is often abstaining. In the light of scientific investigation and accurate analysis drinking is the obnoxious thing. Moderate drinking is the menace of this generation, the alcoholism.

The American Medical Association (1917) said: "We believe that the use of alcohol as a beverage is detrimental to the human economy, that its use in therapeutics, as a tonic or a stimulant, has no scientific basis... therefore be it resolved that the A. M. A. oppose the use of alcohol as a beverage."

The British Medical report (1924): "That without signs of intoxication in the ordinary or the legal sense of the term, the bearing and individual attitude of mind suffer temporary change as an effect of the drug, and those in contact with the person so affected have for the time being to deal with an altered individual whose mind lacks temporarily its moral factor of judgment and conspicuous element of self-control."

The man who thinks he can drink safely is playing a game of chance with life. The admitted calamities of alcohol begin with moderate drinking. No one has shown us how to prevent moderation from yielding to immorality. No one can tell whether he may become the victim of a craving and the plaything of a drug.—(Submitted by the local W. C. T. U.)

PHILADELPHIA—Although not many good old Jeffersonians will admit its seriousness, the democratic party this week faces a milestone more vital than the task of nominating a candidate.

Baltimore Birth Actually, however, it was originally introduced for the sole and insignificant purpose of preventing the four delegates from the District of Columbia from controlling the balance of power in the 1832 convention.

Van Buren's Fight The rule did not really start to cause trouble until 1844, when Martin Van Buren, who had succeeded Jackson for one term, and then lost out in the next election to William Henry Harrison, came up for nomination again.

Stephen A. Douglas Democrats' conventions since then have been a series of attempts to get rid of the drag-anchor two-thirds rule, culminating with the attempt at Philadelphia this week.

Champ Clark The most vigorous effort to change the two-thirds rule prior to that now made by Sen. Bennett Clark was made by his father, Champ Clark, famous speaker of the house of representatives.

Philadelphia now sees the aftermath of this battle. If the two-thirds rule is not rescinded now, with no fight over the nomination pending, it probably will remain hanging around the neck of the democratic party forever.

Show To Open On Saturday

History Of Section Glorified In Exposition At Cleveland

CLEVELAND, O., June 23.—A miracle show—built on Cleveland's lake front in 80 working days—a miracle show 100 per cent completed in the face of the eternal it can't-be-done—a miracle show from the science to elimination and from cultural progress to pulchritude—the Great Lakes exposition—will open here on time Saturday noon, June 27.

For one hundred days—ending Oct. 4—The Great Lakes exposition will unfold to millions of visitors the romance of iron and steel, plows and planes, fashion and finance, food and fun—as marked by the lives of those who in 100 years have written the glorious history of the Great Lakes states—New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota, among whose famous sons are to be found sixteen presidents of the United States honored in "The Court of the Presidents."

The exposition spreads its colorful structures over 150 acres in Cleveland's front yard, with its pyloned main entrance in the shadow of the civic auditorium in which the republican convention has just been held, and to which the American Legion convention next September will close the exposition program of special events in the traditional blaze of glory.

As far as the eye can reach, and somewhat farther than the average visitor likes to walk until abetted by rickshaw, wheel chair or intramural bus, the exposition, marking the centennial of Cleveland's incorporation as a modern colonial history and modern achievements of the Great Lakes states.

BY MARGARET BELL HOUSTON

Chapter 30
SINISTER CURRENTS

"Would you know Frazzini from one of his brothers?" inquired Dirk. "From the chef, for instance?"

"This was no chef," smiled the astute Dinwiddie.

Dirk was silent and Logan said, "I have also the information regarding Merritt's wonder show. You asked me for it some time ago, but it took time. The show went broke, it seems, and disbanded, down in Rome, Georgia. Alkin, an associate of mine in Atlanta, got the facts from the circus book-keeper before the troupe melted away. While he was not in time to find Merritt, the book-keeper told him all there was to know about Torrobin and the clown."

"J. Torrobin, he was listed, and his boy, the clown, was known as Riddle Here's Alkin's letter. Shall I hold the flash so you can read it?"

"Tell me what he says," Dirk answered. Somehow, he had little interest now in Torrobin and the clown.

"You know, of course," said Logan, "that this J. Torrobin and his boy are the same pair you had me investigate as T. Jones and his son, after the rodeo. I found they gave practically no address at all to the rodeo booker, and disappeared after the rodeo closed. In the circus they had no address either, joined it while it was in Jersey, and lived with the troupe."

"It was the boy's dare-devil riding that got them the circus job," (Logan was reading from the letter now.) "Merritt was under the weather at the time, and Torrobin became a sort of sub-manager while the show, was in Jersey. Torrobin was heartily disliked by the troupe, though the boy was rather a favorite, especially with Senorita Leonor, the equestrienne. The boy was indifferent to Leonor, which was just as well. Leonor's previous love had been Carlo, the lion-tamer, and Carlo was not receptive to any change of heart on Leonor's part.

"The boy was injured during his act the night the show started south. Merritt, however, had had no intention of taking the act south with him, because of Torrobin's unpopularity. The troupe dated all its bad luck from the hiring of Torrobin.

"There was certainly bad luck aplenty, rainy weather not being the least of it. Then, just before the show left, both Carlo and Leonor disappeared. Nobody knew why at the time, but they realized what foresight the two had shown when Madame Chowdhury, the fortune teller, was arrested further down the road on charges of blackmail. Carlo and Leonor were involved, and the authorities were also out for Torrobin. The four had been conducting a form of the old bagger game, I understand. Leonor was petite and pretty, and acted as a decoy."

"Merritt's circus had been a clean little show up till then. Merritt was already sick, and pretty near broke, and the business of Chowdhury finished him. Nobody knows where he went."

"Torrobin, Leonor and Carlo are still at large. Leonor, it is thought, escaped to her home in Rio de Janeiro. Carlo may have gone with her. Torrobin may still be in New York. A boy who looked and rode like Riddle, the clown, is said to have pulled down big money in the rodeo there lately."

"Well," said Logan, "that's about all. This J. Torrobin or T. Jones seems to be pretty much of a jinx. Want me to try to get more about him?"

Dirk said no. And since their watch at the gate had accomplished its end—"Not the end you think," he heard himself say—it might be discontinued after tonight.

"Mrs. Joris is too ill," he said, "to go out... to need attendance of that kind."

Dinwiddie remarked, "I thought she looked sick. I thought she walked like it."

In his room Dirk read again the letter from Logan's associate. It contained no further allusion to Senorita Leonor, and no allusion at all to any equestrian substitute she may have had. He had not questioned Hope's account of herself, had not doubted that she was a parson's daughter—a cowboy parson's daughter—in need of work, and finding it for a day in the circus.

The Rev. Silas Devine—if such a person existed—must be puzzling now over the telegram regarding a lady named Hope to whom he must speed at once. Or it might be that he knew indeed a Hope—a relative, a daughter, even—whom it had seemed safe enough at this distance for one in difficulties to impersonate.

Could not the circus have stopped in El Paso? Might not Leonor have learned there of one Hope Devine?...

Leonor, Carlo and Leonor, thought Dirk knew now on which Frazzini Hope had called. Her visit had not been to Tony, but to Carlo, Tony's brother, the brother who had cleaned out the Araby, the brother who traveled with a circus. Carlo was in hiding in Tony's house, and Hope had crept out to him by night, almost too ill to stand.

In hiring Logan and Dinwiddie Dirk had wanted her protected, not accused. Even tonight when these findings had proved so inexorably her place in the puzzle, he had not been willing to give them the key to that place.

Logan and Dinwiddie had laughed at Martin's account of an intruder the night before. They believed it now only in the light of Hope's visit to Frazzini's house. He had come to her one night, and had almost been discovered. She had gone to him the next. That was what they believed.

They did not know what he

Dirk knew, that the man she had gone to see did not dare leave his room, would not risk discovery of any sort. Dirk knew more than this. He knew that Martin was overwrought. A man who imagines it his duty to shoot when no such duty has been assigned him, may also imagine other things. Martin, Dirk told himself, had never heard a voice at all.

In any case, whoever, whatever she was, Hope—be could not think of her by any other name—was unquestionably in trouble, and ill. She might have taken part in Madame Chowdhury's schemes ignorantly, might even be innocently involved, and unable to extricate herself. ("My shield is sacred!" she had said, holding the big book in her arms.)

He did not know, of course, the name of her people in Rio de Janeiro. She would not give it to him, would spend her strength in denial and terror if he should ask. Strange that he who was perhaps her only friend should seem her greatest enemy.

Still, certain facts remained. Guilty or innocent, she was ill. Rupert could not come to her, nor could he help her.

She belonged to him, alone.

Now that he knew her secret, he could watch over her with clearer eyes.

Graves came the next morning, and learning from Dirk of young Mrs. Joris's reluctance to see a physician, came to her room ostensibly to give her reassuring details about her husband.

Hope, he reported afterward to Dirk, had listened attentively.

"She was in bed, and I ordered her to stay there. The trouble's anemia, low blood-pressure, general run-down condition. Danger!... Well, yes, if we don't get hold of it. But I think we will."

"Rupert, now. He's better, on the whole. But he's making no fight. What interest he appears to take in living comes in the form of worrying over his work. Certain cases he has on hand. I want either you or Sanford to go up tomorrow, and reassure him."

Dirk asked Sanford to go. The work had piled on his own desk, and it was nine o'clock that evening before he dismissed a tired secretary and went home.

It was snowing again, steady flakes that froze against his windshield. Things were quiet when he reached the house, only Timothy stirring about, preparing to lock up.

*****

Mrs. Joris, Timothy said, was not so well, had had a sort of sinking spell. They had called Dr. Graves. That was at six o'clock. She was better now. Mary was with her.

Dirk went up to his room.

He was undressing for bed when the door-bell rang. He heard Timothy, who had gone upstairs, come down again. Timothy's knock sounded presently on Dirk's door.

"It's the Rev. Silas Devine," said Timothy. "He's just arrived, sir... by plane."

1936 VACATION RAIL TRAVEL EXPECTED TO SET HIGH MARK

Low Fares, Higher Speed Are Attractions; Western Roads Are Optimistic

CHICAGO, June 22. (UP)—Railroad passenger traffic men are looking forward this year to what promises to be the heaviest vacation travel of any time within the past decade.

Several factors enter into their optimistic outlook. Chief of these is that the Western lines, after a long fight, finally have been forced to reduce passenger fares to a base comparable to that in effect on Western roads.

Another is the super high-speed trains running west of Chicago. Travelers from the East have the opportunity of going to the West Coast on a two weeks' holiday without spending the major portion of the trip on the train as in days gone by.

Officials believe alarming increases in highway accidents will draw many motorists to train travel because of their safety record. The carriers point proudly to their record of 1935 when millions of passengers were carried without a single fatality.

Three Services Offered

Western vacation fares again are quoted at the level of last season, when three types were offered to the Pacific Coast—tickets good in coaches only, tourist car tickets, and standard sleeping car tickets. A round trip making a complete circle of the coast, for example, starting at Chicago, thence to New Orleans, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle and returning to Chicago, can be made for $27.25, Pullman fare extra.

Chicago, can be made for as little as $27.75. First class tickets for the same trip sell for $56, with Pullman fare extra.

Previously, a flat rate of $32.70 was charged between Chicago and New York. Now, however, a coach rate is in effect, making the cost of a ride between the two largest cities in the nation $18.20. First class tickets are $27.25, Pullman fare extra.

Two years ago, the fastest trip by rail from New York to Los Angeles required 92 hours. Today, the same journey can be made in 56 hours, 15 minutes. Most of the saving in time, has been effected on the Western roads with the Santa Fe and the Northwestern-Union Pacific running once-weekly trains between Chicago and Los Angeles in 39 hours, 45 minutes.

On June 17 another fast streamliner was put in service over the Northwestern-Union Pacific-Southern Pacific to San Francisco on the same schedule.

Time Cut to Denver

Latest of the vacation time savers is the addition of overnight services between Chicago and Denver on the Burlington route and the Northwestern-Union Pacific. These roads now supply trains making the trip from the Windy City to the Rocky Mountains in 18 hours. The distance on the Burlington is 1,034 miles, and on the Union Pacific 1,048 miles. The average speed of the flyers is 65 miles an hour and 65.5, respectively. By using either of these trains, passengers with a two week holiday, may spend 12 days in the Rocky Mountain region, or 10 days in Yellowstone Park, allowing for the additional days' travel between Denver and the park. And one day each way to the East, and it will be seen that passengers as far away from these playgrounds as New York can now use the railroads and still have over a week in the mountains. The same ratio applies to those who wish to go to the West Coast.

Persons desirous of going to the Southwest also are given the benefit of better than a day's additional pleasure by the re-arrangement of schedules and cutting of time on Southwestern lines running out of St. Louis.

Time Saved to Mexico City

The Illinois Central and the Alton Road offers 4 hour, 55 minute service to St. Louis from Chicago and the Missouri Pacific has established hours from its Sunshine Special, which speeds between the Mound City and Dallas, Houston and San Antonio. Twelve hours has been eliminated on the run between St. Louis and Mexico City on this train.

For the benefit of Midwesterners, the Northwestern and the Milwaukee Road have added "Flashermen's specials" sections to the 400 and Hiawatha, 7 hour flyers running between Minneapolis and Chicago. These trains run into the famous Wisconsin lakes region.

With virtually all cars on all trains now air-conditioned, with low fares, and meals served to coach passengers for as little as 90 cents a day on the Western lines, it appears as if the forecasts of the passenger men for a banner year in railroad travel will be realized during vacation time.

him out. He found one of the burglars armed with a club. Underneath, he swung his "right." This dislodged the club and rendered the wielder unconscious. The other fled.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Wade have returned from a trip to Ruidoso, N. M. Later they plan a vacation at Eagle Nest Lake.

First Week Paid Admissions Above Those At Chicago In 1933

DALLAS, June 23.—Paid admissions during the first week of the Texas Centennial exposition exceeded the total for the first week at Chicago's 1933 Century of Progress exposition by 68,790, official comparative figures revealed here today. Paid admissions during the first week of the 1934 Century of Progress exposition exceeded the first week's total for the Texas Centennial exposition by 4,755.

The paid admissions for the first Centennial exposition week totaled 231,149, while the 1933 Chicago exposition total was 172,359, according to official figures for both fairs.

The paid admissions for the 1934 Chicago exposition totaled 235,904. These figures for the Texas and Chicago expositions do not include admissions by passes of employees, press representatives and others.

Texas Centennial officials were elated over the comparative figures when announced by W. A. Webb, general manager. If the average attendance for the first week is maintained, the total attendance for the exposition will exceed the 10,000,000 visitors expected by executives before the close of the Texas World's Fair November 29.

Total attendance at the 1933 Chicago exposition was 27,703,132. For the 1934 Chicago exposition the total was 21,066,095.

NEW WPA TO BE LEFT UP TO STATE LEADERS

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Putting much of the responsibility for administering the new WPA program in the hands of state administrators, Harry L. Hopkins today directed them to select relief workers from the unemployed on relief or those certified as "in need of relief."

Quotas fixing the number of workers and the amounts to be spent in each state will be fixed shortly, officials said, adding that WPA would provide an average of 2,300,000 jobs during the 12 months beginning July 1.

Catholic Pastor Completes First Year Of Service At Big Spring

Father Charles Taylor, the local Catholic pastor, completed Sunday his first year of service at Big Spring. A fairly complete census has been completed during the year of the American parishioners. They number 55 households, counting 159 Catholic members. In the whole parish, which extends over Glasscock as well as Howard county, it is calculated there are about 2,000 individual Mexican Catholics. The attendance at the Sunday morning masses has averaged 200, and at the evening services, 60.

During the year there have been 108 Baptisms, (of which two were of adult converts) 3,346 communions, (of which 30 were first communions) 15 Catholic marriages, and 11 Catholic funerals.

There has been splendid cooperation from the majority of the parishioners, and their direct contributions, outside of all personal gifts, such as offerings for masses, have amounted to $2,516.05 during the 12-month period.

Father Taylor left this morning for the second annual spiritual retreat of the Oblate Fathers. He expects to return next week, by the first of July. He was thankful for the work accomplished during the year, he said, and confident that with the Lord's continued favor further progress will be made in the next year.

Talmadge Ousted By Georgia Demos

PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—Eugene Talmadge, Georgia's anti-new deal governor, was ousted last night as his state's member of the democratic national committee.

In his stead, the state delegation to the national convention elected Clark Howell, editor of the Atlanta Constitution, a political enemy of the governor and for years a power in Georgia politics.

Howell had no opposition and an attempt to force a contest with Senator George evaporated when the senator withdrew.

Talmadge was not in Philadelphia. Last week he said he stood ready to make a quick trip to the convention scene if he could be of any aid to "country or party."

These Villanueva brothers of Hidalgo county, it was declared the winner and awarded the prize because the Hidalgo bale was judged unmarketable by the classification committee of the Corpus Christi exchange, who found it green and wet.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Schmidly returned Sunday from a week spent at Ruidosa.

repudiated by the regular republican organization."

Demonstration For FD

At peace within, the convention assumed a warlike, unyielding attitude toward conservative and liberal opposition. Standards of the 48 states waved in a tumultuous, parading demonstration lasting 20 minutes for President Roosevelt.

After a brief opening session, the platform committee under Senator Bob Wagner of New York retired again to the conference room to discuss policies upon which the party this weekend will ask the reelection of Roosevelt and Garner.

It looked more than ever as though the two-thirds nominating rule dispute would be a washout. Strong Southerners joined the re-pealers, though divisions remained evident from private comment.

No dissenters on hand showed any inclination to join Alfred E. Smith in his "walk." Not naming Smith, Farley referred to him obliquely by arraigning the American Liberty League. "Give 'em hell, Jim!" cried one of hundreds who stood up waving flags.

After Farley's address, the convention recessed at 2:35 p. m., until 5 p. m. (EDT).

Southern Group Will Oppose FD's Relection

HOUSTON, June 23. (AP)—John Henry Kirby, chairman of the "Southern Committee to Defend the Constitution," said today that organization, claiming 35,000 members in seventeen states, will oppose the reelection of President Roosevelt.

He said the organization was not sure whether it would support Gov. Alf M. Landon, republican nominee, or put its own candidate in the field. Kirby is polling members by mail to determine this question.

The Houston man said "if we decide to throw out support to the republican nominee, it will be as democrats. We have no intentions of becoming republicans."

Miss Mildred Thomas of Coahoma, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis, was to be taken to her home this afternoon.

Mrs. Leo Turner of Stanton, who recently underwent a major operation, returned to her home today.

Condition of R. V. Hart, seriously ill, was unchanged late Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. C. W. Cunningham continued to improve at the hospital, after sustaining a fracture to her left ankle when she fell on the steps of her home Sunday night.

Alonzo Cooper, laboratory and x-ray technician, will leave July 1st for his vacation. He will visit relatives and friends in Atlanta, Ga. Cooper expects to make the trip via American Airline.

years earlier. Most of the flow was said to represent the countryward migration of the unemployed and others unable to obtain work in industries, to escape idleness, reduce expenses and to raise food for family use. The census report said the movement seemed to be primarily of whole families who returned to farms once abandoned, to new farms, and to unoccupied houses on farms operated by their relatives and friends. Secretary Roper this week advocated further study of the problem and the possible economic effect.

Business Figures

Grocery chain store sales in May were two per cent lower than May, 1935. May sales of 28 chain stores and two mail order companies were 16.4 per cent higher than May a year ago. Cotton consumed in the ten months ending May 31 was 5,180,320 bales against 4,586, 173 in the comparable 1934 period, while exports gained from 4,173,762 to 5,518,604 in the same comparable periods. Industrial pay rolls in Rhode Island in May were 5.9 per cent higher than the 1935 month. The value of construction in 37 eastern states in the first five months of the year gained 81 per cent over the same period last year to $996,523,600.

Continued employment gains were reported. A shortage of skilled men in airplane construction plants was reported in Los Angeles where May employment was 34 per cent above April. Birmingham steel plants were employing 20 to 35 per cent more than last year. The Pennsylvania railroad shops in Wilmington had peak employment, while Memphis was at the 1930 peak. There was some building hesitancy in Minneapolis on account of labor troubles.

Evils Of Marihuana Weed Depicted In Feature At Lyric

The effects of smoking marihuana cigarettes and efforts of authorities to curtail illegal use of the weed is the subject of the motion picture "Marihuana," which plays at the Lyric theater Tuesday and Wednesday as a special road show attraction.

To marihuana, cultivated in Mexico and secretively in the United States although it grows wild in the Southwest—many police officials attribute a great percentage of juvenile delinquency and crime.

In graphic manner, this unusual picture vividly presents the evils that follow in the wake of the marihuana weed. Beginning with the government's efforts to stamp out the illicit traffic and smuggling of narcotics, a story develops of the mental, moral and physical degradation of a beautiful girl who becomes a victim of the weed after taking a puff "just for a thrill."

The picture was produced with the cooperation of federal authorities and officials of many states. Government investigators and addicts themselves aided in the gathering of subject material.
